Haskell Golf Ass'n Makes Application For FHA Loan

With the president, Gene Campbell, presiding, a meeting of stockholders and active members of the Haskell Golf Association was held last Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the community room, Haskell National Bank, and directors were authorized to proceed to make application for a $100,000.00 loan from the Farmers Home Administration for improvement of recreational facilities of the Country Club.

Campbell said a good turn-out of active members and stockholders were in attendance at the meeting and were enthusiastic about the proposed project. The loan would run over a period of 40 years at a 5 per cent interest rate.

Improvement would include a club house, swimming pool, tennis courts, driving range, sprinkler system for the fairways, etc.

"Application for the loan was made Friday, but in order to obtain the loan we must have at least 150 active, participating members," Campbell said.

An all-out membership drive will be made, the president pointed out.

The Haskell Industrial Foundation is also behind the project as they feel that the recreational facilities offered would assist in attracting industry to Haskell.

GHOLSON GROCERY MARKS 50 YEARS CONTINUED SERVICE

Gholson Grocery, 410 North First Street, is celebrating 50 years of continued service to the people of Haskell. The business over the long half century has kept pace with the growth of the town and helps to keep Haskell business in Haskell.

The store, one of the most up-to-date and modern grocery stores in Haskell, is owned by Mrs. J. W. Gholson and is managed by her son, Buster, who grew-up with the business.

Buster went to work in his father's store at the age of 13, and has been with the establishment practically all of his life, with the exception of two years in college and three years in the Air Force.

J. W. Gholson passed away in 1955 and since that time Buster has been active manager.

The late J. W. Gholson opened the store July 1, 1916, which at that time was located on the northeast corner of the square, about where now stand Barfield Real Estate and Bud Herren's Insurance. From that location the store was moved to the north side of the square in the building now occupied by Wheatley's. About 12 years ago the store was moved to its present location.

Present employees are John Miller, head butcher; Ed Roberts, assistant butcher; Ernest Moeller, assistant manager; Beatrice Mobley, checker; Mike Gholson and Jerry Stiewert, clerks.

Serving as the 50th President during the Golden Anniversary year, Mr. Lindsey heads the world's largest service club organization with 797,159 members in 135 countries.

Lions International is best known for its many community service projects, youth programs, sight conservation activities and aid to the blind. During the past year Lions Clubs around the world completed more than a half million community projects.

Lions View Film On Puerto Rico Tuesday Noon

Dr. J. F. Cadenhead was in charge of the program at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting of Lions and presented a very educational and colorful film on "Puerto Rico," produced by the Humble Oil Company.

The film, a progress report, showed what factories and industry has done for Puerto Rico the past few years in supplying labor for its people; however, in some of the valleys and mountainous sections of the country, additional labor is still needed for the people after the harvest season.

Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead, Sr., served as pianist and sweetheart for the day in the absence of Lucy Kennedy.

Guests noted at the meeting were Bob Schumann, new county agent of Haskell County; Jeff Cadenhead, Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead Sr., T. R. Elliott and Burrell Smalley, of Fort Worth.

County Cotton Producers Hold Meeting Here

Forty persons were present at a meeting of county cotton producers and ginners Tuesday night in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank.

County Agent, Robert Schumann, introduced Charles Stenholm, executive vice-president of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, who spoke to the interested group on the Cotton Research and Promotion Act which has passed Congress and will be presented for a vote in a referendum to all farmers in the near future.

One of the main purposes of the meeting was to create more interest in the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association and Stenholm proposed to the cotton farmers that they pay 15 cents out of each bale ginned, and the ginners pay 1 cent per bale to support the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers program.

Schumann Reports

County Agricultural Agent, Schumann, brought a report of the latest insect situation, as determined by the insect survey teams working under his supervision. The teams are provided by the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers on a matching fund basis with the Texas Department of Agriculture for the purpose of providing research information on the habit of Rolling Plains insects, particularly the boll weevil.

Schumann said that insect infestation in the county was unusually light for this time of the year.

