

Indians 'B' Team Blanks Hamlin 'B' 32-0

The Haskell "B" team rolled on unbeaten by downing Hamlin "B" 32-0 here Thursday night.

The Indians, playing to a stand-off the first quarter, scored in the opening minute of the second quarter with fullback Gary Conner on a trap up the middle. This was a 22-yard run. Try for point failed. The first half was a see-saw battle with Haskell leading 6-0 at intermission.

The second half was a bit different, as Haskell moved the pigskin 70 yards in six plays to paydirt on the opening of the half. Tailback James Perkins carried over for the tally. Haskell's try for point failed again.

Three plays later, the Indians were scoring again as Eddie Hester intercepted a Hamlin pass on the 8-yard line and scampered over. Haskell then tallied its only extra point of the evening on a pass from QB Ronnie Jeter to Conner. The Indians then caught fire and opened up both barrels as Perkins scored two touchdowns on runs of 25 and 10 yards; these runs were set up by pass interceptions by Jesse Ortiz and Ronnie Wright. The "B" team's record is 7-0 for the season.

Anson jumped ahead in the second period with Tiger halfback Thomas McIntire slipping over from seven yards out. Tiger quarterback John Sanders sneaked over from the one for Anson's second TD. Both extra point conversion kicks by Dennis Cooley were good.

Early in the third period, Indian quarterback James Davis flipped a four-yard pass to end David Anderson for a TD and again connected with Anderson for the extra points.

Only a few seconds deep in the fourth, Davis slipped over from the one for a TD and halfback Joe Thigpen ran over the extra points to put Haskell out front.

Thigpen led the game away a few moments later when the fleet halfback skirted end for the Tribe's third TD.

Help of Public Needed

It should be apparent to every thinking person that our police force over the needs help in their dismaying struggle with revolting foe, major crime.

Here is an enemy which seems to have a limitless supply of fresh reserves. The odds against the force so thinly spread for protection of life and property become almost intolerable as Texas' population grows like corn under the hot June sun.

As we become more urbanized, the losses mount alarmingly on the side of law and order and decency. The law enforcement agencies are not in retreat, but they are certainly not advancing.

Those trying to hold the line against violence, vice and thievery are in need of the kind of selfless, determined support from the citizenry which our armed forces could count on with certainty against a foreign invader.

After all, they, too, are fighting an invader — a loathsome threat to the sanctity of the home, safety of the streets, privacy of the person, our very lives.

In time of major disaster, most men become brothers. With courage and stirring strength of purpose they unite to save lives and property from flood, fire, hurricane.

That our crime rate is a disaster warranting such public reaction is shockingly evident in a report issued by Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Some jolting excerpts from the Garrison report: During the past seven years, serious crime in Texas increased an astonishing 60 per cent. Armed robberies jumped 22.6 per cent, burglaries 66.2 per cent, automobile thefts 30 per cent, other thefts 69.5 per cent, homicides 8.5 per cent, and aggravated assaults 31 per cent.

Bigger and better trained police forces are a partial answer — likewise, vigorous prosecution and stiffer sentences in the courts. But you cannot get away from the fact that every arm of the law enforcement team is weakened by an apathetic public. They cannot do the job alone.

Fortunately there are some organizations working to arouse the people. The Texas Law Enforcement Foundation is one. This is a statewide group striving to recruit the citizen reserves which the law enforcement combat team needs.

One of the many ways the TLEF attempts to reach its goal is through sponsorship, along with the young men of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, of an annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Week.

It would seem to be an excellent time to add to appreciation a firm decision to do whatever within one's power to give our police forces the citizen backing they need and deserve.

The Four-Way Test of the things we think, say or do, is a cardinal principal of the Rotary Club. Its application, however, is not limited to Rotarians, and can be applied by everyone. The Four-Way Test is simply this:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Court Reporter Joe Williams says you're getting old when the gleam in your eyes is the sun hitting your bifocals.

