JETER'S FIRST 1965 FATALITY—

George B. Jeter Dies In Head-On Car-Truck Crash

Funeral services for George Jeter, 59, of Stamford and Jeter Worth, Haskell County's motor vehicle fatality in 1965, were held at 3 p. m. Friday in Holden Chapel. Burial is in Willow Cemetery in Haskell with Holden Funeral Home in charge.

Jeter, widely known operator of two liquor stores in Haskell County and other retail outlets in Fort Worth, was killed instantly in a car-truck head-on collision 8½ miles south of Haskell on U. S. Highway 277 at 7:20 p. m. last Wednesday.

State Highway Patrolman Jesse Priest, of Haskell, who investigated, said, "I have seen accidents involving more vehicles which were worse, but none worse than this one involving two."

The 1965 automobile driven by Jeter headed south when it collided with a loaded Allied in Line tandem truck driven by Robert Schuler, 37, of Detroit, who was not injured, was enroute from Los Angeles to Chicago and Detroit.

Jeter's car was "shredded" by the impact of the crash, and the tandem truck had the tire severed at its end and undercarriage.

The truck came to rest diagonally across the highway, creating a traffic problem for more than an hour on the busy busy one-half mile south of the turnoff from Haskell to Stamford.

Fifteen members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department rushed to the scene to protect against potential fire hazards and to help clear the road of debris.

Mr. Jeter, a native of Haskell County, returned to his home area in July, 1963, to establish two stores, one at the northern edge of Stamford and the other five miles south of Haskell. He had been dividing his time between his business interests here and Fort Worth and maintaining residences in both Stamford and Fort Worth.

INDUSTRY - EXPANSION COULD START AT HOME, SAYS TIC MAN

Instead of looking for a gold mine in the sky, industrially speaking, "do your home work, see if what is already here can expand, and try out the economic values of new ideas originating here," Haskell retailers, farmers, and county government representatives were told here last Wednesday afternoon.

Larry Milner, former manager of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, now North Central Texas field representative of the Texas Industrial Commission, outlined five steps necessary to secure industry at an assembly of interested area citizens in the Community Room of Haskell National Bank here.

"It usually takes five years to land one outside industry. Some 1500 new industries are located each year, but there are 15,000 industrial foundations out trying to land them. The thing for you to do," Milner advised, "is to take stock and try to improve your present status at home."

Even when all the economic factors are present in a town, a potential industrial prospect has been known to reject it because of negative community attitudes, Milner declared, emphasizing the importance of an affirmative community posture.

Abe Turner, Jr., president, and Luther Walker, manager, of the Chamber of Commerce here, announced following the meeting that a "community profile fact sheet" will be prepared for Haskell and forwarded to the Texas Industrial Commission for ready reference by industrial prospects.

The Chamber here also plans an early community survey "to discover our weak and our strong points," Walker reported.

COMMISSIONERS MAKE

Command Decisions'

Haskell County Commissioners Court, in session for the last two days, chose a deputy county general fund, named Perry Motor Company, as a new member to the hospital board, and approved of a tax rate equivalent to that of last year, County Judge James J. Alvis and County Clerk W. V. (Bill) Reeves reported.

Home State Bank of Rochester was named depository for county general funds as well as school funds in Haskell County. Haskell National Bank in Haskell has been the depository for the past year.

Clyde Grice, of Rule, and Beverly O. Roberson, of Rochester, were named by the County Commissioners to the Haskell County Hospital Board for terms of two years each. They both succeed fellow townsmen, A. R. (Pete) Eaton, of Rule, and Pete Turner, of Rochester.

The commissioners gave unanimous approval to a motion to continue the 80-cent general tax rate in the county for an additional year. This rate has prevailed in Haskell County for a number of years, county officials said. In addition, a special 15-cent assessment for the roads and bridges fund also was continued for another year, making the total rate 95 cents per $100 valuation.

Perry Motor Company, of Haskell, was awarded contract for a 2½ ton truck to be put into service by the county taken in trade for a used truck for a net difference of $2862.

Authorization was given for $35,000 to be removed from a $39,000 Countywide Road Bond Series C Fund to be placed in a special account at Home State Bank in Rochester to draw in (Continued on Page 12)

How Important Are Small City Airports?

One of the most comprehensive airport surveys yet made, to determine attitudes of individual communities toward the relationship between community growth and airports has been completed by the Texas State Aeronautics Commission.

Chambers of Commerce or equivalent bodies in 300 Texas cities and towns were polled by the Commission. Almost two-thirds of the communities, 193, responded to the questions.

Answers to six questions revealed that community leaders in Texas believe, almost unanimously, that adequate aircraft landing facilities are essential to their own community's future growth.

One answer sticks in our mind in response to the question, "Just how important is an airport to your community?" The reply was "Based on today's competitive business attitude and the transportation needs, an airport is just as important as a bank, Post Office, or drug store."