Certainly they could not have been involved in the incident and there was no intention on the part of the Free Press or any of its employees to cast any reflection upon them.

The local riding club also rode in the grand entry Thursday night.

Second place riding competition honors went to Olney Boots and Saddle and third to the Big Loop Riding Club of Jack and Clay counties.

Rotarians Hear Report On Boys' State Activities

Riley Couch, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Couch Jr., spoke to members of the Rotary Club last Thursday night and gave some of his experiences during his eight days spent at Boys' State in June.

The guest speaker said that in Boys' State, the American Legion provides the type of programs where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boys learn to do by doing.

R. W. Herren, president, called the meeting to order and Ferrell Coston led the invocation. R. C. Couch Jr., led the group singing, with Mrs. Henry Withers at the piano.

Rotarian E. J. Stewart was commended for placing plaques in the club room. A resolution was passed endorsing the "Library Friends" in their efforts to get an adequate county library.

Rotarians considered several projects for the coming year. Among those were co-sponsoring work on the railroad museum and a possible sprinkling system for the Anderson Park.

It was reported that the park had many improvements last week due to the interest and work of four men, Ferrell Coston, Desmond Dulaney, R. C. Couch Jr., and Mr. Connelly, who were appointed to care for the park during that period. Flowers were planted in the flower boxes, trees were trimmed, straightened and lawn sprayed and mowed.

Dr. Temple Williams of Houston, son of Dr. T. W. Williams, was introduced as a guest by Bob Wheatley.

Quarter-Inch Of Rain Here

Haskell received 26/100 of an inch of rain Saturday morning, according to Sam Herren's official government gauge. The dark, heavy clouds, hovering over this area early Saturday, looked as if they would open-up and dump a good rain on dry-parched Haskell, but soon fizzled out.

The Sportsman's Corner
 by Dr. Joe Linduska, Remington Wild Life Expert

150th ANNIVERSARY

In 1816, 23-year-old Eliphalet Remington, proud of the gun he had hand-forged at his lilion, New York farmhouse, entered a shooting competition. He beat all but one man who was so impressed with Remington's rifle that he placed an order for one right there on the field.

Several years later, Remington's big chance came when the U. S. Government awarded a rifle contract—to someone else! Because his competition couldn't meet the order, Remington jumped in and began making 1,000 rifles monthly on his new production line.

This year, the Remington Arms Company is celebrating its 150th anniversary. Modern research as well as the heritage of superior gunmaking skill make this large industrial complex successful in serving the needs of America's sportsmen.

National Farm Safety Week

National Farm Safety Week co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and U. S. Department of Agriculture will be observed July 24-30 this year, by Presidential proclamation. "Safety is Victory Over Accidents," will be the theme of the Week, and its purpose will be to put a new awareness of safety procedures in the minds of the millions of people on American farms. Accidents kill more than 8,000 farm residents each year and injure an additional 700,000.

This year, emphasis will be on tractor safety and promotion of the SMV emblem... Slow-Moving Vehicle. It is a triangular emblem, highly visible within 500 feet, day or night, and is intended to be used on equipment traveling 25 miles per hour or less. Every operator of farm equipment should contact his county agent, or the Farm Department of the National Safety Council, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, to secure information on where to buy his SMV emblem. Practicing safety during National Farm Safety Week can create life-saving habits throughout the year.

SIXTY-FIVE DAYS TO GO

Representative Edward J. Gurney of Florida has introduced a Resolution in Congress which would designate May 1 as a day of celebration. But, the odds are that government leaders would rather not call the significance of this day to the public's attention.

Regardless of that, Representative Gurney's Resolution has merit. It would hold May as "National Tax Freedom Day." It is the first day of the year that people begin working for themselves. From January 1 until April 30, every dollar the taxpayer earns belongs to the government; he must pay it out in federal, state or local taxes. In the words of Representative Gurney, "This is simply another way of saying that the average American's tax load is costing him one-third of his income, or 33 cents out of every dollar he earns. Certainly, this day of relief throughout the year and deserves to be marked appropriately, and the bill I propose would do this by giving it the status of a national holiday."

