HERE 76 YEARS—
Theodore Jones, Who Came Here In 1888, Dies at 93

Theodore Jones, 93, a living landmark of Haskell County, who is credited with many contributions to the development of this area, died at his home, 1103 North Avenue K here, at 1:00 a. m. Friday. He had been in ill health for five years.

Mr. Jones was a subscriber to the Haskell Free Press more than 70 years of the 78-plus years this newspaper has been published. It was through the medium of this newspaper, as well as through personal experience, that he learned of the adversities suffered by his fellowman, to whom he never failed to provide a helping hand. Many, many friends of Theodore Jones have commented during the past few days on the countless contributions he made to the welfare of other people about which very little was generally known.

Mr. Jones, an early day cowboy, was a retired farmer-stockman and former county commissioner who came to Haskell County 76 years ago in 1888, less than three years after the town of Haskell was established. He settled in the northeast section of the county and had farmed and ranched there more than 73 years before moving into Haskell two and a half years ago. He and seven brothers, along with their father, L. S. Jones, all of whom preceded him in death, "cowboyed" together and worked an extensive cattle domain as a family in the northeast quadrant of Haskell County in the early 1900's.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church in Weimert, where Mr. Jones was a longtime member, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Rev. Carter Tucker, former Weimert pastor, now pastor of the Union Baptist Church, Eldorado, Ark., officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Walter Copeland, present pastor of the Weimert church, and by Rev. Charlie Sargent, retired Methodist minister. Burial, with Holden Funeral Home here in charge, was in Johnson Cemetery at Munday.

Born October 6, 1871, in Hunt County, Cornelius Theodore Jones came to Haskell County at the age of 17 with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Jones, and several sisters and sons. (See Theodore Jones, Page 12)

Timetable For Farm Census Is Announced

Timetable for taking the 1964 census of agriculture in Haskell County was announced Tuesday by Elsie M. Dowden, of Throckmorton, newly-appointed census crew leader for this area.

The job will be done in three stages, Mrs. Dowden said. First will come recruitment and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county. About one enumerator for each 150 farms will be needed, and recruits will be currently being recruited here through the Haskell office of the Texas Employment Commission in the Haskell County Courthouse.

Shortly after November 19, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural census questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county. This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law, to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and fill in answers to these questions.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires. At the time of this visit, the enumerators will help farmers and ranchers complete answers to any questions with which they may have had difficulty.

Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in Haskell County on November 23. Enumerators will take about three weeks to complete their work, the crew leader estimates.

"FROM HERE TO HASKELL." Barbara Thomas, foreign exchange student spending her senior year attending Haskell High School, traces the route from her native Itzevoe, Germany, a small city of 40,000, located 40 miles south of Hamburg, in northern West Germany. If Barbara's dreams of a career in the diplomatic service materialize, the "world" pictured here will be her "oyster." She has a healthy start training for that career with a knowledge of five modern languages and basic Latin.

AGAINST BALLINGER THERE TOMORROW NIGHT— Ivy, Josselet, Conner Pace 15 Seniors In Final Fray

Recently-elected Tri-Captains James Ivy, Joe Josselet and Gary Conner, all seniors, will lead 19 Indian teammates, 12 of them also seniors, against the mighty Ballinger Bearcats in the latter's most times-charmed stadium there at 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

The Haskell tri-captains, not officially announced by the HHS coaching corps until now, will be among 15 seniors, comprising more than two-thirds of the Fightin' Indian 1964 ball club, wearing the Back and Gold football uniform for the last time.

Captains Ivy and Josselet are completing three lettering years as Indian gridgers, and Captain Conner is finishing his second year as a letterman.

By the "gentlest" of yardsticks, the Ballinger Bearcats, who whipped Colorado 25 to 7 last Friday night, while the Indians were taking a breather, will be a two-touchdown favorite to win. However, the situation is much the same as it was last year when Haskell rose up to smite down the visitors in a startling upset thriller here last November. And it could happen again.

One of the principal reasons is that in addition to Ivy, Josselet, and Conner, the following valiant, plucky, and courageous (not too much can be said about this never-say-die, thin-ranked bunch of Indians) mainstays of the team will be hanging up their high school football cleats for good in Friday night's fracas and can be depended upon to finish with a vim: Gary Druesedow, Eddie Hester, Monte Frierson, Tony Burson, Dickie Frierson, Tim Burson, Ken Rogers, Darel Anderson, Jimmy Larned, David Wilson, Freddie Kreger and Wendell Coston. (See Ivy, Josselet, Page 12)

WORK ON BLACK TOPPING ALREADY BEGUN— Joint City-Chambers of Commerce Effort Assures Airstrip Project

Haskell's 2500-foot airstrip and apron will be black-topped in a community project jointly undertaken by the City of Haskell and Chambers of Commerce, both Senior and Junior, with a "benevolent assist" from the contractor taking the job, the Strain firm, of Abilene, it was agreed by all parties here Tuesday.

Work on moving caliche, 4000 cubic yards of it to the airstrip, began less than an hour after the Haskell Chamber of Commerce board of directors, at a breakfast meeting, unanimously endorsed a proposal submitted by Abe Turner Jr., Chamber president, who, with Director Harold Spain, had con-

COUNTY LEADS 13TH DISTRICT IN PCT. OF WINNERS' MARGIN

Haskell County Commissioners' Court, in session here Monday, canvassed 3453 votes cast in the November 3 general election and found no appreciable change from the unofficial tabulation in which this county gave the winners in five major races the greatest overall percentage of victory of any in the 19-county 13th Congressional District.

Four County gave Senator Ralph Yarborough a one per cent greater margin of victory than did Haskell, 81 to 80 per cent. Otherwise, this county was exceeded by none in the overwhelmingly smashing defeat administered Republican candidates by victorious Democrats.

Congressman Graham Purcell in defeating his challenger, George Corso, Jr., received 90 per cent of the votes cast in Haskell County, the greatest margin in this race in his entire district. His average percentage win was 75 to 25 for Corso.

President Johnson was given 58 per cent of the Haskell County votes in his election to a full term. The average in the district was 70 per cent for Johnson, and 30 per cent for Goldwater.

In voting 80 per cent for Ralph Yarborough to 20 per cent for George Bush, Haskell County bettered by 17 per cent the 13th Congressional District average of 63 to 37 per cent in this spirited race.

