

High-Geared Hey-Day Is Nine Days Away

ESSOR GORDON AND EVANGELISTES
C CHRISTIAN COLLEGE
NCEMENT HERE ON FRIDAY

G. B. Gordon and evangelists of Pacific College, Long Beach, California, will direct an "evangelism" at the Haskell church at 7:30 o'clock on Friday night, July 19. Mr. Durham, minister here, has announced that the program is part of the congregation to make decisions about youth in the church. Mr. Durham said that the featured speaker is a college student by the name of Christian College.

NEW DEPOT GOING UP MONDAY; OLD ONE OURS IN MID-AUGUST

Construction on a structural steel efficiency building by the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad here to replace Haskell's antiquated depot will begin on July 22, with completion around August 1. Harold Moyer, of Wichita Falls, district superintendent of the railroad, announced here Friday.

Coincident with this announcement, Moyer said Gene Shackelford, 20-year veteran with the Fort Worth and Denver, has been named agent here succeeding Al C. Williams, Haskell depot representative for five years, who has taken a similar position in Decatur. Shackelford comes to Haskell from Henrietta.

Starting at 2 p. m. on Hey-Day, a Haskell Jaycee-sponsored carnival of hilarity will be pitched throughout the park on Highway 277 here. Such crowd appealing spectacles as a gold-fish chase in the city swimming pool, a diver's contest for "sunken treasure," a horse-trough ducking device, an egg throw, sack race, and bat race, are among the features of the entertainment for Haskell Countians of all ages from 2 to 6 p. m.

Starting simultaneously in Haskell's American Legion Hall adjacent to the park, will be an old-fashioned contest under the direction of C. E. Rhea, of Haskell, with whom contact should be made about entering. Cash prizes totaling $50 have been put up by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce in action taken Tuesday for winners of the old fiddlers' competition. Truett Cobb and Rhea will coordinate this event.

Also on the program agenda will be community singing in regular singing convention style, complete with featured quartets, directed by Hallie Chapman, district president of the Haskell Singing Convention.

Porter Oakes, editor of the Haskell Free Press, is program chairman.

Jennings, dynamic chamber executive, is immediate past president of the Southern Industrial Development Council, an organization consisting of chamber leaders, bankers, utility company executives, educational leaders, railroad executives, and state development directors engaged in industrial development work in the 16 southern states.

He also is a director and charter member of the Texas Industrial Development Council and a member of the American Chamber of Commerce.

Floyd M. Rogers, 62, Haskell building contractor since 1923, died of a heart attack at his home, 503 Southeast First, about 7:20 p. m. Tuesday.

Funeral was pending at Holden's Funeral Home late Wednesday. Services are tentatively set for Thursday.

Born March 12, 1901, at Lockhart, he moved to Haskell County in 1922, settling at Weinert. He married Willie Nell Smith on June 13, 1925, in Haskell. Mr. Rogers was a member of East Side Baptist Church and Haskell Masonic Lodge No. 682.

Jaycees To Place Big, New Signs At City Gateways

Haskell Jaycees, under the leadership of President Bud Lane, and Tommy Ballard, chairman of the Jaycees' Gateway group, have moved during the past week with vigorous enthusiasm to install illuminated signs at each of the four major approaches to this community heralding Haskell's hospitality to transient travelers.

Presenting the ambitious, and urgently needed signboard project before the full membership Tuesday night, the officers and Gateway committee met with spontaneous response. Expenditure of funds approximating $1,000 obtained through hard work on Jaycee civic projects was endorsed by the membership Tuesday night to "dress up" the gateways to Haskell and "publish" a permanent message of welcome to transients.

Jaycees here will begin work at once to have the set of four imposing-looking signs constructed for permanent location in prominent locations adjacent to Highway 277 north and south of town, and Highway 21 east and west of town.

The Stamford Jaycees will host a barbecue for Haskell Jaycees and their ladies at Rice Springs Park here on Tuesday, July 30. It is a "pay off" event owed the Haskell group by Stamford Jaycees for coming out second best in a membership drive earlier in the year.

Herman Cupp, Jaycee director in charge of entertainment for Haskell's Hey-Day on July 27, has set up his committee which will sponsor a carnival of fun and fellowship throughout the park here and at the swimming pool from 2 to 6 p. m. on Hey-Day.

More than 500 Baptist men from the Haskell-Knox Baptist Association are expected for their annual fish fry, a big event each year, to be held on Thursday, July 25, at the park area of Lake Stamford. The fish fry begins at 5 p. m.

Reverend Bill Tanner, pastor of the 2540-member Broadway Baptist Church, in Houston, will be the guest speaker for the occasion.

Born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Rev. Tanner received his BA degree from Baylor, his master of education and doctor of education degrees from the University of Houston, a bachelor of divinity degree from the Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, and is currently completing his work toward his doctorate in Theology at the Fort Worth Seminary.

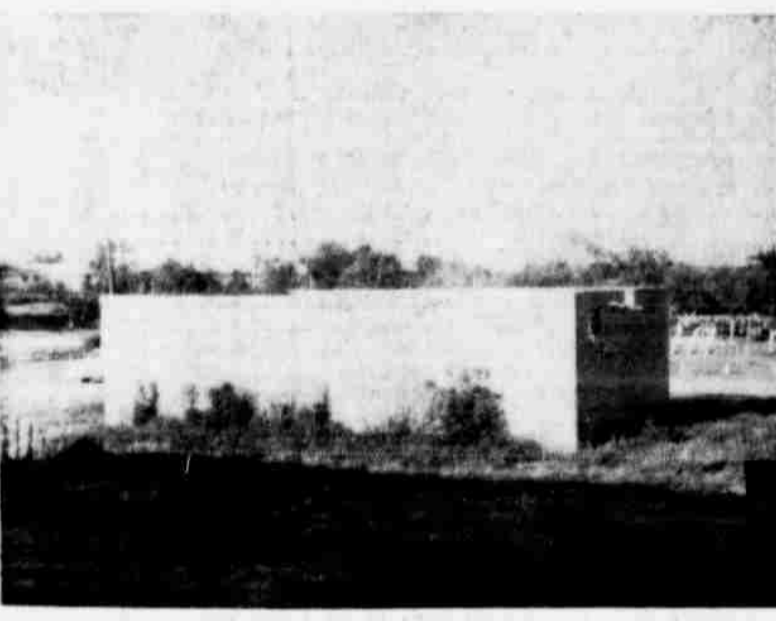

Rev. Tanner is married, and the couple has three children, Bill Jr., almost 10; Keith, 8; and Mark, 5. Mrs. Tanner is the former Eller Sampney Yates, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Yates, of Baylor University, Waco.

The visiting speaker served with the New Life Movement in the Philippines alongside of Rev. Ray Nobles, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Haskell, and Brother Demp Emerson, layman, of O'Brien.

Emerson is president of the Haskell-Knox Associational Brotherhood.

Southside Baptist Launches VBS With Parade

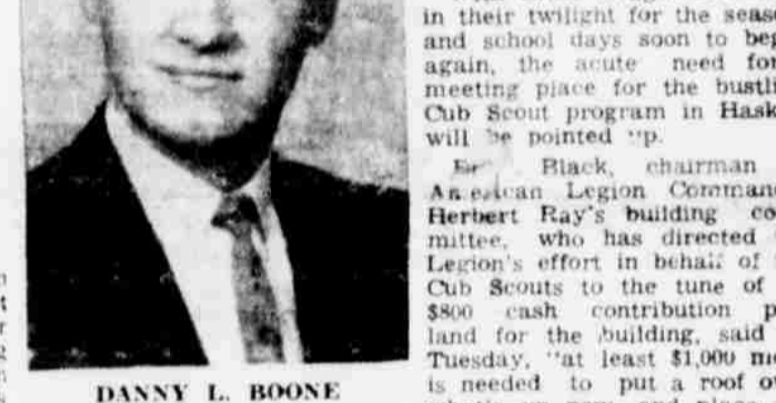

A week-long vacation Bible school, July 22-27 at the Southside Baptist Chapel here will be launched Saturday with a Preparation Day program and parade which will be led by a big red firetruck and starts at South Seventh Street and Avenue F here. The parade activities begin at 9 a. m.

