NUMBER 33

LET'S BACK THE C OF C

Haskell is just as good a town as the people make it.

It is our town . . . the individuals, the employe . . . as well as those who operate places of businesses.

Next Tuesday, August 18, at 8:00 p. m., members of the C of C, prospective members . . . and in fact, anyone interested in Haskell, are invited to attend a meeting in the Community room, Haskell National Bank.

The Tuesday meeting will be for the purpose of mapping the membership drive. At the Town Hall meeting last week, "the ball was started rolling" in the community-wide gathering to keep Haskell on the move.

No one wants to reside in a community on the decline . . . each of us has to be a part of the progress parade. It's up to Haskellites (all of us) to keep Haskell progressive.

Join your C of C today . . . for a more progressive Haskell tomorrow!

Don Muenzler, Haskell businessman, second from right, headed a chamber committee recommending expansion of the budget. ### Paulette Allen Again Winner

Paulette Allen, a senior at Hardin-Simmons University, of Abilene, is again "hitting the winning circuit."

Crowds estimated at upwards of 1,000 milled and mopped the "common" that was Rice Springs Park here Saturday afternoon and night in observance of Haskell County's second annual Hey Day.

Over the event-full entertainment agenda, which began at 2 p. m., reigned Hey Day Queen Suzy Redwine, of Haskell, and her two ladies-in-waiting, Virginia Westbrook, of Rule, and Wanda Nixon, of Haskell. Sharing the spotlight with this lovely trio was Mrs. Tommy Matthews, who earned the unique title of "Queen of Yesteryear" through her selection from among 14 entries wearing vintage 1890-1915 dresses Thursday night.

Queen Suzy and her attendants were chosen from 70 contestants at the Hey Day Beauty Pageant Thursday night.

There were 16 entrants in the Senior Citizens' Fiddle Frolic, which had top billing on the second annual Haskell County Hey Day entertainment agenda in American Legion Hall Saturday afternoon.

Winner of a $25 cash prize for best fiddler was Elmer Glenn, of Throckmorton. Second honors went to Sam Highsmith, of Chillicothe. Dave Buckhalter, of Throckmorton, was third and Ed Lewis, of Memphis, finished fourth.

J. H. Deatherage, of Abilene, had the most seniority among fiddler contestants. He is 85.

Climax of the high-gear Hey Day was a historic, fandangly-type tableau, script for which was written by Mrs. Frank Cadenhead, Jr., with narration by Tom Barfield.

The "railroad" exhibit was well attended.

Mrs. Tom Barfield and Dr. Frank Cadenhead, Jr., were the co-general chairmen of the multi-faceted series of events here. Haskell Jaycees under direction of Vice President Bill Tomlinson staged a scintillating carnival, while E. J. Stewart, Clyde Grice, Chef John Williams, and the Rule Chuck Wagon Gang, served up a sumptuous meal of "varmint steaks" between 5:30 and 7:30 p. m.

She is flanked by her ladies-in-waiting chosen in the preliminary round: Virginia Westbrook, 17, of Rule, right, and Wanda Nixon, 17, of Haskell, left. In the background is Haskell Mayor J. E. Walling Jr., who crowned Queen Redwine. The Hey Day is the most anticipated event of the year in Haskell and the surrounding area. Suzy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Redwine, of Haskell, and her ladies were presented at the climax event of Hey Day Saturday, August 14, in the amphitheater of Rice Springs.

Duncan Gins 1st Bale of Cotton For Gene Fischer

Gene Fischer, who lives 14 miles southwest of Haskell, brought in Haskell County's first bale of cotton to the Duncan Gin here at 2 p. m. Thursday.

Weighing 460 pounds when baled from 2120 pounds of seed cotton, the crop was grown on about 19 acres of dry land 7 1/2 miles southeast of here. Fischer rents from Henry Thane, another Haskell County farmer.

Leo Duncan, owner-operator of the gin which baled the cotton, said it returned 850 pounds of seed.

Fischer said he planted the cotton on April 9, and "it didn't have but one good rain, about six inches, since." That was in mid-June. The cotton began opening about two weeks ago, he reported.

The young farmer 28, is now in his third year of farming on his own.

