Editor's Viewpoint

RAYMOND GREENWOOD

The Ole Editor doesn't have much of an optimistic viewpoint or point of view or which ever it is (I never could get that right in my English classes). Anyway, I'm a little down at the mouth since the Ray Zachary's will be headed to Hawaii tomorrow on a trip that this paper sponsored and I'll have to stay here in hot and dry Burk Burnett. Gee, that's enough to make one's lower lip hang so low he'll almost step on it.

The Zachary's and their son Stanley are going on the Hawaiian trip that Stanley won for them in the Informer/Star Subscription Sweepstakes. I'm tickled to death to see them going --even without me--cause ole Stanley sure worked hard enough for it. Few are the houses in this area that he didn't approach during the Sweepstakes, and many are the houses that now receive the Informer/Star due to his efforts.

Thanks Stanley for that hard work. We really appreciate it and hope that you and your parents enjoy Hawaii to the utmost.

An American was overheard arguing with a Russian in Moscow:

"You mean to tell me that, under your system everybody shares?"

"That is correct."

"You mean, if you had two cars, you'd give me one?"

"Yes."

"And if you had $6,000, you'd give me $3,000?"

"Yes."

"And if you had two shirts, you'd give me one?"

"No."

"How come?"

"I have two shirts."

Such is the case, I feel, with the recent Senate okay of raising the minimum wage to $2.20.

We all want to fight and stop inflation, but we don't want it to cost us anything.

I'll be the first to agree that people should earn a decent wage. The businessman, on the other hand, can only spend a certain percentage of his gross income on salaries. If he is forced to spend more than this percentage on salaries then only two choices of evil exists. He must raise the prices of his goods or services which contributes to inflation, or he must cut his number of employees to stay in line with the number of salary dollars he can spend which contributes to unemployment.

Then another demand is made for an increased wage because the prices on goods and services are higher than what they used to be and to compensate for the larger cut the federal government must take out of the paycheck to pay for the larger number of persons on the unemployment rolls.

It sounds to me like a vicious circle.

"Why doesn't the President do something about it, or let's get us one that can?" you say. I really don't think it will do near as much good as people think, be the President a Republican or a Democrat. The people that represent us in the House and the Senate are really the ones that pass the bills and amendments and that actually rule this country.

The President could try to make Podunk Junction the capital of the United States and could never succeed without their approval. On the other hand, if they voted it to happen by enough margin all the way through, it wouldn't matter what the President thought of the idea.

What I'm saying is this: pay attention to those running for the offices in the House and in

OFF TO HAWAII--Mr. and Mrs. Ray Zachary and their son Stanley at one time thought the only way they would ever get to Hawaii (which lies some 3,999 miles "yonder way") was possibly by bicycle. They will be leaving Friday, however, on a Braniff 747 non-stop, due to Stanley's hard work. Stanley sold the most new subscriptions in the Informer/Star Subscription Sweepstakes held this spring and the Hawaiian trip went to his parents as the GRAND PRIZE. The subscription contest netted the Informer/Star 550 NEW subscribers.

Burk Goes On Water Schedule

Water scheduling for the citizens of Burk Burnett became a reality today as the city's storage tanks are unable to re-fill during the night time hours.

"Due to extreme low water pressure in certain parts of town because of excessive night watering, the city commissioners of the City of Burk Burnett find it necessary to enforce Ordinance No. 310 regulating the use of outside watering in the City of Burk Burnett," stated Gary Bean, city manager.

Bean, for over two weeks has asked the citizens of Burk Burnett to lend a helping hand to prevent water scheduling. If citizens would not water between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and 7:00 a.m. the storage tanks would have an opportunity to re-fill during the night hours.

"With only one more month of heavy water usage left, we possibly could have made it through the summer without water scheduling if the local people would have helped in this way," related Bean.

The meter on the south water tower showed that 501,000 gallons of water was pumped into the tower Monday night between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and 7:00 a.m. Yet by Tuesday morning only 150,000 gallons of water had been caught in the tower.

