Editor's Viewpoint

Raymond Greenwood

If things in this edition of the paper seem to be a little jumbled and make little sense, it's because this editor seems to have caught a little bit of the flu that seems to be going around--or, I'm just suffering from too much to eat during Christmas.

There were some half-dozen Santa letters that reached our office too late to be published last week in our paper. We sent those on up to Santa via air mail where they would reach him before Christmas eve.

Mrs. A.R. Hill tells me that the Bloodmobile will be visiting Burk Burnett again in the very near future. It will be here from 2-6 p.m. January 13. If you can give blood, why not give Mrs. Hill a call and let her schedule a time for you to come in during that four-hour period?

Saturday is the day for Burk Burnett. I'm sure it has been a long time since Burk Burnett has been visited by such a famous person and I'm positive that it has been even longer since anything better looking than Miss America has come to Burk Burnett.

Make plans to attend the chamber of commerce banquet and hear the talented Miss Phyllis George speak.

If you need a ticket, then just ask one of the chamber officers or directors, or go into one of the banks or the savings and loan or the Corner Drug Store or the chamber office.

Most everyone will be glued to their television sets tomorrow and pullin' for ole Texas (I hope). But during the hustle and bustle of a New Year's Day I hope we each can take a few minutes out from all of the exciting football, parades, etc., and make some firm New Year's resolutions, and to pause and remember all of the good things that came our way during 1970 and to thank those who made them possible.

A few years ago Rev. Vito C. Mazzone at the Church of St. Mary in Philadelphia published a little tract in which he declared, "We are accustomed to hearing the term 'communist principles,' but a great many people do not truly understand what these principles are. They might well be called 'the ten commandments of Satan.'"

"Bear in mind," continued Father Mazzone, "that these principles are to be found in the works of the communist leaders themselves; they are not merely accusations of anti-communists."

And then Father Mazzone went on to list The Ten Commandments of Satan as follows:

1. There is no God--religion is a delusion.
2. Man has no spiritual and immortal soul.
3. Activity is virtuous or sinful depending upon whether it helps to establish the dictatorship of the proletariat.
4. Marriage is not sacred; the State makes or unmake marriages as it sees fit.
5. Children belong not to the parents, but to the State.
6. Terrorism must be utilized to spread communism.
7. Constitutional governments must be overthrown by bloodshed.
8. Practically all true private ownership must be abolished.
9. Farmers must be lowered to the level of serfs, and workers to the level of slaves.
10. The only patriotism is the love of Soviet Russia and the desire to sovietize the entire world after the Marxist pattern.

It is interesting to compare the ten-point Marxist-Leninist platform cited by Father Mazzone several years ago, with Communist ideas today. One See EDITOR Page 2

"DID HE SAY I WON?" SAYS MERTLE HATCH

Burk Bulldogs Defeat Notre Dame 68-50

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs dished out a 68-50 defeat to the former District AA Catholic League state champion team of Notre Dame High School Tuesday night in the Bulldog Fieldhouse.

Tension was high before the game began. The Notre Dame Knights had been defeated only once this season, by Petrolia. The Bulldogs had an 8-6 record to their credit. The outstanding height of the Knights seemed a point of concern, with 50% of the team standing 6' 3" or over.

The first period was a tragedy of errors for the Bulldogs. Fouls and hurried, incomplete passes gave the Knights the advantage, as they scored 15 points to the Bulldogs' 11.

The Burk team came alive in the second period with swift and agile movements across the court. The height of Notre Dame seemed of little use to the Knights as Tom Bloodworth, Larry VanLoh, and Randy Aaron weaved in and out of their defensive setup. Turnover after turnover in favor of Burk occurred as the Bulldogs snatched the ball from the hands of the Knights' time and again. Burk capitalized on these stolen balls by scoring 22 points, giving the Bulldogs a 33-21 edge as the halftime horn sounded.

Teamwork was the key to the Burk Burnett strategy in the third period of the game. Intricate patterns were run with the utmost skill and precision and resulted in the Bulldogs' dominating the period in scoring. As Burk tacked another twenty points on the scoreboard, however, the price of leadership became evident. Several of the Burk players were coming dangerously close to being eliminated from the game because of excessive fouling. Keen substitutions and player self-control soon stopped this threat.