Next Wednesday, Feb. 17, a far-sighted group of volunteers will heel-and-toe it through town to subscribe the Chamber of Commerce's commitment for the improvement of Haskell's airport.

It is urgently important that these funds be obtained without delay... and those who contribute will be making a solid investment in Haskell's future.

The recent joint action by the city fathers, and both Chambers of Commerce, with the most commendable assistance of J. H. (Jim) Strain, in recognizing the importance of airport development, was an auspicious beginning.

Let us continue the forward march.

OTHER OFFICERS, 5 NEW DIRECTORS CHOSEN—

Don Muenzler Named To Head Chamber Of Commerce Here

Chamber Group Pounds Concrete For Airport Funds

An airport development committee of eleven from the Haskell Chamber of Commerce "will hit the greenback trail" here at 9 o'clock next Wednesday morning, Feb. 17, seeking $1,000, the amount of the Chamber's current obligation to underwrite improvement of this town's municipal airport.

Thanks to a joint community effort on the part of the City of Haskell, the Haskell Jaycees, the Chamber of Commerce, and one of Haskell's civic-minded citizens, J. H. (Jim) Strain, a healthy start has been made toward development of a first-class airport facility here, Abe Turner, Jr., C of C president, announced.

"Haskell already is benefiting economically from the improvements made," Turner declared, citing increased landings and takeoffs here on a variety of missions since the 2500-foot airstrip here and apron have been paved.

Strain, owner-operator of J. H. Strain and Sons, well-known West Texas road-building contractors, and a resident of Haskell, obtaining materials at "less than cost," and contributing both labor and heavy machinery, macadamized the airport runway about two months ago for a total bill of $4,000.

The City of Haskell contributed $2,000 as its part of the project, and agreed to maintain the airport property. The Jaycees purchased $320 worth of caiche needed, and the Chamber of Commerce agreed to raise $2,000, half of it now and half next February to pay off Strain.

In the group of airport fund raisers canvassing the town on February 17, will be Dr. Frank Cadenhead Jr., Harold Spain, Wallace Cox Jr., Jack McAdoo, Mrs. Opal Adkins, Mrs. Barney Frazier, Don Muenzler, E. J. Stewart, Mayor J. E. Walling Jr., and Desmond Dulaney.

Calling attention to the development and use of the improved airport here, Turner said, "A modern airport is a 'must' in these days of increasing air travel. An industrial prospect, for instance, will not even consider settling in a community which does not have a good airstrip accessible to the town."

Mrs. Roberts, 98, Sister Of R. C., Couch, Sr., Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie Florence Roberts, 98, a former well-known Haskell County resident, and widow of Lee Walton Roberts, one-time prominent rancher in this area who had also served as Sheriff of Lubbock County for many years, were held Saturday in El Paso.

Mrs. Roberts was buried in Evergreen Cemetery in El Paso. She died last Wednesday in El Paso after having lived oldest member of the First there for 50 years. She was the Baptist Church there.

The death of his sister leaves R. C. Couch, Sr., civic leader and longtime Haskell businessman, banker-philanthropist, as the last surviving member of a family of 14.

Mrs. Roberts' husband, the late Lee W. Roberts, in addition to his long tenure as sheriff at Lubbock, held extensive ranch interests in West Texas, in the Haskell areas, and also in Arizona.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Virgil Cowart and Mrs. Leonard Stringer, both of El Paso; three sons, Sterling O. Roberts and D. Oran Roberts, both of El Paso, and L. Bill Roberts, of Sanders, Ariz.; the sole surviving brother, R. C. Couch, Sr., of Haskell; sixteen grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Couch, Sr., and R. C. Couch, Jr., all of Haskell, attended the funeral Saturday in El Paso.

Schools Here To Integrate In Fall

Haskell schools will be integrated in all 12 grades next September, beginning with the 1965-66 school year. J. A. Bynum, president, announced following a meeting of the Board of Education here Tuesday night.

Bynum and Supt. of Schools Hooper T. Wilkinson announced the school board action was taken in accordance with the Health Education and Welfare Regulation 441, Title 6, of the recently enacted federal civil rights legislation.

A group of citizens from Haskell's Negro community was present for the proceedings. Supt. Wilkinson said the integration of schools here next fall will involve attendance of some 90 Negro students in all grades at the Elementary, Junior and High Schools here. The mission can be accomplished without any addition to or adjustment in the present physical plants of schools here, Bynum pointed out.

At present, some 75 Negro students attend school through the first 8 grades at E. B. Evans School here, which will cease operation with the end of the current school year. Eleven Haskell Negroes attend high school at Munday's Dunbar High, there being no Negro high school facility here.