Hardly a week goes by without one of our advertisers telling us of the quick results received from an ad in The Free Press. The value of advertising, we think, is pretty well expressed in the following jingle we read somewhere:

He who whispers in a well, About the goods he has to sell Will not reap the shining dollars. Like he who climbs a tree and hollers.

Whether President Kennedy pronounces it "Cu-ber" or "Cu-bah" we venture that few people in the world fail to realize what nation he is referring to.

One of my many embarrassing moments in school resulted from mis-pronunciation of the word "Italy." To me, the natural pronunciation was to accent the first letter so I read it out "Italy." My teacher, Miss Marlin, smilingly corrected me and silenced a few gawfing classmates. Had I not already possessed a good nickname, I would have gained one there.

But correct pronunciation is important. I recall a young man who was "busted" at the First Officers Training Camp at Leon Springs in 1917 because he pronounced the word battalion as "Batta-lion."

Though he later became almost a millionaire, that experience always rankled him.

Armistice Day next Sunday will probably be little noticed except by those veterans of the AEF who went to war "to make the world safe for Democracy."

Locally, veterans of the first World War will have their annual dinner and memorial program, they have announced.

But nowhere will the observance of Nov. 11th be anything like those rip-snorting celebrations of Armistice Day staged back in the 20's. Parades, bands, marching, speeches and hell-raising in general marked the observances, and there was never any question attend the Baptist Convention in Waco. From there Mr. Pierson will go to Emory to see after his business interests there.

about patriotism being dead in America.

Perhaps its a good thing that the Nov. 11th observances have been toned down. One of those old-time Armistice Day affairs now would be a little too rugged for those men who have marked off 44 years since they came marching home singing "Mademoiselle from Armitieres."

We carried a story recently about a self-styled "saint and prophet" who walked into a local church and at the close of services arose and delivered a prophecy of war and that the world would be "blown up."

Now we learn that this same screwbali did the same thing at a Stamford church and at a church in Weintert, where he gave practically the same prophecy.

For a period of several years prior to and after the outbreak of World War I, these "prophets" became rather commonplace.

We remember two especially, who showed up in Haskell. Bareheaded and with long beards, wearing robes and going in their bare feet, they "preached" to small crowds on the courthouse lawn until they became a nuisance in the opinion of some.

They never were asked to leave town directly. But they got the message one evening when volunteer firemen were staging their weekly practice.

Firemen evidently could not control their hose streams, and the two "prophets" got soaking wet regardless of their efforts to avoid the high pressure streams.

Firemen were criticized, but virtuously maintained that water pressure was so high they couldn't handle the nozzles. At any rate the "prophets" moved to other fields.

A rumor that the county had called an election on the proposition of hiring a Government trapper to get rid of coyotes and bobcats quickly developed a wave of opposition throughout the county.

The Free Press received many queries about the so-called election, and several persons wanted to run paid advertisements opposing trapping until they learned the election was only a rumor.

One farmer and landowner came over from Rule to inquire about the proposal and was relieved to learn it was only a rumor.

He stated that he might occasionally lose a sickly calf to coyotes, but that the predators did more good than harm. Specifically, he stated that coyotes had rid the country of jackrabbits. "I've had jackrabbits to literally ruin my crops back when we were trapping coyotes," he declared.

In his opinion, coyotes and bobcats are Nature's way of keeping other pests like jackrabbits in check, and he's opposed to upsetting this balance.

I have heard old timers say that when this country was first being settled that the only growths of mesquite were found on rough, broken grounds. The prairies were completely free of mesquites and a herd of cattle could be seen for miles.

When ranchers started a concerted effort to eradicate prairie dogs, mesquites began to "take the country," old timers said, and quickly spread over the prairies. Little thought was given the matter at the time, and it was not until the prairie dogs had been virtually eliminated that conservationists learned the part the little animals played in keeping down mesquites.

When the Elks Club was chartered and organized in Haskell in 1910, the town was "booming" and enthusiastic members built an ornate lodge hall on the second floor of the large two-story building on the northeast corner of the square.

(Since then, following disastrous fires, the building has been remodeled into a one-story structure.)