SOMETHING'S MISSING—from the partially completed edifice to the youth of this town started this past Spring. This Cub Scout structure, for which enthusiasm ran high earlier this year, needs to be finished by September to become one of the most "used" facilities in Haskell. In just a matter of a few weeks now, the productive Cub Scout program will be operating full tilt. About $1,000 is needed, either in cash or materials to help finish this job to furnish this badly needed meeting place to the boys of Haskell. Your contribution, directed to R. V. Black, Chairman, at P. O. Box 607, Haskell, will help meet an urgently needed responsibility in this area.

Need Is Acute To Finish, Furnish Scout Building

Two of Haskell's spirited civic organizations, the American Legion and the Jaycees, which have spearheaded and generously supported a building project for Cub Scouts here, took cognizance of the partially completed edifice this week and issued a townwide appeal for cooperation in finishing the job.

DANNY L. BOONE

Jaycee President Bud Lane, Secretary Bill Tomlinson, and hustling young civic leaders here, have rallied to the American Legion's call with a $300 contribution and lots of elbow grease in the Cub Scout project, but more help is needed to finish the monument to youth development here.

Begin as a community-wide effort in the spring, the Cub Scout edifice, a 22x30-foot brick building east of the American Legion Building here, overlooking City Park, had spontaneous early support in money and donated labor and materials.

But with summer past the midway mark, and the need for use of the facility most urgent by September, Black's committee, also comprised of Herbert Fischer and Johnny Smith, has asked the help of all interested Haskell citizens in "buckling down to finish up."

The estimated $1,000 needed doesn't necessarily need to be in cash, Black explained. The materials and labor with which to finish the job will "do just as well," he said. Urgent needs include a refrigerator and gas cook stove which will be necessary items for the use of Cub Scouts at their "command post."

In addition to the generous support given by the Jaycees and American Legion, Steve Stephens, manager of the M-System Food Store here has made a cash contribution, and the following firms and individuals have made notable contributions or pledges of labor or materials: Marion Killon Plumbing Co., Perry Ready-Mix Concrete Co., Brazleton Lumber Co., Bill Carter, Bill Nellums Electric Co., Fieldan Motel, Otho Naffing Plumbing Co., Queen Roofing Co., and R. B. Spencer Lumber Co.

So, in order "to finish our responsible job for youth development in Haskell, let's also accept the responsibility for furnishing this building for them," was the rallying statement by Black and Lane here Tuesday.

Rotary To Hear Rex Jennings On Industry Horizon

Avenues of approach to industrial development by a small community like Haskell will be outlined to members of the Rotary Club of Haskell and other interested citizens of this area by Rex Jennings, executive vice president and general manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, at Rotary meeting here Thursday noon.

Jennings, dynamic chamber executive, is immediate past president of the Southern Industrial Development Council, an organization consisting of chamber leaders, bankers, utility company executives, educational leaders, railroad executives, and state development directors engaged in industrial development work in the 16 southern states.

He also is a director and charter member of the Texas Industrial Development Council and a member of the American Chamber of Commerce.

Jennings, who has through the 11 daily except Sunday months, said after his charges will be duty at Haskell hospital here, site of medical instruction, to receive under careful supervision of Dr. Rodney Dowling, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Sterling City, Texas, will bring the inspiration at the ceremonies. The Rev. Todd, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Haskell, will give the invocation and also the benediction.

Funeral was pending at Holden's Funeral Home late Wednesday. Services are tentatively set for Thursday.

Born March 12, 1901, at Lockhart, he moved to Haskell County in 1922, settling at Weinert. He married Willie Nell Smith on June 13, 1925, in Haskell. Mr. Rogers was a member of East Side Baptist Church and Haskell Masonic Lodge No. 682.

Among the buildings which Mr. Rogers constructed in West Texas were the First Baptist Church at Sterling City, First Methodist Church at Rule and the M-System grocery in Haskell. Many other edifices are monumental to his efforts.

Surviving are his wife four daughters, Mrs. George Judisack of Walsenburg, Colo., Mrs. G. L. Long of Farmington, N. Mexico, Mrs. Deaune Booe of Jefferson and Donna Rogers of Haskell; five sons, Billy G. of Kenslow, Mich., and Roy L., Bobby D., Floyd V. and Kenneth D., all of Haskell; 15 grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Annie Onte of Throckmorton, and one brother, T. A. Rogers of Kingsland, Texas.

JOINT EFFORT LAUNCHED TO OBSERVE FARM SAFETY WEEK

At least six agencies serving the people in the Haskell area are joining merchants and individuals here in a united effort to impress that "Inspection Plus Correction, Equals Protection" in connection with the observance of National Farm Safety Week July 21-27.

Elsewhere in today's issue of the Free Press will be found a message sponsored by local merchants and individuals which calls attention to safety practices during this special week.

The number of people living on farms today is decreasing, but the number of fatal accidents per 100,000 farm residents is going up, statistics show. During the period of 1949-59, a total of 27,346 people in the U. S. lost their lives from farm accidents. The State of Texas accounted for 1622 of these. This was the highest death rate attributed to farm accidents of any state in the union. Farm machinery alone has caused 35 percent of fatal farm accidents over the nation for the past 10 years. Drownings, firearms, falls, blows, burns, animals, lightning, and poison, each have taken their toll of victims on farm land.

In observance of National Farm Safety Week, it has been suggested that farmers inspect their equipment, land, buildings, also their own work habits and attitudes, in a systematic manner. Correct dangerous conditions and careless work habits to protect lives.

According to accident facts released by the National Safety Council, fatal rural accidents outnumber urban nearly 3-to-1. Rural citizens can help save lives on public highways by organized action. Farm organizations and various civic groups are but a few of the many groups that are cooperating to make rural and urban highways safer for Americans. These means can be accomplished by finding out what the local accident situation is. Learn from officials the causes of past accidents and take action to remedy the causes.

In Haskell County, the California Creek Soil Conservation District, the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, the County Agricultural Agent, Farmer Home Administration, ASCS, and Farm Bureau are joining with individuals and merchants in a united effort to reduce the number of farm, home, and highway accidents.

They are pointing up the crusade during National Farm Safety Week, July 21-27, by remembering the theme, "Inspection Plus Correction Equals Protection," which may save your life.

Rotan Native Is New Chief Of Indian Bands

A director of bands has been selected for the Haskell school system, and an elementary school principal and a junior high English teacher still are needed before the personnel situation for the 1963-64 year is one hundred percent ready for fall opening of school, Hooper T. Wilkinson, school superintendent here, announced Friday following a school board meeting.

Roark Barnes, 28, a native of Rotan, and a member of the Jayton school system for the past four years, has been named director of bands here, succeeding Frank Porter, who resigned at the end of the spring semester to enter private business in Spearman.

Lake Stamford Is Fish Fry Site For Baptist Men

More than 500 Baptist men from the Haskell-Knox Baptist Association are expected for their annual fish fry, a big event each year, to be held on Thursday, July 25, at the park area of Lake Stamford. The fish fry begins at 5 p. m.

Reverend Bill Tanner, pastor of the 2540-member Broadway Baptist Church, in Houston, will be the guest speaker for the occasion.