As Congress votes more billions to further the ideology of the state, National Tax Freedom Day will move forward on the calendar. When it reaches July 4, there will no longer be any day to celebrate American Independence. There won't be any.

sweet pepper for summer eating pleasure.

A box elder tree near the northeast corner of the yard casts a cool shadow inviting one to rest in its shade. In the northeast corner a small magnolia tree stands guard over a three-cornered bed of zinnias.

Crape Myrtle of watermelon red grace the north side of the yard. Smuggled on the ground near the crape myrtle is a large log of some length. Snug against the log nestles a large, black iron pot filled with house leek. Very large sea shells add a pleasing note to the picture that is reminiscent of the seashore. Near the log a fluted bird bath sits at the foot of a tree from which a huge basket of geraniums hangs swaying in the breeze.

In the center of the yard stands a Bar-B-Q pit...it and a redwood table and chairs sitting beneath a large pecan tree makes an enjoyable place for the family to enjoy a cook-out.

White trellises frame the back door-way. A large rambler rose is supported by the trellis. Mrs. Clare is layering a runner of the plant for another vine. It seems to have rooted well.

Orchid dahlias and pink canas across the back of the house blend together to complete the picture. Pyraeantha, photinia, nandina and other shrubs frame the front and side of the house. A row of crape myrtle lines the sidewalk on the south side.

Mrs. Clare (Lillie Mae) is a member of the Haskell Garden Club and helps with the publications.

Texas' Most Popular Tourist Attraction

Angus G. Wynne, Jr., president of Great Southwest Corp. Mr. Wynne, who conceived the idea of SIX FLAGS Over Texas, was experiencing that very special moment when all his thoughts, plans and dreams were being brought into reality.

Six Flags over Texas has achieved a record of success that has been regarded by all as truly outstanding.

The 105-acre theme Park has now been expanded into 115 acres and the original $10,000,000 investment has risen to $14,000,000 with new rides, attractions and shows being added each season.

More than 5,600,000 people from all over the United States and many foreign countries have visited the Park prior to the opening of the 1966 season. Following a recent and extensive survey, the Texas Tourist Development Agency declared

OIL NOTES

A southwest Haskell County wildcat was staked 12 miles northeast of Lueders.

The venture is Sherwood B. Owens of Albany No. 1 W. P. Sandefur, located on a 116 acre lease.

Having a proposed depth of 3,300 feet with rotary to test the Canyon, it spots 1,563 feet from the north and 1,224 feet from the east lines of Section 11, Block 3, H&TC Survey.

Officially, 1966 marks the 25th anniversary of the American Tree Farm program. The South certified its first Tree Farm in 1942. Texas, according to the Texas Forestry Association, certified its first Tree Farm in 1944.

that SIX FLAGS is now Texas' most popular single tourist attraction.

Negro Employment Shows Faster Growth Than White Employment

Non-white employment, increasing by 2.3 million to 7.7 million, showed "a substantially faster rate of growth" than that of white workers between 1955 and 1965.

But because of the changing occupational picture in the U. S., white workers are now concentrated will grow more slowly than other occupations.

These are major conclusions drawn in an article entitled "Changing Patterns of Employment of Non-white Workers" in the May issue of the Labor Department's Monthly Labor Review.

To realize further improvements in employment, non-white workers must "gain a larger proportion of the white-collar and skilled occupations even faster than heretofore," the article says.

The only rapidly-growing major occupational group where non-whites are concentrated, it adds, is service (except private household). Even here, the jobs held by non-whites usually have limited growth prospects.

In 1965, the article reports that:

—More than one-fourth of employed non-white men were in semi-skilled occupations, such as drivers and factory operatives, compared with one-fifth of employed white men.

—More than one-fifth of the non-white males were non-farm laborers, contrasted with about one-fifteenth of the white males.

—Over half of all employed non-white women worked either in private household occupations or in other service jobs such as attendant, chambermaid, cleaner, cook and dishwasher, compared with only one-fifth of the employed white women.

