Junior Fire Marshal Corrals 'The Rifleman'

"Not guilty!" exclaims Chuck Connors as TV-son Johnny Crawford points out a fire hazard discovered on the set of the popular ABC-TV western, "The Rifleman." When he isn't playing the role of Lucas McCain's son Mark, Johnny is one of nearly 4-million boys and girls who will qualify as Junior Fire Marshals by inspecting their homes for fire hazards during National Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 9-15). The Junior Fire Marshal program is a public service of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company. As a Junior Fire Marshal, Johnny knows that open paint cans shown here are an invitation to fire.

CITY HALL News and Notes

By Clovis D. Mann
City Manager

A one week city-wide clean-up campaign will be announced in near future.

Another two or three weeks before new sewer is ready.

Water Supt. Haskell Draper, and his boys, are still replacing old fire hydrants with new three way hydrants to meet Fire Insurance Board Standards. Four more to go before job is complete. This, with the additional fire hose already purchased should bring our Fire Insurance Key rate down.

C. R. Chambers, Tax-Assessor-Collector, getting ready to move his office to larger quarters behind City Hall. Police Chief Kenneth Gage will occupy Chamber's old office.

A lot of good comments received on the good job the Mothers Safety Patrol are doing. Their sole purpose is the safety of our youngsters. They appreciate the fine cooperation the citizens are giving them. Thank you, Mothers.

Street Supt. Floyd Bailey working on street drainage, a large task, however, plans are being formulated which we believe will alleviate some areas. A lot of work must be done in this regard before much relief can be given.

Lahoma Woods, Lavada Hayes, and Viola Archer, water office, had a wonderful time explaining to water customers why it was necessary to bill the garbage one-half month under the old rate and one-half month under the new rate.

Citizens used almost 28 million gallons of water during Sept.

Engineering work, with specifications, being made in formulation of plans to install traffic signal light at Tidal and Sheppard Drive.

Mrs. W. B. Mann, who has been a Burkburnett resident for some time, has suggested that we publish our phone number since it isn't in the directory. For some reason we hesitate to do this, but to honor Mrs. W. B. Mann's request, our home number is 569-3874.

Vigilance In Fire Prevention Is Urged by National Board

Continued vigilance in the field of fire prevention is urged by the National Board of Fire Underwriters as the surest means of holding down fire deaths and property losses.

In a special Fire Prevention Week message, Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board, reminded there were 11,300 fire deaths last year, or 200 fewer than the 11,500 for 1958. Fire losses in the United States last year aggregated $1,047,073,000, a decrease of nine tenths of one per cent under the $1,056,266,000 for the preceding year, and the first downturn since 1950.

"The intensive work of civic groups, fire departments, schools, churches, commercial establishments, and industrial concerns in promoting fire safety, helped shave down last year's toll," Mr. Vincent said.

"The reduction of fire losses last year is all the more significant when you realize that 1959 was a big construction year, and the number of buildings in the United States, and their net worth, was greater at the end of the year than at the beginning.

"Our fire prevention activities must not be limited to Fire Prevention Week, but must be an all year-round activity," he declared.

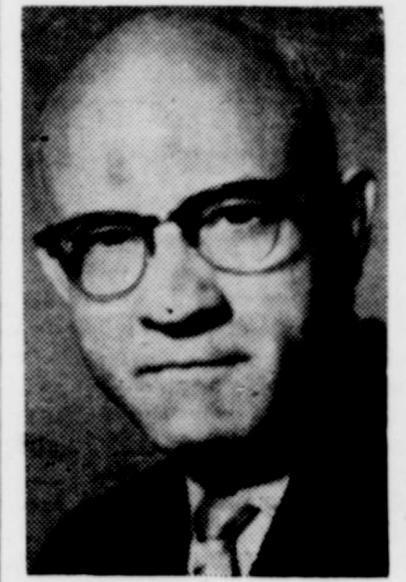

"There is no way of counting the untold number of fires that were halted before they started by the efforts on the part of people throughout the nation to reduce fire hazards," he added, "but the figure would have been much higher we know, without intensive fire protection work."

Mr. Vincent pointed to the Home Inspection Program conducted by the International Association of Fire Chiefs as one of the vital aids in fire prevention activity.

More and more communities are drawing plans under which the uniformed firemen of the local department inspects homes to point out potential fire hazards. The program is purely voluntary. Firemen inspect a home only if the householder desires the inspection to be made.

Around 15 million homes in the United States were inspected under the program last year with approximately 50 per cent of the fire departments in the nation participating in the work and it is expected that twice that number will be inspected this year.

Lester T. Potter Elected President American Gas Ass'n.

LESTER T. POTTER

Lester T. Potter, president of Lone Star Gas Co., today was elected president of the American Gas Association in the closing session of the 42nd annual A. G. A. convention.

In taking office, Mr. Potter becomes the third president of Lone Star Gas Co. to head the national industry trade association. The late L. B. Denning served as A. G. A. president in 1936, and D. A. Hulcy, currently chairman of Lone Star, was president of the Association in 1951.

Alton T. Smith Receives Knight of Road Award

Last Saturday Alton T. Smith of Burkburnett received a Hobbs Knight of the Road award in recognition for services rendered motorists on Highway 75 near Rice, Texas, last July 4th. He was also presented a silver bracelet and a proclamation declaring him a Knight of the Road.

