Grace Lutheran Church Is Scene Of Felty-Rinefeldt Wedding, June 10th

Miss Peggy Jane Rinefeldt became the bride of Francis T. Felty, Jr., Sunday afternoon, June 10th at 4:00 p. m. in a ceremony at the Grace Lutheran church. She is the daughter of Mrs. Earl Rinefeldt and the late Earl Rinefeldt of Burkburnett. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Felty, Sr. of this city.

Rev. J. H. Kollmeyer, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before twin sunburst arrangements of pink gladioli in white baskets and arched candelabra holding white burning tapers. Wedding music was furnished at the organ by Mrs. Sylvia Ramming. Mrs. James Dean was soloist.

Presented in marriage by her brother, Clarence, the bride wore a formal length gown of French chantilly lace of Alencon pattern and pleated tulle over bridal satin, the closely molded bodice was fashioned with hand applique flowers of the lace around the high neck line and lower edge of tulle yoke. The gown was designed by the bride and made by the bride's mother. The train consisted of rows of lace and pleated tulle. For something borrowed, she wore the beautiful bridal veil of Mrs. Marlin Parrack. She carried a bible, a gift of Mrs. Edith Felgar, covered with pearls and topped with a white orchid surrounded with a shower of Stephanotis.

Mrs. Wayne Ellis was matron of honor. She wore a waltz length gown of pale yellow silk crystal over taffeta made with princess style bodice and full skirt accented by yellow velvet bows. She wore a half hat of matching yellow velvet and yellow tulle.

The other attendants wore identical gowns as the matron of honor in colors of pink and blue. Mrs. Marlin Parrack, bridesmaid, wore pink and Miss Marilyn Felty, bridesmaid, sister of the groom, wore blue. Greta Rinefeldt, flower girl, wore yellow; Candice Rinefeldt, Junior bridesmaid, wore pink and Janice Rinefeldt, junior bridesmaid, wore blue. The three girls are nieces of the bride.

Burkburnett Scouts Have Own Bus For Excursions

The pride and joy of the Burkburnett Scouts, Explorer Scouts and the Cub Scouts is their own private bus! This big 48 passenger bus is painted blue and gold, Scout colors, and the sign on the side proclaims to the world, Burkburnett Scouts.

How the boys got this bus is a long story, but it can be shortened by saying Scoutmasters Ray Matherly and I. C. Evans, and Cubmaster H. L. Connell, just told a few people what they wanted and the money came in right away. The bus is one the school district formerly used and offered for sale. The Scout bid was high. Next, it was thoroughly reconditioned and passed inspection.

SELLING AND THE FARMER

President Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation recently had this to say: "Too many farmers have assumed that, since everyone must eat, we would always have a market. Politicians have followed the same false reasoning in adopting legislation to fix the prices of farm products without regard to supply or the demand of consumers. The near tragic result is that we have already lost a large part of our market to substitute and synthetic products."

Mr. Shuman's solution is simple: Better, more intensive selling and promotion of farm products. "Thousands of people," he states, "do not eat enough of the protective foods, meat, milk, fruits and vegetables." In his opinion, stepped-up promotion by farmers, farm organizations and other interested groups could greatly expand agriculture's market.

This authority would seem to be on firm ground, and he has precedent to point to. To take one example, a number of intensive selling campaigns have been undertaken on behalf of various meats, with producers, packers and retailers participating. They have produced fine results. So have similar campaigns on behalf of other foods. Salesmanship is all important to the success of American industry in every field. Agriculture needs it too.

TREMENDOUSLY TINY

Not so long ago, sober citizens were arguing about how angels could stand on the head of a pin. Their civilization, for better or worse, was not as scientific as ours. It was a nice problem with the chance of a solution.

More recently, science posed an equally intriguing question, with a positive solution: How many miniature ball bearings, essential to radar, to dentistry, to musical instruments, can you put in a thimble?

The answer is 502 (of the littlest ones), weighing a total of 1-3 of an ounce, or 22,720 to the pound. Each is smaller than the period at the end of this sentence.

Yet the manufacturers of these tiny precision bearings is one of the most important industrial operations in the United States. Up in Keene, N. H., in the shadow of Mt. Monadnock, 400 men and women of Miniature Precision Bearings, Inc., toil day and night to turn out a few tablespoonfuls of these components, vital to the radar gear of a giant aircraft carrier, to the moving parts of a dental drill and to the delicate lift of a clarinet's key.

