FIRE CREDIT

During the past year every official precaution possible has been taken to prevent fire losses in Burkburnett. Never-the-less there were some losses that ought to have never happened. Most of these were due to the negligence of some individual home owners or renter. In spite of that, the local property owners will profit in hard earned cash for the good record during the next year.

The officials are doing all that they can, and will make a greater effort to find ways and means of reducing the loss still further during 1936. However, the major part of the prevention burden rests on the shoulders of the individual.

It is highly probable that your home at the present has some potential fire hazard. If every person would eliminate those hazards, many fires would be prevented. The fire department is ready to come to your home at any date which you designate and inspect all premises for hazards. Make an appointment with the department, and let them suggest ways in which you may improve your home to eliminate a danger that may later mean personal tragedy to you.

SCHOOL TAXES

The local school district ran an advertisement in the paper last week urging the citizens of the school district to pay the delinquent taxes as soon as possible. It appears a shame that such an add is necessary. If there is any one institution of government that deserves the first support of the taxpayer, it is the school.

The officials in the school have released the information that there has been less payment of taxes this year than ever before. That is not right. With the increase in business and the promise of a much better year ahead of the city, no one, that can by any means arrange money enough to pay, ought to neglect the essential part of our community—the school.

Part of this neglect is due to a misunderstanding. As long as the oil companies had large production in the city limits, the checks were capable of sustaining much of the burden. Now the production has dropped, and along with it the payment of the taxes on all this property.

We became so accustomed to allowing the burden to be carried that we still neglect payment. Another false idea has developed. A large number of people think that the Hardin fund endowed the operation of the schools. This editor has been informed that it was set aside for the purpose of taking care of the sinking fund on the bonded indebtedness. Furthermore, it is not mature at the present.

The payment dropped from a high of $64,000 in 1930 to less than $22,000 this year. The efficiency that gives us so much pride can not be maintained under such conditions. Pay your school taxes now, avoid the penalty, and make safe our most valuable institution.

HUGE ARMIES

Very few people are idealistic enough to believe that it is possible to permanently dispose of war as the method of settling disputes between nations and races, but at the same time very few people can see the necessity of the five major nations of the world remaining in constant armed preparedness.

The United States just announced the possible appropriation of 545 million dollars to spend on our military land forces during the next year. An aerial cannon will be built at the cost of $100,000. All kinds of new and terrible weapons of destruction will be perfected or advanced in perfection.

The thinkers of the world are wondering what this is all about. More than 5 billion dollars spent all over the world for the purpose of mass murder. All spent because we can't afford to drop behind in the race. Each race like the social climbers, has to keep up with the neighbors, and each neighbor tries to keep a little ahead of its potential enemy.

There can be no end to a race of that type. There are no honors save bitterness and disillusionment awaiting the apparent winners. Today, almost twenty years after the World War, no one knows who won, but everyone knows that all nations involved lost definite and valuable qualities.

Just look for a moment at the United States. What did we get out of the World War? We did get a 24 billions of dollars debt. We lost 365,000 men, among our finest. We saddled ourselves with a debt or obligation to 4 million ex-service men. More than 100,000 of our fine young men are permanently injured and in need of hospitalization today. Insanity, crime, disrespect for all ethical standards swept the nation in post war days as result of war hysteria. Millions lost the valuable respect for human lives. But we go right on getting ready to take the same bitter dose.

News Of Week

The decision of the department of agriculture on the leadership of Roosevelt, should convince those who had fears that they would lose the benefits of contracts fulfilled in the farm relief program. The government will resume the distribution of the cotton contract checks immediately after six weeks' delay in the mix-up following the Supreme Court decision.

Roosevelt asked that he be allotted 500 million dollars to carry out the contracts signed and fulfilled. Of this amount more than 269 million dollars will be sent out this week. It is impossible for the government to withdraw at this point. The program will be effective only if completed.

Voluntary Control

The reports are gradually emanating from the farm districts to the effect that the farmers learned the effectiveness of curtailed crops. In many sections the word has spread that the farmers are voluntarily cutting acreage this year. Just how wide spread such a movement will become is not known. But if it were to become universal, the situation would be ideal.

More Dust

The report of the United States weather bureau indicates that the sand storms will be worse and more frequent than ever this year. That will be hard to take. There isn't much that we can do about it for the immediate future. The only thing that we can do is prove that we are as unselfish as we pretend to be. That is we can undertake a long period of erosion control and shelter belt building that will guarantee that the generation for the next century will know of sand storms only from the books that they read about us.

As for us we will just have to grit (no pun meant) our teeth and stand it the best that we can for about ten or twelve years. The cycle ought to be ended by that time.

Press Agency

We are witnessing one of the cleverest press agent campaigns that has ever been fostered on the American people. When the new high priced lawyer entered the Hauptman case recently, the first thing that he did was announce that "Hauptman had broken into tears". Isn't that just too bad. Poor fellow. He may not have killed the baby; I doubt very much that he did. But he did profit from the crime, and so far as can be recalled

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with anything less than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble to aid nature to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Get Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

he shed no tears for the heart broken mother and father during those days three years ago.

The way that we think about it is that the persons who commit crimes or assist either before or after the crime is committed or profit from the crime ought to be prosecuted without pity or sympathy. These tears shed by Hauptman will make a lot of soft hearted "gooses" try to save him. That's clever press agency.

