Manhunt underway for cult 'godfather'

Cuban allegedly linked to human sacrifices

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Authorities conducted an international manhunt today for the "godfather" of a drug-smuggling cult that allegedly sacrificed and mutilated at least 12 people to make its members invulnerable.

U.S. and Mexican authorities were searching for Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, a Cuban who police said orchestrated the ritual slayings on a remote ranch outside of this Mexican border town.

Constanzo is believed to have fled into the United States with Matamoros resident Sara Maria Aldrete, a 24-year-old, 6-foot-1 brunette described by Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox as the "witch of the operation."

A wanted poster issued by the Cameron County Sheriff's Department in Texas described her as "extremely dangerous. Use caution."

In Miami, television station WPLG reported Wednesday night that Metro-Dade police have been alerted that Constanzo was believed to be heading toward the Florida city.

Also Wednesday, in a manner not seen in the United States, Mexican police individually displayed four of five detained suspects in front of scores of media representatives, who subjected them to a barrage of questions.

"We killed them for protection," said suspect Elio Hernandez Rivera, 22 of Matamoros. He added that he shot one victim and decapitated another.

Police pulled up Hernandez Rivera's shirt and jacket to show scars on his shoulders and back. One was shaped like an arrow, which authorities said signified he was authorized by the cult to make human sacrifices that were intended as protection from police, bullets or other threats to their drug-smuggling operation.

Hernandez Rivera did not comment on the scars.

Among the group's victims examined Tuesday were a Mexican policeman, a federal police volunteer, a 16-year-old boy and Mark Kilroy, a 21-year-old University of Texas premedical student who disappeared March 14 in Matamoros while on spring break.

Mexican police believe two victims were executed as revenge for a drug deal that went bad. Hernandez Rivera said some were killed out of vengeance rather than as sacrifices.

Mattox said the ranch apparently was used as a drug-smuggling base, and members were smuggling about 1,000 pounds of marijuana a month into the United States.

WTC rodeo slates first performance

The Scurry County Coliseum will open its doors to the Western Texas College NIRA Rodeo Thursday at 8 p.m.

Some 250 contestants from 15 colleges and universities are expected to compete in the four-day rodeo, which will feature shows nightly through Saturday, ending Sunday with the 2 p.m. short-go.

Tonight's performance will recognize a new rodeo queen. Candidates for the title are Anne Marie Blagg, a sophomore from Colorado City, and Lorre Moser, a freshman from Iowa Park.

The four-day rodeo will be dedicated in memory of Shawn Odom of Cross Plains, a team roper and student at WTC who was killed in a March auto accident.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for students. Scurry County students will be admitted free to the Thursday performance with tickets which have been distributed at the schools.

Jerry Baird will serve as announcer. Harry Vold of Fowler, Colo. will be the stock contractor and Stan Ham of Andrews will return as the rodeo clown.

Sales tax tumbles with latest report

The monthly sales tax return for Snyder during February took a tumble when compared to last year, a drop in part credited to the extra day in February of 1988 due to leap year.

The monthly comparison waned by 27.6 percent, but the year-to-date cumulative total still remained on the positive side.

With a total sales tax income through February of $245,159, Snyder is managing to stay 1.6 percent above last year's figure at this time.

For the month, the city received $41,845 this year compared to $57,840 last year when February contained 29 days, a difference of $15,995.

Across the state, sales tax rebates are up 13.4 percent, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock. He warned that the monthly comparisons in this month's report are skewed because merchants collected and reported an extra day's worth of sales.

"We estimated that as much as $1.9 million in sales tax could have been reported statewide for February 29 last year. One day may not seem like much, but it's enough to throw the numbers off," Bullock said.

His office sent checks totaling $57.2 million to 902 cities which collect local sales tax at either 1 or 1½ percent. Snyder collects 1 percent while Scurry County collects ½ of 1 percent.

The return to the county with the most recent check brings the year's total to $133,103.

A sampling of area city's sales tax returns for February include:

—Lubbock: plus 12.5 percent for the year with $4.9 million received compared to $4.4 million last year. The monthly return showed a 1.6 percent increase with $917,128 received compared to $902,061 last year.

—Abilene: plus 9.7 percent for the year with $2.6 million received compared to $2.3 million last year. The monthly return showed a 3.3 percent increase with $464,879 received compared to $449,786 last year.

