How all of the ornate furnishings had been restored and arranged in all of its early splendor, the Weatherford, Texas brick depot, which has been developed into a museum. Also Fort Worth has a children's museum from an old railroad car.

Dr. T. W. Williams, president of the Haskell County Historical Association, told the club about the county's Railroad Museum. Dr. Williams gave a concise report on all that has been done by the association, which included the expenditures and all that needed to be done in the future. He emphasized that any contribution, money or articles of interest would surely be appreciated. Though the beginning has been a humble one, he voiced the idea that the future generations would enjoy and appreciate it more than some of us today. Haskell County has a rich heritage, as much so as any other West Texas county. We all need to help in any way possible to make our museum outstanding. In conclusion, Dr. Williams invited the club to tour the museum.

The club sponsored a tree-planting for the museum grounds under the supervision of Mrs. J. H. Strain.

Junior Garden Club Members "Go On Tour"

Mrs. Emmet Wyche met with the Haskell Junior Garden Club at 4:00 p. m. Friday, April 5, to go on their yearly pilgrimage.

The young ladies toured the Depot Museum first, where they shared their refreshments with Wayne Dilbeck, caretaker. Mr. Dilbeck showed the girls many interesting things in the museum, and the old train bell seemed to fascinate them. They were also very much interested in the display of dresses and coats of the late 1800 and 1900 era.

After touring the museum, the girls viewed the grounds. They were especially interested in trees and shrubs, as last year they had presented a fruitless mulberry and pyracantha which were planted on the museum grounds.

Later the group toured Conner's Nursery. They became so engrossed in viewing the many beautiful plants in bloom they hated to return home.

Mrs. C. B. Rhea and Mrs. John L. Grand furnished transportation for the tour.

Hostesses Lee Ann Dodson and Deborah Young served refreshments to Denise Perry, Kathy Perrin, Charlotte Hamms, Judy Lehde, Kathy Pringle, Glenda Russell and Mesdames Wyche, Rhea, Grand, Cobb and Mr. Dilbeck.

Delta Kappa Gamma Meets In Aspermont

The Aspermont members of the Beta Chi chapter were hostesses for the April 6th meeting. Frazier's cafe was the scene of the meeting.

President, Mrs. H. T. Wilkinson, presided over a brief business session.

The last program dealing with a Critical Analysis of Values, was directed by Mrs. Vera Beil. What Price Glory? was given by a symposium. Moral Area and Political Area was given by Mrs. Esther Weaver. Her first statement was "What can we do to help the new generation and make them better citizens?" She proposed three key questions:

1. What basis is there for moral values?
2. How can values be realized?
3. What guides form basis for action?

Mrs. Weaver said that what was moral for man 2,000 years ago is moral for man today. Values are based on religious morality. There is good and evil in the world, man must seek the good life. Man must serve man in order to achieve the good life.

Mrs. Hazel Long took the topic on the Social Area. She brought out the idea that our world is in the throes of social changes. Some of which have been hard for us to accept. Some of the changes have been so rapid we have become confused in trying to adjust to them. The gap between parents and teenagers probably stem from these swift changes. We do not like to think of classes—Upper, Middle and Lower—but what's more they have an effect on the social values of children.

The Economic Area was discussed by Mrs. Marie Ward. Mrs. Ward gave some facts on this topic from her teaching field. She said many groups are deprived because of their economic surroundings. She has observed that often the very poor are more humble than the more fortunate groups. Also they seem to work harder to achieve higher goals. Some are pestered with the nagging question—When I finish school, will I be able to get a job?

All of these ideas and questions provided each teacher with much food for thought. Next meeting will be in Haskell, May 4th.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Farmers and ranchers who support the passage of the National Agricultural Bargaining Act (S 2573) or the Mondale Bill, either individually or through their producer organizations, had better take a closer look at the legislation. They may find they are getting something they didn't bargain for. There are two ways to organize farmers to obtain greater bargaining power—voluntary and involuntary. The source of power in any voluntary group is the membership, while the power source of an involuntary group comes from the outside from the enforcing authority. The only source of power that can be used to compel farmers to bargain together is the federal government, and this authority must come from an act of the Congress. The Congress, as well as the Executive Branch of our government, must be concerned with justice and equality for all citizens—not farmers alone. Since 94 per cent of the voters are consumers, not producers, the politicians will necessarily be more interested in low food prices to please voters than in high farm income.