"We estimate that people use approximately 50,000 gallons per night for domestic use (cooking, baths, etc.). That leaves over 300,000 gallons of water from the south tower alone that went on lawns and shrubs, etc. during the night time hours," stated Bean. This heavy usage of water caused many persons on the west end of Burk Burnett to be completely without water for a short period of time.

"Many people have been cooperative by not watering during the night hours, and I would like to thank those for their concern and help. It helped us put off water scheduling to this point," stated Bean.

"The water schedule that has been drawn up will, with the co-operation of the people, not cause any hardship on anyone and will definitely not cause damage to plants and lawns, Bean continued.

Most plants and lawns need a good watering only once or twice each week to stay healthy and grow. The new water schedule allows three days a week that outside water may be used.

The City has been divided into two sections (east and west) with the railroad track being the dividing line. Persons living on the west side of the railroad tracks may water Sunday, Tuesday, and Thursday. Residents on the east side of the railroad tracks may water Saturday, Monday and Wednesday. NO ONE in any part of town will be permitted to water between the hours of 10:00 p.m. and 7:00 a.m. (see map page two).

When asked about the condition of the 130 city water wells and the water table, Bean replied, "Both the wells and the water table are holding reasonably well under the conditions although a few wells have had to be pinched down due to the drought conditions. As I stated earlier, if all the people would have regulated themselves on their own we possibly wouldn't have to schedule watering days. We cannot, however, permit some of our citizens to go completely without water because of the extravagance of others. Nor can we permit our storage to get too low because of the danger of a major fire."

Persons who are using water wells at their residence are asked to display a sign that states such.

Ordinance 310 regulating the use of outside watering states "It shall be unlawful to use water outside of any residence or premises except on the days and hours designated on the schedule by the city commissioners.

"This ordinance may be enforced by injunction or cutting off of water supply to any violator or in any other legal manner in a court of competent jurisdiction.

"Any person, firm, or corporation who violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined a sum of not more than two hundred ($200) and not less than five dollars ($5.00) for each offense and each days continuance of failure to comply therewith shall constitute a separate and distinct offense for each of said days."

The water ordinance will be in force until further notice (which will be published in the Informer/Star) and the ordinance will be strictly enforced.

The notice concerning the ordinance, issued by City Hall, also stated that the notice is subject to more rigid control if water demands are not met. "We solicit and will appreciate the cooperation of the people concerning the water scheduling. If we all work together the scheduling won't be a hardship on anyone," related Bean.

Convalescent Center Opening Announced

Workman are nearing completion of the 60,000 sq. ft. Hickory Elm Convalescent Center in hopes of a Monday, August 7 opening date, according to Loy Gulley, Jr., administrator for the center.

Gulley, who was just recently named administrator for the center, stated they hope to be taking patients at that time and that a formal open house will be held within two or three weeks from that date.

Gulley, a long-time veteran administrative expert, will be in complete charge of the 72-bed center. He has been affiliated in administrative work with Wichita Falls Equipment Co., Cooper Drilling & Production Co., Colonial Manor Nursing Home, Taylor Nursing Homes and most recently as administrative for Monterrey Villa Nursing Homes of Vernon. In addition to this, he has served as area supervisor for eight nursing homes owned by the Monterrey Corporation.

Mrs. Sands is a graduate of Bethania Hospital School of Nursing and is a long-time resident of Burk Burnett. She is the wife of Mike Sands and they have two daughters and two sons. The Sands are members of the Church of God in Burk Burnett.

Hickory Elm Convalescent Center is located on the west side of the Red River Expressway with its front on the service road. The center will care for type III patients.

"Our level of care is a graduation of the medically oriented nursing care program designed to provide care for individuals unable to function independently," stated Gulley.

The huge building will feature a spacious lobby for television viewing, domino tables, and other recreational activities as well as visiting.

Gulley stated he and his wife hoped to move to Burk Burnett in the very near future and make their permanent home here.