The Knights tried desperately to reorganize their efforts in the fourth period. During the period they gained 29 points, but this was not enough to take the lead. In the final minutes of the game, Burk Coach Stanley Owen substituted fresh players to replace varsity players after a job well done.

City Lighting Contest Places Announced

Winners of the Christmas Decorations Contest sponsored by the Community Service Council were announced Christmas Day. The student council of Burk Burnett High School was in charge of the judging.

Talifarro was awarded a $50 savings bond from the First National Bank. John A. Murphy, the third place winner, was awarded a $25 savings bond from the Burk Burnett Bank.

The best decorated house in District I belonged to Corene Manuel, 601 W. 6th. District II winner was Bill Penn, 600 Park. Best decorated house in District III was the H. C. Preston, Jr., home on Charlotte Road. The Cliff Wampler home at 902 Kiowa was winner of District IV. Guidelines Of Life

Goodby, 1970; you are leaving, and I cannot recall you. A year ago, I welcomed you with resolutions. I kept a few of them. I failed the others. So, when I say goodby to you, my relief is somewhat tinged with a bitter taste.

Goodby 1970. Whatever I did with you is now a matter of history to be read by those who follow me. I wish I could rewrite part of you to make me appear to be more honorable or more faithful than I actually was; but, if I did this, I should be adding the sin of hypocrisy to the rest of my faults. God, help me aspire to greater things.

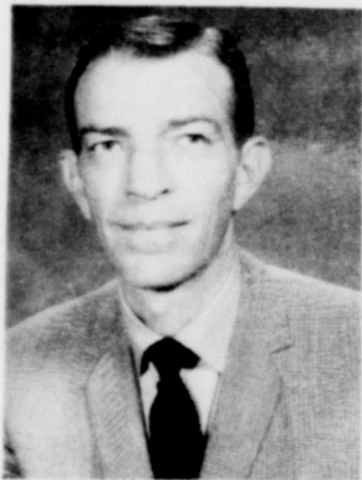

Come to think of it, you weren't really so bad. I saw some good things along the way. God spared me another year and provided my daily bread. He never left me alone for a minute. Even when my heart was broken and I was defeated, He sustained me and pointed me toward truth and victory. When I was down and out, He encouraged and strengthened me beyond my dreams. And, would you believe, those problems that I was sure would kill me finally got worked out?

1970, just what are you, anyway? You are time? And, what is time? Time is God, because "In Him we live and move and have our being." Time is God, because "Jesus Christ (is) the same yesterday and today and forever." Time is God, because our Savior said that He was the great "I AM." Whether I realized it or not, when I saw 1970, I was seeing God all around me. That winter and that spring told me about resurrection and my need of the new birth through the Risen One. The hot summer told me to "work, for the night is coming." The falling leaves of autumn whispered to me not to delay putting my faith in the God who created time.

After all, I do not need 1970 any more. If I have God through His Son, Jesus Christ, I have eternity in my soul. Yesterday is a cancelled check. Tomorrow is a promissory note. Only TODAY can be spent as cash. Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ today; because, my friend, TOMORROW we may have to stop saying "goodby" to 1970 long enough to say "goodby" to you.

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS

by Robert Sturges

Winning is always great, but when you defeat a former state champion - it's great! The Notre Dame team took many blows Tuesday night, not only in their record but in pride. Those who went to the game saw that the Knights were one of the tallest teams the Bulldogs had faced on the hardwood battleground of Burk High's gym. Their height seemed of little advantage to them, however, except in the case of rebounds. Tom Hoodworth, Jim Sims and others on the team seemed to make steals a matter of habit as the game progressed. But possession of the basketball means nothing if you cannot score with it. This was not the situation Tuesday for the Bulldogs were quite accurate in placing the ball through the hoop.

