

April grand jury indicts 9 suspects

Two indictments for possession of a controlled substance, specifically cocaine, with intent to deliver were handed down Monday by the April session of the Scurry County grand jury.

The two indictments were part of 11 cases considered and true-billed by the jury involving nine individuals.

Now ordered to stand trial on the drug charges are Richard Rios, 32, and Lawrence Russell Brewer, 22, who were both arrested at 312 28th St. this past Feb. 22. The pair was charged after city police answered a disturbance call at the residence.

Officers say they found at the scene evidence of the drug cocaine as well as indications that the drug was to be delivered to other individuals.

Both Rios and Brewer had bonds set at $10,000 each following the Monday indictment.

The grand jury handed down another drug-related indictment against Jimmy Charles McBroom, 35, of Hermleigh, who faces

Family owning tiger protests new exotic animal ordinance

A Snyder family's Bengal tiger and the city council's proposed new exotic animals ordinance ran head-on in a Monday night council discussion that ended with the tabling of the measure while the family provides additional information about their pet.

James and Marcie Murry of 403 36th St., their two children and several friends contended that the animal, now 8 months old and weighing 300 pounds, will never be dangerous if it continues to be cared for correctly and that they have a right to keep the pet of their choice.

Mrs. Murry said they paid

$1,600 for it when it was 4 weeks old.

Councilman Paul Zeck said such animals should be outlawed inside the city limits for the same reason that the discharge of firearms is prohibited. "There will be accidents if we try to regulate animals like this," he said.

Mayor Troy Williamson said he is concerned that the tiger, even if harmless to family members, might one day attack if it were cornered by someone it did not know.

Local restaurateur J.W. "Dub" Hurt Jr. appeared to say that the Murrys should be allowed to keep the tiger if potentially dangerous dogs are not prohibited under the ordinance, and Murry family friends Billie Jackson and Ronnie McNew said they sometimes care for the animal in the Murrys' absence and that it is domesticated and harmless.

McNew said neighborhood boys have been climbing over the family's 7 ft. fence to play with the tiger in the family's absence, and Mrs. Murry said she had not previously been aware of that and would stop that activity.

Legal consultant Ernie B. Armstrong noted that a Bengal tiger in the Houston zoo recently broke

Homes targeted for work

Neighbors Sharing still seeks workers

Nine homes will be repaired this year as part of the Snyder Neighbor's Sharing effort scheduled the last Saturday in April. The work day this year is April 29.

A volunteer work force of approximately 125 individuals has signed up to date with more workers still sought.

Those signed up represent churches, civic clubs, businesses, high school groups, Boy Scout organizations and others.

The work of the organization is done by volunteers and materials used are either donated or paid for with tax deductible donations.

Individuals interested in assisting with the effort are encouraged to contact Sam Robertson at 573-4053.

The first work day for Snyder Neighbor's Sharing was held last April.

A work force of more than 100 persons helped repair seven homes that day. The volunteer repair crews were headed by local contractors.

Target groups for the effort are the city's elderly or handicapped.

Interviews end

Interviews of prospective county treasurer candidates were completed Monday and county officials say they will likely not announce their choice before April 17.

That meeting date is the first time the full commissioners court is expected to be together and County Judge Bobby Goodwin said Tuesday he does not expect a decision on the selection until all court members can be present.

Goodwin has said there were 10 applications for the treasurer's post, to be vacated effective April 26 with the retirement of Billy Wayne Thompson.

Castro tight-lipped after day of talks

HAVANA (AP) — After talks with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, a cheerful President Fidel Castro seemed pleased but was noncommittal about their discussions on issues that often have left them deeply divided.

"Family-like," was how Castro on Monday night described the talks after bidding Gorbachev good night on the steps of the presidential palace.

When reporters pressed him for details, Castro had ready a two-word linguistic hybrid: "glasnost manana."

That was Castro's way of saying more on the discussions will be known when Gorbachev addresses the National Assembly late this afternoon, the last major scheduled event during his 63-hour stay in Cuba.

Moments before Castro said good night, Gorbachev descended the steps of the ornate pre-revolutionary palace with his wife, Raisa, at his side. They received applause from the diplomats and officials who had joined them for a glittering reception.

Aside from visits to two monuments and an exhibit highlighting the achievements of the revolution, Gorbachev spent Monday with Castro in talks.

Speculation swirled all day about a possible Gorbachev announcement forgiving Cuba its debt to the Soviet Union, estimated at between $8 billion and $20 billion, but Castro said that issue never came up.

Debt, he said, is not a problem for Cuba but for other Latin American countries. His answer did not appear to rule out a Gorbachev announcement that he will give Cuba a break on debt repayments.

Combined with the estimated $6 billion Cuba owes Western countries, the island is one of the most heavily indebted countries in the world in per capital terms.

Diplomats in Havana and in Moscow, speaking on condition they not be identified, have said the Soviets already appear to have reduced the subsidies they pay by buying Cuban sugar at higher-than-world-market prices. And some said they expected Gorbachev to tell Castro bluntly — but in private — that Cuba must put its economic house in order.

Gennady I Gerasimov, Gorbachev's spokesman, said the morning portion of the talks stressed Latin American debt and drug trafficking.

Gorbachev told the United Nations in December the Soviet Union was prepared to offer the least-developed countries a moratorium on debt service and "in quite a few cases to write off the debt altogether."

Castro has campaigned for years for cancellation of Latin America's $420 billion foreign debt.

Six vehicle wreck reported Monday

Two Snyder women were injured in a six-car traffic accident at 12:58 p.m. Monday at 37th St. and College Ave.

Police said the string of vehicles was facing south on College when a southbound 1985 Pontiac driven by Patsy J. McDaniel of 3403 Irving Ave. struck the rear of a 1987 Nissan driven by Bonita C. Ward of Rt. 1.

This set off a chain reaction of rear-end collisions involving the other vehicles.

McDaniel suffered lacerations to her forehead and knee, and Ward complained of neck and back pain. Both were held for 23-hour observation at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Also involved were:

—A 1984 Dodge driven by Nancy E. Higgins of Rt. 2, Hermleigh

—A 1980 Pontiac driven by Joseph E. Box of 2204 43rd St.

—A 1979 Cadillac driven by Robert B. Cox of Colorado City.

—A 1981 Chevrolet pickup driven by Olan R. Burditt of 3406 Ave. E.

The McDaniel and Ward cars were towed from the scene.

At 7:53 a.m. Monday in the 3600 Block of Apple St., a 1988 Toyota driven by Lisa Y. Bearden of 4100 Brick Plant Rd., No. 41, was in collision with a 1988 Chevrolet Suburban driven by Byron T. Holcomb of 3615 Ave. B.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Calories fight unfair. They hit below the belt."

There's a new symbol of status. Instead of a sports car with initials for a name, the new status symbol is being on certain mailing lists.

One candidate for governor of Texas mailed a letter to some folks in Snyder asking for a donation of $10,000 to the campaign. Shoot, the last time anyone around here had $10,000 was right after a bank loan had been funded.