Breakdown of Negro students by grades for the current year in Haskell includes: first, 16; second, 7; third, 10; fourth, 12; fifth, 12; sixth, 10; seventh, 8; eighth, 5; ninth, 6; tenth, 5; eleventh, 0; and twelfth, 2.

Advantages For Adult Education A Junior College Would Provide

In addition to providing instruction in pre-professional or technical education areas for young students, junior colleges provide many distinctive services for adults.

They give Senior Citizens, of whom there are a cherished many in this area, an opportunity to catch up on knowledge which has changed since earlier school days and offer a "second chance" to those who dropped out of school too early.

Adult education programs give citizens opportunities to develop as voters, competent parents, and wise shoppers. Lectures and forums on national and world problems, family relationships, mental health, creative arts, and general cultural subjects are familiar parts of adult education in junior colleges.

Junior college educators stand ready to provide almost any course in which adults in a community show an interest. Short sessions, seminars, institutes, and extension courses train, or re-train, adults in subjects of local concern. For example, farm, area citizens might study irrigation, animal husbandry, crop farming, or maintenance of farm machinery, at a series of short courses. Many industries urge their workers to attend junior colleges to obtain new competencies for future job assignments or promotions.

For many adults, to be able to do something constructive with leisure time, to get together with others of the same age and interests, and to keep abreast of new developments in economy and society are in themselves sufficient reason for continuing education at a junior college.

We, in this area, increasingly cognizant of the urgent economic need for education beyond the high school in this territory, should proceed immediately to meet the requirements for establishment of a joint junior college district. Let's be about it!

"Service Above Self"

Rotarians in Haskell this month are celebrating the 60th anniversary of the founding of the First Rotary Club. It was on February 23, 1905, that Rotary, the granddaddy of all modern service clubs, was started in Chicago by a group of four young men, each from a different business or profession.

"Service Above Self" and "He Profits Most Who Serves Best" are the twin mottoes of Rotary expressing the organization's basic concept of service by every Rotarian in his personal, business and community life. It is this dedication to serving others that is the common denominator for more than 560,000 Rotarians of 11,800 Rotary Clubs in 127 countries.

Down through the decades, six of them, Rotary has stood for fellowship among business and professional men, for high ethical standards in vocations, for the improvement of communities, for aid to the crippled and the needy, and for the advancement of international understanding and friendship as a prerequisite to world peace.

As it enters its seventh decade Rotary is growing as a force in community, business, and world affairs. Certainly, its worldwide scope of interest increases with the opportunities of its business and professional members to become more aware of the hopes and aspirations of one another.

Communities throughout the world are benefitting in many ways from the purposeful activities of their Rotary Clubs, though the work they do is often the behind-the-scenes kind that is done without fanfare.

To Rotarians of this community, belonging to a club now seven and a half years backgrounded in objective activity, we extend congratulations on this 60th anniversary of Rotary.

May it continue to grow so that more men will be imbued with its spirit of service.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri By PORTER

It may be hawg-killin' weather again by the time this gets into print, but right now spring-like zephyrs are in overdrive this early February morn. Valentine's Day is just around the next turn, and Dan Cupid had an arrow inserted in his bow, and is drawin' a bead on everybody in sight.

Amid all this atmosphere smacking (that's a good Valentine word—pucker up!) of romance, this retreated romancer walked into Oates Drug the other evening and was "taken back" about 30 years while being privileged to observe a weighty decision being made. It was Brian Dulaney and a buddy taking stock of the heart-shaped boxes on display. If they study as hard in school as they were on how to make the proper Valentine purchase, they're both headed for Rhodes Scholarships!

The Ol' Pencil Pusher could not help but be envious of their mission in Oates Drug that night... and tried to make a ready calculation of how big a heart-shaped box of chocolates we could have bought with our mission to the drug store... a bottle of Dr. T. W. Williams' special to ward off the walkin' pneumonia. Ah, Youth! In what direction hast thou made thy speedy exit? Dost thou think one might recapture thee even fleetingly... ever again? Youth and heart-shaped candy. Us and pills. Ugh.

Steve Stephens, the grocery tycoon, another victim of erec-pin' death last week, had this observation concerning his plight, and ours: "Give a cold every treatment and cure it in 14 days. Just leave it alone, and 'wear it out.' Then you can get rid of it in two weeks."

While on the subject of our departed youth and infirmities, we should report how flattered we were this week to receive a formal invite to the "Exhausted Rooster Ruckus" up in Lubbock on March 26! Now here's the information in an eggshell:

It's for this exhausted rooster and his cackling hen to preen their feathers and join the "retired" Jaycee flock next month for a real scratching session which is billed to climax with tears and tomato juice!

