A LUCKY NATION

A striking fact of the tumultuous war years through which we have just lived, a fact which no one can truthfully deny, is that the people of the United States wanted for nothing. There are two causes of "house sweating," which has resulted in much damage to walls and furnishings in homes where proper protection against this dampness has not been provided.

Nonvented heating is one of the causes of "house sweating," because absence of a vent on a heater allows moisture, which is a product of all combustion, to remain inside the home. Another cause of condensation is inadequate heating. Inadequate heating leaves corners, walls, and furnishings cold, and when warm air comes in contact with these cold surfaces, "house sweating" takes place. The damaging effects of "house sweating" are the deterioration and rotting of walls, floors, draperies,

HERE'S YOUR PROTECTION

VENTED heating equipment carries the excess moisture to the outside air by means of flues, and eliminates a large amount of the dampness in the house.

ADEQUATE heating equipment warms all surfaces and areas evenly so that the remaining normal dampness has no opportunity to condense.

YOUR FAMILY'S HEALTH ASSURED WITH AUTOMATIC HEAT

Winter colds are at a minimum when you use AUTOMATIC gas heating equipment. A small, inexpensive thermostat takes complete charge of temperature control, and eliminates the danger of sudden changes in temperature, protecting the health of your family 24 hours a day.

A combination of the above three gives you ALL of the benefits of modern natural gas at its best.

Any homeowner can afford AVA Gas Heating. Buy your equipment from any one of many reputable dealers. It can be easily installed in your home-perhaps in your closet, attic, floor, or adjoining garage. BUT when you buy, make sure of complete satisfaction by insisting that it be ADEQUATE VENTED . . . and AUTO-MATIC.

Pathetic Monuments.

Up Fifth avenue there are hundreds of these pathetic monuments to man's idea that brownstone walls and plate glass windows, tiles and brocades, boiserie from Paris and rugs from the Orient, will somehow miraculously turn themselves into a home, some day. The real building of a home must be done with elements that these people never possess and never can buy. Love, to begin with, and dependence upon each other, service, children, work and laughter. If by any lucky chance you are a woman who has these things, then the best thing you can do-out of a whole world of service-is to incorporate them into a home. Harriet, who writes me from a mid-west town, has a home, and just to read of it makes one feel what real riches are.

"Having the seven children always about-and their friends also, who number seven times seven," she says, in a letter inviting me to visit her, "I can't promise quiet or order -not always. For my daughters are friendly creatures, and the five boys are all over the place-porch roofs and rain barrels and ladders are their natural perching places. But we do have all the things you write about; a lunch table out in the side yard; a game room where their possessions are never disturbed; a specoats and hats and put books and pencils in special pigeonholes. TRUE WEALTH

Big fine houses of themselves can't bring happiness. It's the people in them that make the difference. There are plenty of mansions around the world. built by lonely rich people who hoped to get some real joy out of them. Too late they discovered that huge empty rooms are a mockery.

It takes children and their friends, and cousins and uncles and aunts, and lots of acquaintances to put life into a house. They make noise and they wear out the furniture, and they cost a lot to feed, but they bring human warmth and gayety. They make a "house into a home."

Today's letter is from a mother of seven children. They haven't much, as possessions go-just a small house, not big enough for the five boys and two girls and their lively friends-but they have the secret of happiness.

THE CHRISTIAN AND HIS ECONOMIC RELATIONS

LESSON TEXT: Deut. 8:17, 18; Luke GOLDEN TEXT: A mag's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.-Lui- 12:15.

Peace and the postwar period find America, and in fact the entire world, plunged into tremer dous economic problems far too deep for any man or group of men to solve. We honor those who are laboring day and night to meet the threat of unemployment, the question of reconversion and readjustment to civilian production, of feeding a hungry world, etc. But we say again, they cannot find the answers in the wisdom of men; they must have the wisdom of God.

We need to turn anew to the economic principles taught in God's Word. If men will only recognize them, and deal with their fellowmen in the light of their teaching, ly find solution.

There is need, first of all, of a fundamental philosophy concerning possessions which will make man deal properly with them. The first section of our lesson says to us:

1. Think Right About Wealth (Deut. 8:17, 18).

How trenchant and altogether fitting are the words of Scripture! Nothing could describe our times more succinctly and accurately than verse 17. Men are glorying in their ability to do things.

Man has even gone so far as to develop a weapon of warfare, the atomic bomb, so powerful that he fears it might be used to wipe out all civilization. Even secular leaders are now saying that we must have a spiringal rebirth if we are to use such things for good and not for evil. Man needs God now more than

We honor those who by skillful hand and brilliant brain produce excellent and thrilling results. But our question is, How many are there who say, God has done this thing; He gave the strength and the skill; His is the honor? Some there are who thus recognize Him, but they are few indeed. Their name is legion who say in their heart, "My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth" (v. 17).