The National Taxpayers Union in Washington must have a really elite list in view of a recent mailing. Everybody on the Forbes 400 list of the richest people in American received a letter asking for donations.

Each recipient was asked to check a box next to the statement that said "Enclosed is $1,000,000." The letter also noted that smaller checks were also accepted.

The Taxpayers Union is a lobbying group that fights for lower taxes and for taxpayers' rights in battles against the Internal Revenue Service.

To dramatize the need for spending curbs in Washington, the rich folks were also sent a teddy bear worth about $13 described as a gift for your grandchildren. The letter explained, "Despite your wealth and power, some day it could be all that you have to pass on to them."

So far, the response has been less than overwhelming. There have been a few inquiries and one check for $500.

Now we know how those guys got on the rich list—they don't throw their bucks away.

One enterprising young man wanted a shot at one of the many jobs in the new Bush administration. His game plan took guts.

A TV network sent a car for Bush's press secretary who was scheduled to give an interview. When the press secretary got in the car, the young driver turned and presented his resume.

At last report, the young man is still driving a VIP car.

Tobacco may combat cancer

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — Doctors condemn cigarettes for causing lung cancer, so it might seem strange to hear the former director of the National Cancer Institute praising tobacco.

But that's what happened Monday when a company announced plans to turn tobacco plants into living factories for cheap mass production of anti-cancer drugs, better sunscreen to prevent skin cancer, and many other products.

"It is really kind of cute," Dr. Vincent T. DeVita Jr. said during the American Cancer Society's science writers' seminar. "It's a very interesting idea. It sounds too good to be true, but looks real enough to pursue."

"It's a way to use tobacco for products other than cigarettes for smoking," said geneticist Robert L. Erwin, president of Biosource Genetics Corp. of Vacaville. "This technology might be a way to reduce the cost of producing many medically important chemicals."

Erwin said the company has applied for patents on its method of genetically engineering tobacco plants with a spray to make them produce various desired products. The company also wants to patent use of the process to help make melanin, a natural skin pigment that might be sold as a more effective screen against hazardous ultraviolet sunlight.

Erwin said experiments so far were performed indoors, where tobacco plants and cells successfully produced two enzymes to test the method, as well as an enzyme that helps make melanin.

Within a year, he said, the company hopes to conduct field tests of genetically engineered tobacco to produce the anti-cancer drug interleukin-2 and serum albumin, a major protein in blood that is used as a supplement in transfusions.

Erwin said other potential products of genetically altered tobacco include an insecticide, a substance that allows the time-release of flavors in foods and fragrances in perfumes, enzymes to help make paper and reduce cholesterol levels in foods, and other cancer drugs such as interferon and vincristine.

Andrew Kimbrell, lawyer and policy director for the anti-biotechnology Foundation on Economic Trends, said a substance sprayed on tobacco plants to profoundly change what they produce could go to other plants with results unknown.

"We have real concerns about what other plants it might affect," Kimbrell added.

Erwin said his company's method is safe because the spray degrades quickly, creates only a temporary genetic change in the tobacco plants, and the changes are not passed from plant to plant or from one generation of plants to the next.

Reginald Lester, managing director of the Tobacco Growers' Information Committee in Raleigh, N.C., said, "Certainly growers would be interested in taking a look at this if it could be shown to be commercially viable."

The new method changes tobacco plants by spraying them with molecules of RNA — part of the fundamental hereditary information of all living things — taken from the tobacco mosaic virus and encased in a protein coating.

This virus-like substance invades the plant, carrying with it a gene, or hereditary command, that orders production of the desired chemical.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do what you can to be helpful to others today, but don't let certain individuals who should be lending for themselves strap all of their burdens on your back.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't tackle anything new today without first thinking out all of its ramifications in advance. Operating in haste could lead to early mistakes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're likely to be more effective today if you are able to operate independently of others. Even well-intentioned allies could disrupt your progress.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Have adequate faith in yourself and your ideas today or else minor setbacks could cloud your mind with negative thoughts and entice you to quit instead of asserting yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Guard against tendencies today to change things that are presently running rather smoothly. The adjustments you implement could create some unnecessary complications.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you are willing to compromise and make reasonable concessions, people with whom you'll have dealings today are likely to do the same, but they may act only upon your cues.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A disgruntled co-worker with problems might try to involve you today, which could ultimately create problems for you. It's best to let this individual resolve matters unaided.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may get involved in something today that could work out to a fairly good deal, but not necessarily in the way it will be initially presented. Adjust it more to your liking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Things can be worked out to your ultimate advantage today if you have the tenacity to do so. Keep the types of end results you desire in mind and don't let circumstances blur your focus.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a possibility you might put too much stock in the opinions of associates today and dilute good plans and ideas in order to pacify them. Try to be your own person.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be extremely selective to whom you lend things today. It might be wiser to say no rather than worry if you'll ever get the borrowed things back.

Roommate Tired of Picking Up Is Ready to Put Her Foot Down

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: What can you do when you have a sloppy, inconsiderate roommate? I've been living with the same girl for a year and a half now and have kept hoping things would improve, but they haven't.

I'm not saying I am the world's best housekeeper, but for some reason, my roommate thinks I am the maid. We both agreed to share the responsibilities like taking out the trash and doing the dishes, but if her set of dishes sits there for five days, I'll do them. That's where the problem is — she knows if she lets something go long enough, I'll do it.

There are towels on the bathroom floor, blankets and pillows left on the living room floor, and peanut butter and jelly jars left open on the kitchen counter. I can't help feeling that she's taking advantage of me.

How can I let her know she's being a total pig without hurting her feelings?

NOT HER MAID IN ALTOONA, PA.

DEAR NOT: The key to your problem is right in the middle of your letter: "She knows if she lets something go long enough, I'll do it."

Don't permit her to let something go; when it's her turn to do it, point it out, and keep pointing it out until she does it. And insist that she do it before she goes to sleep. Be firm.

You may have to remind her five or six times — but keep after her. And if you permit her to procrastinate, she may be a total pig, but you're a jellyfish.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter has saddled me with an enormous job — writing names on the backs of pictures, or under them, in many, many albums. Over the years, no one thought to do this.

We have a cedar chest and several shoe boxes filled with snapshots. Some I inherited from my mother, and none of hers had names on them.

Abby, please tell your readers to start identifying pictures for posterity. Their progeny will surely appreciate it. There are many pictures of people I cannot name.

MRS. O.H. DODD, RAYMOND, WASH.

DEAR MRS. DODD: You must be a new reader. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: You suggested that "older people" should mark the backs of family pictures while they can still remember who's who, when the pictures were taken and the approximate dates. Why only "older people"? That's something everybody should do as soon as a snapshot is developed.

For years I was too busy (or lazy) to do it, and now that I'm retired and have plenty of time, I can't remember who half the people are. My parents can't help me because my father has been dead for 25 years and my mother is in a rest home, unable to remember much of anything.

So here I sit with a big box of family pictures beating my brains out trying to recall names, dates and places. What a mess! Abby, please remind your readers often to label their pictures. Then their grandchildren won't have to go through what I'm going through now.

