Tops in Blue a success

by A1C Robin Reams
Staff Writer, Roundup

Monday night, the Tops In Blue cast performed to a full house at Simler Theater, if you didn't catch the show:

From the planet of Annoid, in the Lexicon galaxy, light years from earth, the aliens, disguised as Tops in Blue traveled in search of a fundamental government which establishes rights and protects the freedoms of the people.

With the aid of an earth "nerd" the cast traveled in their time machine through the "flaming forties," "the rockin' and rollin' 50's and 60's" and "the discotheque" eras of earth's history.

Through the changing of America's music, they came to understand how our Constitution has survived two hundred years, and how the people of the United States have the perseverance and determination to defend their belief in a democratic style of government.

The Tops in Blue cast departed Reese with the hope that the discovery of the Constitution of the United States of America could provide the basis for a fundamental government which establishes rights and protects the freedoms their people have all but forgotten on the planet Annoid.

Dental plan information update

by Anna Mercurio
Staff Writer, Air Force News Service

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Using the new dental plan that went into effect Aug. 1 should be a simple process for eligible active-duty dependents, according to Maj. Marlene Brake, chief of the Personnel Plans Institutional Benefits Section at Headquarters Air Force.

More than 80,000 licensed dentists in the United States are participating in the plan, which the government hopes will take a bite out of the bills service people pay for dependent dental care.

Major Brake said users of the Dental

Plan should identify themselves as such when making appointments with participating doctors. She said no other identification is necessary. Participating dentists will have claim forms available and will submit the claim. Health benefits advisers at clinics and hospitals also will have forms.

People who use a non-participating dentist should obtain claim forms before treatment and ask the dentist for help in completing them. In these cases, the Major said, patients will have to pay the dental bill, but can submit a claim to the insurance company for reimbursement of covered services.

"If someone chooses a non-participating dentist, the individual will be reimbursed at the allowable rate for that procedure in that area," Major Brake explained. All costs over the allowable rate are the responsibility of the service member.

The Major stressed that the best course is to use dentists on the list.

"Participating dentists have accepted the rate at which Delta Dental Plan of California, contractor for the program, pays for particular procedures," she said.

Under the Dental Plan, the service member's monthly premium covers checkups, fluoride treatments and X-rays. There is a co-payment of 20 percent for each filling or other basic restorative service.

If a visit to a participating dentist reveals that non-covered treatment is needed, the member should expect to pay for that treatment, Major Brake said.

Delta Dental will soon mail benefits brochures to enrollees and health benefits advisers.

A list of participating dentists in the Lubbock area is now available through the Health Benefits Advisor's Office. For dentist's names call 885-3581.

Military justice system works

by Maj. Robert Schwartz
64th ABG/JA

It is important that the military system work. It is just as important that military members perceive it to be working.

There are many reasons for having a military justice system. Getting down to the basics, there are three main reasons: maintaining discipline, punishing offenders and presenting a deterrent to misconduct.

The purpose of this article is two-fold, to deter misconduct and to show that the military justice system works. The following is a list of Article 15s completed during the month of July.

Incident 1: A Captain from MA signed an official document knowing that some of the information he provided was incorrect. Offense involved: False Official Statement. Punishment: $500 forfeiture (fine in a civilian court) a month for two months and a reprimand.

Incident 2: An Airman from ABG was late to work. Offense involved: Failure

To Go. Punishment: $50.00 forfeiture a month for two months.

Incident 3: A Sergeant assigned to a tenant unit did not report for duty. Offense involved: Failure To Go. Punishment: Reduction to A1C and $100.00 forfeiture.

Considering that we have processed 52 Article 15s this year, along with two court-martials, I believe we have shown a commitment to prevention of further misconduct. Please try to avoid becoming part of that commitment.

Did you know?

In July, 1987, 2962 checks for over $3.4 million were issued by the Accounting and Finance Office.

Bits and Pieces . . .

Col. Mark Lillard, III
Wing Commander

Last Friday's graduation was my first as wing commander. Sitting there and watching the members of UPT Class 87-07 receiving their wings brought back memories of my graduation a "couple" of years ago. Back then and now, the nearly one year of training culminating in that special day a student becomes a pilot, requires the combined hard work of many people. Recognition of those people behind the scenes is not always there, but hopefully the knowledge that each person is indispensable will never be lost. Each graduation should be a time to look back with pride and satisfaction, and a time to look forward to the new challenges. As you know, Maj. Gen. Delligatti, Air Training Command Deputy Chief of Staff Plans, took time from his busy schedule to visit Reese last Thursday and Friday. He was very pleased with our hospitality and we were indeed fortunate to have him as graduation speaker. It's always interesting to listen to someone who has experienced so much.

