Have you ever tried to sit behind a desk and write a column for a newspaper while one of the best high school baseball games of the season is in progress? You guessed it -- I couldn't either. I just had to go out and see what the Bulldogs were doing to the Kangaroos from Weatherford.

Our boys played a great game. They made some fantastic plays when the chips were down. In fact, they played two great games. If you missed either one of the games you will have to wait until next year to see another, and then possibly there might not be another quite so exciting.

It seems that the Depot will soon be moved. The report that I received from one member of the Community Service Council was that preparatory work for the moving would possibly begin next week.

After a lengthy struggle, a group has now been able to raise enough funds to get the depot moved and repaired to some extent. Money is still needed for the depot, though. A great deal of time and money must be spent in order to make the depot into a historic museum. The council has some very good and extremely practical ideas and plans for the depot.

Donations of any amount will be greatly appreciated by the council, I'm sure. As one of the members stated, "We greatly appreciate those who have given large amounts, but the 50¢ and $1 donations are important to us, too, because they also soon add up to a large amount."

There will be something new and exciting coming to Burk Burnett in a couple of weeks. A group of local merchants will stage a sidewalk sale on Tuesday, June 8. In addition to this, they plan to stay open until 9:00 p.m. that night for your shopping convenience.

They plan to have some of the best bargains to be found anywhere out on the sidewalks of Burk Burnett at that date. Other special attractions are planned for that date, and we'll be sure to let you know about them as soon as plans are finalized.

Writer Walter Bybee once said, "My grandfather claimed that 'ain't' was, next to 'no,' the most useful word in the English language, and advocated everyone using it. To prove his point, he would conjugate it: 'It ain't; thou ain't; he, she or it ain't; we ain't; you ain't; they ain't. There,' he would say, 'you see that one word is good for singular or plural and for all known sexes. There should be more words like it.'"

THE ACTION WAS FAST AND EXCITING THROUGHOUT BOTH PLAY-OFF GAMES TUESDAY.

Burkburnett Bulldogs Win One, Lose One In District Playoffs

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs were robbed of a District 4-AAA title Tuesday afternoon when they lost the second game of a double-header to the Weatherford Kangaroos by a score of 9-7. The loss gave Weatherford a two-game margin in the best of three games series.

The first game was one of victory for the Bulldogs. It was a do-or-die situation, requiring a Bulldog victory after the narrow 5-4 defeat suffered last Friday in Weatherford. The game opened with the Weatherford team at the plate. Randy Aaron was responsible for retiring the first three 'Roos batters. He snatched three consecutive fly balls to close the Weatherford series.

Burk's first batter, Tom Bloodworth was struck out. Randy Aaron followed with a short infield tap which sent him to first. Joe Karstetter sacrificed to bring Aaron home and give the Bulldogs an early 1-0 lead. Rick Reasoner, the next Burk batter, grounded out to end the inning.

In the second inning the 'Roos made a scoring bid. After their first batter was thrown out at first, Larry Torbett hit a firm slam and went to first. Torbett stole second base before Weatherford pitcher Charles Jackson hit the ball to Burk right fielder Monty Patton for a single. The call was 2 and 0 when Jeff Weddle slammed the ball deep into right field, allowing Torbett to score and tie the game. Aaron grabbed another pop fly from Bartlett to give the 'Roos their second out. John Womach was blessed by a twist of fate when his leftfield grounder bypassed Burk short stop Mike Tipton, giving Jackson a ticket to home plate. Bulldog pitcher Terry Moore fired three strikes across the plate against Weatherford's third baseman Joe Brown to bring an end to the 'Roo rally.

Burkburnett had its troubles in the bottom of the second. Only Rodney Roberts was able to get on base.

Both teams added to their scores in the third inning. Weatherford's Brad Stroud scored on a Tipton error to Bulldog first baseman Rick Reasoner on a Torbett hit. Two more points were

Burk Service Council Purchases Old Depot

The Burk Burnett Community Service Council purchased the old MKT Depot from the Burk Burnett Study Club during the Monday night meeting of the council.

Mrs. Fred Hunt, treasurer of the Service Council, presented a dollar bill to Mrs. Helen Reasoner, representative of the study club, in exchange for the Bill of Sale for the Depot. Mrs. Hunt reported that the council will now proceed with the plans for moving the depot from its present site to a site in the Boomtown Ol Park.