KICKING MYSELF IN ASBURY PARK

DEAR KICKING: Not only should family pictures be labeled, but accounts of historical events and newspaper clippings of births, graduations, marriages and deaths in your family should be dated and kept in a sturdy scrapbook. Fascinating family histories could be preserved if younger members interviewed older relatives at family gatherings. A tape recorder would be ideal for this purpose.

Succeeding generations will love it!

Stripper incident ends with four resignations

CLEAR LAKE SHORES, Texas (AP) — Two city councilmen say they believe there was a coverup following a striptease performance at the police station that resulted in the resignation of four police officers.

Councilman Sandy Drake said Monday that four officers, one paid, full-time officers and three unpaid, part-time officers resigned last month after city officials learned they had taken nude photographs, with a city camera, of a stripper who performed on a desk top at the police station.

"They apparently stopped her for questioning, found out she was stripper, and she voluntarily decided to put on a show for them," Drake said.

The stripper, who has not been identified, apparently was not charged with any crime.

Another officer reportedly resigned although he was not involved in the incident because he was upset that no action was taken against those who took part in the strip and photo session, Drake said.

Drake said he believes the mayor and acting police chief covered up the incident, which occurred in November.

"We were all so concerned that the police chief would allow something like this to happen and then surprised that the mayor knew about it two months before the council knew about it," said Drake, the only challenger to Mayor George Kessler in next month's election.

Acting Police Chief John Fry, who was out of town at the time of the incident and has been placed on disciplinary probation for his handling of it, said he first heard about the incident in February and then discussed it with Kessler.

Fry, who refused to identify the officers, said he never saw the photos and was told that they were destroyed.

"It's a sad and very embarrassing situation," Fry said. "As soon as I became aware of the situation, I took action on it. I told the officers they were going to be suspended while I conducted an investigation. Rather than go through the investigation, they resigned."

Councilwoman Suzanne Silver, however, said council members privately asked Fry to call for the officers' resignations after discussing the situation during a March executive session.

"We were trying to solve our problem and keep it as quiet as possible, and we took action to get rid of all the bad seeds," she said.

"He (Fry) is the one we're very upset with. I would hope he could instill in his officers that they wouldn't feel they could away with something like this," Ms. Silver said. "We'll check with him in executive session once a month to see if he's handling it more responsibly."

Councilman Drake said he is angry that the police officers were not fired by the chief.

"I think John (Fry) was trying to cover up for his officers," Drake said. "This shows a tremendous lack of judgment on his part."

Drake and Councilman Don Carmichael also blamed Kessler for not telling the council about the incident sooner.

AP operator is dead at 86

DALLAS (AP) — Joe Carden, the Associated Press operator who filed the flashes telling the world of President Kennedy's death and that man had set foot on the moon, has died. He was 80.

Funeral services for Carden were held Monday. He died Friday at Baylor University Medical Center, where he was being treated for cancer.

For 45 years, Carden worked as an automatic operator for the AP, punching stories onto tape that fed transmitters. He retired in 1974.

The Kennedy assassination flash carried his initials "JJC," as did stories sent during the Apollo moon landings.

"He never got ruffled. He was always pleasant, always kind and patient," said Cheryl Wolfe, an AP communications secretary who worked with Carden.

A "flash" is the rarely used code given the news service's stories of highest priority.

Carden is survived by his wife, Norrine Carden of Dallas, and three daughters.

play low from dummy and win East's 10 with your jack. You play two rounds of spades ending in dummy, East throwing a heart. Next you play A-K and ruff a club, West playing the queen. Then you play the heart king to dummy's ace, West following with the deuce. It is now time to play diamonds. What is your plan? There is no right answer, since the correct play is determined by the diamond distribution.

Suppose West has four diamonds. If so, you should play low from dummy and put in your 10, hoping to drop an honor from the East hand next. (You presume that West would have led the diamond king if he had held K-Q.) What if four diamonds are in East's hand? Now it becomes correct to lead the diamond jack from dummy. If East covers with an honor, win the ace, return to dummy with a trump and lead another diamond. Even if you go up with the 10 and West wins the king, as here, West may have no more diamonds and be forced to give you a ruff and a sluff for your contract. Finally, if diamonds are 3-3, it's best to lead low from dummy and put in the 10, hoping that you will be able to guess the situation when West returns a diamond. Every declarer must make his own decision, and the defenders do best by falsecarding.

Brenda Clark was chosen Woman of the Year. Other nominees for the award were Mae Cole and Stella Bailey.

Cole was the speaker for the membership tea using the theme, "Celebrate the Woman You Can Be." She said, "the woman you can be is the woman you want to be. That is what ABWA is all about."

She said the club is designed to help each woman recognize and achieve her full potential. It offers support from other club members with a tradition of sharing, friendship, leadership and scholarship so women can meet their goals and develop skills to turn dreams into reality.

The organization celebrates 40 years of women helping women, believing that each member has skills, ideas, friends, and help to offer each chapter.

Cole has been a member of the chapter since 1984. She works as a nurse assistant with Cogdell Home Health Services which cares for patients in their homes.

Cole is also a certified EMT and is prepared to handle emergencies which might arise in caring for home-bound patients.

Cole stated the support and encouragement from her ABWA chapter gave her the motivation to achieve the EMT certification.

Tropical oils and lard are taboo

ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — Several food companies say they won't use tropical oils and lard in their foods in order to help reduce cholesterol.

Tropical oils are high in saturated fats, which can be converted by the body into artery-blocking cholesterol. These oils include coconut oil, palm oil and palm kernel oil. Other vegetable oils will be used instead.

Tropical oils had been used because they helped extend the shelf life of food products.

Mike Thornton, director of adult education and extension services at Western Texas College, presented the program to members of Xi Alpha Alpha Theta of Beta Sigma Phi at the Snyder Country Club March 28.

Introduced by Patricia Warren, Thornton outlined the educational options to be offered at TDC's Daniel Unit here. The Windham School is non-graded and inmates will be able to complete GEDs.

Also offered will be automotive, custodial, and building trades courses. The facilities will house a complete library and law library and the staff will include 33 instructors.

Inmates will also be able to earn the right to take various college courses.

Even light exercise is beneficial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Regular exercise — even walking, gardening or doing housework — can reduce an aging adult's risk of stroke, high blood pressure and heart disease, medical authorities say.

Increasing exercise expenditure to 2,000 calories a week can reduce coronary heart disease risk by 25 percent, says NewHealth Center here. The center operates a preventive medicine program that tests individuals, evaluates their health risks and offers a self-care regimen for physical well-being.

Insurance firms for home care

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Many health insurance firms that formerly limited coverage for care provided outside the hospital now actively promote it, says a health care specialist.

Jan Fishkind of Aetna Life Insurance Co. says an estimated 4 million Americans are currently benefiting from the shift in emphasis. She says Aetna, which has employer-sponsored health benefit plans covering nearly 11 million persons, began its Individual Case Management program in 1983.