—Less than one-fourth of the employed non-white women were in white-collar jobs, compared with three-fifths of their white counterparts.

—Less than one-fifth of all employed non-whites are in white-collar jobs, compared with almost half of all employed whites.

Nevertheless, over the past decade, non-white workers have made important progress in many occupational areas. For example, from 1955 to 1965:

—The proportion of non-whites in professional jobs rose from 3.9 to 5.9 per cent, the bulk of the rise taking place since 1961.

—Employment of non-white managers, officials and proprietors increased from 2.3 to 2.8 per cent.

—The proportion of non-whites among all clerical workers rose from 3.8 to 5.7 per cent for the sharpest increase they made in all major occupations.

—Employment of non-white craftsmen, foremen and kindred workers increased by nearly three-fifths, lifting their proportion of total craftsmen from 4 to 5.6 per cent.

—Employment of non-whites as service workers, excluding private household, climbed 35.7 per cent to almost 15 million.

Pointing out that the jobless rate of non-whites has averaged at least twice that of whites since 1955, the article says that many governmental and private educational and training programs are operating to improve the employability of non-whites and other disadvantaged citizens.

Roman Legacies

Following the advice of an astronomer, Julius Caesar rearranged the months and put into operation a calendar with 365 days per year—still in use today. Even the names of our months come from the Latin language.

The Emperor Augustus found Rome a city of brick and made it a city of marble by constructing great aqueducts, temples, theaters, and libraries. This "Golden Age of Rome" has had a lasting influence on today's architects and builders.

The Emperor Justinian codified Roman law which is the basis of our legal system. "A man is presumed innocent until proven guilty" is one of its essentials. The interesting story of Rome's contributions is part of a fascinating series currently appearing in Life Magazine.

successful in having a further major impact, and if non-white youth are motivated and assisted to take advantage of educational opportunities can we expect a substantial reduction in the disparity between unemployment rates of whites and non-whites," the article asserts.

Did you know that in 1903, Cadillac and Ford looked identical; both were designed by Henry Ford, and both sold for $850. The only visible difference in the two cars was in the brass dash ornaments and the larger number of coils in the radiator of the Ford, to keep its 2 cylinder engine cool, because Henry was not satisfied with the 1 cylinder Cadillac he had designed. The world's oldest production Ford of 1903, and the world's second oldest Cadillac of 1902, can be viewed with more than 200 other antique cars at the Harold Warp Pioneer Village at Minden, in south central Nebraska.

Railroad buffs are so enthusiastic about their hobby that they travel across continents to partake in meets and formal closings of runs. One ex-railroader, Otto E. "Doc" Hornburg, of Staplehurst, Nebraska, built one of the most detailed scale models in existence. During 25 years, from 1927 to 1952, Hornburg built 169 cars, 1 inch to a foot scale, with partitions, brakes and couplings that operate. Practically every type of freight car is represented in this collection, which can be viewed at the Harold Warp Pioneer Village, at Minden, in south central Nebraska, where full-scale antique locomotives and railroad equipment are on exhibit.

Color Gives Home Value, Good Looks

Color not only makes a house look better, but sell better, too. Builders are color-coordinating house exteriors and using color to unify a home and its environment. Homeowners have discovered that color up-grades the appearance—and the resale value—of a house.

The emphasis on house color reflects an awareness that good looks add to the enjoyment of any product. For years, automobile and appliance manufacturers have used color effectively. A national airline recently put pastel planes into service.

On a house, color serves three important functions. It adds dramatic visual impact. It highlights interesting focal points. And, in remodeling, it plays down architectural flaws.

Since the roof is generally a house's largest expense, color application often begins there. The recent availability of color-keyed quality roofing materials has made this possible. Heavy-weight asphalt shingles now come in various hues, pastels and blends. Shingle design and the deep shadowlines created by thick course edges also give the roof a distinctive textured appearance.

Color treatment of modern roofing materials has also improved. This means that roof colors are more resistant to fading, that more "natural" shades—those which blend with house materials and the site—are available, and that a wide range of colors is on the market.

