What keeps Reese ready?

by 1st Lt. Ted Tragus
3500 Mission Support Squadron

Did you ever wonder why there were 26 members on the Search and Recovery Team, or why there are 39 Security Police Augmentees?

When you PCS your new commander will know if you were an augmentee to the Decontamination Team or on mobility even if you do not tell him.

Currently 753 Air Force members here actively participate in the Resource Augmentation Duty (READY) program without knowing and without any effort on their part.

The READY Program is a small but important part of your military career that will be with you until separation or retirement.

The READY Program allows each base to custom tailor an augmentor program to meet their needs. Chaired by the wing commander, the READY Review Board analyzes Reese's needs during contingency, wartime or emergency conditions and decides how to meet those needs.

The READY Review Board decides how many different types of specialized augmentor teams are needed such as Command Post, Unit Mobility Officers, Air Base Ground Defense and the number of personnel or augmentors for each team.

The next step is identification. Each Deputy provides personnel for the 18 different types of augmentors needed by allocating the requirements among the squadrons. It is the squadron commander who decides that Amn. Jones or SSgt. Doe will be on the Disaster Preparedness Support Team or Security Police Augmentee. Some user organizations such as Disaster Preparedness and

Working for an Eagle

by A1C Greg Spraggins

Only about one in a hundred scouts ever achieve the Eagle Scout Award. Life Scout Jeff McManaway has nearly completed his Eagle Scout requirements.

To achieve the award, he must plan a project, provide leadership to those asked to help and carry out the plan. "The project could be anything to help a school, community or town," said the 16-year-old. He is from the Varsity Team, 520, sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Jeff noticed the American Flags in Reese Village were not being flown regularly and properly. "I went house to house to discover the reason behind the problem, and found that most occupants did not have the equipment to fly the flag," he explained.

He then went to the Housing Office and proposed a plan to solve this problem, took a survey of supplies needed and took it to the Supply Squadron to obtain the needed items.

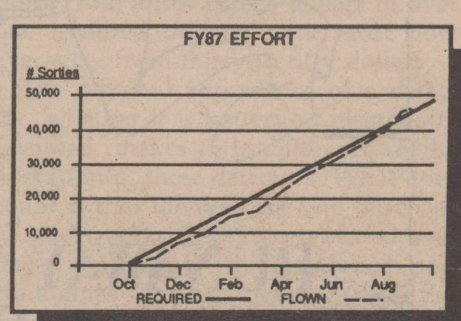

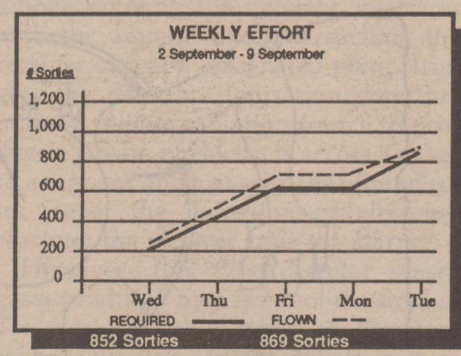

Jeff took the supplies and mounted flag brackets on homes that needed them with the help of Scouts Doug Bray, Steven Jensen, Sam and Jake Clark, and SSgt. Dan Deguzman, Capt. Robert McManaway and Phyll Cammack.

Jeff is hoping for the support of everyone in Reese Village by flying their flag Sept. 19, and continue to proudly display their pride in America.

Additional Flags have been ordered for those occupants that do not have flags. They should arrive sometime in October. If you need one, stop by the Housing Office to pick one up. There are not enough for every house, so only pick one up if it is needed, not for a replacement.

Mission milestones

Once again the 64th Flying Training Wing exceeded its weekly sortie goal by 17 sorties. The Wing continues to stay just ahead of the yearly effort even though the fall weather is starting to affect flying activities.

Did you know?

The number of MIP Proposals processed this year by Reese is 237.

Bits and Pieces . . .

Col. Mark Lillard, III
Wing Commander

With the upcoming UEI, it's important to note that:

A sloppy, poorly-groomed airman, NCO or officer, denotes a sloppy, poorly-managed organization. Whereas, I think you'll agree, a sharp, well-groomed airman, NCO or officer denotes a sharp, well-managed and effective organization.

As Air Force members, we should all be proud of the uniform we wear. It is important that we all make sure our personal appearance reflects credit upon not only ourselves, but also the Air Force at all times.

Finally, with the UEI just one week away, and everything ready to go, the question I often hear is, "What do we do now?" Using the acronym REESE, I've listed some tips that have always proven helpful to me in past inspections and I hope you will find them useful.