"The home care industry has grown more sophisticated in recent years," says Fishkind. "It wasn't too long ago most health plans didn't cover home care or had rigid coverage limits. But professional home care is now recognized as a viable, effective way to bring health care service to a patient without prolonged hospitalization."

Tigers gear up once again; square off with Sweetwater

SWEETWATER -- Snyder Coach Albert Lewis is aware that Sweetwater has been less than impressive on the diamond this season but he doesn't want his Tigers to let down when they meet the Mustangs at 5 p.m. here today.

"With the kind of tradition between Snyder and Sweetwater you can't ever overlook them," said Lewis. "I don't care what they've done so far."

Sweetwater comes into the game following an 11-4 loss to San Angelo Lake View in a makeup game played Monday. The Mustangs are 0-3 in District 4-4A play and 3-7 overall. But the team is not without talent.

"You know you have to be careful when they have athletes like (Kenneth) Norman and Tim Hoisey," said Lewis.

Norman's credentials include the tag of all-state griddler. And Lewis has first-hand knowledge of Hoisey, a lefty pitcher who was a pick-up player for Snyder when its summer teenage league team advanced to state competition.

"I don't know whether they'll start Tim or not, but I know he gave us a lot of trouble when we played against him in the summer. He's a good player."

Snyder comes off a 3-2 upset of ninth-ranked Andrews last Friday and is 1-2 in district play, 9-6 overall.

Israel Hinojos will lead off the batting order for Snyder and play left field. He'll be followed in the order by designated hitter Kevin Dollins, third baseman Randy Morris, right fielder Willie Garcia, catcher Tracy Odum, first baseman Bari Morton, short stop Bert Otto, center fielder Tommy Lane and second baseman Jason West. Goodwin will bat for pitcher Kevin Dollins, who takes a record of 1-1 with one save into the ballgame.

Coach Lewis noted that Goodwin and Garcia have suffered through some sickness and may not be 100 percent for the contest.

A win over Sweetwater would be a key one for the Tigers, who have a chance to improve their district standing. Five teams are locked for first place in the loop currently but that number will be trimmed by today's matchups as Andrews (9-4, 2-1) heads for Pecos (7-6, 2-1), Monahans (8-4, 2-1) travels to Fort Stockton (6-5, 2-1) and Big Spring (7-7, 2-1) visits San Angelo to play Lake View (3-8, 1-2).

NCAA basketball crown...

Michigan wins, 80-79

SEATTLE (AP) - Michigan has its first national college basketball championship, and that's not bad for a month's work.

The Wolverines beat Seton Hall 80-79 in overtime Monday night, making Steve Fisher the first rookie coach with an NCAA championship. Fisher took over on an interim basis for Bill Frieder just before the NCAA tournament began and won all six of his games.

Glen Rice scored 31 points for the Wolverines, breaking Bill Bradley's 1965 NCAA tournament scoring record. In six games, Rice wound up with 184 points for an average of 30.6. That was seven more than Bradley had for Princeton, although that was in five games.

"It's a great individual achievement," Rice said, "but being the type of person I am, I feel I owe most of it to my teammates and coaches."

Rumeal Robinson, the junior point guard, hit two free throws with three seconds left, giving Michigan its victory in the first overtime title game since 1963. Robinson had 21 points, and his 11 assists were a single-game tournament record.

And Sean Higgins scored 10 points while holding Seton Hall's hired gun from Australia, Andrew Gaze, to just five points, including a lone 3-point field goal that did not come until the opening seconds of overtime. In Gaze's virtual absence, John Morton took over, scoring 25 of his 35 points in the second half, including 20 of Seton Hall's final 26 points in regulation.

Michigan led by as many as 12 points in the second half, 51-39, on a driving, reverse slam-dunk by the 6-foot-2 Robinson, the top of whose head is 3-feet 10-inches below the rim.

Seton Hall went on its own run, outscoring Michigan 14-6 and trailing 59-57 with 6:51 to play after a short Morton jumper. Morton hit a 3-pointer from the left side of the key with 24 seconds to play, forging a 71-71 tie that stood at the end of regulation when Rice missed a turnaround jumper from the top of the key.

"I was shocked that I missed," Rice said.

With 2:41 left in overtime, a Morton 3-pointer put Seton Hall ahead 79-76. After Rice and Higgins each missed jumpers, Gerald Greene was fouled at the other end of the floor by Robinson. There was 1:17 left, and Greene went to the line for a 1-and-1.

His first shot bounced off the back rim, and, with 56 seconds left, was controlled by Michigan. Terry Mills hit a short jumper that pulled Michigan to 79-78.

With 10 seconds left, Morton threw up an off-balance airball from the lane, and Michigan got the rebound.

Robinson brought the ball up court for the Wolverines, drove into the lane and, before he could put up a shot, was fouled by Greene.

Greene thought the call by referee John Clougherty could have gone either way.

"I saw him penetrating to the hole, and I tried to cut him off," Greene said. "We collided, and the ref called it on me. I thought he could also have called it an offensive foul."

Seton Hall had a final chance as center Ramon Ramos took the ball out of bounds under the Michigan basket with three seconds left. He threw a baseball pass downcourt. Both Greene and Seton Hall forward Daryll Walker went up for it. Walker came down with the ball, but his awkward, one-handed push shot bounced hard off the glass and fell into Rice's hands as the game ended.

The Pirates were held scoreless over the final 2:41.

Bass club winners, tourneys are noted

Johnny Spruell won the Snyder Bass Club tournament for March, held at Lake Thomas recently.

Spruell had the Big Bass, eight pounds and two ounces, and his total stringer weighed in at 14 pounds, three ounces.

Wendell Pinkerton won the club's month-long event with a stringer weighing in at 12 pounds, 13 ounces. Johnny Spruell picked up Big Bass honors with his single catch weighing eight pounds, five ounces.

The club's April Tournament will be held in conjunction with the Open on the 8th and 9th at Lake Spence. Headquarters will be Wildcat Marina. Officials note that the limit for the Open is three fish but the club allows five for its tournament. Club members may weigh in only three fish at the Open scales but can add two more at the club scales which will be set up nearby. Fishing will begin at 6 a.m. both days and will end at 4 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday.

Also, the club's Top Twenty Classic, featuring the top 20 club fishermen from 1988, will be held May 6.

In another important note, the club will hold its monthly meeting this Thursday, April 6, instead of the second Thursday of the month. The meeting will be held in the Snyder National Bank building at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in bass fishing is encouraged to attend.

Other results from the March Tournament at Thomas included, second place, Pinkerton, 11-12; third, Neil Lloyd, 10-0; fourth, Larry House, 9-4; fifth, Mickey Nunley, 8-4; and sixth, Faron McCain, 7-14. Ironically, Jimmy Kiker caught one fish weighing six pounds, 14 ounces - the biggest ever for him - and did not place.

long tournament included, second place, David Stokes, 8-7; third, Spruell, 8-5; fourth Don Parsons, 7-6; fifth, Rick Howard, 6-0; and sixth, Buck Ramin, 6-0.