Regarding the removal of the depot, it was disclosed at the meeting that a private individual, G. T. Kimbell of Wichita Falls, had volunteered to contribute funds in an amount sufficient to move the historic building.

Kimbell is a former resident of Burk Burnett, having first come here shortly after leaving military service following World War I. He was co-owner and organizer of Kimbell-Bostic Supply Co., which operated in Burk Burnett for many years. Kimbell is one of the founders of Burk Royalty Co. which was organized here. He is still active in that company, and is also a former director of the First National Bank.

"Mr. and Mrs. Kimbell have made numerous other contributions toward the progress of Burk Burnett, both before and since moving to Wichita Falls. The Community Council, representing Burk Burnett, would like to express its appreciation to Mr. Kimbell and all other individuals and organizations who have donated or pledged money to the depot-museum project," stated Mrs. Hunt.

Beginning Monday, some thirty artifacts, papers and antiques collected by the Burk Burnett Study Club will be on display in the window of the Burk Burnett Bank. These articles are reminiscent of the historic past of Burk Burnett -- Boomtown U.S.A. They will be placed in the Depot-museum after it has been placed in the Boomtown Ol Park and renovation of the building is completed.

"Many long-time citizens of our town can recall the days of the oil boom, when rail traffic was heavy in this city," stated Mrs. J.C. Adams, as she related to the council her experience of first

Subscriptions Up As Contest Continues

The annual subscription campaign to the Burk Burnett Informer/Star is now entering its second week, and contestants report that sales are going at a rapid pace. This rate seems to be due to the ease with which one can sell a new or renewal subscription to Burk Burnett's quality weekly newspaper.

Allen McClure of 620 Akers, the 13-year-old son of Sandra Gardner, was the first contestant to come in with a full book of subscribers.

Allen came in to sign up at the Informer/Star office, located at 417 Ave. C., near closing time Friday afternoon. Saturday, Allen sold eight subscriptions to the paper, and then sold another two Monday to complete one subscription book. This book was worth $10 in cash to Allen, who reported that all you have to do is get out and ask people to take the Informer/Star or, if they are taking the paper, to renew it now.

Subscribers who renew their subscriptions at this time will have the renewal time added on to their expiration date. For example, if your present subscription expires in September, 1971, and you renew your subscription now for another year, then your subscription will expire in September, 1972.

Others entered in the subscription contest are Cathy Cray, 11 years old, and Michael Cray, 10, both the children of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Cray of 1211 Bishop Rd.; David Vigue or 354 Burk Haven, 10 year old son of Wandene Vigue; Mike Oceletto of 620 Akers, 11, son of Mrs. Betty Oceletto; and Tommy Lindenborn or 507 W. 3rd, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linden-

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS

by Robert Sturges

Well, Burkburnett fans had to face another humiliating walk out of a ball park with another group of fans chanting "We're Number One." It's indeed the final insult when it happens in your home field. As far as the games go, I think both were exciting and interesting to watch. There was a lot of action. The center field fence sure was a prime target for Burkbatter Tuesday, wasn't it? I haven't seen so many home runs since the Grangerfield game. The pitchers, Terry Moore, Danny Furmanek and Larry VanLoh, were quite excellent. The Texas wind certainly was a test of good ball control (and one's endurance to sandblasting). I will not comment on any of the controversial umpire calls, because most were in our favor and I plan to leave well enough alone. The team I saw play Tuesday is a fine example of the quality teams which Burkburnett produces. All the team members are to be commended for their performances under the strain of competition and the adverse weather conditions. Their spirit was never broken, and they displayed fine sportsmanship (which was another test of endurance under the bombardment of 'Roo chats).

And so another season of baseball comes to a close, and the high sports for the year has ended. All the equipment will be neatly packed away for use in another year. The team members will go their separate ways and some will never return. But such is the story of sports.

I will continue to write sports for this paper. Next is kid baseball. I would greatly appreciate all managers and/or sponsors of kid baseball teams, Little League, Girl's Softball, etc, if you would send me a copy of your season schedules in care of this newspaper. I plan to write about as many games as space permits and will highlight one game each week in this column.

Dan Schaffner, principal of Burkburnett High School, was honored last week at the Student Council Awards Assembly. He was presented a plaque of appreciation from the student body.