"Due to the good response to the clinic, it looks as though we will be able to secure a sponsor for the fall boxing season," stated Bob Carpenter, recreation director.

Pete Chavez of Wichita Falls will serve as coach this fall and he invites boys 6 to 26 to come fight.

KOA---Burkburnett's Most Misunderstood Industry

ATTRACTIVE KOA BUILDING . . . Complete Campers Headquarters

As the television commercial for one of the soft drinks goes ". . . it's America's most misunderstood soft drink," possibly KOA is Burk Burnett's most misunderstood industry.

The Red River KOA Campground, locally owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walt Doerre, is an extension of one of America's largest industries --tourism.

Few people ever realize how big an industry that tourism has become and especially on the local level. There were as many tourists that visited the local KOA last year as the total number of citizens in Burk Burnett today. Over 9,000 tourists spent the night at the local Campground with a large increase over that expected for this year.

"Since we opened the Campground in June of 1969 we have had over 38,000 tourists camp with us," stated Doerre. "We had over 9,000 alone last year and we have expectations of serving 12,000 - 13,000 persons this year."

The tourist dollar is often described as "extra" money or gravy money. Since every person is a tourist at one time or another, with a little thought he can realize the truth in this statement. When a tourist visits a city he spends money for food, clothing, entertainment, gas and a whole host of other items, yet he never asks the city to provide excellent school systems to educate his children, nor does he demand the many other things that a city must provide its citizens.

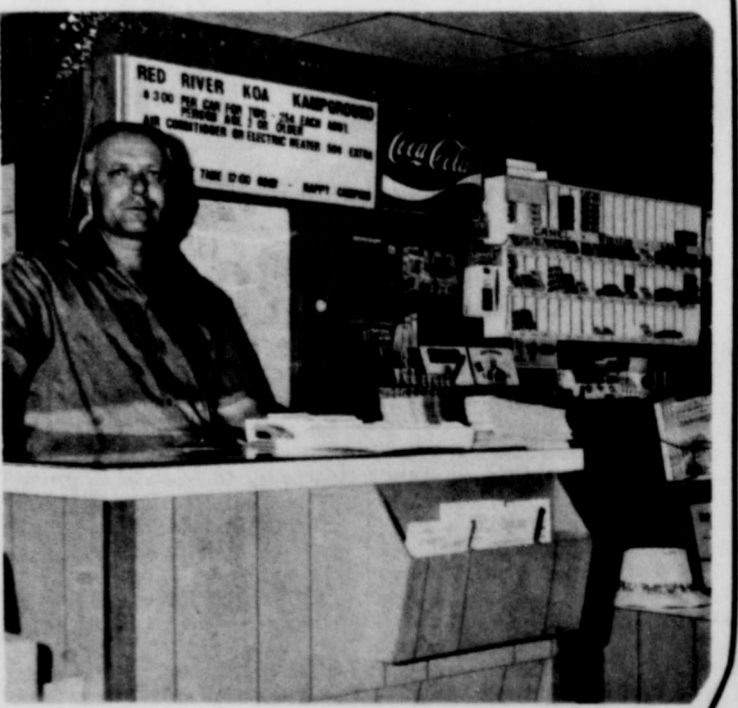

On a national average, according to Doerre, a camping family will spend $17 per day in the city they are visiting. A little mathematical work with a pencil and paper, considering only a four member family, shows that Burk Burnett should have received $161,500 in tourist dollars since the opening of the local KOA. This is considering the families only spend one day at the Campground and in Burk Burnett; many spend several, according to Doerre.

People normally associate camping with summertime, which is the heaviest camping season. "We have had only six times since we opened in 1969, however, that there hasn't been at least one camper using our facilities each night," related Doerre. "Considering we are open 365 days a year, that takes in plenty of adverse weather conditions."

What makes the Red River KOA Campground the favorite of many? The hard work put in by Doerre's wife, Marge, his daughter Barbara and his two sons Larry and Butch, have a great deal to do with it.