This scratching session for us exhausted roosters and cackling hens is restricted to those who flapped around the Jaycee barnyard prior to 1955-56, which means, if an exhausted rooster can count, you gotta be in your 48th year of breathing, or upwards, or you ain't eligible to scratch at the ruckus. Because one attains exhausted rooster status in the Jaycees upon attaining his dreaded 36th birthday. He's supposed to have reached maturity by then!

With this category convening, we'd say there's gonna be a "lola-bul" of resin' in between scratchin' around. And that's why we're goin'. We've found our flock!

There's a fellow in this town, the story of whose mundane existence will sell, and big, we'd wager our last sou. There are plenty of folks in Haskell whose life stories would sell—because this town has CHARACTER—LOTS OF 'EM!

But this particular fellow intrigues us. We see him frequently, and on each and every occasion, we sort of, off-handedly, learn another fetchin' and fascinatin' fact about his life.

The personality of whom we speak is Rev. Douglas B. Finch, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Quite a contrast to the "image" most of us have of a man from the "deep South," Doug Finch is not easy-going, or drawling, but a veritable ball of fire and the words he speaks are emitted with the rapidity of a .50 caliber machine gun right on target.

Other Finch traits of being both loquacious and gracious are in the character of a true Southerner, which he is, right out of the heart of Spahthuhuh, South Caroliner, Suh!

This genteel gentleman chose but a few years ago the noble calling to which he has dedicated his life. We don't know all the particulars which prompted his decision. But we have been able to piece together without being too nosy the facts that he was a most prosperous businessman with remunerative interests in several Southern states, that he once owned and ran a newspaper, that he started and operated a photographic studio, that he

This "man of the cloth" in our midst, as devoted to his present challenge in life as any man we've ever known, and as well backgrounded for it, once sang in a dance band, crooned, we guess you'd call it, in our vintage, and once was a professional model posing for female art students in a most reputable college. Can you see Douglas B. Finch as "the Poor Man's Rudy Vallee," or more amazing still, as the "Poor Man's Charles Atlas?"

He has been both. And why? To earn money to keep body and soul together while he obtained an education. Two minutes' conversation with him will convince anyone that he got one.

Yes, Sir, finding the time, we've made a pact with ourself to poke further, he permitting, into the "Life and Times of D. B. Finch." We think posterity deserves the recording of it. But whether we accomplish our mission or not, we predict posterity will hear about this D. B. Finch because he will have made his own mark.

HASKELL RASCAL SHOWS UP TO CHALLENGE A DOUBTING DUDE

Now appears that the Haskell County Varmint, or Thang, a consumer of beef on hoof and traveler of much in, might also be a mental athlete. Either that, or a phone tapper.

At a half hour after a story appeared in the papers last about two experts on West wildlife having widely divergent views about its identity, the Varmint set the argument pronto.

A summation of the story in last Tuesday night's contrasting "images" of Thang, said, "The appropriate thing now, it would seem, is to hear from the Varmint itself on this."

Well-known Munday resident H. H. Partridge, saw what described as a "large cat-animal with a long tail" U. S. Highway 277 from to east at a point 50 yards of 277's intersection with Mattson-Weinert farm-to-st road, three miles south in, about 7 o'clock last ay night. Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett said he given this information at the varmint-sighting early esday by Munday City al Joe Massey, to whom incident was reported.

Garrett quoted Mas saying that the animal, ountain-lion type, brown awny, not spotted, with a ail, and not a bobcat, negotiated the distance the highway, in front of Munday resident's lights, ed into the bar ditch, and the railroad tracks par- out the highway, in nothing ot he got a good look at said the point where the large animal crossed was from "the old Grissom place to property now farmed by Cliff Dunning, and headin' toward Pleasant Valley Cemetery."

"That 30-pound bobcat Dude Gay reported as The Thang could have been one of its kittens," Sheriff Garrett added. Gay, longtime Haskell County hunter, has been a staunch non-believer in the existence of an extraordinarily large animal in this territory.

On the other hand, there are those who have seen, who believe like Varmint Expert Roger F. McIver, of Abilene, the Haskell County Varmint is an "animal of distinction."

So far as some folks around here who have lost valuable livestock to the beef-eater are concerned, they'd just as soon the Thang were an animal of "extinction."

As to umpiring the divergent views, The Varmint Wednesday night probably was loping around muttering, "Doubting Dudes. Hmmpf!"

TAX MAN SAM SEZ

Groundhog day has come and gone, and like most other years, you can guess along with the weatherman, the groundhog, and all his prophets, what the weather is going to be within the next few months. The weather and the atmosphere may get worse and worse if you do not saddle up and ride out on that income tax return. April 15 can easily become the "Ides of April" if you don't pull all your checks and receipts up to a warm table beside the fire and get that tax return in now.