The plaque idea was originated by the high school student council. The inscription read, that the student body was grateful for Schaffner's help as a principal as well as a friend during the course of the school year. It was presented to Schaffner by Tom Bloodworth, student council president.

Schaffner studied as an undergraduate at Midwestern University, where he majored in biology. He did graduate work at North Texas State University, where he received a masters degree in education. He began his career in education as a general science and biology teacher at Burkburnett High School in 1960. In 1967 he became principal of a junior high in Carnegie, Okla., for one year. He returned to Burkburnett in 1968 to become Curriculum Director and finally principal of BHS in 1969. When asked to comment on his two years as principal at the high school, Schaffner said, "Both student council's and student bodies have been most co-operative.

While shopping retail meat counters, look for best beef values on chuck roasts and steaks, rib roasts and steaks, liver, ground beef and round steaks and roasts. Pork values include hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks and end-cut loin roasts and chops.

Fryers remain an excellent bargain in most meat departments, and Grade A large size eggs continue to offer the best combination of economy and quality for your egg money.

BULLDOGS

tacked on to the 'Roo score when Weddie's slam to centerfield paved the way for Melvin Rucker and Torbett to trot home. A strike-out by Bartlett brought the 'Roo's third inning bid to a close. Burkburnett's first batter, Moore, was walked to first. Tom Bloodworth was fouled out. Aaron was walked, but not before Knox, who had subbed for Terry Moore, was thrown out in attempting to steal third. Karstetter then slammed a centerfield grounder for a single. Reasoner acted as clean-up man when his power hit over second base sent Aaron and Karstetter in to score. Monty Patton then tapped a nice double into right field, moving Reasoner to third. Errors, charged to Weatherford's third baseman and shortstop, gave Burkburnett the opportunity to score on Rodney Roberts' plug to left field. Reasoner scored on the play while Monty went to third. Bulldog catcher Jerry Patton came to bat next.

The 'Roo catcher tried to throw Reasoner out at second on a steal play, only to have Monty Patton steal home and add another point to the Bulldog score. Jerry Patton was walked. Roberts scored later on a catcher's error while Tipton was at bat. Tipton sent the ball over third and went to first, followed by a nice double from Terry Moore, allowing Jerry Patton to score. Bloodworth was thrown out at first for the final out in the inning.

Womach shot one into centerfield to open Weatherford's fourth inning. Joe Brown smashed into Burkburnett first baseman Reasoner after his short tap to left field. The ball was overthrown to Reasoner because of this and Womach scored. Rick was un hurt, although Brown was stunned for several minutes. Randy Miller was thrown out at first by Moore, followed by Karstetter's catch of a deep leftfield slam from Stroud. Rodney Roberts netted another long drive from Rucker, giving Weatherford their final out of the inning. Burkburnett had three up and three down in the same inning.

The fifth was filled with exciting action for both teams. Weatherford's Womach and Brown scored in a loaded bases situation. Miller tapped the ball into left field for the scores. Aaron brought the 'Roo drive to a halt when he snatched up a bouncing third base drive by Stroud and tagged Miller en route to third. Burkburnett had one of its most exciting moments of this game in the fifth, when Jerry Patton sent the ball over the center field fence for a home run. The 380-foot drive also brought Roberts in to score.

Weatherford scored one run in the sixth with a grounder to third by Weddie which allowed Rucker to make it home. Karstetter scored for Burkburnett on a Monty Patton single, followed quickly by a double from Roberts which brought in Monty Patton and Reasoner. In the seventh inning, Weatherford was able to score two runs in another bases-loaded situation. Torbett provided the hit which drove in Stroud and Rucker. These runs gave the Kangaroos a one-point lead, with the score at 13-12.

The Bulldogs were under pressure as they came to bat in the final inning. Tipton was struck out. Moore followed, with a firm drive over third. Bloodworth tapped one to leftfield, but was thrown out at first. Aaron drove in the tying score when he shot one deep into center field to bring in David Caraway, running for Moore. The mighty Karstetter then approached the plate and let fly a powerful hit to left field which in a normal situation have been a home run. It was sufficient to bring arriving in rugged Burkburnett on the train and stepping onto the dock of the now deserted depot to view the town's streets of knee-deep mud with horses, horse-drawn vehicles and throngs of people everywhere. Mrs. Adams was one of the many pioneering citizens who came to Boomtown many years ago and remained to see the city change and grow.