Frank Martin, Haskell County agent, said the first bale in this area is "about two weeks ahead of time. It'll be coming in hotter and faster doesn't ever has if something doesn't happen," Martin added, meaning if rain doesn't come soon.

The last general rain in Haskell County was June 13, the last day of a three-day "spell" during which 3.75 inches was officially reported here at the weather station. Weatherman Sam Herren reported.

A Dangerous, Blind Gamble

There are startling facts to back up the frequent warnings to drivers not to pick up hitchhikers, a leading motoring magazine reports.

In New Jersey, state troopers checked turnpike hitchhikers and discovered 182 runaways, 93 servicemen absent without leave, seven inmates fleeing mental institutions, and five escaped convicts. The fingerprints of 500 others were on criminal records. Of course, there were some deserving people "thumbing" on the highways, but the percentage of those of questionable reputation was alarmingly high.

Other documentaries of the dangers of offering rides to strangers recently have been compiled.

Out of 100 hitchhikers passing through a small Arizona town, laymen discovered that 84 had criminal records and 12 others were juvenile runaways. Only four of the 100 were without police records.

Can you pick out a reputable and harmless hitchhiker? Many people think so—and guess wrong. Five members of one family picked up a young man who murdered them and stole their car. Incidents such as this occur all too frequently.

Many states prohibit hitchhiking, but the laws are not rigidly enforced. Despite warnings against picking up hitchhikers, motorists continue to invite strangers into their cars.

Motors who pick up hitchhikers face another hazard. A hitchhiker may sue the driver after an accident. In 20 states and the District of Columbia, the law provides that an auto owner is liable to his "guest" in case of injury through "ordinary negligence."

"There are still some drivers who feel guilty when they turn down a "thumb bum" on the highway, yet there is no reason to feel any obligation toward these moochers. You wouldn't open your home to them; why admit them to your car?" asks Col. G. R. Carrel, chief of the Colorado State Patrol.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, puts it even more aptly: "Offering a ride to a stranger, like passing on a hill of curve, is a dangerous, blind gamble."

In neither case can the motorist foresee what is ahead.

It's The Driver Who Counts

Law enforcement officials, editors and any of the public concerned with the appalling toll of traffic accidents feel a common futility about how to cope with the problem.

There are many causes and various remedies which have been advanced by experts.

But a Dallas citizen, in a letter to a newspaper in that city, speaks more truth in blunt language than all of the learned dissertations on the subject we have seen.

Speaking of drivers' tests, the Dallas man wrote:

"Wrecks are not caused by people who do not know how to drive. Most of them are caused by the idiot who doesn't care. Grounding the habitual lawbreaker is more important than drivers' tests."

Drivers' tests are essential, and serve a good purpose, but they alone do not guarantee traffic safety.

The intent of the driver behind the wheel, toward law enforcement and toward the rights of others, unquestionably is the greatest factor bearing on traffic safety.

Texas' toll of accidents and deaths is increasing and unless the trend is reversed, and it seems unlikely, this will wind up a grisly year indeed.

This problem deserves the most careful attention of the 59th Texas Legislature which will convene next January. Every cause and every measure relating to improving traffic safety should be considered.

If the laws need to be stricter on a revocation of licenses of incorrigible drivers, it should be done.

Let us hope that the legislature does not become so burdened and preoccupied with the problems of congressional redistricting, legislative redistricting, teachers' salaries and higher education, that the crisis on our streets and highways is slighted.

We really shouldn't be making this little contribution this week, because we won't be here to defend ourselves when it comes out. However, we are afraid NOT to turn in our column. In that way, our readers, if any, will not know what they're not missing. Now if we don't turn in a column, and no one misses it anyway, which probably would be the case, we might fall into the habit of not writing a column which no one would miss . . . then our days as a column writer would be over. Understand? So, here goes:

Every year about this time, our Uncle Sam honors us with a cordial "greeting" concerning the potential utilization of our retreated services . . . and this unerringly seems to also herald a period of unrest and seemingly imminent conflagration on the world horizon.

Year before last, as we donned the khaki, it was Cuba. Last year, likewise, this year, it's Viet Nam.

