RAYMOND GREENWOOD

The long period of no rain and the recent water scheduling in Burk Burnett seem to be the main topics of conversation these days.

Maybe the water situation doesn't mean much to many, but when you go without it for a period of time every day, it sure gets aggravating.

Just looking over town it seems that many that haven't watered their yards all year are beginning to do so now.

Anyway, I sure hope we can all work together and get this water situation in hand -- I sure would like to take a bath again, and I know those that work near me hope that water reaches my end of town!!

I had a good story on "fisherman" Jerry McClure who has been on vacation. But I guess I had better wait on it until I see if he will let me be a few days late on my bank note.

We notice that Texas is going to begin the Food Stamp method of supplying food to the people on our welfare rolls.

Don't know how Food Stamps will work in Texas but do hope that we do a better job of controlling them than they do in California as Rep. H.R. Gross of Iowa recently pointed out.

Rep. Gross pointed out the following as a typical case of welfare being misdirected. It is a tale that makes the average taxpayer wonder what is going on.

A hippie who hangs around Berkeley, whose principal source of income seems to come from peddling copies of an underground newspaper once a week, is eligible for food stamps.

He boasts that for 50 cents he buys $28 worth of food stamps. The food stamp department at Wells Fargo Bank confirms this price and adds that it is a common practice.

Each week the hippie uses the stamps to buy exactly $27.51 worth of groceries and gets 49 cents back in cash as change, the maximum amount of change he can get on a purchase.

The fourth week of the month he sells his food stamps to friends for $15 cash. Thus in a month he's paid out 53 cents for $112 worth of stamps for which he gets $82.53 worth of

Watering Hours Shortened By New Water Schedule

Water consumption in Burk Burnett hit an all time high Saturday with over 2.5 million gallons of water being used -- and that was with just one-half the city watering!

The City of Burk Burnett passed an even more rigid control on the water ordinance due to heavy usage of water. Five hours of watering time were cut from the scheduled watering days.

All residents west of the railroad track may water on Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday. All residents east of the railroad track may water Saturday, Monday and Wednesday.

"We need the people's cooperation," stated Gary Bean, city manager. "We urge the people to be careful with their water and not to waste it--even on their scheduled watering days."

Care Center To Open Monday

The new attractive Hickory Elm Convalescent Center located just off the Red River Expressway in Burk Burnett will begin admitting patients this Monday, according to Loy Gulley, Jr., administrator.

The completion of the 72 bed facility marks the end of seven months construction for the Don Montgomery Construction Co., contractor for the center.

to stop all outside watering." As stated earlier, Saturday with only one-half of the city supposed to be watering, water consumption went over the previous mark by 300,000 gallons and that was when all the city could water.

The city wells are reportedly pumping as much as they did two or three weeks ago, but the residents are just using more water. During the non-watering hours of 10 p.m. and 7:00 a.m. Monday night, the meter at the west water tower showed a total of 378,000 gallons of water had been pumped into the tower.

Bean stated that since the dry summer last year the City has drilled enough water wells, that under normal conditions, they would produce another 450,000 gallons of water over last year's figure.

The new scheduling of watering -- with the cooperation of each citizen of Burk Burnett -- is hoped to be the most immediate answer to the water problem. Those that live on the west end of town most especially hope the schedule works.

Chamber Luncheon Set For Monday

Monday noon is the time for the regular monthly luncheon of the Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce and a very informative and interesting program is in the making, according to Gene Allen, chamber manager.

Jay Brumley, a reformed short change artist, will give those present a demonstration on how con artists short change store clerks, their shop lifting techniques, the little known tricks of gambling and a life description about prison life in general.

Brumley, who spent three years in the state penitentiary for some of the before mentioned crimes, told wrong, and I paid for it and now I'd like to show others what is really happening. I'm especially interested in working with juveniles and trying to show them the right way."

"Despite the fact that many are still on summer vacation, etc. I hope that all members of the Chamber will make a special effort to start coming to the monthly luncheons --beginning Monday," stated Allen.

Football Boys To Get Shoes Wed.

Football season is just around the corner for the Burk Burnett Bulldogs as they will be issued shoes Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 at the high school gym.

"All boys in grades 9-12 that are interested in football are urged to come out at that time," stated Bill Froman, head coach.

"Needless to say we welcome all to come, and especially those that might have moved into our city during the summer."

