Promotion woes to end

by MSgt. Dwight Trimmer
Pentagon Correspondent
Air Force News Service

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Technical and Master Sergeant selection rates for this promotion cycle are about 10 percent lower than last cycle.

Technical Sergeant selection rates dropped from 20 percent last cycle to 11 percent this cycle. Master Sergeant selection rates fell from 32 percent to 22 percent.

More than 6,700 Master Sergeant selections were announced May 21. Approximately 8,000 Technical Sergeant selections were announced June 4.

The Air Force expects to promote from the new promotion lists to Master Sergeants beginning Nov. 1 and to Technical Sergeants on Dec. 1.

Normally, the Air Force would begin promotion from those new lists Aug. 1 and exhaust them by July 1, 1988. However, there are 2,400 Master Sergeant selectees and 3,900 Technical Sergeant selectees carried over from the last promotion cycle. They must be promoted first.

The Air Force is experiencing fewer retirements than anticipated. Fewer retirements mean fewer promotion vacancies.

Last year, Congress denied funding for an additional 6,500 Air Force non-commissioned officer slots. Instead, Congress directed the military to keep its grades at Fiscal 1986 levels. Anticipating the additional 6,000 NCO slots, the Air Force had already selected NCOs to fill those vacancies.

With more selectees than vacancies, the Air Force must carry over selectees from one promotion cycle to the next.

Those carryovers fill promotion vacancies, helping to lower selection rates for the following cycles.

The enlisted end strength for Fiscal 1988 is programmed to be reduced by 7,775 from the Fiscal 1987 level. That reduction results in 311 fewer funded Master Sergeant slots and 467 fewer funded Technical Sergeant slots.

The Air Force has asked Congress for more NCO slots in Fiscal 1988 and 1989. However, Congress is not expected to approve or fund those increases.

Plan for the future

by A1C Robin Reams
Staff Writer, Roundup

The Annual Savings Bond Campaign is well underway. The Air Force sponsored campaign is the only campaign that directly benefits each participant according to Louise Thurman, project officer at the Air Force Military Personnel at Randolph Air Force Base.

Savings Bonds can be purchased through allotments. According to Maj. Bill Rice, the Reese Savings Bond project officer, individuals can deduct as little as $5 every two weeks towards a savings bond of $50 or more.

"If you don't have a savings plan of some kind, savings bonds are a good way to start," Major Rice said. "You have to pay yourself, just like you pay everyone else," he added.

"I wish someone would have hit me over the head 23 years ago and made me understand how much money I would have now if I had bought just one $100 bond each month," said Mrs. Thurman.

If a person buys a $100 bond each month, at a cost of only $50, he will have $8,882 in 10 years, based on the guaranteed minimum interest rate of six percent.

The current market-based rate for series EE bonds is 5.84 percent. However, because interest is based on a variable market-based rate or a minimum rate, whichever is more, bonds bought now through Oct. 31, will earn the minimum rate of six percent if held for at least five years, Mrs. Thurman explained.

For current interest rates earned by savings bonds, contact Major Rice at 3879, or contact your organization representative.

54th takes a vector west

by A1C Robin Reams
Staff Writer, Roundup

Reese pilots received an intelligence briefing which included two targets for damage assessment.

On June 5, four T-38 4-ship formations departed from Reese and received a Vector West to Williams Air Force Base, Arizona.

Enroute to Williams, the pilots located the targets and prepared a layout of the target information for a debriefing.

The exercise "Vector West" was designed to demonstrate the capability of the 64th Flying Training Wing Operations and Maintenance to generate and disperse T-38 aircraft. The mission commander for the exercise was Lt. Col. David Turner.

The exercise also provided practice for pilots in identifying and debriefing target damage assessment. Other objectives of "Vector West" were to expose the Instructor Pilot force to real-world operations in the spirit of "Project Warrior," to build corporate knowledge in the 54th Flying Training Squadron for future MCIs and real-world contingencies and to enhance the 'Esprit de Corps' of the squadron.

"The Vector West deployment succeeded in achieving its goals and was a great experience for all who took part," said Capt. "Aggie" Stedman.