To paraphrase an expression, it makes an ol' beat-up Reservist have a feelin' akin to that of the Devil drinkin' holy water. . . nervous in the service, that is. . . wonderin' who is going to do what to whom . . . and when!

Last Wednesday, the combination of a 109-degree afternoon, plus the fact that the paper was bulkier than usual, resulted in a profusion of perspiration pumpin' out of Porter, The Toter, as he carried bundles of the Free Press from our sanctum to the United States Post Office, which is the best kind.

As a consequence, the drip-pipin' from this honest toil fell frequently and landed on Page One of last week's edition of the Free Press. Just as though we had gauged it with a Norden bomb-sight, each "drip" fell kerplunk on the contagious countenance of one Rogers Durham, our departing Christian minister.

Just in case it showed, we wanted you to know Rogers does regret leaving his many friends in Haskell, but that wasn't he cryin' right out in the newspaper. That was us . . . sweatin'!

***

Did you see the sign up near Munday which said: "Yellow Clang Peaches?" Bet that one rang a bell. Wonder if the Thang eats them Yeller Clangs.

***

Every once in a while, our sense of humor gets a little distorted, we fear. But, with the reputation Reno, in particular, and Nevada, in general, have for the termination of marital bliss and the risk of the filthy lucre, we always get a charge out of being reminded that the Air Force, our own alma mater, by the way, to keep things in focus, has a "Survival and Special Training" School out there in the Reno environs. Makes us wonder if the "survival" refers to the rigors of broken marriages or the survival of the one about to break up . . . and if "special training" means at the gaming tables!

***

Of course, we know it's not, but keeping in mind the things for which Reno and Nevada are best known, are we way out of bounds when we laugh to read in press releases that the student at the AF school there "seems to survive under adverse climatic conditions and hostile environments?"

J. C. Yeary Cites Productive Work Of Great Plains Soil Program Here

Haskell County is in the middle of things, literally, with reference to its participation in the Great Plains Conservation Program.

J. C. Yeary, of Haskell, work unit conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, reported Friday that this county has 61 active Great Plains contracts. More than 60,000 acres of land is involved. Federal government cost shares in the amount of $182,744.53, have been obligated to the producers for the installation of soil conservation practices in Haskell County.

Since its beginning in 1957, the Great Plains Conservation Program in this county has assisted five producers in establishing and stabilizing conservation on their farms and ranches. These five contracts have been carried to completion, and have expired. More than $18,000 of federal government cost shares were paid to these producers to establish the needed conservation practices on their farms and ranches. These practices were needed to stabilize, improve, and put the unit in "top" condition to meet the needs of the land and the desires of the producer, according to Yeary.

Brooke Early was one of the first GPCT producers in Haskell County. He is a staunch supporter of the program. He served many years as Supervisor on the board of the Callifornia Creek Soil Conservation District. His ranch is located in the southeast section of the county.

W. E. (Bill) Lawson, former county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, now lives in Temple serving his Agency on the state level. His ranch is located just west of Early's ranch Lawson, commenting on the program at the end of his contract's expiration, said, "Due to effective measures of brush control and deferred grazing planned and applied as a result of the GPCT contract, the native grasses have been given an opportunity to make needed improvement in vigor and ground cover."

W. B. Griffith and S. C. Griffith, also early participants in the Great Plains program, farm adjoining farms in the Paint Creek community. Brush control and range seeding were major items planned and applied in their program. Both farmers are doing an excellent job of maintaining the work applied on their farms, Yeary reports.

L. W. Norman, whose farm is located west of Rule on the Brazos River, has been able to expand his operations and has changed from general farming to livestock raising. Norman said when his contract expired, "The most outstanding conservation achievement obtained as the result of my GPCT contract is the improvement of soil conditions due to a sound cropping system. Brush control and reseeding a badly run down pasture resulted in a good pasture capable of carrying a full load."

Existing contracts in the Great Plains Program are being administered by four SCS work units. Allen Davis, of Rule, whose farm is located west of the Brazos River, is serviced by the Aspermont work unit. Vernon Lovvorn, J. M. Ashcroft, and H. G. Andrews, Jr., of Stamford, Damron Brothers, of Lueders, and N. L. E. Davis and Son of Throckmorton, are serviced by the Stamford work unit. All other contracts are serviced by the Haskell and Knox City work units.