Monday, Aug. 14 at 9:00 a.m. the Bulldogs will be issued the remainder of their equipment and their first practice will be held that afternoon at 5:00.

Some 14 lettermen are expected back for the Bulldog team this year, which according to several reports, could indeed be a contender for the district title. Froman stated that a little

Sen. Bentsen Urges VEE Precautions Taken

State Lloyd Bentsen today urged the Agriculture Department to take all necessary precautions to prevent a recurrence of last summer's VEE epidemic among Texas horses.

In a telegram to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, Bentsen pointed out that there have been recent reported outbreaks of VEE in Northern and Western areas of Mexico.

"These outbreaks demand utmost cooperation of your agency with the Mexican government and the Texas Agriculture Commission to preclude a recurrence of last year's disastrous epidemic in Texas," Bentsen said.

The Texas Senator also urged the U.S.D.A. to contact all interested individuals and organizations, and coordinate activities necessary to protect livestock from VEE.

"Texas agriculture officials have assured me that, at this point, the Mexican outbreaks pose no immediate threat to our State," Bentsen said. "But, until we can complete research into this disease, we must move very cautiously."

Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) struck heavily in Texas last year, in an epidemic that caught in the U.S.D.A. off-guard.

CITY

City of Burkburnett regrets to find it necessary to enforce a more rigid control of ordinance No. 310: The NEW schedule is as follows:

NCHA Group Holds Meet

The "Boomtowners" NCHA Chapter spent from Friday through Sunday at Lake Texoma State Park. Visiting and swimming were the most popular activities with a Saturday night "hotlack" supper. Later the Chapter invited the "Ada Hobo's", NCHA Chapter from Ada, Oklahoma for home-made ice cream. The eleven families attended church as a group Sunday morning.

food and $14.47 net profit in cash.

A food store saleswoman says, "Can you imagine how this adds up when there are 15 hippie kids living in a commune, and all are doing the same thing? No wonder they laugh at the Establishment!"

And it's no wonder that welfare programs are in trouble. Food stamps were devised to help a poor family expand its budget for food. No doubt most of the food stamps are used that way. But when the hippies use this dodge to get fed without working and when strikers can qualify for food stamps, something is out of joint with the entire welfare program.

If Texas gets this food stamp program going and McGovern gets elected president and passes out this $1,000 to everyone as he has promised, then we know where you can buy a good newspaper. Think we'll just retire at a lake somewhere, take it easy and live off the rest of you suckers who are still working.

Calf Crop Highest Since 1924... Sheep and Lambs on Feed Down 18 Per Cent... Crops Making Good Progress... Wind Erosion Down From Last Year... Screwworms Continue Out of Control... Vaccinate Horses Now for VEE...

The Texas calf crop this year is expected to be the highest since 1924, the Texas Crop and Livestock Service reports. A calf crop of 5,444,000 head is expected this year; this compares with 5,286,000 head last year.

Nationwide, the 1972 calf crop is expected to total 48,445,000. This is three percent more than 46,974,000 head produced in 1971. The 5,444,000 calves expected in Texas this year is more than twice the number expected in second ranking Missouri, Oklahoma is the third leading state in calf production.

SHEEP and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1 is down 18 percent from a year ago. Sheep and lambs on feed totaled 150,000. Marketings of fed sheep during March through June at 226,000 head were 1,000 below the same period last year.

Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on succulent pastures and expected within the next three months to produce a carcass that will grade good or better.

SCREWORMS continue to infest Texas livestock as well as wildlife and domesticated animals such as dogs. Little or no relief is expected from the screwworm infestations until cold weather sets in this fall and winter. Livestock owners are urged to continue to check their livestock regularly and to treat wounds on livestock for screwworm control.

LESS pollution from wind erosion has been noted this year compared to last year. Wind erosion in the Great Plains moved downward from damage totals a year ago.

Texas, with 1,145,150 acres, or about one-half of the total nationwide, reported the most wind erosion damage this season. Nationwide, land in condition to blow is reported at 3,269,060 acres this year compared to 6,693,695 acres for 1971.

Crops are continuing to make generally good progress throughout the state. Cotton is reported to be making excellent progress on the High Plains and Low Plains due to recent rains. The crop is doing nicely in the Blacklands and East Texas except for insect problems. Harvest in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been delayed by rains.

Corn is making good growth in most areas of the state. Grain sorghum harvest is more than 20 percent complete. Yields have ranged from good to excellent in Blacklands and parts of south and south central Texas.