To continue the story, the Elks went all out, and had one of the nicest lodge halls in this section, complete with ball room, reception room, billiard room, and game room.

This latter room suited in a local "Johnnie" episode, now be told.

'63 Chevrolet Trucks

THEY'VE ALWAYS BEEN TOUGH BUT NEVER STRONGER THAN NOW!

You can be sure that new engines, frames, suspensions that licked Mexico's Baja Run will work for you long, faithfully and at traditionally low Chevrolet cost.

A Chevrolet truck has always been a sound investment because of its quality construction. This is what makes it give you an honest day's work every day at very low cost and—when you are finished with it—return more resale money to your happy pocket.

This year stronger frames, engines that can pull more, and practically tailor-made suspension systems make Chevrolet trucks a better buy than ever. If you're in the market now, we'd welcome the chance to tell you about, and let you drive, the new trucks. Just give us a call.

QUALITY TRUCKS ALWAYS COST LESS

A Pastor's Study

By DOUGLAS B. FINCH

Pastor, First Presbyterian Church
 Haskell, Texas

L. Morgan of Wake
 C. a well-known beloved retired Southwest minister wrote an article in one of our Presbyterian publications recently (often does) expressing his concern over a Sunday school lesson he had heard of on a radio station in the Southern Presbyterian Church. His comment was perfectly justified and should be heard by all who will listen.
 He said the Presbyterian was teaching a lesson from Samuel 15:3 entitled
 "The Murderer."
 The lesson was "shocked and appalled" at the teacher for teaching God's order to destroy utterly the wicked, even to "Infant killing," and declaring the downfall dated to be carried out to the slaughter everything captured, including animals!

one under consideration, involving as it does the essential nature of God—what orders he is capable of giving and not giving—it will be wise to choose as a teacher one who has had thorough training not only in the Bible but also theology.
 Mr. Morgan then pointed out that the teacher missed an opportunity to show that there was in the Bible a "progressive understanding of revelation (or interpretation)." And he added: "We Baptists are quite as liable as you Presbyterians to make this same mistake. Indeed we have many literalists making precisely this mistake."
 Of course, Mr. Morgan has been widely denounced as a "modernist" and a "heretic," as have many men who have sought, at the expense of their own peace and personal tranquility, to lead others out of the morass of Biblical ignorance.
 Mr. Morgan concludes by saying: "The lamentable mistake of this able broadcaster likely would have been avoided, had he learned in a seminary what seminaries are bound to teach: that literal interpretation is often impossible and even dangerous... in the Old Testament and the New.
 The incident warns us that we need the teachers of our seminaries to save us from such tragic blunders of interpretation."
 Mr. Morgan's plea brings to mind the arresting words of James 3:1—"Let not many of you become teachers, my brethren, for you know that we who teach shall be judged with greater strictness." (RSV) Eventually all churches come to realize that God gave us our minds as well as our hearts; and, of all places, there is no room in Christ's Church for "anti-intellectual" bias.
 Men have come to demand a high standard of excellence in all fields of human endeavor.
 Should the demand not be even greater in the handling of the eternal verities?

Sandra Letz Is Guest Speaker at Progressive Study Club Meeting

Each year the Federated Women's Clubs observe a special program on Texas.

Members of the Progressive Study Club chose a new means of observing this special day by making stuffed toys to be sent to the state hospitals and schools.

"The Key to Responsibility" was arranged by Mrs. W. O. Holden. The Nov. 1 meeting was opened by repeating the Texas Pledge of Allegiance and was followed by a report by Miss Sandra Letz, Girl's State Representative.

Miss Letz asked "What Is Girl's State?" and answered the question. It is a feeling or spirit you have to experience to fully understand and appreciate what it means to the future of the United States.

The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn, followed by devotions and Bible Study given by Mrs. Eugene Loewe.

Following the second hymn, members had the cause of the month which was centered on Stewardship.

The women are busy taking orders for Christmas cards and they are also preparing a Christmas box to send to a missionary overseas.

They are also beginning plans for their annual Thanksgiving supper to be held on Thanksgiving Day beginning about 5 p. m. at the church.

