PSALM 136:1-3
The Lord is my Shepherd and I shall not want.

He leads me beside still waters and I shall not be troubled.

He restores my soul and guides me in the paths of righteousness.

Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil.

For you are with me and your rod and staff comfort me.

You prepare a table for me in the presence of my enemies.

You are a God of strength and your way is perfect.

Why should I be afraid when my enemy is overcome?

For you have been my help and my stronghold.

Why should I be afraid when my enemy is overcome?

For you have been my help and my stronghold.

What this man started...

... Benefits all mankind today

Thomas Alva Edison in his lifetime—even after 1097 inventions—never could have imagined the many jobs flameless electricity does today.

In your home alone, 166 electrical appliances are available to save time, reduce work, and do a better job faster and more economically.

The average American family has nearly doubled its use of electricity in the past 10 years. And at such a low cost, it is today's biggest bargain in your budget.

Here at WTU we keep pace with the increasing use of electricity in industry, in business and in the home. It's a way of life with us, for we know that electricity powers progress.

Stitching And Stewing

By Ruth Ann Fausler
County H. D. Agent

Proper sorting is the key to good laundering, whether done at home or at a coin-op. Sort according to color of fabrics and separate further according to amount of soil and washer size. For good cleaning, articles should move about briskly in the washer.

Many washer manufacturers claim 14 to 16 pound capacities. The actual amount that can be laundered in one load depends upon the type of fabric as well as the degree of soil.

For example, imagine how much washing action there would be in a machine packed with 14 pounds of nylon garments—or 16 pounds of heavily soiled children's clothing! For a clean wash, the size of the load may be several pounds less than the machine's rated capacity.

Laundry research shows that a load made up of small and large pieces seems to wash better than a load of articles all of one size, however, bulky articles such as bedspreads and small rugs should be washed singly.

Extremely dirty articles—such as grease stained work clothes or children's play wear—should be washed separately from lightly soiled fabrics.

White and colored nylons should not be washed together as the dyes will "bleed."

The amount of separating that you do depends partly on the total amount of laundry. But for best washing results, sort!

It is just as important for the child to gain freedom in expression as it is for him to get more knowledge in fact; knowledge will remain frozen unused unless the child develops the urge and the freedom to use it."

Projects of the year were discussed, and approved. Also plans were discussed for the coming "Fasting Bee" on March 14th.

The personal development committee had charge of the program. Due to the extreme hazardous weather, members were unable to go to the Rest Home and sing to the senior citizens, as the program was originally scheduled. This is an annual affair of the Valentine program, and the elderly people look forward to the event.

The meeting was adjourned by the president.

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

The Haskell Garden Club met February 8 and one topic of discussion was the culture of Day Lilies (Hemerocallis). There were several questions we did not have time to discuss. After much research, I have come up with some of the answers. Day Lilies can be planted almost any time the ground is not frozen. The roots are fleshy and grow in clusters... it is from these roots that many plants are propagated; planting of seed is another way of propagation.

Day lilies are self pollinating and often the plants produce several seed pods a season. Plants grown from seed will bloom in nine months. The best method is to plant the seed as quick as they have matured and the seed will still be soft and will sprout almost at once. Once the seeds are permitted to dry, the shell becomes very hard, soaking overnight in warm water will hasten sprouting. Roots should be planted so the crown is just below the soil surface.

Mrs. Harold Cooke of Abilene, a very dear friend, has several hundred Day Lily plants, many of which she has grown from seed. She hand-pollinated a plant and a Day Lily grown from the seed was a deep red that she named Ruby, because of the color, and because my name is Ruby. Mrs. Cooke presented me with the plant; it is still in production even though it is six years old.

Day Lilies come in many different shades and colors. They bloom mostly in July and August when other flowers are struggling to survive. They require very little care once established and will grow almost any type of soil except swampy undrained areas.

Several years ago when we went back East, we saw Day Lilies in many states. We only saw orange and red varieties wild. They are a sun-loving plant.

Mrs. R. C. Couch, Sr. gave a very interesting discussion on the care of Iris. She stated that many people cut their Iris back each year and that this is a bad practice, as next year's flowers get their strength from the blades. She also said to gently remove the old blades from the rhizomes by hand, being very careful not to damage the fleshy part of the root.

Mrs. Couch said the best time to move Iris was just after the blossoms begin to fade.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Do I have to file a federal income tax return? Internal Revenue answers: Not if you made less than $600—or less than $1,200 if you are over 65 years of age. The tax folks very quickly point out that if your wages are subject to withholding that you have already paid taxes on your earnings. You are entitled to get a refund of the taxes withheld but you must file to get a refund—the sooner the better.

CHECK YOUR TAX RETURN BEFORE YOU MAIL IT

Here's a word of advice from the Internal Revenue Service: After you prepare your 1967 Federal income tax return, it is a good idea to set it aside for a day or so and then give it a thorough review before you mail it.

District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell, Jr., said that North Texas taxpayers who heed this advice often find omitted income or deductions, or errors in arithmetic. A review of the return may disclose that the taxpayer failed to provide his address and zip code, omitted his social security number or listed it incorrectly, did not attach all copies of Form W-2, or forgot to sign the return.