While white accounts for more than half of all asphalt shingle sales, a trend is growing toward gray, green, blue and beige. So-called "earth" and "forest" colors, which encompass brown and green tones, also show an increasing use.

The color in asphalt shingles is contained in mineral granules imbedded in the shingle surface. This tough granule coating also increases the durability and fire-resistance of the roofing material.

In exterior decoration, bright colors are often used as accents—on doors, windows and gables. If the house proportions are good, they can be emphasized with trim color. If not, accenting the entrance or windows can de-emphasize the flaw.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ

Dependency problems are the greatest source of income tax audits at the Internal Revenue Service. Only one person can claim a dependent. The tax folks find, however, that two taxpayers often claim the same dependent. This is especially true in divorce cases. There are also many cases where the taxpayer has not provided principal support for the dependent, or does not qualify to claim the dependent.

If you have a dependency problem, read the instructions carefully or call the Internal Revenue Service for help. You may avoid a tax audit.

There Is A Practical Value To Sending A Girl Through College

There is a practical value to sending a girl through college, says Extension Home Management Specialist Mrs. Doris Myers and Mrs. Elsie Short of Texas A&M University.

This is demonstrated later in life, when the children are less dependent on their mothers. Many women then discover that the demands of the home do not use up all of their energies.

Mary Dublin Keysering, director of the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, pointed out recently that women are marrying earlier these days. As a consequence, one out of two will be sending their last child off to school by the time they are 35. It is at this time that many women begin to feel restless and need an outlet for their talents and skills.

Surveys reveal that women want to spend this time in as constructive a manner as possible, thus they seek employment. Since 1940, the number of women between the ages of 35 and 44 with jobs has more than doubled and the number between 45 and 54 has tripled.

A woman whose family responsibilities have tapered off will learn that her college degree may not immediately guarantee her a responsible position.

Many women have found that they must up-date old skills and knowledge. Former training makes this brush-up period not only shorter but easier. Many women go back to school to update their education and add confidence to their approach before seeking employment.

One job survey found that women were unsure of themselves if they had not held a job before, or if their job dated back ten years.

If they look to the generation of women who immediately preceded them, today's find that a college greatly improves the securing a job. An old, seven out of ten jobs and the change with a year or more beyond college.

More than 10,000 of lumber are used according to the Texas Association.

HEALTH FACTS by Rohe

AGING GRACEFULLY

Stimulating activity is essential for well-being according to Dr. Paul Dudley White, physician to former President Eisenhower. White, himself an avid proponent of bicycle riding, feels moderate exercise for older people helps keep their bodies in shape, spirits alert and weight down.

One of the greatest hazards of age is heart trouble and recent studies show that faulty diets, over-rich in fats, and an overweight condition, are two of its leading causes. Moderate portions of healthy, balanced foods plus supplementary vitamins do their share in increasing longevity.

Another problem that affects elderly people is Xeroderma (pronounced: zero-derma), commonly called dry skin. Xeroderma can be alleviated, clinical researchers find, with the use of a therapeutic bath oil called Alpha-Keri which covers the skin with a fine, invisible film. This locks in moisture to relieve the tight, dry itchy feeling.

XV. THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST
We believe that the second coming of Christ is personal and imminent; that He will descend from Heaven in the clouds of glory with the voice of the archangel and with the trump of God; and that at this hour, which no man knoweth beforehand, the dead in Christ shall rise, then the redeemed that are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air, and that so shall they ever be with the Lord; that also seeing that a thousand years is as a day with the Lord, and that no man knoweth the hour of His appearance, which we believe to be near at hand, each day should be lived as though He were expected to appear at even, yet that in obedience to His explicit command, "Occupy till I come," the work of spreading the gospel, the sending forth of missionaries, and the general duties for the upbuilding of the church should be carried on as diligently, and thoroughly, as though neither ours nor the next generation should live in the flesh to see that glorious day.

