QUESTION: What has happened to our garbage and dog ordinances?

ANSWER: City manager, Gary Bean said, "Right now we are picking up four times as many dogs as we were 3 years ago. We average picking up around 400 dogs a year. We have the best garbage collection equipment in the country. It is the responsibility of the citizen to have a garbage rack, cans and lids which are dog proof. We can't possibly police the 2,500 garbage pickup spots twice a week. Cooperation from Burk citizens is needed to help us take care of the problem. If you have a specific problem concerning a stray dog or a garbage spot, call us and we will do everything we can to help."

Bulldogs Defeated In Regional Tournament

Lamesa defeated the Burk Burnett Bulldogs last Friday night by a score of 75-57, knocking the 'Dogs out of the race for the state championship. After defeating the Bulldogs, Lamesa proved to be the strongest in the regional tourney by defeating favored Leland, Saturday night 41-35 to capture the regional crown. According to Bulldog coach Jim Phillips, Lamesa showed good height and a well rounded ball club during the tournament action. The 'Dogs were defeated not only by a tall team but a very good team. Quarters 2 and 3 were the toughest for the Bulldogs during last Friday's play. The 'Dogs trailed by only three points at the end of the first quarter and outscored Lamesa 25-14 in the fourth quarter. Lamesa outscored the 'Dogs in quarters 2 and 3 by 21 to 8 and 21 to 10 which proved defeat for the 'Dogs.

"We had a real great year in basketball this year," said Coach Phillips. This has been the first time in 23 years that Burk has won the district championship in basketball. The last time was back in 1950. We can't complain about our results this season. The Bulldogs played with all they had and the season final record shows it. It ended up 20 wins and 6 losses.

This basketball team deserves a lot of credit for their hard work in bringing the district championship back to Burk.

Tips to help you use electricity more efficiently for cooking.

You can get the most value from your electric range by following these tips.

Use flat-bottomed pans

The flatter the pan the better the contact with the electric unit. Also, be sure the pans have tight-fitting lids to reduce cooking time and moisture loss. And match pan size to unit size to avoid heat loss.

Don't open the oven door unnecessarily

Opening the oven door when the oven is hot can cause heat loss and extended cooking time. It also can result in undercooking.

Use minimum amount of water

The more water you use, the longer it takes to get it hot. Many foods can be cooked with little or no water. Once water starts to boil, use the lowest heat setting that will keep it boiling.

Cook and freeze

Bake two cakes or pies, or make double recipes of such foods as stews and spaghetti sauce. Then freeze one for future use. Also, when you're baking, prepare an oven meal at the same time so no surface cooking is necessary—simply choose foods that will cook at the same temperature.

Thaw before cooking

Thawing meats before cooking reduces cooking time. Also, when recipes call for a preheated oven, don't turn it on too far in advance—usually 10 to 15 minutes will do.

TRACKSTER- Bill Deville

Deville Delights Dogs

With the conclusion of basketball and the opening of so many new sports at BHS the sports spotlight will continue to feature superior athletes in track, tennis, baseball, and golf.

Since this is the first year he has competed in high hurdles it does take some adjusting. Each event in track requires a different approach to conditioning. Coach Ben Martin is currently helping Bill to adjust to the high hurdles competition.

"Warm-up before the actual running in track is just about the most important thing you can do," Bill commented. He further added that if the warm-up is omitted, an injury is more likely to happen as with a pulled muscle or such.

Bill is planning on attending college at Midwestern. He is the son of SMSgt. and Mrs. C.A. Deville and his hobbies include photography. He is the sports photographer for the BHS newsmagazine, SPIRIT.

Sedelta Verble

The beautiful new track is busy with grey sweatshirted people circling the track a few at a time. Large brightly colored pillow objects cushion the shock of pole vaulters, and hurdles line various spots of the black topped speedway, yet amid all the bustle and struggle of the track now being used as a practice field something seems a little funny.