The endurance of the Bulldogs is to be commended, also. As I stated earlier, the Bulldogs stole balls and intercepted passes throughout the course of the game. Burk was running up and down the court continuously while they played. Even when tired and out of breath, the Bulldogs performed well. Exhaustion took its toll on the Knights, though, as they had to substitute many times for tired, stumbling players. All in all, the game was a fine example of the qualities of our team. Teamwork, endurance and that all-important spirit we call hustle combine to form the Burkburnett Bulldog team. Let's hope that the team will be able to retain these qualities during the entire season. The Bulldogs will play their next game Saturday afternoon, as they meet Iowa Park at two o'clock here in Bulldog Gym. Another important game to keep in mind is the upcoming Bowie-Burk contest on Tuesday, January 4. Bowie is favored to take their district title, so it should prove to be an exciting game. Try to attend one or both games if at all possible; you won't be disappointed.

The University Study Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Gene Robertson, with Mrs. L.W. Mathis and Mrs. I.E. Harvell serving as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Lewis Brocker, president, conducted a short business session. Members voted to send bags of candy to each of 31 patients of County Farm. Each member brought food for a basket to be given to a needy family and gifts for patients at Wichita Falls State Hospital. Instead of exchanging gifts, members placed $2.00 each on a money tree to be used for club projects.

Mrs. Newt Crane, program chairman, presented the program, and roll call was answered with a favorite verse of scripture from the Bible. A Christmas story, "He Passed Through," by H.B. McDonald, was read by Mrs. J.B. Morris. Delicious refreshments were served from the beautifully decorated table to the following members: Mmes. Fletcher Baber, Brocker, B.A. Browning, A.R. Bunstine, E.R. Burns, B.N. Cauthorn, Crane, Bill Crossley, Harwell, A.C. Houser, J.D. Majors, Mathis, Morris, J.M. Pogue, J.H. Rigby, Joy Sessums, S.H. Shrum and Marshall Young.

New President Dirt Farmer

The new president of the 121,158-member Texas Farm Bureau is a successful North Texas "dirt farmer" and beef cattle producer. He is J. T. (Red) Woodson of Gober in Fannin County. Woodson was elected president by TFB delegates at the organization's convention in November in Fort Worth. He succeeded Sidney Dean of Victoria, who had served for three years.

Woodson farms 1,250 acres, 890 of which he owns. A diversified farmer, his principal commodities are cotton, wheat, feed grains and Hereford cattle. The new Texas Farm Bureau president is as much at home on a tractor or handling cattle as he is behind a desk. As such, he brings to the presidency of the state's largest farm organization a broad background of practical farming experience and personal understanding of the farmer's and rancher's problems. Woodson served as a member of the TFB board of directors from District 4 from 1957 until he was elevated to the presidency. He was vice president from 1962 to 1966. A leader in the Fannin County Farm Bureau since he joined the organization in 1951, Woodson served as membership chairman and was president of the county unit in 1955-56. A native of Gober, Woodson graduated from high school in nearby Bonham and attended Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, where he took pre-med courses. He also attended East Texas State at Commerce. Returning to his hometown in the early 1930s, he operated a gin for 14 years before making farming his life's work.

Woodson is active in local church and community affairs. He is a member of the Gober Baptist Church and his wife is a member of the Gober Christian Church. Both are workers in community improvement programs. He is also a Mason. He is married to the former Ann Smith of Gober. They have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Caribeth Sutherland, who lives in Gober; and a son, Larry, who resides in Sherman. The Woodsons have four grandsons. Mr. and Mrs. Woodson reside on their farm near Gober.

County H D Agent

Thelma Wirges
County Home
Demo Agent

It's time to re-pot house plants, says Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration Agent, and here is her recipe for soil mixture for potting: Mix two parts good garden loam, two parts of peat moss, and one part sand. Well-rotted manure or shredded leaf mold may substitute for peat moss. Garden soil usually is not suitable for potting plants. It is usually too low in organic matter. The homemade mixture provides the three things most needed by potted plants: support, good soil aeration, and ability to hold adequate moisture and nutrients.

To kill disease organisms, insects and weeds, pasturize the soil mixture by placing it in a shallow pan for 30 minutes in an oven preheated to 200 degrees F. The soil should be moistened before placing in the oven.