The Campgrounds offer water and electric hook-ups for the camper as well as picnic tables (covered with shade) and charcoal grills. In addition to this, complete shower and especially clean rest room facilities are available. The KOA building offers a complete Campers General Store, block and crushed ice as well as pin ball

Reserve Tickets Now On Sale

Reserve football tickets for the 1972 Bulldog season are now on sale at the tax office in the school administration building.

The $8.75 book of tickets is for five home games with the first one being the first game of the season for the Bulldogs as they take on DeSoto on Sept. 8.

Reserved seats at the gate this year will cost sports fans $2.00 each with general admission going at $1.75 for adults and $1.00 for students.

machines, pool table and other recreational games. A complete laundromat is also available at the KOA to serve the many campers.

A big addition to the recreational facilities of the KOA was the addition of a swimming pool. The large pool is reserved for KOA guests after 5:00 p.m. each day, but local Burkburnett citizens may enjoy the pool in the afternoon hours until 5:00. After Labor Day the pool hours for the general public will probably be extended until 9:00 p.m.

A good cover of grass and young trees that are growing rapidly, await campers to make their stay more enjoyable.

A camper whose home town was Beaumont told an INFORMER reporter, "We stayed in several KOA's and other camping facilities all over the country in our travels from Beaumont to and around Colorado, and this one in Burkburnett is the nicest one we've found. We make it a special point when we are traveling anywhere in this area to stop in Burkburnett at the Red River KOA Kampground."

Doerre stated that people come to the KOA and spend the nights in tents, motor homes, campers, camper trailers and even car sleepers aren't uncommon. He further stated that 75 to 80% of his customers walk over and visit the Oil Park. "We have people in here every week that lived in Burkburnett during the boom. Many of them come back by here just to see what Burkburnett's like now."

"Tourists like things to see and things to do. That's why I think so many of them visit the Oil Park or go across and play golf at Boomtown Golf Center. I'd like to see Burkburnett offer the tourists even more than what we have at the present -- it means extra dollars for the citizens and the businessmen of Burkburnett."

With the local Red River KOA Kampground stopping an estimated 13,000 tourists this year, and considering the amount of "extra" money these tourists will spend in Burkburnett, the Doerre's KOA is definitely one of Burkburnett's most important industries. And one that is growing at a rapid pace every year.

Donations Needed By Crippled Children Auction

Donations of livestock and cash in Wichita County for the 4th annual Crippled Children's Livestock Auction have reached 11 head and $747.00 in cash, according to Mrs. Rayford "Sis" Young, county chairman.

The annual sale held at the Wichita Livestock Auction provides nearly one-fourth of the operating funds for the North Texas Rehabilitation Center in Wichita Falls.

Joe Parker of Byers, general chairman for this year's auction, told Mrs. Young that donations have increased in the past two weeks as the August 2 sale date grows nearer.

But Parker said the current total of 48 head and $4,125.00 in cash is far short of last year's total of 73 head of cattle and 15 horses.

The auction last year--held in a severe drought--grossed $20,722 and was more than $6,000 short of the previous year, said Parker.

The Byers rancher is also a member of the board of directors for the Rehabilitation Center and he warned that there is a good possibility the center will either have to borrow money or curtail therapy treatments if the auction is down again.

The Center's operating budget for the current year is $113,600, up considerably from last year due to the increased demand for therapy treatments from children and adults.

Free transportation of the donated livestock can be arranged through the county chairman, or by contacting the Rehabilitation Center in Wichita Falls. Many ranchers will haul their own donations into the sale barn on the Monday or Tuesday preceding the Wednesday sale date of August 2.

All money raised at the cattle auction goes toward operation of the rehabilitation center where children and adults from Wichita county have received therapy needed for physical handicaps, speech and/or hearing difficulties or learning disabilities.

The Beauties Of Texas Released On Film

A brand new, colorful movie on the beauties of Texas has just been released by the Texas Highway Department, and is available for club, school and television showings.

