What Does Membership In Auxiliary Mean To You?

It is dead line for Auxiliaries not wishing classed as inactive. The result of which is loss of all Unit privileges and of official news from the district through the "Lone Star" every member rally to pay and pay her dues prior to the 1st of April. The Auxiliary is an organization for the single purpose of helping the church. The purposes and aims of the organization lie outside of the church and are something bigger and of more importance. The work of the Auxiliary is doing for the church which no agency could do so well, something which is warm, understanding and helpful to women who themselves experienced the suffering of their loved ones at war. The Auxiliary also stands ready to the relief of communication by disaster. A member in the Auxiliary records her personal connection with the war and keeps alive a part of this wide endeavor for the future of America is every woman wearing the pin. The meaning of a membership in the Auxiliary in its larger significance is an opportunity to help those men who gave their lives for their country, to look after their children whose fathers are for a bigger duty, to aid in the development of this great country for which so many have died, to raise a voice of maintenance of its defense, to foster its international friendships and to stand guard over its principles and ideals. Local Girl Wins College Honors

Abilene, March 20.—The highest percentage of honor grades of any six-weeks period were made by the students of Abilene Christian College in the first third of the second semester according to the honor roll compiled by Mrs. Clara Elchop, registrar, last week. There were 540 grades of 90 or above in the first six weeks report. The honor roll was posted this week in the bulletin board of Hardin Memorial Building, and all students and their grades listed. Fifteen students earned honor grades in five or six subjects, the full course allowed. There are 284 names on the list which is a smaller number of students than earlier periods, but those students made comparatively higher grades and the percentage of honor grades is high. Nearly 18 per cent of the grades given were honor grades. Batsell Barrett Baxter, Mrs. W. M. Dowell and Miriam Phillips, all of Abilene, earned honor grades in six subjects. Among the honor students was Lois Philipy of Burkburnett who earned honor grades in public speaking, mathematics, education, and Bible.

News From Washington

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.
Austin, March 25.—The raiding rangers and Gov. Jimmie Allred's policy of using them to close open saloons and gambling houses in the state's principal cities has temporarily diverted public attention from the legislature. The first reaction from the large cities was rather severe criticism of the governor. But the secondary reaction has proved again that Jimmie Allred is perhaps the keenest judge of what is going on in the minds of the majority of people of Texas who sat in the governor's chair in many years. It also proved the governor makes few political mistakes. The governor has talked rather freely about his action. He has pointed out that law enforcement was one of the principal planks in his platform, and his friends say he warned the saloonkeepers and gambling house operators from every platform in Texas last summer that he intended to enforce the law. Actually, the governor has no idea or intention of trying to enforce the laws with the handful of rangers at the disposal of Adj. Gen. Carl Nesbitt. But already, sheriffs and district attorneys have been falling all over themselves to assure the governor it isn't necessary to send rangers to their communities, and begging for a chance to enforce the law. All the governor ever intended to do was "turn the heat" on these delinquent local officials. The spectacular raids in Galveston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, and Houston and elsewhere have sent the criminals who have defied the law openly scurrying for cover. The rangers were criticized by some well-meaning citizens for smashing the expensive furnishings of the gambling houses. But the governor, in his radio talk, quickly pointed out they were directed by the law to do just that. There is a good story going the rounds in Austin which may or may not be entirely true, but it is given wide credence. It is said that the proprietor of one of the smashed night clubs in a south Texas city sent a check for $25,000 as a contribution to Allred's campaign fund during the campaign last summer. The check, so the story goes, was promptly returned from the Allred headquarters. The club operator, loudly bewailing his smashed night club, is said to have cursed Allred loudly for his "ingratitude." The ease with which certain local enforcement officials have been persuaded to ignore open saloons and gambling houses makes it difficult for their operators to understand a governor who makes campaign pledges and then goes right out and fulfills them. These are strange times, but occasionally a peep into the pages of history reveals a perfect answer to some of the troublesome questions that present-day officials think are entirely new. To the question of whether Texas should surrender control of her oil industry to Washington bureaucrats, James Stephen Hogg, one of Texas' greatest chief executives, once gave a perfect answer. It was contained in a veto message, when he killed a bill the legislature passed authorizing the state prison system to accept a bounty from the federal government for raising sugar on prison lands. He said: "In the management of her affairs, she (Texas) is sovereign, supreme, subject only to the control of the people within her dominion. To accept this bounty for sugar, she would surrender the supervision and inspection of one of her most important industries from the federal government for spoils she would open the way for the invasion and final destruction of her independent autonomy. For a mess of pottage, seasoned with the sacrifice of principle, she would surrender her birthright." He might have been talking to the boys who want to accept federal control and "aid" for a Texas oil industry that is returning more than $45,000,000 in state taxes alone to Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grace, Sam Flanagan, and Will Teal attended a party at the Country Club in Denton given by the Grace-Barrow Chevrolet Company Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Grace motored on the Dallas on business.

THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1935

THE SHIFT GOES ON

Two million Americans have forsaken the cities and their industrial ways during the last two years and have gone back to the country. Most of them have settled on small farms, close to the cities and towns and plan to live by part-time employment in factories and by raising most of their own food from a few acres of land.

The trend has been a voluntary one, it should be noted. This is important in that it reveals the people themselves began doing what the government has been studying as an organized plan. In most instances these doing the moving are making the change while they still have sufficient funds to finance themselves, or at least make a new start in a new direction. City life of today, with its curtailed opportunities through economic and industrial conditions, has lost much of its charm. So the old pioneering spirit is stepping in, and the hegira to rural sections goes on at the rate of a million families a year.

There is room around Burkburnett for many more good citizens, and those who come prepared to finance their efforts will be welcomed. There is no place here, however, for those who are merely seeking easy conditions at the expense of others. To those desiring new homes, however—those who are confident of their ability to make their own way—the hand of fellowship is always extended by the people of this community.

STILL IN SEASON

Burkburnett citizens are still in the season of the year when colds are prevalent, so perhaps another word about them won't be misplaced. Few people realize the potential dangers of a common cold. Aside from the immediate dangers, such as pneumonia which last year claimed 20,000 more victims than tuberculosis, there are the after-effects to be considered. In the U. S. there are over 5,000,000 people afflicted with some sort of heart ailment, and doctors agree that the foundation for most of these cases were laid in early childhood by colds, tonsillitis, influenza, or some other acute infection. Many of these sufferers will live long and useful lives, thanks to modern medical science, but likewise many of them would be normal today had they received proper treatment at the time.

WHAT HE WANTED

There is now going the rounds of the press a unique "Help wanted" ad which recently appeared in a Kentuck paper. It was inserted by a farmer who knew what he wanted, and it is an interesting commentary on this fast-moving age. Here it is. Read and enjoy it:

"WANTED—I want a man to work on my farm. I don't give dancing lessons. I have no piano. I can't serve planked steak three times a day. I do give three square meals, a real bed and fair wages. If any man knows a cow from a talking picture, can hear an alarm clock and get up at 5 o'clock and wants a job, I will agree not to treat him like one of the family, but a darned sight better."

Why is it that the Burkburnett man whose pay goes on just the same is always the longest in recovering from an illness?

Success is never an accident. It comes to the man who does his work a little bit better than it needs to be done.

A free land is one where "nice" people feel no obligation to obey a law they consider silly.

The objection to bossy wives is that they boss all husbands except the ones who need it.

Don't blame the times. Even in boom times nobody could win success by waiting for somebody else to help him.

We know a certain FERA administrator around here who would join the army of the unemployed if Uncle Sam would feed him and the fish were biting.

Our advice to all Burkburnett citizens is to so live that when the minister ends his remarks nobody will think they have been to the wrong funeral.

Most people don't favor child labor. They oppose the idea that a big 17-year-old loafer is a child. Typewriter Ribbons for Sale at Star

How not TO LIGHT A BRIDGE TABLE

Think of trying to play bridge by the light of two candles. Yet that is the equivalent of the light in many homes—a level of illumination that is tiring to guests and makes any party dull.

For gayer, livelier parties, use more lighting. An indirect lamp provides the ideal light—shadowless and glareless—for playing bridge, and is an equally efficient light for a quiet evening of reading. See the newest styles of indirect lamps at our store.

Have you seen the new Reading and Study Lamp, scientifically designed to give proper light for reading and study? These lamps are approved by the Illuminating Engineering Society and enable you to read with a minimum of eye fatigue. The new-type shade and diffusing globe provide both direct and indirect illumination, without glare.