New Dental Program—the facts

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS)—Families of active duty service members will be automatically enrolled in the new Uniformed Services Dependents' Dental Insurance Plan in August. Service members who do not want their families enrolled in the insurance plan must notify their CBPO customer service center before June 30. Delta Dental Corp. is the insurer.

The following questions and answers cover the impact the new program will have on service members and their families.

Q Why is the coverage automatic?

A The sheer size of the program, involving all Department of Defense dependents, calls for a simple, comprehensive enrollment process. DoD officials decided the best way to do this was to use the DEERS data base and automatically enroll everyone who is eligible.

Q What if I don't want the coverage for my dependents?

A Active duty Air Force members who want to withdraw their families from the program will be able to do so at the CBPO by June 30. Members must complete a disenrollment form and give it to their customer service representative if they don't want coverage.

Q What are my entitlements under the program?

A Dependents will be entitled to routine oral exams and x-rays, teeth cleaning and polishing, fluoride treatment and minor emergency treatment. Space maintainers for prematurely lost baby teeth are also covered at no additional cost.

For services such as having cavities filled with composite or amalgam, repairs to dentures and stainless steel crowns for children's baby teeth, members will be required to pay 20 percent. Delta Dental Corp. will pay the remaining 80 percent.

Q What isn't covered?

A Having teeth removed, root canals, braces, new dentures or replacing lost or stolen dentures, porcelain or gold crowns and sealants. Also, hos-

Pride in Maintenance

I concluded this Tuesday evening down in the engine shop chatting with Mr. Rolf Kargl, the engine specialist from Kelly AFB, who was in the process of tearing-down our J-85 engine that spit out a turbine wheel last week, cutting hydraulic lines and causing a fire and considerable structural damage along the way. Although the mishap investigation is just getting started, it seems clear that our Reese aircrew, Lt. John Kinney and Capt. Greg Martineac did a superb job maintaining control and putting the jet safely on the ground at Cannon. Hat's off to these professional aviators. By saving the jet, it is our hope now that the technicians will be able to pinpoint a cause that will benefit the entire T-38 fleet AF-wide. Also, thanks to all our Reese maintainers who have responded, once again, like pros, working with the investigation board at Cannon. For example, MSgt. Tom Williams, who had assisted on scene, and had removed the engine from the aircraft to get it back home today, simply said, "Sir, it's been a long haul—the guys are tired." Sometime later tonight these troops will be getting some well deserved time off. My thanks.

Earlier Tuesday, I attended the Wing Commander Change of Command at Vance AFB, where Col. Ron Shamblin took over from Col. Bill Thompson. It was a very well run affair. I noted that Lt. Col. Tom Hardie, the project officer for our July 9 Change of Command was there too, obviously scoping out the activities. Also at such affairs, all the other Wing Commanders normally fly in, and their jets are parked together in a row—allowing some striking comparisons. Frankly, it was fun "discussing" these comparisons with my fellow Wing Commanders. Let me say that the Reese pride was once again preserved—the best kept T-38 in the free world. Thanks again to A1C Bob Barrett for keeping #1564 looking so sharp.

The best Wing Ding ever

Monday's Reese Wing Ding, in celebration of the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, was a tremendous success in every way; great weather, over 5200 hamburgers and hotdogs consumed, and smiling faces everywhere. It took a lot of hard work to organize and pull off—consider a 3,000 member family reunion. The Chief's cooked for hours over scorching fires (no doubt affecting their volleyball prowess later against the Colonels), along side volunteers like Linda and Shanna Prince, Bonnie Martin, Ruby Thomas and so many others. One found our IPs running the kid's egg tossing contests, and Mr. Trevino supervising the Dunk tank and playing backstop with a ball glove most of the hot afternoon. I'm told by Lt. Col. Rich Galloway, that Lt.

Col. James McIntyre

Col. Kevin and Barbara Collins deserve special mention for a variety of chores all day long.

Karen and I had a chance to meet a lot of you there on a day we'll remember long into the future. We saw a proud, close community, sharing something quite special together—and having some fun.