Premiered recently at the 5th annual meeting of the Beautify Texas Council, the half-hour film explores the 40-year history of roadside beauty in Texas. It points out that Texas was the nation's first highway department to demonstrate environmental concern along with engineering specifications. Texas was first, too, in the now national concept of roadside parks.

Film audiences are treated to views of miles of wild flowers, blossoming trees, shrubs, and cacti. The movie cites the department's role as the nation's largest landscape gardener, with some 900,000 acres of highway right-of-way under perpetual care.

In 16mm sound and color, the new film is a lavish look at beauty along the diverse roadsides of Texas. The film is appropriately titled "Beautify Texas." Prints may be borrowed from the Texas Highway Department, Travel & Information Division, P.O. Box 5064, Austin 78763.

8 ways to save money on air conditioning.

- 1 Set thermostat between 76 and 78 degrees--the lower the setting the more electricity the unit uses.
- 2 Replace disposable or clean permanent type filters as required--clogged filters make the unit work harder and use more electricity.
- 3 Provide adequate attic ventilation--helps reduce heat buildup.
- 4 Install proper duct ceiling and wall insulation and weatherstrip windows and doors--keep hot air out, cool air in. (Helps reduce winter heating costs too!)
- 5 Shade the outdoor unit from the sun.
- 6 Keep windows and fireplace dampers closed--prevents excessive loss of cool air and infiltration of hot air.
- 7 Shade windows from direct sunlight with awnings, blinds or draperies--reduces the load on the unit.
- 8 Have the unit checked by a qualified air conditioning serviceman. Do this in the spring, prior to your need for cooling.

First Savings & Loan Association Of Burkburnett Reaches $9 Million Mark Recently

The First Savings and Loan Association of Burkburnett has reached another milestone in their rapid rate of growth as the association topped the $9 million mark recently, according to an announcement by James Cunningham, vice-president of the firm.

The association began taking form in Burkburnett as an application for insurance of accounts was filed with the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation in October of 1959.

The Capital Stock was set at $100,000 and an additional $50,000 was placed in Paid Surplus. The insurance of accounts was approved in March of 1960, and the Association received approval from the Texas Savings and Loan Commissioner a few months later, and the doors were opened.

During that time, Burkburnett experienced a small building boom and by the close of 1962 the association reported assets of $2,403,649. By 1965 assets had almost doubled as the figure hit $4,425,848.

Single family homes are the principal type of property acquired with a Savings and Loan Association loan. People borrow to build or buy such homes and those who already have homes frequently borrow on their security to obtain cash. In addition to single family homes, small flat buildings and combination store and flat buildings are generally included in the Association's lending operations. To a limited extent, apartment buildings of various sizes can be bought or built with funds borrowed from a Savings and Loan Association. In 1966 the Association expanded its loan activities outside of the real estate area. They now provide economical financing for the purchase of automobiles, furniture and appliances, or for any other worthwhile purpose. Thus by the end of the year, assets reached $5,719,893 and within the next two years they rose to $6,839,214.

Since that time the firm has experienced rapid growth and its assets are now in excess of $9 million.

A branch office of the First Savings and Loan Association of Burkburnett (named the Orchid Branch) has recently been opened in Wichita Falls to help better serve the Association's customers.

Making the future even brighter for Savings and Loan Association s in the United States was a move recently by the House Bank Supervision Subcommittee as it approved 100% insurance for the deposits of state and local governments as savings and loans and other financial institutions.

An executive for the U.S. Savings & Loan League stated that by providing this authority for savings and loans, officials in many communities would be able to deposit funds in their largest local financial institution (which frequently are S&Ls) and of course, these funds would become available to help meet the housing needs of the nation. It is estimated that about $60 billion in public funds is now deposited in commercial banks. "We are proud of our record of growth and we are appreciative of the many people in the Burkburnett area that helped make it possible," Cunningham concluded.

FARM REVIEW

Hundreds Of Screwworm Cases Reported Daily

The screwworm fly has again invaded Texas, making many livestock producers unhappy. Hundreds of cases are being found daily and hundreds of dollars worth of livestock are being lost every day as a result of screwworms.

