Jim Byrne of Fort Worth, and E. L. Mitchell of Dallas, were here in attendance at the trial. Mr. Byrne is an investigator for the State Fire Insurance Commission, and Mr. Mitchell is an investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The Smith home, located at 425 West Main, was partially destroyed by fire Sunday morning, Feb. 10th.

Revival Services Stat Sunday At Calvary Missionary Baptist

Sunday, March 3, is the opening date of the spring revival at the Calvary Missionary Baptist church. We have been looking forward to this revival for several months, and plans have been made for a great time.

Brother Ralph Henderson has been secured to direct the personal work and hold services on the street during the meetings.

We earnestly ask the cooperation of every Christian in the city in helping us reach the home of every unsaved person in the community.

We believe that this meeting bids fair to be the best revival that has taken place in this city for several years. Pastor Cunningham will deliver one of the strongest messages against sin that you probably have heard for many years, and he will always give the remedy that will guarantee the cure.

Old time preaching, soul stirring song services, heart thrilling testimonies, inspiring fellowship, will mark each service in this meeting.

If you are tired and weary with sin, come and find rest for your soul. If you are discouraged in your Christian life, come and get inspiration of these old time services. Bring your friend, your lost loved ones, and the babies, too.

Services start each evening at 7:30 at the Big Tabernacle, corner of Ave. B and College st; one block west of Owens Funeral Home.

Burkburnett Lions Storm Denton Club

The local Lions club sponsored the program of the Lion's club at Denton last Thursday night.

The caravan was headed by President Henry Grace and Burk Burnett's Wild West Quartet, consisting of Ray Hill, Jew Bent, Johnnie Anderson and Leo Foster.

The program consisted of a number of selections by the quartet, a solo by Johnnie Anderson and talks by Ross Reagan and Henry Grace of Burk Burnett, K. C. Spell of the Wichita Falls club and Rev. C. W. Estes of the Denton club. In addition to the greetings and inspirations brought by the visiting speakers, they made a former member of their club, Dave Barrow, now member of the Denton Club, victim of several jokes.

The auctioning of the first broom made by a Denton broom maker, who has almost lost his eyesight and who is being sponsored by the Denton club, brought merriment and netted the broom maker $8.85.

Out of town guests were K. C. Spell of Wichita Falls, Henry Grace, Johnnie Anderson, Leo Foster, Ray Hill, Jew Bent, Leonard Lerang, Stacy Jenkins, Luther Coffee, Joe Davis, Y. C. Paschall, Bern Alexander, Joe Coffee, Ray Ruffner, Marshall Chrestman, Ross Reagan, Sloan Mills, Fred Brookman, and Miss Katherine Exley, "sweetheart" of the Burk Burnett Club.

Lum Hall Speaker Brotherhood Meeting

With a splendid program, arranged by Brooks Robertson, A. C. Houser and C. L. Chambers, a number of musical and vocal and a forceful address delivered by Lum Hall of Electra on "A Lot of Living", about thirty-five men of the First Baptist church and a number of invited guests enjoyed a monthly Brotherhood meeting at the church Monday evening.

Those appearing on the program were Lela Mae Pinkston, reading; Miss Natalie McClure, Mrs. J. R. Prince, vocal duet accompanied by Louise Kent. The Baptist men quartet composed of Brooks Robertson, Dot Busby, Sam Cooper and C. R. Chambers sang.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games, after which doughnuts and hot chocolate were served.

No woman would buy a second-hand hat, but she doesn't mind buying one that dozens have tried on.

Warning Against Flying Kites Near Electric Wires

The danger of flying kites in the vicinity of electric wires was explained today by officials of the Texas Electric Service Company, who are appealing to parents to warn youthful kite fliers to keep away from wires.

"Several fatal accidents already have occurred this spring as a result of boys flying kites too near electric wires," according to L. N. Peyton, local manager of the Texas Electric Company and Ross Reagan, manager of the Hardin Municipal Plant, "and we want to impress on parents and children the dangers of letting kites and kite strings come in contact with wires. Above all, children should be cautioned never to use metal wire in the place of string when flying kites, for if the wire should fall across an electric line, the current would flash to the person holding it."