Always use clean tools and new pots or soil may be re-infected with harmful organisms. Used clay pots should be given the same pasturization treatment. Plastic pots should be washed thoroughly in hot soapy water.

A simpler and much easier way to handle pot plants in the home is to purchase the prepared mixes available in your nursery or garden supply center.

Do your house plants die? You may not be watering them right. This is especially true during the winter months when plant growth is very slow because of the low light intensities.

We frequently get impatient and apply additional water and fertilizer, hoping to make the plants grow large and healthy. Actually, during winter periods the plant is producing very little food and cannot grow rapidly.

Overwatering is the worst offense during periods of slow growth. Plant roots must have air as well as water. If the soil stays saturated with water, little or no oxygen can reach the roots. This results in loss of the small feeder roots and eventual death of the plant.

Never water plants by rule of thumb such as every other day or twice a week. Once the soil is thoroughly moist, water them only when they need it.

In watering house plants, supply sufficient water so that it runs through the potting soil into the saucer below. Always discard the excess water that drains through the pot into the saucer to prevent the accumulation of soluble salts in the potting soil.

Plants in a cold room need less water than those in a very dry atmosphere. Flowering plants and those with much foliage require more water than those without blooms and with very little foliage.

SHEPPARD AIR FORCE BASE

Two Sergeants Have Much In Common,

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Two sergeants at Sheppard have been in adjacent rooms for more than eight weeks and have a lot in common, but they have never met.

SSgt. Bruce F. Wurtz and Sgt. Daniel Palmer are both patients in Ward 5-S at Sheppard's U.S. Air Force Regional Hospital, both have been in traction for more than eight weeks, and this is only the beginning of similarities.

Sergeant Wurtz's wife, Sharon, and Sergeant Palmer's wife, Susan, were both in the same room in Ward 3-M, the maternity ward, at the hospital. Both wives had baby boys, and both on the same afternoon.

The two sergeants were both injured in motorcycle accidents, both have right legs in traction, both had the same doctor, and both are fathers of their second boys.

Sergeant Wurtz' son Troy Lee, weighed eight pounds and four ounces at birth, and Sergeant Palmer's son, Stephen James, weighed six pounds, 10 ounces.

Sergeant Wurtz had his accident on Seymour Highway in Wichita Falls. Sergeant Palmer's accident happened while he was stationed at Clark Air Base, Republic of the Philippines. He was brought to Sheppard by aerovac after five weeks in the hospital at Clark AB.

Overseas Wives Club Holds Party

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--The fat man dressed in red with a long white beard was the main attraction at the Overseas Wives Christmas party held Tuesday night at Chapel 5 at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The jolly man, known as Santa, cheered and entertained about 20 children of the club members.

Games were played and refreshments were served. Each child received a gift and the mothers exchanged gifts.

Mrs. Kenneth Balsley and members of her committee were responsible for the decorations and entertainment.

The club, which holds its meetings each Tuesday at 10 a.m. in Chapel 5, is open to all women whose husbands are overseas on an unaccompanied tour. Varied programs are presented at the meetings. Pot luck suppers are held monthly.

Anyone interested in becoming a member or obtaining further information is asked to contact Family Services at 871-2300.

UP, UP & AWAY

Here is hoping Santa brought a number of readers of this column a private pilot's license and each has a little fear of any plane they may fly--just enough to respect the plane's capabilities and make a New Year's resolution never to attempt flight maneuvers beyond the dual you've received.

Soloing gives a student a thrill he will never forget. Receiving a private license does not carry a chilly thrill associated with the solo ticket, but a flyer has a feeling of accomplishment that can not be duplicated, according to my experiences.

It is my belief that earning a commercial ticket offers little to be remembered and passing a written and flight examination for an instructor's rating gives one a satisfaction that goes with more exact accomplishments, and this view is held by a number of my flying acquaintances.

Most instructors, worth their weight in gold, get their thrills while instructing, when they somehow instinctively know and can feel that their students are at ease to the extent that their progress is average or better.

