Former 4-H Club Member Writes About Youth Exchange Program

By: F. W. Martin, Co. Agent
The following information is from a newsletter written from Germany by Rudolph Baumgardner of Otton Route, Plainview, Texas. Rudolph is 21 years old and is a former 4-H Club member in Hale County.

The first land, or state, which I am visiting is Hesse which lies in the heart of Germany. It is bordered on the east by East Germany, on the southeast by Bavaria, on the southwest by the Rhine, and on the northwest by Westphalia. It has an area of about 3,000 square miles and a population of about five million (this gives a population density of about 600 per square mile). The largest cities are Frankfurt and Kassel although Wiesbaden is the capital. Most of the land is rolling, although there are many low mountain ranges which are thickly forested. The highest point is only about 3,000 feet, however. The landscape throughout the land is very picturesque with forest mixed with the neat patchwork design of the farmland and dotted with the thousands of small towns and villages.

Forty percent of the land is forest, most of which is very well tended and managed. Agriculture utilizes 50 percent of the land here in Hesse, and of this about a third is pasture land. The main crops are rye, wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, and sugar beets, although fruits and vegetables are also important. In addition there are some 7,500 acres of vineyards along the Rhine which produce some world-famous wines. With the good soils, mild climate and adequate rain, all the crop yields are high—the five-year average wheat yield for Hesse is 60 bushels per acre. For sugar beets the average yield is about 20 tons per acre, and for potatoes it is about 11 tons per acre.

One of the most striking features of Hesse's agriculture is the way the land is cut into many very small holdings. For example, of the 100,000 farming enterprises in Hesse, 26 percent have less than 5 acres, 27 percent have between 5 and 12.5 acres, and there are only 195 farms with over 200 acres. And very often the land of one farm is divided into many different parcels. For example the IFYE in the neighboring country is living with a family which farms 37 acres; it is scattered over, however, into 42 separate pieces of land. This situation has come about as the result of the inheritance law established by Napoleon I in 1812 which has survived until recent times. It provided that each piece of land must be divided equally among all the children. Although this law probably served its purpose when it was established, it long outlived its usefulness. Since 1920 and especially since 1950, there has been much done to try to recombine the small tracts into larger, more efficient ones. Although great progress has been made so far, it is a slow and tedious process and there is still much to be done.

Another striking characteristic of the agriculture here in Hesse is that the great majority of the farmers do not live out on the farm but instead live in a town or village. There are about 2700 such towns and villages in Hesse, most of which have no more than a thousand people. Usually it is no more than two or three miles to the next village except in some of the mountainous areas. Most of the time the farmer's Hof in the village has stalls for livestock and the living quarters all together in one structure which surrounds a central courtyard on three sides. Many of these 'Hofe' were built hundreds of years ago. Most farming operations include quite a bit of livestock; this way the farmer can make a living without having to have so much land.

The prices for agricultural products here, as in the other Common Market countries, are considerably higher than in the U. S.—at least 50 percent higher in most instances. For example, the support price for wheat is about $3.00 per bushel and the other grain prices are approximately equal to that of wheat on a weight basis. The average slaughter cattle price on the Frankfurt market in 1964 was 21c per pound and for slaughter hogs, the average price was 30c per pound. In 1964, eggs averaged 62c per dozen. Broilers were 43c per pound, and milk sold for about 50c per gallon. Thus it can be seen that with the high prices and high yields a farmer can make a living from much less land than in the United States, generally speaking. Most of the farm families which I have visited in my area have had a very good standard of living, with cars, washing machines and television sets just as we have in the U. S. Even the 200-year-old farm houses are almost always quite modern inside.

The family I am living with during my stay here in Hesse includes the farmer and his wife who are about 60 years of age and a son who is 27. Their farm has 140 acres in two tracts of land which are only about a half mile apart. They have a new, modern house out on the farm with a large barn which contains a 200-head brood sow and hog feeding operation. The house and barn were built only three years ago as part of a program to move the farmers out of the over-crowded villages and out onto the farms. So far there have been approximately a thousand of these new farmsteads constructed in Hesse. They are financed with low-interest, long-term loans from the Land government. The main crops on my first host farm are wheat, barley, corn and sugar beets. Everything is heavily fertilized. Chemical weed control is used on all crops although some additional hand labor is required for the sugar beets."

19 Year Olds Face Draft Calls This Fall

If draft calls remain high, Texas draft boards will be inducting a "considerable number of 19-year-olds" by fall, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said.

"We will induct mostly 21-year-olds in August," Colonel Schwartz said. "Those we'll examine in September for future induction will be mostly 20-year-olds."