Rain chances rise to 50 percent here

From Local, Wire Reports

After a sprinkling of rain Wednesday night, the Snyder area lists a 50 percent chance for additional moisture Thursday with some thunderstorm activity said possible.

The rain activity here is expected to decrease in intensity early Friday, when a 20 percent chance for morning thunderstorms is forecast.

Cloudy and cool conditions have been noted in the Snyder area since Wednesday, when .05 of an inch of rainfall was measured. This brings the rain total to date to in excess of 2.7 inches. The overnight low in Snyder Wednesday was 43 degrees and the daytime mercury never rose above 52.

Warmer temperatures are expected by Friday, with local readings in the 70s expected.

For the weekend, considerable cloudiness and a slight chance for showers or thunderstorms remain in the outlook.

The high temperatures Saturday should be in the 70s, dropping to the 60s on Sunday. Overnight lows this weekend are expected to remain in the 40s.

Most of Texas had a forecast for scattered showers and thunderstorms Thursday night and Friday.

A strong upper level storm approaching the Texas Panhandle from New Mexico was expected to trigger thunderstorm activity and a weak upper level storm crossing extreme South Texas was forecast to cause precipitation in that area.

The state's weather is expected to be mostly cloudy Thursday night and partly to mostly cloudy Friday.

Showers and scattered thunderstorms covered much of the state at dawn Thursday. They were reported in the Panhandle and in portions of North Texas and South Texas.

Early morning temperatures were in the 40s and 50s except in South Texas where readings were in the 60s and 70s. Extremes ranged from 39 at Dalhart to 70 at Brownsville.

Other early morning temperatures around the state included 40 at Amarillo, 50 at Wichita Falls, 52 at Fort Worth, 54 at Waco, 52 at Austin, 50 at San Antonio, 51 at Houston, 56 at Corpus Christi, 47 at San Angelo, 42 at Lubbock, 45 at Midland and 51 at El Paso.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It's not your age that matters, but how your matter ages."

Jack Denman is a professed "people watcher." He's one of those who can carry on two conversations at once and still not miss an incident all the way across the coffee shop.

It was Denman who noticed that his minister, Miller Robinson of Colonial Hill Baptist, ate a full breakfast and then walked the ticket at Louise's the other day.

The preacher made a stop at the bank and the post office before he realized he had left without paying. He hurried back to pay and apologize to the proprietor.

Denman was waiting when he returned. "I haven't told anybody," Denman promised. "Not yet."

Denman says his preacher believes in free speech, and he has no problem with that. But he adds, "We've got some members who think the listeners ought to be compensated."

Miller enjoys the light side of life. He told about a wedding ceremony he once performed that had a long and uncomfortable pause.

When the minister reached the point in the service to ask who is giving the bride in marriage, there was nothing but silence. He waited a moment and repeated the question, thinking perhaps that the father of the bride had not heard his cue.

While repeating the traditional question, Miller's eyes turned toward the father whose mouth was working hard to move. This time he answered the question without difficulty, and the ceremony went off without a hitch.

At the reception, the father took the minister aside for an explanation. "No, I wasn't trying to back out. My dentures were stuck together."

Good advice: The best way to save face is to keep the lower half of it shut.

Job figure shifts almost 3 percent

After reporting unemployment estimates here at 8.9 percent for January, the Texas Employment Commission (TEC) downgraded this figure to 6 percent for the month of February.

The primary change involved the number of persons said "actively seeking employment" through the TEC. In January, this number was listed at 801 and, in February, this dropped to 537.

In addition, the TEC projected the number of persons employed in Scurry County rose during the one month period. The number of workers reportedly rose by 127 jobs, from 8,214 in January to 8,341 in February.

The number of persons seeking employment and the number actually employed are combined to figure the county's civilian labor force, which the TEC reports declined here during February from 9,015 to 8,878.

In addition to Scurry County, unemployment estimates were reported for five other surrounding counties served through the Sweetwater-based regional TEC office. These include:

—Nolan County: unemployment figured at 8.4 percent to include a civilian labor force of 7,803, a figure comprised of 7,147 persons with jobs and 655 persons seeking employment.

—Mitchell County: unemploy-

Satanism startles tough border town

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Traditional smugglers have long had a macho image and been praised in song along the swashbuckling U.S.-Mexico border, but the discovery of a drug ring involved in satanic killings was outside anyone's experience.

"Our smugglers do not pray to the devil," said secretary Alma Rosa Garza. She noted that the leader of a voodoo cult of drug smugglers responsible for at least 12 ritual slayings was Cuban.