The presentations were made by License and Weight Patrolman D. H. Witherspoon.

These awards are sponsored jointly by the Hobbs Trailer Co. and the Texas Safety Association, Dept. of Public Safety.

First Billing for New Garbage Rates Mailed

The City Water Department mailed out their water bills which included the new garbage rates, however, due to method of billing, only 1/2 of the new rate was included on the bill.

The Garbage Ordinance went into effect Sept. 1st, and the billing is made on the 15th. This made it necessary to one half month (Aug. 15 to 31) under new rate.

For example if the old rate was $1.00 and the new rate $1.50 the bill will show $1.25 (50c for half month under old rate, plus 75c for half month under new rate.)

The next billing will of course show only the new rate.

Police Dispatch'g Now Continuous

The employment of Pete Bryan and W. J. Bingham as night police dispatchers gives immediate police communications.

The Police Radio is now operated 24 hours a day.

Prior to this change there was sometimes a delay in contacting the Police Department at night when the patrolmen were on call, away from the phone.

Under the new arrangement, a patrolman will be dispatched immediately by calling 569-2231, day or night.

Burkburnett Community Clinic Was An Outstanding Success

Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce held a clinic Thursday with an attendance far above expectations. A total of 358 registered for the seven one-hour sessions.

The professional group registered 130 in the afternoon, the largest single adult session ever conducted by the many clinics held over a period of eight years under sponsorship of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

This session was under the leadership of Bill Vincent, Joe Janeke and I. C. Evans.

Several groups were held. The merchants group met at 7:30 a. m. for breakfast at the Town Hall. The women's group met at 9:30 a. m. and discussion leaders at 10:30 met with high school seniors at Burkburnett High School.

Professional group included school teachers and officials, met at 3:30 p. m. and agriculture representatives met at Town Hall at 7:30 p. m. A group including all Sheppard Air Force Base personnel who live at Burkburnett met at 8:30 p. m.

Purpose of the clinic was to better acquaint the people of the city and area with chamber of commerce work and to discuss and exchange ideas on the needs of the community.

Ralph Duncan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Abilene, led discussion groups. The results will be compared to make up the group's work program. Buster Morgan, president said.

Highlights of a recent survey on needs included the following: a concerted effort to locate and industry; development of a program to increase retail trade; support of public school improvement. Specifically mentioned was a new high school with a combined high school and city auditorium to meet public need; organization of an agribusiness council; to formulate an active agriculture and livestock program; a city-wide drainage and paving program.

To provide adequate water supplies; work for adequate housing; study the need for a public library and hospital; develop expanded park facilities; enforce ordinances governing traffic and parking; with additional traffic signs needed; periodic cleanup campaigns; and enforce maintenance of vacant lots; additional retail outlets; beautify highway approaches to the city; wider selections of merchandise in retail stores; expand sanitation facilities.

Jim Harwell, chamber of commerce manager, expressed his pleasure with the cooperation and effort put forth to make the clinic the success it was.

Isn't it odd that the easier a gal is to look at, the harder the fellers stare?

Don't criticize the work of others unless you want to do the work of others.

THREE IOWA PARK BOYS BICYCLED TO BURK LAST SUNDAY

Last Sunday, Oct. 9th, three teenagers from the fine city of Iowa Park visited the Burk Drug in Burkburnett. The only thing strange about this trip was that it was made on bicycles.

The timing of this trip was one hour and fifteen minutes. LeRoy, Herman and Jerry issued a challenge to any teenagers of Burkburnett to come to Iowa Park on bicycles and try to beat their time. You must come on the old Burk road and measure your time from the city limits to your limits. These proud boys names are LeRoy (Big Daddy) Watts, a senior; Herman (Fabian) Turner, a senior; and Jerry (Pretty Boy) McCord, a junior. Iowa Park should be proud of these three fine boys. In case anyone would like to try to beat their time, call Ann Jackson, 569-2557 or Jo Vell Riley, 569-2630.

Congress Must Not Acquiesce In Surrender Of Canal Zone

There are a few spots on the globe that possess extraordinary strategic significance. Such are the straits of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, between Europe and Asia Minor. Another such is the Suez Canal. A third is the Panama Canal.

This nation has held complete control over the Panama Canal ever since that waterway linking the Atlantic and Pacific oceans was dug and before. Ever since 1903 when a treaty between this country and the Republic of Panama specified that the Panama Canal Zone, the 10-mile wide strip which the canal traverses, is under the exclusive sovereignty of the United States in perpetuity.

President Eisenhower now has authorized the flying of the Panamanian flag in the Canal Zone as "visual evidence" of Panama's "titular sovereignty" over the zone.

By a stroke of the pen the President thereby created Panama's "titular sovereignty" and surrendered ours.

Once again an American administration has surrendered something that is ours—and this time something vital to American security.

It took this action in defiance of and in contempt of the expressed will of the House of Representatives. Anticipating this give-away of American rights, the House Feb. 2nd passed a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that the "traditional interpretation" of treaties with Panama should not be changed except by treaty procedure. The vote was overwhelming 381 to 12.