"Whenever kites become entangled in electric wires, don't climb poles or use long sticks to remove it. Call the company and a lineman will be sent to get it down, if possible. Another wise precaution is not to fly kites during a rain, as a wet string is almost as dangerous as a wire should it come in contact with an electric line. Kites with metal frames, or wood frames, braced with wires, should not be used."

"Employees of the company will visit local schools within the next few days and make a further explanation of the dangers of flying kites near electric wires."

Old Time Revival At Church of God

One of those old time revival meetings that you have been praying would come to Burk Burnett is here.

The meeting is under the direction of a boy from Michigan, Evangelist Archie McWilliams, Mr. McWilliams just came from Tenn., where he has been attending the Church of God Bible Training school. Although he is only a boy he has been preaching for several years. He claims to have heard the Master's call to the ministry as early as four years of age.

The service begins at 7:30 o'clock Come and bring a friend.

Also at 6:45 each evening there is a special service for the children. The meeting was unusually successful Tuesday night. Inasmuch that the evangelist did not even get to preach. The altar was filled with honest hearted seekers.

State, County, School Taxes Come Under This Ruling

March 15 Is Deadline

Save A Year's Taxes By Saving
Accrued Penalties and Interest Now

Over the vigorous protest of many state and county officials and tax-supported institutions, the legislature has again befriended Texas property owners and wiped away all penalties and interests on delinquent tax payments. This final action on the part of the legislature means such a tremendous saving to taxpayers who are behind with their payments that the officials of Wichita county are exerting every means to acquaint property owners of the opportunity to save the heavy penalties and interest which has accrued in recent years, and to save holdings from embarrassment certain to follow if taxes are not paid. March 15th is the deadline, and if each individual property owner will take the time to figure out the amount of extra cost now against his property by reason of accumulated penalties and interest, he can readily see how necessary it is to make a supreme effort to wipe the slate clean by that date.

Many individuals and corporations, able to pay, have taken advantage of the leniency heretofore extended those who may have been distressed, until revenues have been reduced to an alarmingly low figure, until it has become necessary that taxes be paid. This extension to March 15th has been made that everyone may have time to make arrangements to pay before the penalties an interest are again tacked on and become a permanent charge against property.

The welcome address to dads and other visitors was given by Lloyd Guinn. A response to this address was given by Walter Duval. Invocation by Principal Chester Duncan. PRICES TOO HIGH

The National Grange is asking for congressional action directing the Federal Trade Commission to investigate corporations engaged in the manufacture, sale or distribution of agricultural implements and machinery, to definitely establish whether or not unfair trade practices and price-fixing agreements are responsible for the continued unreasonable high prices demanded of farmers for such implements and machinery. Farmers around Burkburnett assert that prices now prevailing for grain binders, plows, harrows and various other kinds of agricultural implements and machinery are virtually twice as high as before the war. On the other hand, farm prices stand at 102 percent of the pre-war level. The Federal Trade Commission already has authority to make such an investigation. There appears to be no good reason why it should not be made at once. It is a relief measure every farmer is sure to appreciate.

LOSING EVERYTHING

Burkburnett residents frequently hear it said of someone who has met financial reverses that they have "lost everything." But if you will look at it in the right light, you'll find it is a mistake. To lose financially, even to the last dollar, doesn't mean that the greatest asset of all—good friends and good neighborhood—have been lost. Those said to have lost everything haven't lost the spirit of manhood and self-respect that keeps them true to their ideals, and that money cannot buy. Many other things might be enumerated in the list of priceless possessions which they have not lost—health, home and loved ones. In fact, they really have not lost anything but what they can sometime replace. And as a general rule, the experience they have gained through losing their money will eventually prove worth far more to them.

THE EDITOR'S JOB

Most anyone can be an editor. All you've got to do is to sit at a desk 12 months in the year and edit such stuff as this:
"Mrs. Jones, of Cactus Creek, let a can-opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."
"A mischievous lad of Piletown threw a stone and struck Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday."
"Joe Doc climbed on the roof of his house last week, looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch."
"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green several times on the public square."
"Ike Trimmer, of Running Creek, was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda."
"Mr. Frond, while harnessing a horse last Saturday, was kicked just south of the corn-crib."