AS PART OF COMMUNITY SERVICE—

PARENTAL ACTION URGED ON TEEN-AGE DRINKING, SPEEDING

Teen-age drinking is too prevalent, as is excessive speeding in automobiles, Haskell Rotarians were advised Thursday in a frank self-appraisal of their achievements and challenges in four realms of service, which are the very marrow of Rotary International's reasons for existence.

In an evaluation of what has been done and what needs to be done in the realm of community service here, Rotarian Alvin Sherman told his fellow citizens, parental responsibility should be exercised more diligently with respect to drinking and speeding by teen-agers.

"Parents all too often do not suspect these conditions, and when they are told, they resent it," he said. "The conditions are not the responsibility of law enforcement agencies, but should be taken care of at home," Sherman declared emphatically.

On the brighter side, the chairman for community service in the Rotary Club of Haskell cited numerous instances of community good being done "without fanfare or recognition" by many individual members of Rotary here. He cited, in particular, the development of parks here, elimination of blind corners at street intersections, and voluntary cleanup of cemetery lots as recent community projects accomplished by Rotarians.

As a challenge, Sherman called attention to the prediction that 300 farmers will move from this area in 1965 in continuing a trend of dwindling rural population. "We need to make our town good enough through community service to keep those farmers in this territory," he pointed out.

Robert Wheatley, vocational service chairman, reminded that the idea of service to one's fellow man "through thoughtfulness and helpfulness to all," must "begin in the head before it goes to the hands, feet, or tongue." One of the basic requirements of vocational service is mutual trust among businessmen, he said.

Emmett Russell, international service chairman, declared that his realm of endeavor "with the most important of all, world peace," has so many interconnections in Rotary service above self-interest that the world if practiced by," he concluded.

H. V. Woodard, president, was the program man. Roy Johnson was in charge.

Corvair by Chevrolet

The beauty of it, of course, goes deeper than the things you don't get. There's the other side of the coin—what you do get in their place.

Take the no window post, for example. What you do get is hardtop styling—with curved frameless side windows—in every Corvair closed model.

The transmission and driveline hump you don't get means more foot room. Thanks to Corvair's rear engine, the floor is practically flat.

No radiator—the engine's air-cooled—also means no water, no antifreeze and no hose leaks to worry about. All of which add up to some more important pluses.

Power steering? Power brakes? Corvair needs them like a centipede needs crutches. With most of the engine weight on the rear wheels, the front ones are free to steer easily. And stops are quick and sure—with no nosediving.

DAVID RATLIFF IS KEY MAN IN FUNCTIONING OF STATE SENATE

State Senator David Ratliff, of Stamford, representing the 24th Senatorial District, which includes Haskell County, has been named chairman of the important Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns and vice chairman of the most active Oil and Gas Committee, Lt. Governor Preston Smith has announced.

The Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns in past years has been the clearing house for the second largest number of bills introduced in the Senate. Only the State Affairs Committee, of which Senator Ratliff also is a member, reviews more legislation.

As chairman of this committee, Senator Ratliff, brother of Dennis P. Ratliff, William P. Ratliff, both Haskell attorneys, and Hugh Ratliff, manager of Haskell Clinic, will be an increasingly important person in the eyes of his fellow legislators whose bills concerning local affairs must come before this committee.

Senator Ratliff also will be a key figure in the fate of Senate Bill 2 dealing with compulsory pooling of oil and gas. The bill was introduced by Sen. Gallo.

way Calhoun, Jr., of Tyler, chairman of the Oil and Gas Committee. Sen. Calhoun, as is the custom, will relinquish his chairmanship to the vice chairman, Sen. Ratliff, while the committee debates this vital measure.

In addition, the Senator was appointed to the committees on Banking, Contingent Expense, Insurance, Labor and Management Relations, Water and Conservation, Public Health and Transportation. Sen. Ratliff will also serve on the Committee on Legislative, Congressional, and Judicial Districts, which will be concerned with the controversial question relating to legislative and congressional reapportionment.

Tommy Foster Now Sole Owner Livestock Auction

Tommy Ray Foster, 37-year-old Haskell native cattleman-herder, who built the trim Haskell Livestock Auction ring here in the summer of 1963, then sold it, has repurchased the facility, and will continue to operate it as sole owner, he announced Tuesday.

Bill Lane, co-owner for more than a year with Foster of the well-appointed establishment even-tenths of a mile south of the Haskell city limits on U. S.

Highway 277, has sold his interest to Foster.

The six-acre sale barn, cattle pen and auction ring complex here was opened Saturday, Aug. 17, 1963, by Foster who spent in excess of $50,000 on the project. Since its opening, the Haskell Livestock Auction, establishment of which had a notable assist from the Haskell Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce, has provided an economic stimulus to the community, civic leaders here recalled Tuesday.

