Editor's Viewpoint

RAYMOND GREENWOOD

With the majority of political races over now, maybe things will soon get back to normal. There were a lot of good men that won, and a lot of good ones that lost, but I think few races surprised the people more than the Governor's race.

I knew that the public was unhappy with our Austin officials, but I never thought they would take such a drastic action as to give our Governor less than 10% of the vote. Then, of course, That Woman, was a surprise too. I guess we'll have to admit that Woman's Lib is here.

I felt she would make a good showing, but I along with many others, didn't realize that she would poll enough votes for the number two spot.

The one thing on the ballot that upset me was the referendum on Busing. It took either a lawyer or someone with a coin to flip to really be able to figure out what he was voting for when he checked the box on the busing referendum. Looks like they could have just said do you want your kids to be bused, and left it where we country people could understand it.

People are still occasionally griping about Daylight Savings Time. Many are wondering where the idea originated anyway. Well, according to the CATSKILL MOUNTAIN NEWS, the idea for daylight savings came from an old Indian Chief who cut off one end of his blanket and had it sewed to the other end to make the blanket longer.

The Burk Burnett Jaycees, according to Gary Mooney, president, will soon be constructing concrete picnic tables and benches in the County Park.

The club members spent well over 300 man-hours last summer on the park clearing the old brush and sawing wood for camp fires. I took a walk through the park with Mooney and Gaylon Siber, who was last year's president of the Jaycee Club when the project was initiated. VERY little of the wood sawed into small lengths for campfires is left. People have been observed, by neighbors to the Park, carrying out loads of the cut wood in cars, pickups and even trailers.

The re-inforcement steel for tables has been stolen from the area once, as well as the grills to the bar-be-que pits, built by different individuals.

The Jaycees, county employees and many other individuals have worked hard at providing a "nature" park for the citizens in and around Burk Burnett, and See EDITOR, Page 2

'72 Boomtown Rodeo Cancelled By Chamber

The Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce called off the annual Boomtown Rodeo by action of the Board of Directors taken in their Thursday meeting. The Chamber has sponsored the Rodeo for the past 26 years. The action was taken due to the fact that the fence surrounding the football field, where the rodeo is held, has been taken down while the new track is being constructed. There wouldn't be any way to control the crowd on that side of the stadium and even if a temporary fence was put up, other problems existed. The 700-800 horses that are normally in the rodeo would have to be brought into the arena through the crowd on the west side of the stadium creating a possibility of injuries to persons in the crowd. In other action the directors appointed Mickey Cornelius, Dale Lewis and Gary Owen to a committee to try to secure "name" entertainers for a one or two performance show in the Community Center during the week that is traditionally observed as Rodeo Week.

It is hoped that a 55th Anniversary Week can be observed in Burk Burnett that week, with special entertainment as well as many other festivities to be held.

Vandalism Hits Burk Residents

Six cases of vandalism, two traffic accidents and only one other alteration were the center of police activity this past week.

Charges of aggravated assault on a police officer were filed by the Burk Burnett Police against S.W. Tigrett of 104 South Berry.

Tigrett had come to the police station to see his son who had been placed in jail earlier. At the station it was reported by those present that he had become loud and verbal concerning the police officers.

Officer D.L. Bryan accompanied Tigrett to the jail to see Tigrett's son. On the way there, Tigrett took a swing at Bryan and Bryan reportedly grabbed Tigrett's arm and put it behind his back. This caused both men to lose their balance and both of them fell through the threshold of the fire station door, according to notarized reports filed by the officer involved in the incident and three other witnesses to the incident. The reports also reveal in the process of falling, Tigrett's right side of the face struck the side of the door, causing slight abrasions to the right side of the cheek and he skinned his arm on the concrete. He reportedly also suffered a broken rib due to the fall. Officer Bryan also suffered a bruised leg due to the fall.

City Manager Gary Bean stated that a thorough investigation of the matter is underway and that all three witnesses besides the officer involved have been questioned. A window peeper was reported to Police by a woman that See Vandalism, Page 2

Holly with his wife, Ruth, who will also be retiring at the end of the school year.