The runners now approaching the curve of the large track are small and agile, they are girls. The boys don't take much notice as the two girls who are dressed in the same sort of grey sweatshirts glide around the curve. This goes to show that the track is invaluable not only as an athletic center for boys events but also in girls competition.

"I just love to run and that's why I am in track," Gayla Wheeler comments while running her hand over the aching muscle in her slender leg. This site isn't uncommon, either the members of this sport all have the same characteristics of looking rather ill after a warm-up lap around the enormous speedway and this is obviously treated by messaging the calf of one's leg. In this department and seemingly all others, the girls are no different than the boys. They compete in all the events boys are eligible for except the pole vault competition.

Mrs. Judy Bledsoe is the girls track coach and she has commented favorably on the prospects of the new sport for BHS girls. March 2 marks the first date for a major track meet to be attended by Coach Bledsoe and her tracksters. The meet will be held at Henrietta at 12:30 and is only one of the five major events to be completed in by the girls before the Spring Meet which will be hosted by BHS this year, April 7. The team consists of Dolly Hancock, Monica Hubbard, Nan Sullivan, Paula Crumpler, Chris Smith, Cheryl Hicks, Joanne Masters, Belinda Howard, Gayla Wheeler, Vicki Rich, Karen Whitaker, Diana Uery, Eric Richardson, Dona Masters, Marilyn Koller, Judy Lemley, Janice Martin, Liz Greene, Sherry Sutton, and Dee Dee Umlah. Terri Taylor is the manager of the girl Bulldogs.

Mr. Roland Creekmore, cubmaster, presents an award of special appreciation to Mrs. Louise Mullins for her contribution and work with Burks special education den.

Mrs. Francis Ray accepts her award of special recognition for efforts in working with Burks special education den. Making the award presentation is Roland Creekmore, cubmaster.

Bulldog Golf Opens March 2

by Sedelta Verble

Such sports competition as track, tennis, and baseball line the schedule of local sports enthusiasts, but one more sport is also on the agenda for spring contests at Burkburnett High School and that is golf. Coaching the Bulldog golf team is Bob Carpenter and he is enthusiastic about the team this year and the players who will compete in this game which is best known as a sport of concentration and steady skill.

"The team looks good this year, especially Danny Lei who has a handicap of 4 and overall I think we are good but we can improve. I do think we need to improve in consistency. BHS students who will be competing this year are Alex Koulovatoes, a senior letterman, James White, a sophomore transfer from Hirschi 'B' team, David Robinson, a junior and Frank Andrajack who is a freshman. A golf team consists of five members. The BHS golf team practices at Sheppard AFB and when they host the Third District Meet, the facilities at Sheppard AFB will be used.

Coach Carpenter explained the manner in which district winners and regional contests will be conducted in golf. "The Low Individual (Medallist) will be determined by scores at the three district meets. District Team Champion will be decided likewise. Low two teams and low two individuals will advance to the Regional Golf Tournament at the North Texas Golf Course in Denton."

'Dogs Fall To Regional Champs:

by Sedelta Verble

For the first time in twenty-three years the Burkburnett Bulldogs basketball team bounded into the Regional Tournament after taking the elusive District title last weekend. The Bulldogs traveled to Snyder Friday morning and prepared for the Regional play-off battle against the tough Lamesa Tornados. Although the Bulldogs dropped the match 57-75 the crowd of 3,000 enjoyed a spirited battle by the District Champs and the 500 Burkburnett fans who attended the game could be proud of the disciplined 'Dogs who had clinched the first district championship since 1950.

The starting line-up for the Bulldogs included Mike Millar, Danny Nix, Larry MacMahill, Bill Snowden, and Skip Dean. The Bulldogs took to the courts with nothing in mind but victory and paced the golden tornadoes fourteen points during first quarter action. The Tornados, however, must have been really hot about the defeat from the Bulldog Football team earlier this year because they netted 21 points in the second quarter in comparison to 8 by the Bulldogs. Meanwhile on the bulldog bench, Coach Jim Phillips was working out some strong strategy for the Bulldogs and gave each one of the 'Dogs an opportunity to go against the Tors. At halftime the score stood 22-38.