Foster, son of Mrs. N. F. Foster and the late Mr. Foster, has been "in the cattle feedlot operation and farming business all my life." He is a graduate of Haskell High School and attended Arlington State College. His wife is the former Kathryn Harrell, of Haskell, and the Fosters have two children, Barbara 15, and Randy 13.

A good buyer-seller-packer following has been present at the regular Saturday afternoon sales here ever since the Haskell Livestock Auction opened 18 months ago.

Merlin, The Man of 1,000 Mysteries, Coming To Haskell Next Week-End

Awe, skepticism, and bewilderment are just some of the thrills in store for those who attend the performance of "Merlin, The Man of 1000 Mysteries." This fascinating figure of the entertainment world is being brought to Haskell by the Haskell Lions Club.

The Merlin Show is a colorful, fast-paced performance, using more than a ton of special equipment and presented by a top-notch entertainer who has amused and befuddled audiences for years by, among other things, reading the minds of people right in their own seats in the audience. If you can concentrate, Merlin claims to be able to read your mind and hypnotize you. It is said that he has often hypnotized individuals with a single glance.

Merlin has made a special study of Oriental Mysteries. The Orient has always been considered the home of the mysterious, the unknown and the uncanny. What is the secret of the fabled Hindu Rope Trick? For more than 400 years, strange tales have been told of the mysterious occurrences from India in which a Hindu Mystic takes a long rope, coils it, and sets it on the ground.

Mrs. Howeth Is Hostess For Meet Of Josselet Club

For the opening exercise, the group sang the club song led by Mrs. T. M. Howeth.

The recreation was led by Mrs. J. P. Perrin.

Delicious refreshments were served to: Mmes. Mildred Robertson, Arlo Ivey, Paul Cothron, J. L. Toliver Sr., B. F. Cobb, J. P. Perrin, T. J. Finley, and the hostess, Mrs. T. M. Howeth.

Progressive Study Accents Better Health Theme

Theme of the semi-weekly meeting of Progressive Study Club here was "What Can I Do For Better Health," and members of the Haskell County Hospital Auxiliary and NIBS (Nurses In Bobby Sox) were guests of honor.

Mrs. Frank Martin, director of the program, reported the manner in which medic-alert bracelets and necklaces are handled. The emblems on these ornaments carry a code number to convey to an attending physician concerning vital information.

Mrs. Byron Frazier, former president of the hospital auxiliary, explained the work of the "pink ladies," an international volunteer organization members of which donate their time and services to patients in hospitals.

During a social hour, club members worked on their Mesquite District federation reports. Hostesses were Mrs. Roy Everett and Mrs. Joe Warren.

lower, and still touching the ground. Then a small boy climbs the rope to the top and disappears. The rope falls limply to the ground. What is the strange secret of this and other mysteries of the Orient? How is it possible for one solid object to pass through another solid object? What is the secret of levitation? Of hypnotism and mind-reading? Many of these secrets have been carefully guarded for hundreds of years. All these and many more are mysteries at which Merlin is a past-master.

Curtain time for Merlin, The Man of 1000 Mysteries, is 8:00 p. m. at the Elementary School Auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights February 19 and 20. Funds made from this project will be used by the Lions Club for community improvement.

Lake Stamford At Lowest Level In Over 4 Years

Lake Stamford now stands at its lowest level since June 30, 1960, according to reports furnished by West Texas Utilities Co.

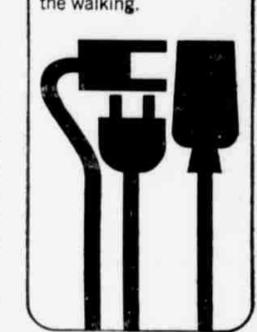

Water level at the power plant on the lake stands at 1,409.73 feet. Spillway level is 1,414 feet. This means the lake is down about four ft., three inches.

The measurement represents a slight drop since a December 30 reading when the lake stood at 1,409.84 feet.

The June 30, 1960, level was 1,408.60, but this situation was remedied the following month when a five-inch rain fell on July 5, sending the water level to 1,413.5.

The lake went over the spillway for the first time on July 10, 1961.

TRINITY LUTHERAN'S ALLEN B. JOHANNES—HOME RENOVATED, POUNDING SET FOR NEW PASTOR, FAMILY

Women of Trinity Lutheran Church here have redecorated and purchased new drapes for the church parsonage and made plans for a get-acquainted party and old-fashioned pounding in anticipation of the arrival of their new pastor and his family this week.

Rev. Allen B. Johannes was expected here Wednesday, having accepted a call to Haskell from St. John's Lutheran Church at Cat Spring, near Bellville.

At a recent meeting the American Lutheran Church Women's group of the church here scheduled the welcoming party and pounding for 6:30 p. m. on Sunday, Feb. 14, in the church annex.