A conscientious mechanic gets his thrill when he completes an engine overhaul and it responds as a new engine should.

An artist works many hours getting the expression or exact proportions and color blends he has in mind. When he does, there is that indescribable joy that automatically swells within any industrious, proud and patient human, no matter what field he is in, when real accomplishment has been achieved.

Being able to fly an airplane on instruments alone, to me, falls into the category of commercialization. I believe that 99.99% of all instrument pilots other than airline, military, and pilots for company executives, would be better off not having permits giving them the right to risk instrument flying, because they do not deep in practice.

Most flying is done for pleasure and there certainly is very little pleasure involved in flying when instruments are needed.

May you have the good common sense during 1971 to use that life saving maneuver known as the 180-degree turn. Don't let your pride or superior knowledge of meteorology, devil-may-care attitude or whatever excuse you can cook up, get the best of your better judgment when in doubt concerning flying conditions bordering on instrument requirements.

Young pilots, you may question many things an experienced pilot tells you to the extent that you will try it just to see if he knows what he is talking about.

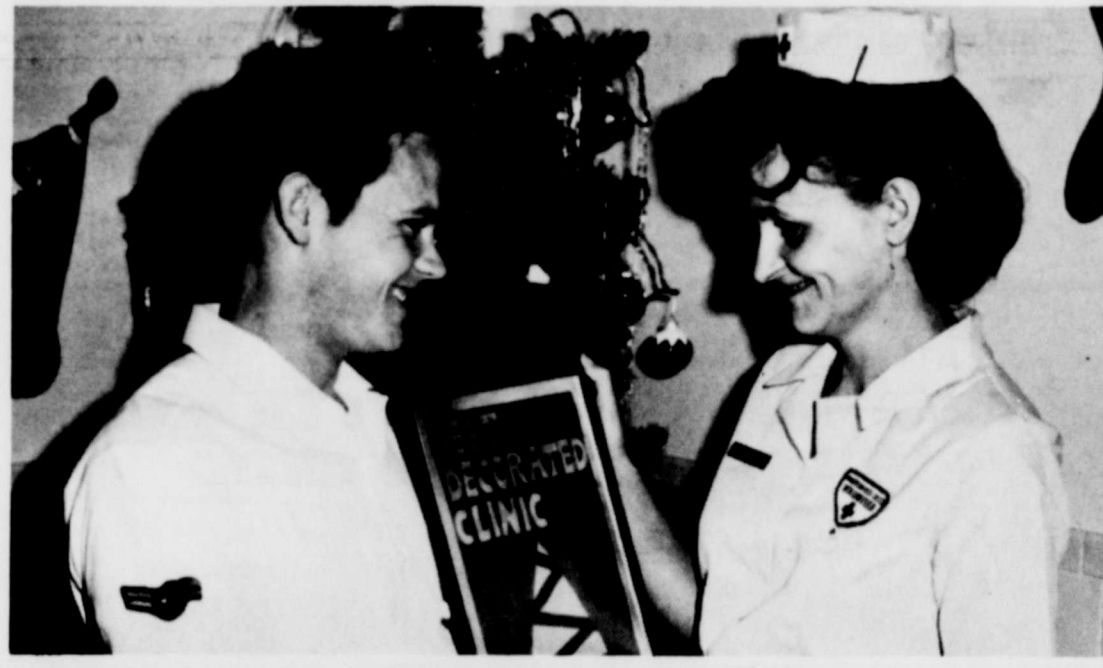

Take my word for it--don't be foolish enough to try to prove I am wrong when I mention how frantic you will be should you attempt to prove me wrong.

REACT Serves Holiday Travlers

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Many Sheppardites were busy this long Christmas-New Year holiday working with the Texoma Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Team (REACT) serving free coffee, milk, soft drinks and doughnuts to tired motorists.

All supplies and the trailer that houses the stand set up for the occasion are donated by local merchants and dealers. REACT members manned the stand and provided the communications equipment.

This organization is composed mostly of military members. It is headed by TSgt. William Milner of the Medical Service School. Texoma REACT affiliate of national REACT, is devoted to assisting safety officials in preventing and reporting accidents and fires and in shipping stranded motorists.