The offering meditation was given by Mrs. George Klose.

Refreshments were served to 16 members and pastor Schaefer. Those preparing the refreshments were Mrs. Laura Opitz and Mrs. Gus Rueffer.

On the Altar Guild and Visitation Committee for the month of November are Mrs. Turner Grogan and Mrs. Gus Rueffer.

Sagerton News

BY MRS. DELBERT LEFEVRE

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Anderson and family of Lueders visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark and family Sunday. Patsy Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark and a sophomore at Rule High School, was crowned Annual Queen on Thursday night of last week in the Rule High auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff LeFevre visited in Fort Worth Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Grady Laughlin and Melvin and Henry Laughlin. They also visited with Mrs. J. W. Burrow, who is in a Fort Worth Hospital, and is very ill. Mrs. Burrow, who is a former resident of Sagerton but has been making her home in Rule for the past several years, has been in Fort Worth for several months now with her daughter, Mrs. Bill Martin.

 too often during the waterfowl season. Some hunters are caught and pay stiff fines. Others are not caught.

But caught or not, their stories are all the same: "I didn't know it was a redhead until I picked it up."

Really, there is little excuse for this sort of thing happening. If a man is a hunter, he should be able to recognize his game at a distance. Good duck hunters can spot a bird 200 yards away and identify the species immediately.

True enough, at that distance they can't make out the distinctive markings and colors. But they can recognize the flight characteristics or how the bird floats on the water.

Let's take a look at the flight and on-water characteristics of some of the main ducks that winter in our state.

Pintail: More commonly known as the sprig, in Texas, these ducks usually are seen flying in large bunches. They fly fast, with an even wing-beat, and maintain a constant altitude.

You can recognize them by their long necks and long spike tails.

They favor large open bodies of water. Rarely do they land on small ponds. Before coming down, they will circle the area several times.

Sprigs ride high on the water and hold their heads erect. Their long tail feathers point upward.

Mallards: These ducks travel in singles, doubles and large flocks. Except when migrating, they generally fly lower than sprigs.

Large in size, they have a relatively slow wingbeat—until chased by a load of shot.

They prefer small ponds and potholes. When decoying, they come in quite slow.

Teal: We have two species in Texas, the blue-winged and the green-winged.

The blue-winged is the larger of the two. Generally they fly in small bunches, low and fast. They have a very fast wingbeat, and their flight pattern is one of gentle climbs and shallow dives.

Blue-wings decoy easily. Usually they swoop in without ever circling the decoys.

Green-wings travel in big bunches. They have a fast wing-beat, but their flight is erratic, given to very sudden turns and dives. They decoy readily and prefer to work the open water.

Both species of teal appear small on the water, but they ride rather high.

Bluebills: This is a big duck. But it appears small because of its short wingspan. It flies very fast and usually travels in large flocks.

Bluebills usually fly low—just eight or 10 feet off the water. They seem to find great sport in flying the shoreline, swinging out with the points and back into the coves.

They decoy readily and quite frequently land with the wind, if the wind isn't blowing too hard. They ride very low in the water.

Gadwalls: More commonly called the gray duck, in Texas, this duck is about the size of a sprig. It's rather shy but often it is seen in the company of Mallards—usually flying to the rear and slightly above the Mallards.

Gadwalls usually decoy outside the decoy spread, and they ride high on the water.

This duck is most active at dawn and dusk.

Baldpates: Also known as the widgeon, this duck frequently is seen in the company of both bluebills and canvasbacks. It decoys well and rides high on the water.

In flight the baldpate has a stubby appearance. It flies with a fast, even wingbeat.

Redheads: A big duck with a fast wingbeat. It is very erratic in flight and given to sudden turns. Often "homing" on foreign sounds such as a shout, a gun shot or the rattling of a metal bucket.

Canvasbacks: Here's a big duck that flies very fast and low. When migrating, canvasbacks fly in formation—a vee, or long line. They ride low on the water and have a distinctive wedge-shaped head.