Pan-Germanism

Adolf Hitler ought to turn back history about 22 years and look at that page which describes the trouble that the Kaiser had when he tried to enforce the philosophy of Pan-Germanism. It is rather wide spread belief in Germany that a person native of that country can not forewear his allegiance to the Fatherland when he takes citizenship in another country.

The United States had a serious dispute with Germany about that once. The nation is pledged to protect the citizens, naturalized or native, and when a foreign power threatens to attempt coercion on the citizen the nation must intervene.

Hitler says that he will require all native born Germans, whether they have taken citizenship in another country or not, to register for military service in Germany. That just will not work, as Wilhelm found out two decades ago.

A Hard Year

This has been a hard year on newspaper men. During the last twelve months no less than 20 very prominent newspaper men have died. The latest death is Wilbur C. Hawk, a good man in spite of the fact that he was a Republican. He was associated with the Amarillo papers for many years, and influential among the "gentlemen of the press" all over the United States.

There have been a few tragedies, including one editor that was shot because he wrote editorials that exposed a grand racket in a Northern city. The great men of the newspaper world went to what ever waits beyond death for a journalist. It can't be hell. Anybody that stayed around a newspaper office even a few moments would know that these men catch about all that they deserve.

POLITICS

By J. C. C.

It is getting these days so that the life sentence pronounced by the judge is about as long as the one said by the preacher. Or maybe we should say about as long as a politician remembers his platform to reduce taxes.

After all about the only way taxes could possibly be reduced would be to drown about 99 and 44-100 per cent of our politicians. The expense of our government would be reduced by half were it not for the necessity of graft and patronage in politics.

That is why I really was happy to see that the President was sponsoring a bill to place the postoffices on first class civil service basis. Postmasterships have been a political football too long.

EMBARRASSING—That very astute political leader that has been so clever during the last four years seems to have made a mistake. When Jim Farley started making passes at Jimmy Walker, Farley made an alliance seem to exist that does not have a foundation. The democratic party has no place for Walker and his kind. Jim is having a hard time explaining at the present.

—WARNING—If you think that Coughlin, the radio priest will not have a significant part in the next political campaign, you had better take another drink. With Townsend and Coughlin lined up against a man, he hasn't as much chance as grass hoppers on a Turkey ranch.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS—You would hardly believe it but the Democrats of Texas have actually met peacefully. In spite of the pre-meeting stir, the representatives and senators met in Washington and turned party affairs in Texas over to Allred and Garner. Do you suppose those fellows are sick.

JUMPING BEAN—No one has ever explained to me why a Mexican Jumping Bean hops around so much, nor why councilman Rogers keeps jumping in and out of the council. If there is any good friend of mine that can explain these two strange phenomena to me, I'll pass it on to the audience.

COUNTY ELECTIONS—It isn't fair, but the action that the county court failed to take in deciding to not give the precinct officials a salary this year will have a very definite influence on the outcome of both the county judge and commissioners elections. After voting for the fee system last summer, everybody feels that it ought to have been used. There isn't but about one out of a thousand that knows how unequal the various salaries were over the four precincts. Some men that might have won otherwise will lose for that reason this year.

ANOTHER RACKET—Next election I am going to run for some office just to try out a theory that I have. I have been wondering how far a man could get in an election if he didn't fall for all these church, school and small newspaper rackets that are worked on him.

My platform will be I am running because I think I am qualified, and I'll be darned if I'll buy a single ice cream cone, soda pop, quilt, ticket to a lousy amateur play, or kiss a single baby.

There ought to be a law against robbing a man merely because he has announced his intention to run for an office. With C. C. Hudson, I would like to join the Candidate Protective Association.

NEW ANNOUNCEMENTS—Two new announcements were made this week. W. D. McFarlane announced for re-election to Congress and W. T. Holman announced for county commissioner. It has been known for several weeks that that these two announcements would be made. They both add interest to the election for Burk voters.

P-T A Celebrates the Birthday of Society

In a clever program presenting a play written by Mrs. J. N. Hall, the P-T A celebrated Founders Day at the meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Central Ward school. The play presented the history and the work of the society for the past years, and the work to be done by the organization.

Those appearing in the play were Pauline Allen, Claudia Mae Bowman, Polly Hall, and Barbara Crissey. As a climax to the program the Founders Day cake was sold for $3.90. The funds achieved in auction. The society voted to sell sandwiches, candy and drinks at the county meet in Burkburnett on March 27 and 28.

The rhythm band played three selections, Hungarian Dance, Down the Street and Don't Give Up The Ship. The nominating committee elected was Butler Westerfield, Mrs. McFarlane, and Mrs. Wylie Brown.

Competition For Postoffice Here

Fourteen persons have applied for the local postmastership, according to the report released in Burkburnett Monday morning. The post-office will probably change some date after Feb. 19. The date is set at the expiration of the term of Neely Vaught.

Those listed by the government as applicants for the position are: Mrs. Emma Buchanan, Fred Flanagan, Reese H. Henry, Miss Bess McGinnis, Monroe Prinzing, John Matthews, Marion Raymond Hunt, George Clark Gresham, Ode E. Melton, William S. Boyd, Chester A. Pursell, Ralph O. Brookshier, and James Gore.

Burk Ward School Receives Attention State Department

Central School Reading Department Gets Favorable Comment From State Dept.

In a letter addressed to H. Lee Clifton, principal of the Burkburnett Central school, Miss Edgar Ellen Wilson, second assistant state superintendent, of the state department of education, stated that, "The department was well pleased with the present reading set-up used in the Burkburnett Central school."