Microscopic as these precision bearings are, each one is mechanically complete. It has its inner and outer "race," or rim, with metal balls set in between, polished with infinite care to insure smooth operation. Lubrication with a highly refined oil is administered with a hypodermic syringe. Each day's output is dispatched in air tight vials or in transparent plastic strips like pills, with each bearing in an individual airtight pocket. A mote of dust, invisible to the naked eye, would amount to a monkey wrench in this Lilliputian machinery.

The baby of them all has a 1-10 inch outside diameter. It costs $6. Other bearings average about $1.75 each. An annual output of over a million bearings makes this big business. And when this pioneer producer, the originator of miniature precision bearings, moves into his new plant, the first ever to be designed and built for this particular product, his business will be considerably bigger, since he will be able to make still more of these minuscule miniatures for his more than 5,000 customers.

The moral of this story would seem to be that the biggest is not always the best, and that you can build a business bigger by making this littler.

THE MONEY YOU NEVER SEE

Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council suggests that the major reason why people don't realize how excessively expensive government is lies in the fact that they never see the taxes they pay.

This is because most or all of the federal income taxes paid by the majority of workers are required to be withheld by the employer, who turns them into the Treasury. The worker never sees the money and so doesn't realize he didn't get his full earnings.

Thus the device of the withholding tax indirectly encourage government waste and extravagance. It's certain that people would have a very different picture of affairs if they had to personally turn over their full taxes to the tax collectors.

You're Working For The Government

The best way to judge the scope of the tax burden is by how much of your working time goes to pay for it.

In 1929, one day's labor out of 10 went to support the government, according to the National Association of Manufacturers. Now the average is one day in four.

What will this figure be 15 years or so from now?

Annual CROP Drive Completed

The Wichita County group sent sewing boxes, material, sewing equipment, thread, pressure cookers, jars and lids, towels, wash cloths, cup towels, soap, garden seed, tools, napkins, hammers, pliers, knives, tooth paste, tooth brushes, bicycles, irons, pencils, crayons, paper and money. The money sent by 4-H club girls will help build the 4-H club camp in Korea. Money sent by the women will be spent on soap.

Rev. Parr, the representative from the state Friendship for Korea office, was well pleased with the Wichita County contribution.

The Wichita County program was a success because such leaders as Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McHugh, Mrs. J. L. Graham, Mrs. Hugh Bassett, Mrs. J. G. Cheney, Mrs. S. E. Askins, Mrs. B. E. Rogers, Mrs. J. H. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Eckelkamp, Mrs. Ed Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maloney worked so faithfully to collect and deliver needed materials.

CLEAN-UP -- DON'T BURN UP

NATIONAL BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS
CLEANING OUT COMBUSTIBLE RUBBISH IS A GOOD WAY TO HELP PROTECT YOUR HOME AND FAMILY FROM FIRE.

Notes from County Agent and and HD Agent

What is your community like? Is it the sort of place where families enjoy living? Are school, church, health and recreation facilities adequate? Or do you often hear people say, "Our community is dying—if something could only be done about it."

This year more than 900 Texas communities "did something about it." One hundred and eighty of these were enrolled in the community improvement program sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Farmer Stockman Magazine. The Frisberg-Cooper and City View communities in Wichita county will receive district awards in this program on Wednesday, July 11th. Frisberg will receive $100 and City View $50.

"Group action and interest achieved amazing results in communities that were on the verge of dying out," says Thelma Wirges and B. T. Haws, county extension agents. Individual have different ideas about what is lacking in a community and what should be done about it. They need to pool and discuss ideas, to agree on what solutions are worthy of effort.

Some groups centered their interest around social activities such as recreation, church, school and drives for public facilities. Still others began by improving their homes, farms and ranches. Some organized to improve health conditions and services. In every case, as other needs arose, the programs were expanded to include more activities.

Begin now to do something about your community. Talk to friends and neighbors. Discuss it with your county extension agents. There are bulletins available that give suggestions on how to proceed. Ask for a copy of "Neighborhood Progress thru Organized Action," Wichita County has room for many community organizations.

Sometimes it is easier to believe that a job can be done if other people tell their stories. Watch papers and farm magazines for real-life stories of community improvement.

Mrs. R. G. Moser, a member of the Cooper Home Demonstration club is a real gardener. She will soon be ready to start canning and freezing.

Mrs. Sidney Smith, president of the Ray Home Demonstration club is giving her house a new face lifting job. Surely is going to be pretty. Mrs. Smith could give anyone some good remodeling ideas.

The Ray Home Demonstration club has a baby sitter. Mothers come to club without the responsibility of their children. Children look forward to going to the baby sitter, where they enjoy an afternoon of supervised play.