Coaches Ben Martin and Charles Seagler assisted Coach Jim Phillips at the game. The Bulldogs came back from the locker room with the same steadfast desire to win that dominated the entire first half. Luck seemed to be going a little more in the 'Dogs direction as they captured the tip-off and ran. Alex Koulovatoes, Greg Mayes, and Zac Henderson lined the court as Phillips substituted the entire game.

The Bulldogs were getting hotter and ended the third quarter with ten points, making the score 32-61. Their best surge against the powerful Tors came in the final quarter when they racked up 25 big points, but still lagged 57-75.

Throughout the entire battle the Bulldogs tried to press the Lamesa team as they had done in earlier matches, but the Tornados held their own and managed to keep up. The real story of the game probably lies in the free throws. The Tornados outscored the Bulldogs in field goals by only 28-25. The fowls received were also relatively comparative with the Bulldogs pulling 20 and the Lamesa roundballers following with 15. The real difference can be seen when the free throws come to light with Lamesa dropping in 19 free throws to Burkburnett's 7. The Bulldogs took three times out during the entire contest while the Tornados didn't take any.

Coach Phillips did not seem disappointed in the Burkburnett players who have broken the twenty-three year district crown deficiency. He commented that this game was a good pathfinder for when the Bulldogs return to the Regional contest next year. Mike Millar emerged as high point man for the Bulldogs with 16 points.

Nuptials Recited Saturday Between Burnett - Slayden

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday evening in First Baptist Church by Miss Susie Burnett and James R. Slayden. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Burnett and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slayden.

The Rev. Lamoin Champ, pastor of the church, officiated. Music was provided by Joel Graves, vocalist, and Mrs. Vernon Duke, organist. The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and purple pom-poms, candle trees and a candle arch with votive candles. Newell posts and greenery completed the setting.

The bride chose a formal gown of white satin and imported French lace designed with A-line skirt and Empire waistline trimmed with pearls and iridescents. Her chapel train of French lace was attached at the shoulders and her veil of French illusion was held by a Juliette cap encrusted with pearls and iridescents. She carried purple and white carnations, stephanotis, and statice.

Miss Lia Hodge was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of orchid miramist and deep purple velvet and carried a hurricane lamp candle with carnations. FARM REVIEW

Minigarden, Education And Fun For Young, Old

"Growing vegetables in a minigarden can be educational and fun for both youngsters and adults," says Gordon R. Powell, fruit and vegetable marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The basic materials needed are containers, soil and seed. Plastic or clay pots, metal or plastic pails, wire baskets or a wooden box will be adequate containers for the beginner. Six-inch pots will suffice for vegetables such as chives and 10-inch pots are best for onions, radishes and miniature varieties of tomatoes.

Powell suggests that if solid plastic containers are used, be sure to allow for drainage. Drill four or more 1/4-inch holes, spaced evenly along the sides, near the bottom. Put about 1/2 inch of coarse gravel in the bottom of each container to aid drainage.

Gardeners can either buy a synthetic soil or prepare their own. Synthetic soil is free of plant disease organisms and weed seed, holds moisture and plant nutrients well, and is lightweight and portable.

A soil substitute can be prepared from horticultural grade vermiculite, peat moss, limestone, superphosphate and 5-10-5 fertilizer. To one bushel each of vermiculite and shredded peat moss, add 14 ounces of good limestone, 4 ounces of 20 percent superphosphate and 8 ounces of 5-10-5 fertilizer.

Don't use last year's seed, cautions the specialist. Old seed often germinates poorly and does not grow vigorously. Seeds of many varieties of each plant are available at garden center. Miniature vegetable varieties are best for minigardens. When possible, select disease and insect resistant varieties.

Plant vegetable and fruit plants where they will get the most sun and leafy and root vegetables in more shady areas.

"You can give some plants a jump on the growing season by starting them indoors on windowsills that have plenty of sunlight," says Powell. "Then after the weather gets warmer, and the danger of frost is past, transplant them into larger containers and move them outdoors. Use ready-made peat pellets or peat pots. Peat pellets contain synthetic soil that swells up several times its original size when water is added."