Since November 1967, the Texoma REACT organization has manned a 24-hour rest stop near Shallow Field Road off of the Red River Expressway during holiday periods.

The sign, asking members to stop says, "Take a break and save a life."

Air Traffic Controllers Handle Large No. In November

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Air traffic controllers assigned to the 2054th Communications Squadron, Air Force Communications Service, at Sheppard AFB handled the largest number of air movements in November of any facility in the Southern Communications Area AFCS during that month.

Thirty-seven units and detachments are in the area. The Sheppard air traffic controllers handled 28,550 aircraft movements in November. The air traffic control facilities at Sheppard provide service to both military and civil traffic. Continental, Texas International and King Airlines provide commercial service to the city.

The Sheppard controllers provide service to both T-37 and T-38 undergraduate pilot training and to the Air Force's only Helicopter Flying Training School. The Sheppard tower is unique in that it is the only tower on an Air Training Command base that actively controls undergraduate pilot training (UPT) traffic.

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

B. T. Haws
Wichita County Agricultural

continues the county agent, it is also a good time to make arrangements for the fertilizer which will be needed when the test results are known. If the soil test shows the soil is low in a given nutrient, fertilizer containing this element will be recommended to meet the expected yield requirements for the crop to be grown. Low production means a higher per unit cost of production and a loss of potential profit, while high yields have the opposite effect on production and profits. And finally, reminds county agent B.T. Haws, fertilizers for next year's crops can be applied when the land is being prepared; thus, when planting time rolls around next spring, there'll be no delays and planting can proceed on schedule. Information on all phases of testing along with needed instruction, mailing cartons and record sheets are available at the county agent's office.  The first annual convention of the Catfish Farmers of Texas, Inc., and the third annual Fish Farming Conference will be held in Texas A&M's Memorial Student Center, January 7-8, 1971. Any person interested in fish farming is invited to attend. Some 500 persons are expected. Discussions will center around two major problems: parasites and diseases, and marketing. Fish farming equipment will also be on display during the two days.  With current soil moisture and grazing situations not too good, supplemental feeding of the beef herd is likely to be mighty important during the next few months. Cattlemen should be able to save both time and money by feeding protein supplement twice a week rather than each day. Texas A&M University tests have shown that cattle fed protein supplement twice a week performed just as well as those fed each day. The result from the twice weekly feeding was a savings of about 60 percent in labor and travel. This method of feeding, says the county agent, doesn't necessarily mean feeding less supplement, just feeding more less frequently. During the cold winter months, cattle need plenty of forage for the production of body heat. A low quality forage that is high in fiber is a good feed for storm periods, because of the high body heat generated from digesting the fiber in the roughage. A well-fed cow can withstand low temperatures. Researchers say the critical temperature is just above the point at which cattle begin to shiver. A cow on a fasting diet, or without any feed, reaches a critical temperature at about 55 degrees F. A maintenance ration lowers the critical temperature to about 23 degrees F., with an increase in feed consumption, the critical temperature is lowered to well below zero. Wet hair and an increase in wind velocity raise the critical temperature and this increases the amount of feed required for body heat production by the animal. Good dividends can be expected if cattle are well-fed during the stress months of winter.

Soil testing is an important part of today's production agriculture. Maximum yields produced at the lowest per unit cost are a must to keep fertilization practices at a profitable level. Now is the time to have soil tested to determine its capacity to supply the needed plant nutrients for top yields. And,