Cost share assistance is offered by the Great Plains Conservation Program for the initial establishment of permanent vegetative cover, Yeary points out, and for improvement of vegetative cover on rangeland, initial establishment of permanent grassed waterways, new terraces, erosion control and sediment detention dams, land levelling, brush control, fencing for the protection of seeded areas, and many other productive measures. Cost shares range from 50 to 80 per cent of the county average costs, Yeary declared.

The work unit supervisor here says the GPCT contracts are prepared to fit individual needs, and that contracts must be not less than 3, nor more than 10, years, depending on the amount of work to be done.

FARMERS desiring to use this material or those who will use it prior to August 21 should realize that they are doing so without official approval and that they should be extremely careful to follow the instructions on the label exactly. Excessive applications in order to speed up defoliation is not recommended. Neither should the desiccant be applied before at least 75% of the cotton is open. This will eliminate any possibility of excessive residues in the cotton seed and cotton seed products.

Please caution growers not to exceed the 1 1/2 quarts per acre. Continue to advise growers not to "hurry-up" desiccation by using higher rates.

Defoliants: There will be no change in the chemicals used as true defoliants to prepare cotton for machine picking in 1964 from those used last year. Therefore, the same information given in the 1963 leaflet L-145, "Cotton Defoliation Guide for Texas," will apply for 1964 with regard to true defoliants for spindle picking.

MORE VOCATIONAL COURSES MAY CURB SCHOOL DROPOUTS

High school dropouts cited as the main reason for the rising tide of juvenile delinquency, can be best curtailed through expanding curriculum in schools to include vocational education in order to create more interest, an outstanding Stamford High School student told a Rotary Club audience in Haskell Thursday.

James Herman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Herman, of Stamford, who attended the recent Attorney General's Youth Conference on Juvenile Delinquency, host for which was Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr, in Austin, said this was the decision arrived at in the conference in which 1600 Texas youths from communities large and small participated.

Young Herman, president-elect of the Stamford chapter, National Honor Society, with a 95.01 grade average, member of the Stamford Bulldogs' football team, and a Student Council member, told Rotarians and guests here Attorney General Carr called the conference to learn from youth themselves what might be done to curb delinquency.

After hearing reports from FBI men, Col. Robert Garrison, chief in the Texas Highway Patrol and other authorities in the field of law enforcement, the youths split themselves into groups of 30 each for six two-hour seminars and panel discussions on subjects pertinent to the problem. These included "spare time recreation projects."

Out of the panel discussions and the challenge to action issued by the adult leaders in Austin came a desire on the part of many delegates present to form "Youth Councils" to cope with problems in their own communities, the Stamford high school senior told his listeners.

Incentive created at the conference kindled interest in a projected Jones County Youth Council comprised of young people from Stamford, Hamlin and Anson which young Herman is helping to organize.

Development of an interest in learning a trade through vocational education and impressing upon young people the increase possible in their income potential through the years if they are high school graduates, will be two of the prime aims and objects of such a youth council in the local community, the speaker said. Distributive education also is a subject of prime interest to young people, he added.

The Stamford youth vividly recalled the appearance of four inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections at the Austin conference. The prison sentences being served by the quartet totaled 625 years, he said, and their descriptions of their own delinquencies "gave a touch of reality to the entire subject and inspired all of us to want to act to stem the tide of delinquency."

He praised the program of the Stamford Youth Center and the Haskell summer recreation program, recommending in conclusion that Haskell send a delegate or delegates to future conferences called by the Attorney General in order to bring the information obtained there home in a very real and meaningful way.

Guests at the Rotary meeting here over which Vice President Howard V. Woodard presided, included Rotarian B. Q. Cooper, Stamford Chief of Police Dr. T. W. Williams and Jimmy Byrnum, both of Haskell.

Rotarian Tom Barfield was program chairman of the day.

Pippins On TV National Net 11 a. m. Thursday

Mrs. Jack Pippin, of Haskell, her mother, Mrs. Carrie Williams, and the three Pippin children, Lee 12, Karen 10, and Jim 7, currently on a West Coast tour, are laying claim to "celebrity" status, according to reports received back in Haskell Friday.