After the pellets expand, make a planting hole with your finger or some tool to the correct depth for the kind of seed you are planting. Plant two or three seeds, cover them with peat moss and moisten with water.

Transplant seedlings to larger containers when the first two leaves are fully developed. Water them thoroughly before transplanting. Be careful not to disturb the roots, cautions Powell.

Apply one level teaspoon of 5-10-5 fertilizer per square foot of soil about three weeks after the plants have reached the two-leaf stage and repeat every three weeks. This will keep plants growing rapidly and producing well.

"Water each time the soil becomes dry down to a depth of 1/2 inch. If a sprinkler can is used, do not water so late in the evening that the leaves of plants stay wet at night. Wet leaves encourage plant diseases," advises Powell.

In growing ornamental vegetables, there are several attractive as well as tasty varieties. Salad bowl lettuce produces many curled, wavy, bright green leaves. The Ruby variety is a beautiful, non-heading salad lettuce with fancy, frilled leaves that are bright red. Another bright-red vegetable is a Swiss chard variety called Rhubarb. A kale variety called Flowering Kale from the Orient has bright red and green leaves. All tomato varieties are decorative. Tiny Tim, a miniature tomato, is an especially colorful plant that adds color and taste to any salad.

County Agent News
B. T. HAWS

Results of the 1972 Agricultural demonstrations in Wichita County are now available. The annual report summarizes all agricultural and agriculturally related demonstrations planned with the Wichita County Program Building Committee and conducted by cooperating farmers, ranchers and landowners. Demonstrations are planned each year based on the agricultural problems and long-range objectives of the county program.

Purpose of the crop and livestock demonstrations is to provide farmers, ranchers and landowners with information so that they can make better use of available resources. The latest technical research findings and recommendations are incorporated into the various demonstrations.

The 1972 demonstration program consisted of field tests in small grain, cotton, livestock, beef performance testing, insect and weed control.

Have a good reason before pruning shade trees. Pruning is justified to remove limbs that are too low and obstructing traffic and to improve the tree's shape. Two other reasons are to remove dying or diseased limbs and to raise the shade level enough to grow additional grass or flowers underneath the tree.

Seldom is pruning encouraged to increase the vigor of established trees. Such topping or excessive branch removal may actually reduce the vigor. Topping can have a permanent, adverse effect on the shape of the tree.

Branches are the support for the leaves needed to manufacture food for tree growth. However, pruning does not always have to be done during the dormant season. Bleeding may follow pruning but usually this does not harm a tree. It is best to wait until the dormant season to do major pruning of deciduous trees.

Immediately after pruning, treat the wound in order to keep insects, rot and disease organisms out of the wound. Paint the wound with an oil or asphalt base paint or a tree wound paint. Any of these should provide adequate protection.

A good rule-of-thumb for the gardener to remember and follow is to limit pruning of live branches to those with a diameter of two inches or less. Pruning also should be done before the heart wood has begun to form in the limbs.

Small grain fields in District III are being inspected weekly in Archer, Childress, Hardeman, Haskell, Knox, Throckmorton and Wichita Counties. Fields in these counties are being inspected by four wheat scouts. Funds to support this program were made available by the Texas Wheat Producers Association. Five fields in Wilbarger and Ford counties are also being inspected. This is the first report of small grain insect activity and subsequent reports will be mailed on Monday or Tuesday of each week.

Light greenbug activity can be found in most fields. Heaviest infestations were reported during the past week from fields in Wilbarger and Knox counties where as many as 15 to 20 greenbugs were found per linear foot of row. In most fields, greenbug numbers ranged from 1 to 16 per linear foot of row.

Let A Child Pay The Consequences For Actions

Avoid "head-on" clashes with children by channeling actions. Many problems can be short-circuited if imagination is used and outlets provided for feelings, according to one authority.

"Instead of punishing a child, consider letting him take the consequences instead."