Smuggling along the border involves drugs and illegal immigrants going north; luxury and consumer goods and even industrial and farm machinery that is highly taxed in Mexico comes the other way. And thousands of Americans come to Matamoros and nearby Reynosa every night to drink, party or visit whorehouses. Nearly 22,000 visitors, many of them college students, come across daily during college spring break.

Some of that changed when Mark Kilroy, a pre-med student from the University of Texas, disappeared during an expedition with friends to Matamoros.

But the solution — the discovery that Kilroy was among those killed by smugglers who believed satanic ritual would protect them from harm — was far stranger than anyone had thought possible.

Mexican police said five people have been arrested in the case, and authorities on both sides of the border were seeking the cult "godfather," identified as Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, a Cuban national in his late 40s.

"It was the strangest case involving drugs that I have seen in my years as a newsman," said Edgardo Montiel, editorial director of the Matamoros newspaper El Bravo. Violence is common in the border, he said, but not this kind of violence.

"We are very concerned and we will tell the tourists that 99.9 percent of the people here are good and that it only takes one or two to give the others a bad name," said Ignacio Garcia, a shift supervisor at Pancho Villa's restaurant, on Wednesday.

Authorities were quick to say the mass killing should not alarm potential tourists.

"We do not issue travel advisories in connection with isolated criminal acts," said Frances Jones, spokeswoman for consular affairs at the State Department in Washington.

"We do not believe there is any danger to people traveling to Matamoros," said Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox. This city on the southern side of the Rio Grande near the tip of Texas is widely known as a place where drug trafficking money buys political power and legitimate business concerns and tries to keep the peace.

Songs celebrate smugglers' courage in gunbattles with the law on both sides of the border.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss the relation of caffeine to glaucoma. My ophthalmologist suggests I discontinue my wake-up cup of coffee. I'm 80 and in excellent health.

DEAR READER: Glaucoma refers to an abnormal increase in the fluid pressure within the eye. The condition is often due to blockage of the tiny drains (tridocorneal angles) that normally allow fluid to circulate between various parts of the eye.

Some forms of glaucoma appear to be made worse by fatigue, tobacco, caffeine and emotional upset. Therefore, ophthalmologists often prohibit cigarettes and coffee.

Because glaucoma is readily treatable using modern drugs, your doctor may rescind his order about your one cup of coffee if your wake-up drink is important to you. Ask your doctor.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctor put me on amoxicillin for pneumonia. After five days I developed joint pain. The physician says it's due to spurs and tennis elbow, but I'm wondering if it might be a reaction to the medicine. What do you think?

DEAR READER: Arthralgia (joint pain) is sometimes caused by the fever that results from infections such as pneumonia. It can also be the consequence of certain types of pneumonia, such as pneumococcal pneumonia, in which the bacteria may temporarily infect joints. Joint spurs of calcium and tendon inflammation (tendinitis) will cause joint pains.

Finally, as you pointed out, adverse reactions to medications are often associated with arthralgias.

From your question, I cannot sort out the various factors causing your problem. The arthralgias from bacterial infection frequently appear as red, hot, swollen joints that improve with antibiotics.

Calcium deposits and tendinitis ordinarily produce no objective changes in the joints; also, X-ray examination may disclose the offending spur. In addition to causing joint pain, an allergy to an antibiotic usually is associated with a rash. Therefore, I cannot be more helpful except to say that from the information you've supplied, your doctor is probably correct.

Nonetheless, a reaction to amoxicillin is certainly a possibility. I suggest that you discuss this situation with your doctor.

For more information, I'm sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there anything that will relieve chilblains?

DEAR READER: Chilblains is an antiquated medical term that refers to the consequences of excess exposure to cold: redness and swelling of the skin, followed by itching, blistering and ulceration. The preferred term is "frost injury." (Frostbite is a more severe form, characterized by extensive cold-induced tissue damage: pale skin, loss of sensation and gangrene.)

Frost injury is treated with gentle warming, cleansing of affected skin and avoidance of further exposure to cold.

If you fear that when partner opens three no-trump, he may have seven winners in a solid minor suit and scattered stoppers in the other suits, it's good to have a specific agreement as to what the bid means. South assumed North held a balanced 24-25 high-card points and hoped he would be playing in at least a 5-3 spade fit when he bid four spades. The raise to five spades guaranteed four-card support, maximum points and controls in all the suits. So it was a decent gamble for South to bid six.