If you don't want to waste game and maybe even jeopardize the future of waterfowl hunting—learn to recognize ducks when they are still out of gun range. It's of utmost importance that you recognize the species on which the season is closed.

Remember, too, that dead ducks don't nest.

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

proximately 10 per cent of last year's growth on the ground when spring comes. This amount of dormant forage has protected the grass root system from freezing and has helped to hold winter moisture in the ground. It is really as simple as having your cake and eating it, too! You actually come out with more grass than you started with.

Calvin Frierson, whose farm is situated four miles north of Haskell in the Wichita-Brazos district, has 35 acres of Blue Panicum grass that he established in 1959. He uses this pasture as a supplement for his native ranges. It has done so well that Frierson is planning to establish another 14 acres. He feels that by using this supplement during the summer, he can rest his native ranges, and thereby improve them to carry the maximum safe stocking rate.

Dave Persons of Haskell, whose farm is one mile east of Jud in the Wichita-Brazos district, has successfully established 30 acres of Coastal Bermuda grass under the Great Plains Conservation Program. Dave is planning to establish another 30 acres this coming spring. He feels that by changing from row-crop farming to livestock farming, that he can increase the productivity of his farm.

Other Great Plains producers in the Wichita-Brazos district that have successfully established Coastal Bermuda grass pastures are Clyde Farrah, Ira Grimstead, Paul Grimstead, and W. P. Russell, all of the Rochester area.

Coastal Bermuda grass is proving to be a very acceptable species to be used for reclaiming old worn-out fields as well as highly productive land. To be successful, it must be established under irrigation and fertilization, otherwise it is too costly for the dryland producer. However, do not overlook other native species that are adapted to the soil. These native species, such as switchgrass, Indian grass, the blue-stems and Sand Lovegrass, are just as productive under similar growing conditions.

Welcome to the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, Edwin L. Elmore of Rule, Elmore signed a District agreement on land he has recently purchased from the Jenkins Estate north of Rule. Elmore has applied for assistance to develop this farm through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Prattle

By AL HINDS

the faces of those to whom I have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal on the square, and that, in earning it, I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me.

"Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and to the rustle of unholy skirts. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow and reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age. And, when comes the day of darkened shades and smell of flowers, the tread of footsteps in the front yard—make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple—Here lies a man."

The above article I ran across several years ago and is entitled "A Man's Prayer" which I thought it well worth passing on to the readers of the Prattle column.

At the Lions pancake supper recently, Rev. Ray Nobles, pastor of the local First Baptist Church, quipped: "I know that Rogers Durham is a live-wire, because everything he has on is charged."

"I'm fed up on that!" cried the baby, pointing to his high chair.

Daffynition: A collision is two things coming together unexpectedly—such as twins.

By way of friend and fellow Lion, George Neely, comes a 394 page 150th Anniversary Edition of the Nashville Tennessean, published at Nashville, Tennessee. It will take this scribe about three months to go through and digest the special edition, but from glancing through it, I can easily see that it is one of the biggest, best and well-balanced special editions I have ever had the privilege of scrutinizing.

Now that the football season is in full swing I am reminded of the time I overheard an editor of a daily newspaper interviewing a candidate for a sports writer, and the interview went something like this:

Editor—Are you sure you know all the cliches, obscure terms and lame excuses that are a vital part of the football writer's equipment?

Candidate—Just flip me the questions, sir, and I'll show you that I'm ready to transpire the pellet to pay dirt.

Editor—Okay. We'll see. Now describe the local coach.

Candidate—An astute pigskin mentor, who is a wily veteran of the grid wars and a master of tactics.

Editor—Is he young?

Candidate—He is a brilliant young tactician.

Editor—Now, our coach has two all-state, eight all-district and 33 lettermen returning. He has gone out and picked up several more great prospects. How does he view the coming season?

Candidate—With cautious optimism.

Editor—He expects to win most of the games, then?

Candidate—Oh, no! He'll be lucky to win any of them. They will all be tough.

Editor—We now approach the first game. How does the team look in their last workout?

Candidate—Ragged.