All of Wednesday was devoted to a continuation of the debate and discussion with both sides striving for votes. The first real test came Thursday with a motion to substitute the Patman Bill for the Vinson Bill which had been reported by the Ways and Means Committee. A standing vote of 183 to 142 gave the Patman Bill a comfortable lead at first. But a teller vote was taken with the result of 180 to 157 in favor of the substitution. The Vinson Bill advocates then demanded a roll call which sustained the motion by 202 to 191, a majority of only 11 votes. The most intense part of the fight developed Friday when Congressman Vinson was recognized to make a motion to send the bill back to the committee. At the end of the roll call the vote stood tied 204 to 204 and Speaker Byrns promptly voted for the recommitment. Cox of Georgia then switched his vote from "present" to "nay" thereby creating another tie and before the House knew what was happening, Oliver of Alabama switched from "aye" to "nay" and Summers of Texas switched from "present" to "nay" thereby defeating the motion to recommit by 204 to 207. The final vote on the measure for passage was 318 to 90.

Works Relief Bill

Just as the House has been devoting a major portion of its time to the Adjusted Service Certificate question, so has the Senate been working constantly on the Works Relief Bill. Tuesday, March 19th, a determined drive was begun to cut the huge appropriation. Senator Byrd first offered an amendment proposing a pruning of $1,880,000-000 but the proposal was immediately defeated. Senator Adams then proposed to pare the total to $2,000,000,000 and limit the act to one year instead of two, but both of these were defeated 57 to 30. Wednesday one amendment was adopted allocating $40,000,000 for schools. Thursday, Senator Borah offered an amendment to restore the anti-trust laws but this was also defeated. Friday Senator Thomas started a filibuster for a silver inflationary measure and addressed the Senate for almost six hours. When he had finished various threats of a real filibuster began to appear and the angry majority leader threatened to invoke the cloture rule, however the Senate met Saturday to work out the differences.

Next Week

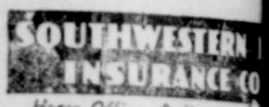

The tentative program for the week beginning March 25th has been set as follows:

Monday the air mail bill will be considered; Tuesday, consideration of a rule to amend the Private Calendar and if this can be disposed of quickly the House will take up the troublesome question of the elimination of profits of war as given in the Navy Bill, H. R. 5529; Wednesday a continuation of the consideration of H. R. 5529; Thursday, District of Columbia Bills, and Friday the Private Calendar will be taken up as it has on it already more than 300 bills. No action has been scheduled for Saturday as yet.

Living and loving, working and praying together under the open sky they learn all over again how wonderful life can be when each night closes down upon a day filled with the miracle of sun and earth and green, growing things. Together, this strangely assorted crew conquers obstacles that would have mocked the strongest and the wisest of them single-handed.

Never yet have crooks thrived in a land where nobody would have business dealings with them.

"Nothing Man Can Conceive is impossible."

See proof of it everywhere. The progress being made in heating and air-conditioning is but one example of heights to which ambition, intelligence and application can carry us.

It has no part in our existence. Caution, where experience outweighs theory, yes; but, whether it be here in this bank, in classroom, workshop, library, office or elsewhere, fear for the future—or of our dreams for the future—must play no part.

Senior News

The Seniors have placed the order for their invitations and cards, which are expected to be here shortly. The seniors thoroughly enjoyed working with their sponsor, Mrs. R. D. Watkins, selecting and ordering their cards.

The seniors are to be given a weiner roast at Prescott Friday, March 29, by Ada Marsh and Geneva Seiditz. Of course, they aren't expecting very much to eat, but have hopes of a good time.

The Seniors are getting a trifle behind on their work, but are all to come out of this seige of hard study with good grades and a good word for the Senior Class of 1935.

It's better to let the president spend that four billion than to let congress spend it because it's easier to watch one man than it is to watch 400.

SHIRLEY HAS FINEST ROLE IN NEW FILM

Temple, most sensational discovery of the year, at the perfect screen vehicle, at any rate, is the gist of the enthusiastic advance accounts which precede Fox Film's "Bright Eyes" to the Palace Theatre, where it will show Tuesday and Wednesday.

