ARE PROFITS SINFUL?

Writing in U. S. News and World Report, David Lawrence said: "Judging by some of the statements recently broadcast by labor-union spokesmen . . . corporation profits are somehow an evidence of personal greed or illegitimate gain."

Mr. Lawrence briefly defined what profits are and what they do, and continued: "To assail profits as sinful, or tainted with some sort of wrongdoing, is to undermine the jobs of every American workingman and the future jobs of their children."

"For jobs are created by enterprising individuals who put in their own money, or borrow the savings of others, to create new enterprises."

"If profits are destroyed—as in the case under communism, facism, or state socialism—then government takes charge of labor unions, too. Liberty disappears all around."

Another fact we tend to overlook is that profits are what keep government itself going. Much of its huge revenues comes from taxing the money business left after paying wages, material costs, and the other expenses. And, with most corporations, the money paid out in taxes is far greater than the money paid out to the shareholders who make the existence of the business possible.

Profits are essential to a free nation.

A BETTER PLACE TO SHOP

It is axiomatic that a successful retailer, small or large, chain or independent, must devote much of his time to thinking about his customers—about what Mr. and Mrs. America like and don't like, what they will buy and won't buy. The consumer, after all, is king—he can make or break any store by giving or denying his patronage.

Of late, a great many retailers have been giving increasing attention to ways and means of making their stores more attractive to the customers. This work is taking two forms. One is to get certain facts better known, and to offset such widely held misconceptions that retail prices are unnecessarily high and that retail profits are exorbitant.

The second phase of the work lies in recognizing the fact that the importance of employees to the success of every retail enterprise cannot be over-stated. The employees are the people who come in direct personal contact with the customers—and a rude, inefficient, or indifferent employe can drive armies of people right out the doors and down the street to another store. Moreover, employees are customers too, and they are members of all kinds of far-reaching, influential social groups.

In many cases, store managements have awakened with a start to the unhappy fact that their employes are doing a poor job. In some cases, that is the fault of the employe himself—he may just be unfitted to retail duties. In other cases, it is the fault of management, which has failed to train and educate him properly. Today retailers throughout the country are concentrating on correcting this condition—in the interest of attracting consumers, and making their stores pleasanter places to shop in.

Junior Boys and Girls of ME Church Meet Wednesdays

The Junior boys and girls of the Methodist Church School are meeting each Wednesday evening at seven o'clock in the basement of the church for additional sessions to study their church at work in different countries. This is under the work of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, with Mrs. Jim Pirtle as counselor. She is assisted by Mrs. O. E. Melton and the two ladies are trying to give the boys and girls a real interest in missions and in the work of the Kingdom of God.

As they study each country, their plays and their refreshments will carry out the traditions and religious customs of each particular country. This will be most interesting and inspirational and the leaders need all the Junior boys and girls to make it a success and feel that the young folks need the training. This will enable the young folks to receive the same training that you parents received in your Epworth League days.

The organizational meeting was held last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock with 9 present. Latin America will be the country studied in the month of August.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

On a once-in-a-lifetime occasion like this, you certainly want to have some good pictures. Insure those special shots by taking several.

Be Sure of That Special Picture

WE ALL know that, generally speaking, insurance is a very good thing. And, speaking more specifically, in terms of our own picture taking, it's still a very good thing—especially when it comes to the once-in-a-lifetime snapshot situation.

You can insure having a satisfactory picture to help you remember the special time, place, event, or person by the simple means of taking not just one shot, but making several. It may mean that you have a whole series of good pictures, and that is fine; but, at least, you're sure to have one that's really satisfactory.

It's well worth the time and film it takes to avoid that disappointment that comes when you find that the picture you want so much to be good doesn't come up to your expectations. And you are an unusual snapshotter indeed if this has never happened to you.

That's very important, shoot it more than once. Try it from this angle and that. If you've any doubt about speed or exposure, don't be afraid to experiment a little with camera settings.

Take your cue from the professional photographers. Don't think that this business of making several shots of the same subject is a sign of amateurish uncertainty. It isn't. The professionals seldom operate without the type of insurance I've been telling you about. They learned a long time ago that it is far better to use up a little extra film and time and be certain that the customer will have a satisfactory picture. If you were paying to have a picture made, you'd expect that insurance. So, when you are both the photographer and the customer, why be satisfied with less? Insure your special snapshots! Take more than one.

County Agent Gives Cotton Insect Situation

The following information released by J. W. Bradley, County Agent of Wichita County, and George Davis, Extension Entomologist.

The fine rains of the last week have given us the much needed moisture to keep our cotton growing and fruiting vigorously for awhile. While the cotton is doing so well, we want to set as much fruit as possible and as soon as possible, in order to get full benefit from this moisture. If the insects are kept below a damaging infestation level, this heavy quick loading will take place.

There are three insects that we should be especially concerned with at this time. They are the fleahoppers, bollworms, and boll weevils. Fleahoppers knock off the very young squares while bollworms and boll weevils work primarily on the larger squares and bolls.