Title I of the Mondale Bill authorizes a National Agricultural Relations Board composed of five members appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. When ever a group of producers of any commodity feels that prices for their commodity are less than fair and reasonable, they may petition the N.A.R. Board which will then conduct a referendum and election among all producers of the commodity to establish a "marketing committee" to represent producers. Purchasers of the commodity select a "purchasers committee" to represent purchasers.

The Board sets a meeting of the two committees for the purpose of collective bargaining, acting as referee during the bargaining with the power of the Federal Courts to compel action. Producers would be assessed the costs of operating the "marketing committee" (another check-off). Failure to comply with the agreements reached through the bargaining process would result in loss of eligibility for price supports, loans, purchases and any other payment to producers. (If compulsory bargaining is so beneficial to producers, why this threat of coercion?)

Title II further amends the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 in eight respects to provide federal marketing orders for all commodities except canned or frozen products through producer referendum. (A marketing agreement becomes a federal marketing order when the Secretary of Agriculture, following a referendum of producers, issues an order making container mandatory.) It also establishes the Secretary as the referee over the collective bargaining between producers and handlers on minimum prices and other conditions of sale, and authorizes the Secretary to establish producer allotments. (Here we find a back-door approach to the establishment of allotments on livestock and other farm commodities not now produced under allotment.)

Title III is similar to the marketing rights bill (S 109) which prevents buyers from discriminating against producers who join voluntary marketing and bargaining associations. (This is the proper role for government to play in marketing, and not to get involved in compulsory bargaining or in government managed marketing boards.)

Private Bagley Completes Eight Weeks Training

Marine Private John T. Bagley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benson H. Bagley, of Rule, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

CARD OF THANKS
We want to express our sincere appreciation to our friends for their words of consolation, the beautiful floral offerings, sympathy cards, food, donations to the heart fund, and the many other acts of kindness at the loss of our loved one, Matthew Woodson. May God bless each of you. The family of Matthew Woodson. 1tp

Pinkerton-Foster-Whitman Old Timers To Meet

It is nearing the time for the annual reunion of the Whitman, Pinkerton, Foster Communities, and all old timers in Haskell county are invited to attend and bring a basket dinner.

The reunion will be held in the American Legion Building, in Haskell, Saturday, April 27, at 5:00 p. m. Come, enjoy the fellowship, visiting old friends, meeting new ones and singing the songs we used to sing at the singing conventions.

"Probably some of you, or your parents, came to this country in a covered wagon. I remember in 1909 through 1911 seeing many covered wagons coming down the old Albany road southeast of Haskell. Sometimes I would see ten to twelve wagons a day. Some of the wagons had a sign written on the wagon bed. One read, 'West Texas or Bust.'"

"In the summer of 1911 and 1912 some of the wagons came through going back east. On the same wagon I had seen with the sign, 'West Texas or Bust.'"

"On another wagon in 1911 in the Westmoreland wagon yard, I saw this sign: 'Haskell and Jones have too much population. Stonewall and Knox are on starvation, me and my wife are going back East to some of her relations."

"Then came the wet fall of 1913, and a bumper crop in 1914. We saw very few covered wagons, and then came the era of the Model-T Ford."

"In 1913 people around old Post and Howard had a hard time getting to town. They would strip-down to two wheels and a stiff tongue. They used the back wheels on the front axle, so it would be higher. Then they put a big box on the front hounds. They hitched four mules to the wagon to go to town to do their Christmas shopping and get supplies. It took two days to reach town. The roads were so deep the wagon would sink. So there was no more driving west times in the west union!" H. H.