Mike Gaines New S&L Executive

Mike Gaines has accepted the position of Vice-President of the First Savings & Loan Association of Burk Burnett, according to an announcement this week by Albert Dillard, president of that firm.

The Association has reported a good growth record, according to Dillard, and has recently opened a branch office in Wichita Falls, known as the Orchid Branch. "Because of the growth of this area and the growth of our association, as well as our optimism in the general economy of this area, we expanded our facilities," stated Dillard.

Gaines, 25, was born and raised in Waurika, Okla, where his father is a rancher. He attended Indiana University where he majored in Business Administration. He has a brother in the banking field in the Byers Bank.

"I will be moving into Burk Burnett in the very near future and I am looking forward to getting settled here and becoming active in community affairs," stated Gaines.

Overton Ray Appointed Hardin Primary Head

The Burk Burnett School Board appointed Overton Ray as principal at Hardin Primary during the Board's regular meeting Monday night.

Ray will be taking the place of Morris Simonson, who will retire at the end of this school year.

The raise, which will become effective at the beginning of the school year next year, will amount to an approximate $4,000 total increase expenditure in the cafeteria fund. The fund currently operates a deficit of $5,000 to $7,000 per year.

Mrs. Alecia Nemecek, who had requested a resignation from her duties as history teacher a few months ago, appeared before the board and asked the board to void that resignation and to change the present Pregnancy Policy held by the Board.

The board tabled any action on the request until further study could be done on the existing Policy.

Albert Dillard, president of the Southside Elementary School PTA and spokesman for a dozen or so supporters and members of the PTA, appeared before the board requesting that the board consider installation of central cooling in Southside Elementary with the PTA to pay 1/2 of the total cost of the project upon installation of the units. It was estimated that the total cost would be approximately $12,000.

Bulldogs Could Win District Crown Friday

Nothing is certain in the North Zone baseball championship. Although the Bulldogs have led throughout the district playoffs, both Hirschi and Iowa Park have a fighting chance. This is how things stand: Burk could have clinched the zone title with a win against Iowa Park Friday, but lost 1-0 to tie for the lead with the Hawks. Hirschi then beat Iowa Park 4-0 Tuesday to put Burk back at the top. With a win against Hirschi, the 'Dogs can wrap it up. If Hirschi wins, the zone will be in a three-way tie and go into playoffs.

In a hard fought game Tuesday, May 2, the Bulldogs beat Hirschi 2-0 in their first district game together. Burk was in control the entire game with David Tipton pitching superb ball. During the game Tipton allowed only four hits and only walked one man. At one time he ousted eleven straight batters.

The Bulldogs scored on errors by the Huskies in the third inning.

Bob Knox opened the inning with a strike-out, but Zac Henderson followed with a single to right field. David Tipton sacrificed to move Henderson to second and scored on a grounder by Rodney Roberts. Benny Wilkinson hit to the Huskie shortstop, Charles Matthews, who in turn made a wild

Water Pollution Control Proposal By City

Burkburnett city officials have submitted to the Texas Water Quality Board a municipal water pollution control and abatement proposal, as required by the Legislature in Senate Bill 835 passed last year. Deadline for receipt of the proposals by cities of 5,000 population and more, was May 1. The law affects 230 cities in the state, though only 150 made the May 1 deadline.

The proposal will be reviewed by the TWQB staff in Austin for final approval at a later date.

The legislation requires all cities in the 5,000 or more population bracket to form their own water pollution control and abatement programs, and to be responsible for the surveillance and enhancement of water quality problems within their city limits. Programs also may extend to a city's extra-territorial jurisdiction, though the latter is not a requirement. In addition, the law gives all cities, regardless of size, the right to monitor, inspect and sample possible water pollution discharges, as well as the right to enforce penalties associated with violations, though smaller cities are not required to do so.

The TWQB is charged by the legislation, with the responsibility of assisting and advising the cities in the implementation of the program. Sam Slaughter, program director for the TWQB, during March and April, met with representatives of the cities concerned, through the state's 24 Councils of Government to explain the program, and to offer the help of the TWQB.