After dummy's diamond ace won, the play of the ace of spades told declarer that slam would require careful play and some fortunate distribution in the off-suits. Declarer ruffed a diamond, played dummy's A-K of clubs and ruffed another diamond. Next a club was ruffed in dummy. So far, so good, since East had to follow to all suits led. Declarer now played out the Q-K-A of hearts, ending in dummy. Once again, East had to follow three times. The stage was now set. When declarer led dummy's fourth heart, East was pinned. If he ruffed in with a spade honor, South would shed a club and East would be endplayed, forced to lead from the honor-small in trumps. If he failed to ruff with a high honor, declarer would simply have 12 tricks.

Lesson: A bad trump split does not always spell defeat. Careful play can still result in an end position favorable to declarer, if he keeps his wits about him.

IMF deal finished, Mexico faces tough bank talks on debt

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico will be "firm but very cautious" in upcoming debt talks with its commercial bank creditors now that it has in hand a $3.65 billion loan from the International Monetary Fund, top Mexican officials said Wednesday.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady's Third World debt reduction plan speeded negotiation of the loan, the officials told reporters at a background briefing.

"We got what we wanted," said one of the officials.

Mexico also will ask banks to reschedule about $2 billion in amortization of principal that come due this year, they said.

President Carlos Salinas de Gortari wants to reduce the burden of Mexico's $107 billion foreign debt and keep more money inside the country for economic investment.

Mexicans have seen their standard of living decline by 50 percent over the last seven years, and Salinas is under political and social pressure to reverse that course and renew growth.

WTC rodeo opens tonight

Some of the top collegiate cowboys and cowgirls in the nation begin competition tonight in the annual Western Texas College NIRA Rodeo at Scurry County Coliseum.

In the mold of Wacey Kathy, Dave Appleton and Jim Sharp, many of these contestants seem destined to become greats in pro rodeo.

Announcer Jerry Baird will greet fans and contestants with the grand entry call at 8 p.m. nightly through Saturday. The top 10 contestants in each event will then advance to Sunday's 2 p.m. finals.

As an added attraction tonight, a new rodeo queen will be presented. Candidates are Lorre Moser of Iowa Park and Anne Marie Blagg of Colorado City.

Odessa College comes into the from WTC, is second in the steer wrestling, third in the calf roping and third in the all-around. Other leaders are Pat Yancy of Tarleton in the bull riding and Tommy Guy of Vernon Regional College in the team roping.

The women's all-around leader is Karen Cochran of Texas Tech. She leads the goat tying. Kena Boultinghouse of Tarleton comes in as the top barrel racer while Jana Smith of ENMU leads the breakaway roping.

The WTC men's team will be Brown, Merchant, Clyde Himes, Kenny Taton, Denny McLanahan and Michael Gaffney. The women are Melanie Graf and Krista Jeffries. Moser, who suffered a broken collarbone last weekend at the Howard College Rodeo, was the other WTC women's team member.

rodeo in first place in the men's Southwest Region standings. The Wranglers, led by all-around leader Ty Murray, have won five of the seven regional rodeos this season, including the last three. Host Western Texas College is in second place in the standings. Coach Bob Doty's Westerners have won at home the past two years.

Murray has been the hottest name in the collegiate ranks this season. He has earned all-around points - placing in two or more events - in each of the seven Southwest Region rodeos. He also leads the standings in the bareback and saddle bronc and is second in the bull riding. Team member Shawn McMullan is winning the calf roping.

Tarleton State University and Eastern New Mexico are currently 1-2 in the women's standings, with Howard College a close third.

Teams are made up of six men or three women. Students from all of the schools in the region may enter and win individual points but only designated team members may contribute to the team. At the end of the 10-rodeo season, officials will count each team's top seven rodeos for an overall total. First and second place teams will advance to the College National Finals Rodeo in Bozeman, Mont.

While team totals are computed on a top-seven basis, individuals count only their top five rodeos. Again, the first and second place cowboys and cowgirls in each event will qualify for the CNFR.

Points in each event here this week are awarded on the basis of 40 for first place, 30 for second, 20 for third and 10 for fourth in the long-go, short-go and average. An individual can get up to 120 points in each event entered.