Cooper To Have Role Reflecting Views Of Texas Cotton Farmer

Texas' Producer delegates to the National Cotton Council elected J. B. Cooper, Jr., as chairman of the producer delegation and a representative to the National Cotton Council at a meeting in Dallas on April 1.

Cooper, who was recently elected to his third consecutive term as president of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. in Stamford, was nominated and supported in his candidacy by the newly organized Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations, (RPO) was one of the cotton producer groups instrumental in forming the new federation.

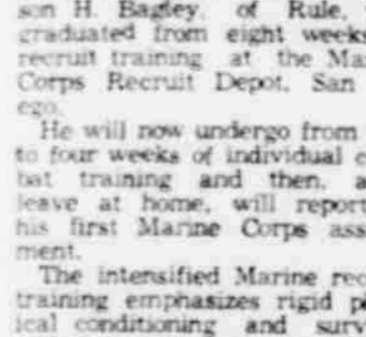

Mr. Cooper, in his capacity as State Chairman, will have a key role in reflecting the views of Texas cotton farmers in regional and statewide meetings, in coordinating the different views of the several cotton producing regions and in relaying information from other areas back to the delegates and organizations in Texas.

Charles G. Bragg, executive vice president of RPO, who also attended the meeting, stated that RPO is especially proud that President Cooper was elected to the position.

"The Chairman of this group," Bragg said, "will represent producers who grow 40 per cent of the nation's cotton. Mr. Cooper will be in a particularly strategic position to safeguard the interests of Rolling Plains and Texas farmers in legislation, research and promotion activities."

New Enlistment Opportunity Is Announced

A chance to enlist in the Regular Army for two years instead of the usual three-year "hitch" in part of a new enlistment opportunity announced today by Sgt. Don Hollister, the U. S. Army Recruiter in this area.

Expansion of the Regular Army enlistment program is designed to permit young men to choose a two-year enlistment in the Regular Army in order to satisfy their military obligation. In order to be eligible for the special enlistment program, applicants must be between 18 1/2 and 28 years old, registered with Selective Service, but have not yet received orders to report for induction. Applicants also must meet the required mental and physical standards, Sgt. Hollister said.

While three-year enlistees are permitted to have only one dependent, there is no restriction on the number of dependents a two-year volunteer may have. Young men interested in the

Stitching And Stewing

By Ruth Ann Fansler
County H. D. Agent

Most shoes are bought for comfort, protection, support and as a fashion accessory. The condition of shoes in the wardrobe, versatility of the styles considered, wardrobe plan and colors and amount of money available for shoe purchases must be considered.

tion of shoes is hidden, making it difficult to judge quality. The lining is visible and can be judged for quality. It should be smooth and free from wrinkles. The seam edges should be smooth and the stitching should be even with no loose threads.

The Federal Trade Commission now requires that all shoes be labeled to indicate whether materials used are man-made or natural. The information may be on the shoe itself or on a label pasted to some part of the shoe. The label is not necessarily a guide to quality, because grades of materials used do not have to be identified.

April, Cancer Control Month

April is Cancer Month in Texas. Governor John Connally signed the official proclamation in special ceremonies at the State Capitol recently. On hand for the occasion were the President of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society, Dr. Robert V. Walker of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pardee of Bryan. In his proclamation, Governor Connally called cancer one of the most urgent health problems faced by mankind. He noted that cancer will claim more than 15,000 Texans this year, but that 1,500,000 Americans are alive today, cured of cancer.

Governor Connally saluted the volunteers of the American Cancer Society for their work. He said the Society's programs are necessary for the final conquest of cancer.

Bryan resident, Jack Pardee, representing one of the 1,500,000 Americans who have been cured of cancer, was present for the signing.

tard and pepperweed. Early spring weeds such as cocklebur, ragweed and buffalo bur will also be controlled with the same application of 2,4-D. Grazing should be discontinued for 7 days for beef cattle ready for slaughter up to 60 days for dairy animals in milk, if livestock are now on pastures. Chemicals should be used in accordance with herbicide laws and with necessary safety precautions. Applications of chemicals should not be made if the wind velocity exceeds 10 miles per hour. Air temperature should be 70 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit for best results.