Relax. A tremendous amount of unnecessary 'pinging' accompanies every inspection, and I have always found this to be counter-productive. Present a calm and cool image to the inspectors.

Express an air of confidence. Don't be cocky, but think positive and we will do well.

Examine the regs, programs and the like one last time, and make sure all loose ends are taken care of.

Show off. Be proud of your job and when the inspector comes around, invite them in and be eager to tell them how important your job is, and how we do it better than everybody else. We are all members of a team, and we all have an important role to play.

Excellence is not a goal, but a path. I have extreme confidence that each individual will do the best that they can, and you can't ask for more than that.

Kudos to...

Second Lieutenants Robert Wittman and Kevin Christensen for their outstanding performance which has earned them top graduate honors while completing the T-37 Pilot Instructor Training Course, Class 87-15 and Class 87-17, respectively. They excelled in the flying and academic phases of the course and are a true credit to the 64th FTW and the United States Air Force . . . Colonel Nicholas Kehoe, commander, 12th Flying Training Wing, Randolph AFB, Texas.

First Lieutenant John Kinney for earning the ATC Well Done Award in recognition of his outstanding airmanship and judgement while flying a T-38 which experienced catastrophic failure of his left engine. His actions enabled him to recover the aircraft and perform a flawless single-engine approach and landing despite severe damage to the aircraft. Although he has been reassigned to the 560th Flying Training Squadron at Randolph AFB, I just wanted to pass word of his accomplishments on to the instructors at Reese AFB . . . Lt. Gen. John A. Shaud, commander, Air Training Command.

First Lieutenants Spanky Barber and Gary Rolf for their participation in the Tri-Cities International Air Show. They did a superb job of representing the United States Air Force . . . Brig. Gen. William Brooksher (USAF retired).

Air Force celebrations begin next weekend

Friday will feature Undergraduate Pilot Training Career Day activities in the base theater and the flight line parking ramp. Major Command career briefings begin in the base theater at 8 a.m. Approximately 25 static display aircraft will be available for viewing by students and instructor pilots and their families from 2-4 p.m.

The main gate will close at 7 p.m., light discipline will be observed from then until the Tattoo ends.

U.S. Representative Larry Combest will head the list of dignitaries reviewing the Tattoo.

Saturday will feature Reese's annual open house. Military and civilian static display aircraft will dot the flightline parking ramp. Aerial demonstrations and aircraft flyovers will take place approximately every 30 minutes between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Ground activities will feature performances by the Honor Guard Drill Team, exhibits by the NASA Search and Rescue Satellite exhibit van and a concert by the First Marine Division Band.

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

Ready

the Security Police receive augmentees from most organizations on base. Others such as the Personnel Readiness Center receive augmentors from a single source. The Consolidated Base Personnel Office.

Training is provided by the user organization. This means that the Transportation Control Center, Mobility Control Center or the Disaster Preparedness are responsible for providing training to their augmentors, and training is documented on AF Form 1098, Special Task Certification.

Upon PCS assignment this training information and READY Code information is forwarded to your next base. This ensures that trained personnel continue to function in duties for which they have been trained from base to base.

Each month rosters are sent to each squadron commander and user organizations which list every individual at Reese. These rosters are corrected and updated as changes occur so that at any time the Wing Commander will know how many trained personnel are available for contingency operations.

Our ability to shift from "normal" day to day operations to contingency operations is vitally important for our Wing to meet contingency and peace time requirements. Our ability to respond as a team is clearly a reflection of our pride, professionalism and dedication. The READY Program is part of our response, a part that keeps working at all times to ensure that Reese AFB is READY for anything.

America celebrates two-hundred years later

by Donna Bolinger-Miles
American Forces Information Service

Two hundred years ago, on Sept. 18, 1787, members of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia wrapped up 16 weeks of debate and voted to approve the U.S. Constitution.

Twenty-three of its signers were veterans of the Revolutionary War. They had fought bitterly for America's independence and were committed to the success of their newly freed nation.

In framing the Constitution, they embodied the dream of America—the first country in the world to begin life with a written constitution protecting the freedoms of its citizens.

The result of their efforts has been called one of the mysteries and triumphs of the political world, a masterpiece of political philosophy. Scholars still marvel at the genius and insight demonstrated by its framers.

Today, the Constitution stands as the oldest instrument of government in the world.

But the bicentennial of the Constitution is far more than a historical observance. It is the celebration of the freedoms and ideas that have allowed Americans to flourish as a people.

The bicentennial is a time for America, as a nation and a people, to reflect on where it's been and where it intends to go in fulfilling the dreams and visions of its forefathers.