The entire Pippin-Williams entourage appeared on NBC's "Truth or Consequences" television show live in Burbank, Calif. last Monday night, Aug. 3. The same show on which the Haskell group appeared will be shown in this area, including Haskell, at 11:30 a. m., Thursday, August 13.

Seven-year-old Jim and Mrs. Carolyn Pippin actually were the two on the show, with the rest of the family as cheering section, but all can be seen on the film, Mrs. Pippin reports. The Haskellites won several prizes with their effort.

While on the West Coast, the Pippin family group has taken in major league baseball, attended a Rogers and Hammerstein concert in Hollywood Bowl, participated in Art Linkletter's House Party, visited Marmeland Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm.

They went from the Los Angeles area late in the week to San Francisco via Carmel and Monterey and expect to be in the Golden Gate area several more days.

Don Austin, field representative of the Athlete social security district office will visit Haskell on Thursday, Aug. 26. He will be in the Chamber of Commerce office at 10 a. m. Austin states that these field visits are made for the convenience of the residents of this area and that they will receive the same service on claims and other social security matters that they would receive in the Athlete office.

Magic Lily (resurrection lily or Lycoris Squamigeri) attractive amaryllis Halli flowers of pink, on stems straight out of the barren ground (in late July or early August) take well to Haskell soil. Besides the ones Mrs. Cadenhead grew, there was a beautiful display of Magic Lilies at Mrs. Kirby Kirkpatrick's the last week of July. The flowers appeared on about the longest stems I've ever seen.

What a marvel a Magic Lily really is. In early spring, dark green ribbon like foliage appears, before other greenery shows up. Then later on in late May or early June, the foliage dies down, to be followed in July or August by pink amaryllis like blossoms, on strong stems devoid of leaves. It is easy to understand the origin of "Magic Lily." Bulbs can be obtained from a nursery and are perfectly hardy. Planting as soon as the bulbs are on the market is a good policy. Plant in semi-shade, about 4 inches deep for best results.

I visited Mrs. James F. Cadenhead's garden a few days ago. She wanted me to see her Magic Lily in bloom. But the thing that really caught my eye, was her Kudzu vine, twining its tendrils over an old tree in the back yard. Kudzu known botanically as Pueraria Thunbergiana, is a very hardy perennial. The roots penetrate the soil 6 to 8 feet, making it very resistant to a drought. Once planted, with very little care this vine lasts for years.

The large 3 part leaves make a dark green background for the long spikes of purple flowers, followed by hairy seed pods.

Propagation is by seed, cuttings or root division. More people should grow this vine in Mississippi, Kudzu makes a starting picture as it travels up road banks, over trees and through the forest. Cattle graze on the green foliage. Tibonia torch of Mexican sunflowers, planted in my garden in early spring are 3 to 4 ft. tall and literally covered with buds. Several of the brilliant orange red flowers have already given an eye catching display. The plants are holding up well in this heat. I water every 3 or 4 days, giving an equivalent of 1 to 1 1/2 inches of rain each time I soak my bed. Of course, we are fortunate to have such a good well from which to water. With the shadow of war hovering over us, our gardens can be a balm to the soul. For in the enrichment of the "Good Earth" is found the lessening of the tensions.

Be sure to water in the late afternoon or early morning to preserve moisture.

Mrs. C. A. Loughmiller of Wichita, Kansas, visited in Haskell with her many friends and in the home of her sister, Mrs. Othor Meeks last week. While here she renewed her subscription to the Haskell Free Press.

MRS. FAYE DUNNAM

RULE DRILL TEAM LEADERS

On Sunday, August 16, nine Rule girls will be leaving for the cheerleaders and twirlers school at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Rule has been represented many times at the school, but never before have all the leaders and twirlers gone, and for the first time "papa won't have to pay."
Last spring the girls and their mothers got together and decided that they wanted all the girls to go, and at the same time decided that the girls were to earn their own tuition and room and board money for the trip—$14 per girl.