Landry will throw out first ball as Rangers open season

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Tom Landry, a former quarterback who has a high, hard one, throws out the first pitch tonight as the Texas Rangers open the American League season.

Landry, the only coach the Dallas Cowboys had for 29 years, was fired when new owner Jerry Jones took over.

It's ironic that Landry will help usher in a new era for the Rangers, who have new owners, new players and the winningest spring training in their history.

Landry played quarterback at Texas before switching to fullback. He's rated as having a good arm.

Knuckeballer Charlie Hough of the Rangers will duel Jack Morris of the Detroit Tigers in a soldout 7:35 p.m. game.

Landry was invited after President Bush turned down the honor of throwing out the first pitch although his son, George W. Bush III, and other investors recently bought the team from Eddie Chiles.

The opener marks the start of the Rangers' 18th season in Texas, all without a division pennant. It's the sixth time for Hough as the Rangers' opening pitcher. He is 2-1 with two no-decisions in his five previous opening-day assignments.

The Rangers have never faced Detroit in an opener in Arlington. Texas is 9-8 in overall openers.

Texas and Detroit will be off Wednesday with Nolan Ryan expected to make his regular-season debut with the Rangers on Thursday in a 5 p.m. game. The time was moved up so the Tigers can catch a plane.

Ryan, baseball's all-time strikeout leader, has been nursing a strained left calf muscle but won his final exhibition outing 12-4 against the Houston Astros, going a strong seven innings.

"I'm ready to go Thursday," Ryan said. "I'm pretty much on target."

Ryan's free agent contract was picked up by the Rangers after the Astros left him unprotected.

The Rangers, who won 17 games this spring, set a record with 6,543 full season tickets sold on March 28. The previous mark was 6,480 tickets sold in 1987.

The Rangers lineup will include newcomers Rafael Palmeiro at first base, and Julio Franco at second base. Both hit over .300 with the Chicago Cubs and Cleveland Indians, respectively, last year.

Western in 3rd place at Texas Jr. tourney

MCKINNEY - Western Texas College batted gusting winds, stiff competition and an unusually tough course to hold down third place at the midway point of the Texas State Junior Championships here Monday.

The Westerners shot 319 at Stonebridge Country Club to trail leader Odessa by five strokes. Paris Junior College holds down second place with a 317. Thirteen colleges are entered in the two-day, 36-hole tournament.

"The course is a par 72, 7,500 yards long. It's the hardest course I've seen in the eight years I've been coaching," said WTC coach Dave Foster. "The winds Monday were about 30 miles an hour from the south. This morning (Tuesday), the wind is 20 miles an hour but from the north. It's a totally different golf course because of the wind. Whoever stays away from the eights and sevens will win the tournament."

Odessa's 314 was paced by medalist Lance Mullins, who carded a 74. Teammate Brad Thaxton shot 75. Western Texas golfers provided the third and fourth place medalist spots as Darrell Cofer shot 77 and Jerry Whitten 78.

Others and their scores from WTC were Mark Burgen 81, Lance Jones 83 and Jeff Baker 91.

"I was real pleased with our scores," said Foster. "We're in good shape going into today. The way the wind is blowing it will be a survival day. It's a long, long course and the guys are going to be tired. If we can limit our mistakes, I think we'll do well."

Texan has made his billion through corporate raids

DALLAS (AP) — Billionaire Harold C. Simmons, who may have Lockheed Corp. in his takeover sights, doesn't mind being called a corporate raider. After all, buying other companies has propelled the son of two Texas public school educators to billionaire status.

"I think that's OK, because that's what I am," Simmons has said. "I think that term raider is very misleading because it implies that somebody is taking something by force without paying for it. Basically, corporate raiders are willing to pay a price for a stock higher than anyone else is willing to pay, or else they don't buy it."

Simmons, 57, last week upped his stake in Lockheed to 5.3 percent, but said in a letter to chairman Daniel M. Tellep: "We have no plans, or desire, to disrupt management. We expect to be a constructive, long-term shareholder."

Discussing why he sent the letter to Tellep, Simmons said Monday: "I think that many people would suspect I wanted to take the company over. I just wanted to reassure him that I didn't want to do that."

However, Simmons has made no secrets of his plans to get back into the acquisition game after he has "digested" his $1 billion purchase last year of NL Industries Inc.

"I'll be looking for an acquisition in the range of $2 billion and upwards," Simmons told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram last year. "My philosophy has always been that a big deal is as easy to do as a small deal, so you might as well do the biggest one you can do" — a philosophy he has repeated several times to various interviewers.

Simmons, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Texas with bachelor's and master's degrees in economic, worked for three years as an investigator for the U.S. Civil Service, and then a year as an examiner at the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Then in 1956, he moved to Republic National Bank, where he worked for four years before quitting, according to his official biography, because "my bosses and I disagreed on who was the smarter."

Simmons, then 29, put down $5,000 of his own money and borrowed $95,000 to buy a drug store located across from the Southern Methodist University campus.

"He has never worked for anyone else since," says his biography.

"He made hamburgers, washed dishes, stocked shelves, kept books and polished the floors," the bio says.

He also read financial statements; "I only know how to do one thing well, and that's read a financial statement," he said in an interview in the current issue of Fortune magazine.

In 1966 he began acquiring drug store chains, eventually owning 100 stores before selling them in 1973 to Jack Eckerd Corp. for $50 million.

Fortune estimates his current holdings in chemical, timber and sugar to be worth about $1.5 billion. He told the magazine, "I expect to be worth $5 billion to $10 billion before I die."

Besides NL Industries, which he split into a chemical division with $1 billion in 1988 sales and petroleum services division with $492 in sales, though his totally owned Contran Corp., he controls all or most of The Amalgamated Sugar Co., with 1988 sales of $401 million; Medford Corp., $127 million in forest products; Medite Corp., $86 million in fiberboard; Sybra Inc., a large franchiser of Arby's fast food restaurants with $81 million in sales; and the Hardware Division, which sold $59 million in locks and medical products.

Separately, through Contran, he owns 52 percent of Keystone Consolidated Ind., a steel and wire products company.

In addition, Simmons has made $328.9 million over the past decade through the buying and selling of large chunks of companies — from PSA Inc. to Sea-Land Corp. to GAF.

He has given some of it away, the largest chunk a $41 million gift last year to The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas for cancer and arthritis research.

Along the way, he also has had brushes with the law. In the 1970s, he was acquitted of mail and securities fraud charges and settled a civil suit for $300,000.

Then in 1983, he was found to have violated pension fund management rules, even though he had increased the value of the pension fund.

Although once described as working 80-hour weeks, Simmons now spends only about six hours daily at his office on the 17th floor of a north Dallas office building: "Can't let my job get in the way of my tennis game," he says.

"I'm not a long-hours worker," he told a reporter last year. "Two hours of good thinking time a day beats 20 hours of hard work. From my viewpoint, you've got to come up with the ideas."

Simmons was born in Alba, Texas, east of Dallas, and grew up in nearby Golden where his father was superintendent of schools and his mother a teacher in the town of about 200.

