

Petitions Push Double Mountain Dam Project

PICTURES—A group of men, including Judge Alvis, standing together in a formal setting.

An enthusiastic group of supporters representing 24 communities in 10 Northwest Texas counties organized forces Friday to carry a petition "from fence line to fence line" in those counties advocating "the soonest possible construction" of a long-sought dam to provide flood control and a recreational area in the upper reaches of the Brazos River, the Double Mountain Fork, eight miles north-west of Rule.

Haskell County Judge Jim Alvis was elected chairman of the project, and Porter Oakes, editor of the Haskell Free Press, secretary, in the initial action of the assembled area citizens meeting in the Haskell County Courthouse.

Judge Alvis promptly named a committee of four, with Jim Norman, of Rule, as chairman, to supervise systematic carrying of the petition to 24 towns in the 10 counties to obtain the greatest number of signatures possible on it.

Only 10 communities in six counties were considered potentially affected in the original plan to seek support of the flood control - recreation area project on the Brazos, but the interest has mushroomed since the first action was taken but eight days before. As Kenneth Musgrave, of Abilene, who ranches near Aspermont, put it in asking for a petition to circulate in Taylor County, "This is Abilene trade territory, and the dam certainly will help us. Everybody in West Texas ought to be interested in this project."

Judge Alvis, in instructing those present about seeking signatures on the petition, emphasized that the only places where construction has begun on a chain of 12 flood control projects already planned for the Brazos River Basin throughout Texas have been on the river's lower end. "This is a flood control project, and the upper reaches of the river should come in for some immediate consideration," Judge Alvis pointed out. The entire Brazos basin string of dams has been earmarked for completion by 1975. "We want to get something started in 1964," declared M. C. Myers, of Aspermont, in referring to beginning work on the projected dam in this region, which would take 2 1/2 years building time.

Norman, Myers, Musgrave, and Joe Clark, of Sagerton, are Judge Alvis' designees as the supervisory committee for circulation of the petitions. J. E. Walling, Jr., mayor of Haskell, pointed out that impounding of water on the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos at the point intended would recharge the "Seymour formation," shallow gravel beds throughout this territory, and would be a boon to irrigation in the area. Building of the dam "is a must," Walling declared. The dam support group plans to have the signed petition taken to Washington by special messenger for presentation to Texas' two U. S. Senators and to Congressman Graham Purcell, of this district.

Such a project between Seymour and Rule has been a dream of many area planners for years. Formerly known as the Baskin Dam for its principal supporter, Bob Baskin, of Seymour, it is now identified on U. S. engineers' maps as "The Seymour Reservoir." The project is intended solely for flood control, recreation at the site where the water would be impounded, and a fish and wildlife refuge, not a projected palatable water supply, it was emphasized.

Representatives at the meeting here made plans to circulate the petitions in the following communities: Aspermont, Guthrie, Dickens, Old Glory, Bonmarion, Weimert, Munday, Stamford, Rochester, Knox City, Rule, Haskell, Kerton, O'Brien, Swenson, Peacock, Rotan, Girard, Spur, Hamlin, and Abilene.

Counties considered affected by the dam project are Haskell, Knox, King, Dickens, Baylor, Stonewall, Kent, Fischer, Jones and Taylor.

The chairman, Judge Alvis, called another meeting for Friday, Jan. 24, at 10 a. m. in the courthouse here to see if sufficient names had been obtained to justify dispatching the messenger to Washington without delay. Among leading proponents, in addition to those named, who are pushing the petition signing are Bill Sams, Knox City; Felix Mullino, Rochester; Clyde Grice, Rule; and Henry Smith, Weimert.

Howard Perry, owner-operator of an automobile dealership in Haskell, and a dedicated worker in the Boy Scout movement, Friday night was presented a trophy on his retirement as Troop 36 here, before an overflow crowd of more than 150 persons in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church of Haskell.

Edd Smart, scoutmaster of the troop, made the presentation, citing Perry's some 10 years of devoted effort in behalf of Scouting. The ceremony was part of an awards night during which seven Boy Scouts of Troop 36 received their Life Scout awards and 19 Cub Scouts reached the Weblo plateau allowing them to enter Boy Scout work.

The awards banquet was attended by Troy Boone, district Scout Executive with the Chisholm Trail Council, Abilene, and Burr Russell, area Scout commissioner, both of whom spoke briefly at the assembly.