Henpecked Burkburnett husbands have one advantage. Being managed by the government doesn't seem any worse than usual.

The final judgment will take only one day. You see it won't be necessary to hold the deal until somebody can take it to the supreme court.

Another impossibility would be to sell an alarm clock to any man who has two or three kids under six years of age.

Sunday used to be a day of rest in Burkburnett. Now most people spend the rest of the week resting up from Sunday.

The difference between a husband and wife is said to be that he wants to be waited on and she has to be waited for.

All men differ because nature knew that no woman could be happy if another had a husband just like her's.

These pictures are to adorn the walls of the office in the State Capitol at Austin.

Austin who was the first Secretary of State under President Sam Houston," Mr. Mann said. "We also have a photograph of the second Secretary of State, Dr. Robert A. Irion, who also served under Houston. We urge all those who are interested in the matter to aid us in completing the group by either furnishing the pictures or telling us where they may be obtained. These pictures will have historical value and will be placed at vantage points either in the office or in other parts of the capitol." Safety Education Saving Thousands Safety education, plus safer automobile construction will prevent thousands of accidents and save a great many lives in the United States during the next few years, D. S. Eddins, President of the Plymouth Motor Corporation, said today.

Mr. Eddins, in an interview, declared that America finally has become safety-conscious and at the present time is taking definite steps to cut down the number of traffic accidents on congested streets and highways. He said educational campaigns in progress in several cities already have reduced the traffic tolls in those cities.

The Plymouth President cited the record achieved in Detroit last year and to date this year as evidence of the effect of safety education. Police records show that traffic fatalities in the Motor City fell off 38.6 per cent during the last six months of 1934 compared with the first six months of that year, as the result of safety education work. The record to date this year is continuing to be good, despite slippery ice-coated streets. Fatal accidents in Detroit during January this year were 29.7 per cent less than those of the same month a year ago.

Detroit's safety campaign embraces a number of different factors, Mr. Eddins said. "First, there are traffic schools for inexperienced drivers. Applicants for drivers' licenses are asked to attend these schools. They are instructed in safe driving rules and traffic laws by police experts.

"Police safety cars, equipped with broadcasting apparatus and loud speakers, are stationed at important street intersections during the rush hours. The crews of these cars broadcast safety hints and warnings to pedestrians as well as motorists.

"In the school districts, 5,000 school safety patrol boys guard the street intersections. These boys, ranging in age from nine to sixteen years, have authority over all school children on their way to and from their classes. Before the patrols were started, 49 per cent, almost half, of the traffic fatalities in Detroit were children of school age. School-age fatalities in 1934 were only 13.3 per cent of the total.

"Detroit police, in their zeal to put over safety education, have employed an educated horse to teach safety lessons to motorists. The horse hauled a creamery wagon through the streets for 12 years and, the police claim, learned all of the city's traffic laws. Now he pulls a safety wagon on which is painted this warning sentence: "Horse power without horse sense is dangerous."

Mr. Eddins said the automobile industry is cooperating more than ever this year in an effort to cut traffic accidents to a minimum. He said automobiles have become safety crusaders and have incorporated numerous safety improvements such as hydraulic brakes and all-steel bodies in the new models.

"Plymouth, always a leader in the movement for safer transportation, has thrown its support behind safety education program," he said. "As an incentive to the school trols, Plymouth is sponsoring a to Washington next summer for 45 boys adjudged to be the most vigilant during the year."

In a backyard workshop somewhere in America a nameless young inventor is at work. Under his tireless hands a strange machine is taking form—a machine whose name or use we may not even know.