Danny Boone Is Leaving To Go To Seminary

Danny L. Boone, popular young music-youth director of the First Baptist Church of Haskell for the past 15 months, organizer of five choirs and productive developer of an outstanding youth program here, is leaving Haskell to enter Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth to train for the ministry.

The 24-year-old accomplished musician-vocalist said he has enjoyed his efforts in the religious education and music field, but has "felt the call" for some time to equip himself for the ministry. He enters Seminary in September and will be leaving here soon after the first of August.

Joe Williams Is New Master Of Masonic Lodge

Joe Williams, Haskell attorney, was recently installed as worshipful master of Haskell Masonic Lodge 682, AF&M, succeeding Fred Brown in ceremonies conducted by R. L. Stephenson, past district deputy grand master, Haskell Stone was the installing marshal.

Other officers assuming new responsibilities among Masons here include W. R. Howard, senior warden; Milton Christian, junior warden; L. A. Davis, senior deacon; Otey Johnson, junior deacon; Leon Pearson, tiler; Jimmy Owens, secretary; Virgil Wall, treasurer; J. L. (Pete) Mullins, senior steward; and Don Garrett, junior steward.

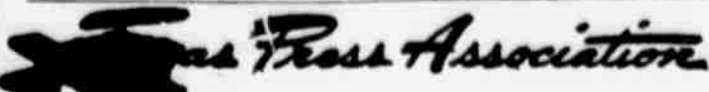

The new master of the lodge, Williams, and Brown, outgoing master and chairman of the building committee, said Friday that construction plans for a projected new Masonic edifice in Haskell are being thoroughly studied and that an announcement about them is imminent.

Little League Playoffs

Knox City and Rule clash here at 7:30 p. m. in Little League Park to determine which Little League aggregation will face Haskell's All-Stars managed by Volley Ivey and Bill Reeves at the same hour Friday night, same place. The winner will represent this area and advance in the state race.

In The Balance . . . A Town's Future

For Jarrin' John Kimbrough and the team he has fielded in behalf of a more adequate and palatable water supply here, it was like a first down with goal to go when the Texas Supreme Court blew the whistle on the most recent play in Haskell's long and bitter water dispute.

It's late in the game that has been going on for five years, and the Kimbrough cohorts still need a touchdown play in the Supreme Court, and to add an extra point in a case now pending in Travis County district court to pull it out.

The Supreme Court last Wednesday said it would hear oral arguments in the Kimbrough and others case against Mayor J. E. Walling and the Haskell City Council challenging the council's right to use taxpayers' money to fight the Miller Creek water reservoir project proposed by the North Central Texas Municipal Authority.

For the Kimbrough team, it is just like an Aggie "fir" inside the Longhorn 10. The suit pending in the Supreme Court, and one other in Travis County, involving the City of Haskell's suit against the Texas Water Commission for granting a permit to build a dam on Miller Creek, are all that remain before the outcome of the fight which started in 1928 of dam-or-no-dam is known. So, if Kimbrough can score in the Supreme Court and kick the extra point in the Travis District Court, it will be the ex-Aggie All-American's ball game.

Mayor J. E. Walling, contacted about the Supreme Court action last Wednesday, said, "That's a matter of opinion," when asked if he thought Kimbrough had made some yardage. "We are happy about what happened. It will give the highest court in the state the decision to make on the issue, and we're confident we'll win," Mayor Walling said.

Walling, when asked if it is true the City of Haskell had paid an additional $2,300 in attorney's fees recently, over and above the $5,000 figure already mentioned in district court at the time Kimbrough et al sued him and the City Council for using city money in this manner, declared, "It's a matter of public record. This was for services on other things that are not in violation of the restraining order, if the restraining order is legal." The exact amount of the check, issued on May 10, was $2,329.58.

Asked what "other things," Walling said, "These attorneys' fees were for defending the City Council against lawsuits and other items that have been incurred."

The Haskell Mayor would not elaborate further, except to say, "We've got three attorneys, and they are doing the proper thing."

Kimbrough declared here after the latest development, "Man-for-man, I think we've had just as good representation in attorneys as they have and we've spent a total of six hundred dollars, about a tenth as much as they have, in the two cases. It's ridiculous for us (the Kimbrough citizens' group) to be paying the attorneys' fees on both sides." He was referring to the reported spending of taxpayers' money in the Mayor and Council's effort to prevent the building of the Miller Creek dam.

Kimbrough and the dam supporters talked last week with Warlick Carr, member of the Lubbock firm of Key, Carr, and Clark, representing them, urging an effort for early hearing of the suit pending in Travis County district court. This case was postponed on July 1 pending outcome of the Supreme Court case in which Wednesday's new development came. The Water Commission case was filed prior to the court battle over use of tax money. Kimbrough said here, "and the two cases have no bearing, one to the other."

So Kimbrough and Company are crouched in the huddle. Walling's defenses are stiffening, backed by his signal callers, the Austin law firm of Powell, Rauhut, McGinnis, Reavley, and Lockridge. And the clock has started again in a game that has been going on since 1928.

Meanwhile, as we ponder what we said at the head of this column last week about it mattering little where we stand, but in what direction we are going, we cannot help but be reminded of this testimony, less than two months ago, from a speaker's rostrum before a group of municipal officials in this town by an expert, Frank Medaniel:

Without an adequate water supply now, and PLANS FOR A SATISFACTORY WATER SUPPLY TO SATISFY FUTURE NEEDS, bonds to meet the utility needs of a city or for any other purpose WILL BE HARD TO COME BY AT ANY EQUITABLE RATE.

A town can't have a good public image in the eyes of bond buyers with low rates of interest if it doesn't have an adequate present, and concrete plan for a future, water supply.

And, may we repeat, if Haskell doesn't ever want to progress, it will have no future need to go into the bond selling business. And if it doesn't anticipate any future growth, then the present water supply is ample and adequate.

No no water needs, no need for bonds to sell for the financing with which to GROW in the future.

God help us if we treat so lightly the future of this town, and show such an utter lack of consideration and regard for the future welfare of our children and grandchildren.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's

Potpouri By PORTER

Digging deep into your treasure trove of memories, do you recall when it was a Red Letter EVENT in the days of your youth to get a ride on an elevator? If you do, you don't have to worry about the draft.

We got a big lift at the Courthouse Saturday. It would have to be classified as a Big Lift when folks like the Pencil Pusher or Garth Garrett get a ride in the new elevator there. Now, there's Judge Virgil Brown, who was around to be among the first. His was a Little Lift. In the case of Wallace Wooten, that would be a bonafide Air-Lift!

We'll make momentarily moot the question as to whether the first time anyone ever got taken for a ride in the Haskell County Courthouse was last week. We'll leave it at "in an elevator anyway." An interesting thing came out of that elevator construction. The fellows who put it in, with the help of one of the greatest arrays of sidewalk superintendents, said our 71-year-old Courthouse is "plumb." Despite the ravages of tornadoes, and many a buffeting wind, and we understand the pressure of the twister of May 26 a year ago, raised the third floor ceiling on the west side an inch or so, the building is still plumb. They don't build 'em that way any more.

So we've added the lift in the Haskell County Courthouse to the distinctive ones we've had the privilege of taking, among them the Eiffel Tower, Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, Washington Monument, and the "cagiest contraption" we've yet seen, in the Kona Hotel in Chantilly, France, where the lace comes from. When we were "privileged" to use the last-named lift, it was to be elevated to the fifth and top floor of the Kona, equipped with carbine, 45 pistol, musette bag, bedroll, and footlocker, all of which were "on our person." Purpose of the "lift" was to get up to the "high rent" corner suite of a deserted hostelry, there to share a straw mattress, that felt like it was loaded with poison blow gun darts, and the sweeping vista of the French artillery-pocked terrain with the biggest bedbug ever in combat in World War II.