Soybeans and peanuts are making good to excellent progress. Rice harvest is making fair progress but rain has delayed harvest operations. Harvest for the state is nearing the 20 percent completion mark.

As for commercial fruit, peach harvest continues in most areas with Elberta varieties now in production. This year's peach crop shows good potential with most trees having moderate to heavy nut set.

VACCINATE now for control of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) authorities recommend.

VEE is now about 600 miles from the Texas border. Several hundred head of horses have died from VEE in Mexico. VEE appears to be moving northward in a pattern similar to last year when the disease invaded Texas.

all 4-H members and parents. Registration will be from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. This should be a good one-day encampment for 4-Hers. Camp day will include swimming, talent show, wildlife program, and recreation.

Another case of screwworms was reported in Wichita County last week. All livestock producers are encouraged to take a sample of any suspected screwworms and send it to the laboratory at Mission, Texas for positive identification. Bottles for mailing purposes may be picked up at the County Agent's office in Wichita Falls, ASCS Club, in Iowa Park, or from Vocational Agriculture Teachers in your area.

We would like to encourage all pecan producers to check their pecan trees weekly for the pecan weevil. Checking should be done weekly. To determine whether you have pecan weevils, put a sheet under a limb and shake it slightly. If you have as many as three weevils show up on the sheet, it is recommended that you spray. Sevin may be used to control the pecan weevil.

Dr. Dennis White Area Livestock Specialist

Dr. Dennis R. White on August 1 was named area livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He will serve the 22-county Rolling Plains area and will be headquartered at the Extension District 3 office in Vernon.

In announcing the appointment, Extension Director Dr. John E. Hutchison said that White will fill a new position that is designed to boost the livestock industry of the area. The Rolling Plains is vital to the Texas livestock industry which ranks first among all states as far as total income is concerned, noted the director.

White will work with livestock producers, livestock organizations, county program building committees and county agricultural agents in conducting an extensive educational program that will develop the livestock potential of the area through increased efficiency and production.

A native of Chickasha, Oklahoma, White is a graduate of Ninnekah High School and holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from Oklahoma State University. He received his Ph.D. degree in animal nutrition from Texas A&M University. His scholastic honors include membership in Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Zeta and Sigma Xi. He is also a member of the American Society of Animal Science.

The new livestock specialist grew up on a farm where he was active in 4-H and FFA work, especially public speaking. At Oklahoma State, he was on the livestock judging team.

Prior to his present appointment, White worked as a graduate assistant in the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M. He had also been employed by Wilson and Company for four years prior to entering graduate school.

He and his wife, Norma, have one child. Mrs. White was senior secretary in the Office of the President at Texas A&M.

State 4-H Dog Show

Dallas-What with some 350 entries, prizes will be handed here August 12, date of the second annual State 4-H Dog Show.

Ever see a West Highland White Terrier? He is a breed rare enough that few Americans have seen him, but one is expected to be entered when judges begin their work at 11 a.m. in Dallas Memorial Auditorium. Entries will be registered from 8:30 to 10 a.m.

The show is open to the public, and before it is over, the judges, working according to rules of the American Kennel Club, will have studied about 20 different breeds in eight groups: sporting, hound, working, terrier, toy, nonsporting, special and miscellaneous.

Any 4-H member in Texas is eligible to enter the show, sponsored by the Dallas County 4-H Dog Committee.

Awards will include trophies for first-place winners in each class, ribbons through fourth place in each class, and best-in-show trophies for conformation, obedience and showmanship.

Don't underestimate child play. Children's play contributes to four important types of development. Play helps children in different ways. It helps them develop their bodies, physically, mentally and aids them in developing an ability to get along with others. The interest span is developed, which in turn helps them grow into inventive adults. One can observe the development of individuality as children participate in play.

Child play falls into four major categories: active, physical play with balls, wagons and tricycles; manipulative play with blocks, clay and painting equipment; dramatic play with dress-up costumes, dolls and trains; and social play with doll equipment, blocks and letter-totter.

In these play groups children learn balance and control of muscles. They exercise curiosity, imagination and interest through exploring their world, and strengthen their confidence in themselves.

When choosing play equipment, see that it's strong, durable and safe. Is it easy to keep clean? Is it suitable for available play space and storage facilities?