This needless surrender of our exclusive sovereignty over one of the most strategic spots on the globe would be bad enough if it had come about in a time of peace with no predatory power on the prowl throughout the world. Even under such circumstances it would be a serious mistake, for all history is studded with the rise of aggressive nations and no one can foretell what will occur a few years or a century hence.

But to take this step at this time, when communism is nibbling away at the free nations all over the world, has become entrenched in Cuba and from Cuba already has attempted the armed invasion of Central American countries is beyond understanding.

What happens now if communism obtains control of Panama, either through internal subversion or through invasion from Cuba? Does anyone doubt that a communist government of Panama would attempt to exercise actual sovereignty over the Canal Zone. That it would overwhelm the few companies of soldiers we maintain there and that we then would have to invade to get our rights back, and be accused of "aggression"?

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, (D., Pa.) calls the President's action a major victory for international communism and states, correctly that impeachment of American Presidents has been urged for less than this. Flood several weeks ago warned Secretary of State Herter that if the Panamanian flag were flown over the zone with the acquiescence of the State Department he would press for Herter's impeachment.

Passing The Torch

The ancient Greeks had a ceremonial foot race called "Passing the Torch." Their swiftest runners carried a lighted torch and passed it, burning, into the hands of the next relay of runners, sometimes from city to city, until it reached its goal.

In our nation, we have an annual event carrying a similar idea—a path of light toward a goal. However, in this event, no physical exertion is involved—only faith. The occasion is National Bible Week.

The twentieth annual observance of Bible Week takes place October 17-23. The theme for the week is, "The Bible—Strength of our Nation."

Former President Herbert Hoover is serving as honorary chairman for the Week, and Edward C. Werle, chairman of the board of the New York Stock Exchange, is national chairman.

This year also marks the twentieth anniversary of the Laymen's National Committee, the interfaith organization which sponsors the Week. The first observance of Bible Week began on December 7th, 1941, a date that shall endure in our history. Today, we are again confronted with an international crisis. Full participation by our people in National Bible Week will help us to keep the faith handed down by our Founding Fathers.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH -- MILLIONS LEAVE THEM THERE

POWER

These naked steel poles their whining copper wires symbol of tingling surging power which can lighten world light cities, run a factory or generate a book. Power carried by wires transforms a nation makes possible ways of life could not happen without it.

The Bible repeatedly speaks the power of God released human life making it new abundant. We all want the power new life, but how do we get it? Well, to get power from the electric wires it is necessary to come a part of them and share pulsating singing life. It is like with God, too. To have life Him one must trust Him enough to become attached to Him, dependent upon Him, obedient to sharing His way of life in love, sharing the community of which is His Church.

Air Force Thunderbirds to Perform At Community Appreciation Day SAFB Celebration Sat., Oct. 15th

The Thunderbirds, USAF Official Aerial Demonstration Team, will be featured in their breath-taking aerial show at Sheppard Air Force Base, Oct. 15th, during "Community Appreciation Day" scheduled at the base.

The Thunderbirds' performance will climax an "open house" to be held at Sheppard Air Force Base on that day as Sheppard's appreciation for the splendid cooperation between the base and the surrounding cities & towns. The public is invited to attend.

A program of activities is being planned for the day and will be climaxed by the 30 minute colorful and spectacular exhibition of formation aerobatics.

Flying red, white and blue F-100C Super Sabre fighters, the Thunderbirds will perform loops rolls, vertical "U" turns, cork-screw rolls and other maneuvers in a close knit, four plane diamond formation. With wing tips overlapping and separated vertically by only "broomstick" clearance, the team will fly their show at speeds ranging from 150 to 750 miles per hour.

All of the Thunderbirds maneuvers are executed at low altitude and within a one mile radius of the show area to keep their performance in close where the audience can easily see all four airplanes throughout the entire show.

Timing his maneuvers between those of the four ships in the diamond formation, the colorful Thunderbird solo pilot, in a single F-100, keeps the show moving with his routine of four point and eight point rolls, inverted "upside down" pass and aileron rolls and vertical rolls, all at low altitudes.

Climax to the Thunderbird performance is their famous "Bomb-Burst" in which the planes in the diamond formation climb vertically in front of the audience and then, with a roar from their afterburners, break away to the four separate points of the compass. Trailing white smoke like a bursting skyrocket, each airplane then dives for the ground, and approaching the field from four opposite directions, the F-100's cross head on at a selected point in front of the crowd with only a few feet separating each airplane.

Flying the North American F-100C Super Sabres, the Thunderbirds became the world's first supersonic aerobatic team when they were equipped with this outstanding airplane in June, 1956. Powered by a 10,000 pound thrust Pratt and Whitney J-57 jet engine, the F-100 set the world's first official supersonic speed record in October, 1953 with a speed of 755 miles per hour.

Since their activation in June 1953, the Thunderbirds have performed before more than 21 million spectators throughout the United States, Canada, Bermuda, Puerto Rico, and 12 Central American countries. In the past five years the team has flown more than 400 official shows and traveled more than 1,250,000 air miles.