Gov. John Connally topped the list in getting in this county, garnering 91 per cent, one better than Congressman Purcell, in his bid for re-election. The district average was 80 to 20 per cent for his opponent.

Haskell County gave Congressman-at-Large Joe Pool an 89 to 11 per cent cushion in balloting on that race. In the District, the average was 73 per cent for Pool, and 27 per cent for Hayes.

Dr. John Pace, Physician Of Renown, Dies

Funeral services for Dr. John M. Pace, a native of Haskell and a nationally known urologist, who died suddenly Thursday in Rochester, Minn., apparently of a heart attack, were held at 4 p. m. Saturday in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas. Burial was in Dallas. Dr. Pace had gone to Rochester for a regular physical checkup. He was stricken with the attack while preparing to return to his home in Dallas.

A specialist in urology in Dallas for the past 28 years, Dr. Pace was born and reared in Haskell, graduating from high school here in 1922. He was the son of Mrs. John W. Pace, of Haskell, and the late John W. Pace, founder of the first telephone system in this area.

Born in 1904, the widely-known physician and surgeon entered Texas A&M College after graduating from Haskell High School, and later transferred to Baylor University Medical School, from which he graduated with high honors. He served his internship at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, and spent four years on a fellowship at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., in preparation for entering the practice of specialist in urology. Dr. Pace entered private practice as a specialist in Dallas in 1936, and included among his patients were people from throughout the nation.

He is survived by his wife, of Dallas; his mother, of Haskell, and two sons, John M. Jace, Jr., of Chicago; and Charles Pace, of Dallas; and a sister, Mrs. Justin McCarty.

Haskell Jaycees, under the leadership of President Jesse Priest, will underwrite $307 for the cost of caliche taken from the T. C. Walker pit here at 8 cents a cubic yard, and needed to elevate the present airstrip some six inches before it is macadamized. The Jaycees also will assist Chamber of Commerce leaders in the public subscription campaign to obtain their share of the obligation to Strain.

HERBERT RAY
Fred H. (Herb) Ray, Jr., of Haskell, veterans Service Officer for Haskell, Stonewall and Kent Counties, was elected president of the Veterans County Service Officers Association of Texas at its recent convention in San Antonio.

The Haskell native, a past commander of Rogers Cox Post 221, American Legion here, past district sergeant-at-arms in the Legion, and active in Veterans of Foreign Wars affairs in the area, has been veterans service officer for Haskell County since January, 1955, and for Stonewall County since July of the same year. His responsibilities in this Nelson Garen, of Sweetwater, service officer in Nolan County, was elected regional director of the state association at the same meeting.

Ray, as president, appointed Dale Brown, of Brownfield, secretary of the state group for the next year. Brown is service officer for Terry County.

During the next 12 months, the Haskell man will preside over veterans affairs conferences throughout the state and operate regional schools for inservice courses of training for veterans service officers at local, state and national levels.

He will continue to work closely with the Veterans Affairs Commission of Texas in handling statewide matters pertaining to benefits to veterans, their dependents and survivors.

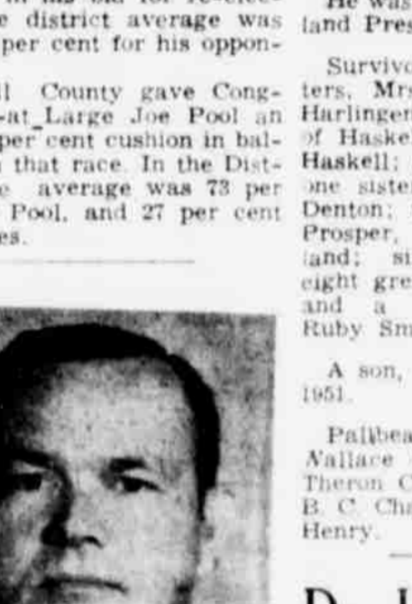

A son, Elmore, died Nov. 8, 1951.

Pallbearers were T. C. Bevel, Wallace Cox Sr., R. A. Lane, Theron Cain, K. H. Thornton, B. C. Chapman and Herman K. Henry.

Bulletins

Haskell United Fund Campaign Chairman Duke Mercer has set a deadline of 5 p. m. tomorrow, Friday, for all canvassers' cards, worked or not worked to be turned. This is a MUST, in order to obtain an up-to-date compilation of drive results and to regroup the "mop-up" effort in the fund-raising campaign in Haskell.

All volunteer workers holding cards should turn them in by the announced deadline WITHOUT FAIL, either to the Chamber of Commerce office, or to Mrs. W. A. Lyles, HUF treasurer, at Lyles' Jewelry store on the east side of the Square.

At last report, United Fund totals were creeping toward the $7,000 mark, and MUCH WORK remains to be done to achieve the $9600 goal. This work cannot be accomplished, United Fund President Allen Rieves and Chairman Mercer point out, unless cards are tabulated, whether worked or unworked, by the 5 p. m. deadline TOMORROW.

Haskell Speers at the stadium in Spur at 7 p. m. tonight in a freshman football game. This game between ninth graders should be worth watching, according to officials of both schools who matched the scrap.

Haskell's hard-working Chamber of Commerce Christmas committee will be crossing thresholds Thursday soliciting contributions to underwrite the cost of the big season-heralding parade and attendant events here on Saturday, Nov. 28. The citizenship is urged to open its heart and pocketbook in support of this worthwhile community project.

W. B. Latham, 63, and Glenn Caddell, 48, both of Weimert, were in Haskell County Hospital late Wednesday with undetermined injuries received when the car in which they sat was struck by another vehicle on the Weimert-Rochester highway about 10 a. m.

We had LBJ AND the Cardinals all the way, and were vociferously outspoken about the chances of both. What a happy harvest!

Right now, in the eyes of the Republicans and Yankee fans, would be a time to say, humbly, "How lucky can we get?" But, r-e-a-l-l-y, the element of luck never entered into our sure bets. Both LBJ and the St. Louis Cardinals are indestructible (that's a GOOD word—too long to fit into a headline) types. Neither flood, nor famine, nor pestilence, could ever deter them. If they can defy pestilence, what matter 22 million Republicans and 20 or so Yankees?

