THIS IS YOUR TOWN

The Burkburnett Star commends the property owners on East Third Street for their foresight in planning the renovation of that area.

The old adage "A stitch in time saves nine" was never more apt than in describing the joint efforts of property owners and the city in upgrading the four block area known as downtown Burkburnett.

Real estate, whether it be bricks in a building or concrete in a sidewalk, disintegrates on an increasing scale. The loose board of today is the falling sign of tomorrow. The sidewalk allowed to go to pieces today is the pedestrian hazard tomorrow.

Our congratulations to those who realize that keeping property in top, modern condition is equally as important as stocking saleable merchandise, using the best tools in a trade or fertilizing a wheat field.

Neighborhood dry rot with its vacant buildings, unwashed windows, and general air of defeat is also self escalating. On the contrary, the neighborhood that has a positive program of improvement and becomes known as progressive and forward thinking will attract both new customers for its businesses and new tenants for its buildings.

Congratulations to those who realize that the best insurance of an economically sound business neighborhood is a program of continued self-improvement, a literal "keeping up with the times."

Even the most patriotic citizen can hardly point with pride to the holes in the sidewalks, the broken curbs and ankle high weeds and say "This is my own, my native town and I wouldn't want to change any part of it."

How much better to be able to say, "This is my own, my native town, ready and willing to improve with the times, and I am proud to be a part of that progress."

Again, congratulations!

DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED AT BURK GIN COOP MEETING

Three directors were re-elected and dividend check distributed Saturday during the annual Farmers Cooperative of Burkburnett stockholders meeting in Burkburnett High School.

C. B. Bowles of Randlett, Okla., and Charlie McClure and W. H. McLean both of Burkburnett were re-elected by the 200 members present for the annual meeting.

Bowles currently is president of the cotton gin cooperative and McClure is vice president.

Holderover directors include Sharrell Reed and Hertz Baber of Randlett, Okla., George Warren of Devol, Okla., and J. R. Cope of Iowa Park.

A. G. Earp is gin manager and Justine Hooper is bookkeeper for the cooperative located in Burkburnett.

Earp reported 3,100 bales averaging 500 pounds had been ginned during the past year as compared to 2,085 the previous year.

Best news to the co-op members was the $4 per bale dividend as compared to last year's $1.50 return.

Bowles told the membership that the cooperative had completed paying off a debt of $180,000 during the past year for a new gin machinery installed in 1964. He said this was one year earlier than called for by the note.

The membership approved a financial statement indicating total net earnings of $15,694.29 for the year which paid a $4 per bale dividend. This was based on total sales of $341,226. The report was prepared and audited by Romine and Thomas, public accountants from Enid, Okla.

Brief talks to the membership were made by T. J. Barton, representative of Producers Oil Mill of Oklahoma City, and by Joe Brown, farm editor of the Wichita Falls Times.

Jaycees Donate To Youth Center

Mrs. Ken Blankenship is shown accepting a $100 check in behalf of the Youth Center from Wayne Sykes, President of the Burkburnett Jaycees.

The Burkburnett Jaycees feel that since the Youth Center is $5200 in debt and since there are 52 civic clubs in Burkburnett; each civic organization should be able to contribute at least $100 toward retiring this debt. If the debt was paid, the Youth Center would be able to expand and offer more service to the young people of Burkburnett.

The Burkburnett Jaycees want to be first to contribute their $100 and challenge the rest of the local civic clubs to do the same.

The Jaycees realize that some clubs have been contributing for some time and it is not their intent to slight these clubs; but to motivate the rest that haven't.

Serious Side Effects Possible

The widely-held vision of tax reform as a source of tax relief may well turn into a bigger mirage than was ever seen on the Sahara desert. The danger is that in trying to make the mirage a reality changes may be made in the tax laws that could do far more harm than good to the long-range growth of the United States.