Early fertilization of most pasture grasses, especially Bermuda, assures a quick growth of high quality forage. Dryland pastures respond well to a first fertilization at this time of year. A mixture of 30 pounds nitrogen and 30 pounds phosphate per acre is recommended. Topdress during the grazing season with 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre after each grazing or when moisture is adequate.

Irrigated grasses require higher rates of fertilizer. A mixture of 40 pounds nitrogen and 60 pounds phosphate per acre is recommended for first application. Top dress with 30 pounds nitrogen per acre two to three times annually during the growing season. Bermudagrass should be top dressed every 3 to 5 weeks during the grazing season.

Livestock should be removed from pastures for fertilization, irrigation and drying out. Most pasture grasses will need to be in the early booting stage before grazing is started. This is normally about 8 inches of height for Bermuda to 18 inches for Blue panic and switchgrass. Some type of light cultivation is desirable now. Harrowing is recommended to distribute manure and aid in controlling parasites. Mowing to even up grass improves appearance, but does not necessarily improve quality of forage. Burning off of dead residues should never be done. It does not speed up greening, it retards early growth, Yeary said.

Prolonging the life of the desirable forage species, the maintenance or improvement of the quantity and quality of forage produced, the soil protection furnished, and the reduction of water losses are the primary purposes of carrying out a sound pasture management program, Yeary concluded.

HASKELL COUNTY HISTORY

30 YEARS AGO
(April 12, 1938)

Haskell Schools were dismissed last Friday at noon, due to the severe weather handicap preventing attendance of a majority of pupils. Buses serving the local schools were unable to serve their full schedule Thursday and Friday because of the hazardous conditions of roads in the rural districts.

Estimates of the damage to grain and other crops in Haskell county from the most severe April blizzard in history, present a wide variance in opinion among farmers with estimates ranging from 50 per cent to as low as 10 per cent. Consensus of opinion, however, would fix the estimated damage to grain at approximately 25 per cent, and all are agreed that the loss will not be as great as was first feared. Severity and lateness of the blizzard exceed any within the memory of oldest settlers. A total of six inches of snow was recorded within the two days, resulting in 11 inch of moisture.

Snow drifting into the large siren atop the city hall and fire station during the snowstorm Wednesday night rendered the alarm useless and resulted in the burning-out of its enclosed motor. The damage was not discovered until Friday morning after the alarm failed to function Thursday night when an alarm from the Highway Cafe was turned-in.

Three Haskell County young people who were first place winners in the Declaration in Interscholastic League events at Breckenridge last Friday will go to Abilene, April 22, where they will compete for regional honors in Declaration. Beunis Faye Ratliff won first place in the Junior Girls Division in the district for the second successive year. She is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Dennis P. Ratliff. James Broedlove, district winner in the Junior Boys division is the son of Supt. and Mrs. C. B. Broedlove. Kenneth Brown, outstanding student of the Howard School, won district honors in the Rural High School Seniors Boys Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown who reside in the Howard community southeast of Haskell.

(April 12, 1928)

Courtney Hunt and R. C. Couch were re-elected members of the Board of Trustees of the Haskell Independent School District, and T. C. Rogers and W. E. Kirkpatrick were elected as new members. In the election held at the courthouse last Saturday, a light vote was cast in the election.

A house in the south part of town occupied by Wylie Quattlebaum and family, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin about 11:00 o'clock, together with all the household goods of Mr. Quattlebaum. The fire had spread throughout the house before Mr. Quattlebaum and his family were awakened, and they barely escaped from the burning building, being unable to save any of the household effects.

High M. Anderson of Haskell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Date Anderson, is reported on the honor roll at Texas Technological College during the last term, having carried four courses with an average grade of "B".

J. A. Gilstrap, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Duncan, Fred Sanders, J. M. Crawford, and Rev. C. Jones and Jesse attended the Ginner's convention at Dallas last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Duncan of this city returned Monday from Dallas where they attended the ginner's association.