The Eiffel Tower lift reminds us that one couldn't go past the first stage (landings) in an elevator during the war. The other two "etages" were used as observation posts and for air traffic control equipment and personnel.

Pitifully enough, the initial "etage" is closed periodically in the Eiffel Tower when a rash of suicides occurs. For that reason, it has been dubbed the "flight deck."

But the Pencil Pusher reckons the most harrowing elevator ride of all, next to the time he and about seven others got stuck between floors for 35 minutes in the building where he officed, was the one at the mill and elevator, which is well-named. We went through the mill ruling THAT elevator. Like Johnny Kimbrough, Buford Abeldt, and others, who have jobs measuring land for the summer, we had one measuring buildings, checking square footage for a re-taxation survey. Houses were a snap. But we got the big building chore, too, in late summer, when our feet were dragging.

At this General Mills facility, we took our tape-line on a trip THROUGH the floors, landings again, I guess you'd call them, of the huge mill to the dust house, or machinery operation, at the top. On this mission, one hugs an ever turning conveyor belt that shoots up through narrow apertures in foot-thick concrete with little more clearance than will accommodate the body of a medium-sized man. At the bottom you plant your bipeds on a tiny platform that supports your body, the platform being attached to the conveyor belt. You hold on to a steel "arm" also attached to the belt—and away you go, up to the top of the mill, 200 feet or so.

We did that four to six times

Haskell County History

30 YEARS AGO (July 20, 1903)

The Free Press has been reliably informed that a petition will be presented to the Commissioners' Court next week asking that a county wide local option election be held on August 26, date of the state wide election. Proposition to be decided is whether the sale of 3.2 beer shall be permitted in Haskell County.

Commissioners Courts in Jones and Knox Counties have called elections on August 26 on the question of legalizing beer sales in those counties.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Arbuckle, and little daughter Sara Beth, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Jenkins at Tuscola the first of the week.

Miss Kathryn Rike left last week for Chicago, where she will attend the Century of Progress Exposition. From there she will go to Boston where she will visit Mrs. Una Foster Weatherby and take a special course in English at Radcliff College during the summer term.

Hassen Dry Goods Company, of Sulphur, Oklahoma, has taken a lease on the Barnes Building, first door south of the Post Office and will open a new store here August 15. Buyers for the company are now in the St. Louis markets purchasing merchandise stocks for the new store, which will be under the management of S. Hassen.

Report of the condition of Haskell National Bank at the close of business June 30, 1933, lists loans and discounts of $165,400.41, and deposits of $281,203.70.

Mrs. Wallace Cox, and little day for three days. Never had an experience like it, even at 40,000 feet under some other interesting circumstances.

Stanley Furrh, who seems to invite unusual situations in departing from drab daily routine, climbed atop the graceful canopy which adorns the plush and lavish Hotel Haskell the other day, presumably to feast his oscillating peepers on the teeming and hurried throng which milled the scorching pavement beneath him in the noontime summer sun in downtown Haskell. That, in addition to going up to fix a nonworking air conditioner.

Along comes E. J. (that's for Enjoys Jokes) Stewart, who pulls the ladder out from Human Fly Furrh, leaving Stanley stranded. We couldn't bear to wait around to see the Furrh fly. He probably managed. We understand he always was a pretty hep second story man—going into, or coming out of, them.

Jake Atchison, who folks say is the retiring type most of the time, is capable of coming up with a situation saving run of rollicking repartee at command performances. One of his baseball playing buddies of Brazos Valley League days, "Hot Corner" Carl Wheatley tells about the time he and Jake were in son, Wallace, Jr., left Saturday for Abilene to visit in the home of her mother.

Within the next week, farmers in Haskell County will begin plowing up 49,130 of the 115,615 acres planted to cotton in the county this year. Under the emergency farm program, the farmers will receive payments of $412,829 for reducing their cotton acreage.

50 YEARS AGO (July 19, 1913)

Mr. McElvain is busy putting down the new concrete sidewalks on the street leading to the depot.

Mr. McFatter is laying the foundation for the new brick on the southeast corner of the Square. The work on the water main extension will begin in a few days, and rumor has it that an oil well at Haskell is contemplated by people who can do this work.

E. E. Marvin sold two more cars Friday, a "Traveler" and a "Ford." This makes four cars Marvin has sold in 10 days. The others were both "Overlands" and delivered in Rule.

Herman Weinert of the "City Prosperous" is visiting his brother, Judge Weinert, in Austin. Judge Weinert is now serving as Secretary of State, having been appointed to that position by Governor Colquitt.

J. J. Peacock and O. M. McLain of the Rochester country were in the city Thursday.

Dr. Dunn and Strother Menefee of Rochester were in this city Monday. Mr. Menefee is Jake's Star automobile on an overland (that's the name of a car, too) journey. If you can remember the Star and Overland vehicles, you don't have to worry about the draft either.

A big rainstorm came up, and Atchison and Wheatley were hopelessly mud-locked in the Star, which didn't have enough horsepower to pull them out of the dilemma. After an exasperating time of it, Jake rared back in the seat, and declared most poetically, "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star, How I WISH you were a CAR!"

Wouldn't it be something if we could turn back the pages and go down to Frank Jirek's Columbus Teen-Age League Stadium some night and see their taking that well-maintained field that whiz of a Weinert baseball team of the torrid thirties which was made up of Wheatley, Atchison, Roy Cook, the Mercer brothers, et al. Now, there was a wreckin' crew, we hear tell.

BY MRS. DELBERT LEFEVRE

(Delayed)

The Fourth of July holidays found most farmers in this community caught up with their farming and wishing for a rain, which did not come.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ulmer and Brad and Jana Ulmer, all of San Antonio, visited with Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ulmer last weekend. Brad stayed here for a longer visit with his grandparents.

T-Sgt. and Mrs. Larry Corneison, Kathy and Doug, of San Antonio were here last weekend to visit Mr. and Mrs.

August Balzer and attend the Stegemoeiler family reunion at Lubbock Saturday. Kathy stayed here with her grandparents, the Balzers.

Joe Ray Baitz is away attending National Guard Camp for two weeks. Mrs. Baitz and Pam are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Zenor Summers and Mike while he is away.

Lois Knipping of West Columbia was here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Knipping, last weekend. Their other daughter, Mrs. Dahlia Askew, and her daughter, Tonya and Carla, also of West Columbia, who had been visiting here for the past three weeks, went back home to West Columbia and Mrs. Knipping went with them.

The first Stegemoeiler family reunion of the family of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stegemoeiler was held Saturday, July 6, at the McKenzie Park in Lubbock. Those attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. August Balzer, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stegemoeiler, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stegemoeiler and sons, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sherry Burson In H-SU Theatrical Touring Group

Sherry Burson, of Haskell, is one of a group of 10 students making up the Hardin-Simmons University Theater Touring Company which has broadened its summer tour plans in an effort to assist church drama groups with their programs along a route from Texas to Washington and New York and return.

The summer tour will extend from August 4 to August 25 and is being built around the University Players' assignment to present the program for the third national Royal Ambassador Congress in Washington, D. C. August 16-15.

Already the group has scheduled appearances in six churches and has listed open dates for four other church performances.

The H-SU group of which the Haskell resident is a member is headed by Robert E. Scates, director of the University theater. It will devote six days to staging two pageants and all other phases of the Royal Ambassador Congress program at the Sylvan Outdoor Theater in Washington.

The student company also will spend five days, August 16-20, in New York seeing the Broadway and off-Broadway shows and other theatrical centers.