One proposed change would alter or eliminate the percentage depletion provisions which allow petroleum producers to conserve capital for continued oil exploration and development. Mr. Harold M. McClure, Jr., writing in Independent Petroleum Monthly in defense of percentage depletion, calls attention to the fact that "... under today's 'new economics, there is a great body of opinion that tax policy should be used to achieve desirable ends as to employment, inflation, investments, etc.'"

Under this new economic philosophy of tax policy, Mr. McClure believes, "A fair appraisal of the depletion provisions would lead to these conclusions: 1. They have been and are today a primary factor in the maintenance of adequate . . . oil and gas supplies. 2. They have, by stimulating adequate supply, provided American consumers and our economy generally with products at consistently low and relative stable prices. . . . 3. They have, by accelerating U. S. energy consumption at very low costs, stimulated direct and indirect revenues to local, state and federal governments. . . ." Tax changes that would cripple the proven worth of percentage depletion could hardly be called "tax reform."

FACT AND OPINION

The American Medical Association released the information that Americans have stopped getting younger. The median age of 27.7 years remained unchanged in the period from July 1, 1967, to July 1, 1968. It is the first time in 15 years that it has not declined, according to the Census Bureau. A continuing decline of males in proportion to females is shown. There were 96.6 males to 100 females in 1968, as compared with 97.8 males in 1960, and 99.2 in 1950.

A publication by the West Texas Utilities Company reports that motor fuel consumption in the United States totaled 74 billion gallons in 1966, will rise to 94 billion gallons in 1975, and reach 105 billion in 1980, according to estimates made by U.S. Bureau of Public Roads statisticians.

Spotlight on HEALTH

ON BATHING THE NEW BABY

What are new mothers concerned about most? Ten young women, all mothers of infants under 15 months were asked what were their chief problems during their baby's first year. One they all seemed to have in common was their concern about bathing the baby.

One of the girls said that her mother-in-law became her official baby bather during the first three months of her infant's life. She herself was too afraid that she might drop the baby, scald him, injure his delicate skin, or cause an emotional problem that might scar him for life.

For girls without mentors, there is a booklet on the subject. "Make bath time fun time for your baby, and then you'll enjoy it, too," it advises. Called, "A Bath Can Do More . . . Much More Than Bathe Your Baby," it offers useful advice even for mothers with experience.

"Let him feel your affection by holding him warmly and giving him reassuring support, the way you've probably learned to do in feeding and dressing him. Talk to him during his bath; later, as he grows stronger and begins to react, encourage him to kick and splash and gurgle back to you."

Normal baby skin is covered with a thin protective layer of oil which alkaline soaps tend to remove. A gentle creamy white emulsion used to bathe babies in many hospital nurseries as well as for handwashing by nurses who take care of them is pHisoHex.

Like the skin itself, pHisoHex is mildly acid. Unlike soap, it has little or no peeling or drying action. Regular daily use of pHisoHex builds up an antibacterial film on the baby's skin to protect him against germs between baths.

This film, which is not removed by rinsing, helps to fight "staph" infection and to prevent diaper rash and cradle cap (which also were problems for the group of mothers).

With the exclusive use of pHisoHex, there is usually no need for additional oils, lotions, or powders simplifying bathing procedure and keeping cost down.

The booklet can be obtained free of charge by writing to Bathing Baby Booklet, c/o Winthrop Laboratories, 90 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

Can Crafting,

A Recipe For A Restful Afternoon

James D. W. Blyth, president and chief executive officer of Canada Dry Corporation, receives articles made from soft drink cans from 12-year-old Lynn Maxwell, a member of the Plainview (N.Y.) Sprites 4-H Club. All items were produced from plans in the company's Can Crafting Booklet.

Take one bored youngster with nothing to do. Add one equally bored father slumped in front of the TV set. Toss in a half dozen empty soft drink cans. Stir, then leave alone for several hours until done, while you relax.