The entire drill team combined in their efforts until they earned the deposit for the nine girls. They baked, cleaned house, baby sat, had an all-day bridge tournament with baby sitters, washed cars, ironed, painted walls and worked lessons, and the mothers and girls had a baseball game. After the entire drill team earned the initial deposit the girls carried on these efforts on an individual basis until they had earned all their money.
Girls attending the school are: Kenny Gayle Ross, head cheerleader; Carol Ginn, Beth Simpson, Patsy Clark and Edith Chambers, cheerleaders; Paula Pinkard, drum major; and majorettes Jana Kile, Virgina Westbrook and Teresa Mahler.

RULE BOY HOSPITALIZED IN BREAK ACCIDENT

Larry Barbee, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barbee, of Rule, suffered severe cuts when he fell through a sliding glass door on Thursday night at the home of an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tooley in Austin.
Larry was visiting in Austin and his parents were to join him there Friday for a family vacation. Larry was hospitalized and surgery performed to repair artery damage. He will remain in the hospital in Austin from 8 to 10 days.
His parents and family left for Austin as soon as they received a call about the accident.

SAME SONG, FOURTH VERSE

Mrs. Alma Allen broke her right arm Sunday morning when she hit it on a chair in the kitchen. A granddaughter, Linda Penman, and grandson, Jackie Whorton, took her to Haskell Hospital where it was put in a cast.

Broken bones, home accidents and freak accidents are not uncommon for Mrs. Allen. Less than two years ago the same arm was broken when she got it in the mixer at school. Last September she fell at home and broke a knee cap and was in a cast and on crutches for several months. Several years ago she fell at school and broke this same leg.

When the days are hot you probably use more electricity

Certainly you do, that's because your air conditioning system is working harder, your refrigerator is working harder and all of your other electric appliances are performing tasks which, without them, you would have to do. Let's face it---there's no substitute for all the comfort and convenience that electricity can give. Besides, the average WTU residential customer is paying an average of 17% less per KWH than in 1953---isn't that a happy thought?

Electricity costs so little you can use lots of it.

Sizzling 112 Is Recorded Here Last Thursday

Haskell recorded an official 112 degrees of temperature on the "sheltered" gauge of U. S. Weatherman Sam Herren at 4 p. m. last Thursday which was the highest reading here since records started being kept eight and a half years ago.

It is believed this mark is the highest since a 116 degree reading was registered 28 years ago in August, 1936.

Thursday was the sixth consecutive day in August Haskell has had 103 or more degrees. It was 102 Tuesday, 109 Wednesday. Thirty out of the last 37 days here have seen the thermometer reach 100 degrees or more. Twenty-four of the 31 days in July were 100 plus. All six thus far in August have been.

A look at the calendar reveals the football season is just around the corner, so let's take a quick run-down over District 5-AA.

Winters, champs last year, return 16 lettermen, with 7 hold-over regulars, enough to assure a swift-striking offense built around Quarterback Danny Aldridge. Looks as if the Blizzards are geared for a winning season of play.

Balinger has 19 lettermen, including 8 offensive and 9 defensive regulars from an 8-2 season last year and should be stronger.

Stamford returns only nine lettermen and one regular, and faces a rebuilding situation, but from past performances over the years they can do it, with all-district Roland Acosta (205), a tackle.

Hamlin has 13 lettermen and 6 returning regulars, and could give other members a run for their money.

Colorado City drops from AAA to AA in classification this year and has 18 returning lettermen including 9 offensive and 8 defensive regulars. They are the best in the district from where I sit.

Anson returns 9 offensive and 6 defensive regulars, and could be among the spoilers in this district.

Haskell, although under a new head coach, and picked by some scribes to finish in the cellar, should give a good account of itself. Ole Prattler ain't a-goin' to sell them short with such standouts as Joe Josselot, Gary Conner, James Ivy and Bill Perry.

It's going to be a tough, rat-race schedule in this little "Southwest Conference" this fall... so fans should go into training now for some thrilling pig-gim review come this fall.

A quick run-down on the Southwest Conference:

Rice Owls: This is Jess Neely's silver anniversary at Rice and feathers are going to fly down Houston way. Look-out for the birds.

Baylor Bears: Look for some wide-open football from John Bridgers, and the forward pass. Bears will have experienced secondary.