By October, he predicted, "we will be examining a considerable number of 19 year olds. If calls remain high, we will be inducting them soon thereafter. We likely will be ordering a few 19-year-olds in September."

The forecast followed receipt of an amended September quota for Texas of 1,459 men and an estimated October call of 1780. Recent monthly quotas have been around 700 to 900.

The state draft director said that the "declining age of involuntary induction during recent months has focused increased attention upon the classification of college students."

He said draft boards were advised the day after President Johnson announced doubling of the draft that, when they question a student's progress they should request him to supply additional information to support continued deferment.

Col. Schwartz also announced that local boards were instructed to mail current information questionnaires to all married men 19 to 26 years old who have no children, except in cases where current information is in the files. This action was also taken the day after the President's announcement.

"This is a preparedness measure and screening job," Col. Schwartz said. "Three things can happen to these men as a result of this survey."

"Those who have children, or hardship conditions, will be deferred formally, those who have wives alone will continue to be passed over for the draft for the time being; but those not living with their wives, or wives and children, in a bona fide family relationship will be subject to the draft at once," the state draft director concluded.

Barley is the world's fourth most important cereal.

The Good Earth

by MRS. B. F. COBB

Once again Haskell has produced an oddity. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Josselot has a dahlia that has two dark maroon blossoms and two flowers that are maroon edged, then three or four rows of orchid petals surrounding a yellow center. The very odd thing is that each stem carries a flower of maroon and one of orchid.

If you desire a big show from your garden this fall, start a clean-up campaign right now.

Cut off all dead blossoms and stems from plants. Rake up fallen leaves under rose bushes. They carry blackspot and mildew fungus. Water plants deeply unless nature produces much-needed moisture.

Do not sprinkle flower beds late in the evening. Moisture left on plants encourages blackspot and mildew.

When spider mites hit marigold, use a very strong spray of water to eradicate the pests. I believe in spraying marigolds around the base of the plant every time I water. This method prevents spider mites from damaging plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scott have three different colors in Crepe Myrtle this year. White, pink and watermelon red crepe myrtles have such large flower heads the trees seem to be one solid bloom. Large elephant ears and maroon hibiscus are planted between the bushes. Mimosa trees shade an emerald green lawn. A large trumpet vine with orange blossoms twines round a post and forms a tree at the top.

If this column is short this time just blame it on the fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scott and my husband and I, with our two grandchildren, Sonya and Steven Gaskins, plan on spending two days at Brownwood lake. We hope to bring in a large quantity of fish.

BRIDES-TO-BE, order your genuine engraved invitations, announcements, thank-you cards and napkins from the Haskell Free Press. 15tp

VA Questions And Answers

Q—As the re-married widow of a veteran, I have never applied for pension because I believe I am not eligible. However, the veteran's son, in my care, may be eligible. Should I apply for a pension for him?
A—You are right in assuming you are not eligible for pension because of your remarriage. But your remarriage does not affect the eligibility of the veteran's son, and you should apply for a pension for him. Your nearest VA office will give you forms and assistance.

Q—Can you tell me how many veterans of the Spanish-American War are still alive?
A—There were only 17,000 Spanish-American War veterans alive on January 1, 1965. The average age of these veterans is 86.6 years and there are more than 2,000 of them over 90 years of age, according to VA records.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 17 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 17. In lieu of the state ad valorem tax on property of Seven Cents (7¢) on the One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) valuation heretofore permitted to be levied by Section 51 of Article III, as amended, there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes permitted by the Constitution of Texas, a state ad valorem tax on property of Two Cents (2¢) on the One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) valuation for the purpose of creating a special fund for the continuing payment of Confederate pensions as provided under Section 51, Article III, and for the establishment and continued maintenance of the State Building Fund as provided in Section 51b, Article III, of the Constitution.

"Also, there is hereby levied, in addition to all other taxes permitted by the Constitution of Texas, a state ad valorem tax on property of Ten Cents (10¢) on the One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) valuation for the purpose of creating a special fund for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and initially equipping buildings and other permanent improvements at the designated institutions of higher learning provided that none of the proceeds of this tax shall be used for auxiliary enterprises; and the governing board of each such institution of higher learning is fully authorized to pledge all or any part of said funds allotted to such institution as hereinafter provided, to secure bonds or notes issued for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and initially equipping such buildings or other permanent improvements at said respective institutions. Such bonds or notes shall be issued in such amounts as may be determined by the governing boards of said respective institutions, shall bear interest not to exceed four per cent (4%) per annum and shall mature serially or otherwise in not more than ten (10) years; provided further, that the state tax on property as heretofore permitted to be levied by Section 9 of Article VIII, as amended, exclusive of the tax necessary to pay the public debt, and of the taxes provided for the benefit of the public free schools, shall never exceed Thirty Cents (30¢) on the One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) valuation. All bonds shall be examined and approved by the Attorney General of the State of Texas, and when so approved shall be incontestable; and all approved bonds shall be registered in the office of the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas. Said bonds shall be sold only through competitive bids and shall never be sold for less than their par value and accrued interest.