Before you stir, however, may we suggest that you get a copy of a new booklet on can crafting that is available free from Canada Dry Corporation.

Can crafting takes the idea of re-using empty cans and develops it into a highly fascinating hobby that will encourage your youngster to use his ingenuity and creative talents, and give "Dad" something interesting to do with his leisure time.

In making available its can crafting booklet, Canada Dry has something more in mind than providing you with a restful Sunday afternoon or giving your youngster and husband something to do. The booklet is part of a national litter control campaign aimed at preventing the careless discarding of empty beverage cans in public places.

This company, which each year places several billion cans of its soft drinks into consumer hands, offers a positive approach to litter control, which is embodied in the campaign slogan: "Save the Can, Use it Again!"

The can crafting booklet has been distributed free as a public service to thousands of 4-H Clubs, junior high school industrial art classes, sheltered workshops, youth organizations and hobbyists throughout the country. Copies can be obtained at no cost by writing: Can Crafting, Canada Dry Corporation, 100 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

News From The County Agent

Are you interested in learning how to bud and graft pecans? If so, you will want to attend one of two meetings on April 24. The first meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in the County Commissioners Court Room in the Courthouse in Wichita Falls. The second meeting will be held at the Iowa Park Experiment Station beginning at 1:30 p.m. Mr. U. A. Randolph, Superintendent of the Montague Experiment Station, will be in charge of both meetings. Both men and women are invited to attend.

Organic matter is the storehouse of plant nutrients in the soil. It is often, says county agent B. T. Haws, referred to as the "fat of the land." It results from the decomposition of plant and animal materials by soil organisms. On the average it contains about 56 per cent carbon and 5 per cent nitrogen, says Haws.

Organic matter improves soil structure and its ability to take in water and hold it in storage for later use by plants. It also improves soil aeration, loosens dense compact soils and granulates loose, open sandy soils to give them a friable crumb structure.

Too, organic matter exerts a strong influence on the exchange capability of the soil, and also acts as a buffer to prevent rapid changes or fluctuations in soil acidity or an alkalinity, explains the county agent.

During the decomposition process, a continuous supply of carbon dioxide, nitrogen in various forms, phosphorus and other nutrients so essential to plant growth are listed and liberated. Organic matter serves as a storage facility for mineral nutrients such as calcium, nitrogen, magnesium, and many others making them less likely to be lost in drainage or water seepage. It also makes the soil more favorable for vigorous, rapidly developing root systems on young plants. Continuous cultivation without giving attention to regular additions of residues gradually lowers the organic matter in the soil. The level may become so low that maximum cannot be obtained. Soil tests will show the organic level in the soil, says Haws.

Poison ivy can be controlled. This dangerous pest is now making its spring appearance and is most commonly found along streams and in shaded areas. All parts of the plant are toxic and especially its sap. The easiest and most effective control method is with herbicides.

Hand chopping, grubbing or mowing is not as effective as the use of a herbicide in a spray solution. He pointed out that the best control chemicals are ammonium sulfamate (ammate), amino triazole, 2,4, 5-T, slivex, and 2,4-D. All are absorbed through the leaves and stems of the plants.

Get Your Power Mower Ready For Spring

This modern suburban husband will find operating his electric lawn mower not only faster this year but safer: he has read his use and instruction manual and performed the few tasks necessary for springtime "get ready."

Power mowers, either gasoline or electric, require close attention to cleanliness if they are to give top performance. Sunbeam engineers, designers of both types, say in their manual. Gasoline engines should be drained, wiped dry, and refilled with fresh fuel at season's start and occasionally during the long summer. The spark plugs should be checked occasionally and crank case oil should be drained before the season and at least once during the summer. Homemakers are warned to keep gas in UL approved red can, in fixed places beyond children's reach. Can should be securely covered to prevent fumes from spreading and stored outside of the home, away from the furnace, water heater, etc.