The MKT Depot has much meaning for our older citizens, as well as the younger generations who are interested in the history and growth of their town. Many high school students and organizations have shown great interest and have pledged money toward the worthy cause of preserving a part of our fine city's heritage, Mrs. Adams commented.

The Ways and Means committee of the council will be meeting in the near future to plan a fund-raising project for further work toward the completion of the museum project.

The Community Service Council invites all interested citizens to attend future meetings of the council. The council had some fifteen organizations represented at the Monday night meeting. Any donations to the depot-museum fund may be sent to the president of the club Aderan Dunn, Mrs. Fred Hunt or the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce.

CONTEST

The contest is open to anyone 10 years of age and older. Commissions of $1 will be paid to each contestant for each new or renewal subscription that the contestants sign up. For further information, contact the Burkburnett Informer/Star at 417 Ave. C or phone 569-2191.

He thought his wife wanted a kiss, but she explained that it simply meant "Keep It Short, Stupid."

Mrs. Campese explained the various types of scholarships, grants and fellowships available to students. She told how many large scholarships were founded, and spoke of their requirements and limitations. She also explained the different types of educational loans available, how to obtain them, and the methods of repayment.

Ways & Means chairman Nita McNish then outlined the Multiple Sclerosis drive to be held Monday, May 24, and designated the sections of the city which each member would have responsibility.

Educational chairwoman Lucille Campese presented the names of prospective scholarship recipients. Of those names presented, members voted to sponsor Brenda Colby and Elaine Hanks.

Luella Toole, chairman of the Woman of the Year committee, presented two letters for the members to vote on.

He motioned to her that he was going to ride. But in skepticism she shook her head "no". It is just the same as the other you tried... Not high enough and much too slow.

THE COLORS OF VIETNAM
Red is the color of blood from a wounded man...
Gray is the color of a bomb falling over North Vietnam,
Or South Vietnam.
Black is the color of the darkness in a jail where they lock you up...
Blue is the color of the sky that most men cannot see.

Flesh is the color of a man's face who has been captured by a V.C. patrol, and Green is the color of an American airplane shot down.
Brown, green, white, and blue are the colors of home for a soldier who has been to Vietnam.

Moving toward her fast with the wind.

Postal Increase Announced

Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman said today that increases in most postage rates began Sunday as the new United States Postal Service began its task of achieving self-sufficiency as required by the Postal Reorganization Act.

The Postmaster noted that general postage rates have not been increased since 1967 when Congress passed what was to become its final legislative act in this respect.

He pointed out that, earlier, requests for rate increases were proposed to Congress in 1969 by both President Johnson and President Nixon. In addition, President Nixon proposed an increase again in 1970, although none of the proposed increases was acted upon by Congress.

He also explained that the new increases -- authorized on a temporary basis until the newly created Postal Rate Commission can make recommendations to the Governors of the Postal Service on permanent changes -- will raise first-class letter rates from 6 to 8 cents an ounce, and airmail letter rates from 10 to 11 cents an ounce.

Post cards will go from 5 to 6 cents each, and airmail post cards will go from 8 to 9 cents each.

The increases will be borne more by business than by individuals, the postmaster pointed out, since about 75% of first class and airmail is from commercial mailers.

In addition to increases in first-class rates, second and third class has also gone up. However, the full increases proposed by the Postal Service will not be put into effect on a temporary basis, since the postal reform legislation contemplates that such increases be phased over 5 years -- or ten years for nonprofit organizations -- provided Congress appropriates the necessary funds to ease the transition to full rates.

Because of the phasing provision, the increases which became effective Sunday for second and third class will generally be only 1/5th of the total increase which has been proposed by the Postal Service.

No changes have been made in the rates for parcel post, which the principal component of fourth-class mail. However, initial increases were made in the "book rate" which is classified as fourth class.

There is a need to look back occasionally to get our bearings for the future. Past experiences often guide future action. What has proved good and profitable in the past will often prove to be the same in the days ahead. Serving God and our country through our churches and through civil and community service has always elevated us as a people and contributed to our image as a free and just country. We will not go wrong in adhering to these practices.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

We Salute SHEPPARD AIR FORCE BASE

I am a single engine pilot. I have only one hour's dual instruction in a twin engine plane. I am not qualified to write authoritatively on any phase of the fatal plane crash last week near Lake Kickapoo. All my remarks can be on the inquiry side, with little on the known-facts side.