This advice comes from Jane Fletscher, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

"For example, if he hits another child, going without companionship tells him what his behavior accomplished."

"If he insists on running through mud puddles without boots, staying inside while his shoes dry is more effective than scolding," she contended.

Miss Fletscher was quick to point out that this method isn't always easy on parents.

"It may be quicker, easier and neater to do many things yourself, but the goal is to give the child responsibility for his own behavior."

According to the specialist, six guidelines encourage the "positive" approach to living with children.

--Give commands in line with a child's nature.

"Commands often interfere with a toddler's natural curiosity, exploration, sense of adventure and perpetual motion."

"For example, if the child enjoys getting into drawers, furnish him one of his own. By diverting his behavior through a substitute, reprimands will diminish."

--Consider the child's ability and your expectations.

"Match expectations to his current abilities. After all, it takes time for a toddler to eat without creating some mess."

--Have more "do's" and fewer "don'ts."

"Use the positive approach--it works wonders with youngsters. Indicate what to do, not what not to."

Instead of "Quit jumping on the sofa this minute," try "Let's see how high you can jump on the floor."

"Once a command has been given, follow it through," Miss Fletscher emphasized. "Otherwise, the child will stop paying attention."

--Change the environment to achieve desired behavior.

"Three tools are anticipation, diversion and substitution. For example, in order to get a toddler to the bathroom, ask him to 'Go find the soap.'"

"Whispering often adds a magical effect."

--Set limits.

Although a child definitely needs limits, balance them and impose only those necessary, the specialist said.

"A reasonable number is beneficial --at least the child knows where he stands."

"However, limits shouldn't be considered restraints, but channels for normal behavior."

"A youngster needs things he can touch and places he can go, as well as those he shouldn't. In general, a child can't always control his own impulses. He may vary from great independence at times to clinging dependence."

"Protect him from real harm but not to the point he becomes upset over minor hurts."

"When setting limits, don't tear the child down," Miss Fletscher stressed. "Give love and praise generously."

--Show your love.

From the time they're infants, talk things over with children. Sing to them, read stories and recite nursery rhymes.

"Show they're respected as persons," she added.

"In addition, indicate your love for others. The concept of sharing and taking turns is often difficult for small children to accept."

"Thus, sharing should be on terms they understand--such as the counting technique. An example of this is letting each child bounce on the horse for a count of 25."

"Young children seem to understand this is fair," Miss Fletscher concluded.

U.S. RODENT CONTROL SPECIALIST
LARRY KILGGO

Pocket gophers are real pests in many parts of Wichita County. Evidence of these small burrowing mammals may be seen in lawns, gardens, wheat fields and roadside ditches. Gopher burrow in loose moist soil, eating the roots of grass and other vegetation. This animal has very small eyes and poor eyesight and spends most of its life underground. It has long claws on the front feet which enables it to burrow at a surprisingly fast rate.

Control is necessary for gophers as a result of damage to lawns and fields. One farmer in the Friert - Cooper Community had to dig up and replace an underground cable running from his house to his barn which had been gnawed. He estimated the expense at $80.

Traps and poisoned grain may be used to control gophers. The gopher trap is metal and may be obtained at feed and hardware stores. The trap is placed in the burrow and anchored by a wire and stake. The gopher will discover it in its burrow and while attempting to plug the hole will be caught in the trap.

Poisoned grain is placed in the burrow by probing around the mound with a mop or broom handle. After the burrow is discovered, 1 tablespoon of poisoned grain is put in the hole. Cover the hole with a rock or anything to block out the light. The gopher will discover the grain during its normal activity. If the hole is not covered, the gopher will push dirt into it and cover the grain. Treat every four or five mounds.

In wheat and other fields where gophers are active, the burrow-builder is useful as a control. The burrow-builder resembles a planter and constructs artificial burrows shile being pulled behind a tractor. As the burrows are being constructed, poisoned grain is drilled into them. The artificial burrows will intersect the gopher's burrows and the poisoned grain will be discovered.

I have blueprints for burrow-builders and also leaflets on gopher control in my office. If I can help in any way, please call. My phone number is 767-4981.