In the same session, Rev. N. C. Renslo, supply pastor for the church here and St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Sagerton, showed slides providing an interesting insight into the lives of Alaskans. The pictures were taken while Rev. and Mrs. Renslo were missionaries recently in Alaska.

Mrs. Annie Kretschmer presented a stimulating Bible study to complete the program agenda. Responsive reading and prayer was directed by Mrs. Ernest Peiser.

ed a call to another church. Young Hibbitts will be in Haskell late Friday, all day Saturday, and Sunday each week. His duties will be to visit members of his church in rest homes and hospital, preach, and have personal visitations with people in the mission area.

If you're going to enter something like the Pure Oil Performance Trials, you might as well do it to win.

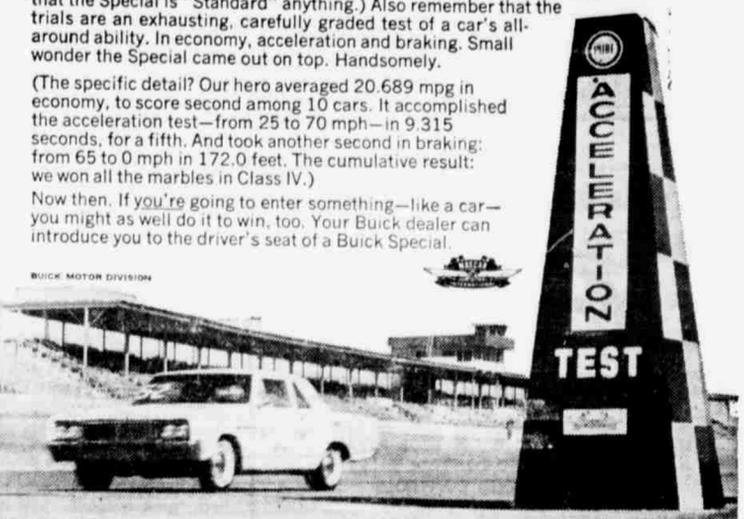

So we did. Class IV—won by Buick Special.

Down at Daytona Beach, we gave everyone another look at Buick's "Win Policy". A V-8 Buick Special won over stiff competition (sorry, boys!) in Class IV—in the 1965 Pure Oil Performance Trials. The winning Special was equipped with our 300 cubic inch Wildcat 310 V-8 and Super Turbine Transmission.

Remember that the drivers in the Performance Trials are skilled professionals, and the cars finely tuned standard production models. (If it can be said that the Special is "Standard" anything.) Also remember that the trials are an exhausting, carefully graded test of a car's all-around ability. In economy, acceleration and braking. Small wonder the Special came out on top. Handsomely.

(The specific detail? Our hero averaged 20.689 mpg in economy, to score second among 10 cars. It accomplished the acceleration test—from 25 to 70 mph—in 9.315 seconds, for a fifth. And took another second in braking: from 65 to 0 mph in 172.0 feet. The cumulative result: we won all the marbles in Class IV.)

Now then, if you're going to enter something—like a car—you might as well do it to win, too. Your Buick dealer can introduce you to the driver's seat of a Buick Special.

Tourist trade is getting to be "big business" in Texas. Many Texas towns are attempting to bring industry into their areas... and that is fine, but far too many towns and cities are overlooking the tourist trade.

Natural recreational areas of Texas have been greatly augmented in recent years by man-made lakes and a number of public and private facilities. Noteworthy also is the marking of historical landmarks. Recreational facilities attract 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 out-of-state visitors in Texas each year.

In 1962, Texas Highway Department estimated that 9,600,000 tourists visited Texas... spending $471,000,000.

As a vacation land, Texas offers endless variety, ranging from mile-high mountains, breath-taking canyons and sp...

scious plateaus, to sailing and swimming in salt water, canoeing on a pipe-bordered lake, historical museums in the heart of a city of more than a million inhabitants, and shadowy caverns.

So, when you are planning that vacation for this summer why not resolve to see "Texas First." Most of us when dreaming, thinking or planning that long-awaited vacation... seem to get the idea that for a sure-enough vacation we must pack-up the jalopy and head for Colorado, California, New Mexico, etc... but the Lone Star State has as much, or even more to offer the vacationist, in the way of climate and scenery, too.

In the Trans-Pecos area the Guadalupe, Davis and Chisos mountains are major attractions with these ranges containing the state's principal peaks. Alpine, Marfa and Fort Davis are recreational centers and McDonald Observatory on Mount Locke is popular with visitors, as are the Rim Rock, the canyons of the Rio Grande and nearby streams.

Big Bend National Park, Texas' popular national park, contains 708,000 acres of rugged mountains, canyons and unique flora, fauna and physiography. The park may be reached by State Highway 51 south from Marathon, and State Highway 118 from Alpine.

The Big Bend country was as breathtaking in scenic spots to this as anything I saw in Colorado, including Pikes Peak and the drive through the rug...

ged mountains to Cripple Creek and beyond.