But someday your grandchild will say: "How hard life must have been in 1935 without it!" And you will think of the thousands of people to whom the manufacture and sale of that machine have given employment . . . of the millions to whom it has given new ease and convenience . . . of the untold sums in new wealth and purchasing power that this little invention has created. "Our" Basketball Boys

By Ada Marsh
 Basketball boys are the best in the county. Do you doubt it? You saw the three-game play-off game you are not undecided which team is "our" team. We love our basketball boys and there is no other team in the county as true, courageous and as clean on a basketball ball as our own Fairview team. We just how depressed and our fighting boys felt at game Thursday night, but you just as much as ever respect you even more, for your spirit playing; regardless of losing. There is one thing honorable than winning by, and that is losing by fair. We regret as deeply as you last, but you fought and we until the final whistle blown, and we shall support you as loyally as we realize the battle, the hard training rules to endure. We are proud just as much as if you had county. We can say proudly was our F. H. S. team that with the Harvesters through game play-off courageously, and never grumbling a word the strenuous playing. You bed at night tired, so tired that it almost impossible up the net morning, but to school with tired but smiles on your faces. We appreciate you and your cooperation through-out the season. We say "Hats off to our Bears".

To Our Coach

Our coach we wish to express our gratitude and thanks. Bill D. Watkins, the best in the state, we say "A bouquet to you." Mr. Watkins drag to the team, yet smiling, ready for a hard basketball game. Games he was so excited, and enthusiastic that possible for him to go to sleep like any ordinary player. He had to sit up and play over in his mind. Like a coach he felt the loss of a player that he even looked the mornings, but he taught his class three successive years, and he has trained and led a winning team, and just when the victory was, some pieces of "rotten" inevitably sneak in to the pleasure of having a championship team. You know, Mr. Watkins, we think you are the most sportsman-like coach in the state; may you and your boys win the state next year!

The Mosta of the Besta

There are certain facts we wish to reveal and comment upon now that basketball season is over for our boys.

Bill Wells, a star player on our team, received a fractured leg while playing basketball for F. H. S. Bill, though quite broken hearted, was not allowed to play for many games. He couldn't practice; he could only watch the other boys play. Occasionally, Bill would burst loose with a lament that he was unable to help his team, but never a word pertaining to the painfulness of his injury. When the three-game play-off was scheduled he went to the doctor and begged to be allowed to play. His plea was rewarded. He played very outstanding games, without the least bit of practice and without a word about his injured leg. Is there any thing more heroic than an athlete giving all for his team and never grumbling?

Scotty McCall, the F. H. S. "bundles of muscles", is a very outstanding and "spunky" fellow. Scotty never fails to turn in as good a game as any guard could hope to do. There is more than mere playing to compliment Scotty upon. He is the "King" of sportmanship and fair play. If Scotty knows he is right he will contest any one, but if he is in doubt he will refrain from saying one word. It is always Scotty who picks the player up, pats him on the back, and says, "played a nice game". It is always Scotty who, when the game is over, tells his opponents he will be present at their future game and back them. Now isn't that sportmanship?

The other players have all been so cooperative and consistent in their playing all year, that we feel as if they all need some reward. We surely think they deserved the half holiday Friday.

Three boys of the team will not return next year to aid F. H. S. The three graduating this year are Bill Wells, Harlen Boyd, and Chuck Morrison. Next year there will be many old players left to win for our school, including Leroy O'Guinn, who will be a two year letter man this year; Scotty McCall, the boy with the sportmanship; Elbert Zink, who, regardless of the knocks and banks, comes up smiling; J. D. Mills, otherwise known as "semi annually", a boy with great possibilities; Henry Fuller, the guard with the eyes that fool his opponents, another boy with much possibility. There must be something about the three senior boys also.

Chuck Morrison, the young boy who made the junior team last year, a "guy" with much ability to sink the old basketball in the goal; Harlen Boyd, the little "cute" guard, has played good, exceptionally good basketball for two years and really exerted himself this year; Bill Wells is the last senior. You have already read an account of Bill's fractured leg, need anything more be said? Bill was one of the most outstanding players on the team this year.

Senior, Junior and Faculty Party

Hail! Hail! The gangs all here, or should it be the gang was all there? The Seniors gave an open house party to the Juniors and faculty members. The guests were each given five green jellybeans and told to not say "I" he could immediately collect a bean, if he heard some one say "I". Elbert Zink won the prize with 32 beans, and was Mr. Watkins mad, as he was reaching for the prize with 29 beans? A game demanding forfeits was played next. The most amusing thing was Mr. Paschall doing a dance and braying.