Discussion To Be Held By Rolling Plains Growers

Because price support of wheat in the future seems uncertain, Rolling Plains growers this year indicate as much interest in marketing as in producing.

Discussions therefore of the Rolling Plains wheat situation are scheduled March 6 at Seymour and March 7 at Vernon, which growers and elevator operators and other agribusinessmen are being urged to attend.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m. each day, the R-PEP Wheat Situation Seminar is to be in the Farmers National Bank at Seymour, in the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Vernon.

Subjects to be discussed: alternate marketing plans and farm programs, trading in "futures", domestic and export demands on wheat, and pest control in small grains.

Sponsors of the seminar are the Texas Wheat Producers Board, the Texas Grain and Feed Association, and the Task Force for Small Grains of the Rolling Plains Economic Program (R-PEP).

Recognized for their knowledge of the wheat situation, these speakers have been invited: John Seibert of Bache & Co. in San Antonio; George Jones, vice president for merchandising at the Producers Grain Corporation in Amarillo; Norman W. Brints, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Vernon, and Emory P. Borine, entomologist with the TAES at Vernon.

The Wichita Falls Plant Short Course is having an average attendance of 65. Mrs. George Wyatt of the Family Living Committee has assisted daily with the work shops.

A note of appreciation is to be extended to Cloth World, Hancock's and Stewart Sewing Center for loaning fabrics for a display and a sewing machine demonstration and construction.

The Electra Short course will be held March 7 and March 14, 15, and 16 from 10-12 a.m. at the Community Center.

Adequate lighting makes an excellent burglar repellent for the home. Twelve times as many crimes occur at night. Thus, well-lit premises at home can discourage criminals.

All entrances to the home should be well lit. Even if street lights are around, the driveway, breezeway and areas between the home and neighbor's house are left completely dark. To check outside protection, turn on all outside lights and observe if any area exists where a person can hide or move without casting a shadow. If additional lighting is needed, local power company representatives can recommend placement and quantity of light needed.

Illuminate the back yard as well. Have enough light to cast shadows, usually one or two 100-watt bulbs are sufficient.

When away from home leave a light burning. If the place will be vacant for the evening or several days--leave a light on in a major living area, as well as the outside.

An electric eye, inexpensive yet valuable, can turn both inside and outside lights on at dusk and off at dawn.

Wright Selected For Funeral Ceremonies

SP5 Howard C. Wright, son of P.H. Kelly, 608 Akers, Burkburnett, was among approximately 4,000 members of the Armed Forces selected for the military portion of state funeral ceremonies honoring former President Lyndon Baines Johnson in Texas January 23-25.

These rites were directed by Fifth United States Army in behalf of the President of the United States.

Plants, Structural Elements

When planning a landscape, remember--plants are the only living materials of any significance that can be used for structural elements.

Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, says that plants cover the ground with a protective surface preventing erosion, moderating temperatures, wind and noise, and screening objectionable sights. While performing all of these functions, plants add beauty and interest through their forms, textures, colors, fruits and flowers.

"A tree's size is important in giving scale to a landscape because trees are usually the only objects of great height and mass which are available for designers," points out Welch.

No matter how the ground area is organized, it has little meaning until given definition by objects such as trees which extend upward into space. "A yard is little more than an empty field until its area has been given volume and organization by plants or man-made structures," says the horticulturist.

Plants are important in organizing outdoor space for human living, but their misuse can destroy this organization. Plants, like buildings, occupy, enclose, define and limit space. "Plants are commonly crowded too close together and are monotonously spaced over the land," notes Welch. "When a multitude of shrubs and trees is scattered about a property, the space is limited and divided into many small bits where the effect of spaciousness is greatly reduced."

A close relationship between plants and people is promoted by using plants as elements of structure. "It is more pleasing for people to pass under, between, through or around plants than to simply look at them from one side," contends Welch.

Woods & Waters

With warm weather rapidly approaching, most sportsmen's thoughts are turning to fishing. Crappie and sand bass are reported hitting in some of the area lakes. Anglers have had their best luck with minnows and white jigs.