Gerald McCoy, science teacher at Haskell High School, was the recipient of a gift for his volunteer services during two years of teaching first aid courses to Boy Scouts in Haskell.

A group of 12 Indian dancers from Troop 36 performed, dancing "The Ribbon Dance" and other popular numbers.

Scoutmaster Smart, who was master of ceremonies, and made the Life and Weblo awards, publicly recognized the work of Ed Hester, advisor to the Explorer Scout post here and that of Johnny Smith, cubmaster in Haskell.

The seven Boy Scouts advanced to Life status, and who will be eligible for Eagle Scout ratings in July, were: Garland Stark, Johnny Stark, Jim Kemp, Lee Pippin, Hal Spain, Tim Everett and Leslie Huss.

Weblo awards were received by A. Arend, C. Smith, J. Crawford, R. Lacey, G. McDonald, L. Hartsfield, K. Everett, K. Hilliard, A. Gannaway, G. Cobb, P. Brown, R. Rieves, J. Fouts, C. Campbell, W. Reeves and G. Mayfield.

Mark McCoy and David Hammock received First Class Scouting awards.

Merit badge winners were Joe Banner, Clifford Banner, Zane Clifton, Mark McCoy, Rylee Middleton and Larry Jewel. Also recognized at the banquet were Allen Rieves, assistant cub scout leader; Wallace Stark, roundtable, commissioner; Harold Spain, community commissioner; Lee Roy O'Neal, advancement chairman; and R. V. Black, camping and activity chairman.

In observance of Robert E. Lee's birthday, the Haskell National Bank will be closed on Monday, Jan. 20, in accordance with the established annual practice of closing on this day. Abe Turner, cashier, announced Tuesday.

Last October, Thornton was the subject for a cover story in "Time," the national weekly news magazine. A number of his relatives still live in this area, among them an aunt, Mrs. C. L. Lewis, of Haskell.

Thornton is chairman of the board of Litton Industries, which now has some 91 plants throughout the country manufacturing everything from adding machines to nuclear submarines. He was one of the youngest colonels in the U. S. Army in World War II, and was one of the Ford Motor Company's "whiz kids" in the days immediately following the war, numbering now Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara one of his closest associates.

Bates Thornton Is To Get "Texan Of Year" Award

Charles Bates (Tex) Thornton, a native of Haskell, who in the days of his youth here was known affectionately as a rambunctious redhead, and now one of the nation's most successful industrial tycoons, will receive the Texas Press Association's "Texan of the Year" award at the TPA's mid-winter meeting January 25 in Austin, according to word received here.

Thornton is chairman of the board of Litton Industries, which now has some 91 plants throughout the country manufacturing everything from adding machines to nuclear submarines. He was one of the youngest colonels in the U. S. Army in World War II, and was one of the Ford Motor Company's "whiz kids" in the days immediately following the war, numbering now Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara one of his closest associates.

A new Litton plant at Lubbock, where Thornton went to school at Texas Tech, is among the newest expansions of the industrial empire the Haskell native heads. He recently was there for a groundbreaking ceremony in which Congressman George Mahon also participated.

Thornton is a 1932 graduate of Haskell High School, and beat out several larger boys to become the starting center on the Haskell Indians' football team. In 1939, he was the principal speaker at Haskell's biennial homecoming.

Murphy, a 910-pound steer bred by Paul Murphy, of Meridian, Texas, and shown by Andy Gannaway, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gannaway, of Haskell, was judged the grand champion of the 21st annual Haskell County 4-H Steer Show held on the Rice Springs Rodeo grounds here Saturday afternoon. Andy is a member of the Haskell 4-H Club.

Kirby Clayton, of Anson, county agent of Jones County, judge of the very competitive show, also gave the nod to another of young Gannaway's entries as the reserve champion. This animal was bred by R. A. Shaver, III, of Rochester, and was shown by Sherry Newton, "subbing in" for Andy, who was handling the grand champ in the same judging.

Sherry and Kay Newton, daughters of County Commissioner and Mrs. Leon Newton, of Weimert, and members of the Weimert 4-H Club, showed the first and second choices of Judge Clayton among seven entries in the lightweight steer division with animals entered weighing 865 pounds down. Sherry's steer was bred by Paul Murphy, of Meridian, Texas, and Kay's by Felix Mullino, of Rochester.

