But recharging of 1700 evangelist, pastor of the West to 1800 wells serving 800,000 acres of cultivated land in the Brazos Basin in this territory from Munday to Rule through p. m., with a 7 p. m. prayer water tables kept high at this source by construction of this dam, would materially benefit the entire area, it was pointed out

Sams, the Knox City civic leader working for the dam, was expected to present at the Plainview session salient statistics showing the extent of damages resulting from the lack of flood control during the most recent flood Brazos basin and to cite the need for this vital control. At the Plainview meeting, held at the New Congress Inn, Henry Smith, of Weinert, supervisor for the Wichita -Brazos Soil Conservation District, again was scheduled to make a presentation similar to that reported to be most effectively voiced in Waco in behalf of the dam at Rule. This dam, Smith said at Waco, would be the greatest thing that could happen to the landowners." and a concerted effort was made to get a representative group of them to attend the Plainview hearing. The projected site of the dam is the "absolute source" for recharging of the 1700 to 1800 wells, and "to assure their staying recharged, through keeping the Seymour formation recharged would do more for this area, which depends on its agriculture for everything, than building 10 factories around here," Smith emphasized further. Water is found in the area at depths of from 12 to 40 feet, and infrequently as much as 60 feet. Following a detailed dis-cussion of the points to be stressed, County Judge Alvis and other members of the groups directed Porter Oakes to draft a letter setting forth all important facts and arguments in favor of the dam construction for accuracy of record, this letter to be signed by the heads of the county, municipal, and civic agencies, and dispatched to Colonel Koisch for evaluation prior to the Waco hearing. Instead of An Eyesore, Why Not A Museum?

There are some dedicated people in our Chamber of Commerce pounding the pavement right now in behalf of a most worthy project, the widening of Highway 24, the Rule-Throckmorton thoroughfare from city limit to city limit in Haskell.

Like the accomplishment of this effort on Abilene-Wichita Falls artery along Haskell's main stem, the Highway 24 project. when completed, will be appreciated far beyond what can be realized now. The new look and expediency it will bring will be good for Haskell. So we endorse it.

In that connection, there is an eyesore along that route on Highway 24, our depot, that folks with foreisght and "spizzerinctum" like Dr. T. W. Williams have tried for years to heal. No manner of pleading with officials of the Ft. Worth and Denver City Rallroad to do something about it, has secured any action.

We realize that the day of passenger traffic on this line is gone. But there is plenty of freight rolling through Haskell, just plenty of tonnage; enough, we think, to justify a better depoteven a prefab job of some kind, if not much room is needed any more, to replace that ramshackle, weatherbeaten monument to ugliness down by the railroad tracks.

Our, and everybody's friend, along the Denver line, the tremendously popular and personable Wright Armstrong, did try for us on a new depot project, we understand. If you want a truck that does its work without yelling for attention all the time, buy a "new reliable" Chevrolet.

You have to take care of it; it's a machine. But this isn't a full-time activity. The clear idea is that the truck works for you, not vice versa.

The way to build such a truck is to put more quality into it. For example, Chevrolet doesn't build one type of suspension system for all sizes of trucks. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong fort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiff you increase your load and vice versa. Ma Conventional pickups have double-wal o tion in cabs, doors, lower side panels. It insulated. Body floors are select

THERE WE WITH

From the great furniture periods of centuries past, Drexel has created a correlated classic for today! Masterful design has been blended into one magnificent collection for living, dining and bedrooms. While completely classic in form, contemporary function cleverly threads its way through all pieces. All to be found in Triune-the traditional charm of Sheraton, the elegant traces of Empire and the regal look of Regency. Designers Henry and David Warren chose genuine sable mahogany and added accents of walnut burl for unsurpassed beauty. Further touches of charm may be had by electing top insets of Italian marble. You'll treasure Triune for its design excellence and meticulous construction, always yours in furniture by Drexel.

After Cinderpath Records At Relays Retains Renown Haskell High School's cinder path padders, who broke three records and tied one, to take third place and another trophy at the Seymour Relays last weekend, are Brownwoodbound with high hopes of victory in the track meet there Saturday.

In three outings this season, Carlos Berry's speedaters and musclemen have finished second at both Iowa Park and Graham in huge fields, and were third in the 13-team meet on a windy, dusty track at Seymour last Saturday, with a respectable 72 points.

Johnny Kimbrough shattered the discus record ,a feat that is getting to be a habit with him, by hurling the saucer terrific 154' 8". Joe Thigpen would jumped a whoppin' 20 for a record-tying leap into the ether, and the Indian speedsters split the wind in 45.8 in the 440-yard relay run with a team comprised of Brown, Thigpen, Josselet and Perrin to crack another Seymour entry in the books

Wayne Perrin and Sammy Larned added points to the Haskell total with a second and third in the 220 dash.

After Brownwood Saturday, the hustling Indians hit the cinder warpath to Hardin-Simmons University for the big meet there next weekend. After that, the chips will be down for fair at the district meet April 6.