Scripture References Where Taught
"For the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. I Thess. 4:16, 17.
". . . Denying ungodliness and worldly lusts we should live soberly, righteously and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ. Titus 2:12, 13.
". . . But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only. Watch, therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come. Therefore, be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh. Matt. 24:36, 42, 44.
"Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time without sin unto salvation. Heb. 9:28.
". . . Occupy till I come. Luke 19:13.
"Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning, and ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their Lord. . . that when He cometh and knocketh, they may open unto Him immediately. Blessed are those servants, whom the Lord when He cometh shall find watching: verily, I say unto you, that He shall gird Himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them. Luke 12:35-37.

State Draft Call For Sept. Is Announced
 State draft boards will be called upon to furnish 1,585 men for the armed forces in September. Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said.

Col. Schwartz also announced that the August quota for Texas had been increased from 1,636 to 1,837 and the July call from 1,284 to 1,381.

These monthly quotas compare with 878 for June, 1,927 for May, 970 for April, 1,068 for March, 1,372 for February, and 1,475 for January.

The state director of Selective Service said that Texas local boards would probably be called upon to send between 4,000 and 5,000 men for pre-induction mental and physical examinations in September.

Calls on the local boards for September, with quotas for both induction and pre-induction examination, will be sent out by state Selective Service headquarters on or about August 10.

The Texas quota of 1,578 for induction in September is the state's share of a national call for 31,300 men, all for the army.

The number of men classified as available for armed forces service by Texas local boards has increased since the end of May, the state Selective Service director pointed out.

At the end of June, Texas boards had a total of more than 68,000 men in Classes I-A and I-A-O. This pool was increased from about 44,000 at the end of May. The number of men classified as students declined during this period. Texas boards had 93,000 men classified in Class II-S at the end of June and 98,000 at the end of May.

Growing Old Is Just Simply A Question of Mind Over Matter

Growing old is simply a question of mind over matter—if you don't mind, it doesn't matter. That is the consensus of researchers in the psychology of aging at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston, Texas.

Regardless of their age, persons who are effective and productive do not think of themselves as growing old. Apparently they are not aware that they are aging.

In sharp contrast, the researchers observed that individuals who have difficulty in their adaptation to later life tend to occupy themselves with thoughts of growing old even while they are relatively young.

An integral part of the evaluation included assessing the attitudes of different age groups toward growing old. This included exploring the role of the self-image and the attitudes about one's body in the process of aging. The results of this study point to techniques that hopefully will be helpful in motivating persons who have difficulty in facing the problems of aging.

As the average age of American war veterans passes 46 years, the expanding research program in aging and the health problems of senior citizens established by the Veterans Administration has been functioning long enough to begin to report its findings.

Of the 165 VA hospitals, 38 hospitals and a number of outpatient clinics are conducting research programs in this field. Special laboratories for aging research are established in seven VA hospitals. Thirty-two cooperative studies, involving three to thirty hospitals each, are directly related to the research.

A program of "satellite laboratories" nourishes new concepts in the problems of aging. In these the VA is obtaining the cooperation of a distinguished group of scientists and physicians who are not otherwise associated with the agency. To them the VA offers facilities and staff assistance in nearby VA hospitals for the advance of their own ideas for research.

Six of these VA satellite laboratories operate at Bedford, Mass., Baltimore, Md., Downey, Ill., Buffalo, N. Y., and two at Sepulveda, Calif. Ten additional satellite laboratories are planned.

Concerned with the physical aspects of aging, researchers at the Sepulveda VA Hospital observed a progressive enlargement of the heart and changes of metabolism during the aging process. They noted a decrease in protein albumin carried to the heart muscle, and a decrease in hyaluronic acid present in organs having an increasing amount of connective tissue.

The loss of hyaluronic acid would account for many of the characteristics associated with aging, they contended. In the animal laboratory they were able to demonstrate an increase in albumin and hyaluronic acid in the vital organs following the administration of the female hormone estrogen.

While an expected increase has occurred in the number of patients suffering from the chronic diseases which affect older persons, the VA hospitals have had an increase of 33 percent in the number of arteriosclerotic heart disease patients, and an increase of 50 percent in the number of patients suffering strokes and other brain damage accompanying aging.