The following letter of appreciation adressed to me illustrates the often used phrase "Reese Family."

"During the months of June and July, my wife and I were on emergency leave in Lubbock to handle a complicated family situation. We became part of the Reese scene and used your facilities and services extensively—to include billeting, CBPO, services, telephones and the like. I could probably write out a page long list naming people who were kind to us in many ways—I won't because your entire team deserves a pat on the back. Your community reflects what the Air Force family is all about—taking care of our own. I am proud to have been associated with a super group of professionals—if only for a short while."—from Col. James M. Amodeo, commander, 2005th Information Systems Wing, APO, New York.

I think you'll agree that we really do have something special here at Reese—thank you for letting me be a part of it.

America's Armed Forces- A sacrificial calling

by Chaplain Robert Stroud

Would you willingly lay down your life for another? Would you voluntarily take the place of someone scheduled to die? Can you conceive of substituting yourself for a person marked for death?

Difficult questions to answer honestly. Such an action would reflect a love and willingness to sacrifice that transcends our experience. It may recall for some the words of Jesus of Nazareth: "Greater love has no one than this, that he lay down his life for his friends." Or perhaps, the acknowledgement of Paul of Tarsus that, "very rarely will anyone die for a righteous man, though for a good man someone might possibly dare to die."

Still, in spite of the awesome seriousness of this question, the fact is that all of us who wear our nation's military uniforms have, simply by this commitment, expressed a willingness to lay down our very lives for our fellow citizens. Admittedly, in peacetime such a prospect seems distant. Nevertheless, our pledge is to be prepared and ready, any hour of any day, to defend our land with our blood and life's breath.

Among the many examples of men and women who have sacrificially offered their lives for the sake of others, I would like to share with you a story about a humble man who did just this, forty-six years ago. Although he was not a military member, Maximilian Kolbe was a man acquainted with the cost of war. Imprisoned by the invading Nazi forces which swept over his native Poland, Father Kolbe was sent with thousands of other hapless individuals to the death camp at Auschwitz. While imprisoned, Kolbe freely gave of himself, ministering to others.

In August of 1941, a rare occurrence transpired. Someone escaped from cell block 14, in which Father Kolbe was confined. The Nazi's had a cruel and effective method of discouraging further escape attempts. They mustered the remaining prisoners from that particular barracks, and randomly chose ten prisoners to die—in payment for the escape. Their death was to come from nothing as merciful as a firing squad; Auschwitz reserved for them space in its "starvation cell."

One can imagine standing breathless in the ranks as the guard slowly paced down each row, pausing before each individual, choosing those destined to die a horrible death.

Kolbe was not one of those selected. However, he was aware that one who was chosen was a father with young children. Kolbe asked the officer in charge: "Sir, may I request permission to substitute myself for this young man?" We can imagine the shock of everyone present. Permission was granted and Kolbe took his place with the other nine.

Death by starvation would have been terrible enough, but as Kolbe still lingered, and the jailers needed the space in the starvation cell for others, his death was hastened with an injection of carbolic acid.

Now, few of us will ever face as clear a choice as did Father Kolbe. And, with God's grace, none of us ever will. But, as members of America's defense forces, we express daily our commitment to offer our own lives in the protection of others. Though our hope and prayer is always for peace, should the time come, may we courageously follow the example of Father Kolbe, and countless others, who have willingly laid down their lives for their neighbors.

Area Defense Council is here to help

Capt. Robert C. Bartlemay

by A1C Robin Reams
Staff Writer, Roundup

In July, 1975, the Air Force implemented the Area Defense Counsel Program.

The program, designed to improve the credibility of the military justice system, removes the military defense counsel from the base's chain of command.

Capt. Robert Bartlemay, Reese's Area Defense Counsel is assigned to the Office of the Judge Advocate General in Washington, D.C.

Captain Bartlemay assists Reese personnel in preparing responses to letters of reprimands, understanding their rights when under criminal investigation, knowing their rights on acceptance or refusal on non-judicial punishment concerning Article 15's, and advises military members on all phases of a Court-Martial Trial or Administrative Discharge Actions.