Probably the fleahopper will do the most damage for the next two or three weeks. They are already pretty well established in many fields, and should certainly increase under present weather conditions. This insect is especially destructive because it damages the small squares about the size of a pinhead and they cannot be seen when they fall to the ground. Careful field inspections for the insect itself is the only way to keep up this pest.

Bollworms are moving into the fields somewhat at the present time, but we hope the beneficial insects can control them without chemical aid. This is the critical time for bollworms, as they have moved into the fields about three weeks earlier than usual, because so much of the feed and corn has burned up. If the friendly insects can take care of the present threat, they will continue to protect your fields, but if we have to poison now to knock them out, we also destroy our beneficial insects, and usually have to follow up with more applications of poison. As long as there is a chance of the beneficial insects taking care of the bollworms without too much damage, let them do it. Insect infestation counts in each field will indicate which is winning the battle, the friendly insects or the destructive.

Boll weevils are rather heavily infesting many fields at the present time, while others have very few in them. Weather conditions have been ideal for weevil buildup lately and considerable damage is expected before the season is over, if they are not properly controlled. Control measures should begin when 25 per cent of the green squares are punctured with three or four applications of a weevil poison, applied at five day intervals.

For materials to use and the rate of application for the various insects, consult your Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects in Texas for 1952. Demonstrations on how to take these insect infestation counts are being held each week. Visit the one nearest you for detailed information on keeping up with our insect pests and ask any questions you might have.

Despite zooming general living expenses, the cost of liquefied petroleum gas has remained relatively stable, "spot survey" by LP-Gas Information Service, Chicago, among nation's dealers reveals. In contrast to an average rise of 63% in all items contained in U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics cost of living index, LP-Gas rates increased only 7% in ten-year period ending April 15, 1952. Also known as butane, propane, bottled and tank gas, the fuel is used principally in farm, small town and suburban areas.

Here's One Bright Ray in Living Cost Spiral—LP-Gas Prices up Only 7%

CHICAGO—In the face of skyrocketing living expenses in practically all major categories, the cost of liquefied petroleum gas, used principally in rural, small town and suburban areas, has advanced only 7% since 1942.

This was revealed by the LP-Gas Information Service, Chicago, following a nation-wide "spot survey" among leading marketers of the fuel.

In the same ten-year period (April 15, 1942, to April 15, 1952), the average of all items included in the cost of living index released by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics climbed 63%. Food prices registered the sharpest gain with a 92.3% rise. Other increases were as follows: house-furnishings—69%; apparel—60.2%; miscellaneous—54.6%; fuel, electricity and refrigeration—39.3%, and rent—28.6%.

Industry leaders attribute the stability of LP-Gas rates in contrast to the general rise in living costs to several factors. Among these are: (1) The tremendous growth in public acceptance and use of the fuel with resulting distribution economies; (2) the sharp increase in number of LP-Gas bulk plants throughout the country and consequent reduction in the area served by each; (3) the "incentive" rates offered to customers by most dealers to stimulate the use of new appliances, and (4) various technical and service advances contributing to greater efficiency and economy. Currently rated by many authorities as the nation's fastest growing industry next to television, the LP-Gas business has registered its greatest advance since World War II. Total gas marketed has nearly quadrupled, spurring from 4,528,230,960 pounds in 1945 to an estimated 17,384,000,000 pounds last year. Approximately two-thirds of the 1951 output went for household and farm use. The balance was consumed for industrial, chemical and miscellaneous purposes.

Striking evidence of the industry's rapid growth was given in a recent consumer survey by the LP-Gas Information Service which revealed that two-thirds of the families who now have LP-Gas ranges have been cooking with the fuel less than eight years.

The range is the No. 1 appliance in the millions of homes all across the nation equipped for LP-Gas service. Other domestic uses of the fuel are water heating, refrigeration, clothes drying, incineration and air conditioning. There are also hundreds of agricultural, commercial, industrial and transportation applications.

LP-Gas, the lusty "baby" of the petroleum family, is also known as butane, propane, bottled and tank gas. It is extracted at natural gasoline plants and refineries, compressed into liquid form for ease and economy of transportation and shipped in pressure vessels by rail, highway and water. Sizable quantities are also transmitted from producing centers by pipeline.

Uncle Sam's New Tax Bite

Increases in the Federal automotive excise taxes — now costing motorists around one billion four hundred million yearly—are scheduled as part of the new tax program to finance the expanded military program. To this total the Treasury Department proposes to add an extra "bite" of about $1,265,000,000.
 During the past war, the American Automobile Association, recognizing the need for revenues to offset the tremendous outlays for armaments, temporarily withdrew its opposition to the Federal levies, but strongly renewed its objections in the postwar period.
 Now that defense expenditures are again skyrocketing, it appears inevitable that motorists will have to continue to pay the Federal automobile levies, including the 1 1-2 cent gasoline tax for an indefinite period. But in view of the heavy burden imposed by existing rates, motorists have every reason to object strenuously to any increases—at least until the Government's non-defense expenditures have been cut to the bone.