Officers of the Haskell National Bank are: Mrs. M. S. Pierson, president; Hardy Grissom, vice-president; O. E. Patterson, active vice-president; A. C. Pierson, cashier, and Miss Nettie McCollum, assistant cashier. Directors are: Mrs. M. S. Pierson, Hardy Grissom, J. U. Fields, J. W. Pace, L. E. Taylor, G. W. Waldrop, J. W. Gindson.

Judge W. H. Murchison spent Easter with his two sons, Walter, Jr., and Thomas Murchison at State University, Austin.

Rufus Banks announces this week the opening of his gen's furnishing store on the south side of the square.

60 YEARS AGO
(April 11, 1908)

Mr. J. D. Roberts and son, Vontress, of the east side, were in the city Thursday. Mr. Roberts told the Free Press reporter that there was the greatest necessity and a most pressing demand for a good road from Haskell to the northeast part of the county and he thought it greatly to the interest of the businessmen of Haskell to take the matter up. The Free Press has several times called attention to this matter, but there has so far been no determined effort to improve, or provide such a road. Mr. Roberts said there are many people in the northeast part of the county who have never been to Haskell because of the inconvenience, bad condition and unnecessary distance of the present road.

The city election Tuesday went off as quietly as a church social. Only a light vote, 270, was polled, no account being taken of a number of scattering votes: For mayor, T. E. Matthews, 156 votes; G. R. Couch, 140 votes; For Alderman, H. S. Wilson 156 votes; Jno. F. Jones, 172; D. H. Hamilton, 150; W. M. Stephens, 165; W. W. Fields, 175; G. J. Graham, 139; T. L. Marr, 135; J. H. Meadors, 135; The five first named, having the largest number of votes were elected. For city secretary, O. E. Patterson, 264 votes; For city attorney, Clyde F. Elkins, 264 votes; For city marshal, M. S. Reeves, 67; W. K. Whitman, 111, and E. F. Springer, 88.

On the Saturday of April 4, the Magazine Club met with Mrs. John L. Robertson. This being the date for the annual election of officers, the inclement weather kept none of the club members away and much interest was manifested in the election. The officers for the next year are: Mrs. S. W. Scott, president; Mrs. A. W. McGregor, vice-president; Mrs. C. D. Long, second vice-president; Mrs. H. S. Wilson, recording secretary; Mrs. S. R. Rike, corresponding secretary and treasurer. Mrs. A. W. McGregor was elected delegate to the State Federation, which meets at San Angelo in November. For alternate, Mrs. D. E. Patterson was elected.

People Have Got To Help People

The offer of help to one human being by another is one of the most ancient traditions. It is just as true today as it was in the Biblical time of the "good Samaritan."

Today, each of us is even more conscious of the debt we owe our brothers. This awareness, many believe, has played an important part in making our nation and our world a better place to live.

The Texas Easter Seal Society puts it this way: "People have got to help people."

That's the theme of the 1968 Easter Seal Campaign to raise funds for crippled children and adults, to help them walk, talk and do all the other things most of us take for granted.

Last year, the Society provided rehabilitation services to 16,522 Texans through its state network of centers.

The real credit belongs to those Texans who contribute each year to enable the Easter Seal Society to help people. For in the world today, it takes a lot more than one or two "good Samaritans."

Without the dollars we give, the Society could not pay its state-wide staff of rehabilitation professionals. It could not maintain the specially designed and equipped centers that offer therapy and other services.

And thousands of crippled persons could not hope to get the help they need to overcome their handicaps.

Even if you haven't given to Easter Seals in the past, please do so this year. Despite the marks of progress, the ranks of the handicapped are growing, and more money than before is needed to continue helping them.

Be a person who helps people. You'll feel good if you are.

Hartsfield Says Traffic Accidents Largest Single Killer of Children

An interesting, and frightening, paradox is presented by Hess Hartsfield of Coggins & Hartsfield Insurance. If children are truly our most important "possessions," why do so many die in traffic accidents?

