A fellow as big, ugly and obnoxious as we are, initials R. W.H., gave us the hard way to go at the ball game last Friday night for (with apologies to Kipling) keeping our old headpiece, when those all about us had discarded theirs for fall felt fedoras. Then, others took up the hue agn' us, and it may be that we will have to succumb to the pressure of pernicious public opinion and shove our summer saddle-roll Stetson straw in favor of a cloth covering.

We are reticent to do this. That particular topper had a special "feel" to it. It was a thing apart, and above, other headpieces we've ever worn, except, perhaps, the time we mistakenly and unknowingly picked up the garrison cap of one Lieut. General Robert W. Harper, Serial No. 212A, or something equally as imposing. The General's hat fit perfectly and attention was called to the fact that I LOOKED as if I could command a whole numbered Air Force if the hardware on my shoulders just corresponded with the shafts and zig-sags which made up the "scrambled eggs" on that cap I was wearing.

Needless to say, I demoted myself quickly and "popped to" with my presentation of his cap to that most respected and beloved General Officer. A native Texan, and now retired, General Harper is now an equally respected and beloved attorney in civilian life down in the Rio Grande Valley.

Speaking of General's hats, and hats in general, that of General MacArthur is a case in point about head casings. His battered, scrambled eggs be-decked garrison cap with the 50-mission "crush" was his trademark. His hat can become a very tangible part of a man, personality-wise.

So it is with our saddle roll straw. We hate to even think of retiring it. But it wouldn't be so bad if we could retire it with dignity, as it were, rather than toss it up on the dark closet shelf. Perish the thought.

There IS such a place in Nashville, Tennessee, where one can preserve the posterity of a headpiece. It's probably one of the reasons in our subconscious why we always seem obligated to return to Printer's Alley in downtown Nashville to see if our hat is still there. Last time we were there, it was.

In Printer's Alley, across the alley from The Brass Rail, a very atmospheric place to eat on the site of, all things, Andrew (Old Hickory) Jackson's stables in other days, is a hole-in-the-wall type of place where the newshounds and lawyers, trial lawyers in particular, have assembled for years. Called "The Key Room," it is a convenient wayside stop for a "sammich" and light refreshment going to or coming from the Davidson County Courthouse in Nashville, en route to or from newspaper or law office. More 8-column banner stories have been "writ" and more lawsuits "won" in dreams right there than there have been gushers drilled in the lobbies of the Kemp or Windsor Hotels.

Back in late '41 and early '42, when seven out of ten of us exchanged our homburgs and horseshoes for something a little more stylish in an olive shade, with bill, the props of the Key Room drove a flock of pegs into an otherwise unadorned wall, for to hang our hats upon. We did, and walked out to war. But those of us who were fortunate enough to return have done so, to the Key Room, many times since.

Because "home" is where your hat is, you know.

Here in Haskell, we ought to have such a "home away from home" for our headpieces. To such a place, the attachment would be strong. Believe us.

Come to think of it, the pictures and other mementoes we understand are at Woody Frazier's place across the street from high school are akin to what we're talking about. There is an irreplaceable, undefinable charm to a place like that, for

Haskell County History

30 YEARS AGO
 (September 20, 1934)

More than 1300 bales of cotton have been ginned in the town of Haskell from the 1934 crop, according to an unofficial report made by the seven gins yesterday afternoon.

Fourteen lettermen, besides other up and coming players, will answer the nod of Coach Bill Richey Friday night for the first football game of the season, and the first in Haskell beneath the mazzas, with the Munday high school team as opponents.

The Haskell County tax rate will be 22 cents less than last year according to the levy made by the Commissioners Court this week for the year 1934.

In a special election held on Saturday in Justice Precinct 4, the sale of 3.2 beer was upheld by a majority of voters. A total of 202 votes were cast in the four voting boxes of Sagerton, McConnell, Joe Bailey and Bunker Hill, for beer, while 182 votes were cast for the repeal of such sales.