Rodeo Tickets Sales Ahead Of Last Year

Advance rodeo ticket sales are well ahead of any recent year, reports A.C. Isham, ticket manager for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show and Rodeo in Fort Worth. "Mail order ticket volume is heavy," Isham commented. Special Daysticket blocks are selling well at this early date, with big sales coming from civic and chamber of commerce groups, riding clubs and business organizations. The 75th Diamond Anniversary edition of the Southwestern Exposition runs Jan. 29 through Feb. 7, 1971. The show includes an exhibition of more than 11,000 head of fine livestock and 20 Fort Worth Rodeo performances. Judy Lynn and the Judy Lynn Show, a favorite country and western singing group from Las Vegas, will be the special attraction at the 1971 Rodeo. Top professional cowboys and challengers will be seeking a share of more than $80,000 in prize and entry fee money. The cowboys will be charging from the chutes in a contest with the best rodeo stock in the United States and Canada. Answering popular demand, the exciting Wild Horse Race will be returned as a Stock Show Rodeo event. "Based on ticket sale reports to date, we anticipate record crowds at the 75th Anniversary Stock Show," said W.R. Watt, president-manager. Tickets are available at the Will Rogers Coliseum ticket office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, including Sunday. Mail order tickets are available by writing to P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, Texas 76101. Rodeo tickets, which include admission to the Stock Show grounds, are $3 for the 2 p.m. Monday through Friday performances and the special 10 a.m. Saturday show, Jan. 30. All 8 p.m. daily and Saturday and Sunday afternoon tickets are priced at $3.50.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS
May we as a family take this way to say how very much we thank and appreciate all of our friends and neighbors for every thought of kindness and all your prayers for us during this time of sorrow in the loss of our beloved husband and father. We have been overwhelmed by the many flowers, food, cards, and memorial gifts of books and contributions to the heart fund and The Lottie Moon Mission offering. Especially we want to thank Bro. Champ for the beautiful memorial service, and Charles and the ladies ensemble for the music. These have all meant more to you will ever know.
Our loss has been great, but we know God's grace is sufficient to meet our every need. Our prayer is that those to whom he witnessed in life will prepare to meet God when he calls them!
God Bless all of you.

Past President Speaks

Having had better participation in the Chamber of Commerce for the year 1970 leads me to believe that the Burkburnett Businessman is more interested in his customer than ever before. We have had a record number of new business firms to remodel and rebuild. It is very evident to me that all of these businessmen have faith in Burkburnett. Self pride in one's business is very important, and is a must to be a successful business operator. It is impossible for me to mention everyone who has contributed to the successful operation of the Chamber this year. However, I would like to thank everyone that helped in any way. I would like to thank the chamber directors for their guidance and wisdom throughout the year. I would especially like to commend the Burkburnett Informer/Star and other news media for their coverage of the various Chamber activities. As Jerry McClure and the new officers come in I would like for everyone to get behind these men and help them to have a good year.

Pageant Exciting, But Full Of Compassionate Moments

A Miss America Pageant has many moments of excitement and glamor.

But it also has its moments of compassion and pathos.

Such a moment has made Phyllis George set a goal during her Miss America reign to visit underprivileged, handicapped and retarded children.

On the last day of preliminary competition in the Miss America Pageant, Miss George took a breather from her hectic schedule to wander down to the Atlantic City beach.

She came back to her hotel with only a short time left before she had to prepare for that night's competition. She was really in something of a rush.

But waiting for her at the door was a young boy, a handicapped child who had been waiting for an hour to see the Miss America contestants staying at this hotel.

All he wanted was an autograph.

Miss George gave the boy the autograph and then, though she really needed to get back to her room, stayed to talk with him a few minutes.

Though she probably thought no more about the incident that night, the young boy had fallen in love with her.

The boy was with a group of about 30 retarded and handicapped children--some with cerebral palsy or muscular dystrophy, some in wheel chairs, some on crutches---that had come from Pennsylvania to see the pageant.

Miss George later learned from one of the parents with the group that that young boy had been so happy after his first meeting with her that he had had the incentive to try to walk--something he hadn't tried to do for months.

He spread the word among the other youngsters also staying at Miss George's hotel that Miss Texas was wonderful, that she was the girl to root for.

Their hearts literally moved from their home state to Texas.

That night when Miss George returned from winning the preliminary swimsuit competition, the lobby was filled with well-wishers, and chief among them was the group of handicapped children and their parents.

The next day, some of the group again sat in the lobby almost all day, waiting to catch a glimpse of Miss George. Nothing could make the youngsters happier than seeing their heroine.