The letter also stated that, "The state department of education was going to try and standardize a state wide reading program of the type used in our school and that the forms used in the Burkburnett Central school in keeping graphs of each individual child in both his rate and comprehension in reading would help in standardizing the work done in this all important field of our school work."

The patrons can be proud that our Central school has developed a reading plan in which the pupils develop an appreciation for reading and sincerely hope that this will carry over into other fields of the school work. All work in the school largely depends upon the ability of the student to read, and it is hoped that this interest in reading will influence the pupils to do better work in all the school subjects.

In most elementary schools the pupils average reading about five or six readers during the school year. Under the present plan, the Central school pupils in grades four, five and six will average approximately twenty-five books of fiction for the school year. Some of the best pupils have already read and reported on as many as forty books.

During the first semester of the school year the pupils showed an average gain of more than a full year in both rate and comprehension.

This was determined by a series of standardized tests. Under the competent supervision of Morris Strong, and Miss Patty Thompson, we hope that this department will continue to show rapid progress.

"Confine the first twelve years of a child's booklife to good books and there need be no fear of his reading unworthy books. The problem is to introduce the child to the great writers through their simpler works—letting him approach them at the level of his own intelligence and grow with them, assimilating more and more as his years increase, until he has reached the fullness of appreciation which marks the cultured man or woman."

It always works

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a liquid laxative, and you can bring yourself to clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

Freshman Class News

The Freshman class was honored by a Valentine party Wednesday night, at the home of the secretary, Wilma Whigham. Hearts were played with Dean Smith winning high score and Louis Tol Bogey winning low. Other games were played and enjoyed by every one. Later in the evening, dainty refreshments were served to the following guests: Dean Smith, Dail Boyd, Lorene Rose, Pauline McGinnis, Francine Hill, Wanda Marie Weidner, Martha Drennan, Louis Tol Bogey, Carl Winkles, Odessa Grizzle, Lillian Pearl Zink, Billy Bush, Gladys Alexander, Carter Thompson, Marion Wayne Price, Doyle Rush, C. W. Goins, Lee Oliver Webb, Mary Elizabeth Fink, Billy J. Roberts, J. C. Cauthorn, Johnny Gifford, the class sponsor, Miss Lois Thompson and the hostess, Wilma Whigham.

We are glad to welcome back 3 of our members who have been out of school for several days. Carl Winkles had the flu, and Thomas West had the mumps. Our Adaline Whitley was ill also.

Freshman Chapel Program

The Freshman class had charge of the assembly program Thursday morning. They had Curtis Cook from Burkburnett. He gave a very interesting talk on "Abraham Lincoln."

"Our Scotty"

Sure, and he is our Scotty and we are mighty proud to boast of the fact that he is ours!

Did you see him playing ball in that Burk-Fairview game Saturday night? Did you ever see him play a nicer game of ball in his life? Did you know that he had temperature 103 when he came off that court?

Well, we didn't know it either until we took him by the doctor's office after the game to have his thumb dressed and he took his temperature. The doctor even hinted that pneumonia might be lurking around the corner!

You have heard of "intestinal fortitude" all of your life and perhaps didn't know exactly what it was—if you saw Scotty Saturday night you saw a whole bundle of "intestinal fortitude" displayed in grand fashion because that is exactly what it took, plus a lot of nerve and will power, to play the game that Scotty did in his condition!

Of course we have always loved and admired Scotty, but now our admiration for him knows no bounds, and we are certainly hoping fervently that he shall recover speedily enough this week to go with his team mates, whom he so ably helped win the county championship, to the district and help them on with some victories there.

Scotty, you are one swell guy and we like you!

Fairview Pep Squad
 Makes the "Ball Go Round and Round."

How did you like the spirit displayed by the pep squad Friday night at the Electra-Fairview game? It is quite a mystery to why it takes so much pleading to get this supposedly loyal group to support their team! It took the entire week talking and boosting to get that many out Friday night—and they really did their duty when they got there. But—did you see them Saturday afternoon? Only 4 of them showed up! (They couldn't miss that good wild west show down town!) Could you feature their missing the championship game Saturday night? Well, they did! Only 5 of the 22 were there! They just couldn't mill walking the streets of Burk long enough to come down and help their team win the county! (Of course there were some who had reasonable excuses for not being there—the above raking over doesn't go for you.)

This pep squad does have something to be proud of—the two yell leaders, Ruby Jewell Williamson and Margaret Nell White, are the best in the state of Texas! These girls have certainly displayed their loyalty and faithfulness to their school and to their team this entire year. They haven't missed a home game and it has been very few of the games away from home they have missed. And what's more, at these games they have manifested their pep willingly and didn't have to be coaxed to lead the yells and songs to give the teams encouragement. Then too, they have worked patiently trying to get that ole loyal spirit developed in the pep squad, and it certainly isn't their fault that spirit never did seem to get full grown, however it has sprouted forth on an occasion or two.

We appreciate your loyalty and faithfulness to your school, Ruby Jewell and Margaret Nell.

Watch the Bears With Watkins 1932-1933

It was in the fall of 1932 that Randell Watkins took over the athletic reins at the Fairview high school. This was after his having been in the school as principal and science teacher the year before. This year of rest from athletics was prompted by two strenuous years with a winning team in Wood county, where, as coach, he won two county championships, one district and almost a bi-district from Denton high—the difference being one point!

After this year of rest, Coach Watkins was willing and ready to get back in the harness!