This review will be time well spent as it may prevent delays in processing the return and will speed up any refund due, Mr. Campbell said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Feb. 9, 1968

Dear Editor:
I want to thank you individually and collectively for your fine cooperation in our voter registration drive. Undoubtedly the newspaper publicity given to registration requirements and procedures was a major factor in bringing about the tremendous increase in registrations this year.

Our office has received many comments from county tax assessor-collectors praising the assistance they rendered and especially for their publication of the application form, which benefited both the voters and the assessor-collectors. Your contribution to the registration drive has been appreciated, not only by myself, but by assessor-collectors and voters as well.

Sincerely yours,
John L. Hill,
Secretary of State

Selling More Cotton Is The Solution To Cotton Problem

Selling more cotton is the solution to the cotton problem, Mr. Kent Bennett of Vernon, Texas, Field Representative for the National Cotton Council, emphasized to Knox County farmers in Munday on February 12.

He explained that the most intensive research and promotion effort in cotton's history is being launched in 1968 to achieve this objective. Nationwide, it is being spearheaded by Cotton Producers Institute and is being executed by the National Cotton Council, Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Stamford, Texas is spearheading the program in the Rolling Plains area.

"If our industry can find a way to get more cotton manufactured into finished products, to get these stocked by the retail stores, and finally get the consumer to buy them, then—and only then—we can surely look forward to a healthier, brighter future for cotton," Mr. Bennett added.

Noting cotton's importance to the Rolling Plains area, he said growers received an average of $70 million annually from cotton and cottonseed during the 1962-66 period. The crop, he said, benefits many more people who process and handle it and numerous businesses and employees providing supplies and services.

Mr. Bennett pointed out that cotton's total research program of $26.5 million includes the U. S. Department of Agriculture, land grant colleges, allied firm, and foundations operated by the National Cotton Council. The new CPI program for 1968 will add some $2 million to this total. Matching funds from others with a stake in cotton are expected to push this level up considerably, Mr. Bennett added.

Some $900,000.00 of the $2.6 million being allocated for research will be directed into work to achieve better permanent press a characteristic involving markets for 4.2 million bales of cotton. Success, furthermore, would enable cotton to go after another 2.3 million bales held by synthetics.

Other research projects are aimed at: (1) improving fire retardancy, soil resistance and cotton products; (2) whipping the competitive threats in rugs, sheets, trousers and other major markets; (3) eliminating huge losses due to insects, weeds and diseases; and (4) increasing yields.

The CPI promotion budget of $5.3 million includes $2.5 million for 222 color pages of advertising in 20 top magazines. Another

$1.2 million will be spent on newspaper advertising, sponsored 50-50 by CPI and cooperating retailers.

Promotion plans also call for awarding cotton products as prizes on audience participation TV shows, locally televised cotton fashion shows, style shows at major markets, continuation of joint projects with major retail chains, and campaigns in cooperation with manufacturers of awnings, bathing and bedding.

Your New Social Security

By R. R. Tuley, Jr., District Manager

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a series of articles giving the pertinent details of the new provisions in Social Security.

New protection for the young worker and his family stands out among the new provisions in the social security law for the disabled.

For young workers who became disabled before they had a chance to work under social security for at least five years, a new change in the disability benefit provisions is a boon.

For benefits to be paid to a disabled worker and his dependents under the old law he needed social security credits for at least 5 out of the 10 years before becoming disabled. Now, if disabled between 24 and 31, credits are needed for only half the time between age 21 and the time of inability to work. If disabled before age 24, only 1 1/2 years of work under social security is needed out of a 3-year period ending when your disability began.

Benefits under this new provision are first payable for the month of February 1968. About 100,000 people—disabled workers and their dependents—are eligible. An estimated $70 million in additional benefits will be paid out in the first 12 months.

The new law could mean benefits even for some people who have recovered from their disabling condition, or if they were denied benefits previously because they lacked enough work credits. Seek more information at the Abilene Social Security District Office if you or someone in your family might qualify. Or, see a representative of that office when he is in your community. A schedule of visits is posted in all post offices.

Heart Diseases: A Local Problem

The obituaries printed in the Haskell Free Press offer persuasive testimony that the challenge of heart and blood diseases...far from being an abstract and distant national issue...is in reality the number one health problem right here in this community.

These diseases are responsible for more than 54 per cent of all deaths in the nation, and chances are that about the same ratio applies here.

"Heart attack," "stroke," "hypertensive heart disease," "congestive heart failure," "high blood pressure," "rheumatic heart disease" and "congenital heart disease" are words that appear all too often on death certificates in this community.

Can anything be done about it? Yes, indeed. We have been doing something about it. Since the onset of massive heart research programs in 1950, the cardiovascular death rate among persons aged below 65 has declined about 15 per cent. Virtually every advance has been speeded by your Heart Fund dollars.

But much remains to be done. You can help by supporting the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign through your contributions and your volunteer services. The campaign is conducted throughout February, reaching its high point on the week-end of Heart Sunday with a residential solicitation.

Give... so more will live!