Efforts have been intensified in the investigation of heart disease, strokes, emphysema, cancer, diabetes, rheumatism and mental illness, the VA revealed. Emphasis is being placed upon new ideas and new approaches to the multitude of problems presented by aging and the increasing population of senior citizens.

Certain complex body sugars called mucopolysaccharides (MPS), always decrease with age, according to research workers at the VA hospital in West Roxbury, Mass. They also found an increased resistance to drying by the MPS while the water content decreased with age.

Three major studies now underway represent the scope of the VA research in aging. A long-term study of the aging process in healthy men was launched by the VA Outpatient Clinic at Boston. It will delineate selective anatomic, biochemical, physiologic and psychosocial aspects of aging in 1,500 initially healthy men ranging in age from 25 to 65 years. The subjects volunteer to return for periodic examinations for the rest of their lives.

This study is expected to provide descriptions of the normal aging processes, prediction of later outcomes, and correlation of variables. The subjects were screened for normality and will return for extensive examinations at intervals of three to five years. Each test series comprises about 15 hours of examination.

The Spanish-American War veterans study is a collaborative effort by trained teams from Brandeis University of Chicago. Surviving veterans of some of the 14,000 Spanish-American War veterans who have been receiving treatment at VA hospitals across the country are interviewed by these teams. The object is to attempt to learn what factors have influenced the survival of this group of veterans who now average 87 years of age.

The Domiciliary Diet Fat Study at the VA Center in Los Angeles, is an observation of 400 domiciliary members who have had their diets altered so that normal fat has been mostly replaced by unsaturated fats. This experiment is double blind, which means that neither patients nor their doctors know which patients are receiving experimental diets and which get regular diets.

The six surviving veterans of the Indian Wars and the Spanish-American War veterans are the oldest surviving U. S. war veterans. They are followed by more than two million veterans of World War I, who now average 71 years of age.

The 21.5 million World War II veterans average 46 years old and the 5.7 million veterans of the Korean Conflict who had some service in World War II, average 36 years. An additional 4.5 million Korean Conflict veterans who had no service in World War II average two years younger.

The need for intensive study of the problems of aging is pointed up by the fact that census estimates indicate that 28 million Americans will have passed the age of 60 by the year 1970, an increase of four million above the total which had reached that age in 1960, the VA said.

Knowledge gained from the VA research programs in aging will be used to provide better treatment for illnesses which beset senior citizens and will be used to make their lives more productive.

Not the explorer, nor the trapper, nor prospector; but to the farmer who developed the virgin soil of the United States should tribute be paid. A living testimonial to these early settlers can be seen in the world's largest display of agricultural implements at the Harold Warp Pioneer Village, 132 miles west of Lincoln, on U.S. 6 and 34, just 12 miles south of the new transcontinental highway I-80.

Loan Applications Rolling In Under New G. I. Bill

Nearly 3,000 applications for home loans under the new GI Bill program have been received from Texas veterans, the Veterans Administration reported.

A VA study to determine what impact the Veterans Readjustment Act of 1966 (new GI Bill) has had on the nation's economy also showed 7,157 Texas veterans have applied for certificates of eligibility for loans, Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said.

The number of applications for GI home loans is considered important because the lender usually makes the application, indicating the loan has gone through the initial, or interviewing stage Coker said.

Nearly 42,000 applications for home loans under the new GI Bill have been received nationally, the VA manager said. Throughout the country 135,000 veterans have applied for certificates of eligibility.

Not all of our early settlers were "scratching the earth" for their existence. Those folks who wanted speed took stage coaches instead of covered wagons to reach their destinations. A stage trip from St. Joseph, Missouri to Denver, in 1859 cost $175. To traverse the continent by stage coach took about two months and cost about 1250 dollars. Pulled by 4 or 6 fast steeds to outrun Indians (many a white man lost his life for his mount) most passengers eschewed comfort for speed. Typical stage coaches and covered wagons that made some of those trips are among the 30,000 historic items on display at the Harold Warp Pioneer Village at Minden, in south central Nebraska.