It was a special honor to cut the ribbon officially opening the park with its 3 completely refurbished pavilions, 10 new covered picnic areas, 21 new tables, 15 trash receptacles, new drinking fountains, freshly painted fencing, and the centerpiece of the park: a new raised playground area with modern equipment that will excite young dependents for years to come. As I mentioned during that ceremony, Lt. Col. Paul Baker and his CE pros were the stabilizing backbone of this one-month cooperative self-help effort that tallied over 4,000 manhours. 1st Lt. Steve Kmiecik and Mr. James Markham designed the park project and TSgt. Jeff Cossairt made sure the materials were delivered on time to begin work. Then came the real work crews—over 300 strong, from across the wing, who in four straight weekends, completed the project. SMSgt. Larry Heup deserves special mention for putting the playground equipment together. SSgt. Jerry Blankenship from maintenance representing the 300 volunteers, was selected to help cut the ribbon. The designated MVSH (MOST VALUABLE SELF-HELPER), he volunteered to work all four weekends, and according to the head project officer, Lt. Col. (select) Rufus Hutchinson, Jerry best represented the "spirit of Reese."

I ended the day giving unremembered numbers the savored chance to down a Wing Commander in the Dunk tank. The coup de grace was when my own daughter Chris saw fit to do me in.

Two-Liners of some significance

- For those of you searching for a good golf outing in support of a worthwhile charity, the FOOD BANK GOLF TOURNAMENT fits the bill. With tee-off scheduled for 0900 Saturday, Dick Davis may still have some openings, if you're interested.

- Karen and I were proud to see a very large number of Reese housing occupants flying their flags on FLAG DAY, June 14. Consider how good it would be if we all made a habit of showing our patriotism by displaying the colors every day.

- I know that several of you have expressed some concern over the new Dependent Dental Plan recently instituted AF-wide. I've asked our SG folks to work with PA to provide a detailed explanation in this and next week's Roundup.

- Even though we've been getting our share of rain lately, it doesn't take too many days of 90+ heat to set us back. Let's keep those sprinklers close at hand.

A deserved pause

You all work hard to accomplish our mission—training the best pilots in the world—very, very well. SAFETY, both on the ground and in the air, is always of paramount importance. The Wing Ding was a deserved pause in the high activity level that you give day-in and day-out. I've seen clearly today that, with excellent flying weather again, this Wing has gone back to business—and, no doubt somewhat refreshed, is in full swing again. AS I SEE IT, that's what it is all about, and I am just proud to be a part of it.

KUDOS TO...

SSgt. Franklin Schlegel, SSgt. Jeff Gunselman, Sgt. Conrad Butzer for their superb performance as arresting officers during the March of Dimes Jail and Bail fund-raiser. Also, deep appreciation is extended to Major Mike Neese and MSgt. Ronnie Holman for raising their bail through pledges to the March of Dimes... Ms. Amie Hukill, division director, March of Dimes.

Captain David Plant for excelling in the briefing portion of the communicative skills curriculum at Squadron Officer School...Col. Ellwood Hinman, commandant, Air University.

2nd Lt. Bill Caulk for his outstanding performance in Pilot Instructor Training. His perseverance and dedication in all phases of training earned him the Top Graduate honors...Col. Nicholas Kehoe, Commander, 12FTW, Randolph AFB, Texas.

Care line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. James McIntyre, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885-(Ext.) 3273.

Stray dog on the loose

A black and tan German Shepard puppy dog has been running loose in the housing area. It appears to be wild and it will not let anybody near it. I'm afraid to let my kids play in the yard or on the playground equipment because the dog runs around there. It has been staying close to my dog, digging holes in the yard and chewing up all the things in our backyard.

The Security Police have come by three times, but they have not been able to catch it. I would like you to help get this dog taken care of. Thank you.

As you know, the Security Police are well aware of the frustrating problem of capturing stray dogs. The SPs are coordinating the use of a "capture cage" with the Lubbock Animal Shelter. Hopefully, the dog in question will soon be removed from base. Meanwhile, we'll have to keep trying to capture the dog when it's reported.

Thanks Housing Maintenance

I think the guys at housing maintenance do a real good job and deserve a little credit. They are always friendly and helpful even when I have them come out here after hours. I think everybody should know they are appreciated. Thanks a lot!