Two hundred years ago, the Constitution was written for a nation of barely 3 million people. Today, it serves 250 million. Since 1787, it has endured much.

It has survived repeated challenges—some by those who questioned the principle of a government of the people by the people and for the people. It was also challenged by some Americans who recognized the legitimate need for change.

The reason the Constitution remains a living document, 200 years after its creation, is that it has grown with the people it serves.

It has been flexible enough to withstand a civil war, momentous social transformation, an industrial revolution and the addition of 37 states.

Within its first four years, 10 amendments were added. They granted freedoms of religion, speech, the press, the right of public assembly; the right to keep and bear arms; assurance of a speedy trial and protection against self-incrimination.

Later in the lifetime of the Constitution, slavery was abolished. Suffrage was granted to blacks in 1870, to women in 1920 and to all citizens age 18 and older in 1971. Prohibition was established in 1920 and repealed in 1933.

With these amendments, the Constitution has remained as meaningful and important today as when it was first written. It continues to guide a country faced with contemporary problems and questions: capital punishment, school prayer, abortion and women's rights. To name a few.

For 200 years, the Constitution has provided a stable government through which the people have molded the America we know today. Even amidst the celebration of the Constitution's bicentennial, it stands as the framework for the America of the future.

Attention stamp collectors

A 22-cent commemorative stamp in recognition of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the U.S. Constitution will be issued Sept. 17 in Philadelphia.

A dedication ceremony will be a part of "We the People 200" celebrations—a series of celebrations honoring the signing of the Constitution, held throughout the summer in Philadelphia.

The design, featuring a hand holding a quill pen superimposed over part of the first page of the Constitution, depicts the signing of the document. Although the fourth page was the one actually signed, it is not easily recognizable. Therefore, the page showing the words "We the People" was used.

This stamp is the last 1987 issue that recognizes the Constitution signing. Previously issued this year were the "Constitutional Convention" postal card, May 25, and "Drafting of the Constitution" booklet stamps, Aug. 28

To get a first day cancellation of the stamp, address an envelope to yourself (or wherever you want it sent) with the address at least 5/8 inch up from the bottom and attach the Constitution stamp in the upper right corner approximately 1/4 inch from the top and right edges. Send this, inside another envelope, to: Customer-Affixed Envelope, Signing of Constitution stamps, Philadelphia, PA 19104-9991. Requests must be postmarked by Oct. 17.

Home fire protection a necessity

by MSgt. Royce O. Stewart
Deputy Fire Chief

For decades, thousands of men, women and children have died in their homes from fire.

Most of these victims died, never knowing that somewhere in their home a small unnoticed fire had begun. As these unfortunates slept on, the fire gradually and steadily consumed everything reachable and grew until it was noticed by a neighbor, or policeman, or maybe just a passerby. Statistics have recorded over and over, the local fire department was summoned, only to find the house engulfed in flames and its occupants deceased.

Tragic? Yes! But more tragic is the fact that the majority of these victims were asphyxiated from the carbon monoxide and toxic gases produced by the initial small fire. Very few people die from the fire's flames.

Complete fire safety in the home is very difficult to obtain, but reasonable fire safety is reachable through a three phase program of:

- (1) Minimizing of home fire hazards,
- (2) Having and practicing a home fire escape plan,
- (3) Providing a fire warning system.

Until recently the third portion of this type program was an expensive undertaking, but modern technology has changed this and every family can now afford some form of protection.

Basically, all fire detectors report the existence of a fire in the early stages, thus giving occupants time to react and escape the area. The most common types of detectors are of the heat or smoke sensing category. Heat detectors work on the principle of a fuse. When the temperature in an area exceeds a preset point or goes up too fast, a portion of the detector melts and allows a warning to take place. Smoke detectors are the next and becoming the most popular form of home protection.

Smoke detectors are available in two varieties. These are photoelectric and ionization types. Photoelectric detectors work on the principle of light obscuration. A beam of light is transmitted across an open space to a receiver. Smoke entering the detector interferes with the amount of light reaching the receiver and at a designated point, triggers the detector. Ionization detectors utilize a minute radiation source to produce a stream of electrons across a space to a receiver and just as in the photoelectric type, the reduction of electrons reaching the receiver trips the alarm.

However, this type detector senses gases produced by a fire, not the smoke. The cost of these types of detectors range from a low fifteen dollars to over one hundred dollars, with most now averaging from thirty to fifty dollars.

The physical appearance of a detector, whether it is battery or electrically operated, makes little difference to the operation of these detectors. What does count is that the detector you purchase be Underwriters Laboratories listed, and that the detector be positioned and maintained in accordance with the manufacturers instructions. As a portion of the Reese Village renovation project, an ionization smoke detector will be installed in each unit.