The main event of the evening was identifying baby pictures. There were 47 baby pictures tacked on the walls. Much amusement was caused by this as it was exceedingly difficult to know just "who was who". The winner was awarded with a beautiful and tuneful "baby" rattle. Following this was a game of identification of presidents. The history teachers were at an advantage here, but the results were not at all in favor of the history teachers. The color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments of ice cream and green cherries with angel food cake.

The guests were Maxine Vines, Charles White, Lavern Beavers, Elbert Zink, Marian McClarney, Harlen Boyd, Marvadin Vines, James Sullivan, Ada Marsh, Bill Wells, Ruthe Vogel, Y. C. Paschall, Jr., Bennie Spenser, Milton Winkles, Virginia Bogy, Charles Morrison, Ruth Miller, H. B. Northcott, Ruby Jewel Williamson, Geo. T. Roberts, Evelyn Mills, Simon Hanks, Anita Pharris, Clarence Bridges, Miss Toby Baird, Mr. Charles Jones, Miss Maudell Gentry, Mr. Erwin Brand, Elva Stimpson, K. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Y. C. Paschall, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wells, and Mary Elizabeth Wells, Misses Ray Davsol, Lillie Mae Armstrong, Patty Thompson, Lois Thompson.

P. S. It was rather strange that Ada Marsh and Ruthe Vogel wore the decorations home.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE SHOULD BE LIQUID

(Ask any doctor)
 For your own comfort, and for your children's safety and future welfare, you should read this:
 The bowels cannot be helped to regularity by any laxative that can't be regulated as to dose. That is why doctors use liquid laxatives.
 A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.
 The right liquid laxative dose gives the right amount of help. When repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.
 The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will clear up a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. Every druggist has it.

"White Parade" Tells Life Of Young Nurses

A tribute paid to the nursing profession by the late President Theodore Roosevelt, following a siege in a hospital, provides the inspiration and theme for Jesse L. Lasky's "The White Parade," the tremendous Fox Film production at the Palace Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

In keeping with the theme and spirit of the production, "The White Parade" is dedicated to the memory of the immortal Florence Nightingale, founder of modern nursing, and the idol and pattern of those who pursue this profession. In his tribute to nurses, Roosevelt said in part:

"It is almost worth while to be sick, to meet such people and see the splendid work they are doing in the hospitals. Take the nurses—clean, healthy, young women, full of life and spirit. At an age when their thoughts might be devoted to pleasure, they do the hardest kind of work, much of it unpleasant, nearly all of it depressing—and not for pay, but because they want to fit themselves for service."

Cawthon Speaker At Grid Banquet

Pete Cawthon, lead coach at Texas Tech at Lubbock spoke to a crowd of 200 Tuesday night at the annual grid banquet honoring the 1934 and '35 football teams of Burkburnett High School. Mr. Cawthon emphasized the part of physical education in a well balanced educational program, and told the citizens of the value of the lessons that football taught. The best news of the year, according to the speaker, was the announcement that the death rate in football had decreased about 30 per cent. This progress was due to two factors, he said. The players were protected with better equipment and rules and most coaches were sure that the players were in perfect physical condition.

Mr. Cawthon said that children were being rushed through school to rapidly, and that a better balanced program would devote more attention to physical progress as well as scholarship. The speaker's humor and keen satire appealed to the audience. He spoke in plain simple language that has characterized his teaching at Lubbock.

The introduction of the letter men was one of the features of the program. The 15 men honored were: Howard Bentley, Johnnie Baptiste, Louis Sims, Eddie Young, Wayne Rose, Bill Jeffers, Sam Brashear, Ray Lawler, Eldon Andrews, Tolley McKown, J. T. Clifton, G. L. Shaffer, and Manager Dick Hall. Three reserve letters were given to Fruit Majors, Duke and Shuffler. The lettermen and the '35 prospects were introduced by Coach Volney Hill.

The invocation was given by Curtis Cook. Glen Baer was master of ceremonies. Howard Bentley, '34 captain, and Johnnie Baptiste, '35 captain, expressed the appreciation of the team. H. R. Hayes gave the response.