In the 865 pound and up division, Andy Gannaway's two steers, nicknamed "Murphy" and "Shaver" were one-two just as they were in the final judging for grand and reserve championships.

Haskell County Agent Frank Martin was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Stacy Jo Leverett, Haskell County home demonstration agent, was show secretary, and County Judge Jim Alvis made the ribbon presentations.

In the lightweight division, the rest of the field finished as follows: Ricky Perry, Fair Creek, fourth; Brenda Boone, Weimert, fifth; Terry Chap (See "Andy Gannaway," P. 12)

TO THE RANKS OF THE

...tending itself, across the road about 50 feet in front of our car, as my wife and I returned from a trip to Abilene, where I went to Air Force Reserve meeting Monday night.
For exactly one year and one week since coming here, I've been reporting the pregrinations of the pesky prowler which has killed for a living in Haskell County, and probed for the details when infrequent sightings of a larger than usual animal, thought to be a mountain lion, were reported. And though the temptation has been great to do otherwise at times, I have stuck to the facts, sir, and ma'am, about the Haskell County's infamous "Thang."
It may be difficult for lots of folks to believe, but I think the mass exodus from the farm to the "cuts" taking over the country as in other days, I've learned from reporting the facts about 'em this past year here on civilization's border that the cats and coyotes have known enough to take back over since the people checked it back to 'em and went to town.
This story probably wouldn't stand up in court. My wife is my only corroborating witness. Sure am glad she was there, though. Otherwise, she probably would have said I'd been ...well, you know.

She had suffered a stroke on January 6.
Funeral services were held Saturday.
Speech teacher and coach of declamation at Haskell High School for a number of years, Mrs. Kaigler moved with her family from here to Lubbock in 1940. She taught private speech lessons in Lubbock until her retirement in 1958.

She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock and a former superintendent of the primary department in the church school. For about 15 years, Mrs. Kaigler regularly visited Milam Home, in Lubbock, which later became Buckner Baptist Girls Home. 'Funeral' Burglar
Given Sentence
Totaling 13 Years

Haskell County's "funeral burglar," indicted only Tuesday on charges of entering two homes and a car belonging to members of a family while they were attending a funeral last October 25, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to a total of 13 years in prison by District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman in 39th District Court here Thursday.
The sentences, two for five years, and one for three years on the two house breakins and the car entry, respectively, will run concurrently. District Attorney Royce Adkins said.
John Maynard Adams, 25, of Bremen, Georgia, who "cased" his victims through the obituary column of a newspaper, was said to have burglarized the homes of Julia Mae Hicks and Leroy Jackson at the extreme north end of Haskell County, and then entered the automobile of Walter Rinehart, of Abilene, while all three were at the funeral.

District Attorney Adkins said the sentenced man posed as a relative of the deceased person to inquire directions to the Hicks home at the Post Office in Munday, and later used identification found in a billfold belonging to the deceased found in the Hicks home when he sold loot taken in the burglaries to an Abilene pawnshop.
In another trial before Judge Chapman Thursday, George Robert Story, 38, of Haskell, was given a 5-year probated sentence on one count of forgery and passing a forged check to Grade Flanary on or about November 9, District Attorney Adkins said.

Panel Discusses 'Protection of Liberties' At Progressive Study Club's First Meet

A panel discussion moderated by Mrs. R. A. Lane on "Protection Of Our Liberties" highlighted the first 1964 meeting of the Progressive Study Club, a federated women's club, in Haskell.

Mmes. Bailey Toliver, Virgil Cobb, and M. B. Powell were panel members, answering a question posed by Mrs. Toliver in leading off the discussion, "Do we sometimes overemphasize one freedom, and, therefore, take away some importance from another?"

Mrs. Powell, in her reply, stressed the fact that if "we would live by the Ten Commandments, there would be no problems such as we face today." Bringing under scrutiny the difference between socialism and capitalism, Mrs. Cobb described capitalism as a society where the individual has "the inherent right to own property, and to pass it on to others."

In keeping with this way of life, the quote from Proverbs 29:18 was given: "Where there is no vision, the people perish." Mrs. Glen Sammons, directed a business meeting in which dues of associate members were raised from $7 to $10, and several changes in the club constitution were proposed.

A committee comprised of Mmes. Bailey Toliver, R. W. Herren, and W. H. Pitman was appointed by Mrs. Sammons to present recommended changes to the club at an early future date.

Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. W. O. Holden and Herren.

Next meeting of the club is Thursday, Jan. 16.

Well, it's that time again. If you made over $600, or if you are over 65 years old and made over $1200, you must file a tax return. If you are a self-employed farmer or businessman, you must file if you made more than $400.

The sooner you file the better, but it had better be before April 15.

John B. Thomas, father of Judge Owen Thomas, of Abilene, present District Judge of the 104th District, comprising Taylor and Jones Counties, was the sixth judge of the 39th District, serving two years, 1911-1918. He lived in Anson, and practiced law there after his judgeship until his death.

Walter R. Chapman, uncle of the present district judge, Ben Charlie Chapman, was the presiding judge from 1919 until he was appointed to the Supreme Court Commission of Appeals in 1924 after having served six years. Sam Chapman, father of B. C. Chapman and Walter R. Chapman, were brought to Anson from Bell County by their father, Charlie Chapman. Walter, who later became the district judge, had a teacher's certificate, stayed in Anson, taught school, and then obtained his lawyer's license, while the other members of the family moved on up to Old Marcy, now Rochester, where the elder Chapman bought the general store and operated the Post Office.

Bruce W. Bryant, described as one of the most colorful of the line of judges, was county attorney and served in the State Legislature from Haskell, Throckmorton and Baylor Counties. He had been appointed superintendent of buildings and grounds in Austin, and was serving as an assistant attorney general when Judge Chapman was appointed to the Supreme Court Commission of Appeals. Bryant was named to succeed Judge Chapman, serving on the 39th bench from 1925 until 1950, when he left it to become first Assistant General, returning to Austin under then Governor James V. Allred, of Wichita Falls. When Judge Bryant returned to Austin, Clyde Grissom, now the chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland, was appointed his successor. Judge Grissom, native of Alvord, son of C. D. Grissom, prominent early day merchant in Haskell, and brother of the Grissom mercantile family in Abilene, has had a phenomenal political career. Since 1922, 42 years, he has served successively as Haskell County Attorney, district attorney, district judge, associate justice of the civil appeals court, and now chief justice, without ever having an opponent in a political race. He was district judge in Haskell from 1931 through 1934.

Dennis P. Ratliff, member of the law firm of Ratliff and Ratliff, law firm in Haskell today with a wide and lofty reputation, (there has been a law firm of Ratliff and Ratliff here for 42 years) served two terms, from 1934 through 1942, as the tenth judge of the 39th district court. Born near Gainesville, Dennis Ratliff, and his family moved in 1907 to Wise County. Dennis Ratliff was admitted to the bar in 1920 and came to Haskell and began law practice with his father in 1921. The Ratliffs were law partners of Judge H. G. McConnell, an early day county judge here.

Dennis Ratliff, who was a member of the Texas Legislature from this district from 1930 through 1934, was Governor Allred's appointee to the 39th district bench when Judge Grissom went to the Civil Appeals court. He was elected in 1938 for an additional four years. The Ratliffs have been, and are, well-known as jurists throughout a wide area of this state and Oklahoma, and David Ratliff, though not an attorney, has been state senator from this district for many years.

Judge Ben Charlie Chapman unseated Dennis Ratliff in a torrid race for the district judgeship, and took office on Jan. 1, 1943, as judge of the district which today comprises Haskell, Throckmorton, Stone-wal and Kent Counties. Last Tuesday, Judge Chapman completed his 21st year as judge of the 39th Judicial District of Texas. He has served five four-year terms, and has three years remaining on his current term, his sixth.

The present judge, who credits his uncle and predecessor, Walter R. Chapman and his maternal grandfather, B. B. Greenwood, of Breckenridge and Stamford, of famed jurist newspaper publisher, with his burning desire for the judiciary, "has more foegys (longevity in service) than any of us," declares Ratliff, a longtime and close friend today, though they once were political opponents.

(More about the personalities and colorful accomplishments of this illustrious line of West Texas judges, about whom only the "vital statistics" have been presented, will be told soon in the second and last of the series.)

The Battle of New Orleans during the Civil War was the last battle in which all-wooden vessels were used.

Sprayberry, second vice president; Mrs. W. T. Hines, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Henry Cloud, secretary; Mrs. John A. Lee, treasurer; Mrs. James A. Lisle, historian; Mrs. W. D. Mrs. W. S. Cole was welcomed as a new member.