Note if the equipment is simple in construction -- not too large, too small or too heavy

FARM REVIEW

Vaccination Against VEE Just Good Insurance

It's good insurance to vaccinate all horses, mules and donkeys against the dreaded sleeping sickness, Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), even though the animals were vaccinated last year when the disease reached epidemic proportions in Texas.

"Re-vaccination is the surest and safest way to protect horses and other equine against VEE, even though the vaccine should provide immunity for more than a year," emphasizes Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Re-vaccination is not compulsory but is an extra precaution."

Armstrong notes that the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and Texas Animal Health Commission are also encouraging all equine owners to re-vaccinate as an added safety measure.

Other reasons for the re-vaccination effort are that (1) Texas is a high risk area and the only state where VEE has occurred, and (2) confirmed cases of VEE have already occurred in Mexico this year and the disease appears to be moving northward.

As far as the vaccination of foals and pregnant mares is concerned, Armstrong points out that there has been some change, according to recent hearings at an International Conference on VEE in Kansas City, Missouri.

At the conference it was resolved that foals of immune dams in high risk areas should be vaccinated when three months of age and again when weaned at about six months of age. Unvaccinated pregnant mares in high risk areas should be vaccinated regardless of stage of pregnancy.

In addition to VEE, the veterinarian stresses the need to vaccinate animals against the Eastern and Western strains of equine encephalomyelitis. Once animals are vaccinated for these two strains, a booster shot should be given every year. Armstrong advises that all vaccinations should be given by a veterinarian. He also encourages horse owners to move their animals as little as possible to reduce the risk of spreading VEE.

The disease will remain a threat until late this fall when cooler weather suppresses mosquito populations. The mosquito is the main carrier to the disease.

Get Pasture In Shape Now

"Get pastures in shape for fall grazing with a good fertilization program," suggests Dr. Neal Pratt, agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Good quality forage can be produced in the fall with timely rainfall and sufficient plant nutrients, says the Texas A&M University specialist. This extra forage can be grazed or harvested.

"Permanent pastures fertilized in late August and September can be exceptionally high in protein until frost," points out Pratt. "By then winter pasture growth should be adequate for at least partial grazing by cows with young calves."

For the central, east and Gulf Coast areas of the state, the agronomist recommends applying from 80 to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre. In other areas, apply at least 60 pounds to the acre.

The surprising Maverick.

It's a comfortable, 6-cylinder American compact that's actually priced below the Volkswagen 113.

If you can afford a Volkswagen 113 - or almost any little import - you can afford a Maverick. Look:

Model	Doors	Engine	Price
FORD MAVERICK	2-door	6-cylinder	$2,140.*
VW 113 (Super Beetle)	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,159.*
TOYOTA COROLLA 1600	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,109.*
DATSUN PL 510	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,306.*

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for 2-door models. Excludes dealer preparation charges if any, destination charges, title and taxes.

NOTE: People ask us how we can afford to offer a roomy, 6-cylinder compact at about the same price as the little imports.

First, we've been making small cars since 1908. Experience helps. Second, we haven't changed Maverick--except for mechanical improvements--since we first introduced it. That kind of continuity helps to control costs.

Third, recent currency revaluations and devaluations have helped restore the competitive stance of American manufacturers.

Most little imports give you 4-cylinder engines. Maverick gives you a 6-cylinder engine.

It's smooth. It's reliable. It lets you accelerate into turnpike traffic with confidence and hold your own on steep hills. And it delivers surprisingly good gas mileage.

A good car for long trips.

Maverick's rear track is 2.9" wider than Volkswagen's. Its wheelbase is 7.7" longer. There's a bit more weight, too. By themselves, these differences aren't very big--but they can add up to a big difference in the way Maverick drives and handles the open road.

Better idea for safety... buckle up!

It may just be the best car value in America today.

Ample room inside. Maverick's front seat, for example, offers 8" more shoulder room than Volkswagen 113. There's no wasted space inside Maverick. At the same time, none of that small-car crowded feeling.

Maintenance: Even simpler, more convenient than the little imports.

VW, for example, recommends normal service every 3000 miles or three months, whichever comes first. On Maverick, it's 6000 miles or six months. So Maverick's recommended service interval is twice as long as Volkswagen's.

We also designed Maverick to be a simple machine to care for. In fact, we've even prepared a manual which tells you how to do many maintenance jobs yourself.

One more convenience: there are over 5,600 Ford dealers in the country. VW has about 1,100.