Neighborhood Watch meets Tuesday

A Neighborhood Watch Program Meeting will be held at Mathis Recreation Center, Sept. 15 at 7 p.m.

Crime in the United States and abroad is a continuing and ever-growing problem. Unfortunately, Texas and Reese AFB are not immune to these problems. With the aid of all personnel in this area, we hope to be able to reduce and/or eliminate certain elements in our society that take advantage of unsuspecting personnel and their families.

"I would like to take this opportunity to encourage all of you to become concerned citizens and get involved in Crime Prevention Programs. I am sure you know the Security Police cannot be everywhere at once; therefore, I solicit your cooperation," said A1C Felix Saenz, Reese AFB prevention manager.

The Neighborhood Watch Program is an alliance of citizen groups and police dedicated to stopping and preventing crimes. The goal of the program is to increase awareness of crime in residential areas and to encourage cooperation among neighbors in observing and reporting suspicious activities. The program is run by and for the citizens to make their neighborhood safe and more secure.

For more information, contact A1C Felix Saenz, Ext. 3615.

Commander's Column

Keep your eyes on the target

by Lt. Col. Kenneth Hess
Deputy Commander for Operations

Since this is the first time I've had the pleasure of writing for the Roundup I think it's only fair that I be allowed to degress slightly and reflect on our recent past, the things that have gone on here since July 87 and see if we're all still on the same road.

About two months ago marked the beginning of a period of key personnel changes in the 64th Flying Training Wing that by sheer magnitude boarded on revolution not evolution. Colonel Lillard wasn't our wing commander, Colonel Higham just arrived from the National Defense University, I was the Assistant DO, and at least four squadrons were to change command—the 64 FTW needed its own transition team just to make it through the summer! Luckily our team, the sharp and dedicated men and women stationed at Reese, pulled us all through what could have been a very rough transition, but the going wasn't necessarily easy.

Over in the operations world the period from July to September was absolutely uphill. We had closed one of our main runways for much needed repair, we sat five plus days behind on the flying schedule, and our T-37 squadron was planning to fly over 600 ROTC cadets on orientation sorties. Add to this the fact that the wing faced these adversities during the peak of the summer—the critical 101 days—and it's no wonder the summer of '87 for Reese quite aptly could be called the "summer that never was." The wing responded and has reached the optimum position we now enjoy by working a lot of weekends and 12-hour days. What lies ahead to round out the summer is the Air Force Birthday, Open House and Tattoo and, yes, the UEI.

As the wing begins to focus its attention on the Fortieth Birthday, Open House and Tattoo, I'm sure some are wondering how we're going to do those things and be ready for the UEI the following week. Quite simply it's the class and character of the 64 FTW that allows us to correctly celebrate our heritage and tradition and still do outstanding on the ATC inspection. The UEI after all is a measure of how we do the mission day in, day out and it's important that we do very well as a unit.

The UEI is a test, another hurdle. It's an opportunity to show the depth of commitment that allows us to claw our way ahead on the timeline, plan and execute an essential celebration for the Air Force and Americans on the South Plains and still exceed the highest expectations on our evaluation. What's going to spell the difference during the UEI, like all the other extras, is excess energy. Every day the men and women of Reese AFB are focused on doing the mission right the first time, every time — that's where the energy comes from, our eyes are constantly on the target, the Mission. We don't have to rebuild just for the UEI — we are ready. It's true, some extras are more important, but we do them all well because we have pride and expect the best. That's why we achieve the best more often and it's what separates Reese from being average.

Hispanic Week

From our neighbor, Mexico; did you know?

* The fire cartridge, is a Mexican invention. The cartridge was displayed in the London Museum. It served as an inspiration to the famous Mr. Diesel who later invented his low-cost combustible engine.

* The United States is presently considering the lottery for use within the individual states. In 1773, Mr. Agustin de Rotea in Mexico invented a calculus of probability that was used to establish the Mexican lottery. It was later adopted by all the raffles in the world.

* In 1575 the first hydraulic pump was used in Mexico in order to draw water from flooded mines.

* In 1943 the thought of color television was a remote possibility. However, a Mexican engineer, Guillermo Camarena was putting the finishing touches on a process by which he could transmit color images of the same frequency as needed for the electric impulse in black and white. The United States was hesitant about the invention and felt they would rather follow their own methods. Finally, Camarena was given a chance to demonstrate his projection of color images which did turn out to be a successful experiment.