Elsewhere in this newspaper is a report about a Rotary meeting that personally kicked us in the heart last Thursday. You'll pardon our lack of humility, but only once in a lifetime is a misshapen monstrosity of an over-weight in-grade (should be a Brigadier General) and fast waning newspaperman the subject, and object, of jiltin' lyrics by winsome warblers. Such was our experience last Thursday, and we're still blushing flabbergasted by the attentive courtesies of the Pulchritudinous Nine Teens.

Only thing to approximate the magnitude of their performance, which ran the gamut from hilarious hijinks with yours truly in the trough, to refreshing changes of song pace by the numbers, was the comment by the Autocrat of the Luncheon Table, Bob (Rapid Robert) Herren, who said: "It is no secret that they'd draw a crowd of YOUNG men anywhere they went. But to turn out a 100 per cent attendance (true, again by the numbers!) of us OLD men, at Rotary, a most infrequent occurrence, that's sheer femininity!" From this corner... Amen!

On a recent Saturday to see their professional football star son-in-law, Ernie Parks, gleam as one of the brightest in the constellation when his San Diego Chargers engaged the Houston Oilers in mortal combat, tempered somewhat by what used to be known as moleskins and, oh yes, some men in striped shirts doing frequent cadence-counting exercises solo and throwing little red bits of cloth in the air a la confetti time.

They report that a crucial point in the ball game, when a certain key man was evicted from the playing field after a judgment was made concerning his conduct in the atrocious fracas, just then a plane cut diagonally across the stadium pulling a streamer which said, "In Your Heart, You Know He's Right!"

By the way, we're told Ernie Parks is known as a "Beautiful Brute."

Two more election incidents, and we promise to pack 'em away into our 1964 Book of Memories: A Negro with a determination to vote entered one of the Courthouse polling places here last Tuesday, and struggled with a ballot for some minutes before he was asked by the judge if he needed help. "Yes-suh," he declared decisively. "I jes' wants to vote for Mistah Johnson and Mistah Garrett."

Also, we understand two enterprising teen-agers here were employed to distribute Democratic campaign literature in the strategic days just prior to election. After finishing a most commendable job, one of the youths reported to his part-time employer and asked for his check. Later, he was asked by his Dad "why the rush on getting paid for the job?"

His reply was, "Well, Dad, Goldwater might win."

Heard Roundin' the Square: "Did you know that you and Red China have a lot in common?"

We understand that Joanie Frazier Mathis has started an employment affiliation with two friends of ours, Mrs. Koeh and Ed Eakin at the Quannah TRIBE-CHIEF, the newspaper in the town where Joanie and Hugh live. All we gotta say is that THE CHIEF has one of the prettiest little Indians we ever met. Joanie ought to be a loyal worker for the CHIEF. She is checked out thoroughly as one of the most loyal to the TRIBE "what am'."

Reckon most everyone is tired of hearin' about the back-lash and front-lash, etc. Our favorite, if you don't mind, is the L-O-N-G, and curly, Lash—the kind that momentarily goes up and down like an elevator over a fetchin' wink. Ummm!

We wish we had been a minnow in the bucket when the Haskell Free Press' Roustabout Roger Weatherford pulled that 6 1/2 pound bass into the boat recently. Pound-for-pound that must have been a tussle. Wanna know where he caught him? ...and he's got proof? Roger... and Out.

Anent Our Congressman

A tangible attestation to the esteem in which 12th District Congressman Graham B. Purcell, our Congressman, is held, appears elsewhere in the columns of this edition of the Free Press. We would point out here that Congressman Purcell received 90 per cent of the votes on the ballots on which his name was printed in Haskell County. This percentage was the greatest given him in any of the 19 counties in his district.

In the district as a whole, Graham Purcell was supported by an average of 75 per cent of the voters, and he was second in percentage points only to Gov. John Connally in votes accorded him.

The overwhelming support he received at the polls on November 3, particularly the tremendous tally he ran up at the grassroots, spells out from his constituents the ringing endorsement they gave to Congressman Purcell's efforts in their behalf in Washington.

This endorsement is particularly significant in view of the Congressman's dedicated work as a member of the House Committee on Agriculture and his chairmanship of the wheat subcommittee.

North Texas is proud of its able Congressman. Particularly so are the people in the rural areas, such as ours, to whom his interest and assistance have meant so much.

Haskell Countians topped the list in showing this appreciation by their vote, and Congressman Purcell, by his record in the Congress, deserved this recorded accolade.

It Just Isn't True—

Observance of National Newspaper Week very recently calls to mind some editorial opinions expressed last summer in the Ballinger Ledger, and just a few days ago in both The Utah Publisher and West Texas Publisher about newspapers "staying alive." Those aptly presented expressions, along with our own on the subject we would like to advance here.

There's an old adage to the effect that "nothing is as dead as last week's... or in the case of towns with more frequent publication... yesterday's, newspaper."

Another way of putting it that sticks with us is that the role of the country weekly, that's us, is simply to confirm what the subscribers already knew anyway!

Be that as it may, the old "saw" just isn't true. And it never was. But we're as guilty as home-made sin ourselves for being an accessory to the fact of helping perpetuate it. Because the adage sounds "cute," and has a twist, it has lived through the years.

To put it straight from the shoulder, nothing is as alive as yesterday's... or last week's... newspaper... to someone who hasn't read it. The newspaper does not enter or leave the home with the speed of light or break the sound barrier. It usually hangs around until every member of the family reads it. Sometimes, it is for days, or weeks... until it departs the scene wrapped around a hot tamale, or to line a wastebasket.

Just take a look at that newspaper in your home. Have you noticed that every time anyone picks it up, the newspaper is NEW, and whomever picks it up, usually will verbally comment on what was gleaned there?

Another thing, the whole family doesn't need to be present at any one time to enjoy their newspaper.

Dozens of obstructions and delays may interfere with a person's newspaper reading. He may be called to the telephone when it is delivered, or he has just picked it up at the Post Office. Sister may be studying. Brother may be practicing ball. Dear ol' Dad may be attending a civic meeting. Busy Mom might be in and out of the kitchen.

But the newspaper... brand new... waits until each person in the family has an opportunity to read it. It makes no difference what a member of the family may be doing. The newspaper reports to each individually. Each time one of them picks up the newspaper to read it, the paper is fresh, new and interesting to him or her. No matter how many people have read it before, the newspaper is alive to the person about to read it. Else, he would not pick it up!