Order Of Sword 13 Centuries Old

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--When Maj. Gen. Jerry D. Page, former Sheppard Technical Training Center commander, was inducted into the Air Training Command Order of the Sword Thursday night, he joined a tradition that can be traced back to the early 13 century.

ATC's Order of the Sword is modeled after two medieval orders of chivalry that rose in Europe and are still in existence today--the Swedish Military Order of the Sword and the Royal Order of the Sword.

During the zenith of the Holy Roman Empire in which the church was the center of power, chivalric orders were created throughout Europe to fight the infidel, or non-believers.

During the 14th century as power began shifting from the church to royal families, new orders were founded or restructured to insure the prestige and power of kings and queens. The earliest record of the Order is an Order of the Knights of the Sword bestowed upon military heroes by the old Baltic state of Livonia.

The Royal Order of the Sword was received on Feb. 23, 1748, and entry was limited to individuals of noble birth. Admission to the order was designed to reward achievements that promoted the prestige of the country and the good of mankind.

A purely military order of the sword was established in Sweden by King Gustavus Vasa in 1522 in recognition of outstanding military service. During Gustavus' reign, Sweden became a formidable military power and had the only professional standing army in Swedish history.

Presently, the Swedish order may be given to Swedish officers for long and efficient service in the military forces during wartime and peace.

Although not a standard military decoration -- like its closest cousin, the Legion of Merit, the order is being used today by the Army and Marine Corps as well as the Air Force.

Within the Air Force, the order was first conferred by Military Airlift Command in 1967 to Brig. Gen. Roland J. Barrick on May 26. Since then, MAC has inducted 13 others into the order.

ATC is the only other command awarding the order. Last year, U.S. Representative F. Edward Herbert (D-La.) became the first honoree by the ATC NCO's in a ceremony at Randolph AFB.

General Page was nominated for the award by CMSgt. Donald Waterworth, Sheppard senior airman advisor. To receive the award, a nominee must receive at least two-thirds of the vote by the 17 senior airman advisors at ATC.

When an individual is inducted into the order, a brass plate with the honoree's name, grade, title and date of induction is affixed to the base of a master sword kept by the command senior airman advisor at Randolph.

The master sword, a large broadsword attached to a wooden base, was designed and built last year by TSgt. Jon Christensen of Randolph.

When ATC NCO's established the order here, they outlined the major criteria for an Order of the Sword recipient. The award is a "means of recognizing and honoring individuals, both military and civilian, for conspicuous and significant contributions to the welfare and prestige of the NCO Corps and military establishment."

Sheppard's first Order of the Sword ceremony takes place Thursday at 9 p.m. in the NCO Club. Entrance is by invitation only.

New Wing Construction Gets Underway

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--A ground breaking ceremony for a new wing to Bldg. 2560, the home of Sheppard's 2054th Communications Squadron, was held Wednesday at the squadron.

Officiating at the event were Colonels William C. Wilson, director of air traffic control, Headquarters Air Force Communications Service, Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo.; Paul J. Johnston, command staff electronics officer of Air Training Command, Randolph AFB, Texas; Lieutenant Colonels John M. Monk, Jr., squadron commander, and William R. Carroll, squadron air traffic controller.

"Basically the new wing will alleviate cramped conditions in our present environment," said Colonel Monk. "We formerly occupied the five or six rooms in the lower level of building 2560, but Detachment 1, 2nd Bomb Wing of Strategic Air Command needed additional space for their alert operations. All of our people were then moved upstairs."

According to the colonel, the new facility will house the quality control section of the squadron, key punch mechanical equipment, radio facilities, maintenance and space for storage.

"An added feature of the new wing will be a cooper screening on the walls in radio maintenance. This will insure against unwanted static while using the transmitters and receivers."

With a cost estimated at $49,000, the new communications facility is expected to be completed in early November.

One Of Two Warrant Officers At Sheppard AFB Retired Monday

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--When Chief Warrant Officer Reinhart E. Roth, of the 3750th Maintenance and Supply Group retires July 31, it would be a loss to the Air Force.

Sheppard has only two warrant officers, Roth and Warrant Officer Guy C. Powell, the commander of the 761st Air Force Band (Band of the Oilbelt).

No "new" warrant officers will be replacing Roth, nor will there be one to replace Powell when he retires in May 1973. In fact, "new" warrant officers will not be replacing any position now held by a warrant officer in the Air Force.

This situation exists because no one is entering the warrant officer rank to fill the vacancies left by retirements. All vacant slots are now being taken over by commissioned officers.