His first year with the Bears was not so successful, yet could not be considered unsuccessful since they turned in the best record the school ever had—they placed third in the county Round Robin and were defeated in the semi-final game of the county tournament at Burkburnett by Cashion who had won the county Round Robin. The game wasn't a snap at that—the score being 28-20!

Summary of Year's Games
 No. of games—20.
 No. of games won—8
 No. of games lost—12.

1933-1934

Early in the fall of 1933, with Watkins still holding the athletic reins at Fairview, 14 non-football schools met and organized a pre-season basket ball conference, known as the Red River-Wichita Valley Conference.

The Watkins men were fast cinching the title of the Eastern Division, not having lost a game, when one of the players saw fit to defy the coach's orders and stay out Halloween night. So the defiant player sat on the bench and watched his team mates go down in their first defeat of the conference—and thus placing Fairview in a tie with Mankins. In the play-off between the teams then, Fairview lost two straight games to Mankins whom they had previously beaten. Thus the folly of one player cost the whole team a title.

Medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub

VICKS COUGH DROP

In the Interscholastic League Round Robin things again were running pretty, with the Fairview Bears having no losses when bluey! The County Executive Committee met and rated one of the players ineligible and took every game won away from the team. Of course that made it hopeless for the Bears to try to win the county Round Robin since over half of the games had been played.

Then things happened fast in the Bears own lair—one letter man had to move out of the community; another turned in his suit just because—thus leaving Coach Watkins with practically a nest of young cubs—having only one first string man from the previous year.

Nevertheless, this Fairview team was going right on under the very able guidance of Watkins, and they reached the final game with Valley View, the Round Robin champions of the county, at the tournament at Iowa Park, and had them 20 to 12 at the half and lo! The Valley View team came back and beat the Fairview team 32-28! All spectators were amazed and could not fathom out the reason for the quick turn of events—but the reason wasn't hard to determine by the coach when he learned that the Bear's liking for honey had gotten the best of them and they had partaken of a good Valentine box of candy about an hour before the game—thus peppering them up in the first part of the game and making them let down in the last half.

In the Red River-Wichita Valley Conference of 1934, Coach Watkins' charges didn't make such a brilliant showing, coming out third in the Eastern Division. He had only one first string man back from the last year to start working with, so this pre-season conference was merely one of experimenting for him in trying to get his team in condition for the Interscholastic League County Round Robin and County tournament.

Sure enough he did have them clicking when the County Round Robin started and the Fairview Bears came out winners without a loss to any team in the county!

But, as usual, just when things were going good something had to happen—the only first string man from the last season became ineligible at mid-term under the four year rule, and another of the players got a leg injury that kept him out most of the rest of the season.

Regardless of these set backs—the team went right through the county tournament at Electra to the final game with Valley View, but lost to them by two points. This called for a play off between Valley View, the county tournament champions and Fairview, the Round Robin County champions. In a three-game series the Fairview team lost the last two games, thus Valley View was again proclaimed the county champions of Wichita county.

Last fall the Fairview Bears started their season with three first string men back on the team and two other reserve letter men. Coach Watkins started his team in the winning column early in the season and kept them there until the final whistle was blown at the County tournament at Burkburnett last week-end.

The first "bacon the Bears brought home" was the trophy for the first place winner of the Eastern Division of the Red River-Wichita Valley Conference. They lost the first place of the entire conference to Harrold.

Next, Coach Watkins took his team to several invitation tournaments to season them up for the all important county tournament. The team succeeded in bringing in the consolation trophy from Nona. And the first place trophy from the Geraldine tournament.

Then the next trophy brought in by the Blue Bears of Fairview was the first place trophy of the newly organized conference known as the Wichita Valley Conference.

Last and most important of all was the county championship trophy which they won Saturday night by previously defeating Electra, Iowa Park and defeating Burk in the final game of the tournament.

The games of the last four weeks have been played under greatest difficulties, having had one player out with the mumps and another one with an infected finger—but regardless of these drawbacks, the rest of the team has been carrying the school colors on to the various victories.

The players making up this championship team are—Scotty McCall, Leroy O'Guinn, Elbert Zink, Albert Zink, Ralph Winkles, Tommie West, Wilson Robison, Harold Wright, Wendell Ray Goins, and Clayton Owens.

Randell Watkins, former North Texas basket ball player and product of John Reid, will have to be complimented on producing a championship team out of a very short team, with one exception. These Bears are small but plenty smart in basket ball and know exactly how to handle themselves on the court, and show that they have taken their coaching well.

Rev. Manross Will Preach Thru Sun.

Evangelist Geo. Manross is conducting revival services at the Nazarene church on the corner of W. Main street and Holly street. Rev. E. P. Akin, pastor, extends an invitation to the public.

Mr. Manross made Burkburnett his home several years ago, at which time he was superintendent of the American Ref. Co. He says he likes to talk about those days when Main street was one big mud hole. He tells lots of things that would bring to our minds ye old days when labor was scarce and money was plentiful.

He is known by the Browning brothers and other business men as George.

George built a refinery out on the L. Ramming lease west of Burkburnett and furnished the fuel oil that drilled the Fowler well. Before being called into the ministry he was a refinery engineer, having built several plants in and around Wichita Falls, Texas. Manross is at this time making his home in Gladewater, Texas, but will move back to Wichita Falls in the near future.