In addition to Murray and McMullan from Odessa, other event leaders coming into the rodeo include Western Texas cowboy Russell Merchant in the steer wrestling. Ray Brown, also

DORMA ELAM

Mrs. Elam due honor

Dorma Elam, Ira School custodian, has been chosen to receive the Community Citizens of the Year Award at this year's PTA District 18 Spring Conference.

Elam will receive her Honorary Life Membership to the Texas PTA Friday night at the annual Life Membership banquet in Abilene.

She was chosen for this high honor because of the many hours she gives toward work in the community.

Elam has been employed by the school for the past 14 years. She and her husband, Merle, have three children.

John Tyler, 10th president of the United States, was born in 1790 in Charles City County, Va.

Novice license class for amateur radio set to begin on Thursday

The Snyder Amateur Radio Club is organizing a novice license class that will start at 7 p.m. Thursday in the club house located in the south side of the East Fire Station at 29th and Ave. E.

The novice class will provide the knowledge and skills to pass the federal communications commission novice license test to obtain the amateur radio novice license. The novice test is the first and entry level of five licenses that amateur radio operators can obtain.

The class is open to any one interested in amateur or ham radio. Instructor for the class will be Hamp Yearwood, KG5MG, who holds an extra class license, the top level of amateur radio licenses.

Amateur radio is different from CB or citizens Band Radio because operators have to pass Morse code and a written test thus being licensed to operate on the amateur radio bands.

Ham operators talk around the world to other ham operators in foreign countries by shortwave radio and locally on frequencies just below the police bands. Hams also provide weather spotting for the National Weather Service in times of severe weather and emergency and public service communications when needed.

The Snyder Amateur Radio Club will be providing two-way radio communications for the Snyder Neighbors Sharing Project to be held on Saturday, April 29.

The Snyder Amateur Radio Club also meets the first Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. at the club house. All interested parties are invited to join the novice class or attend the meetings. For more information call 573-6528 or 573-9322.

Limits in jurisdiction may be changed after new bill introduced

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas would have jurisdiction over capital murders of Texans that occur outside the state under legislation announced by a state lawmaker after the body of a University of Texas student was found in Mexico.

Rep. Larry Warner said Wednesday his measures are needed in cases like Mark Kilroy's where "The crime is not committed within our boundaries, but we're the ones who have the primary interest in seeing to it that justice is done in the eyes of the family of the victim."

Warner said he discovered what he termed the "loophole in the law" when he was informed of the case involving Mark Kilroy.

Officials said the body of Kilroy, a pre-medical student, was found on a ranch near Matamoros, Mexico along with the bodies of at least 11 others. The victims were allegedly sacrificed by drug smugglers seeking protection through voodoo.

Kilroy, 21, disappeared last month in Matamoros while on spring break vacation.

Under current law, a person may not be prosecuted in Texas for murder committed outside the state unless an element of the offense takes place in Texas, said Warner, D-Port Isabel.

Warner got permission from the House to introduce one bill that would give Texas jurisdiction over such slayings, and a second that provides for such a case to be prosecuted in any Texas county in which the victim had lived.

"The bill says the state of Texas has an interest in protecting the lives of its own citizens, and so if a Texas citizen is murdered outside this state, this state has jurisdiction to prosecute the offense," said Warner, a former assistant district attorney in Hidalgo County.

Rep. Juan Hinojosa, D-McAllen, said he did not think Warner's bill would be approved by lawmakers. He described it as a reaction to a "brutal and atrocious" incident.

"I don't think it's workable," said Hinojosa, an attorney. "I think it's just a spontaneous reaction to what has happened. It's so horrible, that many times you want to do something now and do it without thinking out the whole process." Ron Dusek, spokesman for Attorney General Jim Mattox, said the attorney general's office would have to look at the legislation before commenting specifically on it.

But Dusek added that "there are ways" to prosecute suspects in Kilroy's murder here for other crimes they are suspected of committing north of the border.

For example, Dusek said, one of the other victims "apparently was kidnapped on this side" of the border. The suspects also could be prosecuted for conspiracy if while in Texas they discussed committing a crime, he said.

Man detained after confession

DALLAS (AP) — A 27-year-old Dallas man got more than a sympathetic ear when he confessed a parole violation to a state judge and then was ordered arrested.

Thomas G. Jones was sentenced last month to 10 years probation after pleading guilty to robbery and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. At the time, state District Judge Larry Baraka told Jones to come to him if he needed help. So when Jones had trouble continuing a court-ordered drug treatment program, he showed up in Baraka's courtroom.