Thanks for calling to express your appreciation. They are doing a super job!

Wouldn't cash travelers checks

I recently tried to cash a travelers check at the bowling alley but the manager said they were the same as a two party check and refused to cash it. I worked at the bowling center for two years and always cashed travelers checks for customers. Now that I am a customer and not a worker, I'm not allowed to cash my checks. I think this is very wrong.

We are sorry about the misunderstanding here. The bowling center manager's comments about two party checks was inaccurate. The bowling center will cash travelers checks as long as the cash is available. I'm told by the MWR staff that at the time of your request there was a shortage of cash on hand and for that reason they were unable to cash your travelers check. Sorry for the inconvenience.

ROTC flying ruins weekends

Why do we have to ruin our weekends this summer by flying ROTC students? Why can't we do the flights during the regular weekday flying schedule like we used to? Thanks for your comment and help sir.

I appreciate your concern about our summer weekend flying schedule. In recent years, ROTC ranks have swelled to such an extent that, with our limited resources and tighter student training constraints, weekday flying has become unfeasible. New budget constraints have made it cost prohibitive to billet these cadets for any extended period of time. Consequently, higher headquarters has tasked the UPT Wings to fly the ROTC summer orientation sorties on weekends.

This summer we have five Saturdays of flying scheduled to support ROTC orientation to the Air Force way of life in general, and the military flying way of life in particular. You are correct in stating that we used to fly these rides during the week. In those days we had fewer cadets to fly and more instructor pilots and aircraft in which to fly them.

There's no doubt in my mind that you understand the considerable benefits of flying the ROTC troops. I can assure you, our DO staff is working diligently with HQ/ATC and with AF ROTC

Headquarters to find a better way to accomplish it. For the time being, though, I must ask that you understand the situation and support the program. One bright spot to this tasking is that the cadet to whom we show Reese' best today could be the leader at Reese tomorrow. Thanks for your concern.

Priorities for military

by Col. Mark Lillard
Commander, 64th Air Base Group

Rain, rain, go away...Have you all had your share of rain yet? Well, I have, but the weatherman tells me there is more to come!

With this rain-sun weather combination, the grass has a tendency to grow at a faster pace than usual. Sometimes yards need to be mowed twice a week rather than once—you use your own judgement on this.

This wet weather also brings out a nasty trio of mosquitoes, gnats, and thrips. I am aware of the problem; our Base Civil Engineers are spraying according to a schedule of priorities.

Speaking of which, a priority for military personnel is MOBILITY. Mobility is extremely important and takes precedence over your other duties. Remember this next time there is a mobility exercise. Readiness is a key to military effectiveness.

Our Unit Effectiveness Inspection (UEI), recently changed names from Management Effectiveness Inspection, is due in September. Now is the time to go through your self-inspection checklists and check other bases' UEIs in preparation for this very important inspection. We can never be too prepared, but we can always be underprepared. Start planning now!

One way you can measure your preparation and success is by the awards the various squadrons and divisions win. Our CBPO won the top Air Force award; the Garrett D. Foster Award—a pretty impressive name for an award telling you you're the best in the Air Force. Congratulations to each and every member of the CBPO staff for your super job!

Everyone on Reese does appreciate your good work. We are always trying to improve our good work and the way we do business on Reese.

As I told you in my first Commander's Column as the Base Commander, we still are planning on opening a Family Support Center. We'll be hiring people shortly with construction starting soon. Opening date will be in Fiscal Year 1988. I want you all to know that a Family Support Center is still very much in the forefront.

This is my last Commander's Column as the Base Commander. But, I'll still be keeping you informed on the "Bits & Pieces" happening on Reese AFB!

News Briefs

Part-time jobs no more

There are some significant changes in the area of unauthorized political activities, which were part of a revision to AFR 110-2.

Military members were able to serve in part-time, non-partisan civil offices—planning commissions, school boards and some city councils—can no longer do so. Those enlisted members and reserve officers who were authorized can still serve the rest of their terms if they started before Sept. 24, 1983.

Military members can no longer serve as civilian law enforcement officers or civilian police reserves, but are able to serve in civilian fire and rescue squads.