With Miss Burson in the theatrical company, directed by Mr. and Mrs. Scates, are Larry Cunningham, Jerry Watson, and Peggy Newman, all of Abilene; Lee Dodson, of Bedford; Coy Sharp and Sandra Taylor, both of Odessa; Stanley Zareff, of Dallas; Paula Guyton, of McLean; and Tom Rhode, of Silvertown.

NOTICE

To Citizens of Haskell who are now being sued by the Water Authority for Delinquent Taxes:

I am not a member of the Board of Directors of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority and have not been for over two years. R. W. HERRREN 28p

The above is correct. The Haskell City Council replaced Mr. Herren with Mr. Wallace Wooten in 1961. At the same time Mr. Herren was employed General Manager of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority, the position which he still holds. As the title implies, he is General Manager. MRS. DANNY WAYLAND JOSSELET

Vicki Sue McClure and Danny Josselet Exchange Vows In Methodist Church

Miss Vicki Sue McClure became the bride of Danny Wayland Josselet in a double ring ceremony Sunday afternoon, July 14, at three o'clock in the First Methodist Church of Haskell.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lee McClure of Haskell and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Josselet also of Haskell.

The Rev. Ellis A. Todd officiated at the ceremony before an altar of palm leaves and baskets of white gladiolas. Music was presented by Miss Pamela Baird, organist, and Mrs. Hugh Mathis, soloist, sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a magnificent gown of organza, with the princess skirt sweeping into a chapel train. It featured a fitted bodice and long sleeves that tapered into petal points. The bodice was accented by an alcon imported lace cape collar embroidered with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion fell from a hat of organza petals centered with seed pearls and lace medallions. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, centered with white orchids, atop a white pearl Bible. The Bible was a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Nancy Smart of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Nancy Lawson, Nancy Britte, both of Austin, Elaine Middleton of Haskell, and Bobbie Zalokar, of Abilene.

The maid of honor's dress was of comme De Lune nylon in soft lilac. The dress was styled with a draped neckline and a self rose detailed the asymmetrical drape of the skirt. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of comme De Lune nylon in soft lilac, fashioned with a scoop neckline and a moulded bodice with tiny cap sleeves. The full skirts were caught in a bustle effect with a soft bow. They wore matching cabbage roses with nose length veils. They wore white gloves and accessories and carried bouquets of white gladiolas.

David Honea of Haskell served as best man. Groomsmen were Joe Natale, Jr., of Huntsville, cousin of the bride, Lonnie Sturdy of Dallas, Volly Ivey of Haskell, and Jackie Hammer of Weinert.

Mrs. McClure chose a beige silk linen suit with deeper toned beige accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Josselet, wore an oyster white silk linen suit with medium brown accessories. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The table was laid with a cut-worked handmade linen cloth atop a lilac cloth. Appointments were of crystal and silver and a four tiered cake. Assisting at the reception were Misses Merilan Sue Crawford, Jan Matthews, and Glenda Cherry. Also in the houseparty were Misses Kenneth Campbell, Jimmy McClure, sister-in-law of the bride, and Robert Dumas.

Miss Darlene Bevel of Haskell registered guests in the bride's book. For the wedding trip the bride chose a coral knit, three piece suit. A white hat and accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet, completed the ensemble.

The bride is a spring graduate of Haskell High School where she was a member of the Lon Pate Chapter of Quill and Scroll and a member of the widely known choral group, the Nineteens.

The groom is a 1962 graduate of Haskell High School and is presently attending the Ruthertford Metropolitan Technological School in Dallas and is employed by Dallas Power and Light Co.

The couple will make their home in Dallas.

The parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Josselet, were hosts to a rehearsal dinner Saturday evening, July 13, in the dining room of the Highway Drive Inn.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were from Arkadelphia, Arkansas, Lubbock, Fort Stockton, Huntsville, Abilene, Dallas, and Weatherford.

Lane-Felker Is Planning Charm School for 'Teens'

VACATION IN HASKELL. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones and children, Lane and Jessica, of Riverdale, Maryland, spent their vacation in Haskell with the Jones' parents, Rex, and Mrs. Jesse Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. (Shady) Lane.

Young Homemakers Hear Mrs. Pippin In Session; Also Have Summer Social

Young Homemakers of Haskell have accentuated their July activity program with both an educational session and a summer social event during the past two weeks.

Mrs. Jack Pippin, well-known Haskell civic and religious leader, discussed skin care before the Young Homemakers here at a recent meeting, and demonstrated methods of carrying out this responsible feminine duty, with a "live model," Mrs. Frankie Don Mullins, who volunteered for the assignment.

At a drawing held following the educational presentation, Mrs. Eddy Jo Fortenberry of Lockney, a visitor and wife of the state Young Farmers president, won a gift presented by Mrs. Pippin.

The Community Room of the Haskell National Bank was the site of a summer social of Young Homemakers of Haskell at which 40 persons enjoyed home made ice cream, cake, and cookies and participated in card games throughout the evening Monday.

Mrs. Waymon McBroom is president of the Haskell Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas.

Gift Party Honors Penny Sparkman, August Bride

Miss Penny Sparkman, bride-elect of Kenneth Isbell, of Haskell, was honored with a gift party Friday in the home of Mrs. Mary Brown, 205 South Avenue C, here.

Mrs. George Clines, of Union, Missouri, aunt of the bride-to-be, presided over the guest book which was signed by seven grandparents of the bride-elect and prospective bridegroom during the afternoon.

Mrs. Lee Roy Isbell, mother of the prospective bridegroom, met the guests at the door. Mrs. John Sparkman, mother of the bride-elect, displayed the gifts.

Refreshments were served by Miss Overcash, Mrs. Dean McGee, and Miss Mary LaRue Brown to approximately 90 guests who called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Herren At Austin Session Of TFWC Leaders

Mrs. R. W. (Bob) Herren, now entering her second year as president of the Mesquite District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, will be in Austin three days this week for a meeting of district presidents throughout Texas of the TFWC organization to map plans for the forthcoming activity year.

Accompanied to Austin by her husband, Mrs. Herren plans to go to College Station after the state women's clubs presidential session. There the Herrens will visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Ganaway.

Ganaway is working on a research project in agronomy in connection with obtaining credit toward his master's degree. The project deals with experimentation with a type of cotton which may be developed to be immune to the ravages of insects.

Mrs. Ganaway, the former Miss Jan Herren, of Haskell, recently became one of the first co-eds to enter the previously male dominated halls of Aggie land. She also is taking some work for college credit.

Party Honors Lane Jones On Third Birthday

Lane Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones, was honored Tuesday, July 2, on his third birthday with a party in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. (Shady) Lane.

Ten little guests were greeted in the backyard at the swimming pool where they enjoyed playing various games and swimming.

Tables were set up in the yard, where chocolate cup cakes and punch was served to Dwayne and Brian Jones, Craig and Chris Childress, Paul and Mark Hix, Stephen Drinnon, Donnie Mullins, Jim and Robert Browning and the honoree. Balloons, as favors, were presented each little guest.

FROM A PASTOR'S STUDY by DOUGLAS B. FINCH, MINISTER First Presbyterian Church, Haskell, Tex.

Evangelism is all the Church is and does to present Jesus Christ, through the power of the Holy Spirit, that men may put their trust in God through Him, receive Him as Savior from the guilt and power of sin, and serve Him as Lord in the Fellowship of the Church.

Evangelism is certainly the supreme function of the Christian Church. Our first business is to "make disciples." We will never be the kind of Church God wants us to be until we get our minds and eyes off ourselves and fix them on far horizons of human need. We will never be safe from disharmony and spiritual anemia until we have forgotten ourselves in an outgoing, unselfish ministry to others.