His official biography says Simmons was 16 before his parents and two brothers lived in a house with indoor plumbing.

Now Simmons has two homes in Dallas, a duplex in Aspen and a 24-acre villa in Santa Barbara, about 80 miles from Lockheed's Calabasas, Calif., headquarters — so near, Simmons told Lockheed's Tellep he would come by for a visit someday soon.

Firemen fail to find bodies of victims of fire

Dallas (AP)—Firefighters failed to find two people who were trapped in a two-alarm blaze late Saturday at a vacant apartment complex and did not find their bodies when they returned for a second outbreak of fire several hours later, authorities say.

The bodies of Jimmy Cornelius, 34, and his girlfriend, Julia Cornish, were discovered in separate bedrooms early Monday when some people were checking the damage at the vacant complex.

Cornelius had been hired by the building owner to live at the property and watch over it after a drug-related firebombing last month, arson investigators said. Saturday's fire appeared to be accidental, they said.

Deputy chief Tom Oney of the department's arson investigation squad said the couple's pajama-clad bodies were partially visible through the debris and both were next to boarded over windows, suggesting they were trying to escape the original fire.

"The most probable thing is that they were there at the time of the first fire, so I don't know why they were not found," Oney said. "But whatever happened, it is a problem that they were still there today."

Department officials are conducting a two-part investigation to determine the cause of the fire and why departmental search-and-rescue procedures failed, according to Assistant Fire Chief Jack Hickey.

More than 50 firefighters who answered the first call Saturday night will be questioned, Hickey said.

"We'll want to know who entered from where, how they attacked the fire and conducted their searches," Oney said.

Rebels, Loyalists fight one day after the coup

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—On the eve of a ceremony hailed as milestone in Haiti's path to democracy, rebel soldiers demanding freedom for an alleged coup leader controlled the airport in a tense standoff with government troops.

At least four rebels were reported killed on Monday in skirmishes with troops loyal to the government of Lt. Gen. Prosper Avril.

The mutinous soldiers, members of the Leopards commando battalion, were demanding freedom for their commander, Lt. Col. Himmler Rebu. He was under guard at an undisclosed location, accused of leading Sunday's foiled coup.

U.S. Embassy spokeswoman Susan Clyde said the rebels did not appear a serious threat to Avril. "I don't think Avril will be ousted," she said. "The event was resolved."

Avril assumed power six months ago in a coup led by noncommissioned officers who said they were disgusted by official corruption and human rights abuses.

On Monday night, presidential guardsmen in tanks battled Leopards commandos on a main thoroughfare between the airport and downtown Port-au-Prince.

Radio stations gave conflicting casualty reports, saying four to eight Leopards were killed and several wounded.

Rebels had earlier seized the airport, which was closed for a second day.

State-run television and radio was shut down and stopped broadcasting.

Most residents of Port-au-Prince stayed home and most schools and businesses were closed as Leopard commandos roamed the capital, often shooting in the air and telling people: "Get off the streets. The city belongs to us!" It was not clear how many of the 300 Leopards commandos were involved in the rebellion.

Jury indicts nine suspects charges of possession of a controlled substance, specifically amphetamine.

His indictment stems from his arrest March 9. His bond was set at $5,000.

Alleged illegal passing of checks prompted three indictments Monday, two against the same individual, Timothy Curt Burnett, 28, of 2611 El Paso.

Burnett is charged with writing two checks to himself in the amounts of $375 and $200 and drawn on the account of R&K Construction of Sweetwater. His bond for each indictment of forgery by passing was set at $3,000.

Also indicted for forgery by passing was Gloria Sosa, 36, who lists an Amarillo address. She is alleged to have cashed a $292 insurance check made out to a second individual last Feb. 21. Her bond was set at $3,000 also.

Three other grand jury indictments alleged misrepresentation by individuals seeking food stamp assistance through the Texas Department of Human Services.

The three indicted for securing execution of a document by deception were Kathy Sue Adams, 47, 513 32nd St.; Brenda Jane Blackwell, 29, of Box 671; and Diamatina Luera, 30, of 104 Canyon.

Bond for each of the three was set at $3,000.

Facing two indictments on Monday is Venancio Cerda Torres Jr., 26, of Rt. 3. He was charged with driving while intoxicated March 26 and simultaneously was charged with being a felon in possession of a firearm.

He was indicted for both counts Monday with a combined bond set at $5,000.

Council hears tiger protest

a shatter-proof window, dragged a keeper through it and "partially devoured" him. "A Bengal tiger has the capacity and the instinct to destroy a man, and once it's done, it's done," he said.

Mrs. Murry had previously said the tiger will reach a size of seven to nine feet in length and a weight of 600 to 700 pounds.

Her husband said he would like to bring more information about the animal to the city manager's office, and council members said after the family and their supporters had left that they would table the ordinance to give the Murrys the chance to present their case fully.

The ordinance would prohibit any private citizen from keeping any wild animal inside the city limits but would not prohibit the keeping of animals that are usually considered domesticated, including any kind of dog.

A proposed ordinance to place instructional aerobic, dance, tumbling and health studios in the C-1 commercial zone was defeated on a split vote after two Snyder women appeared to protest what they said could be the establishment of such a business in their neighborhood.

Mayme Lee Crowder of 709 26th St. and Frances Brown of 901 26th noted the possibility of Landes Home Furnishings at 904 26th moving its location. The remaining building could be leased to an aerobics business, greatly increasing traffic, they said.

Landes Home Furnishings is in a residential zone and is operating under a non-conforming C-1 ruling because a furniture store had been at that location for more than 30 years, city officials said.

The two women argued that aerobic studios should be required to be in a C-2 zone, which allows more traffic and more "set-back" from the curb than a C-1 business.

Councilmen Ralph Williamson, Jack Greene Jr. and John Johnson voted in favor of putting aerobic establishments under a C-1 classification, and council members Ernest Tippens, Zeck and Joe Coronado voted "no."

Called upon to break the tie, Mayor Williamson said, "I have a problem with this one, so it fails." He explained that he would be more comfortable with a C-2 designation for aerobic dance businesses.

Because Landes Home Furnishings is operating under a C-1 designation, only a business fitting into that category, such as a mortuary or another furniture store, could be opened there if it were moved.

Other business in the 3½-hour meeting included the reappointment of Tommy Aishman and appointment of Travis Bunch to the Planning and Zoning Commission. Joe Sentell was reappointed to the Zoning Board of Adjustment, Gary Hicks was named to the Builders Board of Appeals, and a seat on the Zoning Board of Adjustment was left pending.

A request from Lone Star Gas Co. to approve its new cost of service adjustment, enacting a 4.04-percent increase to its customers here, was approved, and a raise for Municipal Judge Tommie J. Mills from $900 to $1,200 monthly was okayed, with his night court and youth offender programs being praised by council members and city officials.

The city's contract with Snyder EMS Ambulance Service was extended for another two years, and Ollie Peek was appointed election judge for the May 6 municipal election.