"He thought I would just talk sweet to him," Baraka told the Dallas Times Herald. "When I put him in custody, he got scared and broke and ran."

Bailiffs chased Jones down the hall from the fifth floor courtroom and cornered him in another courtroom.

Jones had told the court's probation officer the drug treatment sessions the judge ordered were too tough, so he stopped attending — a violation of his probation.

When the officer took Jones before the judge, who was busy with an unrelated jury trial, Baraka told bailiffs to find Jones a seat. But when bailiffs asked where, Baraka replied: "It doesn't matter. He's in your custody now."

Hearing that, Jones bolted from the courtroom with bailiff Nolan Davidson in hot pursuit. Davidson cornered and handcuffed Jones, eventually returning the sheepish-looking prisoner to Baraka's courtroom.

Abbie Hoffman...

Former 1960s radical found dead

NEW HOPE, Pa. (AP) — Abbie Hoffman, the satirical Chicago Seven radical who captured the hearts and minds of one generation and angered another by tossing dollar bills on a stock exchange floor and founding the Yippie party, has died.

He was 52. Hoffman, who wrote the books "Revolution for the Hell of It" and "Steal This Book," was found dead in his home Wednesday evening, said Solebury Township Police Chief Richard Mangan.

He was fully dressed and under the covers of his bed.

Michael Waldron, a neighbor, found Hoffman and told police Hoffman had been depressed about an auto accident in which he suffered a broken leg last June.

But Mangan said no evidence suggested suicide. An autopsy is planned for tonight.

Hoffman's death shocked those who knew him.

"Oh, God. I'm stunned. He was brilliant," Dr. Timothy Leary said. The LSD guru then added he needed time to collect his thoughts before he could comment further.

"Abbie Hoffman was an American legend," Leary said later.

Gerald B. Lefcourt, Hoffman's long-time attorney, described him as a humorous man devoted to correcting what was wrong with society.

"He threw money on the (American) stock exchange floor in the late '60s and was able to show in that satirical event, when hundreds of people on the stock exchange on Wall Street chased flying money on the floor, how silly it all was," Lefcourt said from his New York City home.

"It's the end of an era," said Hoffman's 49-year-old brother, Jack, from his Framingham, Mass., home.

"He was 52 years old and I think he gave up. ... Maybe he was tired. I know he was disappointed in the young people of today. He didn't feel he was getting through to them. He was disenchanting."

Just last week, Hoffman, who criticized college campuses in recent years as "bastions of rest," told a Vanderbilt University audience that he was saddened by the interest today's young people have in the 1960s.

"Nostalgia is a sign of middle-age," he told them during an appearance with Leary. "We're reminiscing about our youth. When you see young people nostalgic for a youth they didn't even experience, it's a little sad. They're supposed to be out making one for themselves."

A native of Worcester, Mass., Hoffman rose to prominence with the Chicago Seven, a group of radicals who stood trial on charges of conspiring to disrupt the bloody 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

The others were Thomas Hayden, Jerry Rubin, David Dellinger, Reynard C. Davis, Lee Weiner and John Froines.

The 4½-month-long federal trial's theatrics featured wild-haired defendants and a 74-year-old judge, Julius Hoffman, who ordered Bobby Seale, a former Black Panther leader, bound and gagged in the courtroom. Seale's trial later was severed from the others.

Hoffman and four others also were charged with crossing state lines with intent to riot. They were acquitted of conspiracy but convicted of the second charge. The convictions eventually were overturned.

Two years ago, he was arrested for the 42nd time while protesting CIA recruitment at the University of Massachusetts. Hoffman, Amy Carter, daughter of former President Carter, and 13 others eventually were acquitted of trespassing and disorderly conduct.

Hoffman, whose given name was Abbott, was born Nov. 30, 1936.

His activist roots can be traced to Worcester, where in the early '60s he was a chairman of the Friends of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and vice chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality.

He started the loosely organized Yippie movement, or Youth International Party, in 1968 to bring together radicals to protest the government and the Vietnam War.

Hoffman went underground in 1974 to avoid trial on cocaine possession charges. He emerged nearly seven years later and revealed he had lived in upstate New York and had undergone plastic surgery.

He moved to this Philadelphia suburb several years ago during the height of a losing battle against a Delaware River pumping station.

Besides his brother, Hoffman is survived by his mother, Florence, and his three children.