Mrs. M. C. Ring visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jackson in Megare, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson of Abilene recently. She reported a very enjoyable trip.

"Group action and interest achieved amazing results in communities that were on the verge of dying out," says Thelma Wirges and B. T. Haws, county extension agents. Individual have different ideas about what is lacking in a community and what should be done about it. They need to pool and discuss ideas, to agree on what solutions are worthy of effort.

Some groups centered their interest around social activities such as recreation, church, school and drives for public facilities. Still others began by improving their homes, farms and ranches. Some organized to improve health conditions and services. In every case, as other needs arose, the programs were expanded to include more activities.

Begin now to do something about your community. Talk to friends and neighbors. Discuss it with your county extension agents. There are bulletins available that give suggestions on how to proceed. Ask for a copy of "Neighborhood Progress thru Organized Action," Wichita County has room for many community organizations.

Sometimes it is easier to believe that a job can be done if other people tell their stories. Watch papers and farm magazines for real-life stories of community improvement.

Save Money With Gas Air Conditioner

Nearly $100,000 will be saved this summer by Lone Star Gas Company customers presently using gas air conditioning in their homes and places of business, M. L. Bird of Dallas, vice president in charge of the Company's General Division of Distribution said today.

This saving will result from the introduction by Lone Star of a special summer air conditioning rate for residential and commercial users. The new rate of 48 cents per 1,000 cubic feet applies to residential customers between the meter reading dates in May and October, and to commercial customers between the meter reading dates in June and October. In 1957, both residential and commercial customers will be billed at the special rate between the meter reading dates in May and October.

The extremely low rate will also apply to the constantly-growing list of new residential and commercial gas air-conditioning customers daily being added to our System, Mr. Bird pointed out.

Air conditioning has become a way of life in Texas. Texans are living longer and are healthier and happier when their homes are air conditioned. Establishment of this attractive rate will make it possible for Lone Star to contribute to the added comfort of many people now seeking the most effective system of cooling at the most economical operating cost.

Although gas air conditioning has heretofore been the most economical means of achieving summer comfort in the home, some families have felt that even this cost was too high. Now however, with this greatly reduced rate, a real saving in operating cost will be as much as one-half less than the cost of operating other types of air conditioning equipment. Resultingly many more families will find that they are financially able to enjoy the very best in summer air conditioning.

This special rate was made possible, Mr. Bird said, because Lone Star's facilities and the available quantities of natural gas exceed present summer demand in the comparatively new but fast growing gas air conditioning market. We are confident that introduction of the rate will enable the company to sell gas in greater volume during the traditional low demand summer months, thus serving the company's need, economically speaking, to utilize its facilities to the same extent that they are utilized during the traditionally high demand winter months.

FORD sets 500-mile record at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

... dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

Ford's record was timed and certified by the United States Auto Club

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway... whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches... to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Previous to Ford's record run, no other stock car had gone even one lap at Indianapolis at 100 m.p.h., but one of Ford's laps was timed at the electrifying speed of 113.7 m.p.h. And Ford averaged 107.126 m.p.h. for the full five hundred miles... close to the average set by the extremely costly, specially-built racer which won the Memorial Day "500"!

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter claims about "racing victories"

(many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Pete de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Yet, this was no mere race against the stop watch. Ford's alert responsiveness and sheer roadability proved more than a match for the treacherous turns... taking them smoothly and giving the great Ford V-8 a chance to use its blazing acceleration in the straightaways.

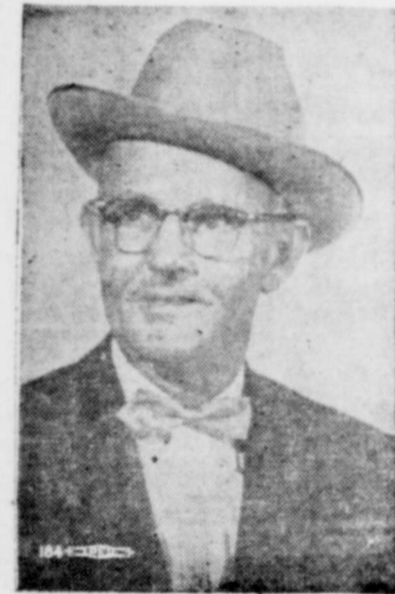

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hood-full of throbbing horsepower to the road-hugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

VERNON STANFORD

For the first time in the history of the state, Texas will be asked to vote on a constitutional amendment not only on men but on issues.

Democratic Executive Committee members have approved the placing of three questions on the primary ballot. Voters will express their desires for the repeal of the 1901 constitution exempting a certain class of schools from compulsory attendance laws.