The female adult screwworm lays her eggs on or near any raw lesion or wound, including navel areas on newborn calves and foals. The eggs hatch to form larvae that look like the housefly maggot, but are much more dangerous. The problem arises when the larvae burrow into the live tissue and eat it.

They can eat out a large hole in only a matter of hours, resulting in much tissue damage and possibly death to the animal. Livestock must be watched closely for such lesions and immediate treatment is necessary.

Any cases should be reported to your veterinarian or the County Agent. Then preventive measures can be begun in your area. All larvae must be removed and killed and samples should be sent to the USDA Screwworm Laboratory in Mission, Texas.

If you are spraying livestock for prevention and to keep down fly populations, be extremely careful to follow the mixing directions for the insecticide you are using. Cases of livestock poisoning have occurred where this precaution has not been followed.

Close observation will be necessary at all times during the fly season to prevent more cases of screwworms. Immediate treatment, reporting of all cases, and preventive measures are necessary if this massive problem is to be brought under control.

Judy Park Resigns Co. H.D. Post

Mrs. Judy Park, Cottle-King County Home Demonstration Agent, has resigned her position effective August 1, 1972. This announcement comes from the County Judges, speaking for the two Commissioners' Courts and Thelma Wirges, District Home Demonstration Agent. Mrs. Park will join her husband who will be employed in Grayson County.

Mrs. Park served as Cottle-King County Home Demonstration Agent from 1968 to 1970 and for the past seven months. In 1970 and 1971, she worked as Home Economist for Texas Agricultural Products, with headquarters in Paducah.

A successor to Mrs. Park will be named to work with all phases of Family Living in the two-county area. The County Home Demonstration Agent also gives leadership to Home Demonstration and 4-H Club work, as well as special interest work directed toward reaching all interested homemakers.

from infestations of lice and mange and are sometimes attached by horse flies, stable flies, and mosquitoes. Control of these parasites is fairly easy with the effective use of insecticides.

Lice can be controlled and the problem with flies and mosquitoes reduced by using a one per cent clodrin spray. Dilute 1 1/3 cup of the 14.4 per cent emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water, or 6 2/3 pints in 10 gallons. If needed, the spray must be applied every seven days.

When spraying cover all parts of the animal, but do not use more than one pint per individual animal. Follow directions closely and use care to prevent contamination of food, feed and water.

Malathion also is an effective control of lice and mange. Mix five per cent malathion with water in the following concentrations: two tablespoons of 57 per cent emulsifiable concentrate or one cup of 25 per cent emulsifiable concentrate per gallon; or 1 1/2 cup of the 57 per cent concentrate, or five pints of 25 per cent concentrate in 10 gallons of water.

The mixture can be either a spray or a dip. Treat animals every two or three weeks if needed. However, do not treat pigs less than one month old. I would suggest keeping hogs out of the sun and away from winds for a few hours after spraying or dipping.

Several other insecticides that are effective in controlling external parasites of swine are coumaphos (Co-Ral), ronnel (Korlan), pyrethrin and malathion as a dust.

Production Cost Target For A&M

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University has named an agricultural engineer specializing the South Plains and parts of the Rolling Plains and Trans-Pecos areas.

He is Roy E. Childers, Jr. who assumed the position on July 16. He is located at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

"Childers will work closely with county agricultural agents and county program building committees in spearheading the drive to reduce the per pound cost of producing cotton," said Extension Service Director Dr. John E. Hutchinson announcing the new position. "This will involve adapting equipment to produce the highest quality cotton possible at the lowest cost."

Childers grew up on a farm near Iowa Park in Wichita County. He was active in 4-H and won the Gold Star award. He was also a state 4-H winner in the electric program record book competition and won the Are a IV FFA electric award.

The new specialist holds both a B.S. and M.S. degree in agricultural engineering from Texas A&M University. He was a Distinguished Military Student, member of Alpha Zeta and a National Defense Education Act Fellow. He holds membership in the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the Reserve Officers Association.