Electric motors require no attention beyond a few drops of oil, checking brushes, cord and connector plug. A dry cloth is suggested for "after-use" wipe-up. This type mower is best stored off the floor by hanging it on a hook.

FRIENDS OF LIBRARY SET 'BOOK FAIR' ON APRIL 24-26

Attention Book Buffs! Friends of the Burkburnett Library are ready for you with 50 shelves of used books in their annual Book Fair, April 24-26, at 224 East Third Street, Burkburnett. Like its predecessors, this year's sale will fatten the book and project fund of the Friends, which provides those extra services for Library patrons not available through regular funding channels. Visitors to the Book Fair will find encyclopedias, juvenile fiction, mysteries; almost any subject is covered and the selection will be changing constantly as additional volumes are donated. Annual membership drive of the Friends will coincide with the Book Fair, where a special table will be staffed by membership committee members, headed by Mrs. James Pearson. What returns do Friends get on their investment of $1 a year in membership fees? Mainly the satisfaction which comes from having a part in the many projects sponsored by the Friends, Mrs. Pearson thinks. One of the widely used benefits to Burkburnett Library patrons has been the copying machine which was donated to the library through the Friends. Another gift made by the Friends is a glass display case to house exhibits related to reference books in the Library. One of the popular collections shown was of rocks and minerals. The case presently holds samples of the art of glass-making, much of it of antique value. The Friends also provided the revolving unit for the "stop and swap" collection of paperbacks which patrons are free to exchange as often as they wish. Individual Friends have given hours of volunteer service to patrons, exchanging books for shut-ins, relieving the library staff for conferences and giving talks to groups on the facilities offered by the library. The Friends have also sponsored parties each year for the large number of children enrolled during the summer months in the Texas State library reading course.

1969 New York Summer Festival Queen Cathie Mann.

New York's 16th annual "Summer Festival" is waiting for you to make the scene. And the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau tells you how—in two free sightseeing aids called "16 Scenes for Summer '69" and "20 Free Things to Do." The two free lists may be obtained by writing or dropping by the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, 90 East 42nd Street, New York City 10017. The Bureau's Information Center, directly opposite Grand Central Station, is open every day of the year 9:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M.

Among the eye-filling scenes on the list of "16 Scenes" is the newest major attraction in the city—The Delacorte Geyser, located in the East River off the southwestern tip of Welfare Island. Opening in June and easily seen from the U.N. Plaza, the brilliantly illuminated geyser will throw its dramatic jet of water 400 to 600 feet high. For a different type of scene, visit Manhattan's vast playground—Central Park. See youth parading next year's fashions around lovely Bethesda Fountain. Dine at the beautiful new Fountain Cafe, an oasis for the fresh-air gourmet. Among the 20 free things suggested by the Visitors Bureau is Rockefeller Center with its beautiful Channel Gardens, its summertime band, and the free Money Museum at the Chase Manhattan Bank. At night, in Central Park, you can see a free Shakespeare play or hear a pop or classical concert.

The Burkburnett Explorer Scout Troop, Neil Kreidler, scoutmaster, were Friends in deed, for they assisted in moving and arranging books at the Fair building. Many Burkburnett clubs join the Friends as a group, the first two to become 100 per cent members for 1970 being the Current Literature Club and the Junior University Study Club. The Friends will be led in 1969-70 by Cliff Wampler, president; Gene Allen, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Schroeder, secretary; Jim Frye, treasurer; Mrs. Gary Bean, publicity; Mrs. Edgar Fulcher, finance; and Mrs. Pearson, membership.