575,000 4-H'ers Get Training to Cut Farm Accident Toll

Form safety surveys made by 4-H'ers show that matches within reach of small children and stairways littered with toys, jars and other articles were much in evidence as fire and accident hazards in rural homes.

Chicago—(Special)—More than 575,000 4-H Club boys and girls throughout the nation are receiving training in farm accident and fire prevention this year. The outstanding feature of this training in the National 4-H Farm and Home Safety program is to check and remove from farms and homes any conditions likely to cause fire, accidents or injuries. These 4-H surveys are acclaimed a valuable contribution to the nation-wide campaign to reduce the annual toll of 15,000 farm people dying and 1,300,000 being injured as a result of rural accidents each year.

Here is a report, made by a 4-H girl on behalf of her local club, after making a safety survey of every home in the community:

"In all homes having stairways that we visited, the stairs were full of toys, jars, tools and other articles," she stated. "In many homes people used kerosene to build fires. They also had oily cloths and papers stored close to the stove and flue. Matches and unlabeled bottles of poisonous liquids were within reach of small children. "On several farms visited, boards with rusty nails pointing upward were much in evidence. In our local schoolhouse, the ceiling plaster in the classroom was loose. If it fell it would cause severe injuries to the pupils.

"After we had made our survey, we called a community meeting. Attention was called to the hazards we had found. Immediately following the meeting everyone present began work necessary to make our community a safe one. Every hazard we had found was corrected."

Medals of honor are presented to five county winners having the best 4-H records in safety work, and a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago is awarded to the State champion. Eight of the latter will be selected as national winners, who will each receive a $300 college scholarship. Awards are provided by General Motors for the eighth consecutive year. The program is conducted under the direction of the Co-operative Extension Service.

Only 37 More Days to Have Your Cars Inspected

You have only 37 more days to have your car inspected and get the inspection stamp placed on the windshield. H. H. Eads, with the Inspection Department, was in Burkburnett Wednesday and asked the Star to please plead with motorists to have their cars inspected NOW.

A check-up shows that only one third of the cars registered in Burkburnett have been inspected. With only two inspection stations in Burkburnett, Miller and Tatum and Casey Logan K-F Motors, they will be snowed under from now until September 6th, deadline for having cars inspected.

Possibly some thing the inspection law will be repealed before September 6th. That is very improbable. The only way the law could be repealed is for the Legislature to be called into a special session. According to Governor Shivers, a special session is not likely. So, the only thing to do is to have the old buggy inspected as soon as possible.

Cars without the inspection stamp after September 6th will have to be put up until they are inspected. There is a very stiff penalty for driving an un-inspected car after September 6th. GET BUSY! HAVE YOUR CAR INSPECTED.

Eva Hash Reports Earthquake Felt In Artesia, N. M.
 A letter addressed to the Burkburnett Star from Eva Hash reports the tremor of the recent earthquake was felt in Artesia, New Mexico, where she makes her home.
 Mrs. Hash says she was staying with her daughter's children at the time and was alone with them in the house when she was awakened by a popping and cracking noise and then the bed rocked as if it were a cradle. When she could walk she went immediately to the children's room and was relieved to find they were all well.
 There was no great damage done in Artesia, but everyone suffered from shock. Mrs. Hash reports she was never so helpless and was extremely glad when it was over.

ELECTRICITY
 at your fingertips...
 Each year we trim trees along our power lines...
 purpose in tree-trimming: to eliminate the No. 1 cause of electrical outages, so we can keep electricity at your fingertips night and day.
 When wind, storm, snow and ice, your electricity sometimes goes off because of tree limbs falling across power lines.
 When our tree-trimming crew comes around, remember that they're trained to do a neat job of tree-trimming... and that their work is for your safety, to keep electricity at your fingertips.

Elliott's Return From 15 Day Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Elliott have returned to their home after spending a delightful 15 days on a vacation trip. They went to Carlsbad, N. M., and from there to the colorful sights of Old Mexico in the town called Tijuana at the tip of California and then to Fresno where they visited with Mr. Elliott's brothers who reside there. They enjoyed the wonderful Yosemite National Park and journeyed back through Las Vegas, Nevada and then on home. They especially enjoyed the deep sea fishing off the coast of California and thrilled to see the snow in the areas there where the temperatures had soared to 107 degrees the day before their arrival. They reported to have had wonderful traveling weather and having had a wonderful time everywhere they stopped.

Joseph Cotten and Shelley Winters, shown star billing with Scott Brady in Universal-Int Technicolor UNTAMED FRONTIER, an epic from the frontier wars waged between land homesteaders. UNTAMED FRONTIER was Hugo Fregonese and produced by Leonard G. AT THE PALACE THEATRE SUNDAY.

The achievements that adorn human progress are not the rewards of those who did not plan.