If you don't agree with the statements carried in your newspaper, you can usually present your views. All it takes, at most, is a signed "Letter To The Editor." Our experience has been not so much one of having our statements challenged, as the desire to know "why" when we are compelled to leave out an item due to space limitations. There again is a tangible demonstration of a hungering by individuals for NEWS, no matter how old. It just doesn't get old.

The events and happenings in our town are duly reported, printed, and preserved for posterity in our newspaper. Nothing is more alive than ANY newspaper, no matter what vintage, that is waiting to be read.

You make no date with your newspaper. It stays alive until you find time to read it. So cancel that old axiom out of your reportorial repertoire. It's obsolete.

Although we Americans earn our living within a system called "Free Enterprise," few of us give thought to its meaning. Free enterprise is not perfect, as mankind is not perfect. But free enterprise gives full scope to many of man's highest virtues: his imagination, inventive genius; courage to try unknown paths; self-reliance, capacity for work, and determination to build a better world.

It is our opportunity... and challenge... under this free enterprise system, to continue to help build that better world.

The Good Earth

by MRS. B. F. COBB
Mrs. R. C. Couch Sr. and I visited Mrs. Joanna Lewis, to return the pictures of dried flowers she exhibited at the Haskell Garden Club last week. Mrs. Lewis resides in the Fielding Rest Home. She gains many hours of pleasure from her hobby of making pictures from dried flowers. How nice to have something to take the cares of the world off one's shoulders, when old age approaches. Mrs. Couch played the piano and sang to the residents of the Home. She left many shining faces, and invitations to return another day. The women were also very proud of Mrs. Lewis' ribbons, presented her by the Haskell Garden Club, for entering her pictures of dried flowers in the show. I am constantly receiving calls about stem and root rot in plants. After much research I find the same virus that causes stem rot, causes root rot. Phytophthora cactorum, is the name of the virus. Deep tilling of the soil helps to pretation of crops also helps. The same virus often attacks flowers in the form of stem rot. Dahlias, ceonias, zinnias, marigolds, tulips, tomatoes, beans vent root rot in cotton. The round periwinkles, are all susceptible to root and stem rot. However, it is more often stem rot hits flowers and vegetables. The first year we moved here, we planted beans. Half of them rotted just above the ground. We tilled and re-tilled the garden soil last winter. This spring we planted beans in the same row, and didn't lose a plant because of root rot. Spraying with bordeaux mixture helps to eradicate this virus. If the nursery doesn't carry this mixture, wettable sulphur dusted on the soil helps. Most nurseries carry it, though. Stem and root rot are worse when there has been a long dry spell and suddenly we have a week or so of rain. It is a good policy to water deeply during long dry periods. The presence of root and stem rot are detected by these signs: The plant suddenly wilts overnight. Water will not revive it. Stem rot begins by a small black spot appearing on the stem of the plant. If possible, cut away the affected part, before it destroys the plant completely. If the rot is on the main stem, pull up and destroy the plant, unless it is a dahlia. Often cutting a dahlia off below the tubers from destruction. Plants with root rot should be pulled up and destroyed also. After frost has come, cut hibiscus back to the ground, and give them a heavy mulch. Be sure to save all garden residue (except rose leaves) for the compost pile. We need to be constantly on the alert for materials to make compost from. Mrs. Ewin Linton has an old silage pit that contains cane no longer fit for animal consumption. She is constantly adding this rotted silage to her flower beds. There is no disease in the Linton garden. I haven't seen such luxuriant growth outside a green house anywhere else. Her flowers have such dark green foliage as to be almost black. Broccoli grew 3 to 4 feet tall last year, producing large green heads to grace the Linton table. Mrs. Linton is truly a gardener with a green thumb, and is constantly trying to enrich the "Good Earth" with her trees, shrubs and flowers. It is good to remember a healthy plant is resistant to all diseases.

David Frierson Makes Wooten Take Back Seat

A club record held by Wallace Wooten, its president, was shattered, along with 100 straight clay pigeons, by a fellow townsman, David Frierson, in a Haskell Gun Club registered trapshoot here Sunday, November 1.

Frierson, at the line in the Class A singles event, broke 100 straight whirling "birds" to best the mark of Wooten, who had held the record with a 99x100 mark. It was the second time this year Frierson had turned in a perfect score. He performed the same feat earlier this year at a Wichita Falls Gun Club shoot.

Class B winner here Sunday was Troy Boykin, of Childress, with 89x100, and Oscar Noland, of Iowa Park, took the Class C singles trophy with 78x100.

Wichita Falls' Lloyd Taylor, Jr., had a salty 46x50 score in the handicap division to win it. Frierson's 48x50 shotgun arithmetic in the doubles, notably assisted by his 100-bird exhibition, earned him the High Gun title for the day with a 193x200 compilation.

A duo of Boykins, W. J. and Troy, both of Childress, were tops in the Class B and Class C doubles shooting, respectively.

Rotary Club Here Hikes Attendance Record 4 Notches

Haskell Rotarians compiled an attendance average of 97.4 per cent for October and climbed from 13th to 9th place in the standings among the 41 clubs of Rotary District 579 in North Central-Northwest Texas. Roy Johnson, president of the club here, announced at the Rotary luncheon Thursday.

In ranking 13th the preceding month, Haskell Rotary had an even 95 per cent, Johnson reported.

The Rotary president here, following a review by Rotarian Bill Ratliff, Haskell attorney, of a book, "Opportunities in World Community Service," a Rotary International publication, named Ratliff chairman of a group to select and prosecute in the name of the Haskell club a project in this realm of service. It concerns assistance for community service work in other parts of the world.

Three Injured In Crash of Pickups South of Town

Two Haskell men and one from Abilene were taken to Haskell County Hospital at 2:30 p. m. last Wednesday with injuries received in the collision of two pick-up trucks five miles south of here on U. S. Highway 277.

Rushed in a Holden ambulance to the hospital here were Frank Lewellen and T. P. Perdue, of Haskell, both in their 60's, the occupants of one pickup, and Wayne Gray, 27, of Abilene, driver of the other vehicle. Gray is an employe of Western Union Telegraph Company, and had been here on a repair job.

Perdue was treated for a scalp laceration, facial abrasions and a bruised back, then released. Lewellen was kept in the hospital with a head laceration and possible broken jaw. Gray also was admitted with a possible chest injury. None was believed critically hurt, according to hospital authorities.