Florence Pinkston, Alma Jackson Groups Combine Meetings

The Florence Pinkston Circle joined with the Alma Jackson Circle of the First Baptist Women's Missionary Society and held a combined meeting Monday night April 14th in the Community Room of the Burkburnett Bank. Mrs. R. P. Thaxton presided. Mrs. J. A. Johnson led the group in singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer", with Mrs. Ruth Beldon, pianist. Mrs. I. C. Evans read the Birthday Calendar of Prayer and offered prayer for our Missionaries. Reports were heard and discussed regarding our sick. Cards were signed and sent to the ones listed. Mrs. Fred Hunt gave an interesting program on our "Chap-lains" serving our Forces. A season of prayer was held in behalf of the forth coming Crusade. There will be no more meeting of the Circles in April. Twenty-one members present were served cookies, punch and coffee by the Alma-Jackson Circle.

Careers and Education

UNIVERSAL education keeps America great. Today, nearly 120,000,000 Americans attend school, from the little red school house to college.

OUR MEDIAN schooling in 1940 was fifth grade; in 1965 it was 11th grade, and by 1975 it is estimated to go well beyond high school.

SCHOOLING leads to jobs and careers, but that doesn't necessarily involve leaving home for the big city. Local independent telephone companies, operating in 48 states, employ over 130,000 people, from clerks and cable splicers with high school diplomas to college graduates at highly specialized levels, all lifetime careers in serving their own communities.

NITA McNISH IS CHOSEN "WOMAN OF YEAR" BY LOCAL A.B.W.A.

"Woman of the Year" Nita McNish

"Woman of the Year" was the honor conferred on Nita McNish, by Boomtown Chapter, of the American Business Women's Association, at a dinner meeting at the National Room of the First National Bank, held on April 21, 1969.

This award is made annually by each ABWA chapter to one of its members. The award is based on the progress of the member in her chosen business field, and the extent of her other interests such as community, educational, and character building activities. Nita McNish is presently employed by Ragland Jewelers in Wichita Falls.

As the candidate of Boomtown Chapter, Mrs. McNish is entered in the competition for the national title, "American Business Woman of the Year." Announcement of this winner will be made at the National Convention of the Association, to be held October 17-19, 1969, in Detroit, Michigan.

Boomtown Chapter had a lovely and delicious salad supper for regular meeting. It was attended by twenty-two members and three guests: Nancy Boardman, Emma Beard, and Oleta Rogers.

Mrs. Carol Blankenship gave an informative talk about the purposes of the Community Service Center, of which she is the director.

ABWA members are very proud of the fact that Boomtown Chapter Bulletin "The Gusher" won first place in Galveston last month. Nita McNish and Kathy Keene are the editors.

How To Simplify Travels With Baby

NOT so many years ago, it was almost impossible to consider taking an infant or a toddler along on a family trip. There was no running water. Kettles had to be heated for an infant's bath. Facilities for diapers were non-existent. Even weighing a baby was often done at the local butcher's, with the child slung up like a side of meat.

Basic Precautions

Nowadays, even tiny infants can travel without difficulty if mothers take the right precautions, advise the makers of Destin baby products.

Here are basic recommendations:

Before dressing the youngster for an excursion, make sure he is freshly diapered and well powdered.

If diaper rash is a problem, the Destin people recommend applying medicated ointment to sore spots immediately, to heal irritation as fast as possible. Baby will be happier if he's comfortable, and so will the rest of the family!

Keep Comfortable

Disposable diapers are a modern solution to hygiene and space problems, and make trips easier.

If you're motoring with baby, try slipping a pillowcase over his blanket. It helps keep the blanket in place, but most important, keeps the blanket fuzz off you—especially if you're wearing practical, dark-colored clothes for travel.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 25 TAKES HIKE

Girl Scout Junior Troop 25, had a perfect day last Sunday. They started the morning with a four mile hike, with full packs.

Starting at the Cashion Baptist Church parking lot they hiked to the Prescott farm. Up on arriving they gathered around and held a "Scouts Own" with the theme being about God and nature. A Sunday School class was held with story telling from the Bible.