Editor—If our team is actually lousy, it will be due to what?

Candidate—Due to an off-day, since the coach wanted to keep his boys under wraps and remain the question mark for district play. The dark-horse, in other words.

Editor—How do the players regard the coach?

Candidate—Almost as a father. More a friend than a coach.

Editor—How do they actually regard him?

Candidate—In a family newspaper, I can't say.

Editor—What kind of men are these players?

Candidate—Just a clean, friendly bunch of swell kids who like to play ball.

Editor—Is it true, we had to pay the families of four backs $10,000 each this year to get them to transfer here?

Candidate—We are glad they chose our school.

Editor—But about those salaries?

Candidate—Any man who fails to meet our standards of scholarship and sportsmanship will be dropped from the squad.

Editor—What is our team by the season's end?

Candidate—Outmanned, but game.

Editor—In other words...

Candidate—Wait 'till next year.

Editor—You get the job, kid. Now get out there and bromide them to death.

Sweepstakes Award in Garden Club Flower Show Won By Mrs. Fouts

Grand sweepstakes award in the "School Days" flower show held in the community room of the Haskell National Bank was won by Mrs. John E. Fouts Sr.

Mrs. Fouts also was horticulture sweepstakes winner and in the artistic division Mrs. Ed Hester was the sweepstakes winner.

Two awards of distinction were given. Mrs. Hester won one of them on a dried arrangement in the "Geography" class; and Mrs. L. R. O'Neal won the other on a Christmas door wreath in the "Special Days" class. Mrs. W. P. Trice won an award of merit on an Angel Begonia plant.

The staging committee had the show room beautifully decorated with yellow paper as a background and replicas of school states as class markers. The entrance was cleverly arranged with the theme of little school desks of the "thirties" and an "apple for the teacher" arrangement sitting on it. The show consisted of 99 entries in horticulture and 77 in artistic arrangements.

Hostesses acting as general consultants throughout the day were Mrs. Ed Fouts and Mrs. John Fouts. More than one hundred guests came to view the show.

Exhibitors winning first place and the number of blue ribbons won are listed:

Artistic Division: Mrs. W. E. Huss, one; Mrs. Riley Pace, four; Mrs. Ed Fouts, two; Mrs. L. R. O'Neal, two; Mrs. Ed Hester, four and one tri-color;

Mrs. Earl Atchison, one; Mrs. John Fouts, three.

Horticulture Division: Mrs. E. L. Wyche, two; Mrs. John Fouts, seven; Mrs. Morrell Dick, two; Mrs. Ed Fouts, four; Miss Nettie McCollum, two; Mrs. W. E. Huss, one; Mrs. W. P. Trice, two; Mrs. Earl Atchison, one; Mrs. Riley Pace, one; Mrs. W. B. Guess, one; Mrs. Scott Greene, one; Mrs. K. H. Thornton, three; Mrs. L. R. O'Neal, one; and Mrs. Ed Hester, one.

This year for the first time, guests could enter the show, not for competitive judging with garden club members, but for the personal pleasure of entering the show. The judges graciously judged their entries as follows:

Basset Owens "Ritim" class a yellow ribbon; "apple for the teacher" class, a yellow ribbon, "Music" class, a red ribbon, and two yellow ribbons and one red ribbon in the horticulture division. Johnny Love entered the "Natural History" and "Geography" classes, winning a blue ribbon on both. He also entered the music class "Mexican Hat Dance" and in the "Kindergarten" class a miniature, winning red ribbons on these.

Cotton Acreage For Next Year Is Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced on October 15 a national marketing quota of 14,367,000 bales and a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres for the 1963 upland cotton crop. December 11 was set as the date for grower referendum on 1963 marketing quotas.

The announcement also said an additional 310,000 acres would be available as a national reserve to be used for establishing minimum farm allotments. It was further stated that it is not anticipated that this will be the final national acreage authorized for 1963 since new legislation is to be recommended to Congress by the President.

The 16-million acre allotment is the maximum permitted under present law in view of the present supply-demand situation. It now appears that more than a million bales will be added to the carry-over and increase it to 8.7 million bales by August 1, 1963.