He will preach every night this week and will be glad to have his old friends come out and hear him. He is a very interesting speaker and has a message that will warm your heart. The meeting is showing good interest considering the bad weather.

Mr. Manross will tell his life story Thursday, how he was called into the ministry, which will be of interest to the public as well as his friends. He has tried many times to pay someone else to do the preaching, but says when God calls a fellow to preach it is either preach or be the most miserable fellow on earth.

Age Blanks
At C of C Office

Those persons who have not applied for their old age pension may do so by securing blanks at the chamber of commerce office in this territory some time this week. The blanks must be filled and attested before a notary public, and the examiners will be here to complete the examination. It is necessary that the applicants bring the record into the county office at Wichita Falls as soon as possible. There will be the delay that accompany such a statewide organization work, but the sooner the blank is in the hands of the workers the sooner the qualification will be determined. Proof for age and other technical qualifications should be ready to accompany the blanks that are in. The office at Wichita Falls is ready to receive the blanks at any time.

TIM MCCOY IN "JUSTICE OF THE RANGE" DUE AT TEX

Starring Tim McCoy, and featuring the lovely Billie Seward, "Justice of the Range," a Columbia picture, will begin a two day run at the Tex theatre Friday.

Plenty of fast action is promised in this production, what with murder, fast riding rustlers, crackling guns, smashing fists, flashing knives and the insidious underhand treachery of Tim McCoy's enemies.

The picture opens on a range war between rival outfits each suspected of rustling the other's cattle. The feud is of long-standing. McCoy's friend is about to make a final payment on his ranch when his foreman is murdered and Tim is knocked out. The money disappears; it has been stolen by cowboys of the opposing outfit.

They are ordered to return it but again it is stolen and Tim organizes the cowboys in a desperate effort to run enough cattle to market to raise enough money. Tim is accused of rustling and of the murder and despite the faith of his sweetheart he is faced with the problem of avoiding the sheriff's posse and obtaining the necessary evidence to prove his innocence. The picture then plunges into a whirlwind of action to reach a startling climax.

McCoy, in real life, a Wyoming rancher, goes to Hollywood for part of each year to make his quota of ripsporting outdoor dramas for Columbia studios, returning as the end, to spend the rest of the year raising cattle.

Fire Auxiliary Is Entertained Thurs.

Members of the Fire auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. R. J. Kelly with Mrs. N. R. Allen as co-hostess Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Blackstone, the president, was in charge of the business session. The invocation was given by Mrs. Kelly. Very little business was presented since the meeting was social, but plans for raising money were discussed. The meeting adjourned and the social session was in charge of Mrs. Allen.

A delightful afternoon of games including 42 in which Mrs. Dunn scored high and Mrs. Allison low. The next game was an all hands contest with Mrs. Fred Brookman winning. The last game was won by Mrs. Artie Whitesides and Mrs. Allison.

Lovely refreshments were served to the members present carrying out the Valentine motif. Those present were Mesdames John Allison, Artie Whitesides, W. A. Roberts, Robert Dunn, S. E. Daniels, J. J. Blackstone, R. J. Kelly, and N. R. Allen. Every one enjoyed the meeting and wives of all the firemen are invited to attend the future meetings. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Allison on Magnolia street, Feb. 27.

Townsend Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was written by G. A. Henderson, local Townsend officer.)

J. T. Grant has truthfully said, "After listening to the debate of the Townsend Pension Plan over the radio, if there is no better argument against the plan than advanced by Congressman Sellars of New York, I am very much in favor of its adoption." When Congressman Sellars attempts to ridicule the plan by asserting that it would be impossible for the average couple to spend $200 or $400 per month and that the shiftless relatives and in-laws would be there to take advantage of the situation to give up their jobs and live with their parents, he overlooked the fact that there are at present thousands of families being forced to live in overcrowded quarters in disreputable ramshackle houses in sections of the city, unfit for decent people to rear their children.

Many of these same families, in spite of their poverty stricken condition are caring for old and infirm parents. These same conditions exist in every part of the country. To answer that these people would not buy or build comfortable homes if given the opportunity, is deplorable lack of their ambitions and desire.

Men Want Work
On the other hand, I believe that 99 out of 100 able bodied men would, if given a chance at an honorable job and decent wages, prefer to work. If you do not believe this, just drop around and see how many applicants there are for every position that is open. Certain standards have been established, and to ask a man to work for less than a wage that would enable him to eke out an existence is unfair to him. Such a practice on the part of prominent citizens has no doubt contributed toward such a state of affairs in many cases.

On the other hand, if it is impossible to spend this amount, then why does the Congressman from New York continue to represent a class that demands and receives from 10 to 100 times as much. Perhaps he can explain how they are able to spend so large an income. Now as to raising funds to meet these obligations, "Taxes will bankrupt the nation" is a cry that will not down. Yet our taxes and cost of government administration have increased by leaps and bounds and still newspapers are carrying reports of prosperous conditions and all over the country. Everybody with common sense knows that the people are able to pay higher taxes in proportion to the increase of their accumulated wealth whether in income or salaries.

Will Congressman Sellars answer this one. There are and have been for the past six years in the neighborhood of 15 million men without productive employment in America. If we value the labor men at 100 dollars per month, we will find that the government has lost many billions of dollars in labor alone. This would go a long way toward defraying the expense of the old age pension. Why does not this Congressman from New York do something about this situation and save the country from bankruptcy?