State Highway Patrolmen Jesse Priest and Tommy Wood, headquartered here, said the pickup occupied by Lewellen and Perdue was going north on 277 and turning west onto a dirt road at the time it was in collision with the southbound pickup driven by Gray. Both pickups were reported badly damaged.

Directing the investigation was Sgt. Frank Jirick, highway patrol supervisor in this district. Also assisting was Chief Deputy Sheriff Pete Mercer of the Haskell County Sheriff's Department.

B'rer Fox Pays Visit—Won't Talk About 'The Thang'

Early risers here Saturday morning were speculating as to whether the Haskell County "Thang" had "outfoxed" a fellow varmint. What appeared to be a 3-year-old fox, alive, but not well, lay in front of the Haskell Free Press building on the square here. It was capable of doing little more than rolling its eyes in all directions and raise its head intermittently from the sidewalk as if to say, "The Haskell Rascal went that-a-way."

Importance of Good Pasture Management Cited Here

Good management of irrigated pastures pays off in higher yields and better quality forage, which means dollars per acre, J. C. Yearry, Jr., of the Soil Conservation Service in Haskell, declared Friday. Three tangible examples, or "cases in point," in this area of exceptional grass production resulting from regular watering and fertilizing, coupled with proper use of grass and rotation grazing, are the John Nichols and Joe Fletcher Farms southwest of Rochester, and the Normany Nanny Farm two miles northwest of Haskell, Yearry said. Nanny recently was named the winner of the Haskell Lions Club's and Fort Worth Press' "Conservation Farmer of the Year for 1964" award.

"With increased costs of putting in a pasture and lower livestock prices, it is more important than ever that good management be practiced," Yearry emphasized. "Low or medium producing pastures will not be profitable," he added. Good management requires work and "knowhow," Yearry said. The producer must understand the proper use of the grass, water and fertilizer. "The grass represents the factory. The water and fertilizer are essential to make the factory produce. Sunshine supplies the energy to run the factory. The size of the factory is determined by the amount of leaves available to catch the sunshine," reported the soil conservation supervisor headquartered here. Proper use of a grass plant means leaving adequate leaves at all times to catch the sunshine and "keep the factory running at full capacity," said Yearry. Any time a plant is stripped of its leaves, growth is slowed down, or stopped. "A pasture that is continuously grazed short cannot make maximum yields," he stated. The soil conservation specialist here concluded by declaring, "Maximum yields can only be attained when grass has periods of grazing. This can be done by dividing a pasture into two or more units and moving the livestock from one unit to another at regular intervals. In this way, the grass can be grazed at its best, obtained rapid growth during the grazing season, fertilizing accomplishes the purpose of reducing the poisoning of the soil when it is overgrazed. Yearry said that the soil conservation service is interested in this area through the Haskell and Wichita conservation districts. ...ion for 57 1/2 per cent interest in Dallas-based Braniff Airways.

GreatAmerica also controls four life insurance companies. The four have assets of almost $1.9 billion on Jan. 1 and insurance in force in excess of $8.6 billion.

First Western had deposits of more than $618 million.

The four insurance companies are Franklin Life, Springfield, Ill.; American Life, Birmingham, Ala.; Gulf Life, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Amicable Life of Waco.

GreatAmerica has its home office in Las Vegas, Nev., and executive offices in Dallas.

Post recently informed the GreatAmerica stockholders: "Banking and insurance specialists find that they no longer keep their companies competitive if they permit themselves to be bound simply by old rules and standards."

He said the standard for GreatAmerica would embody a "willingness to serve imaginatively and creatively."

Imagination and creativity have been Post's standbys.

After Haskell, he moved back to Dallas in 1936. Eight years later, his company had $40 million in insurance on the books.

Post sold his 10% interest in Pioneer American Life, the company he had founded and when then had assets of $37,500. That was 18 years ago and it was then that his rise began.

Post organized another firm that became the American Life Insurance Co. (of Alabama). At the end of last year, it had almost $1.2 billion of insurance in force and total assets of $82.2 million.

Post then got control of the other insurance firms, formed GreatAmerica and bought First Western and Braniff.

He and James Ling of Dallas have acquired control of two Dallas banks, the National Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Services and Trusts. Post is a director and major stockholder of Ling-Tenon-Vaught, the Dallas aerospace-missile company Ling controls.

In 1959, Post and oilman Edwin Pauley organized the Legal Reserve Life Insurance Co. of California at Los Angeles.

Post also is a main stockholder of two electronics firms: Hathaway Instruments of Denver and Electro-Science Investors of Dallas.

"The life insurance field used to be a slow moving conservative business as far as investments were concerned," Post said. "Mortgages and government bonds were the chief investments."

"However, in the companies I have been connected with, we have been receptive to new ideas with programs stressing diversified investments."

Troy Post, a native of Haskell County, and Dallas financial figure, was born seven miles south of Haskell in the Paint Creek farming community. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Post.

Sid Post, a native of Crawford, Texas, near Gatesville, married a member of the Hisey family, longtime residents

Rotary Begins Publication Of "The Spoketator"

Coincident with the official visit here of Dr. C. J. Dods-worth, of Bowie, Rotary district governor, Volume 1, Number 1, of a new Rotary publication, "The Spoketator," was distributed to Haskell Rotarians at a luncheon meeting recently.

Edited and published by Porter Oakes, Haskell newspaperman, "The Spoketator" was launched to "promote interest in Rotary fellowship and better prosecute the aims and objects of the four realms of Rotary service—club, community, vocational and international."

The first issue of the Rotary publication is dedicated to District Governor Dods-worth.

"The Spoketator," in its initial editorial on "Free Enterprise," declares, "although we Americans earn our living within a system called free enterprise, few of us give thought to its meaning."

Free enterprise, says "The Spoketator" editorially, "is not perfect, as mankind is not perfect. But free enterprise gives full scope to many of man's highest virtues: his imagination, inventive genius; courage to try unknown paths; self-reliance, capacity for work, and determination to build a better world."

Editor Oakes, a Rotarian 19 years, was editor of "The Spokesman," official publication of the Rotary Club of Wichita Falls, for seven years while secretary of the club there.