It has been my lot to investigate many such mishaps. All have been single engine planes.

Before one forms an opinion, all eye witness statements should be taken and digested. Most times, witnesses will vary considerably on many points, such as approximate height, sounds, wind direction and velocity, type of weather, now the plane was performing, time of day accident occurred and many more questions involved.

mechanic lost their jobs. Another incident involved a heavy sledge hammer that had been left in the wing tip of a Piper J3 when new covering was put on the wing. Pilots had complained about the right wing being heavy and excessive left movement of the stick was necessary to keep the plane's wing from dipping down below the horizon in hands off flight. Cables had been adjusted and readjusted, aileron travel checked several times, the back lift strut had been shortened excessively. After much experimenting, the plane was rigged well enough for ordinary flying. The large hammer was not discovered until the wing had to be recovered three years later.

Records of who did the work and the workman's background tell an investigating crew many things and give good leads many times.

Next week more about investigations.

The plane's history should be reviewed, especially recent work performed on fuselage and engine or engines, mechanic doing the job, plane's maximum load capacity, etc.

After all the records of the pilot, and passengers, have been gone over, one can get some idea of the type of flying the pilot and passenger (student in this case) were capable of doing. A pilot who has never had the experience of an actual forced landing is more likely to become panicky quicker than a flyer with, say, dozens of such landings under his belt.

I know of one Piper J3 accident that went into the ground nose first due to a mechanic's helper leaving a short piece of two by four in the tail section under the elevator control arms. The piece of wood was overlooked by the A & E mechanic who signed for the job without giving the plane a thorough inspection.

The condition of the rear control stick in the cockpit led to the real cause of the accident. The instructor had pulled back so hard on the control that it had bent the tubing to a 30-degree angle. We started looking to determine what was stuck and found the "two by" wedged between the rudder support and the lower control arm of the elevators, forcing the plane to go into a diving position.

Another possibly fatal accident was nipped in the bud by a student's having his instructor with him instead of soloing on a particular morning. This mishap was also on a Piper J3. New control cables had been installed for the elevators, and the mechanic had crossed the cables. When the stick was pulled back, the rudders went down instead of up. The student would never have discovered this on his preflight inspection. Of course, he would have never been able to leave the runway, but there is a 90% chance, in my estimation, that he would have cracked up before getting to the end of the runway. When he eased the stick forward to raise the empennage, the tail wheel would have hugged the ground that much tighter. If he did not close the throttle soon the wheels would leave the runway and gain a little altitude before stalling and crashing.

The helper who left the board in the plane and the A & E

Where Is My Refund? Almost 2/3 of our American taxpayers get a refund on income tax after they have filed their income tax return each year. A large part of the refund filers have their tax return go through without a hitch and with an average time of five or six weeks after they file. The really early filers often get their refund check within three weeks after filing, but the April 15 group (which is a lot larger than you would think) have to wait quite a bit longer. The taxpayers who make errors in math, in their Social Security number or other common mistakes have to correct their error before they get their refund.

If you have moved, don't forget to let IRS know where you want so they can remail your refund check. In the northern half of Texas there are about one million taxpayers receiving over $200 million in refund checks. You can be sure the IRS Taxpayer Service Representatives are hearing and will be hearing "Where's my refund?" many times between now and July 4.

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

B. T. Haws
Wichita County
Agricultural Agent

the Screwworm Lab, Mission, Texas.

This long, dry period makes us uneasy about getting row crops up and getting them to survive. In addition to this, we feel a little anxious about whether the fertilizer that has been applied is still there and will still be effective enough to still increase crop yields this season.

The current drought is forcing home owners to make decisions about how to best use the available water. Where possible a special effort should be made to save valuable trees. It takes years to grow a fine tree, while shrubs and lawns can be replaced in short order once weather conditions become favorable. These suggestions are offered for saving water: Use a mulch if possible; flood irrigate or use a soaker hose; if you must use a sprinkler, set it so the water will be soaked into the soil as it is applied; remember the evaporation rate is lowest in the evening hours and very early morning and soak the soil to a depth of six to eight inches when you irrigate. Frequent watering is wasteful and encourages shallow root systems on plants.