Texas: The National Champs will be gunning for a fourth straight Southwest conference title. I don't think they can do it, but better be careful, the Longhorns can "hook" you.

Arkansas: The Porkers are always rugged. It's re-vamping time down in the Ozarks and Frank Broyles is turning to platoons and to the "I" formation. Anything can happen in the Southwest conference—but I don't think this is a Porker year.

SMU: The Ponies have been moving forward under Hayden Fry the past couple of years.

The Mustangs will be bigger, more experienced and out to buck the contenders off the winner's list. Don't sell those Mustangs short... They could go all the way.

Texas Tech: The Red Raiders will fight to the last draw and the last down. They definitely will be better and will upset some apple carts.

The red-shirts from Lubbock need another year or two before being serious contenders for the crown... but I'll be there rootin' for them.

TCU: The Horned Frogs just

Haskell Wins Junior Teenage Tournament

Haskell dropped Floydada, 7-4, to take the District 2 title Saturday night and advanced to the state Texas Junior Teenage League tourney now underway in Brownwood.

Haskell, trailing by one run after the 6th inning, came back in the 7th when Kenny Felker tripled for two runs and scored later off a double by Roberto Alvarez. Haskell netted four runs in that inning, after scoring one in the first and two in the fifth.

Floydada went scoreless for the first three frames but piled up three in the fourth and added its last in the sixth.

Ronnie Hill was the big gun for the losers as he tripled in the fourth to send in two runs.

The Haskell Warriors played in the Western Cottonbelt League and went undefeated in a 12-game schedule giving them the right to represent the league in the District Six Tournament here last week.

The Warriors picked-up Ray Herren and Johnny Josselot for pitchers and topped Hamlin and Floydada to win District 6 title, advancing to the State Tournaments in Brownwood.

Kenneth Felker is manager and T. C. Paterson assistant manager of the Mighty Warriors.

don't seem to have it this year, but with a coach like ole Abe Martin they could rise up and clobber the daylighters out of some of the best in the conference.

A&M: The Aggies will come out of the huddle fighting mad; will give out with all their efforts and the '64 Aggies will be 3-deep. Coach Hank Foldberg, when the going gets rough, can get it out of his boys... if you remember the Texas U. and A&M clash last Turkey Day. This could be the year of decision for the Aggies.

How can a bad speller look up a word in the dictionary if he doesn't know how to spell it properly?

Well, here is good news for bad spellers... The problem has been solved. The Insider's Newsletter reports, thanks to a new volume called "The Awful Spellers Dictionary."

Published in England by the Wore Publishing Co., the dictionary can be used by even the feeblest spellers.

The way it works: If someone thinks the word "phenomenal" is spelled with an "f" he can look it up that way, and find it spelled "fenominal." Next to it will be the correct spelling.

This dictionary should have wide distribution in this country.

From one extreme to another: The new "bald look" created by a Paris designer has been launched for women... no hair at all is the latest Paris style for the ladies.

Boone has served as advisor to Haskell Troop 36, Paint Creek Troop 48, and troops at Rule and Weinert, and directed other scouting activities in this area since April, 1961. He came to this territory from Stillwater, Oklahoma, where he was a district scout executive.

He has served as Order of the Arrow and Explorer advisor for the Chisholm Trail Council and program director at Camp Tonkawa in addition to being District Scout Executive.

A replacement for Boone is expected to be announced soon by Nib Shaw, council president.

Troy Boone, Area Scout Executive, Takes New Post

Troy Boone, district Boy Scout executive for the Chisholm Trail Council in this area, has submitted his resignation effective August 31, to take a similar post in San Antonio on Sept. 1, he announced Thursday.

VISIT MOTHER

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Firestone and daughter, Linda Gayle, of Glen Rose, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Eva Pearsey.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks to you good people of Haskell that were so nice to me during my stay in the hospital. I enjoyed your cards, letters and beautiful flowers; they meant so much to me. While hospitalized I found Mrs. Quittman Gentry (that lived across the street from us 30 years ago in Haskell) had a room next to mine. We laughed and talked of the years gone by when we lived in the "Ole Home Town." 'Tis a small world after all. Mrs. R. C. Lowe 33p