Somewhere, someone thinks of home

by Anna C. Mercurio
Staff Writer, Air Force
News Service

The letters pop out at us in magazines, newspapers, on TV and on bumper stickers. They tug at our emotions. Somewhere, someone is thinking of home.

The letters POW/MIA stir certain memories for me. I think of Vietnam and of my brother who came home safely. Especially that he came home alive.

But old, painful memories still return as I recall the worried look on my parents' faces as they saw the horror of Vietnam on television. But they were lucky. Their son came home. Others did not.

There are 2,413 Americans still missing.

The lack of cooperation by the Indochinese governments of Vietnam and Laos must never exhaust the United States. This country must and will continue its untiring efforts to solve this mystery.

Although this period in time is vague for some, we can't forget. Everyone must be accounted for.

It's been 14 years since the United States ended its involvement in Vietnam. Yet, it does not matter how long ago it happened.

As long as there are POWs and MIAs, they will continue to be part of our lives. For our children, it is a subject in school history books. It also is a story desperately crying for an end.

Quit Smoking: No butts about it

by A1C Greg Spraggins

Can you count how many times you have tried to quit smoking? Every time a new pill, gum, or special treatment comes along, you take a shot at it, but always seem to pick the habit back up.

DOD has mandated a 10 percent reduction in smokers this year. At Reese, this means around 120 people must quit by Jan. 1, 1988. So far, approximately 60 have quit smoking.

An American Cancer Society program, Fresh Start is being used to help. According to Capt. Charles Sinclair, Health Promotion Chairman, Fresh Start program realizes that no one method works for everyone, so they offer a wide variety of techniques.

"The objectives of the course are to educate people about smoking," said Captain Sinclair. "We try to make them aware of why they smoke, give them strategies they can use to quit smoking, and help them overcome barriers to quitting. My motto is 'no pills, no hassles, no gimmicks!'"

"The program claims a 30-40 percent success rate, which is comparable to hypnosis, psychotherapy and pills used elsewhere," he explained.

The course is taught by one medical person, and one ex-smoker, with four to 15 people, attending each class. Possibly the best thing, is that it's free, anyone can attend.

Staff Sergeant Harry Dexter, 1958th Communications Squadron, put out his last cigarette Nov. 19, 1986, after smoking one and one-half to three packs a day for 16 years.

"I tried quitting on my own before, but couldn't," he said. "Knowing that other people had the same problem, and working in a group environment, gave me the support to help me quit."

"I think everyone who smokes should go to the class," said Sergeant Dexter. "The class helps you understand that there are different reasons for people to smoke. When you find out why, then you can find out what to do to quit. If you don't, at least you've made an informed decision."

"I encourage others to quit. I know how much better I feel since I have," he said. "When one person in the shop smokes, it affects everyone else in the shop."

The next Reese Stop-Smoking Clinic is Sept. 22, 24, 29 and Oct. 1, 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. For more information, or to sign up, call 3536.

Commentary

Bond election set for Tuesday

by Dan Newberry
Principal, Reese Elementary School

The Board of Trustees of Frenship Independent School District, after evaluation, discussion and careful consideration, has determined that facilities are inadequate to serve the students currently enrolled, as well as the anticipated growth of the District. Educating children is a prime concern of this community and it appears essential that if we are to accommodate our student needs and meet education standards, we must add to our facilities.

As we are now short of classroom space and the reasonable expectations of population growth and Texas Education Agency changing standards, there is a pressing need for additional classroom space. Our student population has grown from 2,502 in 1980-81 to 3,412 in 1986-87 and we project over 3,700 for the current school year. All available rooms are now being used plus 7 temporary buildings. Included in the building program would be:

1. Addition of a New Elementary School Facility.
2. Addition to and Renovation of the Oldest Section of Casey Elementary School.
3. Addition to Reese Elementary School.
4. Renovation of the Oldest Section of the Intermediate School.
5. Renovation of the Junior High School.
6. Addition of a Central Administration Building.
7. Additions to the High School as mandated by T.E.A. requirements and growth.

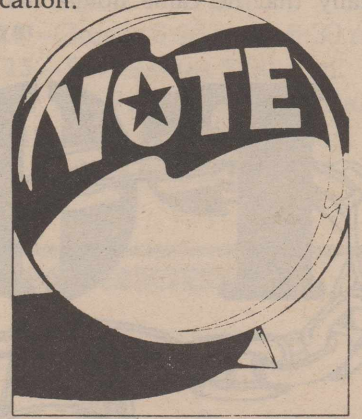

New facilities will alleviate overcrowded conditions and classroom shortage caused by new class size requirements. The location of an Elementary School Facility in another residential section of our District will permit younger students to attend school near their homes and reduce transportation costs. Research results show that adequate surroundings and access to materials and media encourage maximum learning. Renovation of the older buildings will make them more economical to heat, require less maintenance and provide an improved learning environment. The additions at each campus will enable the District to comply with the T.E.A. regulations and requirements, provide adequate facilities for improved education programs, and be able to provide for increased enrollments.