The dramatic story of "Bright Eyes" was suggested by David Butler, director, by a real-life incident occurring at a commercial airport near Los Angeles. He told it to Sol M. Wurtzel, Fox Film producer, who at once grew enthusiastic about the idea as a vehicle for the remarkable child star, Butler and Edwin Burke, famous screen writer, collaborated on the story, which was then adapted to the screen by William Conselman.

Among the features of the new picture is Shirley's newest song number, a rollicking number especially written for her by the noted team of Richard Whiting and Sidney Clare. Its title is "On the Good Ship Lollipop."

Time doesn't always fly. It depends on whether you are waiting for your wife or waiting to be hanged.

Chevrolet's Daily Production Over 5,000 Cars, Trucks

Detroit, March 26. — Pushing steadily upward, production of Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks is now exceeding 5000 per day. On March 19 a total of 5,162 units rolled off the production lines of the company's 9 assembly plants, according to an official statement just released by W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager.

"Within a week or ten days," said Mr. Holler, "the new Chevrolet assembly plant at Baltimore, with an estimated yearly capacity of 80,000 units, should begin to add its daily quota to our present facilities. Once we begin to get the benefit of this added production, present schedules will show another substantial increase.

"Deliveries of Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks from January 1 to March 10, the latest figures available, are 30.3 per cent above the same period in 1934. Every department of our business is now working at top speed to meet the demands of the public and our dealers for more cars and trucks."

Mr. Holler stated that orders for delivery to buyers, through more than 10,000 dealers retail outlets, have increased steadily every week since the formal announcement of the company's new models on January 5. At present, unfilled orders on hand are said to be nearing the 10,000 mark.

'CHARLIE CHAN IN PARIS' HAS UNIQUE PLOT

Hailed as the most engrossing and ingenious to date of the famous "Charlie Chan" films, the latest of the series, "Charlie Chan in Paris," once more starring Warner Oland, will arrive at the Palace Theatre next Saturday midnight.

Preview audiences have already viewed "Charlie Chan in Paris" both in Hollywood and New York and without exception they have recorded their enthusiasm for this story of a phantom killer who terrorized the gayest city in the world.

Arriving in Paris, Charlie Chan is plunged into the dangerous shadows of the most baffling mystery he has ever encountered. The French authorities are frustrated. No one but Charlie is able to find the trail. In the course of his investigation, a beautiful Apache dancer is knifed to death and another lovely girl, an heiress, is charged with still another murder. But in the end Chan proves her innocence.

MILTON WINKLES
Back in 1915, December 7, a baby boy was born in the little town of Hamilton, Texas. Mamma and Papa Winkles decided to name their little son Milton Edward.

When Milton was only two years old, the Winkles family moved to Burkburnett. School life for Milton began at Bradley's Corner. The next year, however, Milton attended at Fairview, and the next four years of school were spent at Barwise. The year before he got in high school, Milton enrolled at Fairview, and has been going there ever since.

Some of the things that Milton especially likes are: Class, public speaking; sport, basket ball; song, "The Object of My Affection"; actor, Will Rogers; actress, Myrna Loy; hobby, meeting new girls; pastime, swimming; and candy, Mr. Goodbar.

In Milton's 19 years of life, his motto has become "Live to Learn". When asked what his ideal girl was, Milton gave this description: she would dance and sing fairly well, not smoke or drink, would have a sunny and sporting disposition. She would have blond hair, blue eyes, light complexion, and not wear too much make-up.

Milton says that he is going to try to get him a job next summer and then next winter maybe he can go to college.

The "Tarzan" of the Senior Class, Milton is six feet one and a half inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, has light brown hair and gray eyes.

FORD V-8

In A Class By Itself

THERE is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8 — the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.

Jimmie, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel Harris, was playing with his wagon Sunday morning and turned it over and broke his collar bone. He was brought to Dr. Rusell's Clinic for treatment.

Mrs. C. F. Johnson, state community chairman, Mrs. Henry Porter, president, and Mrs. S. E. Marchand, secretary of the local unit attended a breakfast held in

Fi. Worth Monday morning in honor of the National President of the American Legion Auxiliary. They were accompanied on this trip by Mrs. Alvin Hill of this city and Mrs. R. D. Ryan of Wichita Falls.

If he never repays the rejoice and be glad. It's a loss $5 than to be termed chronic border.