Anyone who was authorized to hold a civil office—and isn't covered by the 'grandfather' clause—under AFR 110-2 must decline to serve further or risk adverse action.

Attention all newcomers

In the past few months, several personnel have been signing leases or rental agreements for off-base housing without processing through Housing Referral. Some apartment managers have been extremely slow in returning security deposits. Plus, maintenance has been unsatisfactory. To avoid these problems, abide by AFR 30-15 which requires all military personnel to visit their housing Referral Services before entering into a lease or agreement for off-base housing.

The position is a GS-1173-11, Housing Manager, and serves as the supervisory base housing manager at the 185CES, Florennes AB, Belgium. The position is not emergency-essential and tour of duty is three years. All interested civilians must qualify and be registered in the ESCCMP if not already registered for geographic code "0D" or "3D." To be eligible for the GS-11 Housing Manager, you must have had one year of comparable experience at the 9 level. Education may substitute for some experience. # New dental program—The Facts

pital charges, experimental treatments, dental service for cosmetic purposes, services covered by workman's compensation or correction of congenital malformations and any services not specifically listed as covered by the plan.

Q What if a situation arises where my dependents need dental care that isn't covered under the program?

A Members must take care of it themselves, either by checking to see if the local military facility can do the work on a space available basis or by going off base and paying for the service.

Q How will I pay for the program?

A Members' premium share is deducted from their base pay in the month before it's paid to the insurer. For example, the premium for benefits beginning in August will be deducted in July.

Q How much will it cost me?

A If you have only one dependent (spouse or child), $3.93 will be deducted each month from your basic pay. If you have two or more dependents, $7.86 will be deducted monthly.

Q How long will my automatic enrollment last?

A A minimum of two years unless you change duty station or your status of eligible dependents changes.

Q Why is this program being started?

A DoD officials and Congressional leaders have recognized for quite some time that a dental program was needed for families of armed forces members. This program is an initial step in fulfilling that need.

Q Who will provide my dependents' dental care under this program?

A Dentists across the nation have been asked if they want to belong to this insurance program. Those who do are considered participating dentists. A list of local participating dentists will be made available by the insurer at the nearest health benefits advisor.

Q Can my family members still use the military dental facility if they are enrolled in the program?

A Not for treatment covered by the insurance. They must see civilian dental care providers for those procedures covered under the plan.

Q What if I am transferred overseas?

A You will have the option to disenroll.

Q If I'm not taking my family overseas with me, are they still eligible?

A Yes. Eligibility for participation in this program is determined by the residence of the eligible family members. For example, if the sponsor is assigned to an overseas location such as Korea and the family resides in the United States, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico or the U.S. Virgin Islands, they may be enrolled in the insurance plan.

Q Who answers any questions I may have?

A The customer service unit at CBPO has been designated as OPR for the dependent dental insurance program and will assist members in enrollment and disenrollment procedures. Specific questions on the dental insurance benefit package are referred to the health benefits advisor at the nearest medical facility.

Air Weather Service celebrates 50 years

by TSgt. Dale Ferraro
Det. 11, 24 Weather Squadron

The weather around us is taken mostly for granted. Few people realize how great an impact it can and has had on American military operations.

Will the aircrew be able to see their target?

Will the army be stuck in mud or have their equipment frozen in the ground?

Will smoke or chemical weapons persist or even be blown back over our own personnel?

These are ways weather impacts the ability to win wars.

Our military weather service grew to maturity during WWII. It is not commonly known that weathermen were literally involved in that great conflict from the very beginning to its very end. Capt. Robert M. Losey was the first Air Weather Service commander. In a way, WWII for America began with him.

In the spring of 1940, he was killed while observing a Luftwaffe air raid in Norway. This made him the first American military officer to die during WWII. In 1943 Capt. Leon Johnson, one of the original 22 AWS officers, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroic action during his participation in the famous raid on the oil refineries at Ploesti. Captain Johnson was also the first of the AWS officers to earn the rank of four star general.

The Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki had their fate sealed by a weather observer. The mission commanders were under orders to bomb one of three targets to be picked based on the weather. As fate would have it the weather was judged to be the best over Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Weathermen were directly involved in these bombings which ended the war in the Pacific.