Leading the Thunderbirds and Commander of the Unit is Maj. Robert S. Fitzgerald of Pompano Beach, Fla. Flying Right Wing is Capt. Robert L. Cass of Colorado Springs, Colo., and on the Left Wing is Capt. Robert D. Janca of Cleveland, Ohio. In the Slot Position, at the rear of the diamond formation is Capt. Neil L. Eddins of Afton, Wyo. Flying the solo airplane is Capt. Herman E. Griffin of Sumter, S. C. and narrating the show during the demonstrations for the audience is Capt. Ronald H. Everett.

The Thunderbirds spend an average of 300 days a year away from their home station of Nellis Air Force Base Nevada. They were scheduled for a performance at Sheppard AFB earlier this year but could not perform due to inclement weather. They were due to come March 2nd during the "Open House" officially welcoming the 4245th Strategic Wing to Sheppard AFB. Some 67,000 persons attended that event.

B-52 BOMBERS FLY FOR PEACE

The crews of the B-52's feel that as long as they remain ready to go at a moment's notice, they are deterring war, for they realize that any potential aggressor knows that aggression against the United States would be self-inflicted suicide. The 4245th Strategic Wing, as all SAC units throughout the world, adheres to the SAC motto, "Peace is Our Profession."

Sheppard AFB Had Beginning In May, 1941

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas — The history of Sheppard Air Force Base as a training installation goes back to May, 1941, when construction of the first facilities began.

Officially opened in October, 1941, the base first trained aviation mechanics. Also offered here during the war years at various times were basic military training, glider mechanics courses, advanced pilot training, liaison aircraft training school for ground force officers, training aids school for instructors, training courses for B-29 engineers and C-82 (transport) mechanics and helicopter pilot training.

After the close of the war, the installation became a separation center from September through November, 1945, with a peak strength of 46,304 men.

Deactivated in August, 1946 the base was reopened August 15, 1948, as a basic training center supplementing training at Lackland Air Force Base.

Soon, however, Sheppard became a large Airplane and Engine Mechanics School. It still offers training in that field, through the Department of Aircraft Maintenance; but the curricula have changed to keep pace with the changing times. Other Departments of Training con-

B-52 Stratofortresses On Alert Around the Clock at Sheppard

Poised on 15-minute alert around the clock at the end of Sheppard Air Force Base's 1,000 foot runway are B-52 Stratofortresses of the Strategic Air Command's 4245th Strategic Wing.

Visitors to Sheppard's open house will see these most powerful heavy bombers ever built for the U. S. Force during take-off and on static display.

Described as the free world's first line of defense for years to come, the eight-jet 450,000 lb. bomber flies faster than 650 miles per hour and higher than 50,000 feet, driven by the equivalent of 30 diesel locomotives.

Its normal fuel load, which exceeds the capacity of three railroad tank cars, has been vastly increased through utilization of its cavernous wings for fuel storage, greatly increasing the range of the bomber.

In January, 1947, three early model Stratofortresses, refueled four times enroute to circle the globe nonstop. They flew the 24,325 miles distance in 45 hours, 19 minutes.

man record-setting crew are presently assigned to the SAC wing at Sheppard.

In the record flight, made Sept. 26, 1958, Col. Sandacz and his crew flew a 10,000 kilometer course, averaging 565.5 miles per hour. They flew a circuit from Rapid City, S. D. to Tucson, Ariz. to Portland, Ore. and return, twice, to set the record which has never since been broken.

The four other members of Col. Sandacz's crew at Sheppard are: Maj. James A. Hentschel, Navigator, Major James E. Kimble, Electronic Warfare Officer, Maj. Joseph T. Sulkowski, Radar Navigator and M. Sgt. Phillip B. McCaffree, Gunner.

Colonel Sandacz is a veteran Air Force pilot with over 9,000 flying hours 2300 of which are in the B-52. He was one of the first five SAC pilots to tally over 2,000 B-52 flying hours.

The 4245th Strategic Wing is quartered at the end of the 13,000 foot runway at Sheppard in a Composite Building, maintenance hangars, called nose docks, a modern alert facility for crews on constant alert.

SAFB Hospital Can Accommodate 300 Patients

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas — The USAF Hospital, Sheppard Technical Training Center, is a 300 bed medical facility, fully accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals. It offers treatment, in addition to routine medical care, in twenty-two professional specialties, including neuropsychiatry, orthopedics, surgery, ophthalmology, dermatology and many others.

The hospital is commanded by Col. Joseph C. Denslow, Jr., USAF, MC, who is also a senior Flight Surgeon and a specialist in the field of urology.

The military mission of the hospital is, in part, to provide medical care for all military and dependent personnel assigned or attached to Sheppard Technical Training Center, including the new 4245th Strategic Bombing Wing. Additional vital functions of the Sheppard hospital are to act as a regional specialty center for the care of patients transferred in by the Armed Forces Medical Regulating Office, Washington, D. C.; to provide an aviation medicine program in direct support of all Sheppard flying personnel, including those of the Strategic Air Command; and to provide dental, veterinary and preventive medicine programs in support of the general mission. Also the Sheppard hospital maintains a large mobilization expansion capacity for wartime readiness; acts as a direct referral hospital to the Physical Evaluation Board at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, for reasons of physical disability, and lends support in various medical technical areas to a number of smaller nearby military hospitals.