"The following state institutions then in existence shall be eligible to receive funds raised from said Ten Cent (10¢) tax levy for the twelve-year period beginning January 1, 1966, and for the succeeding ten-year period:

Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches
St. Ross State College at Alpine
Angelo State College at San Angelo.
"Eighty-five per cent (85%) of such funds shall be allocated by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas on June 1, 1966, and fifteen per cent (15%) of such funds shall be allocated by said Comptroller on June 1, 1972, based on the following determinations:
"(1) Ninety per cent (90%) of the funds allocated on June 1, 1966, shall be allocated to state institutions based on projected enrollment increases published by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System for fall 1966 to fall 1978.
"(2) Ten per cent (10%) of the funds allocated on June 1, 1966 shall be allocated to certain of the eligible state institutions based on the number of additional square feet needed in educational and general facilities by such eligible state institution to meet the average square feet per full time equivalent student of all state senior institutions (currently numbering twenty-two).
"(3) All of the funds allocated on June 1, 1972, shall be allocated to certain of the eligible state institutions based on determinations used in the June 1, 1966, allocations except that the allocations of fifty per cent (50%) of the funds allocated on June 1, 1972, shall be based on projected enrollment increases for fall 1972 to fall 1978, and fifty per cent (50%) of such funds allocated on June 1, 1972, shall be based on the need for additional square feet of educational and general facilities.
"Not later than June first of the beginning year of each succeeding ten-year period the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas shall reallocate eighty-five per cent (85%) of the funds to be derived from said Ten Cent (10¢) ad valorem tax for said ten-year period and not later than June first of the sixth year of each succeeding ten-year period said Comptroller shall reallocate fifteen per cent (15%) of such funds to the eligible state institutions then in existence based on determinations for the said ten-year period that are similar to the determinations used in allocating funds during the twelve-year period beginning January 1, 1966, except that enrollment projections for succeeding ten-year periods will be from the fall semester of the first year to the fall semester of the tenth year. All such designated institutions of higher learning shall not thereafter receive any general revenue funds for the acquiring or constructing of buildings or other permanent improvements for which said Ten Cent (10¢) ad valorem tax is herein provided, except in case of fire, flood, storm, or earthquake occurring at any such institution, in which case an appropriation in an amount sufficient to replace the uninsured loss so incurred may be made by the Legislature out of any General Revenue Funds. The State Comptroller of Public Accounts shall draw all necessary and proper warrants upon the State Treasury in order to carry out the purpose of this Amendment, and the State Treasurer shall pay warrants so issued out of the special fund hereby created for said purpose. This Amendment shall be self-enacting. It shall become operative so as to supersede and repeal the former provisions of this Section; provided further, that nothing herein shall be construed as impairing the obligation incurred by any outstanding notes or bonds heretofore issued by any state institution of higher learning under this Section prior to the adoption of this Amendment but such notes or bonds shall be paid, both as to principal and interest, from the fund so allocated to any such institution. Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at the General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A.D. 1965, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon:
"FOR the Amendment to Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas by amending Section 17 thereof, providing a method of payment for the acquiring, constructing and equipping buildings and other permanent improvements at certain state institutions of higher learning."
"AGAINST the Amendment to Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas by amending Section 17 thereof, providing a method of payment for the acquiring, constructing and equipping buildings and other permanent improvements at certain state institutions of higher learning."
Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this state.

the U. S. Study Commission made its allowance as of 2,010," Freese said.

"A small part of the difference in our finding (3,970 acre feet per year) and that of the Study Commission (1,900 acre feet per year) is due to the difference in silt allowance," continued Freese. Most of the difference, he pointed out, is due to the fact that the Study Commission took into account soil and water conservation practices which they expect to be put into effect in the watershed, and which they predicted would substantially reduce the available run-off into the Lake Stamford Reservoir. His firm, Freese said, took no account of those factors in their computations.

"In any case," Freese stated, "the most optimistic computation of the yield available to Stamford is 50 per cent of 3,970 acre feet per year, i.e., 1,985 acre feet per year, or an average of 1,770,000 gallons per day."