Perhaps the most important weather forecast ever made was given to General Eisenhower prior to D-Day. The weather over the English Channel was terrible and had already forced one delay. The German forecasters did not believe the weather would lift to allow an attack. A team of American and British forecasters believed the weather would break for a short period of time and just allow the operation to be launched. Based on this forecast General Eisenhower ordered the invasion. The weather did break as forecasted and the allies caught the Nazi forces off guard. Enlisted members of the weather service participated in the operation by parachuting behind the beaches at Normandy just prior to H-Hour on D-Day to relay weather information to the allied forces. Members also jumped into the mountains of Yugoslavia and worked with the resistance against the Nazis. The D-Day invasion heralded the end of the Third Reich and WWII.

Within 48 hours of the North Korean invasion of South Korea, a weather detachment was airlifted from Japan to Taegu to provide support to all of the United Nations forces, including the Fifth Air Force and the Eighth Army. Throughout the war, weathermen fought side by side with ground forces in such battles as Pork Chop Hill and Heart-Break Ridge. By the time the Armistice was signed in 1953, six weathermen had lost their lives in combat.

In 1961, AWS deployed an initial cadre of 23 weathermen to Southeast Asia. This grew to a group and three squadrons by 1966. In 1965 the first "DMSF" weather satellite was introduced to the war. The commander of the seventh Air Force called it "probably the greatest innovation of the war." From January to June of 1966, AWS issued 29,488 target forecasts. By 1969 there were over 700 weathermen in Asia. Three-man organic weather teams routinely jumped or helocasted into enemy occupied territory to launch weather balloons and take observations.

This information was needed for the planning of ground and air operations and for accurate artillery fire. In 1966 the commanding general of the second Infantry Division personally awarded 18 Bronze Stars to members of the Fifth Weather Squadron for their participation in Operation Attelboro, the largest ground battle to that date. By the time the last weathermen departed sea in 1976, four enlisted men had been killed in combat.

During World War II and the Korean and Vietnam Wars, individual members of AWS or AWS units have won the following:

1 Congressional Medal of Honor; 18 Bronze Stars; 16 Purple Hearts; 7 Presidential Unit Citations; 10 Air Force Outstanding Unit Awards with Combat "V"; 18 Air Force Outstanding Unit Awards; 3 Republic of Korea Presidential Unit Citations; 8 Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Crosses with Palms; 4 Service Streamers; 68 Campaign Streamers.

Besides these three wars, weathermen also participated in all armed conflicts from the Civil War on, including the Iran hostage rescue attempt, and our operation in Grenada to rescue American citizens.

Golfers support Food Bank

The golf tournament to benefit the South Plains Food Bank is tomorrow at the Reese Golf Course. Proceeds will be put toward construction of a new warehouse for the food bank. The 9 a.m. tee-off time tournament has been limited to 64 golfers. There will be 16 teams of four members each and scramble rules will apply.

The South Plains Food Bank is a warehouse that solicits food from various supermarkets and agencies, separates it into individual boxes, and distributes the food to those in need through a membership of Social Service Agencies (such as churches). The food bank has 438 such member agencies that were able to help over 790,000 people in 1986 with a total weight of more than 5.8 million pounds of salvaged food for needy families.

Their task has grown beyond the capacity of the current warehouse and now they are in desperate need of your help. A $30 entry fee will not only cover green fee, all you can eat barbecue, refreshments, and the chance to win some great prizes, but it will also contribute greatly to this worthy cause.

Prizes will include: Trophies for the top three finishing teams, a MacGregor golf bag for the person closest to the pin on number three green, gift certificates from local restaurants, sleeves of golf balls for the golfer with the longest drive on number four fairway, a new set of Ram golf clubs for anyone skillful enough to score a hole-in-one, and plenty more.

Even if you don't like to golf, you're more than welcome to come out and enjoy the events of the day. For more information call the Reese Golf Course.

Get involved: The satisfaction of helping those truly in need will overcome any monetary cost.

Summer barbeque safety tips

by Deborah Gutierrez
Lackland AFB, Texas

With the onset of warm weather, it's time to get out the grill for backyard barbecues and picnics at the park.