The new city electrical code was approved on second reading, and an ordinance was passed to change the zoning at Ed Blocker's 505 N. College Ave. electrical shop and second-hand store from M-2, heavy manufacturing, to C-2 to allow Blocker to add living quarters to the store.

Marcia Rae Sanders' application for a special use permit to sell ladies' wear from her 3206 Ave. L home was approved.

The council agreed to accept proposals from local accounting firms to perform financial audits for the city until June 23 and to award a contract in early July.

A resolution was passed to support Sweetwater in its bid to get a 200-man pre-parole transfer center from the State Board of Pardon and Paroles, with Mayor Williamson noting that Sweetwater supported Snyder for a 1,000-man prison unit after Sweetwater was eliminated from consideration.

Following an executive session, the council directed Armstrong to file suit against Randy Petty and Robert Allen to discontinue sanitation and sewer services for non-payment of bills and against the Pal-O-Mar Motel for the collection of delinquent hotel-motel taxes.

Cut your own taxes and save

Home sale can be tax-free bonanza

By George W. Smith, CPA

(Ninth of 14 parts)

The profit on the sale of a home may create an immediate tax, or a great opportunity to earn as much as $125,000 of profit without paying a penny of tax. The route you take depends on your age at the time of the sale, when the sale was made, and what you do with the proceeds.

Use Form 2119, Sale or Exchange of a Principal Residence, to compute how much of your gain, if any, is taxable. Attach it to your tax return even if you are reporting no taxable gain.

If you're at least age 55 you may choose to exclude from your gross income $125,000 of the gain on the sale of your principal home. This is a one-time shot, so be sure of the rules:

- You must have been at least 55 years old on the date of the sale.

- The home being sold must have been owned and occupied as your principal residence for at least three out of the five years immediately preceding the sale.

- This is a once-in-a-lifetime privilege.

For a married couple filing jointly, both spouses must consent to the use of the privilege, and once they have used it neither one has a chance to use it again.

Before age 55 the only way to defer tax on the profit from a home sale is to buy an equally expensive or a more expensive replacement home.

Now it is possible for someone who is 55 or older and who has been deferring tax on the profit through several home sales to grab that big profit without paying any tax — up to $125,000 tax free. Fill in Part II of Form 2119 to exclude the gain on the sale.

Caution: Since this is a one-time election, you should not elect this exclusion if you plan to buy another home and can defer the gain under the usual rules.

A serious problem can arise for a home sale by a married couple when only one of the spouses is 55. The law treats both spouses as qualifying if they own their residence as joint tenants, tenants by entirety or community property. But the exclusion does not fully apply if they hold property as tenants in common, a prevailing practice in many states.

When a property held by a couple as tenants in common is sold and only one of the spouses is 55 or older, only half the gain is subject to the exclusion. The remaining portion of the gain is subject to tax if a new residence is not purchased within two years before or two years after the sale of the property.

The problem could be avoided if the parties convey their title from a tenancy in common to a joint tenancy or to a tenancy in the entirety. Before you make such a transfer you should seek the advice of competent legal counsel.

Taxpayers 55 or older who are planning to marry should keep the exclusion in mind when they are thinking about where they will live. If both own homes, they should consider selling both before the marriage to double the exclusion up to $250,000. If one has already made the election, perhaps with a former spouse, the other should consider a sale before marriage. He or she will not be able to claim the exclusion after the marriage.

The $125,000 exclusion can be used only once in a lifetime, and it should be used prudently. For example, a 55-year-old property owner might not be exercising good judgment in employing the privilege to cancel out only a $10,000 profit on a home sale.

Lost forever would be the remaining $115,000 exclusion possibility. Such a homeowner might be better off paying the tax on the $10,000 profit and reserving the exclusion for another day when he or she might have a much larger gain.

When you buy a home or refinance a mortgage you may be requested to pay the lending institution an amount called "points" in order to obtain the loan. Sometimes points are called a loan-origination fee. Points are fully deductible in the year of payment if:

- The points are paid on a loan to buy or improve a principal residence.

- The payment of points is an established business practice in the area.

- The points paid do not exceed the number of points generally charged in the area.

If the points are paid to refinance a loan or to buy a second home, the points must be deducted over the term of the loan. Further, in figuring the amount deductible, a month-by-month approach is required.

Points charged in the sale of a home to help arrange financing for the buyer are not deductible interest. Instead, they are a selling expense of the property and will reduce the gain to be reported.

Former bank president served 21 years in prison

AUSTIN (AP)—Lawrence Pope, who went from bank president to bank robber and later became a prison reform activist, has died. He was 70.

Pope collapsed and died on a downtown Austin street corner Monday. He had been ill for several months.

Pope started his banking industry career in the 1930s as an office boy at a Dallas bank. He went to night school and became a federal bank examiner. Eventually he became part owner and president of West National Bank in West, Texas, north of Waco.

After he was eased out of the job, he thought his banking partners had cheated him. He began robbing banks in October 1960, armed with a .38-caliber snub-nosed revolver. Records do not indicate how many robberies he was involved in.

"I was out to get bankers," Pope said in a 1982 interview. "I was going after them as long as I could."

His career as a bank robber ended when he was arrested near San Antonio in November 1960 and sentenced the next spring to 50 years in prison.

Pope wound up serving a total of 21 years at a federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., and the Texas Department of Corrections.

"He spent so much time in prison, that he had an incredible view of life in Texas prisons," John Wheat, sound archives coordinator at the Barker Texas History Center at the University of Texas, said. Wheat conducted 28 hours of videotaped interviews with Pope.

Pope filed an estimated 200 lawsuits while he was in prison, most in behalf of other inmates. After being paroled June 30, 1982, Pope arrived at St. Dismas House with 14 large files of documents he had compiled while in prison and immediately delved into prison reform.

He worked several years with CURE, Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants.

Private sentenced to death

KILLEEN, Texas (AP) — An Army private convicted of robbing and shooting to death two cab drivers during a nightlong crime spree in December was sentenced to death by a court martial panel.

The eight-member panel returned the death sentence verdict for Pvt. Dwight J. Loving after about four hours of deliberation Monday.

"Private Loving, I hope God has mercy on you for what you did to these two people," Judge Stephen Saynisch told Loving after explaining the appeals process to him.

The court martial panel also ruled Loving must forfeit all pay and allowances and receive a dishonorable discharge, the Killeen Daily Herald reported.

He was convicted Friday of robbing and fatally shooting part-time cab driver Pvt. Christopher Fay, 20, of Fort Hood, and cab driver Bobby Sharbino, 44, a retired Fort Hood soldier.

The men were killed the night of Dec. 12 in the taxicabs they were driving.

Loving also was convicted of the robbery and attempted murder of a third cab driver, Howard Harrison, 28. Although he was bitten on the head, hand and back while fighting with Loving in the cab, Harrison managed to escape and run to safety, officials said.

The Army private also was convicted of robbing two convenience stores in Killeen that night.

To assess a death penalty, the panel had to reach a unanimous verdict and find that "aggravating circumstances" existed beyond reasonable doubt.