Misses Betty Ann Hancock and Pauline Frierson, of Haskell, will be among the co-eds of West Texas State College to lodge at Cousins and Randall Halls.

Miss Alta Frierson left Wednesday for Denton, where she will enter NTST College.

Miss Ermine Daugherty accompanied her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Cooper, to Streetman last Friday, returning Monday.

Mrs. Edward Burleson and son, are here from Waco visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Couch, for a two weeks' period.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richey and Jane, Jack Kimbrough, and Mrs. Ralph Duncan, were in Abilene last Saturday on business.

The Haskell Municipal Band will play for the night football games, and will be on the job those who have "been there." No matter how imposing, or unpretentious the structure itself. So it was, and still is, with us about Printer's Alley.

If you don't believe the American public is sold on "packaging" putting over the product, take a gander at the girde ads these days.

We're told on good authority that copies of Evetts Haley's book, "A Texan Looks At Lyndon," may be found in many motel and hotel rooms these days. It would seem the Republicans may be trying to replace the Gideons in the area of salvation.

One of life's little dramas: We laughed with tears in our eyes last weekend when we heard tell of the considerable lady who was trying to console the Mother who had just bade goodbye to her only child on the campus where he has enrolled in college for the first time. "Now just you don't be upset, Dearie," said the Consoler to the Consolee. "We all have to come to this, and lose them sooner or later," added the Consoler, as she broke down and sobbed heavily herself just with the thought of it!

Did you notice how "cricket" things have been on the Square lately. Thousands of them came in with the first fresh zephyr last Friday. And they're real good company with their "back talk" early of a September morn.

And we've really been 'badgered' into telling you this: Someone left, yes, a BADGER, his teeth clinched around an empty jug of 'Yellow.' Mellow' right at our front door the other dawn. Thanks for bringing the Menagerie to us. Benefactor. Badgers are hard to come by these days. Haskell County Varmints, too!

is an officer in the Regular Army, is at home on a visit. Mr. R. R. Travis, who is a tenant on Capt. J. S. Williams' farm near town, brought in two of the finest stalks of cotton yesterday that we have seen in a long time.

When we see a girl with handmade embroidery on the instep of her hose, we wonder if there are holes in the heels.

Alexander Mercantile Company advertises the latest styles in fall suits, regular value $15 to $18, on sale for $10.

Mr. Booth English has purchased a half interest in the City Meat Market with Mr. J. N. Ellis.

Junior College An Area Asset

We cannot minimize the necessity for immediate, aggressive action in plugging for establishment of a junior college to meet an acute and crying need for education, at minimum expense, beyond high school in this area.

May we point out here that meeting the rigid requirements, even for consideration, by the State Board of Education will take the joint, unselfish effort of not one, or two, but probably four, or even five counties.

And it should also be emphasized here, that while Haskell, and Haskell County, through the leadership of Mrs. Luther Burkett, and others, have taken the initial steps in this effort, the project cannot possibly reach fruition without the full consent and complete cooperation of the entire geographic area, and the people therein, to be designated as a junior college district.

It should be emphasized, moreover, that the site of such a proposed college will be the responsibility of a seven-member Board of Trustees elected by the people to administer the operations of the college district.

The fact that this particular area is beyond the 50-mile limit prescribed by law from any other junior college is more than just a point in favor of establishing such a facility in this territory. More than anything else, it points up the need for a junior college in this area, for economic, social and cultural reasons.

Pampa, which has worked for a year, and met all the other requirements, was turned down only last Saturday because of its proximity to two other established junior colleges at Clarendon and Borger.

Folks in this area could take a tangible lesson from Pampa's experience, and join together in a four or five county-wide concerted move to secure a junior college for this territory, before one is established closer to us, which would preclude that privilege forever.

We commend the action of those who have taken the initiative to investigate the junior college possibilities in the territory. The sooner we make known in person the facts to our neighboring counties, all of them, we obtained from the visit here of the astute Dr. E. W. Musgraves last week, the better will be our opportunity for the action, in concert, of which we speak.