In essence, the legislation simply requires that water pollution control responsibilities and powers already existing be carried out on a systematic basis, and within a program considered satisfactory by the TWQB technical staff. Cities are required to make an inventory of all significant waste dischargers; conduct regular monitoring of waste discharges, including inspections and sampling; develop a procedure for obtaining compliance, including legal enforcement if necessary; and to plan pollution abatement from such sources as run-off from streets, parking lots and other urban facilities.

"While, generally speaking, water pollution control still rests with the state agency, it has long been our experience that laws enforced at a local level tend to stay enforced," said Hugh Yantis, TWQB Executive Director. "There is a matter of civic pride involved, which, in sum, speaks well for our state," he emphasized, adding that "the Water Quality Board stands ready to lend assistance to any cities which need help in setting up their local programs."

MSgt. W. Moore Cited Recently

Air Force MSgt. Walter Moore was recently cited by the S&S Vietnam News Bureau as a "lifer" who really knows how to lead his "boys" as he calls the youngsters under him.

The article went on to congratulate him for the missing generation gap that the twenty-five year age difference could make between him and his men. It was noted that during an all-night vigil, each man worked hard for Moore, and addressed him with difference and respect.

When Moore was asked how an elder with the lifer image could manage to gain the admiration of the youngsters, his reply was "I work 'em hard and tell 'em they're the best." Moore is from Burkburnett and his wife and two children reside here.

Among those from out of town attending the services were Mrs. Mary Margaret Boydston of Wichita Falls and son Mike Boydston of Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Loftis (Donna) of Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Browning of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. John Bryan of Amarillo; Mrs. J.B. Campbell of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Angie Randall was honored Thursday, May 4th, with a delightful come and go party on her birthday. The red and white decorated cake and other dainties were the focal points of the birthday table. Those attending and wishing Angie many happy days were Mrs.

Mrs. Marilyn Ferrell and daughter Betty, of Bridgeport, spent the weekend here with Miss Carol Smith. They are former residents of Burkburnett.

Mrs. Pearl Coker has returned to her home in Devol after spending the past two months in the Elm Wood Rest Home at Omaha, Texas.

Recent company in the McClendon home were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumhart and daughters, Jodie and Tommie, and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Bentley, all of Burkburnett and Kathy Daugherty of Grandfield.

Bill Smith of Oklahoma City visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K.L. Smith, last week.

Mrs. A.J. Adams and Mrs. Dollie Hardin are on the sick list.

That's where central gas air conditioning comes in. It can bring you together. All summer long. As close as you want. All summer long.

And it won't cost you much either. In fact, if you have gas heating in your home, you could easily have half a central air conditioning system already. Because you may be able to use the duct work and furnace blower you already have. That saves about fifty percent on installation costs.

That's just part of the savings. Gas costs less to operate than electricity. And you get special low rates during the long hot summer months.

But you'll save more than money with gas. You'll save time and energy, too. Because with central gas air conditioning there are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs.

This summer, have central gas air conditioning installed. For love's sake.

COUNTY AGENT NEWS

Steve Harrison

Devol Student Receives State Farmer's Degree

Steve Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Harrison of Devol, received the State Farmer's Degree at the annual State F.F.A. Convention held in Stillwater.

Steve, a senior member of the Grandfield F.F.A. chapter, has been very active in F.F.A. work all four years of his high school.

He is secretary of his local F.F.A. this year and has received awards for his outstanding work in Livestock, Farm Safety and he also received the DeKalb award.

Steve is active in farming, having a 160-acre farm which consists of small grain and livestock operation.

Steve will continue his studies at Oklahoma State University, where he enrolled for the fall semester.

Kyle Justice Named To Receive DeKalb Award

Tyly Justice has been announced as the winner of the 1972 DeKalb Agriculture Accomplishment Award, given to outstanding seniors in vocational agriculture departments. He was chosen to receive this award on the basis of scholarship, leadership and his super-

Agricultural Agent

Dr. Dale Lovelace, Extension Agronomist from Vernon, will be the principal speaker at the Punkin Center Organized Community on May 16. The meeting will be held in the Agriculture Room in Electra and will start at 7:30 P.M. Dr. Lovelace will discuss the 12-month pasture program.