"Before an individual is served an Article 15, their commander, the Security Police or first sergeant took the time to consult on the legalities of the case," said Captain Bartlemay, "When an individual is read his Article 15, that person has the option to ask for a lawyer. Here at Reese, that's me," he added.

"I look at the facts and investigate the issues from the side of the accused," Capt. Bartlemay said.

Captain Bartlemay, originally from Richmond, Indiana is a graduate of Indiana University. He received his legal degree from the University of Toledo, Toledo, Ohio. He passed his bar exam in 1983. Shortly after receiving his license to practice law from the state of Indiana, he entered the service.

As a lawyer, certified by the state of Indiana, Captain Bartlemay is bound by a code of confidentiality to his clients.

"My job is to help individuals prepare a statement, explaining why events happened (leading to an article 15) and seeking to lessen the punishment," Captain Bartlemay said. "In the end, it's the individual that makes the decisions, I am here to give them the best advice I can to help them make the best decisions."

Captain Bartlemay cannot assist military members in a civilian court action, in claims against the government, military pay problems or military-related difficulties that fall under another staff agency.

If you have any question about the Area Defense Counsel program or are in need of defense services, Captain Bartlemay can be reached at 3645 or 3646.

Motorcycle training is a must for driving

by SSgt. Leslie W. Johnson
Ground Safety Technician

Many cyclists who come through the safety office have negative attitudes concerning motorcycle training. These individuals believe the Air Force is "just out to hassle me."

Knowing how to handle a motorcycle in an emergency situation is a must! Regardless of what people say, a person is not just born a motorcycle rider/expert. It takes good training and experience to make a good cyclist.

The following letter from Lubbock USAF recruiter TSgt. Mike Matheny was recently received at the Wing Safety Division:

"I thought you all might like to know you are doing a great job on motorcycle safety. Keep it up. Here is my story." — Sergeant Matheny

"At approx. 8:15 a.m. on July 30, 1987 I was riding my motorcycle to work, taking my normal route. I came to the Brownfield exit off Loop 289 and was slowing and braking when I saw an oil slick in the road. My bike started sliding. I immediately got off my brakes and counter steered to the left which put me back in an upright position.

By now I was too close to the shoulder of the road and the force of the slide was crying me on off the side. I was now in direct line of a road marker sign so I veered to the left, missing it and went on down the grassy embankment and started braking. I came almost to a stop.

I turned around and climbed back up and got on the road and came on to my office. I called the Lubbock Police Department to inform them of the hazard which was due to all the road work going on Loop 289, and that the road crews should clean it up.

"In review of this incident, several things I think helped me. I have attended MOST II and the Motorcycle Safety Foundation's Better Biking Program and I read motorcycle magazines about various safety procedures. I drive and ride defensively, trying to anticipate what 'might' happen and what would I do.

I was wearing my full face helmet and leather gloves; I had my uniform on with a light jacket. I enjoy riding and hope to have many more years of enjoyable riding."

The officer's club is now serving a variety of foods to suit all appetites. Normal weekday lunch menu now offers a choice of pasta bar, a potato bar, personalized stir-fry meals, buffet salad bar, and make your own deli sandwich bar. All of the above is served with a choice of two different soups. These selections are in addition to the regular traditional hot lunch lines. (USAF Photo)

Prime BEEF on the move

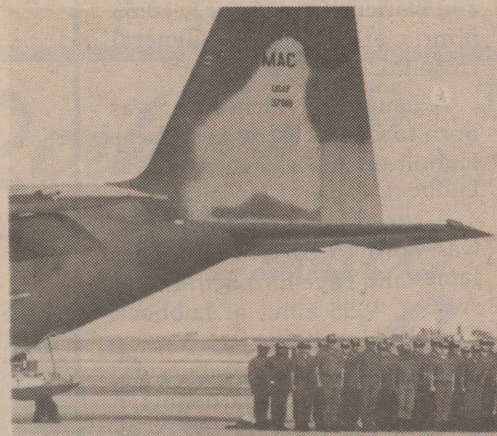

by A1C Robin Reams
Staff Writer, Roundup

Prisoner of War Survival Camp is an important part of training for Air Force pilots and air crew members. The camp, located at Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington is currently being rebuilt by Air Training Command Civil Engineer Primary Base Engineer Emergency Forces (Prime BEEF).