Sturdy and Caprock, two semi-dwarf "shorty" hard red winter wheats released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in 1967, have already established themselves as leaders in both production and quality. Commercial yields of 100 bushels and more per acre were recorded during the 1969 and 1970 seasons. The 100 plus yields were made under irrigation and with heavy fertilizer applications. The new wheats have approached 70 bushels an acre on dryland. They are bred to produce heavy yields without lodging.

Texas screwworm cases reported by counties are: Duval, 1; Hidalgo, 3; Jim Hogg, 1; Jim Wells, 1; Kenedy, 1; Starr, 4; Webb, 1; and Zapata, 1. Collection kits for screwworm samples may be obtained from the County Agent's office. Samples should be sent to Let us look at what happens to these plant nutrients in the soil. In the first place, phosphorus and potassium will not volatilize or evaporate from soils and will not leach from any soil except almost pure sand. This means that these nutrients will be there when the plant roots get there and we can expect them to be entirely effective. This then means that nitrogen is the only nutrient to be concerned with. Any nitrogen applied in the ammonium form such as ammonium ammonia or ammonium nitrate will attach to the clay particles as soon as it dissolves in the soil moisture. Anydrous ammonia can attach and be held in dry soil if it is loose enough to close up the application opening to prevent gas losses.

Therefore, in most soils under the average conditions of application, we can expect the fertilizer that was applied earlier to still be there and to be effective when the rain comes.

I would like to point out a potential loss of nitrogen that may take place after it does rain. With higher temperatures and moist soil, the ammonium form of nitrogen will be converted by micro-organisms in the soil to nitrate nitrogen. Nitrates are quite mobile and can move up and down through the soil profile with the movement of moisture.

Generally, when there is a prolonged wet period with about four to six inches of rainfall, there is some loss of these nitrates due to leaching. More nitrogen can be sidedressed on row crops to make up for these losses if it is not more than about six to seven weeks after germination.

Summer temporary pastures such as sudan grass and sudan - sorghum hybrids should be fertilized at or immediately before planting either by broadcasting and disking in or drilling into the soil. These crops grow so fast that fertilizing till after the crop is up to fertilize delays the response too long. It is most important also that the phosphorus be placed in the soil before planting, as it is quite inefficient for sudan-type forages when topdressed.

13 Screwworm Cases Told

SCREWORM ALERT---- The recent rains and humid weather could be a factor in the spread of screwworm flies. During April, 13 cases were confirmed in Texas, compared to only one case for the same month a year ago. Livestock producers should continue to check animals for possible worm cases. When infested wounds are found, a sample of the worms should be collected and mailed to the Mission Laboratory for possible identification. Local county agents have collection kits available.

Dairy Products Reach Peak

June is milk month! At least, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says milk and dairy products are plentiful supply. So it is a great time to feature milk on your menus. Milk production for the first quarter of 1971 was 1.0 percent greater than in 1970. Production levels for dairy products should be at their peak in June. You'll find it easy to use the vast array of dairy products, including ice cream, cheese, sour cream and butter to give your meals a boost.

Also included on the June, Plentyful Foods List are: broiler - fryers, eggs, dried peas, canned ripe olives and potatoes and potato products, especially frozen French fries and instant mashed. Quite a variety to brighten up June menus, so keep the list handy when you shop for groceries.

Your gentle face and patient sweet smile
With sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each
And died, beloved by all.

The voice is mute and still,
The heart
That loved us well and true.

That loved us well and true,
Ah! Bitter was the trial to
Ah! Bitter was the trial
To part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten, loved

Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory

County H D Agent

Thelma Wirges
County Home Demo Agent

Knits have hit the apparel market, adding spice and variety to home sewing, says Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration Agent.

The home sewess has a wide choice of knits—from patterned to plain and from stretchy to rigid fabrics. Whatever type you use depends on the pattern selected. For tailored straight-lined patterns, select firm knits; for draped lines, select soft knits. Also, some knit fabrics have curved edges and require a pattern that has no seam edges on the straight grain.

Miss Wirges adds a word of caution: patterns especially designed for knits may have less ease than those designed for woven fabrics.