It needs to be said also that there is a difference between "evangelism" and "proselytism." The latter is not a dirty word—not at all! But the person who works to take a member away from another church is stating by his action that he does not recognize the validity of the church from whom he "captures" his new member.

Maybe the problem is one of semantics more than anything else; but I prefer the word "evangelism," and will use that word to express the mission of our Church. I do not use "revivalism," I will use it because I believe that He will keep against that day that which I have committed unto Him. I believe that God is dependable, and that His keeping power is as sure as His saving Grace.

MISS MARSHA BRISTOW

Church Wedding In Stanton Planned For Marsha Bristow and Hughlyn Todd

The approaching marriage of Miss Marsha Bristow, of Stanton, to Hughlyn Todd, of Haskell, was announced at a tea given in her honor Saturday, July 13, at the country home of Mrs. Leo Turner, of Stanton.

Receiving guests with Mrs. Turner and Miss Bristow were Mrs. P. M. Bristow, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Ellis A. Todd, mother of the groom-to-be, and Mrs. David Hamblin, sister of the groom-to-be.

Miss Bristow is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bristow, of Stanton, and Mr. Todd is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. Ellis A. Todd, of Haskell. Mrs. Todd recently assumed the pastorate of First Methodist Church in Haskell, coming here from Stanton.

Fidelis Class Votes Help for Projects; To Meet Monthly

Mrs. James P. Cadenhead, Sr., was hostess for the July social and business session of the Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. H. L. Foote led in prayer after which there was singing with Mrs. Cadenhead at the piano and Mrs. Flossie Rogers leading. The class, following a discussion on the merits, voted to hold monthly meetings for business and social purposes each Monday evening after the first Sunday.

Nancye Brite Marries Martin Rueffer In Ceremony At Lutheran Church Here

Trinity Lutheran Church of Haskell was the scene at six o'clock Monday evening, July 15, of the wedding of two of Haskell's most popular young people, Miss Nancye Carole Brite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Burson, Sr., and Martin Fred Rueffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rueffer, all of Haskell.

Pastor James Schaefer, of Trinity Lutheran Church, was the officiating minister at the church ceremony before an altar adorned with green palm branches and on either side of which was a basket of white gladiolus.

Mrs. Hugh Mathis served as organist, and Mrs. Richard Monroe, sister of the groom, was the soloist for traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was alluringly attired in a white knit sheath, gold brocaded hat, white leather gloves, and white patent shoes. For something old, she wore a bronze cameo pin, the gift of her grandmother.

The bride's flowers were white butterfly roses and she carried a white Bible. Maid of honor was Miss Nancy Lawson, a student at Texas University, who wore a beige silk linen suit, yellow pillbox hat, and carried a bouquet of yellow glameilas.

Best man was Richard Monroe, of Haskell, and ushers were Dennis Rueffer, of Haskell, brother of the groom, and Mr. Thomas Coston, of Austin.

The bride, a freshman at the University of Texas, was valedictorian of the 1963 Senior Class of Haskell High School, a majorette of the Haskell Indian Band, member of the

Funeral Here For New Mexico Man, Haskell Native

William (Bill) Green, 46, of Lovington, N. M., died last Tuesday morning at Lovington after suffering a heart attack. Mr. Green was a native of Haskell.

Funeral was held Friday at Holden's Funeral Chapel with the Rev. H. G. Hammer, retired Baptist minister, officiating. Burial was in Willow Cemetery under the direction of Holden's Funeral Home.

Born in Haskell County, October 18, 1916, he lived in the county until moving to California in 1938. Mr. Green was a veteran of World War II and after the war moved to Lovington, where he farmed.

Surviving are two daughters, Leslie Kay Green and Paula Ray Green, both of Lovington. Pallbearers were Walton Nanny, Roy Medford, Otis Elmore, Harry Howard, Al Arend and Raymond Couch.

Finnie Smith, 52, Brother of Two Here, Is Dead

William Finnie Smith, 52, former Haskell resident and brother of two here, died Sunday, July 7, at Methodist Hospital in Dallas. Services were held Tuesday, July 9, at the South Side Baptist Church, of which he was a member. Rev. Emmett Hunt officiated. Burial was in Oak Grove Memorial Garden in Irving. He was the brother of Mrs. Opal Gilliam and Mrs. Maple Watson here.

Mr. Smith had suffered a series of heart attacks recently. He was born Nov. 17, 1910, in New Baden, Texas. He married Cuba Brown in Haskell. The couple lived here and in Abilene for about 20 years. During the last 17 years in Abilene he worked for the American National Insurance Co. He had lived in Irving for about eight years.

Survivors are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Leonard Deniston of Irving and Susanne Smith of the home; two sons, Don of Anson, and Mike of the home; a brother, Weldon Smith; three sisters, Mrs. Gilliam and Mrs. Watson, both of Haskell, and Mrs. Roy Dacus of Fort Worth.

County 4-H Boys Going to Buffalo Gap on 3-Day Camp

Haskell County 4-H boys will join 4-H boys from 21 other counties in this area to attend a 3-day camp at Buffalo Gap, next Tuesday through Thursday, F. W. Martin, county agricultural agent, announced.

Educational demonstrations will be given, and plenty of supervised recreational activities are planned.

Boys attending from Haskell and the county 4-H Club they represent include: Ricky Perry, Paint Creek; Keith Chapman, Mattson; Terry Chapman, Mattson; Michael Summers, Sagerton; Chris Allison, Danny Dwight Kinney, Rule; Ivy, Paint Creek; Bob Aycock, Mattson; Gary Lynn Shaw, Mattson; Glenn Rueffer, Mattson; Danny Isbell, Paint Creek; Jerry Jo Brothers, O'Brien; and Mike Guess, Mattson.

Mrs. Annie Pate Is Installed As Noble Grand Rebekah

Mrs. Annie Pate was installed as noble grand of Haskell Rebekah Lodge 43 in formal ceremonies at the IOOF Hall here Monday night.

Mrs. Bill Morris, of Seymour, deputy district president of the Rebekah Assembly, and her installation team performed the installation rites, and 14 members of the Rebekah Lodge of Seymour accompanied the installation team to Haskell.

Also installed were Mrs. Calvin Wheeler, vice grand; Mrs. Leon Pearsey, chaplain; Mrs. Virgil Brown, right supporter to the noble grand; Mrs. C. E. Tidwell, right supporter to the vice grand; Miss Mildred Mansker, inside guardian; Mrs. John E. Robertson, conductor.