Ueberroth's bid for Eastern flops after bargaining talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter V. Ueberroth's vow to resurrect ailing Eastern Airlines crumbled along with the hopes of its striking unions when his $464 million deal for the carrier evaporated before it was a week old.

The ex-baseball commissioner announced the failure of his proposed takeover Wednesday after tumultuous negotiations between his aides and Eastern's parent Texas Air Corp. reached an impasse in federal bankruptcy court.

The judge moved immediately to attract other buyers.

"Our agreement with Texas Air is terminated, it's finished, it's over," Ueberroth said.

Ueberroth, who had described the deal as a historic opportunity for business-labor cooperation when it was announced April 6, said his investor group did not plan to make a new offer.

Employees would have owned 30 percent of the company in exchange for $210 million in concessions under the deal.

Ueberroth's dramatic entry as a bidder and just-as-dramatic departure injected new uncertainty into prospects for an airline that has been largely idled and losing millions of dollars since the Machinist union struck March 4. Its pilots and flight attendants joined the walkout.

His withdrawal doused hopes among many strikers that a strong new leader had emerged to take control of an airline they claim has been butchered by Texas Air chairman Frank Lorenzo since he bought it three years ago.

"I'm disappointed to say the least," said Wally Haber, a Machinist union official in Eastern's home base of Miami.

Bankruptcy Judge Burton Lifland had sought unsuccessfully to salvage the deal after talks bogged down.

After Ueberroth formally announced the deal failed, Lifland ordered David I. Shapiro, the court-appointed examiner overseeing the bankruptcy, to meet Friday with him, Eastern's creditors and union representatives.

The judge also ordered them to explain on Monday why he shouldn't invite other bidders that would include major assets Eastern had owned before Lorenzo bought the airline for $676 million.

The order is based on a petition by a frequent Eastern passenger, Atlanta attorney Moreton Rolleston Jr., who seeks to block the proposed sale of Eastern's Northeast shuttle for $365 million to developer Donald Trump. Eastern has moved to have the judge allow the sale.

The petition also seeks to require that any purchase of Eastern be for $615 million; include all of its System One computerized reservation system, which it sold to Texas Air; and include aircraft transferred to sister carrier Continental Airlines.

Takeover specialist Carl Icahn, chairman of rival Trans World Airlines, said after the Ueberroth deal collapsed that he remained interested in a possible. He didn't elaborate.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Shocked in Colorado" prompts my first letter to you. I can top her bizarre tale of a double-dealing lover.

I met a handsome man in October 1983. "John" said he was married, so we had to be "careful." He was so charming, I couldn't resist him. John would come to my house for lunch and "whatever" twice a week. In December of '88, I happened to see his car pull into an alley behind a strange house. (By this time I had caught him in several small lies and had begun to mistrust him.) I obtained the address and phone number of this house. I called and a woman answered. When I asked for John, she acted so strange I knew he was there. To make a long story short, I called her again, and the two of us got together.

This is what we learned: John had been seeing her for five years, too — just three days longer than I. She gave him breakfast and I gave him lunch. He never called us by our names — he called us both "Luv." He took us to the same places out of town and had given us identical gifts and cards for the holidays. He'd phone us in the evening. He couldn't talk, but we could, so he'd tap on the receiver — two taps for "yes" and one tap for "no."

Abby, I gave this man five years of my life — so did she. I still hurt a little, but it's a relief not having to cheat and slip around anymore. Would you believe that this woman and I lived within a mile of each other?

RECOVERING IN ARKANSAS

DEAR RECOVERING: After writing this column for 33 years, I can believe anything. But, there's a lesson to be learned here. There is no free lunch. Or breakfast, either.

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to "Choking," who coughed, wheezed and got migraine headaches from the perfumed mail and samples of soap and fabric softener delivered to her home unsolicited, you said, "If the army of allergies were to join forces and do a little lobbying, they would create a stink no one could ignore."

Abby, there is an organization of people who are sensitive to perfumes and scented products — the Human Ecology Action League (HEAL). Though we are a non-profit organization and cannot "lobby," we provide information to legislators and to the members of HEAL chapters across the country.

Please inform your chemically sensitive readers that HEAL can help them. For information, they can write to: HEAL, P.O. Box 66637, Chicago, Ill. 60666. Please enclose a long, stamped (45 cents), self-addressed envelope.