Quite possibly because the parents who say they cherish their children so much are often the people directly responsible for these needless deaths.

The horrible truth, says Hess, is that traffic accidents are the largest single killer of children between the ages of 1 and 15. Even more horrible is the fact that, in most cases, the young child was inside the car involved.

What parent is so lacking in common sense and so disregards traffic safety that he unwittingly exposes his young children to traffic death?

You can help your children to stay alive, says Hess, by following a few simple recommendations.

Children should never be left alone in your automobile. They are too curious and there are too many interesting levers and buttons to pull, push or twist.

Rules for behavior should be established before an automobile trip is begun. Your children should understand that horse-play in the car of any kind will not be tolerated.

Parents should keep a close watch on the various items their children bring into the car with them. Pointed or sharp objects which could cause injuries in case of a sudden stop should be placed in the trunk.

All doors should be securely shut, and then locked. Window cranks and door handles should not be tampered with during the trip.

If possible, children should ride in the back seat with the seat belts firmly fastened. Collision tests have proven that the back seat is much safer than the front with its steering wheel, dashboard and windshield.

Perhaps these few suggestions, says Hess, might help us all to prevent tragedy from striking our most cherished "possessions," our children.

put in the onion, beans, corn, pork (cut in fine strips), potatoes, pepper and squirrels. Cover and stew very slowly for 2 1/2 hours, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Add the tomatoes and sugar, and stew one hour longer. Then add the butter, cut into small bits about the size of walnuts and rolled in flour. Boil ten minutes and serve at once.

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

Aphids have invaded rose bushes throughout town. Every rose bush I have examined is crawling with the pesky, green insects. They take to the tender stems and young buds and sap the life fluid from them. I have always used Blackleaf "40" to eradicate aphids. Add a little Tide to the water, so it will cling to the bushes, when mixing in Blackleaf "40." And, too, dogs will avoid plants sprayed with Blackleaf "40."

Systemic fertilizer contains an insecticide that goes up the roots and into the foliage and blossoms; however, if one uses it they must not plant vegetables near, as they will be toxic to eat. Systemic fertilizer is slow to act and what is needed now is something that acts quick.

There are rose dusts on the market that will also control aphids.

Blackleaf "40" can be purchased at the drug store and seed or garden stores may also handle it.

Tulips have the longest stems this year I've ever seen. Dark, damp weather is conducive of producing long stems in bulbs. Mr. R. Y. Mobley counted 32 buds on four clumps of tulips. It seems that tulip bulbs produced more blossoms this year than usual.

Watch that plants do not become dry after the rains cease. They are full of sap and will suffer from lack of moisture much faster than in dryer weather. If the soil is kept worked so the surface moisture will not dry out it will help plants overcome the effect of too much moisture.

Never have I seen lilacs so beautiful as they are this year. The fragrance permeates the air. Mrs. Ruth Reid has a yard varieties of the future, and fiber research work being carried out and planned at Texas Tech. "It will be a program that will answer a lot of questions and provide a lot of new and valuable information concerning cotton in our area," said Charles Stenholm, Assistant Manager of Stamford Electric Cooperative. "Make your plans now to attend."

LEDGER SHEETS, boxed typewriter paper, and columnar pads, get them at the Free Press.

Mrs. Reid sent several large arrangements to the rest home by Mrs. Emmet Wyche and I. My, how, Mrs. Lewis smiled when she received the flowers from her yard.

It takes such small things to bring happiness into the heart of our elderly friends. For those who have known and loved Mrs. Lewis for so long, please do not visit. Her mind is sharp and she although I am a body is in demand could be a blessing to all.

We realize the laudable part our Churches play in community life . . . their contribution in both a spiritual and material sense toward community welfare and common good. These Churches, their teachings and their membership exert a tremendous influence that touches every home and every business. This function they have in common with our schools, civic bodies and other organizations. All of whom through various methods perform services for the good and benefit of all . . . In recognition of the splendid ideals and achievements of the Haskell churches, we urge everyone to attend Church services.