A small grain and variety tour will be held Thursday, May 18. This should be a tour that all small grain producers in this area should find interesting. The small grain variety and fertilizer plots were planted by the County Agent and Virgil Woodfin of the Iowa Park Experiment Station.

Keith Lahr, Research Agronomist from the Chillicothe Experiment Station, and Dale Lovelace, Extension Agronomist from Vernon, will be on hand to answer any questions on varieties and diseases of small grain. Mr. Lahr will discuss the varieties at each demonstration stop. The three demonstrations will be visited during the morning of May 18 on the following schedule: 8:30 - 9:00 - John Turner Farm, Punkin Center Community; 10:00-11:00 - Class Farm, Clara Fairview Community; 11:00-12:00 - Crumpler-Montgomery Farm, Friberg-Cooper Community.

The variety and fertilizer test demonstration plots look real good this year and I believe you will enjoy the tour as well as receive some good information.

At 12:15 p.m. the tour group will have a 'dutch' meal at Underwood's in Wichita Falls. The group will meet in the Cactus Room. After the lunch Mr. Lahr will discuss small grain varieties for the Wichita Falls area and also disease hand insects.

The general public is invited to attend the tour.

With hot summer weather just around the corner, farmers should take necessary steps to keep boars and sows cool during the coming months. Hot temperatures can have a drastic effect on later productivity of these animals. Research studies have shown that boars become less active during the summer months and that they have lower fertility. Litters from boars housed outside and subjected to hot summer temperatures are generally smaller than those sired by boars that are kept cool.

Heat stress reduces the amount and quality of sperm produced by boars for at least a couple of weeks. Therefore, producers should keep boars cool for two to three weeks before breeding as well as throughout the breeding period. The use of temperature controlled buildings for boars will pay dividends.

Livestock men can estimate or know the exact feeding value of the hays they use. They can rely on time-honored hay judging techniques to estimate hay quality. Or they can know their hay's real worth by having it tested chemically.

A major factor affecting hay quality is the stage of maturity when the plants were cut. No mature seed should be present. Coastal Bermudagrass should be no more than 14 to 16 inches tall. Since plant leaves have the highest nutrient quality, high quality hay should contain a high proportion of leaves to stem. A bright green color indicates a minimum of bleaching and leaching losses of vitamins and other nutrients.

Good clean hay crops have an aroma or fragrance, not a moldy, dusty smell. Large and numerous stems mean hay with low acceptability and quality. Good, clean hays are also those with a minimum of stubble, weeds and foreign matter.

Having hay tested chemically is the only sure way to know its actual feed value. The Texas A&M University Forage Testing Program is available to forage and livestock producers.

County HD Agent
Joyce Smith,
Wichita County Home
Demonstration Agent

A 'Value' is that which a person holds as important, good or worthwhile. This ranges from material possessions to spiritual beliefs. Decisions made daily involve value judgments. Our values are never more on display than they are in our choices of the things we do to satisfy ourselves.

Each individual must decide for himself what he values. Among the varied influence on ones values are biological, psychological, and sociological structures. These values are learned from various influential people, including parents, teachers, friends, television characters, Sunday school teachers, and pastors.

Values can, and do change. The high school student may value independence, a car and a date to the prom, while an individual with a family may value a home, a good job, and a spiritual life. When a person can realize that another differs in his opinion because circumstances cause him to differ, tolerance and communications are more apt to be possible.

Values and goals are related. Values are the "why" behind goals. A goal is an aim, purpose or objective a person strives to obtain. One who desires a good house will work toward a new home or one who wants his child to have an education will work toward that goal. Goals are short-term, intermediate or long-range. Some goals may be for the day--while an effort to save for retirement is a lifetime goal. Goals differ during various phases of the life cycle. A young married couple may have a goal of buying a home, while a couple with their family reared may be saving for a cottage on the lake. The individual or family sets his own standard of living by his values and goals.