The scene was in Dot's home. The bridge club was meeting there and her famous artist brother, Dick, didn't want to meet the girls and she was persuading him to. He did finally, but he bet Dot that he could get by with 2 words, "Thanks Awfully", all the evening. The girls saved over him. His former sweetheart, Marion, is there with her friend. They see each other and he wants to explain to her but his words are limited. She talks to him and apologizes to him. He can't say anything but "Thanks Awfully". When she is about to leave the room, he grabs her and she sobs on his shoulder. He puts a ring on her finger and they are both happy.

This play was presented under the direction of Miss Margaret Tanner.

Texas Centennial

By Henry Culpepper
During the past year or two we have heard and read very much about two outstanding events, namely: The World's Fair and the Texas Centennial. Now that the World's Fair is history we are beginning to hear more and more of the Texas Centennial.

I wonder just how many of us have asked these questions: Just what is meant by Texas Centennial? Of what interest should be paid to such a thing? It means something to someone but of what significance and importance is it to me?

In answering such questions it would be difficult unless we examine ourselves and see just what Texas means to us. Looking back over the past century it will be easy to see the development that has taken place, but is it easy for us to see what is or was at the bottom of this development? If we had been among the few to make the trip to Texas with Stephen F. Austin in 1820 it would be easily seen, however we have only written words showing us the conditions at that time. Only a few Mexicans and Indians inhabited Texas at that time and most of them were anything but friendly toward the men settlers.

However, with the nerve and ambition that has never been surpassed the immigrants kept coming into the new country. They were eager to own their homes and set up a type of government that would give each one a new hold on life. The new self government they were expecting never came so long as Texas was owned by Mexico. Each time the Texan's became a little independent they were put under submission by the Mexican garrisons located in Texas. Finally the red blooded citizens became so aroused that they overpowered a Mexican garrison and started the trouble that has never settled until Texas was free from Mexico.

Mexico immediately sent her army into Texas to punish the people. Small bunches of men would meet, select a leader, and make some effort of defending themselves—only to be overpowered and killed. Santa Anna the President of Mexico, was in charge of the army, and never has there been a more cruel and blood thirsty person. In his march upon San Antonio we see a gallant band of Texans there in the Alamo, awaiting his arrival. For days the greatly outnumbered Texan's fought for everything that was dear to them—only to be finally battered down and killed to the last man by the enemy.

Then we have the horrible story of Goliad! Some three hundred men were captured and taken as prisoners of war. After being held for a while they were told one evening to prepare to go home the next day. Naturally there was much rejoicing over such news—some of the Texas soldiers staying up all night singing and dancing. But when the time came for them to start home they were cruelly shot down from the back.

Finally the tide changes and the Mexicans are defeated by a small army under the direction of Sam Houston.

All of this happened about one century ago! Now, I wonder if there are any true blooded Texan's or even members of another state who can deny or refuse to do your part in celebrating the first century that Texas has been under the ruthless countenance of a blood thirsty group, and now proudly floating the Stars and Stripes—the symbol of Liberty!

Texas is our state so let's do our part in making the Texas Centennial a success. By doing so show that we still have a few drops of the same type of blood that flowed in the veins of the defenders of the Alamo and Goliad.

'My Home Town' Contest

The Chamber of Commerce of our city is sponsoring in our school a contest known as "My Home Town" in preparation for the contest which is to be held in the spring for the purpose of selecting a boy or girl to represent our city at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention. The classes are divided into two divisions: the Freshman compete with the Sophomores, and the Juniors compete with the Seniors. Each contestant writes his own paper on "My Home Town" and commits it to memory to be given in the form of an oration before judges. The person winning first place in each division will receive a gold medal, and the one winning second place will receive a silver medal. These medals are presented by the Chamber of Commerce, and anyone should consider it an honor to win one.

Thus for much interest has been shown, and many students are working on this.

Laughs of the Weak

Mr. Hill: I think there's something wrong with you.
L. D. Holman: Yes, but I keep it under my hat.

Willie E. A.: I certainly wish nature had blessed me with hair the color of yours.
Lucille: Well, I wish nature had blessed me with it, too, dearie.

Mr. Culpepper: When do you think that pie in the oven will be done, my sweet?