At 6:30 Sunday morning, 46 Reese Prime BEEF troops assembled to participate in a combined mobility exercise, with several other ATC Bases to rebuild the POW Camp.

The team, led by 1st Lt. Peter Schmid and MSgt. Larry Weatherall departed for Fairchild AFB at 10:35 a.m. While there, the Reese Civil Engineers will construct some of the basic facilities at the camp during their two week stay.

The Prime BEEF force is scheduled to return home Aug. 30. Family members interested in meeting the troops upon their arrival should contact 1st Lt. Mark Stuart or MSgt. Ron Goodmon of the Civil Engineering Readiness Division, 3483 for the exact arrival time.

Freedom to salute our flag

by CMSgt. Coy K. Martin
Senior Enlisted Advisor

I stood in front of Wing Headquarters, during our last formal retreat ceremony. My purpose was to show respect for my country and those who have sacrificed their time, money and even lives so you and I can be free.

It was an enjoyable time because there was a camaraderie of kindred spirits in people willing to demonstrate publicly their loving support for their flag. Earlier, at 7 a.m., I had also stood in front of that building when our flag was raised. This time there were only a few present. The security policeman and duty officer were the official contingent raising the flag and I was unofficially representing the beneficiaries of the American dream. Others were present whether they realized it or not.

As I often stand in front of the base flagpole during weekday mornings I see some of these "others" doing something that needs some attention.

Perhaps a dozen or so people pass by Bldg. 800 during "Reveille" and maybe half of them stop while the others pass right on by. This happens while "Reveille," the music announcing our flag is about to be raised, plays and sometimes even as "To the Colors" is playing and the flag is actually being raised.

We are free, at least off base (several Public Laws regulate conduct on Federal property) to choose whether or not we will pay respect to our flag. Our system of government guarantees us that freedom, except as noted above, but requires something from us in return. We have to be willing to cherish and protect our nation if we can expect to continue enjoying our freedom.

There is an easy way for us to show that willingness. Motorist should stop their car, turn off the engine and sit at attention until the flag is raised and the music is finished. Many do that and I appreciate it, but some do not. A few people are occasionally walking in the vicinity when the bugle signals the beginning or end of another duty day. Most give the proper respect but some seem to not know what is expected. Military members in uniform should face the flag, or direction of the music if the flag is not visible, and go to the position of parade rest as "Reveille" is played. On the first note of "To the Colors" they should come to attention and salute until the last note has sounded.

Civilians and military members not in uniform should face the flag or direction of the music and place their right hand over their hearts. Hats should be removed and held in the right hand. Those indoors are not required to do anything so they do not have to worry about this respect business, but I have something to say to them anyway. While working in Bldg. 800 over the years, I have seen many retreat ceremonies and I have seen a number of people leave work early to go out the back door or line up inside the building until the flag was lowered. I think their actions are as disrespectful as some of those outside. Wouldn't it be refreshing instead to see people eager to publicly honor that symbol of America?

Some may disagree with what I have said. They may say they don't have to do as I have suggested, at least off base, and they are right. They may say they have to respect that flag on base but they are free to do as they please elsewhere, and again they are right. I hope they continue to be.

I also hope I have the continued freedom to salute our flag.

Commander's Column

Excellence is a journey not a destination

by Col. Ramon Broerman
Deputy Commander for Maintenance

In my past three articles, I've written about Pride, Professionalism, and Attitude, the watchwords of Reese. Emblazoned on our hangars, they serve as perpetual reminders of what we're all about, and as public statements of our intent, visible to all. What they represent is a standard of excellence second to none.

Shortly, we're going to get to display that excellence once more, with the ATC Unit Effectiveness Inspection (UEI), which is, at this point, not creeping up on us—rather, it's rushing toward us at blinding speed. If I read the Inspector General regulation right, the interval for UEIs is 18 months. If you recall that our last one was in April 1986—Bingo! Before that, though, we have a number of other challenges to meet.

Next week is our Readiness Staff Assistance Visit (SAV) by ATC—another time to put our best foot forward and show our stuff. The team is large, and there's no question that we'll get to exercise every facet of our readiness plans. It may be a little sporty, with our Security Police just back from their two-week competition; our Prime Beef team gone to the northwest; a large number of maintainers wrapped up in the ATC Maintenance Management "Road Show" class and the Core Automated Maintenance System training program; a heavy flying schedule; and a large number of new players in new jobs. Despite all of that—we'll do well.