A few other areas where values serve as a guiding star are: Achievement, Work, Family Unity, Comfort, Convenience, Prestige, Leisure, Recognition, Privacy, and Security.

Values and goals combined make up a standard of living. Family life could go on for years without anything being done about clarifying values or establishing goals. No landlord requires an accounting of them, no accessor lists them as he does taxable property. The Internal Revenue Service requires no annual report on them. But the family that decides which are important and best for it and then works toward achieving these goals is the family most likely to get what it really wants from life." Author Unknown.

Homemakers wanting to improve their homes, plan a landscape, feed their families better, or make the clothing dollar stretch might like to serve as a result demonstrator in the local home demonstration program. The County Home Demonstration Agent works individually with demonstrators and helps them to develop a project in their own home for their own family. There are a few openings for individual result demonstration work. If interested, contact Joyce Smith, County Home Demonstration Agent, 305 Federal Building in Wichita Falls.

Soil Week Theme Told

"Creative Conservation" is the theme of Soil Stewardship Week, May 7-14, 1972, Donald C. Hill announced this week.

Hill, who is Chairman of the Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District, said that citizens, ministers, newspapers, radio and television stations, and other groups will join with conservation districts all across the nation to mark the observance.

Our national resources are limited. The creative steward of our God-given resources will see the need to improve the quality of human life and at the same time to proceed with caution to conserve limited and precious resources for future generations.

Hill said this presents a challenge to environmental planners and conservationists everywhere.

Soil Stewardship Week is sponsored locally by the Wichita SWCD. Directors who serve with Hill on the district's board of directors are: John R. Jones of Iowa Park, Jack Stevens of Valley View, Eddie Showers of Electra, and Fred Dwyer of Burkburnett.

Recycled Mash Makes Useable Animal Feed

A government-industry project has been successful in developing useful animal feed as a by-product of brewing operations.

Anheuser-Busch, Inc., at its Houston plant, utilizes giant gas burners submerged in the liquid being treated. They boil off the water and thus concentrate the dilute materials contained in the incoming liquid.

The residue, steam treated, which would otherwise have no commercial value, can then be further processed to yield animal feed.

Thanks to modern agricultural techniques and machinery, combined with scientific methods of planting and harvesting, United States' crop production per acre has soared by 59 percent since 1950.

Big Pasture FFA Temple Driver Speaks Banquet Held Fri. To Friberg-Cooper Org.

The Big Pasture chapter of Future Farmers of America held their annual Parent-Son Banquet on May 5, 1972. The guest speaker was Monte Reese, the farm editor of WKY radio station in Oklahoma City. He is also past state president and National Vice-President.

The following people won awards at the banquet: Harvey Doty and Albert Clark Jr. won honorary chapter farmer; Ricky Griffin won Star Greenhand; Tyle Justice won Best Set of Records, Chapter Farmer Award and the DeKalb Award; Rose Terrell won Ag. Mechanics; Randy Gellner won Home Improvement and Public Speaking. Terry Fisher won Farm Safety and Ag. Electrification. Neal Taylor won Swine and Beef Production Award and also Wheat King. Randy Kirkpatrick won Wool and Water Improvement. Johnny Dorton won Sheep Production and Terry Josefy won 2nd Wheat King.

The meal was prepared by the chapter members and consisted of charcoal broiled steaks, baked potato, green beans, hot rolls, cobbler and tea or coffee.

Output per man hour for the nation's agricultural producers is 3.3 times higher than 20 years ago, while output per man hour in U.S. manufacturing has increased only 1.7 times in that period, according to the Farm Bureau Federation.

The Friberg Cooper Community organization met Monday night in the community room to hear Temple Driver speak on Liberty and Justice For All.

The leaders and officers for the coming year were elected during the business session. They are Otis Baley, Sr., Sam Spencer, Cecil Jarvis, Mmes. Ralph Swinford, Bee Bryant, Anna Mae Emmert, Loma Volmer, and Mrs. Bill Jenne.