His report also pointed out that the current total use by Stamford and Hamlin from Lake Stamford is approaching 1,500 acre feet per year. Based on average figures for increased water consumption during the past 10 years, Freese said, "It should be anticipated that the rate of increase in total use will be at least 40 acre feet per annum for the next 15 years."

"On this basis," he continued, "the future total use will be at least 1,500 acre feet in 1965, 1,700 acre feet in 1970, 1,900 acre feet in 1975, and 2,100 acre feet in 1980. Based on these considerations, it is our best judgment that the total use of Stamford and Hamlin from Lake Stamford will reach Stamford's 50 per cent of the safe yield prior to 1980."

It was also pointed out that under the contract now in effect between Stamford and Hamlin for the sale of water, if Hamlin were to utilize the maximum total water available under the contract, the point could be reached where Hamlin had more water available from the lake than was available for use in Stamford.

West Texas Utilities Co., has advised his firm, Freese said, that its power plant at Lake Stamford with a rating of 113,000 kw, used an average of 821 acre feet of water per year during the past four years, considerably less than their half of the water stored in the reservoir.

The company plans, however, to build an additional 110,000 kw generating plant at Lake Stamford in 1970, a still larger one in 1974, and to bring their facilities to a size requiring their full half of the water by 1979.

The extension of the start of construction is the third granted by the Water Commission.

ner, as is their right, it is an unfortunate fact that the loudest voices heard are those of the peaceniks and beatniks... some of whom even now loudly proclaim that they will not fight for their nation."

In tracing the development of Texas, Carr noted that "While once the problems Texans faced were limited to one continent, today, with instantaneous communications and no point on earth more than a few hours away, our horizons have broadened and the entire world has become of vital importance to us."

A large number of persons filed through the depot museum and were amazed at the progress of renovating the old Fort Worth and Denver depot. Proceeds from "Hey-Day" will be used to complete the museum project.

August State Draft Quota Calls For 891

The state draft quota for August calls for 891 men, compared to 908 for July, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said recently.

The state quota of 891 for August is the Texas share of a national call for 16,500 men, all for the Army.

The state Selective Service director also announced pre-induction physical and mental examinations for around 5,000 men in August.

Local board quotas for the August call already have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local boards.

The August quota will be filled mostly with men who are volunteers under 26 years of age old and non-volunteers ages 19 through 25. Most of them will be 21 years old.

No man whose draft board file reflects that he is maintaining a bona fide family relationship with a wife or a child or children will be selected in response to this call.

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

C of C Directors Hear Progress Report Tuesday

A report of "Hey-Day" ideas and suggestions for a County Fair, a report of the Management Institute in Houston, and other matters were discussed in the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday, 7:00 a. m., at Sam's Cafe.

Clot-C President, Don Muenzler, presided over the early-morning session.

To date, approximately 20 out of 50 projects of the local Chamber of Commerce have been completed this year, Manager Luther Walker reported.

Walker is in contact with Austin concerning the Industrial Foundation to be organized for the possibility of industry locating in Haskell. It was suggested that a "Town Hall" meeting might create interest in conjunction with the Foundation, in order that pro's and con's might be discussed. An attendance committee was recommended to interest citizens in attending "Town Hall" sessions.

President Muenzler reported that Jaycees had erected another of the highway signs south of town and the poles and braces were set-up for the third sign to be installed.

Directors were reminded of the "Flea Market" to be held Dollar Day, next Tuesday, August 17th.

Lions Hear Rev. Patterson Tuesday Noon

Rev. J. V. Patterson, pastor of the local First Methodist Church, spoke to members of the Haskell Lions Club at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting.

In a very interesting talk containing humor as well as serious angles of life, Rev. Patterson left club members with a very important lesson of service and unselfishness.

The genial pastor closed his talk with the story of "The Little Life Saving Station" which over the years turned into a self-centered selfish club, instead of one which had originally been established to help those in time of need, trouble and disaster.

"Sometimes civic clubs are like the 'Little Life Saving Station'... they oftentimes get involved in trivial matters, become selfish and wrapped-up in their own little group and do not obtain the objectives upon which they were founded," Rev. Patterson said.

Haskell Receives Nearly Half-Inch Rain, Friday

According to Sam B. "The Weatherman," an inch of rain was received Friday night.

The much-needed rain perked-up crop conditions, brought relief "for a while" from the heat.

WARNING!

County Judge Jim Alvis issued the following statement to the press this week... and a word to the wise should be sufficient.

Haskellites, especially elderly people, should be cautious and check with reliable sources before buying insurance from out-of-town salesmen. "Don't let the fly-by-night insurance salesman mislead you concerning the medicare program, and be sure you are dealing with reliable agents and companies you know something about," Judge Alvis said.