The hospital is located in an inter-connecting group of eighty wooden buildings erected during World War II, and covers almost forty acres of ground.

The hospital is scheduled for new quarters in the near future. Plans were announced early in October for the construction of a four or five story hospital and one story dental clinic.

The purely medical workload of this hospital includes a constant census of approximately two hundred fifty bed patients, and a daily average of five hundred out-patient treatments. This does not take into account the heavy work schedule involved in carrying on the additional functions of aviation medicine, dental service, preventive medicine and others.

Patients requiring specialized treatment are flown in by Aero-medical transport from bases as far away as the Philippines. Doctors make numerous flights with pilots and crew members to evaluate first hand the problems encountered by flying personnel that can be eliminated or alleviated through the application of medical science. Dental care is provided for some fourteen thousand military personnel stationed or in training at Sheppard. The prevention of illness or epidemics is another important medical function. During the past year seventy-five thousand immunizations were administered by the base hospital.

A dry cleaning expert was telling me the need for getting after stains promptly. Let stained clothes stand a week and you can expect trouble. Mildew, a chief offender, develops fast in a humid clothes hamper. Stains can be removed twice as fast if flushed in clear water followed by prompt rinsy laundering. This is especially true of soft drink, mustard and catsup stains. By getting out the last bit of dirt, soap, and suds, your automatic washer paves the way for delightfully clean fabrics. The clothes then can be fluffed up like new in an automatic LP-Gas clothes dryer.

"Community Appreciation Day" To Feature Famous Thunderbirds

Plans for a full day's activities to be climaxed by the performance of the world famous Air Force Thunderbirds are being made for the "Community Appreciation Day" to be held by Sheppard Air Force Base, Saturday, October 15th.

The "Community Appreciation Day" is scheduled by the base in appreciation for the many benefits offered base personnel by Wichita Falls citizens and those of the surrounding area. The "Open House" will be held from 10:00 a. m. to 4 p. m. and will be climaxed with the 30-minute spectacular show by the Thunderbirds, the world's first supersonic flying acrobatic team which is programmed to begin at 3 p. m.

The public is invited to attend according to an invitation issued by Brig. Gen. Thomas E. Moore, commander of Sheppard Technical Training Center.

Static displays will be featured in the "open house" area for inspection by the visitors throughout the day. A number of special activities also are planned for the event, and will be staged throughout the day.

Activities programmed include an exhibition by the sentry dogs of the 4245th Strategic Wing, a precision drill demonstration by the Drill Team of Sheppard Technical Training Center. A fire fighting demonstration, the erection of an Atlas missile, model airplane demonstration, take off of B-52 aircraft and a fly-by of a B-52 are among other events planned.

The 761st Air Force Band at Sheppard will present selections during the various activities.

The Thunderbirds will perform in red, white and blue F-100C Super Sabre fighters. They will put on what amounts to an aerial ballet that literally sings as these fliers maneuver their planes thru a pre-planned sequence of loops, rolls, whiffers, corkscrew changeovers & cloverleaf turns.

The whole show will be at low altitude within a one mile radius of the show area.

The men who stand alert with the B-52's are constantly keyed for the sound of the klaxon horn which will send them on the way to their target. It is their fervent hope, however, that they will never have to fly in anger, for the aircraft they fly can deliver many times the destructive power of all the bombs dropped during World War II.

Colonel Blaine B. Campbell

Colonel Frank M. Madsen

AIR BASE GROUP COMMANDER — Colonel Blaine B. Campbell, a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, assumed command of 3750th Air Base Group in May 1960, having previously served here as inspector. He came to Sheppard from Wiesbaden, Germany, where he was assigned as deputy for operations of the 7100 Support Wing, United States Air Forces in Europe. He has been in Military service 26 years.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL COMMANDER — Colonel Frank M. Madsen, Jr., became commander of 3750th Technical School, USAF, at Sheppard AFB July 1, 1960. He came to Sheppard from the Pentagon where he served as Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations in Headquarters, United States Air Force, Washington, D. C.

Colonel Russell B. Daniels

SHEPPARD AFB — INSPECTOR — Colonel Russell B. Daniels came to Sheppard AFB, from Chanute AFB, Ill., in May 1960 for an assignment as Inspector of Sheppard Technical Training Center. At Chanute he was commander of Air Base Group.

The 4245th Strategic Wing at Sheppard AFB became a combat ready unit of the Strategic Air Command early this year following over two years of preparation at Sheppard for reception of the B-52 heavy bombers and the personnel who fly and support them.

'Forward March' Is Theme of All SAFB Training

"Forward March," a command often given in drill practice for basic trainees at Sheppard AFB is in reality the theme of the entire Military Training Branch, under the Commandant of Troops.

Lieutenant Colonel Berlin B. Millsaps serves as Commandant of Troops and as such is responsible for all school squadrons and the basic military training. He assumed this command during a recent re-organization at the base.

The mission of the military training branch is to give airmen with no prior service an orderly and progressive transition from civilian to military life.

Major John C. Stuart as chief of the Military Training Branch of the 3750th Technical School, USAF, directs the military training program.