Future meetings will be held at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. B.T. Haws suggested for leaders to meet and plan programs 6 months ahead. He told of a small grain tour to be May 18th, starting at 8:30, on the Turner farm north of Punkin center.

Refreshments were served to 10 members and two guests. The organization will not have a meeting in June because of wheat harvest. A family picnic is planned in July.

I want to express my sincere appreciation to all who supported me in the May 6 election.

I will do my best to continue to merit your confidence and I pledge to everyone that I will continue to work for a better Texas.

-Dave Allred

Local Student To Graduate

The University of Texas has 106 tentative candidates for bachelor's degrees in the Division of General and Comparative Studies at the close of the spring semester. Public commencement exercises will be held May 20. The list of candidates, announced by Dr. James R. Roach, vice provost for arts and sciences and dean of interdisciplinary programs, includes John Thomas Mitchell of 134 Lilac Lane, Bachelor of Arts.

Ford Men To Be Honored

Ralph C. Corbell and Charles Simpson of Wolfe Ford Co., Inc., Burkburnett, Texas, will be among 265 Ford dealership salesmen honored for outstanding sales performance during 1971 at a banquet in Dallas on Saturday, May 6. C.J. Soderquist, Dallas Ford district sales manager, said a select number of Ford dealership salesmen will be presented a 300-500 Club membership award. The Ford 300-500 Club was founded in 1950 to recognize outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country. Mr. Soderquist said the average 300-500 Club member sold nearly $750,000 worth of automotive merchandise in 1971 to qualify for the national honor.

Now that most of the area politics are over with, everything can settle down. It seems strange to open up a newspaper and not see someone campaigning for some office. Speaking about campaigns, the Student Council officers' elections were held Wednesday. I won't be able to give you the results until next week, but I will list the candidates. President: Chris Strayhorn, Teri Garland. Vice President: Dwight Caldwell, Mark Petersen, Donna Lee, Lyle Larson. Secretary: Cindy Long, Linda Dellefeld, Debbie Lay. Treasurer: Evie Richardson, Sherry Key. The Student Council took its annual trip last weekend to Platt National Park in Sulphur, Oklahoma. Over thirty council members went and really had a great time. Most of the kids came back in one piece, except Jan Lindsay. Somehow she managed to let a rock get her in the head. The National Honor Society's award's program is scheduled for this Friday night at the high school cafeteria. This is a program to award the students' excellence in academics and several other areas. The public is invited, and the program will begin at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Tom Moore and Mrs. Paul Perkins are the sponsors of the National Honor Society.

Guidelines of Life

By Wayne S. Glazener, Pastor
Janlee Baptist Church

"HALF-ALIVE"

This being close to Mother's Day I recall about five years ago how I stood next to my mother's bed in the Baptist Hospital in Oklahoma City and watched as the nurses rolled her down the corridor to the operating room. She was to have open-heart surgery. I will never forget the feeling of watching the doors close behind her as they rolled her into the operating room. We all waited for several hours as the Doctors opened her chest, removed her heart, repaired some valves on it, and replaced it. I praise God that He saw fit to restore my mother to partial health and allow her to live a few more years with us. But more than all of this I thank God for the knowledge that she is completely alive spiritually, that she has accepted Christ as her Lord and Master. Physically mother was just "Half-Alive" for several hours during surgery. When we stop to see the condition of the lost people around us we see people everywhere that are truly only "Half-Alive". Physically they are in the best of health but spiritually they are dead. The Bible gives us an insight to the love Jesus has for these "Spiritually Dead" people as it tells us how Jesus looked down at Jerusalem and wept. He saw that they were spiritually dead and yet they would not accept the spiritual life that he offered. Some of us Christians need to have a spiritual heart surgery. We need to submit ourselves to the surgical hands of our Lord and allow Him to remove the sin from our lives. If we could take our spiritual pulse some of us would find that ours is so weak that we would wonder whether we were dead or alive. Why not give yourself a complete spiritual check-up today? Remember Jesus is the only way to a full and meaningful life. He said, "I am come that they might have LIFE and that they might have it more abundantly (John 10:10). One of the best presents you could give your mother this Mother's Day is the pleasure of knowing that you have accepted Jesus Christ as your Saviour. Why not accept Him TODAY!!!