Barbecues are a popular form of outdoor activity, but don't let it make you an accident statistic.

The following safety tips can help make cookouts safe:

- Line the bottom of a clean grill with an inch of ash, gravel or commercial charcoal base to absorb dripping grease and reduce flare-ups.

- Set the grill on a level surface away from low branches, dry brush or charcoal lighter fluid. Follow package directions when using charcoal lighter fluid. Never substitute gasoline or other combustible liquids, and never add charcoal lighter fluid after coals begin to burn.

- Never use the grill indoors. Burning charcoal produces carbon monoxide which is an odorless, tasteless and lethal gas.

- Keep children and pets away from the grill to eliminate the danger of them touching it or accidentally pushing it over on someone.

- Keep sharp instruments out of reach of small children. When passing knives and forks to others, keep the point turned away from them.

- Use proper equipment to prevent burns, such as a pair of well insulated pot holders, a long handled spatula or fork and a pair of long tongs.

- Wear safe clothing. Avoid dangling ties and shirttails that could brush against the fire. Keep other combustibles away from the grill.

Remember, you're out to barbecue the hamburgers, not the chef.

IP of the Month named

The 54th Flying Training Squadron selected Captain Rich Almeida T-38 Instructor Pilot for the Month of May.

Captain Almeida is Apollo Assistant Flight Commander, the flight's Unit Standardization Evaluation Monitor, and recently upgraded to Runway Supervisory Unit Controller. He also planned and organized "Vector West," a large dispersal exercise. Vector West proved the ability of the entire 64th Flying Training Wing to disperse a large number of T-38s in a short period of time, exposed many T-38 first assignment instructors to a real-world exercise in the spirit of Project Warrior, and enhanced the esprit de corps in the 54th Flying Training Squadron.

Captain Almeida flew 1500 hours in the B-52 Stratofortress while at Loring AFB, Maine, and has about 350 T-38 hours. He is married to the former Liz Montano of Albuquerque and has one son, Kyle.

What is PBP&E?

by TSgt. Robert C. Snyder
USAF Traffic Management Office

What is Professional Books, Papers and Equipment (PBP&E)? The following items are considered PBP&E, when they are needed by a service member in the performance of official duties:

Reference material, instruments, tools and equipment used by technicians, mechanics and other related fields:

Specialized clothing such as diving suits, astronauts' suits, flying suits and helmets and uniforms, chaplains' vestments and other specialized apparel not considered to be normal or usual uniform or clothing:

Communication equipment used by members in association with the Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS):

Individually owned or specially issued field clothing and equipment and official awards given to an individual by a Service for services performed by the individuals in connections with official duties is also considered PBP&E.

Service members are entitled to the shipment of PBP&E in connections with separation, relief from active duty or retirement.

In connection with PCS orders, when it is not necessary for use in performing official duties at the next or later duty destination, they will be considered to be part of the individuals weight allowance.

Ther term "professional books, papers and equipment" does not includes sports equipment or office, household, or shop fixtures or furniture, such as bookcases, study desks, file cabinets, and racks even though they are used in connections with the professional books, papers and equipment.

If you are separating, retiring or require your PBP&E to perform your job at your next duty station, you may qualify to declare your professional books, papers and equipment on your next move.

The weight of these items is not charged to your weight allowance. The following procedures apply when declaring PBP&E:

A Traffic Management Office counselor will ask you for an estimated weight of any PBP&E that you have to declare at the time of your appointment.

Professional items must be separate from the rest of your personal property so it may be packed, marked and weighed separately on the day of pick up.

Before signing the inventory prepared by the packers, be sure these items are listed as "Professional Books" or "Professional Papers" or "Professional Equipment" and not as "books" or "miscellaneous." If they are not listed on the carrier inventory when picked up, this designation cannot be added later on and the weight cannot be subtracted from the weight of your shipment. Also, make sure the packers list the weight of these items on the inventory. Weights may be obtained using bathroom or platform-type scales.

The proper designation of professional items and their weight is very important and without it the weight will be charged to your weight allowance, so plan ahead, ask questions and read what you sign.