This branch, which is well-known for conducting Phase II Basic Military Training Program, also has the responsibility for conducting the indoctrination training program for initially assigned second lieutenants from the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program. Other duties include training the base drill team, providing the honor guard for visiting dignitaries, conducting retreat ceremonies at Center Headquarters each day, supervising both Center and Technical School parades and reviews, evaluating the school squadrons in the areas of military training which assists the School Commander.

Phase II Basic Military Training is for basic trainees who have only had four weeks prior military training at Lackland AFB, Texas. At Sheppard their basic training is integrated with their technical training program.

The Military instructor in his bearing, dignity, consciousness, these are noncommissioned personnel recently from overseas who years of experience in Force and are especially for conducting this training.

STRATOFORTRESS — A powerful B-52 levels off in flight after taking off Sheppard Air Force Base runway. The bomber is 156 feet long and its wingspan is 185 ft.—its 48 foot tail section towers four stories high. It carries four machine guns in its tail. Manned by a six-man crew, the B-52 is designed to meet the exacting requirements of Strategic Air Command's long-range operations.

TECHNICAL TRAINING — Sheppard Air Force Base is one of the largest schools on base in the Department of Aircraft Maintenance Training. It offers the largest number of classes and has, by far, the most graduates. These courses are on all phases of reciprocating and jet aircraft and engine maintenance on the cargo, tanker and bomber aircraft for which Sheppard has been designated as the prime training center. This department also operates the field and mobile training detachments stationed at bases throughout the United States and at bases overseas wherever they are needed to instruct students.

MAINTENANCE TRAINING — It offers the largest number of classes and has, by far, the most graduates. These courses are on all phases of reciprocating and jet aircraft and engine maintenance on the cargo, tanker and bomber aircraft for which Sheppard has been designated as the prime training center. This department also operates the field and mobile training detachments stationed at bases throughout the United States and at bases overseas wherever they are needed to instruct students.

STUDENTS learn how to repair and maintain aircraft keeping them ready for immediate use. While the largest majority of these students are basic airmen on their first enlistments in the United States Air Force, some are retrainees — airmen and noncommissioned officers trained in skills that have excesses of qualified personnel or have become outmoded in the fast developing Air Force of today. The balance are technicians returning to school for upgrade or advance training. The Department of Missiles

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas — STAFF CHAPLAIN — Lieutenant Colonel Elmer E. Wehking, a native of Hoyleton, Illinois, has been Staff Chaplain, Headquarters, Sheppard Technical Training Center, since August, 1959. Chaplain Wehking, who came here from Chenault AFB in Lake Charles, La., has served four overseas tours during his 17 years in service and his honors include the Bronze Star Medal. He attended the Bliff School of Theology, Denver, Colo.

Training is the other of the seven departments of training in career fields offered at Sheppard Air Force Base. Instructors for this relatively new training are, for the most part, former instructors in aircraft and engine maintenance fields. Sheppard is responsible for training on the Thor, Jupiter, Titan and Atlas.

Sheppard AFB also conducts training for instructors. Non-resident courses in all of the resident course areas are also prepared at Sheppard. This includes on the job training packages, extension courses and such. The training aids shop at Sheppard makes some trainers for courses and maintains others. These training aids vary from the simplest chart to aircraft.

During fiscal year 1960 Sheppard graduated 17,554 students and has a projected 18,000 students for 1960.

In order to make maximum use of all training facilities here some classes must be conducted on three shifts of six hour sessions each.

Sheppard fulfills an ever increasing need for training students to maintain and operate the Aerospace force.

Air Refueling by Tanker Force

The global capability of SAC's giant jet bombers depends entirely on air refueling support given by the command's tanker force. Until nuclear aircraft leave the drawing boards and get into the air, the tanker will continue to be the key to long-range flying.

Without aerial refueling, B-47's could fly only 3,000 miles and the B-52 Stratofortress could fly little over twice that far—not even a third of the way around the earth.

With aerial refueling, any of these bombers can circle the earth. They have done it. And, with aerial refueling, they could fly even farther if the crews could endure it.

Air-to-air refueling was first tried in 1923. It was not until SAC's activation in 1946 that the technique became a matter-of-fact operation. It has become so routine now that refueling is accomplished day and night around the world every few minutes.

SAC is rapidly replacing its 4 engine Boeing KC-97 Stratotanker with the Boeing KC-135 Jet Stratotanker. The advantage of the KC-135, a prototype of the Boeing 707 passenger airliner, is its speed, range and ceiling.

It flies at a speed of more than 550 miles per hour, above 42,000 feet and has a range of more than 4,000 mi.

Sentry Dogs Guard Restricted Areas 4245th Strategic Wing at Sheppard

Sentry dogs guarding restricted areas of the 4245 Strategic Wing at Sheppard Air Force Base are as rigidly trained and dedicated as any Strategic Air Command airmen.

Although a dog's transition from gentle house pet to man-killer takes only a few weeks, the sentry dogs are highly dedicated to their duty, apprehending intruders in the areas they watch.

A dog's career begins when he is purchased by the Air Force from his owners. When an owner expresses a willingness to sell his animal, he is mailed a questionnaire concerning his dog's background, habits and traits. If the dog meets preliminary qualifications, he is accepted on a trial basis, pending final purchase.