We always do, and we do it when things are toughest, as we always seem to pull together just that little bit more that puts us over the top. Following the SAV, we face one of the larger challenges of the year, the end of the "101 Critical Days," and the most dangerous holiday of all—the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The challenge is for all of us to survive and be back after the weekend. The only way that happens is for all of us to be careful, and to care for each other. Looking at the odds, Labor Day has always struck me as a great time to stay home, enjoy the family, and avoid the "killing ground" our highways become.

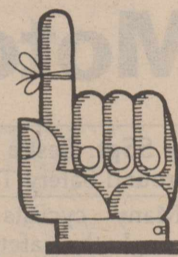

If you must travel: recognize the hazards, take the necessary precautions, and come back alive. Believe me, you're needed—by your family, the Reese community, and the Air Force. Once over that hurdle, it's time to prepare for our great Open House, the 40th Anniversary of the Air Force as a separate service, and Career Day.

Lots of visiting aircraft, lots of food, lots of fun, and another chance to show our employers, the taxpayers, what it is that we do so well—keeping the peace. Once that's over, if it hasn't slipped in somewhere in the middle, the next thing is the UEI—our scorecard, and the single most important demonstration of our talent.

Normal rules apply—be honest with the inspectors, don't hesitate to tell them what we've done that's good, and be ever ready to demonstrate that team spirit so much a part of Reese. That's how we got where we are and that's how we'll stay at the peak.

As a parting shot—a repeat of a past wing commander's quote. Never forget, "Excellence is a journey, not a destination." If we remember that, and live by it, we'll do well and meet every challenge.

AFIT Selection Process

Selection of officers to obtain advanced academic degrees in both technical and managerial disciplines through the Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT) is underway. Selection will continue through September 1987 for school entry in May-June 1988.

Screening for Fiscal Year 1988 AFIT selection is based on academic and military records. Openings are available in the scientific, engineering, logistics and management specialties for attendance at the residence school at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Officers must have a minimum grade point average of 2.5 or better on a 4.0 scale and have successfully passed specific math/scientific oriented courses, as appropriate depending on the academic degree being considered.

Officers may apply by completing section IIIB (Academic Objectives) of the AF Form 90. Eligible officers must have a satisfactory graduate record exam (minimum 100 or verbal and quantitative combined) or graduate management admission test (minimum of 500) score for AFIT admission. AFIT/RR at Wright-Patterson AFB (AUTOVON 785-6231) makes final decision on academic eligibility for AFIT programs and should be contacted about any eligibility concerns. Rated officers made available for school can expect to be out of the cockpit for about four and one-half years (15-18 months for school and three years directed duty assignment after school). Sources of information are AFR 5-5, Chapter 4, and AFR 36-20, Chapter 8.

An important reminder

by AIC Robin Reams
Staff Writer, Roundup

Why didn't my article get printed in the Roundup? Have you ever found yourself wondering this?

The deadline for submitting articles to be printed in the Roundup is noon, Monday for that Friday's edition. In addition to the noon deadline, articles should be typed, double spaced, capital and lower case letters. This allows the newspaper staff to make minor corrections, without retyping the entire article.

Most of the people who submit items for publication are not journalists, and they don't want to be, but some basic rules of thumb in newspaper style are pretty simple:

Dates— Aug. 22, 1987, not 22 Aug 87

Times—2 p.m. not 1400

It doesn't take a formal request form to have something printed in the Roundup, all we need is the information (typed), the person's name who wrote the article and a phone number where that person can be reached. It may help to give the staff a call before writing the article, to make sure it can be used in the paper.

The Aug. 8 issue of the Roundup contained a list of all of the Squadron Unit Public Affairs Representatives, these are individuals that the newspaper staff works with regularly from individual squadrons.

If there is a subject that you would like to see covered in the Roundup, contact your representative, or call the Public Affairs Office in Bldg. 800, room 307. We'll be happy to fill you in on the details, and print some of your work in the paper.

interested in writing the article, let us know. Just give us the facts, we'll do the rest.

In addition to writing articles for the paper, individuals who are interested in drawing graphics, cartoons or taking pictures in their spare time should stop by the Public Affairs Office in Bldg. 800, room 307. We'll be happy to fill you in on the details, and print some of your work in the paper.