Down in the Gulf Coast section, fine beaches stretch along the coast of Texas from its Louisiana border to the Rio Grande boundary with Mexico. This has been a favorite recreational area since the first settlement, because of the mild climate, prevailing breezes, suitability for aquatic sports and variety of fish. Also along here are some of the nation's finest bird sanctuaries.

Long, low islands along the Texas coast comprise much of the recreational area. The longest of these is Padre Island.

Pine and hardwood trees, numerous lakes, fishing and hunting and nearness to population centers makes the East Texas Forests region popular for recreation. It contains four national forests and the "Lost Pines of Texas," some 40,000 acres of pines approximately 90 miles from other pines. Bastrop and Buescher State Parks are located among these pines.

Hundreds of springs, rugged hills, abundant game, clear streams and other attractions have made the "Hill Country," of Southwest Texas a popular vacation land. There are numerous dude ranches and excellent tourist facilities, contrasting with portions that seem almost untouched by civilization. The valleys and canyons of the Colorado, San Marcos, Nueces, Frio, Sabinal, Llano, Guadalupe, Pedernales, Medina and other rivers and creeks include most of the major centers. Numerous caves are another attraction. Garner State Park on US 83 is perhaps one of the most-visited recreational areas, but there are numerous others. This is Texas' most popular area for hunting deer and turkeys.

Texas' attractions for vacationists and weekend visitors are by no means limited to the areas mentioned above. For instance the semi-tropical climate of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the foreign atmosphere of the twin-cities along the Rio Grande, where Mexico and the United States meet... Guadalupe-El Capitan Peaks near the New Mexico boundary... rugged Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo... Monahans' sand dunes and many others provide a wide variety of interests.

All of Texas' major cities have parks, museums, zoos and other centers of historical, scenic and recreational interests. The State Fair of Texas grounds, open throughout the year, and the Hall of State there have a special interest for vacationers.

Six trails of adventure await the visitor to SIX FLAGS Over Texas, each laid-out to provide wholesome fun and enjoyment for every member of the family.

Lions Club Hears Baird's Bakery General Manager

"Far too many people, in this day and age, are looking for something for nothing," Odie Clark, General Manager of Baird's Bakery, Abilene, told members of the Haskell Lions Club, at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting.

Dr. Ray Nobles, pastor of the First Baptist Church was program chairman for the day and introduced the guest speaker.

"Americans came from a hardy stock, and we should always remember that hard work and determination of our forefathers made this country great," Mr. Clark said.

"What's happening to us as Americans? Greed, graft, rot and corruption are eating at the very heart of our country, and we as citizens and Americans should take an inside look at what is happening," Clark pointed out.

"We know that rot, decay, graft, greed and corruption destroyed the once great Roman Empire, and the people of the 'Deer Country,' and it can destroy this great land of America, if we do not wake-up to this fact," the guest speaker emphasized.

"In this highly mechanized world of ours, many of our skills, hard work and determination are being lost," Mr. Clark concluded.

Ronnie Malone and Luther Walker were introduced as new members at the Tuesday session.

Other guests noted, other than the guest speaker, were Jack Medford and Carol Tolliver.

Vice-President Jim Sampson, presiding in the absence of "Prexy" Frank Martin, urged members to complete ticket sales for the "Merlin the Great" magician show which will be held Friday and Saturday nights, Feb. 19, 20, at the Elementary school auditorium.

377 Receive Dosage Sunday Polio Vaccine Program Finished In The County

Haskell Jaycees, cooperating with Haskell County health officials, completed an anti-polio program begun two years ago by distribution Sunday afternoon of 377 booster doses of trivalent vaccine at four stations in the county.

Jesse Priest, president, and James Franklin, coordinator of the project, joined Dr. T. W. Williams, Haskell County health physician, in expressing their gratitude for the "splendid participation" of citizens in the vaccine program, begun in January, 1963.

Sunday's 2-in-1 dosage distribution included: Haskell County Courthouse, 149; Rule School lunchroom, 65; Rochester School lunchroom, 93; and O'Brien School lunchroom, 70. It was planned to open a fifth station at Weinert from 1 to 4 p. m. Sunday, but residents there already had previously participated en masse, eliminating the need, Jaycee officials said.

Handling distribution of the oral vaccine Sunday under the supervision of Dr. Williams and Mrs. W. P. Trice, county health nurse, were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jack Ray, in Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. Ben McGee and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hadaway in Rule; Mr. and Mrs. Alton Peiser in Rochester; and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Priest in O'Brien. All are Haskell Jaycees and Jaycee wives.

For those who were out of town or for other reasons missed their oral polio booster vaccine, the trivalent dosage may be obtained at the Haskell County Hospital, Franklin announced Monday.