After the verdict was reached Monday, Lou Sharbino, wife of Bobby Sharbino, praised prosecutors and the sentence.

"It gets one person who is very dangerous off of the streets," she said.

Presentencing testimony in the case was heard last week.

Pvt. Forrest Brown, once a prisoner at Fort Hood Installation Detention Facility where Loving has been held since his December arrest, said that in January Loving confessed to killing two Killeen cab drivers and shooting a third.

Brown told the court martial panel Saturday that Loving said he "did it the first time to see if he could get away with it and did it the second time because it was fun."

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm thinking of trading in my daily breakfast of bacon and eggs for a healthier alternative. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER: My initial reaction to your question was to assume that you need to change diets. Although a clear majority of Americans would be healthier eating low-cholesterol diets, this is not true in all cases.

For instance, if you are a 23-year-old lumberjack with no family history of heart disease and have a serum cholesterol of 150 milligrams/dl (well below the 200 milligrams recommended), you needn't change your eating habits.

On the other hand, if you are 40 and sedentary, have a family history of premature heart disease, have a serum cholesterol of 300 milligrams and smoke, you'd be crazy not to make major dietary modifications to reduce fat. (Also, you'd want to start moderate exercise and stop smoking.)

For most of us, bacon and eggs are not appropriate or healthful as a breakfast mainstay. These edibles contain much too much fat; the dietary benefits do not exceed the risks. The cholesterol in the egg yolk, about 250 milligrams, constitutes about a day's "allowance."

The most common — and nourishing — alternative to a bacon-and-egg breakfast is cereal. Grains are a valuable source of protein, minerals, fiber and trace elements. Cereals are marketed in an almost inexhaustible array: hot, cold or instant. I suggest that you consider switching to a grain breakfast, reserving eggs for a once-a-week "treat." You might want to rely heavily on cereals that contain oatmeal or bran, since both these substances have been shown to reduce cholesterol. Stay away from cereals containing coconut and palm oil, both of which are added for flavor but can elevate blood cholesterol even though these two oils do not themselves contain cholesterol.

For more information, I am sending you copies of my Health Reports "Eating Right For a Healthy Heart" and "Understanding Cholesterol." Other readers who would like copies should send $1.25 for each to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the titles.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctor says that 37 percent of my right lung is calcified and that nothing can be done. Is she correct?

DEAR READER: This would be a lot of calcium in the lung; I don't know what your doctor means by this.

When certain types of infection affect pulmonary tissue, the body often responds by depositing calcium within or near the infection. Thus, lung calcifications are associated with fungal infections, tuberculosis and sarcoidosis, a lung inflammation of unknown cause.

Ordinarily, calcified nodules do not cause disruption of lung function. However, if they are widespread or if parts of the lung happen to be sheathed with the mineral, some loss of respiratory ability may occur.

Once calcium has been deposited in pulmonary tissue, it can be removed only by surgery. I suggest that you question your doctor about the reason for your lung calcification.

And, if you are having breathing difficulty, ask her about what treatment would be appropriate for you.

New government steps not enough, kin of victims say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says it will force U.S. airlines to take stricter anti-terrorism measures, but people who lost loved ones in the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 say the actions aren't strong enough.

On the 103rd day after the bombing, the Transportation Department announced orders requiring devices to detect plastic explosives and stricter compliance with aviation security warnings, after Flight 103 relatives met with President Bush.

The White House meeting on Monday, which was scheduled for 20 minutes but lasted an hour, began a day of emotion-filled activities at nearby Lafayette Park, Congress and a Washington church by scores of relatives and friends of the 270 people killed in the Dec. 21 explosion of the Boeing 747 over Lockerbie, Scotland.

The relatives called for a full-scale congressional investigation "to determine what and where the breakdowns were" that led to the "preventable massacre at 31,000 feet."

Bert Ammerman of Demarest, N.J., spokesman for the relatives, said action announced by Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner was "a positive step forward. We applaud the secretary, (but) it's not enough."

Skinner was in the meeting with the relatives and Bush. Ammerman said all checked and carried baggage should be hand-searched until devices are installed that can detect plastic explosives such as the one believed to have blown up Flight 103 as it was headed from London to New York.

The relatives also proposed better training and pay for airport inspectors and public disclosure of terrorist threats.

"Our loved ones were not given the freedom to make a rational decision regarding their fate based on all the available facts," Ammerman said.

"We realize that we will never again be able to laugh, cry or talk with our loved ones," he told several hundred people in the park. "But we are determined to do everything in our power to prevent this senseless and preventable tragedy from occurring again."

Skinner, at a news conference, outlined new orders affecting U.S. airlines, including required installation of plastic explosive-detection systems, such as thermal neutron analysis devices, at high-risk airport throughout the world "at the earliest feasible date."

The government already has ordered six of the nearly $1 million machines for installation at various airports before the end of the year, but Skinner gave no timetable for carrying out the new order, which would involve 100 or more airports.

He said it will require some negotiations with foreign governments. A Federal Aviation Administration official who spoke on condition of anonymity said it could take years for full compliance with the order.

Other steps ordered by Skinner include mandatory airline acknowledgement and compliance with security bulletins that warn of possible threats against aviation, an increase in FAA personnel assigned to key U.S. and foreign airports and upgrading of airport X-ray equipment.

Skinner, however, said a public warning system when there are security threats would cripple intelligence efforts to combat terrorists.

"We must balance the needs of the American people and the industry to know with the need to gather meaningful, significant, relevant information," Skinner said.

Artificial heart implant made history 20 years ago

HOUSTON (AP) — The world's first implant of a total artificial heart, completed 20 years ago today, was then described as an "act of desperation" on a dying patient by the doctor who performed the historic procedure.

On April 4, 1969, at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, Dr. Denton Cooley inserted the first total artificial heart into 47-year-old Haskell Karp of Skokie, Ill.

Karp lived for about 65 hours on the device and then received a human heart transplant. He died a little more than a day later.

Cooley's troubles, however, were just beginning.

The Harris County Medical Society censured him for "publicity," which meant violating the society's guidelines about having a physician's name appear in a newspaper in connection with the name of a patient.

Criticism came from a variety of sources, but so did praise for performing an innovative procedure.

Cooley resigned his faculty position at Baylor College of Medicine later that year because he said school officials would not allow him to continue his research on the artificial heart.

The famed heart surgeon went on to establish the Texas Heart Institute in Houston.

Since that first step provided by Cooley, the focus has shifted to the development of "partial artificial hearts" that increase the heart's capacity to pump while allowing it to remain in place.

Dr. Bud Frazier, director of Texas Heart Institute's Cullen Cardiovascular Surgical Research Laboratories, and Dr. George Noon, professor of surgery at Baylor College of Medicine, believe that artificial hearts and heart assist devices eventually will save thousands of lives.

Estimates are that 300,000 people each year die due to heart disease. About 1,200 people are now on the waiting list for a heart transplant, and yearly about 40 percent of those die waiting for a heart. Only 2,000 hearts per year become available.