Joseph Parker points out that a deep conviction of the fact stated in verse 18 "would turn human history into a sacrament." He says, "What a blow this text strikes at one of the most popular and mischievous and never was lived in-not for a build as many traditions as we can fallacies in common life; namely. moment. II. Act Right About Wealth (Luke

PEARL HARBOR: Code Secrets

As the Pearl Harbor investigation got underway at Washington, D. C., before a joint 10-man congressional committee, intercepted messages placed in the records dis-closed that U. S. intelligence officers had cracked the secret Japanese code a year before the start of

While the early intercepted messages dealt with ship movements, chief interest centered in the diplomatic documents dating from July 2. 1941, when Tokyo told Berlin that Japan would work for its "greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere" regardless of the world situation.

On November 22, Tokyo advised Nomura and Kurusu, Jap envoys negotiating in Washington with Secretary of State Hull, that it had been decided to set November 29 as the final date for effecting an agreement, after which things would 'automatically . . . happen" in case of failure. Then on November 26, Nomura told Tokyo of Hull's ultimatum and the improbability of reaching a settlement.

On November 30, Tokyo informed Berlin of the imminence of war with the U.S. and later relayed the same message to Rome. Meanwhile Tokyo warned its consulates on December 3 to be on guard for the "winds" messages in short wave radio broadcasts indicating rupture of relations with the Allies. The "east wind, rain" message (meaning war on December 5.

Among the last messages decoded were Tokyo's reply to Hull's ultimatum on December 6, with final instructions for presentation to the U. S. at 1 p. m. the following day coming in on the morning of December 7. Dated December 7, a Jap message from Budapest, Hungary, to Tokyo stated that the American minister to that country had presented its government with a communique from the British that a state of war would break out on the Pressing importance of the issue was emphasized by continued Arab and Jewish riots in the Near East, with scores killed and wounded in widespread demonstrations over the question of making Palestine a national homeland for the Hebrews.

Because they have been banded into a league 33 million strong spread over the entire Near East, with control over rich oil deposits cherished by U. Taking the Arab objections into consideration, the joint U.S. and British commission will look into the question of whether heavy immigration would upset the Arabs' political and economic position in Palestine. United Gas Pipeline Company Inviting Industry to Texas Aiming to stimulate industrialization in the Gulf South, United Gas Pipe Line Company is devoting its national advertising to a direct invitation to American industry to locate in this region.

The new series of direct-appeal advertisements urge industrialists to investigate the industrial opportunities of the Gulf South for post-war expansion.

United Gas has been carrying on this advertising program since 1939 in National publications tiotaling more than a million and a half circulation.

During the war years, however, the company turned from industrial development advertising to stimulating war production in the Gulf South, on behalf of the national war effort. For nearly four years, the advertisements, running monthly, told of the vast resources and facilities of the Gulf South dedicated to war and the story of Gulf South workmen serving their country on the home front.

Katy's 75 years are packed with pioneer-Bina stirring saga of iron men blazing an iron trail to new frontier. This year the Katy celebrates the Diamond Anniversary of that day 75 years ago when two flimsy rails hist pushed their way from the north into Indian Territory and the great Southwest:

out for both the Katy and the Southwest there is more Ploneering ahead than behind. A greater destiny is still o come : 1: greater cities lifting monuments of steel and Mone to the skies . . . greater industries pouring forth the 800ds of peace . . . a greater people, loyal to Southwestern radition, carrying the glory of "God's Country" to greater Il these served by a great railroad : 1: the Katy of the "ture! Today the Southwest's "Home Town Railroad" is leared to project its 75 years of pioneering into a train of even more prosperous Tomorrows::: a completely modernized transportation system with all equipment in apple-pie order:::ultra-modern streamlined passenger trains and diesel freight locomotives soon to come ::: hundreds of new automobile, hopper and freight cars now building, and a young, vigorous, experienced personnel, from top executives to call boys, with the pioneering urge strong in their veins, eager to make the future of both road and region greater than the past.

Yes, big things are "cookin! " on the Katy : : bigger than have ever come out of the past : 1 ; a new and greater Southwest served by a new and finer Katy.

When you ship or travel to or from the Southwest, remember Katy:

IT'S SURPRISING-how War Bonds grow in value each year. If held until maturity they carn 331/2 per cent and they have a yearly added value. The chart tells its own story for a $100 Series E Bond. The scale to the left shows how a $1,000 Series E Bond grows. The chart shows that the increase in value is greatest in the later years of the bond's life. Note how the rate of interest goes up in the second three years of the bond's life. Study the increase in the $1,000 bond. Holders of bonds the last few years, considering the above, would literally be throwing mone; away to cash them prior to maturity. The New York Stock Exchange in the more than 150 years of its existence has never recommended other bonds than those of the