The President has announced that he will recommend legislation to remove the inequity in the present two-price cotton system and has requested the USDA to make recommendations to him as to the means for accomplishing that purpose. This legislation would increase the domestic use of U. S. cotton and may also contain other provisions which would permit increases in the acreage to be planted.

In the December 11 referendum a two-thirds majority of those voting is needed to make marketing quotas effective on the 1963 upland cotton crop. Extra long staple growers will vote on the same day on marketing quotas for their type of cotton. If marketing quotas are approved, price support to cooperating growers will be available at a level to be announced by the Secretary. It can range from 65 to 90 percent of parity. The parity price is now 39.51 cents per pound.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1963 upland crop, acreage allotments will remain in effect and price support at 50 percent of parity will be available to cooperators.

Details on the allotments and referendum are available from local ASCS offices.

Postmaster and Mrs. Spain Attend National Convention in Pittsburgh

Postmaster and Mrs. Harold R. Spain and son Hal returned Sunday from Pittsburgh, Pa., where they attended the 58th annual national convention of the National Association of Postmasters, held in that city Oct. 28-Nov. 1.

The Haskell postmaster attended in his capacity as president of the Texas chapter of the National Association and headed the Texas delegation in attendance at the national convention.

More than 3600 postmasters and post office workers registered for the five-day meeting. General sessions were held in the Hilton Hotel and the Penn-Sheraton Hotel.

Entertainment features on the first day of the convention included a pro-football game between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cleveland Browns in the afternoon, and a quartet of entertainment stars at an evening reception honoring National President John P. Snyder.

Although he could not be present, President John F. Kennedy sent his personal greetings, and praised postmasters for their devoted service to the public. Also sending greetings were Postmaster General J. Edward Day, Governor David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, and other notables.

Hosts for hospitality affairs and numerous entertainment programs were The Air Transport Assn., and Time, Life, Fortune and Illustrated Sports publications. One of the outstanding events for visitors was a tour of Pittsburgh's famous Golden Triangle.

Mr. and Mrs. Spain and Hal made the trip in their car, and their journey to Pittsburgh and return covered almost 3,000 miles.

While there, they enjoyed a telephone conversation with Lucille Sherrill, formerly of Haskell, but their convention schedule would not permit time for a visit with her.

The Haskell postmaster expressed amazement at the complex highway system serving Pittsburgh and other metropolitan areas on their route. He confessed to driving through one tunnel twice before getting out of Pittsburgh for the homeward trip.

Some of the richest people we know always mention economy as a virtue of GAS cooking. (Maybe that's how come they're so rich.)

But it's true. Low-cost meal preparation is one feature that non-gas cooking doesn't begin to match. Another is speed and control—GAS applies heat faster, removes it instantly (no 'hang-over' heat in your kitchen!) Then there's convenience: like Burner-with-a-brain... and the new Cook 'n' Keep oven—latest marvel from GAS.

A new automatic GAS range would do so much for you (and your kitchen). And, luckily they're on sale! So buy now and save an extra pot-full.

LAMBS are now being processed in the Center of the Southwest

Here, in the very heart of the Nation's largest sheep-producing area, a famous packer has established a lamb processing plant.

Any new industry contributes to the economy. But a new industry which processes a product of the area is doubly important.

We are convinced that this is a growing trend. It has become an important part of our continuing efforts to inform America's business leaders about our industrial advantages.

It is another reason why we say that we face GROWTH UNLIMITED here in the Center of the Southwest.

Breezeway window goes down—Mercury sales go up...

WHY DOES THIS BREEZEWAY REAR WINDOW help sell so many Mercury Montereys? This is styling that works! The recessed rear window stays clearer in rain or snow. It opens for controlled Flo-Thru ventilation. Wind, traffic noise and weather are shut out because the side windows can stay closed. The rear-window angle cuts glare, aids rear visibility. The extended Breezeway roof adds rear-seat headroom, shades passengers from the sun. See how practical elegance can be!