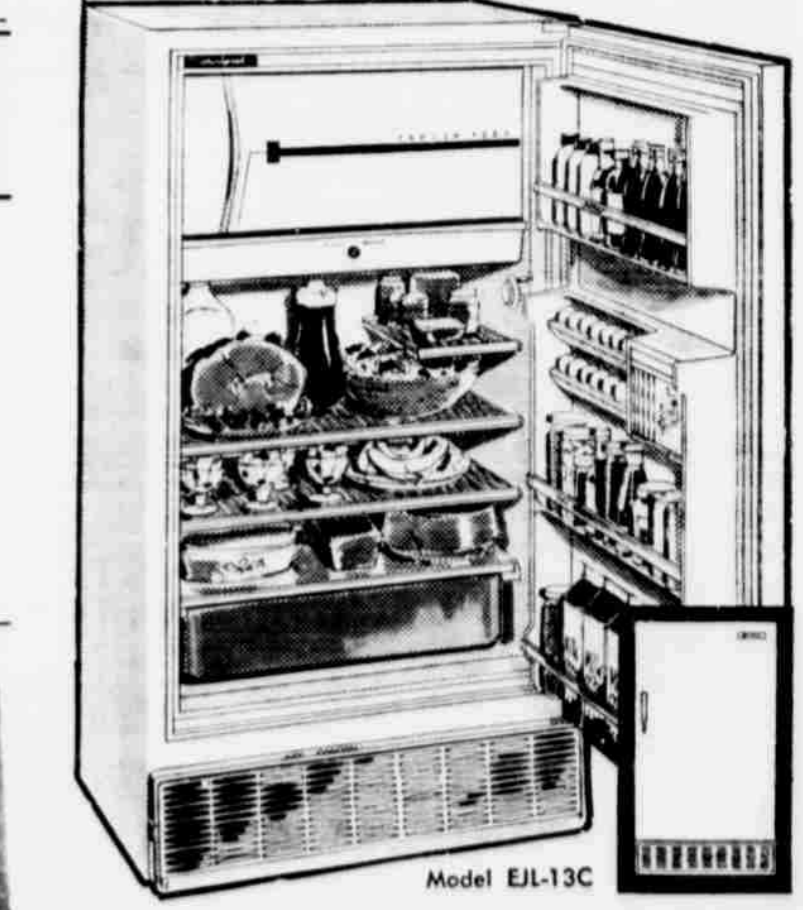

Refreshments were served at a social hour at the Lodge here following the installation.

William O. Douglas, Justice of the Supreme Court, explorer, mountain climber and world traveler, was a victim of poliomyelitis whose legs were once paralyzed.

Solomons Soar Skyward
The Solomons, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Solomon, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Solomon, and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Buford Littlepage, of Graham, have returned from an intriguing camping trip into "high Country" in the Mesa Verde National Park area of western Colorado, with stop-overs in Durango and Santa Fe.

The elder Solomon was all for that scenic travel. Said it was "good for the soul." The Solomon travelers camped out and just about "froze before morning" in the Mesa Verde country, they reported.

Added Lure for Bass
Fly tyers add a dressing of fiber glass threads pulled from woven cloth. After tying, comb out. You'll have a fly with an unequalled sheen...tempting to bass, crappie and perch.

It's the Wood that Counts

Rich redwood fibres are combined with white aspens to make the "No-Clog, Sta Fresh" filters the finest in the world. The weather resistant redwood eliminates that dank, "fishy" odor and insures long filter life. "Sta Fresh" filters are constructed with strong coarse mesh outside to keep filter from clogging and provide minimum air resistance while the fine mesh inside eliminates insects and keeps wood fibres from protruding into cooler. "Sta Fresh" filters are exclusive with Paramount Coolers.

Prattle

By AL HINDS

Recently I wrote a column on "little girls," so it is only fitting that I say a few words about "little" boys. The Prattles have one of each... or did... until they grew up.

Boys come in assorted sizes, weights, and colors. They are found everywhere... on top of, underneath, inside of, climbing on, swinging from, running around or jumping to. Mothers love them, older sisters and brothers tolerate them, adults ignore them and Heaven protects them.

A boy has the appetite of a horse, the digestion of a sword swallower, the energy of a pocket-sized atomic bomb, the curiosity of a cat, the lungs of a dictator, the imagination of a Paul Bunyon, the shyness of a violet, the audacity of a steel trap, the enthusiasm of a fire cracker, and when he makes something he has five thumbs on each hand.

He likes ice cream, knives, saws, Christmas, comic books, the boys across the street, woods, water (in its natural habitat), large animals, Dad, trains, Saturday morning, and fire engines. He is not much for Sunday school, company, schools, books without pictures, music lessons, neckties, girls, overcoats, adults, or bedtime.

Nobody else is so early to rise, or so late to supper. Nobody else can cram into one pocket a rusty knife, a half eaten apple, three feet of string, and a genuine super-sonic code drops, six cents, a sling shot, a chunk of unknown substance, and a genuine super-sonic code ring with a secret compartment.

A boy is a magical creature... you can lock him out of your workshop, but you can't lock him out of your heart.

Man comes into this world without his consent, and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings. In his infancy he is an Angel, in his boyhood he is a devil. In his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his duties he is a fool; if he has no family he is committing race suicide; if he raises a family he is a chump; if he raises a check he is a thief, and then the law raises Cain with him. If he is a poor man he is a poor manager, and has no sense; if he is rich he is dishonest, but considered smart; if he is in politics he is a grater and a crook; if he is out of politics you can't place him as he is an "undesirable citizen." If he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away from church, he is a sinner; if he donates to foreign missions, he does it for show; if he doesn't he is stingy and a "tightwad." When a man first comes into this world everybody wants to kiss him... before he goes out they want to kick him; if he dies young, there was a great future before him; if he lives to a ripe old age, he is in the way, only living to save funeral expenses.

About business: There's plenty of room at the top for concerns which give good service and please the public... and plenty of room at the bottom for those which fail to do that.

A friend said that on a recent week-end he and his family decided to take a drive and cover as much territory as they could in a leisurely way during the afternoon. They made a kind of circle trip out of it, and drove through more than a dozen other towns. On the way back the friend and his family decided they liked Haskell better than any of the other places they drove through, he said.

He told about stopping at a service station in one town, and when he asked for service station man had a very low opinion of his town. This being a tree country, one has the whole United States to pick from in finding a town to live in. Doesn't it seem rather odd there are people who never defend their choice of a home town, and never miss an opportunity to criticize it? The man who looks for bad things to say about the town in which he has invested in a home or business is showing poor sense.

This scribble thinks that Haskell is one of the best and friendliest small towns to be found anywhere. Of course, I realize, and so do you readers of this column, there are things in Haskell, and in fact every town, which need improving, and certain conditions that need to be remedied, but it is the good citizen's duty and privilege to try to improve these things instead of always complaining about them, especially to outsiders.

Recently the Russians launched a woman in orbit. That's nothing new, as this scribble's wife stays in orbit most of the time.

REV. HAROLD WATSON

Mrs. Dowdy To Direct Junior Girls Camp

When Baptist Junior girls, 9 through 12, assemble for an encampment at Lueders, Tuesday through Thursday of next week, Mrs. Rodney C. Dowdy, wife of the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Rule, will serve as director of all camp activities.

Gary Fannin, Susie Dowdy, and Sallie Dowdy, all of Rule, also will direct recreation and craft activities at the camp. Rev. Harold Watson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Clyde, will serve as camp pastor, and Mrs. Carlos Paredes, prominent in WMU activities in both Latin-American and Anglo women's work in Texas, will be the missionary speaker. John Paylor, of Clyde, and Edwin Peoples, of Roby, are in charge of the musical program.

Rex Jennings--

Jennings has served on the faculty of the Southwestern Chamber of Commerce Institute at the University of Houston for nine years, teaching courses in Chamber of Commerce membership, industrial development, and trade development.

Elected in June, 1962, Jennings is currently serving as president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association. He is first vice president of the Rotary Club of Wichita Falls.

church to which he has given so much of himself here. In addition to his choir work and hundreds of personal appearances to sing at church gatherings of all types, weddings, and funerals, Boone has directed an active youth program with fellowships each Sunday night, has supervised the operation of the Youth Center of the church here, and worked tirelessly on many civic as well as religious activities.

He has been a loyal member of the Rotary Club of Haskell, and led its fellowship singing each Thursday. A native of Fort Worth, Boone spent most of his younger life in Saint Jo, Texas, a small community between Gainesville and Wichita Falls. He graduated from high school there, graduated from Decatur Baptist College in 1958, obtained his BA degree from Howard Payne College, Brownwood in 1961. He has served as music director, educational director, youth director, at the following churches since 1952: First Baptist, St. Jo; Calvary Baptist, Gainesville; Bell Baptist, Decatur; Grand Avenue Baptist, Gainesville; Belle Plain Baptist, Brownwood; Melwood Baptist, Brownwood; Northwest Baptist, Austin; and here for the past 15 months.