Billions of dollars have been appropriated for public improvements, but when the job is finished the laborer is without work and just about where he started, except that he is a bit older. The money has become frozen in the banks and for undetermined time it will stay there. The figures recently published show a reserve of more than five times that on hand last year at the same time.

Take industry for an example. Under restricted production, from lack of consumers demand, were we say for argument's sake, that the turnover is quarterly or four times a year. At a net profit of 8 per cent. Under the Townsend plan, the turnover for these same commodities should be 12 times or monthly per year, netting a profit of 24 per cent. Would the manufacturer under these conditions be unable to contribute to the support of the plan.

Cause a Panic
Money is the blood stream of the economic life of our nation and a free and unrestricted flow is essential to the health of the nation. Stagnation and congestion bring about paralysis, and each succeeding stroke becomes more dangerous to the social welfare.

It is the duty of the government and obligation it owes the people to perform the functions of the heart and guarantee a just and equitable distribution of the wealth that we produce.

We know from actual experience that one half the people can easily produce as much as the people are able to buy. Industry through technical efficiency and mass production has forged ahead of the consumer demand and is now suffering from the consequences. Perhaps if a like sum as has been lost in idleness and deterioration had been spent to create consumer demand, all would have been much better. This is exactly what the Townsend plan proposes to do. It is not to credit of the boasted intelligence of the leaders of American industry that we can produce every thing in unlimited quantities even to raw material, that no one has sense enough to know how to distribute all that we are able to produce.

God created man in His own image and gave him great wisdom so that he is able to rise in the air and soar with the clouds of heaven, that he might command the machine and run to and fro in all the earth, that he might explore the universe and change the elements of the earth, that he might speak and his voice be heard around the world, that he might harness the rivers and produce heat, power and light, that he might replenish the soil that it bring forth its yield.

The dawn of a new day is at hand. Shall we heed the call of Joshua and Caleb and cross over and possess the land of milk and honey? Or will we remain in the wilderness of poverty and want? When our America wakes up to the realization that America stands for all the people, that there is enough for all, and by the help of God every man, woman and child shall have plenty, then she will have made a start toward lasting good will and prosperity.

How Classics Are Brought To Screen

By W. P. Lipscomb
(Scenarist of "A Tale of Two Cities," the Charles Dickens masterpiece opening Sunday at the Palace theatre.)

It was my good fortune to adopt "A Tale of Two Cities" to the screen from Dickens' famous novel. This task followed a similar one on Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables". In the seven years I have been writing for the screen I have done a considerable number of scenarios from modern novels and plays.

Adapting a classic, such as "A Tale of Two Cities," involves careful elimination of incidents and characters not involved in the main line of the story. The problem is to get a straight, strong shaft of story from all the branching and tangling plot complications of which the older writers were so fond. The screen play must entertain people who have not read the book.

On the other hand, the screen dramatist treads on dangerous ground when he attempts to manipulate the classics for the good of the screen story. He knows, or soon learns, that with each omission and each deviation from the original he invites the indignant protest of lovers of the classics. He is called a desecrator and his work a butchery if the familiar story is altered.

It required many months of earnest effort to condense the many pages of the novel of "A Tale of Two Cities" into the limitations of a motion picture feature, and I must let the audience be the judge of the result. Personally, I am happy we were able to retain all the original characters and the entire story thread without serious deviation. Rearrangement of some sequences was necessary, and pointing of some situations was essential, but otherwise the story comes to the screen "just as Dickens wrote it."

Dickens is a particularly interesting problem to the screen dramatist. He had such an abundant creative power that it is not at all unusual to find four or five separate plots, with four or five separate sets of characters, running through the same novel at the same time. This was especially true of "David Copperfield," which was also produced for the screen by David O. Selznick of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

A Tribute To a Dog

Someone is sorry. It was probably a very dear playmate to some one. As it left its home, that bitterly cold morning on the trail of its master, who had left home the day before to try to locate a job in a distant city, it had no idea its owner would never see it again. The wind grew sharper as a fresh norther blew up. Snow covered the tracks and obliterated the scent of the former party. As the dog paused, with foot uplifted, to try to detect some trace of its master, it froze to death. It had stopped too long. It was found next day just over the hill from the farmer's house where its master had taken shelter.

Charles Woodley.

MISS ENA HODGES—was born sometime in "the eighties." She is the English teacher and Glee club director. She also has the honor of being the Sophomore sponsor. She has black hair and dark brown eyes, medium height and wears spectacles. Her favorites are: gum, Spearmint; movie stars, Clark Gable and Mae West. She is a favorite teacher in Devol high.

Sports

The county basket ball tournament is to be held in Walters, Okla., Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21 and 22. The A boys and girls from Devol are to be present. We are hoping to win cups by both teams, also the Junior high team. The Devol school has won 8 cups a year. It has been a habit we are holding and we hope to win the same this year.

Watch for the date of the Senior play.

Sophomore Personalities

James Harrison, a handsome lad of the sophomore class, was born at Pauline, Texas, March 18, 1920. At the age of 4 he moved to Devol and when 6, he started upon his school career. Having gone to Devol school all his life he feels well at home and likes it fine. James is a happy-go-lucky, mischievous, sort of fellow and makes a big hit with the lassies. He has been playing basket ball 2 years, and baseball one year. His favorites are: movie stars, Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler; girl friend, Ethel Gammill; boy friend, James Eubanks; sport, baseball; teacher, Hodges; subject, general science; hobby, doing everything to keep from doing anything; ambition, to be a baseball player in the big leagues.