The cost to accomplish the outlined program will be $6,000,000 with over $2,750,000 designated for the new Elementary Building. The bond election will be held Tuesday. You may vote in this election if you reside within the Frenship Independent School District. The election will be held in the foyer of the Frenship Junior High School Auditorium, with the polls open from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Absentee voting will be from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., August 24 through September 11, 1987, in the School Administration Building, Frenship Independent School District.

If you have any further questions about this proposal, please call or visit the office of the Superintendent of Schools or any member of the Board of Education.

You and your pay check

Editors note: The following information concerning pay checks is provided by MSgt. R.L. Threadgill, chief, Military Pay.

State Income Tax Withholding for Military:

If you claim New York, New Jersey, or Oregon for state tax purposes, you need to complete a state tax exemption form at the Military Pay Office. This legal requirement was recently reestablished by Headquarters Air Force Accounting and Finance Center. Please stop by Military Pay by Sept. 15.

W-4 Federal Tax Withholding Certificate:

Don't forget that Oct. 1 is the deadline to turn in your 1987 W-4 form. If you wait until after Oct. 1 you might see an unwelcomed pay change. The computer will automatically change your deductions to either single with one exemption or married with two exemptions, depending on whether you claimed single or married on the last W-4 you filed.

Military Payday Change:

Beginning Oct. 1 all military personnel will be paid on the first day of the month unless that day falls on Saturday, Sunday or a federal holiday. Payday will be as follows for the remainder of 1987: Oct. 1, 15, and 30, Nov. 13 and Dec. 1, 15, 31. If you have any questions on the payday change call Military Pay, 3360.

Leave and Earnings Statement Remarks:

On the August 1987 Leave and Earnings Statement (LES) there were two additional remarks showing the type of basic allowance of quarters

(BAQ) and variable housing allowance (VHA) you receive. If it appears that you are receiving the wrong rate of BAQ or VHA then immediately contact the Military Pay Office so that we may ensure your records are accurate.

Family Separation Allowance Change:

Due to a recent Department of Defense Pay Manual Change some military personnel will no longer be eligible to receive Family Separation Allowance (FSA) payments. In the past, if you elected to serve an "unaccompanied" or "all others" tour at an overseas base, but an accompanied tour was available, you could receive FSA since your dependents elected not to accompany you. Now, if an accompanied tour is available and you elect an unaccompanied tour then there is no FSA entitlement.

This change also affects CONUS (Stateside) Permissive PCS moves. Since the PCS is not a government enforced requirement any separation from the family is a personal preference and does not entitle the member to FSA.

Hostile Fire Pay:

Effective Aug. 25, 1987, the Arabian Gulf area, to include the countries of Bahrain, Kuwait and the airspace there-over, are designated hostile fire pay areas. The Arabian Gulf area comprises the Strait of Hormuz and that part of the Gulf of Oman which lies north of 25 degrees north latitude and west of 057-30 degrees east longitude. To qualify for the $110.00 entitlement you must be TDY to the area for six consecutive days. Contact Military Pay at 3360 for more information.

The reason behind the will

by Capt. Mark E. Garrard
Deputy Staff Judge Advocate

Many service members believe a will is unnecessary because they desire their surviving spouse to inherit everything. They often assume upon death all their assets will automatically and immediately pass to the spouse. Studies conducted in the 1970's indicate virtually 90 percent of us wish to leave everything to our wives or husbands. But, the fact is, without a will, that probably won't happen.

Dying without a will (intestate) causes your property, with few exceptions, to pass according to the rigid laws of your state of domicile. Most states provide only one-half to one-third of your assets go to your spouse. Others provide the spouse a share equal to that of the children's; the larger the family, the less a spouse receives. The children's shares may not be subject to the spouse's unfettered control. Court supervision, guardianship, and periodic accountings are likely to await your survivors if you pass without leaving a will. These "services" don't come free; stiff fees charged against your estate will leave even less for your survivors.

Every state provides that if you die without surviving kin (family described by statute) and without a will, all of your assets will pass directly to the state coffers. California, for example, collects over one million dollars each year from such estates. Most are small estates (under $50,000) where the individuals likely believed they didn't need a will at all.

If you have minor children, a will is particularly important to the entire family. Should both parents die without wills, the state will select someone to raise your children. The process is slow, expensive to your estate, and could result in the selection of a guardian other than whom you would have wished. Each year there are children placed into state homes who would have been far happier in the care of friends.