Large mouth bass probably won't be very active until we've had enough warm weather to sufficiently warm the waters of area ponds.

Two area fishermen, Jerry McClure and Jerry Burden, along with eight men from Grandfield are planning a fisherman's dream.

Jerry McClure told me they would be leaving March 1 and they are planning to spend ten days bass fishing on Lake Powell near Blanding, Utah. That's a sure way to cure spring fever before it has time to strike.

McClure also advised they would return with many pictures of their catch. That will certainly keep them honest!

Getting away from fishing awhile, it might be of interest to area hunters that the state is distributing 33,000 questionnaires to resident hunting license holders.

These are sent at random and so obviously not everyone will receive one.

The lucky ones will have a chance to brag about last season's success.

Looking much like a bill for a gasoline credit card purchase, the information card asks if the license holder hunted deer and/or turkey.

If so, the Department wants to know the species of deer, age, sex, where and when killed. Much the same information is requested for turkey.

It is important for everyone who receives one of the cards to respond even if he were unsuccessful in bagging either a turkey or a deer.

Postage is paid and checking off a few blanks on the card will take only a few seconds.

The Parks and Wildlife Department will use the information as the basis for formulating a statewide deer management plan.

A Tradition For 119 Years To Be Observed

Texas Public Schools Week

Knowledge will not be acquired without pains and application. It is troublesome and deep digging for pure waters; but when once you come to the spring, they rise up and meet you.--Fulton. At first reading, this quotation might seem to apply only to students, urging them to take advantage of opportunities for learning, to study and grow. But, in order to keep opportunities of education before students, parents must take an active interest in the educational system. You, as a parent, can do this March 5-9 during Texas Public Schools Week. Visit your child's classroom. Ask questions. Visit with his teachers.

Public School Week Observed

Annual observance of Texas Public Schools Week is slated this spring for March 5-9. Classrooms, from first grade through senior high levels, will be open to parents and other interested citizens.

School officials feel that active parent participation in the school system maintains the highest quality education, and are inviting questions and opinions from parents of children within each system.

For 119 years, Texas Public Schools have been in existence. They have survived--not only because education has become more necessary than ever before--but also because parents desire to provide more and better education for their children. Visit a public school in your neighborhood March 5-9. You'll be glad you did.

Revival Slated By Local First Assembly of God

The First Assembly of God Church located at the corner of College and Avenue B will begin a revival meeting Sunday, March 4 and continuing through March 18. Services will begin at 9:45 on Sunday mornings and 7:15 on Sunday nights. Week night services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Garry Smith of Ft. Worth. Rev. Smith is the assistant district youth director for the North Texas District of the Assemblies of God. This covers an area from Red River to Austin and from Guahan to the Arkansas line.

The pastor, Rev. John Hocker invites everyone to attend these services.

Weekly Health Tip
from JOE GILLESPIE
Unconsciousness because of injury or illness is usually a protective act of nature. Bystanders should not try to arouse the victim - no shaking, shouting, no splashing water, no smelling salts, no liquids to the mouth which might choke the unconscious person. He needs rest or he would not be unconscious. Let the victim lie flat if his face is pale - a pillow beneath head and shoulders if he is flushed. Summon medical help - meanwhile control any bleeding and give mouth to mouth resuscitation if breathing has stopped. Avoid moving the patient if possible.

Canoe Group Meets

The Rio Grande Canoe Group will meet Thursday night at 7:00 p.m. at the National Room. Group and personal equipment, water conditions, menus and travel routes must be decided upon.

The group will embark from Big Bend Park early Palm Sunday morning and will travel through the canyons to Langtry. With average water levels, the trip should take six days. Interested persons may come because careful planning is necessary for this trip. For three days, one sees on the inhabitation of the prehistoric people, and what is forgotten at home could be missed dearly here. About two hundred rapids are in this 167 mile stretch and although most can be run, there are five that are no-no's. It is a very exciting trip!