The warrant officer corps hit their peak strength in 1957, with a total of 4,541 members. However, this number has been dwindling since 1958 when the Air Force decided to phase out the program by creating the senior and chief master sergeant, or supergrade, positions. By November 1971, warrant officers numbered 539, while in June 1972, the ranks had been further reduced to 238.

At one time, the Air Force considered increasing the number of warrant officers to over 10,000, but the plan fell through, signaling the decision to phase-out the program a few years later.

"The warrant officer program was good in that it gave the Air Force experience in the officer ranks," said Roth. "In addition it gave the senior noncommissioned officer a chance to move up in rank, as well as into officer status."

Warrant Officer Roth joined the Army-Air Corps as an enlisted man in January 1941. A native of McCook, Nebraska, he had attended high school there prior to entering the service.

At Chanute AFB, Ill., he studied aircraft maintenance and received an assignment to Westover AFB, Mass., following graduation from the Chanute technical school.

Upon transfer to Almgordo, N.M., the warrant officer served as a flight engineer training combat crews. He was then sent to England, where he was to serve in the European Theater of operations from September 1942 to October 1945.

"My unit was part of an aircraft maintenance team that actually followed the allied offensive into France and finally into Germany," he continued. "We would repair the damaged aircraft so that they could be flown back to a larger area of activity where they were given more complete servicing."

Returning from the war in 1945, Roth left the service until 1950, when he was recalled due to the Korean conflict. His first assignment on reentry was Brooks AFB, Tex. In 1954, he was sent to Korea where he served nine months as a supply officer.

His further assignments have included Tachikawa AB, Japan, Amarillo AFB, Tex., and Lincolnshire, England, prior to coming to Sheppard in December 1966.

"I plan to stay in Wichita Falls after my retirement," said

Warrant Officer Roth. "There are so many advantages to being near a base the size of Sheppard, and in a community as nice as Wichita Falls."

The remaining Sheppard Warrant Officer, Powell, is a native of Lamar, Colo. He earned a bachelor degree in music education at the VanderCook School of Music in Chicago, then entered military service in 1941 as a trombonist in the 122nd Field Artillery Band of Chicago. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942.

During World War II, Powell served as a forward observer in artillery in the European Theater until VE (Victory in Europe) Day.

Following a two-year stint as a music teacher in schools in St. Charles, Ill. and Fayetteville, Tenn., Warrant Officer Powell reenlisted in the Air Force in 1947 and was made a warrant officer band leader in 1949.

His subsequent assignments have included MacDill and Eglin AFBs, Fla.; Pepperell in Newfoundland; two tours at Lowry AFB, Colo.; and one each at Lackland AFB, Tex., Keflavik, Iceland; and Ramstein, Germany.

Warrant Officer Powell holds the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart for combat service during the war.

"The selection of warrant officers from the enlisted ranks was a very good idea at the time," said Powell. "The warrant officer was the specialist in whatever field he was assigned. Of course, now, all officers are trained to be specialists in their job assignments."

A.F. Aid Society Begins Campaign

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--The Air Force Aid Society will conduct its annual fund raising campaign from July 31 through Aug. 15 at Sheppard AFB.

Lt. Col. Charles T. Davis, chief of the administration division, 3750th Air Base Group, is the project officer for the campaign.

The AFAS is designed to help Air Force active duty, reserve Air National Guard members and the dependents of deceased or retired members in the event of an emergency.

In 1971, AFAS distributed $24,893 in loans and grants to Air Training Command people and $7,593 of that total went to people at Sheppard.

According to Colonel Davis, the goal of this year's fund drive is to get 100 per cent participation from Sheppardites.

A contribution of $1 to $49.99 entitles the donor to a year's membership; $50 but less than $500 signifies elevation to the status of permanent membership; and $500 or more qualifies for a patron membership.

Patron members automatically receive a copy of the annual report, while other members must make specific requests for a copy.

Both permanent and patron memberships may be purchased on the installment plan with a laminated membership card and a certificate of membership given to the donor.

In addition to providing assistance in time of emergency, AFAS will also aid Air Force members or his dependents in receiving a loan for a college education. The loan need not be repaid until the student leaves full-time attendance at an undergraduate school.

"Let us all work together," said Maj. Gen. Robert L. Pettit, Sheppard Technical Training Center commander, "to make the 1972 AFAS fund raising campaign a success so the program can be even more effective in the future."