No one enjoys contemplating their own passing; to leave one's loved ones behind is a depressing thought. Some dislike planning for the future, and preparing a will is about the longest-range planning you'll ever do. But it's also an act of affection, one that costs nothing and will greatly ease the burden on those most important to you. See your legal assistance officer for details on writing this most important document.

Only about 16 of every 100 Air Force members ever receive a dime of retired pay, because most are unwilling to endure the rigors of active service for 20 years, the minimum time to qualify for retirement.

Reese Village home day care a no-no

Do you know the difference between babysitting and day-care service? Some residents in Reese Village are offering day-care services in their home without the proper authorization.

The Air Force gave base commanders the option of implementing a Family Day-Care Homes Program to help meet child care demands at bases worldwide. The program is the result of concerns that some base child care centers aren't large enough to accommodate all eligible children.

Under this program, base commanders may authorize on-base residents to provide care for up to six children, including the residents, in their government quarters. Before approval, applicants must undergo screening, quarters inspections, and at least six hours of training through the child care center. They must also comply with state laws regarding licensing, business permits and are subject to regular inspections by the base's fire, safety and health officials.

Reese's Child Care Center is currently operating at about 90 percent capacity, so there is no apparent need for the Family Day-Care Homes Program here, and it will not be implemented at this time. In addition, Reese's Child Care Center has much to offer our dependent children, to include educational programs, a clean, child-safe environment, nutritionally balanced meals and snacks, a trained and experienced staff, and access to federal, state and community child care program assistance.

Do not confuse a day care service with "babysitting." "Babysitting" is defined by Air Force Regulation as individual care for children of other individuals on an occasional basis, usually less than 10 hours per week, whether in the sitter's or child's home. Family day-care, on the other hand, is care provided for a child in a home other than the child's own home by an adult other than the child's own parents. This care is provided on a regular basis, usually 3-10 hours, but less than 24 hours a day.

There is no problem with occasional "babysitting," but make sure that you are aware of the difference between "babysitting" and family day-care. Reese Village residents offering day-care are subject to penalty and possible eviction.

Should our Child Care Center ever be filled to its capacity, the Family Day-Care Homes Program will be reconsidered at that time. If residents of Reese Village have any questions or are unsure whether they are offering unauthorized child care service, contact Morale Welfare and Recreation officials at 3006 or 3412.

Jewish High Holy days arrive

by Chaplain Robert C. Stroud

"Let the name of the Holy One, blessed is He, be glorified, exalted, and honored, though He is beyond all the praises, songs and adorations that we can utter, and let us say: Amen."

These words from a Jewish prayer book capture the spirit of the High Holy Days scheduled for celebration during the weeks ahead. Rosh Hashanah, the marking of the New Year, runs from sundown Wednesday, Sept. 23 through sunset Saturday, Sept. 26. Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is sundown Friday, Oct. 2 through sunset Saturday, Oct. 3. Yom Kippur is the holiest day of the Jewish calendar, climax-ing the Ten Days of Repentance begun on Rosh Hashanah.

These days of religious obligations have special significance for Jewish families. Jewish members of the Reese community may desire to attend services at the Congregation Shaareth Israel, 7111 82nd Street in Lubbock. Rabbi Stephen Weisberg extends a cordial invitation to "join us for our several worship services on these most holy days." According to Rabbi Weisberg, the synagogue will conduct regularly scheduled liturgies for these "solemn festivals" on Friday evenings at 10 p.m. and Saturday mornings at 10 a.m.

On the Saturday prior to Rosh Hashanah the congregation will share a dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by a penitential service of Selihot, focusing on forgiveness. On Rosh Hashanah itself the service will begin at 10 p.m., followed by a Thursday morning liturgy at 10 a.m. Rabbi Weisberg also noted that while it is customary for non-members of congregations to make a special donation during attendance on High Holy Days, this does not apply to military members.

For further information you may call the synagogue at 796-1417.

Although no rabbi is attached to the Reese Chapel staff, the Chapel still serves as a contact point and resource center. In the words of Installation Staff Chaplain William McGraw, "our sincere desire is to meet the needs of all people. The Chapel door is always open. A concerned and caring minister is always available."

Toward that end, he points out that the Chapel maintains Jewish resource material, including religious education curricula. Also available are personal copies of the Holy Scriptures, according to the Masoretic Text, prepared exclusively for Jewish military personnel. Beyond this are individual copies of a Jewish Prayer Book designed for the same audience.