Childers served as a research assistant and associate in the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M about two years. He also worked as an engineer trainee with Halliburton Services in Snyder and as a draftsman for the Extension Service.

He served on active duty as an officer with the Army Engineer Corps for six months. He and his wife, Cynthia, have one child.

Humus Unlocks Food Value In Soil Say Experts

"Humus unlocks the food value in soils and makes fertilizers available at the plant." So says one Texas agri-business expert.

Another puts it: "Fertilizing without humus is like planting without plowing. The soil needs processing before it can produce; fertilizers need humus to make the nutrients available to the plants."

Experts may disagree on how to express it, but they generally concur that humus is the circuit between fertilizer nutrients and the plants. Consequently, in soils weak in organics or humus, plants grow slowly and produce weak roots and have a yellow color. These plants usually are poor in nutritional value. Now that humus is available in concentrated liquid form so easy to handle, and inexpensive -- every gardener, farmer and rancher needs a "sense of humus."

The fact is, everything that grows needs the action of humates. Tests have shown that all growing things -- flowering plants, shrubs, trees, grass and marketable crops -- benefit dramatically from humus.

For example, a 1971 Demonstration Report from Texas A&M involves four types of tomatoes. Those treated with a product named "Enerizer" (a concentrated liquid humus) produced in excess of 31% more pounds of tomatoes than those harvested without. A solution of 8 tablespoons per gallon of water was used.

Actually, humus is the most stable portion of soil organic matter and is a dark brown or black residue found coating the mineral soil particles. It is the ultimate result of the decay of organic matter such as leaves, bark, rotted branches and the like.

It is especially present in peat bogs and has been used in a semidecayed form like mulch, but this sort of treatment had two drawbacks; a great deal of mulch was needed, and its humic acids were not immediately available for interaction between fertilizers and plants. As a result, it was bulky to work with, and the benefits to the plants were not so great.

With concentrated liquid humus, however, there is very little weight or waiting. It's available in plastic bottles, cans and drums -- is used in a highly diluted form -- and gives immediate results.

FHA Appoints Co. Committeemen

Three new Farmers Home Administration County Committeemen were appointed effective July 1, 1972, by J. Lynn Futch, State Director, to serve a three-year term in the tri-county unit of Wichita, Archer and Clay Counties, announced Charles McGilvray, County Supervisor. Jesse R. Flick of Rt. 2, Iowa Park, is the newly appointed committeeman for Wichita County; David C. Williams for Dundee, for Archer County; and Billy G. Miller of Thornberry, for Clay County.

Jesse R. Flick replaced Rufus A. King of Wichita Falls whose term expired. David C. Williams will replace Henry Cuba of Megargel, while Billy G. Miller will succeed Sherell Wade of Byers.

Other members of the committee are: Don J. Holtzner and Ed Foster, Jr. for Wichita County; Charlie L. King and W.L. Lindeman for Archer County, and Hille L. Womack and Joe

B. Fuller for Clay County. The three-member committee serves in an advisory capacity to the County supervisor and makes determinations as to eligibility for loans made by the agency. They are also frequently called upon by the County Supervisor to render assistance in servicing of loans and development of the rural communities.

The Farmers Home Administration does not compete with private lenders in the field of agricultural credit; however, they supplement such sources of credit and make loans on a long-range basis for the development of farms and ranches as well as improvement of community facilities, and provide housing for the rural residents. Another of the more extensive loan programs includes that of making loans for small towns and communities for the establishment or improvement of water and waste disposal systems.

VEE Vaccination Urged By Vets

Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis has been much in the news since the 1971 VEE epidemic in Texas and animal health authorities this year continue to urge vaccination and revaccination against the disease.

Dr. Dennis McIntosh, San Antonio veterinarian and chairman of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association's Public Information Committee, also reminds horse owners that "The 'OLD' diseases for which we vaccinated horses in the past must not be overlooked."