LYNN IN EVANSTON

DEAR LYNN: HEAL was founded in 1977 by Dr. Theron Randolph, a Chicago physician. It provides a broad spectrum of information for people with allergies, including: lists of specialists in the field of environmental medicine, lists of non-toxic products and where to find them, and affiliated support groups nationwide. Moreover, HEAL lets allergy sufferers know they are not alone with a problem that's nothing to sneeze at. Gesundheit!

DEAR ABBY: My 14-year-old daughter, "Sara," was assigned to read your booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," for her phys-ed course on hygiene and homemaking. I thought you'd get a kick out of what happened when Sara overheard her older sister telling her father and me that she was going to announce her engagement soon.

Sara rushed to her room and grabbed your booklet to advise us of our "responsibilities." Then she proceeded to read aloud: "The groom's parents provide the bachelor party, pay the minister, etc. The bride's parents provide the torso."

ASTRO-GRAPH BERNICE BEDE CSOL

Your Birthday

April 14, 1989

Joint ventures could work out rather well for you in the year ahead, provided what you are attempting to do is practical and you are tied in with the right types of associates. Good luck!

ARIES (March 21-April 19) People with whom you've had comfortable dealings previously should live up to your expectations today. Conversely those who have caused you aggravation could once again cause problems. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In domestic relations today don't be too insistent upon doing something of which your mate disapproves. If you behave in a spiteful manner you could create a situation you'll wish you hadn't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Strive to be helpful and cooperative when dealing with others today, but, by the same token, don't impulsively volunteer to take on an assignment you're not qualified to handle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Inclinations to get involved in risky ventures should be kept in check today. The regrets you may experience if you fall on your face could be of the long-lasting variety.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're likely to be generous with those you love today, but you might also attach terms and conditions to your gestures. This may cause recipients to reject them rather than try to comply.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In career situations act in accordance with your impulsive urges today. The longer you mull things over, the more likely you are to travel in a circle.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In your involvements with friends today, don't base what you will do for them on what they will do for you. The accounts might be a bit out of balance, and it could be your turn to be more of a giver than a taker.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you'll be ambitious, resourceful and effective today, timing could prove to be the critical element. If you attempt to implement things prematurely, you might meet with stiff resistance.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be very adept at being able to get your foot in the door today, but after that, then what? Try to have your game plan worked out in advance before your ring the doorbell.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It may not be wise today to become committed in some manner to people you do not know too well. They could be the salt of the earth, but then, on the other hand, they might be the opposite.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something unusual may develop today from which you could reap some special benefits. However, there's a chance another might interfere and attempt to block you out.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you are working on a project in conjunction with others today don't make any changes or revisions without first advising them. What you have in mind might throw a monkey wrench in the operation.

Stench of death lingers at ranch

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — The stench of death still lingers at a ranch where police dug up 12 men's bodies that cult members say were used in ritual sacrifices or killed for drug-related revenge.

Inside a small hut with tarpaper siding and a corrugated metal roof, the odor of decomposing tissue was overwhelming Wednesday afternoon. Police say suspects in the case told them the building was used for carrying out the murders.

Scattered on the stained, fetid floor of the approximately 15-foot-by-30-foot shack were bullet casings, cigars, chili peppers, broken glass and empty bottles of a sugarcane liquor.

Outside the door, a cast-iron cauldron held brains and other organs, a turtle shell, a horseshoe and other objects in a thick, dark liquid. Smaller bowls nearby held a dead rooster, charred goat heads and other objects that had been cooked. A windowsill held what looked like a bird's nest made out of tissue paper and human hair.

What appeared to be skin from a human hand was floating in a yellowish liquid inside a piece of tractor tire about 20 yards away, near the grave of Mark Kilroy, a 21-year-old University of Texas student who disappeared March 14 while celebrating spring break in Matamoros.

The 12 victims were exhumed Tuesday from nine shallow graves in or near a corral on the approximately 20-acre ranch area that borders on farm fields.

Cult members said they were involved in the killings for about nine months, officials said. They said some, including Kilroy, were killed with a machete.

The empty graves reeked of death.

"It's beyond belief of anybody that lives in a civilized nation," said Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox, who visited the site Wednesday.

He said Kilroy was found with a wire inserted in his spine, that the cult later planned to use to extract the vertebrae for use in necklaces.

Mexican Federal Judicial Police have arrested five men in the case, and were searching for several others, including a "godfather" who told the cult members the ritual killings would bring them demonic protection from enemies.

The Cuban man, Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, is being sought on both sides of the border.