One of the men with the group revealed that one small boy had waked up that morning and said, "I prayed for Phyllis and she's going to win."

Other children with group had had signs made for them to take to the final pageant that night. The signs read "Go Miss Texas," "The Yellow Rose of Texas," and "Miss Texas -- Miss America."

None of the 30-some handicapped children or their parents were supporting Miss Pennsylvania, the contestant from their home state.

Pageant time grew closer. The lobby filled when it was time for Miss George to leave for the pageant.

One of the retarded boys in the group had tears in his eyes when Miss George passed him and stopped for a picture.

At the pageant, their cheers could be heard above everyone else's.

At the pageant's end, when their girl had won, their excitement was so great, many of the children cried with happiness. A woman approached the group and said, "You sure did a great job of cheering Miss Texas. What part of Texas are you from?"

"The Pennsylvania part," said the father of one of the handicapped children.

GUEST EDITORIAL

"Today, America seems to be very self-conscious. Every institution, every industry, every policy, every public figure is subject to harsh, critical scrutiny. There is great power for good in conscientious criticism, in legitimate social concern, and in honestly-expressed dissatisfaction. Our country has always thrived on discussion and open disagreement.

"All of us deserve to be 'weighed in the balance' and taken to task now and then. It sharpens our responsiveness to the public good and strengthens our democracy.

"Though there is much that is wrong with America today, there probably has been no time in all recorded history when so many people lived so well as they do right now in this country.

"When they attack our institutions, the zealots must be careful, lest they destroy the good with the bad. There is cause for concern when discussion and disagreement give way to disorder and disobedience. There is cause for concern when dissent becomes an end in itself—a 'way of life' for many with no plan but disruption and no purpose but destruction. There is cause for concern when critical attacks are motivated by selfish desires for personal popularity, or political power, or publicity.

"Dissent not based on facts is deceit.

"The dynamic force that makes this country 'go' is like a mighty engine—powerful, but not fool-proof. Like any such mechanism, under adverse conditions it can literally 'tear itself apart' from within.

"Our American engine is built to close tolerances. It cannot long tolerate either excessive permissiveness or undue restrictiveness. If not properly lubricated, a high-speed engine such as ours can overheat and destroy itself. Excessive, irresponsible critical abuse can contaminate the lubrication. It's the old story of 'sand in the gears.'

"In essence, what this country needs is criticism of a more positive, constructive, responsible nature. I realize, however, that these are relative terms. Personally, I think that to criticize and demonstrate with neither the facts nor a better solution, is irresponsible. The dissenter, himself, may have a different view of his actions.

"This much, however, I do know: It is easier to challenge than to change; it is easier to be contemptuous than constructive; it is easier to be critical than creative; it is easier to be against something than to know what to be for."

—Roger M. Kyes, Executive Vice President, General Motors Corporation, addressing the 125th annual banquet of the Buffalo (New York) Chamber of Commerce.

A MESSAGE

From Your President

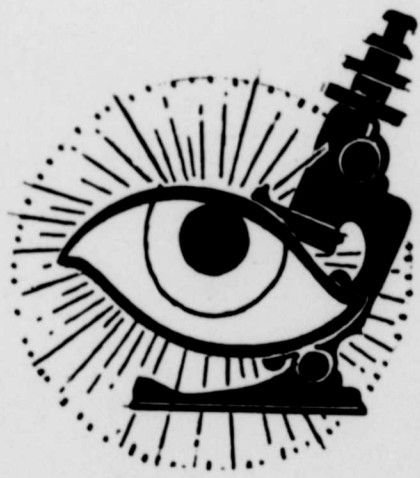

We have a good year planned for our Chamber of Commerce during 1971, and I am looking forward to working with everyone connected with the Chamber. We have a very fine bunch of new directors, and with the help and guidance of the old directors, I know we will have a productive year.

As you know, T. M. Cornelius has done a wonderful job this year as president, and it is going to be rough following him.

Everyone has been very helpful and cooperative, and has shown enthusiasm toward the agenda we have planned for the coming year, and I am sure that, with their help, we will continue to make Burkburnett a better place to live.