Mrs. Culpepper: About fifteen minutes before I think to take it out.

Mrs. Hill: Can't you stop fighting with me just because of my poor cooking?
Mr. Hill: No, you give me a pain.

Producer: So, you want to join my show? Well, there's a couple of things you'll have to fill out.
Nedra: Some papers?
Producer: No, your legs.

I'll be back at midnight to carry you off and tomorrow we'll be married. Do you think you can slip away without detection?
Oh certainly, Mother and Father have both promised to help me.

Mr. Gragg: And what time did you get in last night?
Hubert: At a quarter of twelve.
Mr. Gragg: Nonsense; I heard the clock strike three.
Hubert: Well, there is a quarter of twelve.

Eddie Y.: I wish I had a nickel for every girl I've kissed.
Marian B.: Yes, I bet you'd rush right out and buy a package of gum.

Preacher: Do you know, Loyd the two words which start the longest sentence in the world?
Loyd G.: I do.
Preacher: That's right.

Johnny B.: Supposing some real ugly looking fellow tried to kiss you. Would you object?
Malene B.: Try me and see.

She: I don't see Charlie half as much as I used to.
Jackie: You should have married him when you had the chance.
She: I did.

R. B. F.: I know I think there's something wrong with my boss' eyes.
J. T. C.: How's that?
R. B. F.: When I went into the office this morning he saked me three times where my hat was and it was on my head all the time.

Mr. Blackwell: You girls made so much noise during my lecture I couldn't hear myself speak.
Daisie M.: It's all right; you didn't miss much.

Sigma Alpha Delta

The Sigma Alpha Delta club met at the home of Oscar Kemp Wednesday, Feb. 20, 1935. As soon as everyone had arrived, the meeting started. The president called the members to order and appointed Lloyd Guinn to act as chairman while he was debating.

The club enjoyed an interesting debate held between J. R. Brock and Eldon Andrews vs. Pauline Brown and I. V. Thornton. The debate question was: "Resolved: The Government should own and operate the electric light and power utilities. Another debate that had been planned for this meeting was not given, as only two of the other debaters were there.

After the debate, the remainder of the members voted on the winning team, that is, to see whether the negative or the affirmative should win. J. R. and Eldon debated on the affirmative, and Pauline and I. V. debated on the negative.

When the decision had been made, a lovely refreshment plate of sandwiches, pickle and hot chocolate was served to the following: Lloyd Guinn, J. R. Brock, I. V. Thornton, Pauline Brown, Gayle Preston, Eldon Andrews, Melvin Mills, Bernice McDonald, Grace Preston, the sponsor, G. A. Reaves, and the hostess, Lucille Kemp. —Reporter.

Child's Heartbreak Is Subject of Film

It is one thing to challenge the conscience of film fans, and another to make the defy an entertaining proposition. The combination is eminently successful, according to critics in RKO-Radio's daram, "Wednesday's Child," hailed as a thing of heart-touching pathos with whimsically appealing highlights.

"Wednesday's Child" tells the story of Bobby Phillips, whose parents become divorced. The court awards Bobby to his mother for eight months of each year and to his father for four. The mother marries another man and tries to make a home for Bobby, but he is very unhappy there and longs for the time when he can return to his father.

Hungry for love, the boy comes home to find his father preparing to marry again, and since Bobby realizes that his only chance for love and care lies with his father, the shock of the discovery brings on a severe illness. A physician tells the parents that Bobby's welfare demands a permanent home.

Thinking only of their own future, the parents send Bobby to a military school, as a compromise. This does not quite solve the problem.

There is a happy ending, however, in which the father learns the tragedy of being ignored by the son he had himself put aside.

This picture will come to the Palace Theatre Thursday.

NEW FORD V-8

The Car Without Experiments

THERE's never any doubt about value when you buy a Ford car. You know it's all right or Henry Ford wouldn't put it out. One thing that never changes is his policy of dependable transportation at low cost.

That's the biggest feature of the New Ford. The reliability and economy of its V-8 engine have been proved on the road by upwards of 1,400,000 motorists. Owner cost records show definitely that the Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford car ever built.