Once upon a time the master of the little red school house interrupted the industrious and ambitious devotees of words combined into a mass of pulp by continually pecking at the male sex of the 2nd year class. He imposed on the dignity of this good class by denouncing them before the whole school.

The Composition

I must write a composition.
I don't know what it's about;
But I've a supposition
That I must get it out.

But I guess it'll wait,
All the others do
This hard work I hate,
When for it I get so few.

On one, only a week ago,
I labored like a bee;
When I got it out to show
I had on it a "D".

Junior Personalities

EDNA GAMMILL—Just another one of those runabout juniors. She was introduced to Devol, Okla., on Nov. 16, 1919. She entered Rocky Ford grade school while only a doll, but yet at the age of five. Here she completed the eighth grade, at the age of thirteen. Her first year at high school was spent at Temple, Okla. But later she found Devol to be more interesting. She has had one year of Glee club. Her part of basket ball she gave to Kathleen Odom. Her favorites: sport, horse back riding; song, "Alone"; movie stars, Kent Taylor and Priscilla Ellis; girl friend, Babe Frye and Viola Mae Wright; boy friend, Bubber. Description, five feet one and one half, dark eyes, black hair, weight 120 pounds.

EVA LA RUE FRYE—One of those runabout juniors. She smiled upon this old world about Jan. 10, sometime in the twentieth century. Her school career at Devol began at the age of six years. After an interrupted time spent in school at Grandfield, she came back to Devol. She enrolled in high school at De but has now out grown the green "fresh" stage. She has had two years of basket ball and three years Glee club. A member of the high school paper for two years, and is the Junior class reporter, and secretary. Favorite sport, skating; song, "Music Goes, etc"; mood, blue; actors, George Brent and Ginger Rogers; girl friends Edna Gammill, Viola Mae Wright, Maxine and Kathleen Odom and Thelma Mays; boy friend ???; description, five feet two, and one half inch, with several beautiful freckles scattered across her

Juniors Attempt Assembly Again

Because of the quarantine placed over the Devol school, Wed., Feb. 12, 1936, all activities were stopped. But the Juniors are planning another program for this Thursday. They hope to have better luck this time.

Debaters Are Satisfied

Although the debaters did not win as many debates as they could have, they had a successful trip. The experience was very good for them. All the debaters at the tournament were guests of Southwestern A-1 wrestling matches between O. U. and Southwestern, and besides this, they attended several good debates of the A class schools. They plan to enter several tournaments.

THE GREATEST TRIBUTE

... a man can say about a fellow man is this: "His goal was justice, he tried sincerely, he was true to the faith of those who believed in him." And who is there to deny that the memory of George Washington is the memory of a man who did just that? We who live in a great nation where liberty and democracy are taken for granted must not forget the sublime courage of this man who was responsible, more than any other, for its birth. The Father of our Country was born 204 years ago, a day which is now almost sacred in the hearts of American citizens... a day which we now duly and reverently commemorate.

Lucky Gamble Sets Colman On Love Trail

"Lucky at cards, unlucky in love."

This adage is subjected to a conclusive test by Ronald Colman, as the suave, debonair prince who gambles at cards and love, in 20th Century's romantic comedy, "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," which comes to the Palace theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

Set in the gay capitals of Europe and teeming with the brilliancy and color of the continental smart set, the picture has Joan Bennett in the female lead.

Colman enacts the role of a penniless Russian prince who uses the savings of a number of expatriate friends to run a handful of francs into ten million in the Sporting Club at Monte Carlo.

Miss Bennett has the role of the girl hired by the gambling syndicate to lure Colman back to Monte Carlo for another session at the tables. She falls in love with the man she is paid to deceive.

She leads Colman on a trail of romance, moonlight and kisses that ends right back in Monte Carlo, while she remorsefully prays that he will win again. A series of surprising episodes brings a happy ending to the difficulties in which the young lovers find themselves.

SCIENCE MAKES ADVANCES IN FIGHTING RURAL SCHOOL CHILDRENS EYE STRAIN

Defective vision is so much more prevalent in the country districts than in cities that modern science arose to the problem by rubbing its own magic Aladdin's lamp and producing a mantle kerosene lamp virtually as efficient as sunlight. Research was concentrated on utilization of kerosene because it is the principal lighting fuel in country districts. Mary Smith shows one of the newest scientific models in contrast with an ancient example at the national lamp show in Chicago.

CHICAGO—Rural communities are sharing the advantages of modern science with the big cities, and the latest development along scientific lines for country residents is in the direction of better home lighting. The big strides in rural lamp development were eloquently demonstrated at the recent national lamp show here.

Defective vision among school children in the rural areas is about four to one for city children it is shown by an extensive investigation made by the New York state health department. The eyes of some 500,000 school children were tested by the department.

Federal government figures show that only about 13 per cent of rural homes are wired for electricity and the balance of the approximately 5,600,000 country dwellings are dependent on other forms of lighting, principally kerosene lamps.

Modern science responded to the defective vision problem indicated by the above data by rubbing its own magic Aladdin's lamp and

Big Rabbit Creek

February 16, 1936.

It seems as though we south folks just can't escape the snow any more at all. Hawk arose this morning and was surprised to find the ground covered with snow at 5:45, and it was snowing. At this writing, 1:45 p. m., the sun is shining brightly and the snow is melting fast. Even as we people think it is we should thank our maker we are not living in the north and western states where it's 38 to 54 below zero. Hawk wouldn't last long enough up to get one long breath.