RESIDUE MANAGEMENT VALUE STRESSED BY SCS MAN HERE

"Stubble mulch tillage helps conserve the soil," said Hinds A. McGowen, Jr., local Soil Conservation Service.

The Agricultural Research Service recently released information on the importance of good residue management. Proper management of residues of small grains and grain sorghums prevents about 80% of the soil loss during heavy rainfall, reduces one-half the amount of runoff, and removes up to 90% of the winds erosive force at the soil surface.

There are two systems of managing crop residues being used in Haskell County portions of the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation Districts. One far outweighs the advantages of the other. Residues that are plowed under add organic material to the soil, increase ability of the soil to hold water, and provide plant food after decay. Residues left on top of the soil add organic material to the soil, increase water-holding capacity of the soil, provides plant food after decay, reduces crusting and sealing, increases moisture intake rate of the soil, forms small dams to catch and hold rainfall, reduces damage by wind, keeps soil cool in hot weather and reduces the amount of soil moisture lost to evaporation.

100 pounds of sand will hold 25 pounds of water, 100 pounds of humus will hold 190 pounds of water. It is easy to see that a soil which has had residues properly managed will retain a large amount of the water it receives from rainfall. This reduces surface crusting which in turn reduces the number of times a crop has to be replanted. The use of sweep or chisel type implements has proven to be the best for residue management. However, disc type plows may be successfully used in some instances.

COTTON BURS, NITROGEN ARE SOIL ENRICHING FOR GROWING

Would you like to double your yields the easy way? It can be done by applying cotton burs and nitrogen to the land.

Thurman Howeth, who cooperates with the California Creek Soil Conservation District, and operates the Dennis P. Ratliff Farm southwest of Haskell reports that he anticipates twice the yield of cotton on cropland that was treated with cotton burs and nitrogen on the Ratliff Farm. Certainly this offsets the cost of applying burs and nitrogen with a sizeable profit remaining. Ten pounds of nitrogen should be applied with every ton of burs put down. Three tons of burs per acre is considered minimum. Past experience shows that five tons per acre is more desirable.

Joe W. Cloud, of Rule, has been applying cotton burs on his farms for a number of years. Cloud is well sold on this practice and makes every effort to get burs applied on his land each year.

Cotton burs are a good soil builder and conditioner, but soil protection is another important reason for applying burs. Burs help to control wind erosion, surface compaction and crusting. Rainfall is slowed down and more water is taken up by the soil. For maximum soil protection burs should be left on the land until about April 1.

All three elements of fertilizer are found in cotton burs. Faster results and greater soil improvement benefits are obtained by the addition of nitrogen with the burs. A reliable soil test may indicate the need of phosphorous or potash.

Our Welfare Gauged By The Health Of The Oil Industry

With oil and gas production worth about $12.8 million a year, Haskell County citizens have a financial stake in the worldwide demand for energy and the complex economic and political problems involving the petroleum industry, according to statistics obtained here from J. Carl Wheatley, prominent Haskell business and civic leader, former chairman of the Oil Information Committee in this area.

Wheatley, in an interview here recently, declared, "We have pulled together some figures from the most authoritative sources so residents of Haskell County and this territory can see how local pocketbooks are affected by some of the issues which involve our industry." The salient statistics gleaned were obtained with the indispensable help of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Oil Information Committee. Bill Oliver, Humble Oil executive headquartered in Wichita Falls, is OIC chairman of a major portion of the Northwest-North Central Texas region.

"Issues of current concern include the proposals to cut percentage depletion rates, extension of federal controls over prices at which Texas producers sell their gas, and development of laws and production methods that will help Texas compete with other states and nations for markets," Wheatley explained.

And why should the average Haskell County resident take cognizance of these issues? Wheatley was asked.

"Because as the industry goes, so go the pocketbooks of most everyone living in this territory," Wheatley explained.

The latest year for which U. S. Bureau of Mines figures are available (1961) shows Haskell County producing more than 4.3 million barrels of crude oil, valued at about $12.7 million; and 430 million cubic feet of natural gas, with a value of almost $63,000. Haskell ranks 81st among Texas counties in value of oil and gas production. In 1961, there were 695 producing oil wells in the county, according to the Texas Railroad Commission.

Although its first field was discovered 34 years ago, Haskell County is the scene for the industry's continued search for oil and gas. Some 67 wells were drilled in this county last year, with 26 being wildcat exploratory wells, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. And the tempo of activity was stepped up considerably the first nine months of 1963. It is estimated that more than $2.3 million was spent in drilling in Haskell County this past year and some $1.2 million of this went into dry holes.

Leasing adds many thousands of dollars to Haskell County's economy. Tabulations by the International Oil Scouts Association show major companies last year were paying rentals on about 57,000 undeveloped acres, which comprise about one-tenth of the county's area.

Royalty payments to Haskell County farmers, ranchers and other landowners are running at more than $1.6 million annually, the Association calculated.

Haskell County producers and royalty owners also make a sizeable contribution to the support of state government, with production tax payments of more than $591,000 a year.

Industry taxes likewise are important to the county government and school districts in this county. For instance, 75 per cent of the local property taxes collected for the Haskell Independent School District comes from oil and gas operators.

A sizable impact on the Haskell County economy has been registered by petroleum industry payrolls. According to figures of the Texas Employment Commission, the industry payroll is more than $769,000 a year.

With these tangible testimonials to the economic impact on this county and its citizens, "it follows that our people, all of them, should take an increasing cognizance of and active interest in the present plight and future welfare of the oil and gas industry, which is a pretty thick slice of their bread well buttered," Wheatley concluded.

J. M. Littlefields' Daughter Killed In Arizona Crash

Mrs. R. H. Carlson, 34, a former Haskell resident, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Littlefield here, was killed in an automobile accident at 6:30 p. m. Thursday near Bagdad, Arizona, the town where the Carlson family has been living for several years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Carlson, the former Mary Lois Littlefield, were held in the First Baptist Church at Prescott, Ariz., Wednesday afternoon, with burial there under direction of Hale-Van Martigny Mortuary.

Mrs. Carlson's husband, an electrical engineer, with whom she was riding in a pickup truck at the time of the fatal crash, escaped with minor injuries, according to reports received here.

Mr. Carlson said he and his wife were driving from their home at Bagdad to answer an electrical repair call in a nearby Arizona town and as he stepped a rise in the highway, the lights of four headlights, two of them in his lane, blinded him. He steered his pickup into the ditch to avoid a collision, and in doing so, hit a boulder. The crash into the big rock threw both occupants from the vehicle, and his wife was fatally injured.