He is married to the former Barbara Schoelling, a native of Decatur, and the couple is expecting a child in November. The pastor, Rev. Ray Nobles, and official board of the church here, have expressed their deep regret over Danny Boone's leaving, but wish him "God-speed in his increased dedication to the service of the Lord."

LATEST CALF KILL IS PUZZLER --NOT BELIEVED WORK OF LION

Haskell County's "thang" killed most of the time to be a large carnivorous cougar, and called a mountain lion-type by those who have seen it, claimed another victim, apparently Sunday night after 11 days of "no show."

Some of the marks of the latest kill were not cat-like, however, which left some veteran hunters more puzzled than ever.

This time, it was a three-week-old, 100 pound calf, which beaten-down high grass clearly showed, had been attacked and dragged at least 50 feet in one direction and 15 in another before it died. Evidently surprised from behind, the calf's tongue was caught between its teeth clenched in death. The left flank of the healthy calf had been eaten away and most of its entrails were gone. Its left hind leg was broken and pulled up under its body. There were no marks about the neck and face as in past stock killing incidents.

Andy Josselet, rural mail carrier, on whose 472-acre farm the varmint's latest victim was found, called up his cattle to feed them cake at 10 a. m. Monday and noticed that one mother cow still had a full udder of milk. Separating her from the rest of the herd, Josselet follow the mother about a quarter of a mile into the pasture where she "shuddered and reared up as if fearing something," Josselet said, when she came near her dead offspring in high grass. The cow refused to go closer, but moved off in another direction, said the Haskell County farmer.

The spot where the partially eaten dead bull calf was found is about 100 yards inside the north fence line and close to a road adjoining Josselet's farm eight miles southeast of Haskell near the Paint Creek community. Buffalo Creek, which meanders through the area, is but 100 yards from the latest calf killing.

Sightings of Haskell's vanishing varmint have occurred

Hey-Day--

A big barbecue, done on a yummy turn right on the grounds, with 650 pounds of meat as the main delicacy, will be served from 5:30 to 7:00 p. m., with E. J. Stewart heading up the chuck-wagon corps. Joining Stewart with the cooking chores will be Clyde Grice and his classic cooking unit from Rule and the west side of Haskell County. Contributions of beef for the barbecue from farmers and ranchers still are needed for this county-wide project, Stewart said on Tuesday.

Funds obtained from the afternoon and evening of fun for everyone, which Haskell County hopes to make an annual institution, will be used to support the moving of Haskell's archaic depot and restoring it in the City Park as a museum and tourist attraction. The four classes of Haskell High School will provide plenary-routine personnel to register all participants in Hey-Day who wish to compete for a grand "door prize" to be given away Hey-Day night.

Mrs. Opal Adkins and Mrs. Verna Felker are in charge of procurement of prizes for the multiple competitive events of entertainment which the Jaycees are conducting on Saturday afternoon.

Meanwhile, the hey-day was gathering momentum county-wide for Hey-Day throughout this area.

First Editor of HHS "Thistle" Recalls Halcyon Haskell Days

Two well-known Haskell natives, remembered as the Freeland sisters, Gertrude and Florence, Mrs. John T. Grisamore, of Littlefield, stopped by the newspaper office here for a session of reminiscing. They did not know of the passing of Lon Pate, beloved and respected editor of the Free Press, and were saddened to learn it.

Mrs. Williamson, who has acquired journalistic laurels during a busy life, was first editor of "The Thistle," which was the forerunner of the "Chieftain," as Haskell High School's yearbook in the early twenties. She was the valedictorian of the HHS Class of 1921, and recalls that Frank Kimbrough, former head coach at Hardin-Simmons University and West Texas State College, and athletic director at the latter school, was the business manager of the yearbook when she was editor.

The Haskell visitor said there still probably are quite a number of people in the area who "went to school" to her. She taught at Center Point, Gauntt, Howard, and Miller Creek Schools before the days of consolidation. Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Grisamore reported that their brother, Dorsey Freeland, 58, a bachelor, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident early in June, died in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock on June 18. He was a native of Haskell.

The parents of the visitors, the John Freelands, who lived here from 1905 to 1942, when they moved to Morton, are at Knight's Convalescent Home in Littlefield, and "would love to hear from old friends."

After drinking in the atmosphere of her old home town for a few days, Mrs. Williamson declared, "It wouldn't take much to persuade us to come back to stay."

Rotary Spacemen Challenged To "Orbit" Service

Challenges for the accomplishment of Rotary International's aims and objects in this space age, orbiting on the Rotary ideal of service, were delivered by recording here on Thursday to members of the Rotary Club of Haskell by Carl P. Miller, of Los Angeles, newly chosen president of the international service organization.

Miller said in a speech prepared for delivery to Rotary clubs in 112 countries where the organization is operational over the globe, that Rotary has 595,000 "spacemen" in the persons of its members, with 11,000 "launching sites" wherever Rotary clubs exist from which to orbit and promote one of the service club's principal objects, international understanding.

An inter-district exchange of fellowship between Rotary districts in separate nations is one of the principal objects of President Miller's program for 1962-64. He explained in the recorded speech, declaring that vigorous prosecution of this program among the 272 districts of the world, would do more than anything to foster international understanding.

"Let us have the strength and the courage to work for a world of reason and understanding," Miller concluded. Ira Hester, newly installed president of Haskell Rotary, asked that Miller's appeal be headed at the local level in the work of the service organization here during the forthcoming year.

E. J. Stewart, member of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce new projects committee, urged Rotary's support of Haskell County "Hey-Day" on July 27 through the sale of tickets to a countywide barbecue on that date.

Stamford Rotarians James Waggoner, Hollis Haynes, and K. K. Francis were guests at the meeting.

Visitors From San Diego Mrs. Margaret Gaston, and son of Butch, of San Diego, California, accompanied by Butch's friend, Paul McCullough, also of San Diego, have been visiting Mrs. Gaston's mother-in-law and Butch's grandmother, Mrs. Carroll Thompson, here.

East Side Baptist GA Members Back from Camp

Sixteen members of the Intermediate Girls' Auxiliary of East Side Baptist Church here were among 315 girls at the recent Intermediate G. A. Camp at Lueders for members from Baptist District 17 in the Northwest and North Central Texas area.

Dr. Frank Royal and Mrs. C. J. Humphrey were the inspirational missionary speakers for the four-day camp, and John Paylor, Ed Peoples, Mrs. Jerry Estep and the Rules, of Rule, provided the music.

A riverside program featuring Mrs. Humphrey in a talk on the camp theme, "God's Design for Me," with the speaker discussing the theme as a wife and mother, was the opening activity.

On the night prior to the end of camp, in a most meaningful program, a total of 48 girls dedicated their lives to Christ, with two girls accepting Christ as their Savior. Following these decisions, a gigantic bonfire, in the center of which was a burning cross, formed the backdrop for GA participation in gospel singing, including "The Rugged Cross," and Paylor sang, "How Great Thou Art."

The final day of GA Intermediate Camp was a sunrise service beside a waterfall two miles from the camp site led by Dr. Royal.

Military Invasion At Edwards

Sergeant First Class Glenn Edwards and his wife, Vinnie, and son, Michel, of Fort Rucker, Alabama, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Edwards last week. A grandson, Kenny Edwards, of Live Oak, Calif., also visited here. He is enroute to North Carolina, where he also is in the service. Glenn Edwards will retire in 16 months with 20 years service, and will live in Florida, where he has bought a home.