The other encephalitis diseases, Eastern and Western, still show their ugly symptoms when least expected. Two vaccinations at a 7 to 10-day interval are all that's necessary for annual protection.

Tetanus, or Lockjaw, a well-known killer of horses, may be protected against with a simple yearly booster.

Horses that are shipped, boarded or in contact with horses that are in movement should be protected against Equine Influenza and Strangles (Distemper).

Leptospirosis, a crippling disease that can be contracted from rats which infect feed and water, needs to be considered as a potential danger. Dr. McIntosh suggests, "When talking to your veterinarian about vaccinations, ask him about prevention program for intestinal parasites. Prevention is always cheaper and easier than trying to treat a disease that may kill or cripple your valuable horse."

Kindergarten Organized At Jan Lee Baptist

Jan Lee Baptist Church at 108 Kramer Road has organized a Kindergarten program for the school year 72-73. The school will be operated for the sole benefit of the students and getting them prepared to enter the first grade. The teacher is Mrs. Dale Mortland who resides in Burk Burnett, one block from the church. Mrs. Mortland has 4 years teaching experience in the Dallas/Ft. Worth area as a faculty member of the "Little Red School House" school system.

This is a highly acclaimed kindergarten program operated by fully trained personnel. Mrs. Mortland comes highly recommended and fully qualified to establish and operate the program.

Her love for the students and the fact that she is concerned about today's youth makes her an ideal teacher. She has prepared a full curriculum which touches all areas of training possible in addition to music and Bible stories. Also included in the program is a full coverage insurance plan at no additional cost to the parent, covering each student for the complete school year. A general meeting/visitation will be scheduled prior to the beginning of school with the parents, students, and teacher to discuss the forth coming activities. In areas where there are still questions to be answered this will be the time to take care of them.

Guidelines of Life

Father Richard Beaumont, St. Jude Catholic Church

"The life I live now is not my own; Christ is living in me," Galatians 2:20

When we surrender our lives to Jesus Christ, making Him truly Lord of our hearts, then we begin to live His life instead of our own. But, that means we must die to ourselves; we can't put on the new life of Christ if we continue to try to live our own lives as well. We must die to the one in order to rise to the other. We can't live a double life; we can't serve two masters.

Our temptation is to try to put on Christ's new life like an extra suit of clothes or an outer covering. But God's plan is that we put on a whole new man, not just a covering. And if the life we live is the life of Christ and not our own, then He has the right to direct that life each minute of every day. It's His LIFE we're talking about; He's ALIVE in us, and He can't and won't be just put on a shelf in a corner of our hearts to be brought out on Sundays and special occasions. The life of Christ in us is no more of a Sunday life than it is a Monday-to-Friday life.

When we realize how much of our lives He wants (ALL of it), we can become frightened, shrink back, and try to offer Him bits and pieces of it. We may try to offer Him SOME of our time and SOME of our talents and SOME of our possessions, but if we look at Him, we'll see He's still there saying: "I want ALL of your life". He promises to pay back a hundredfold (Mark 10:30) in THIS life those who give up everything to Him, but we first have to give it up to Him, and that takes a step in faith.

If a Christian does not have the kind of faith it takes to give everything to Jesus Christ as Lord of his life, he at least should not try to justify his tokenism toward the Lord, but admit his lack of faith and ask God for an increase in that faith: "Lord, I do believe; help my unbelief."

"My Insurance Lapsed?"
Your insurance must be renewed promptly and the premium paid on time, otherwise you are without insurance protection. A loss at such a time is sheer tragedy. By combining your property insurance in one package policy (Homeowners, Tenants, Farmers or Commercial) with one renewal date, there is less danger of lapsed insurance.

Weekly Health Tip

from Joe Gillespie

When we get too little water in our diet, the body uses less of it to carry off the wastes filtered out by the kidneys, and the urine becomes less dilute. In a person with a tendency toward kidney stones, this may intensify the trouble. Drinking plenty of fluids will help to wash away salts which otherwise might form into stones and may also be helpful in relieving constipation.