Born in Winona, Mississippi, August 31, 1930, Mary Lois Littlefield spent several years of her childhood here and attended Haskell schools. She graduated from Adamsville, Tenn., high school in 1946, and married Carlson in Corinth, Mississippi, in 1948.

Survivors, in addition to her husband and parents here, include five children, two boys and three girls, ages 4 to 15; and three brothers, James A. Littlefield, Lubbock; Weston Littlefield, West Point, Mississippi, and M. N. Littlefield, Mississippi.

SO WHAT'S SO HARD ABOUT FARMING?

Profit. That's what separates farmers from failures. More and more farmers are coming to realize the big profit advantage of applying anhydrous ammonia in the fall. Early application gives the ammonia a chance to release the plant food in turned-under stalks . . . make it available for use by next year's crop. And fall application eliminates the rush of doing it next spring. Right now we have a good supply of Nitromite, Shamrock's fine brand of anhydrous ammonia. And plenty of application equipment waiting so you can get the job done fast. Call us for the Nitromite you'll need for a fall application.

By AL HINDS

After attending two "home games" of the Red Raiders in Lubbock this fall and both times coming away soaking wet and cold, I decided last Saturday night to go this route: I put on my best suit of clothes and hat, stepped into my back yard, turned on the "Rain-King" Sprinkler, sat down in the middle of the sprinkler system, then had the Missus throw a bucket of ice cubes on me, thus having all the effects of a football game in Lubbock.

Prattler's Prophecy: Prattler's batting average for last weekend contests was .750, as I missed only one game.

For this weekend contests, I pick 'em like this:

Arkansas over SMU: Too much Porker for the lowly Ponies.

Baylor over Kentucky—Bears are getting hungrier.

Rice over Texas A&M—Aggies finally won one, over SMU last weekend, so they will be trying desperately to make it two in a row.

Texas U. over TCU—Seems as tho' over the years the Frogs have a way of upsetting the Steers, but I will have to stay with the Longhorns.

Texas Tech over Washington State—Texas Tech now has a 5-2-1 record, one of the best seasons ever, and should keep it going.

Ballinger 19, Haskell 6: Too much Bearcat for the fighting Indians.

Thanks to Sen. Ralph Yarborough for the 15"x20 1/2" 3-color placard of the inaugural address of the late President of these United States, John Fitzgerald Kennedy. The assassination of the great president, less than a year ago, is a tragedy we cannot forget, but the immortal words of the inaugural address still ring in our ears. Let us forget, I would like to review readers of this column with some excerpts from the address made January 20, 1961. Since the election is now history it would be well to think on these famous words, with both parties working together in harmony.

"Mr. Chief Justice, President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, President Truman, Rev. Clergy, Fellow Citizens, we observe today not a victory of party, but a celebration of freedom—symbolizing an end as well as a beginning—signifying renewal, as well as change. For I have sworn before you and Almighty God the same solemn oath our forbears prescribed nearly a century and three quarters ago. The world is very different now. For man holds in his mortal hands the power to abolish all forms of human poverty and all forms of human life. And yet the same revolutionary beliefs for which our forbears fought are still at issue around the globe... the belief that the rights of man come not from the generosity of the state, but from the hand of God.

"Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, in order to assure the survival and the success of liberty. This much we pledge... and more.

"So let us begin anew... remembering on both sides that civility is not a sign of weakness, and sincerity is always subject to proof. Let us never negotiate out of fear, but let us never fear to negotiate.

"Let both sides explore what problems unite us instead of laboring those problems which divide us.

"Let both sides, for the first time, formulate serious and precise proposals for the inspection and control of arms... and bring the absolute power to destroy other nations under the absolute control of all nations.

"Let both sides seek to invoke the wonders of science instead of its terrors. Together let us explore the stars, conquer the deserts, eradicate disease, tap the ocean depths, and encourage the arts and commerce.

"Let both sides unite to heed in all corners of the earth the command of Isaiah... to 'undo the heavy burdens and to let the oppressed go free.'

"And if a beachhead of cooperation may push back the jungle of suspicion, let both sides join in creating a new endeavor, not a new balance of power, but a new world of law, where the strong are just and the weak secure and the peace preserved.

"All this will not be finished in the first 100 days. Nor will it be finished in the first 1,000 days, nor in the life of this administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet. But let us begin.

"In your hands, my fellow citizens, more than in mine, will rest the final success or failure of our course. Since this country was founded, each generation of Americans has been summoned to give testimony to its national loyalty. The graves of young Americans who answered the call to service are found around the globe.

"Now the trumpet summons us again... not as a call to bear arms, though arms we need; not as a call to battle, though embattled we are; but a call to bear the burden of a long and twilight struggle, year in, and year out, "rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation," a struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease, and war itself.

"Can we forge against these enemies a grand and global alliance, North and South, East and West, that can assure a more fruitful life for all mankind? Will you join in that historic effort?"

"In the long history of the world, only a few generations have been granted the role of defending freedom in its hour of maximum danger. I do not shrink from this responsibility—I welcome it. I do not believe that any of us would exchange places with any other people or any other generation. The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve it... and the glow from that fire can truly light the world.

"And so, my fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country.

can do for you, ask what you can do for your country.

"My fellow citizens of the world: Ask not what America will do for you, but what together we can do for the freedom of man.

"Finally, whether you are citizens of America or citizens of the world, ask of us the same high standards of strength and sacrifice which we ask of you. With a good conscience our only sure reward, with history the final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His blessing and His help, but knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."

Lions Contest Ends; Do-Nut Sale Slated

A six-week membership and attendance contest of the Lions Club was concluded Tuesday noon with Captain Leroy Haverly's team nosing out Dr. J. G. Vaughter's group.

Three new members were added during the contest period, and attendance has been good. The dining room at the Texas Cafe was packed to capacity, Tuesday noon.

Each member present during the contest counted one point, and new members 5 points. At the end of the contest, the team with the largest number of points was claimed the winner.

Adding emphasis to the contest was the fact that at the beginning, all members were weighed-in, and members were again weighed-in at Tuesday's meeting. For each pound gained during the contest period, members were fined 25c. A total of $13.25 was collected.