Sentry dogs assigned to the SAC wing are valued at approximately $2500, having been purchased for $70 to $150.

Following purchase, the dogs are sent to the Sentry Dog Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, where they meet the airmen who will work and train them.

Handlers are assigned Sentry Dog duty on a voluntary basis and report to Lackland for eight weeks intensive training with the dog they have been assigned.

At Lackland the dogs undergo the transition to the powerful beast who patrols the restricted areas throughout the Strategic Air Command, guarding vital elements of this country's war-making capacity. During this training the animals must be taught to remain hostile to intruders, yet gentle with their handlers. Each dog is assigned only one handler and it is seldom that he will allow another person, even another handler to touch him.

If a handler is separated from the service his dog is returned to Lackland for retraining with another handler. Several dogs here have been retrained with another handler. Several dogs here have been retrained as many as three or four times. In rare cases if a dog proves unmanageable he and his trainer are returned to the school for additional training.

Dogs and handlers at Sheppard were assigned to the 4245 Strategic Wing directly from the training school early this year. The kennels are located west of the SAC Composite Building. Handlers and dogs are assigned to the 4245th Combat Defense Squadron.

Dogs and handlers man their posts at dusk each day and stand guard until the following dawn. They train for one hour prior to assuming their posts and for one hour following duty. Every fourth day the dogs are trained for four hours.

Once each month the dogs are evaluated at a review when they stand inspection and march in formation.

The sentry dogs are trained to attack and hold intruders by bringing them to the ground. They are trained to kill, if necessary. They practice their tactics on a handler clothed in an attack suit made of heavy burlap and cotton padding. Dogs, exerting as much as 500 pounds pressure between their jaws, have bitten through the five inch thick suit. These dogs have been known to chew the rims off metal buckets.

Several handlers have been bitten by their own dogs. According to M Sgt Robert C. Snow, Sentry Dog Flight Commander, "It's part of the business." Sergeant Snow says the dogs' tempers are similar to those of humans. When aggravated they will often snap at their handlers.

Dogs assigned to the 4245th range in weight from 77 to 99 pounds and consume about 1900

Colonel Joe L. Moody

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas, — OPERATIONS OFFICER — Colonel Joe L. Moody is Operations officer at Sheppard Air Force Base. He came to Sheppard in June, 1959, from Headquarters Air Training Command, Randolph AFB, Texas, where he was Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff of Technical Training. This is his second assignment at Sheppard; he served here first from 1949 to 1951 with the technical school.

Five Branches of Intelligence Training Dept.

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas — The Department of Intelligence Training is divided into five branches. Each one contributes to teaching airmen and enlisted men and officers from the Air Force and other services and Mutual Assistance Program (MAP) students.

Closely meshed activities permit the incorporation of changes immediately as they happen Air Force-wide, military-wide and nationally and internationally. While one change may be insignificant, another may be of major importance.

The Air Intelligence Branch trains students in air intelligence functions; it is responsible for target analysis and development and all facets of mission planning for combat operations.

The Photo-Radar Intelligence Branch teaches the principles and techniques of evaluating, producing and disseminating intelligence gained through the interpretation of aerial and radar-photography.

The Recognition Materials Branch, which has a USAF directed mission, develops, analyzes and prepares recognition materials for reproduction for all USAF commands. Personnel here are also qualified to evaluate instructional equipment and technique for use in recognition training programs of major air commands. They are also concerned with the promotion and standardization of recognition training materials and programs.

Lieut. Colonel Paul A. Stears directs this Department which has a faculty and administrative staff of almost 100 persons.

ducted here now are Intelligence Comptroller, Transportation, Missiles, Communication and Utilities. There is also a branch which offers training for instructors.

Tenant units assigned to Sheppard AFB during the years have been the 3570th the Observer Training Group which was here from October, 1952, to March, 1954, the 380th Air Refueling Squadron, assigned here from December 1953 to September 1956.

Tenant units now assigned to Sheppard AFB are the 4245th Strategic Wing of the Strategic Air Command, Detachment 5 of 8th Weather Group and Airways and Air Communication Service Detachment 2002-2, both of Military Air Transport Service; and the resident auditor.

Sheppard Air Force Base was designated a permanent Air Force installation in 1950. The original site for the base of 300 acres was sold to the Government for one dollar by J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls cattleman.

The base was named for Texas Senator Morris E. Sheppard, an advocate of military preparedness. As Chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, he led the fight for military preparedness preceding Pearl Harbor.

Today, Sheppard Technical Training Center is continuing that fight for military preparedness by conducting the extensive training which is so necessary for modern warfare.

5th Detachment
8th Weather
Group at SAFB

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas—Demonstrating the effectiveness of coordinated effort in the United States Air Force, the 5th Detachment, 8th Weather Group, Military Air Transport Service, operates as a tenant unit at Sheppard Air Force Base to make flying safe in the "wild blue yonder".

Captain Franklin A. Ross is commander of the 15 man group who presently serve support to the 4245th Wing of the Strategic Air Command.

Their task is to receive weather data, assemble the information, and make this available to each pilot prior to his departure on flight. Presently, flight clearance is based on a four-hour normal flight from the base, or 4245th with its long-range jets, the forecasts will extend to 24-hour periods from the time of flight.