Two Sheppardites Participate In 76th Running Of Annual Boston Marathon

By Sgt. Jim Bernstein
SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS-- In one respect, talking to a long distance runner is a lot like speaking to a man who's walked on the moon.
No matter what he says, you keep asking yourself, "What's it really like?"
For our purposes, long distance means marathon, that grueling and mindbending torture that forces a man to cover 26 miles, 385 yards in something like 2 hours and 30 minutes. For most of us, as impossible as walking on the moon next week.
Two Sheppardites, Sgt. Bob Teschek and A1C Bob Kauffman, both of the Sheppard athletic section, made the trip to the 76th running of the world famous Boston Marathon two weeks ago.

Both finished. Kauffman ambled in with a time of 2:41.3, good for 85th place in the 1,100 entry field while Teschek crossed the line at 3:07.43 to claim 299th.
For Kauffman, this was his second trip to the race, having first tackled the course back in 1967. A graduate of Western Illinois University, Kauffman is hardly a stranger to distance running having been a three and six mile man during his collegiate career.
"I started out in an unusual situation," he said, "when the starting gun went off, I had to fight my way through a mass of people just to reach the starting line. It took ten seconds just to get across that."

"They packed us in right at the start and we had to stand around for about 20 minutes packed in like sardines. I wasn't able to stay loose and relax and it cost me later on."
For a distance runner, warming up before the race is crucial. Muscles need to be stretched and loosened, and elbows and knees banging into you from other runners make it tough to mentally prepare.
The Boston Marathon is run over a course from Hopkinton to the Boston Prudential Building, always on highway sprinkled with a few not-so-easy hills.
Often plagued by rainy conditions, this year's marathon featured clear skies and 65 degree temperatures, a little warm for Kauffman's taste.
"The long wait at the starting line got to me after about two miles when my Achilles tendons were getting pretty sore because I wasn't able to loosen them up in the 20-minute waiting period.
"Except for that, I was real relaxed for the first 19 or so miles before I actually started to tire. That was when I began thinking just about finishing the race."
Perhaps the most critical part of the Boston run is a gently rising but agonizingly long slope to the runner that looms in front of him after 20 miles on the course.
"I feel real strong going into Heartbreak Hill, passing people going up and down the other hills, but going up Heartbreak it began to hurt and when I got to the top I was running sluggishly.
"The last four miles, I was still running well up in the pack although I was running over my head by going faster than my physical condition warranted so I started getting cramps.
"I fell back into my survival stride the rest of the route because finishing was the main thing on my mind and after coming this far, I wasn't going to drop out."
The survival stride was coined by Hal Hagen of the Track & Field News to describe the change in pace a runner uses along the way when he finds himself fatigued or hurting.
It's more comfortable than his regular pace and often allows him to finish a race that his original pace would have forced him out of, albeit, with a forced time.

Survival stride differs from runner to runner, what may be more comfortable for one runner in the final miles of a race, may be a killing pace to a lesser conditioned athlete.
Kauffman described his running strategy as "trying to work on individuals or groups, running against them. You work on catching people ahead of you over, say, a mile and as soon as you pass them, you look at the next cluster and take after them."
Long distance runners tend to run in small bunches of three to five or strung out individually which makes it comparatively easy from a strategic standpoint, although physically demanding to run a marathon.
"You can't stop thinking of your pace though," added Kauffman, "you have to be conscious of pace throughout the entire race and especially, holding it."
Despite his exceptionally high finish, Kauffman wasn't exactly bubbling over his high finish.
"I wasn't overly pleased because I didn't run well at the beginning and I know I could have done better. When I run a race well, and know that I ran it well, even though I didn't win, then I can feel good."
"I didn't think much about the course, having run it once before I knew what to expect. The main thing for me was that I finished and that it wasn't my best performance. I can do better."
The Boston Marathon is sponsored by the Boston Athletic Association and is always run on April 17, Patriots Day in Massachusetts.
Traditionally dominated by foreigners, this year's run was no exception as Olavi Suomalainen, a 25-year old Finn for whom the victory was especially sweet because he'd been denied a spot on the Finnish Olympic team at this summer's games in Munich.
This year's race also marked the first time a woman has ever completed the race, a 33-year-old housewife from Huntington, N.Y. jogged across at 3:10.58 and although it placed well back in 40th place, she earned a laurel for being the first female to finish.