They then proceeded to set up the camp site, which consisted of setting up the tables, dish washing sinks and tables, face and hand washing area, building the community fire place, digging the garbage hole, setting up the outdoor Latrine, and then they put up the new tent which they recently bought and had not had a chance to see. When this was all finished, they sat down and ate their sack lunches. After the clean-up the girls then proceeded to do first-aid on each other, such as bandaging the arms, hands and ankles, following the guides on pages 307 in their Junior Scout Books.

The troop then went for a small walk up the river looking for animal tracks to make casts of. They discovered where beavers had cut down trees and had started to make three different dams. After finishing their animal casts they returned to camp and the girls, laid out Indian trail signs to follow.

They then took a brief rest and sang some songs with game called Balloons, Laura Bloodworth won first prize for popping her balloon first. Her prize was a camp memory book. Veleeta Houk won the goaf prize for being the last. Her prize was five more balloons.

After all that rest, the girls decided to hike around the park area looking at trees, plants, rock forms, cloud forms, insects, birds and to check under rocks and logs for insects with their magnifying glasses.

Upon returning from this little excursion the girls started to clear the grass and leaves from the areas in which they started to build their cook fires in order to prepare their evening meal.

The girls working in the buddy system built their own fires and cooked their own food, that was broiled steak, potato and pork and beans (baked) with Kool-aid to drink. There was some Brownie's for dessert, (but somehow they were forgotten and were left in the car).

By this time the parents had started to arrive so the girls washed their dishes and put out their fires and left for home, tired but happy Girl Scouts.

Oh, by the way, the Brownie's will still be used for a good deed. As our sister Brownie troop 40 is going to pay us a visit so we can get acquainted with the girls who are to join us in the Junior troop.

If there are any mothers that live in Burk Burnett, Tex., that have or have had girls in Girl Scouting, who have any Girl

"Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised.)"

Have faith in God. He will lead us in the right paths. He will never fail.

As the highways are clearly marked and numbered so that we might easily find our way from city to city and across the nation, God's word clearly marks life's paths.

Attend church regularly and exercise your faith in God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

For New Parents: Bright-Eyed Look

NO amount of eye make-up can enhance the appearance of dull, red eyes. The only attractive eyes are bright ones!

Fatigue Dulls Eyes

After a baby arrives, remember that fatigue often makes eyes look dull. You can give eyes a "look-alert look" by using decongestant eye drops that take out the red and restore whiteness in seconds.

Visine eye drops can be comforting companions for the new father as well as the mother, to restore that special sparkle if the baby has wussed parents to lose precious sleep.

How Do They Look

But if your eyes look and feel tired and dull chronically, be sure to consult an eye specialist. Remember, your eyes are the only ones you'll ever have, so take care of them!

SENSING THE NEWS

THE STAKES IN THE ABM FIGHT
When Senate "liberals," led by Senator J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) began their battle against an anti-ballistic missile system, the operation seemed to be just another emotional protest by the defense-abolitionist element in the Senate. The fight against the ABM has taken on a new character in recent weeks, however. It apparently represents a bold bid by Senator Edward Kennedy (D-Mass) and Kennedy faithful to defeat and humiliate President Nixon in the early months of his presidency, thereby turning him into a virtual lame-duck president from the start.

Members of the Kennedy family and former Kennedy administration officials are in the key positions of the anti-ABM movement. Dr. Jerome Weisner, chief scientific adviser to the Kennedy administration and a fervent advocate of quick disarmament, is masterminding efforts among "liberals" in the scientific community to discredit defense against Soviet ballistic missiles. In New York State, Stephen Smith, a Kennedy brother-in-law, and Roswell Gilpatric, a former high official under the New Frontier, are leaders in a so-called "ad hoc Committee Against ABM." Abraham Chayes, a Harvard professor and former State Department official in the Kennedy administration, also is deeply involved. The depth and scope of the anti-ABM effort is indicated by the fact that it even includes massive telephone-calling operations such as are used in presidential elections. Committees are being formed to write letters to appear in newspapers across the country.