And, in order to accomplish the goal, the junior college endeavor must be an "all for one" and "one for all" proposition in the participating counties.

The revitalizing stimulus, economic and otherwise, that a junior college would provide this whole countryside, could mean more to more people than anything ever undertaken in this area's history to date.

Long Live The Harrisons

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Harrison, of Seymour, celebrate their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary.

If you know Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Harrison, and if you do, then your life has been indelibly enriched, you'll see right off those initials O. C., symbolic of both of these engaging personalities, stand for "Ol' Charmers."

The lives of the Harrisons, and the history of Seymour, have been closely interwoven during those 57 years. That happens also to be the number of years Mr. O. C., one of the genuine deans of Texas Journalism, has been reporting the news from Baylor County.

For a newspaperman to last so long, much less a newspaperman's wife, especially after up with which she has to put, make this wedding anniversary significant on two classic counts!

At the tender age of four score and three years, O. C. makes like a cub reporter when going after a story, and his life's companion still understands when he is late for supper, which is more frequent than not. That's true love for you, after 57 years.

So, the Free Press calls attention to this significant milestone Friday in the lives of our neighbors to the north, the editor and owner-publisher of Seymour's Baylor County Banner, and his devoted wife, two people whose efforts in behalf of the religious, civic, cultural and social activities there have made their town and area a better place in which to live.

Long may they wave.

MRS. CURTIS WAYNE OFFUTT

Shirley Ann Sanders and Curtis Wayne Offutt Married In Weinert Church Rites

Shirley Ann Sanders and Curtis Wayne Offutt were married in First Baptist Church of Weinert Saturday afternoon. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Offutt Sr.

Officiating was the Rev. Jerry Clark, pastor of the Gillespie Baptist Church. Music was presented by Mrs. R. C. Liles, organist, and Judy Therwanger, soloist.

Wanda Miller was maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Judy Offutt, was bridesmaid.

Eddie Roberts was best man and the bride's brother, Kenneth Sanders, was groomsmen. Jerry Hester of Rochester and Danny Owens seated the guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white pearl de soie gown with charmingly lace overlay on bodice. Appliques of lace and seed pearls enhanced the bell skirt. A cabbage rose headdress held her elbow length veil of illusion.

Bridal bouquet was of white carnations and English ivy. Attendants' gowns of pink brocaded taffeta were fashioned like that worn by the bride. Cabbage roses of matching fabric held their butterfly veils. They carried deep pink carnations.

Reception was in the home of Mrs. A. J. Sanders, grandmother of the bride.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Weinert.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Weinert High School and will attend Hardin-Simmons University.

The bridegroom is a 1962 graduate of WHS, attended Texas Technological College and is completing a business course at Draughton's, Abilene. He is engaged in farming near Weinert.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their home.

Mrs. Johnson, in presenting the new yearbooks, declared, "We need to give our all to get full potential as women citizens and B&PW members." As first vice president of the organization, Mrs. Johnson also presented each committee chairman with individually, uniquely prepared booklets citing duties for the year ahead.

The past presidents of the club, seated at the head table in a cluster of tables covered with bright colored cloths and adorned with yard flowers, were presented yellow mums by the hostess. The past presidents are Mmes. Luther Burkett, Leon Pearsey, Opal Adkins, Byron Frazier, Myron Beard, Dr. Gertrude Robinson, and Misses Nettie McCollum and Madalin Hunt.

Arlis Vandiver, pastor of the Rule Church of Christ, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a blue silk-nylon dress, with a bodice of lace. She wore a blue tulle veil and carried a white Bible with a nosegay of white carnations.

Mrs. Collins attended Rule High School, and has been employed at the Fashion Mart for the past year.

The groom is a Haskell High School graduate, attended college one year, and has been on active duty in the armed forces two years. He is in the plumbing and sheet metal business in Rule.