May Should Bring Rain

By Capt. Steve Sokol
Detachment 12
24th Weather Squadron
SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS-- Hopefully, May will live up to its reputation as the wettest month of the year in the Texoma area.
Average precipitation for May is 4.60 inches, with most of it coming from the numerous thunderstorms that can be expected on an average of nine days.
Temperature wise, we can expect ten days of greater than 90 degree temperatures while the wind will generally blow in from the south southeast at about 12 knots.
The clash of warm, moist air riding in on southeast winds from the Gulf of Mexico with the cold, dry air brought in by frequent cold fronts produce the May thunderstorms which can often be severe.
May is also tornado month in Texas producing a greater number of twisters than any other month. Wichita Falls will frequently be under a tornado watch during May.
May is also a good month for outdoor activity so long as you

Credit Union Donates Paintings To Hospital

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS-- The Sheppard Federal Credit Union has donated three paintings to the U.S. Air Force Regional Hospital at Sheppard AFB and will soon donate an additional three paintings.
The donations are related to the expansion of the Regional Hospital and the relocation of many clinics within the hospital to new offices, credit union officials said.
"Several of the clinics found themselves in ideally expanded surroundings but with many blank walls staring at staff members and patients," Maj. (Ret.) William R. Bone, president of the SFCU board of directors, said. "When we learned of the situation, we made plans to do something about it."
The three paintings donated so far have been hung in the surgery-urology clinic and the next three are destined for the internal medicine clinic.
Hospital personnel said a number of favorable comments concerning the paintings have already been heard and many patients have noted the "relaxed and comfortable" atmosphere which the paintings create in the waiting rooms.
"A large percentage of our member-owners receive their medical treatment at the hospital here and we felt they would be among those directly benefitting from the paintings," said Bob Forney, SFCU assistant manager.
Don Massie, SFCU manager, Major Bone and Mr. Forney of the SFCU and Lt. Col. Louis A. Shirley, MSgt. James Cunningham and TSgt. Dean Ripple of the hospital staff collaborated in working out arrangements for the donation. Sergeant Cunningham, who is a member of the SFCU board of directors, was able to act in a liaison capacity in the donation.

Gospel Group To Appear

The Journeymen Gospel Singers of Wichita Falls, Texas will present a performance of Gospel Singing at Janlee Baptist Church on May 14, 1972 at 6:30 p.m.

The group consists of Danny Scales, formerly with the Inspirational's, singing tenor. He has been acclaimed as one of the finest tenors in gospel singing today. The lead is sung by Bill Lee, formerly with the Countrymen Trio. Bill has a vast range in his singing voice and will bless hearts with his interpretive singing. At baritone the Journeymen boast Melvin Hill, formerly with the Sonstons Quartet. Melvin is equally adept at singing or arranging your favorite song. His versatility is also recognized in his songleading capabilities. Singing bass and acting as spokesman for the group is Pete Holden, an ordained preacher, equally at home singing or preaching. Pete has served churches in capacities of preaching, music, youth and education. His love is keyed to Christ and the proclaiming of the gospel through the Journeymen Gospel Singers.

The instrumental talent includes former Countrymen, Robert Pack at the piano and Tommy Sanders on drums. Both are finishing high school and have god-given talents that they have dedicated to him. Robert is a pianist extraordinary and his style will amaze you. Tommy, at the drums, is an accomplished drummer that will surprise even the most critical listener. Rounding out the instrumentalists is Darrell Bell on electric guitar. Darrell's team spirit, as well as his adeptness at accompaniment, make him a truly valuable asset to the Journeymen Gospel Singers.

The Public is invited to attend this outstanding performance of gospel singing. Plan NOW to attend.