NEW PRIEST NAMED TO AREA AS MEUREE, NUYTTEN LEAVE

Two Catholic priests who have faithfully served the St. George Catholic Church of Haskell and three other area Catholic churches located at Stamford, Anson, and Hamlin, have been called to new assignments, and a replacement has been named for one of them.

Father James Muere, who has been supervisor of the four churches for seven of the past 10 years, and pastor of St. Ann Catholic Church of Stamford, and Father Roger Nuytten, who has served St. George Church here, as well as other assignments for the past 16 months, are leaving for new posts in Belgium and San Antonio, respectively.

Father Alvin Wilde, 33-year-old priest from Fort Stockton, has come to this area as Father Muere's replacement, and no one has been designated as yet to fill Father Nuytten's vacated position.

Father Wilde is a native Texan, whose parents live at Wall, near San Angelo. He was assistant pastor at Fort Stockton, and was called to Europe and served in a seminary for two years. In 1958, he returned and served as pastor until his departure Wednesday, January 1, for Belgium.

Father Muere explained that Texas Catholic Churches are producing more priests, thereby reducing the need for foreign countries, where Catholicism is the predominant religion, to supply pastors and priests for churches in the United States.

Father Nuytten, whose principal assignment has been with the St. George Catholic Church of Haskell, also is a Belgian.

Both the Catholic priests have lived in the parsonage of the Catholic Church at Stamford, and have also been in charge of not only the St. George Church in Haskell, but the St. Michael Catholic Church of Anson and the Holy Trinity Catholic Church of Hamlin.

Father Wilde and whomever is designated as his assistant will have the same responsibilities.

OLD WEST IS WITH US YET-- 57 CATTLE BRANDS RECORDED

Some of the ways of the Old West are with us yet.

Not a month went by in 1963 without at least one new cattle brand being registered with the office of the Haskell County Clerk, and there were 57 new brands filed in his office all year. County Clerk Bill Reeves reports.

Cattle brand registration at seventy-five cents each accounted for $42.75 of the Haskell County Clerk's total of $11,024.75 in fee collections for 1963, Reeves' annual report, released Monday, shows.

October was the best month for collections on all documents when the figure was $1,088.15. Three other months, March, April, and May, had total collections in excess of $1,000, Reeves said.

June, of course, was the "marringest" month in Haskell County last year, but had to split the honors with October, followed closely by September. A total of 108 marriage licenses were issued in the county in 1963.

The $11,024.75 total revenue in the County Clerk's office here came from the following sources: recording fees, $6,347.95; chattel mortgages, $3,673.75; marriage licenses, $324; Criminal Court fees, $480.85; probate fees, $859.50; civil fees, $16.75; all copies, $947.70; notary bonds, $190; beer, wine, liquor licenses, $125; cattle brands, $42.75; and other fees, including will filing and warehouse certificates, $16.50.

The Good Earth

The blowing wind and pelting rain brings new life to the growing grain.

by MRS. B. F. COBB

If care is taken in the selection of seed and plants, there can be year-round color in the garden. Pyracantha, Nandina and Holly, have red and orange berries ripening in September and remaining on the bush for several months. The vivid red leaves of the Nandina are quite pretty and colorful during winter months. The glossy green leaves of the Holly add charm to the garden.

Tin can tops, hung on a string fluttering in the wind, will discourage birds from feeding on the berries of these shrubs.

Pansies are lovers of cool weather, and have been known to bloom in the snow. Siebera Crocus and Snowdrops flower during February and March.

Hyacinth, Narcissus, Tulips, Amaryllis, Iris, Grape Hyacinth and Daffodil show color from April through May.

Dal Lilies, Verbena, Lupin, Azalea, Mums, and Violets are in bloom from May to killing frost.

Dahlia, Dianthus (Pinks) Daisies, Phlox, Roses, Petunia, Ranunculus, Salvia and Gaiardias are a glorious burst of color from early summer to late fall.

Aster, Chrysanthemum, and Perennial Ageratum, show their blossoms after many annuals have faded and gone.

Annuals and biennials to add to the picture are: Celocia (Cox Comb) and plumed type, Zenia, Bachelor Buttons, Ageratum, Snapdragon, Cornflower and Marigold.

There are many more perennials, biennials, and annuals that could be added to this list, space permitting. Visit your nurseryman, study seed catalogs and enrich "the good earth" with a riot of color the year around.