New members introduced at Tuesday's meeting were Sheriff Garth Garrett and W. L. Henry. Charlie Fouts was noted as a guest at the meeting.

Residents are again reminded that Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21, will be the dates of the annual Do-Nut sale. Money raised from the project will go into the "Good-fellow" fund.

Attending the annual Girl Scout session and awards presentation with Nanny were Mrs. Nanny, Mrs. Allen Overton and Mrs. Cliff Berry from here.

Seventh homecoming of Rule High School graduates will be held in the west Haskell County town on Saturday, Nov. 21. Sam Turner, homecoming president, is in charge of arrangements.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a. m. in the high school, followed by an assembly program in the auditorium at 10:30 a. m. George Morgan, of Alvin, Texas, a graduate of the Class of 1941, will be principal speaker.

A luncheon at noon will be catered.

At 2 p. m., the Rule High School Bobcats will meet their county rivals, the Rochester Steers, in Bobcat Stadium, as one of the main events of the day.

The Senior Class is sponsoring open house in the school cafeteria after the game. They will sell chili, sandwiches, doughnuts, pie, coffee, milk and cold drinks to help underwrite class projects such as their senior trip and school gift. The public is invited to come to this fellowship session and stay as long as they like.

Rule School P-TA To Hear Panel On Good Health

A panel discussion on the subject will be conducted by Mrs. W. P. Trice, county health nurse; Mordant McKinney, Rule druggist; W. J. Wilson, teacher; and Bobby Williamson, athletic coach.

Mrs. Sonny Denson, president, will have charge of a business session.

6,000 FISH ARE "CAUGHT" IN FRONT OF THE POST OFFICE!

Sixteen Haskell area farmers and ranchers went fishing the easy way—on the public square—here last weekend. They "caught" 6,000 fish in about 10 minutes, right in front of the Post Office.

By tank truck, delivery of 2,000 catfish and 4,000 blue gill fingerlings was made to the area residents who had requested them to stock in surface water on their farms and ranches. The fish came from the National Fish Hatchery, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Dept. of Interior, in Fort Worth.

"Fishermen" making the "catches" here included H. L. Bosse, C. C. Campbell, Duward Campbell, Roy Clark, Charles M. Conner, W. R. Hager Jr., F. D. Hindsley, C. A. Jackson, Clancy Lehmann, Floyd McGuire Hix Martindale, John K. Patterson, Mrs. H. J. Patterson, R. R. Ramm, Rudolph Ramm and V. C. Schmidt.

Ernest Young, hatchery manager at the Fort Worth facility, made arrangements through J. C. Yeary Jr., of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service here, to deliver the fish requested by individuals in this area for stocking purposes.

Hospital Auxiliary Hears Reports, Plans Projects

Mrs. W. C. Johnston, executive director of Rice Springs Nursing Care Home reported on the operation of the facility for senior citizens in a presentation to the Haskell County Hospital Women's Auxiliary in a recent meeting in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank.

Mrs. Ed Fouts reported the activities of the district hospital auxiliary meeting recently held in Graham. Attending from here were: Mrs. Fouts, Mrs. R. L. Foote, president of Haskell auxiliary, and Miss Nelda Carter.

Fifteen members at the meeting voted to have a bake sale Saturday, Nov. 21, and also to give P.K.U. kits to new mothers at Haskell County Hospital.

brothers. The family camped for two weeks at Rice Springs, within the original townsite of Haskell, when there were no more than a dozen shelters and half dugouts here. They moved into the northeast part of the county. Mr. Jones and his father before him, spent the greater part of their lives farming and ranching on extensive properties six miles northeast of Weintert. He served for a time as Commissioner of Precinct 2, and was active in the civic and religious life of this area for many years.

Mr. Jones and Susie Milam were married October 18, 1916, at Graham.

Survivors include his wife, one daughter, Mrs. H. T. Wilkinson, of Haskell; two sisters, Mrs. Cam Creech, of Greenville, and Mrs. Clem J. Wilson, of Roby; and one granddaughter, Sue Wilkinson, of Haskell.

A son, Milam, a United States Marine Corps pilot, was killed in 1953 during the Korean conflict.

Pallbearers were Wallace Boone, R. L. Edwards, Harlan Weimert, Clyde Mayfield, Walter Davis and Eddie Sanders.

Christmas Seals Ready to Mail Next Monday

Returning next year from the Fightin' 22-man squad will be Bobby Watson, Bill Perry, Jack Melton, Frankie White, Thornton Gilmore, Paul Hiebert and Gail Crouch, who will comprise the nucleus around whom Coaches Everett, Berry, Middleton and Bennett will build the 1965 edition.

The Indians go into their final scrap, 1 and 4 n the double-tough 5AA district, but 5 and 4 on an interesting season. A 6-4 record after Friday night in a year which saw a new coach, a new attack, and mostly inexperienced hard players would not be "hard to take," a dedicated fanhood here, to be sure, will agree.

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

Test drive Total Performance '65...best year yet to go FORD

To the 5 out of 10 people who didn't believe this ad... a sporting proposition

Take a no-obligation test drive in a 1965 Ford. Maybe you just couldn't believe the ad (reprinted above) which appeared in this paper a few weeks ago. After all, many consider Rolls-Royce to be one of the world's finest cars. But Ford does ride quieter. The world's leading acoustical experts (Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc.) made the tests. The U.S. Auto Club certified the results.

This year's Ford has the strongest body ever... a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibrations... new ultrasoft coil-spring suspensions—all contributing to the new hushed ride. But the ride is only part of what's new.

- New swept-back instrument panel adds five inches extra knee room.
- Transmission tunnel is lower than in competing cars for extra foot room.
- Trunk has more usable space than ever—holds four 2-suiters standing upright.
- New ultra-luxurious LTD series—unmatched by any other car in Ford's class.
- Silent-Flo ventilation (standard on 4-door hardtops) removes stale air, provides fresh air even with all windows closed.
- Exclusive new twin-edge key—works with either side up.
- Hot, but hushed, 209-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models.

Smooth, thrifty all-new models—the most power offered by any car in Ford's line. Options to 425 hp.

All Ford automatic transmissions—2 as in many models.

Fully synchronized manual transmissions—clashing gears.

If all this sounds like a offer... take a test drive... you can even buy Ford in post-war history.