The specialized weather forecasts demanded by air-flight stress ceiling, visibility, turbulence (degree of bumpiness), possibility of ice formation on the aircraft, winds aloft, tops of clouds and gustiness of the surface.

Pilots in this space age go aloft with minute data for flight at 5,000, 10,000, 20,000, and 30,000 ft. levels. The charts resemble tangled spider webs to the layman; the pilot, however, reads the temperature in isotherms, the pressure distribution in isobars and interprets the coded symbols which indicate wind direction.

The Weather Detachment depends in part on a vast network of 700 reporting bases which make reports every four hours round the clock and upon their own laboratory which receives this coded data for the local group. They also work closely with the United States Weather Bureau located at Kell Field.

Two teletype machines chatter with coded weather information from both civilian and military bases. Another important source of information is the chart with long-range forecasts which comes weekly from Washington, D. C.

3750th Civil Engineering
Group at SAFB

The 3750th Civil Engineering Group at Sheppard Air Force Base is an organization which consists of many branches, at least one of which touches the life of every Sheppardite every day.

The group is divided into six major branches, and from these branches into many more sections. The six branches are Engineering, management, Maintenance and Repair, Preventive Maintenance, Utilities and Fire Department.

Colonel Glynn O. Mount is Base Engineer and directs the work of the group.

The Engineering Branch has four sections, design and drawing preparation with its civil, mechanical, electrical and architectural engineers, the real property section which maintains records on Base real estate the drafting section and the inspection section. The tasks of these last two more or less speak for themselves.

The two sections of the Management Branch are work control and administration. The work control section processes work orders through steps such as estimating and investigating, ordering the needed supplies, & scheduling the work into the shops. It also supervises the emergency call list. The Administrative section keeps all records of completed work as well as the group personnel records.

In Maintenance and Repair are the actual shops where the work orders are filled. In all there are eight shops, carpentry, painting, electric, heating, sheet-metal, plumbing, pavement and ground and refrigeration.

For preventive Maintenance purposes, the base is divided into five zones on base plus the Wherry and Capehart government housing area. Continuous inspection and the consequent needed work goes on periodically on a 90 days basis for carpenters and painters and 45 days for plumbers and electricians. In other words, every building is inspected for preventive maintenance within this period.

Maintenance central heating, cold storage, central air conditioning plant, water pumping & treatment stations, sewage disposal and insect and rodent control are some of the many duties handled by the Utilities Branch.

The Fire Department, of course is more or less a self-explanatory branch which is a "must". Fire Chief William M. Beck directs the department which has gained an area reputation for their efficiency.

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. A. Deuschle, Manager

First Phone Call via Satellite!

The day isn't too far off when you and your family relaxing in your home right here in Burkburnett, may watch a royal wedding in Europe or a tennis match in Australia by live television. Or you may place a call to Singapore or Calcutta—by way of man-made satellites thousands of miles in the sky.

These things were only dreams a few years ago. Now they are much closer to reality, all because of "Project Echo". It was the first successful attempt to "bounce a voice off a satellite.

Perhaps you've seen the silvery "Echo" satellite orbiting the earth. To think of "bouncing" a phone call off it staggers the imagination. But that's what happened when a Bell Telephone Laboratories engineer in New Jersey talked by way of outer space with an engineer in California. They said they could hear each other as clearly as if they were talking across town.

Project Echo relied heavily on telephone science and technology. Bell Laboratories scientists not only participated in the first test of voice communications via satellite, but Bell Labs provided the guidance system that directed the satellite into its selected orbit.

This test opens a new era of worldwide communications. The Bell System has already proposed a plan for using satellites as relay stations to carry telephone calls and television programs throughout the world.

HOW TO "HOLD THE PHONE"

You and your family may be among the many that believe the color wall phone is the handiest thing in your kitchen.

You probably realize how it brightens up the room and saves you time and steps. You probably like the way it saves space—doesn't take up valuable room on a kitchen counter or table.

But did you know there is a handy way to keep the receiver from dangling if you are called away from the phone for a minute?

A number of people have told me they were surprised to learn they can hook the receiver over a notch on top of their color wall phones until they return to the phone. The illustration shows how it works.

I thought you might be interested in hearing about this added convenience of wall phones in color.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

WRITE-IN CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY TREASURER

I have been a resident of Wichita County for the past 28 years. I would not deny anyone the right to make a race for office, whether they have never run or have held office 10-20 years or three decades. However, I believe the voter should be advised of facts that they might better make up their minds what is most just in the write-in race for County Treasurer.

There are several chronic office seekers who have been running from ten years to almost three decades. They have been paid from about $75,000.00 to approximately one-fifth of a million. I have worn out several pencils voting for them. In my case I worked eight years as a deputy at depression wages. The total salary for the eight years was little more than $13,000.00. Nuff-sed.

Early business college training and many years of office experience qualifies me for the office I seek. A few years in the office as Treasurer would gratify a life long ambition of my deserving wife and myself. My name is easy to spell, easy to remember. Associate my name with famous foods, such as Rice Krispies, Comet Rice, Uncle Ben's Rice, One Minute Rice or even Cracked Rice.