The writer believes if it were pitch forks and saw logs handles it wouldn't have any effect on the people going to their town, Burkburnett on Saturday, as cold as it was, were thousands on the streets in all business places, even to candy and peanut vendors, and merchants reported a good business. Hawk Eye dropped in Hen (little Henry's) and Hendricks to purchase a few groceries and he to wait over 30 minutes before he could be waited on by any of the clerks, as they were busy waiting on customers.

It seems no matter how cold the night gets, the old stork will make his dates at the proper time and he never lets the Big Rabbit Creek neighborhood as he called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Griffin last night last week and left a big fine bouncing baby. At writing the writer is unable to say if it were a boy or a girl, how, both mother and baby doing just fine and Charlie has a smile on his face a yard long.

One of Wichita county's best hog and cattle buyers, Captain Guy and his running mate, Jess, were down at the mouth of Rabbit Creek Saturday buying hogs. The Wichita Packing Co. at Cotton Falls has employed the company to buy butchering cattle and believe me they hit the nail on the head when they got the Captain as their buyer. He is well known all over Cotton county, Okla., and lots of old nesters hold our cattle hogs we intend to sell until we can make his rounds and make a profit on them, as he always pays the highest market price. He buys the farmer has to sell from him up.

John Ashton was on the busy streets of Burkburnett Saturday morning meeting business and shaking hands with his many friends.

Martha Nails and Tobe Hardin motored down late Saturday afternoon to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Griffin and visited a few hours with the family and to show their new arrival and how they were getting along.

Mrs. D. L. Alexander and her little daughter over to Burkburnett Clinic last Tuesday morning to have a minor operation performed. Her tonsils and adenoids were removed. Dr. Carter performed the operation and is writing the little girl is doing just fine.

Tobe Hardin and Mrs. Martha Nails motored down to the Owens' Saturday at noon before they over to Burkburnett for the grades day. They came to see Mrs. Owens and her brother-in-law, John were getting along. They found them up and around, but that was about all, as they have been very sick with the pneumonia and came near having pneumonia.

A number of Randlett people were over in Burkburnett Saturday shopping and transacting business. The following names are a few of those on the streets:

Col. Penwell, K. D. Vaden, J. A. Alexander and wife, R. W. Brown, O. T. Wilson, J. A. Jackson, Captain Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hooper, and Orbon Alexander.

The writer has been informed that a Mr. Delbeck who some time past bought Jess Kinnard's store on the corner, as yet hasn't stocked his store up, but in the next few days it will be stocked up and will be opened for business.

The Lynskie brothers, Will and Si, were on the busy streets of Burkburnett Saturday for the trades day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Elkins were shopping in Burkburnett Saturday. They also attended the big trades day.

yours truly,
HAWK EYE.

Extreme Cold Delays Tree Planting Here

The extreme cold delayed the tree planting program in the Burkburnett vicinity early this week, and will hold up the attempts until moderation can make it possible to secure the workers for the project. The boys under the direction of the NYA started the planting near the River last week, and 16 reported for the work.

Mr. Knauth, county commissioner, secured the permission to use the youth workers in this district for the tree planting. Approximately 7,000 trees have been allotted for the entire area. At the cemetery trees have been allotted for the replanting necessary on the roads. The trees were set out last winter, but the dry spell killed several.

The chamber of commerce trees were brought to Burkburnett over the weekend and they will be sold to the private home owners and others as soon as possible.

Grade School Asks For Old Magazines

The list of desirable magazines includes Etude, National Geographic, American Boy, American Girl, Open Road, and many other magazines that can be used by the reading department of the school.

If any person has magazines which they have read, please Lee Clifton at the grade school, 155, and the principal will make arrangements to collect the papers. Or if possible, send the magazines to the school library.

37 Texas Municipal Light Plants Can't Be Wrong

In a portion of the Congressional Record for Jan. 3, 1936, a record which must be correct in details, Representative W. D. McFarlane says:

"It should be very gratifying to the 37 cities in Texas owning their own municipal light plants that each and every one has been operating its plant year after year at handsome profit, many of them against keen competition from the private companies, and none of them operating at a loss."

He then quotes figures showing net profits of municipal light plants, figures which offer conclusive proof that such projects are sound business undertakings for a community.

Your better judgment tells you to join the march of progressive business by patronizing home industry.

center, led the scoring in the last period by a series of quick field goals that gave the Bulldogs a winning margin. Hays made 12 points to lead the scoring for the game. Snow made seven of Valley View's points.

Rough Contest
The Iowa Park-Fairview game was the roughest of the meet with six men fouled out during the game. Iowa Park started out with a three-point lead in the first quarter. The two teams had developed an intense pre-tournament rivalry, and numerous fouls made frequent substitution necessary throughout the game. After the first few moments Fairview went into the lead for the rest of the game. In the last four minutes the Hawks staged an intense rally, that added nine points to their score, but they were unable to catch the Bears. Fairview scored seven points and Iowa Park 11 via free tosses. O'Guinn led the scoring with 18 points, and Wigley of Iowa Park scored seven free tosses to lead the Hawks.

COUNTY VOTES—

In case the election is called much more vigorous campaign expected in this precinct. Only per cent of the qualified voters ballots Saturday. If the proportion is submitted locally a higher ratio of votes and active campaign is expected. The vote was announced quickly the county dry forces not have sufficient time to get its organization into an effective unit. With a longer notice precinct is expected to give an area some real fireworks on next election.