Knit fabrics used for tailored designs often need shape-retaining support. She says interfacing, in faced edges, collars, under buttonholes, pockets, waistbands and some hemmed areas, will provide this shaping. Use trikot knit for interfacing and backing where light support is required. Use support fabrics which will meet care requirements of outer fabrics.

Since knit fabrics snag easily, several new sewing notions have been developed to eliminate the problem. Use ball point needles and pins that have rounded points to push yarns aside and slip between them. A regular needle has a sharp point that pierces yarns, often breaking them. The ball point needle helps prevent snagging and skipped stitches.

Handle and cut out knit fabrics on smooth surfaces, and use sharp scissors. A special roller presser foot, with a small roller that helps feed fabric smoothly through the sewing machine, will also aid in preventing snags and skipped stitches. On zig-zag machines, use a throat plate with a small round needle hole and the narrow straight stitching presser foot for straight stitches.

Handle and cut out knit fabrics on smooth surfaces and use sharp scissors. Knit fabrics can stretch in handling, so don't let edges hang over the cutting surface. Cut out pattern pieces carefully and let pieces relax 24 hours before assembling.

Since knits "give" in varying degrees, use thread with more give, such as core spun thread. Loosen upper and lower thread tension, and set the machine at 12-15 stitches per inch. Use shorter stitches on knits with less give.

Extensive testing results have shown that garment treated with the process retain permanent press characteristics through a minimum of 20 machine washings and tumble dryings. And the process is equally applicable to wovens and knits, as shrinkage is virtually non-existent.

To stabilize a seam in the knit garment, use straight or bias tape to prevent stretching at the shoulder, waistline, armseye and crotch seams. Use straight woven tape on loosely knitted fabrics. Provide additional seam support by stitching one-fourth inch from the cut edge to prevent the seam allowance from curling.

Allow the knit to hang 24 hours before hemming. Pink and make a row of stitching around the hem edge. Use a French or Tailor's hem finish to minimize bulk. For very stretchy knits or for those that fray slightly, use stretch lace; for heavy knits, use a double stitch. Baste the hem in place at the fold and along the center line of the hem. Then fold the hem back along the basting line and catch-stitch loosely to the garment. Turn up the top edge of the hem and again stitch to the garment with a loose catch-stitch.

Knits oil-stain easily. Use chalky rather than waxy chalk for marking. Also, keep the sewing machine free of oil.

A new permanent press has been developed for 100% cotton fabrics. Since the new treatment enables cotton fibers to retain good abrasion resistance, it will give all-cotton apparel an impressive boost. Called "Ameriset," the process involves a vapor treatment applied to finished garments in a gas chamber. The treatment takes about 20 minutes.

According to Miss Wirges, the uniqueness of the process is that fabrics aren't treated with chemicals or resins. Instead, garments are treated after the fabric has been cut, sewn, and pressed. As a result all the findings -- thread, pockets and trimmings, are treated at the same time, taking on all the permanent press characteristics of the fabrics.

The new system can be used by homemakers as well as by industry. Necessary equipment can be installed in neighborhood laundries to service the vast, flourishing home-sewer market.

Another major advantage of the "Ameriset" process is that the vapor treatment can be applied by local retailers after a garment has been altered and pressed. Permanent press garments currently marketed are almost impossible to alter, since shape and creases are already built into the garment before it reaches the store.

Extensive testing results have shown that garment treated with the process retain permanent press characteristics through a minimum of 20 machine washings and tumble dryings. And the process is equally applicable to wovens and knits, as shrinkage is virtually non-existent.

The Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce sponsored a Hot Dog Supper Thursday for the Eighth Grade Students of the Burkburnett School System. Cokes were furnished by the Coca Cola Bottling Plant in Wichita Falls, and the hot dogs were furnished by the First National Bank. Members of the Chamber of Commerce served the repast. Jerry Thomas was in charge, aided by Jerry McClure and Chamber President Bill Browning. Approximately 600 hot dogs were consumed by 263 eighth graders at Hardin Park.

Red River CB Radio Club

The 59th meeting of the Red River Valley Citizens Band Radio Club met in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church in Seymour May 13. The church choir presented the program.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Pat Austin of Burkburnett. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Each member introduced himself by stating his name, call letters and town.

The meeting was then opened with an invocation.