Drugs part IV

Air Force rescues blue suiters drowning in alcohol

by MSgt. Kathleen Grey
ATC Public Affairs

Editor's note: This is the fourth in a five-part series on drug and alcohol abuse in Air Training Command. In the final article, we'll look at the alcoholism rehabilitation center at Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center, Lackland AFB, Texas.

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (ATCNS)—Drug use in Air Training Command is declining and part of the reason for that may be the fact that users stand a good chance of being kicked out of the Air Force if they're caught.

If an airman is using drugs and has had other behavioral problems, that person will not be allowed to remain in the Air Force, says John Lowrance, base drug and alcohol officer here. "We retain only airmen with outstanding records," he said. "Whether an airman is to be retained or not is determined by the commander. Those we're not keeping are counseled and offered treatment through local Veterans Administration hospitals when separated."

Alcohol abusers, on the other hand, are retained on active duty during rehabilitation. "Commanders are required to refer people involved in incidents

The Twelve Steps of Alcoholics
Anonymous

1. We admitted we were powerless over alcohol—that our lives had become unmanageable.
2. Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.
3. Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood him.
4. Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves.
5. Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of our wrongs.
6. Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character.
7. Humbly asked Him to remove our shortcomings.
8. Made a list of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all.
9. Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.
10. Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong promptly admitted it.
11. Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out.
12. Having had a spiritual awakening as a result of these Steps, we tried to carry this message to alcoholics, and to practice these principles in all our affairs.

where alcohol is a factor, for example, arrest for driving while intoxicated, public intoxication or domestic disturbance investigations," Mr. Lowrance said.

"Commanders and supervisors often refer people for substandard conduct or performance on the job, such as smelling alcohol on a person's breath. Other people are referred by their doctors or voluntarily come in because they are concerned about their own drinking or about a family member's drinking," he added.

"Once they're here, they enter an evaluation phase for 15 days. At this point, nothing is entered in the person's personnel records—it is purely an evaluation. A person from my office and the mental health clinic take a look at the person and their records, whether there's been trouble with alcohol before. About half of those evaluated enter the alcohol rehabilitation," he added.

A rehabilitation committee meeting is then held. Members include the person's commander, social actions, mental health, supervisor and chaplain. They report their findings to the member's commander, who then decides if the person needs rehabilitation and, if so, whether in or outpatient rehab is needed.

"Most of the people seen here aren't addicted to alcohol," Mr. Lowrance said. "If addicted, they are sent to the Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center at Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center at Lackland AFB, Texas.

"The majority of the people we get can stop drinking, but once they start, they either don't want to stop or lose control. They're entered into the local rehabilitation, which is mostly an education process."

The rehabilitation, which lasts for 30 days, includes a six-hour chemical awareness seminar, an Alcoholics Anonymous 12 step study group, an individual and group counseling. The awareness seminar is designed to familiarize people with the Air Force policy toward alcohol abuse, the idea of "responsible drinking," and the symptoms of alcoholism.

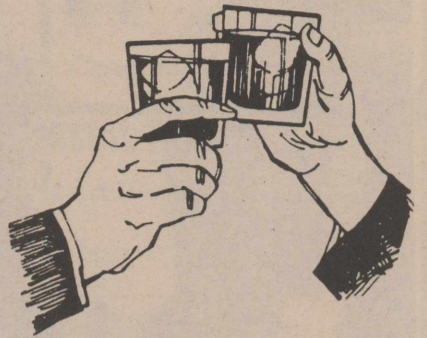

The study group introduces people to the 12 steps of Alcoholics Anonymous; individual counseling sessions deal with establishing goals and discussing specific actions to accomplish these goals.

There are two types of group sessions: the educational group's goal is to familiarize people with the symptoms of alcoholism; support group members believe they're alcoholics, want to learn all they can about the disease and help each other not to drink.

After 30 days, the rehab committee meets again to check people's progress. If they are progressing, they are entered into follow-on support, which is customized to meet each individual's needs. There are individual and group counseling sessions. Discussions with counselors include long term goals and how to best achieve them.

"Once they're entered into follow-on support, Air Force involvement diminishes," Mr.

Lowrance said. "We continue to see them about once a month for 60 days to a year. We emphasize that their behavior must be up to standard whether they're drinking or not. We tell them, 'If alcohol makes you slip on standards, it would be dumb for you to drink, but it's up to you. We didn't make you drink and we can't make you stop drinking.'"