The "perfecting" laws which would give the legislature the right to alter the marriage of Negroes, and the repeal of the law which gave the legislature the right of interposition to halt federal action on states' rights, are among the questions.

Approval presumably will be given to the next legislature. It is expected that such voter referendums seldom have been used. And not too successfully. Present procedures, still substantially unchanged, were set up with the passage of the Terrell Election laws in 1907.

In the nearly 50 years since then, referendums were held only three times. And failed to pass twice. In 1908 a prohibition proposal was voted down more than two to one. In 1919 the people rejected three to one a proposal to call a constitutional convention.

But, in 1932 Texans voted overwhelmingly in favor of repealing the federal prohibition amendment. A year later the legislature followed suit and ratified the repeal amendment.

This was the last referendum submitted until this year.

In other action the State Executive Committee certified a list of 31 candidates for statewide office. It ignored a charge by Reuben Senterfitt that Price Daniel's name was ineligible to appear on the ballot because he had not resigned his U. S. Senate post.

Fl. Worth was selected by the committee as the site for the Sept. 11th state convention. Principal business at that time will be naming new party officers and deciding on a general election platform for the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

GOP CHOOSES CORPUS
 Texas Republicans will hold their August 28th state convention in Corpus Christi. GOP nominees for state office, presidential electors, a new state chairman and a general platform will be decided upon at that time.

Selection of the convention site was made at the party's state executive committee meeting in Austin.

Committee members sent Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower a telegram asserting their confidence that he will carry Texas and be re-elected in November.

REDISTRICTING URGED
 Demands that Texas congressional districts be realigned were heard at both political party meetings.

Texas was allotted an additional congressman after the 1950 census. Since the legislature has rejected redistricting bills for the past two sessions, the extra man is elected by the entire state.

Bill Elkins, candidate for congressman at large, told the Democratic executive committee the main plank in his platform is to have the office he seeks abolished.

Republican National Committeeman Jack Porter said the GOP legal committee might seek federal court action to force legislature to redistrict.

"It's not fair to have the same representation from districts of 100,000 as you do from areas with more than a million," Porter charged.

PEARSON BLAMED AGAIN
 In a report made public by the Insurance Commission, TV man Drew Pearson received the brunt of the blame for luring Texans into investing money in the now defunct US Trust and Guaranty Co. The report was based on answers to questionnaires sent draft purchasers by the state liquidator's office.

Questionnaires were answered by 3,608 purchasers. They represented investments of $4,711,132. Nearly half of them charged Pearson with influencing them in buying. This because of his personal, oft-repeated statement that "You can put your trust in US Trust."

Because Pearson personally recommended the purchase, the TV broadcaster several months ago pledged to refund all profits made on his commercials. As of this writing the Insurance Commission's records do not reveal any such repayments by Pearson.

CIVIL IMMUNITY DENIED OFFICIALS
 Public officials are not immune from civil liability for acts in connection with their duties. An Austin district judge so ruled in a case involving two former employees of the Insurance Commission.

Examiner Larry W. Blanchard and Robert R. Butler are among more than 50 defendants in a $6,890,000 damage suit. It was filed by the state liquidator against those allegedly responsible for the 1954 collapse of the big General American Casualty Co. of San Antonio.

PARR TRIAL DELAY EXPECTED
 Another six months delay seems likely before the trial of George B. Parr on income tax evasion charges takes place. Parr's plea to have the trial in Laredo, rather than Austin was rejected by the US Supreme Court. U. S. Attorneys promptly asked Judge Ben H. Rice of Austin for an early setting, preferably in July. But Parr's attorneys said they will file for a rehearing before the Supreme Court. Such action could keep the case from coming up until January of 1957.

Parr was first indicted in 1954. He is charged with filing false returns in 1949, 1950 and 1951 and failing to pay the government $86,000.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE BOTTLENECK
 State Health officials are urging parents of children who will enter school for the first time next fall to avoid the birth certificate bottleneck. In past years thousands of requests have swamped the department in September. An estimated 260,000 children will be eligible to enter first grade this year.

SHORT SNORTS

and lack of rain is withering Texas crops and pastures in all areas except the high plains, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The high plains still are green after three consecutive weeks of showers. May was one of the best contracted awards months in Texas construction history. The $168,102,823 contracted in May brings the 1956 total to $572,000,000. That is better than the record year of 1953. Eleven South Texas counties have been quarantined against shipments of citrus fruits from Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana and Alabama. Purpose of the State Agriculture Department's ban is to prevent possible infestation of the Mediterranean fruit fly into Texas groves.