As we approach the High Holy Days of the Jewish calendar we extend an invitation to all interested individuals to avail themselves of the Chapel's diverse resources, and we encourage those belonging to the House of Israel to join their sisters and brothers for worship at Congregation Shaareth Israel.

Chapel Notes

The chapel will be offering a Women's Bible Study on the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of each month starting on Sept. 22. The book titled, "Seven Things Children Need," written by John M. Drescher will be the theme for the study. Lessons on significance, security, acceptance, love, praise, discipline, and God will be discussed. Class begins at 9:30 and lasts approximately 90 minutes. Child-care will be provided at the Chapel.

The Women of the Chapel will hold their Annual Friendship Luncheon on Sept. 15. All members are invited to bring a salad or vegetable dish and friends. Drinks and table settings will be provided by the W.O.C. All newcomers to Reese and the community are invited. Chaplain Peter Otto, our W.O.C. Advisor, will introduce our Chapel theme of the year, which is, "Seek Peace and Pursue It."

The luncheon is at 11:30 in the Chapel Fellowship Hall. All Board members are asked to come early to set the tables. Child-care will also be provided.

The Robert Lacy Family and the Christopher Lacy Memorial Fund donated a new Chalice and Ciborium to the Catholic Parish at Reese AFB in memory of their son, Christopher, who died. Ch (Capt.) Peter Otto, Catholic Chaplain, and Lt. Col. Luther Cox, Catholic Parish Council President accepted the memorial gift. Roberty Lacy is a retired Air Force member. His wife, Mary Ann works on base in the Civilian Personnel Office and is Secretary to the Catholic Parish Council. Their other children are Sara, Barbara, and David. The family extends their deepest appreciation to all the people of Reese for their generous support and contributions. (USAF Photo)

The Defenders conquer Volent Scorpion

by SSgt. Gordon Couffer, SrA Felix Saenz and
A1C Kevin Dye
64th Security Police Squadron

The Reese Defenders boarded a C-130 Aug. 7 and headed for Little Rock Air Force Base, Ark. to participate in a two week combat scenario Volent Scorpion.

The 39 members of the Reese Security Police team were joined at Little Rock by Defenders from McGuire, Laughlin, Kessler, and Little Rock Air Force Bases.

Volent Scorpion is an exercise designed to teach combat skills in the harshest of environments. The course involves long hours of physical training and classroom instructions. It then requires participants to demonstrate in the field what they have learned.

A 'Defenders Certificate' is awarded to those who complete the course as evidence of successful completion of combat contingency support force evaluation.

First on the agenda for the Reese Defenders after their arrival was a mile and a half run. August 8, 5 a.m. the defenders loaded their packs and headed to the field for a 24 hour exercise to determine what they already knew about combat contingencies.

On Aug. 9, the defenders returned from the field and spent the day in Physical Training, before the classroom instruction began. Areas such as land navigation and field hygiene were among the areas discussed.

During the classroom section of the course, the troops were treated to one hot meal a day. The only stipulation was the mandatory pull-ups required before entering or departing the mess tent. The requirement to perform pull-ups was extended to all facilities in the campground, including the sleeping area.

August 11 found the defenders at the compass course. Four man fire teams were placed throughout a five mile area of thick trees and underbrush. With a compass, protractor and map, the teams were tasked to find small eight-inch square signs. The slightest miscalculation would cost the team precious time on the two and a half hour course. Reese defenders finished first, in a record 45 minutes.

Perhaps the most physically demanding requirement of Volent Scorpion was the obstacle course, stretching over a mile and a half, the defenders took on the 24 obstacle challenge on the 13th of August.

The bayonet course was the next challenge faced by the troops. On the 14th, clad in full combat gear, with M-16s over head, the defenders ran the mile to the course. 'Slash, smash, stab' was the chant heard as the team ran up and down muddied hills to attack wood and rubber obstacles, leaving deadly marks. Being passed, slowing down or not showing motivation would return one to the beginning.

After leaving the bayonet course, the troops marched to the grenade range, where they crawled 50 yards to release three grenades in three different positions. 'Killed' comrades were carried from the course at the end of the exercise.

On the 15th of August, the real evaluation began, for the next five days, the defenders, with loaded backpacks and a half ton truck began a battalion sized tactical movement through the Arkansas woods to their drop zone.

Graduation Day, Aug. 20, the day the defenders had survived for finally arrived. In addition to the diplomas earned, the Reese team brought home another honor, the Reese defender who earned the crown was SSgt. (TSgt. Selectee) Mike Williams, who after tearing a tendon in his foot during a combat patrol maneuver, completed the five day exercise on crutches, earning the respect of everyone around him.