The drug and alcohol counselor added that they frequently refer people to AA, chaplain, mental health and other on and off base agencies in support of the individual's goals and treatment plan.

Community relation participants needed

With the fall and a new school year approaching, community relations activities around the base will be increasing. Many organizations and schools in the Lubbock area will be requesting tours of the base and speeches by base personnel.

In order to be prepared for these requests, the Community Relations Branch of the Public Affairs Office is looking for base personnel to be tour guides for base tours and members of the Base Speaker's Bureau.

Either position can give you an opportunity to interact with the people who provide vital support to Reese.

If you are interested in participating in base tours or the Base Speaker's Bureau, contact 2nd Lt. Cecily Christian in the Public Affairs Office at 3410.

Reminder: All speeches to off-base organizations and all tours of the base must be cleared through the Public Affairs Office prior to confirmation of that activity.

Vital link for retirees

The 3800 member retiree community in the Reese AFB area has a home and single point of contact on Reese known as the Retiree Activities Office—RAO. The RAO opened its doors April 15, 1986, and operates as a fully integrated staff agency at Reese. It is manned from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily as a service to retirees and spouses by retiree volunteers, termed Staff Coordinators.

According to retired Col. Haynes Baumgardner, Director of the RAO, "There are 10 of us who serve as Staff Coordinators. Our backgrounds range from NCOs to a marine colonel. We are truly a multi-service staff. It takes many of us to man the office because most of us are fully employed and must take time from our business to share the duty to serve our retiree community," continues Baumgardner.

Staff Coordinators can respond to a multitude of subjects related to the retiree. They promptly refer calls to appropriate staff agencies if they do not have the answer. "We have assisted many retirees and spouses, some with problems existing for many months," says Baumgardner. "Use your RAO by calling 885-6261, or drop by the RAO in the CBPO, next door to the Reception Center, Bldg. 920," concluded Baumgardner.

The RAO publishes a quarterly newsletter, The Retiree Update. Subjects are carefully selected and contents are designed for West Texas readers. According to Colonel Baumgardner, "This is the only publication known that caters to our entire retiree population. It reaches south to Seminole, east to Paducah and north and west to the Texas borders. If there are subjects that retirees wish addressed, or if any Reese staff agency desires information disseminated to retirees, all are encouraged to call or visit the RAO, or write to 64ABG/CDR, Reese AFB, Texas, 79489-5000."

In closing, Colonel Baumgardner noted that the Reese RAO was highly evaluated during the recent inspection from HQ/AFMPC. "The entire retiree and Reese communities can be proud," stated Baumgardner. "I personally can be proud," stated Baumgardner. "I personally wish to express our sincerest gratitude to the hospital, commissary, base exchange and Officer's Open Mess and the large number of retirees who offered their support."

Squadron News

Flying Training Squadron

Happenings and items of interest at the 54th FTS:

Here's the latest scoop from the home of the Talon drivers. Capt. Mike Zimmering and 1st Lt. Bob Heppner were named Observer and Controller of the 2nd Quarter. Congratulations and keep up the good work (who needs the flying time anyway?). The members of the 64th OMS recognized 1st Lt. Tray Brewer for his professionalism shown on the flightline. He was awarded the "Gold Chock" Award for the month of July.

We recently had two top graduates return from PIT. They are 2nd Lt. John Hampton, Class 87-12 Top Graduate, and 2nd Lt. Bill Chaulk, Class 87-14 Top Graduate. Apollo Flight said goodbye and good luck to Capt. Aggie Stedman and welcome . . . "glad to have you" to Capt. Jake Jacobson—the new Apollo Flight Commander. Buzzard Flight's Capt. Scott Moore sent the Lubbock real estate market into a tailspin by selling his South Plains mansion prior to his PCS date. He made money on the deal so if you need a loan that can't be traced—see Scott. That's all for this week from the Talon Squadron.

1958th Communications Squadron

The 1958th Communications Squadron welcomes our new Chief Controller in Air Traffic Services, SMSgt. David L. O'Haver and his wife Miyako. They arrived on July 26, 1987 from Hann AB, Germany. SMSgt. and Mrs. O'Haver have a 19-year-old daughter, Katheleen, and an 18-year-old son, Patrick.