This power drive by New Frontiersmen, who would like to mark Richard M. Nixon as a one-term President, cannot be regarded, however, as an ordinary exercise of politics. The defense of the United States should not be involved in the political game.

In the past, both major parties have closed ranks on national defense. Even when a President lacked a majority in Congress, the majority accepted his leadership on vital defense decisions, holding that the U.S. can have only one Commander-in-Chief at a time.

Thus the Republicans went along with President Truman's basic decision on Korea. And during the Eisenhower administration, when the Democrats controlled the Senate, the Democratic leadership accepted President Eisenhower's leadership and judgment on defense. Again, during the Kennedy administration, the opposition fully accepted President Kennedy's leadership in the Cuban missile crisis.

The foes of ballistic missile defense are throwing overboard all the precedents insofar as defense is concerned. President Nixon has said that the Safeguard ABM system is essential to the security of the American people and to the protection of the nation's nuclear deterrent force. Mr. Nixon has the constitutional responsibility for the defense of the United States, but the anti-ABM lobby clearly intends to usurp his constitutional authority.

In trying to justify their ruthless opposition, "liberals" in the Senate say that the ABM would endanger peace. But Senator Richard Russell (D-Ga) rightly has characterized this argument as absurd. In a recent talk in Atlanta, Senator Russell pointed out that the ABM is a defensive system. He asked how the Russians could possibly be angered by an American defensive system. The absurdity is all the greater inasmuch as the Soviets already have an ABM system deployed around Moscow and Leningrad.

As for the need of the ABM, the President is in a better position than anyone to know the full extent of the Soviet missile menace today. As for the system's feasibility, the scientists who have the greatest expertise in ABM systems are those employed in developing them.

But leaving such questions aside, the attempt to reject President Nixon's first major proposal for national defense threatens the credibility of American leadership between now and 1972. If Mr. Nixon is defeated on the ABM, what foreign country will regard him as the real leader of his country? What ally will believe that Mr. Nixon can assure American aid, in view of his defeat on a basic element in defense of the constitutional United States? A defeat of Mr. Nixon on the ABM would not only make him appear a lame-duck, but would leave the Russians with the conviction that the United States was in the grip of the defense-abolitionists. The USSR would be encouraged to commit aggression against the United States.

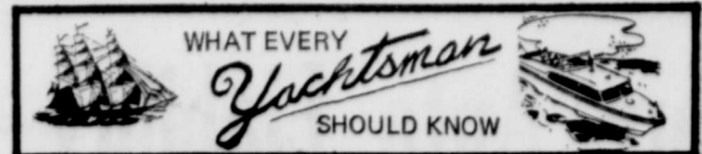

If the spirit of national defense is struck a blow by the U. S. Senate, the American people may be exposed to more serious peril than at any time in history. The Soviet marshals may counsel the Kremlin leaders that the time has come to attack the United States.

Question: A boating friend told me recently that he thought I was not taking necessary safety precautions while fueling my boat—but I always prevent smoking on board. What else should I watch out for?

Answer: When a teacup of gasoline in the bilge can destroy as much property as a stick of TNT, you simply can't be too careful! Here are 14 safety hints to keep in mind while fueling:

Before taking fuel on board:

1. See that boat is properly moored;
2. Forbid smoking on board or nearby;
3. Shut down all engines, motors, fans or any other device capable of producing a spark;
4. Extinguish all flame operated devices;
5. Close all ports, doors, and hatches;
6. Have a full U.S.C.G. approved fire extinguisher handy;
7. Advise attendant of quantity of fuel required after accurately determining the amount required.

While fueling: 8. Maintain metal to metal contact between nozzle and fill pipe to guard against static sparks; 9. See that no fuel spills get below decks; 10. Do not completely fill tanks.

After fueling: 11. Close fill openings; 12. Wipe up all spilled fuel; 13. Open all ports, doors and hatches and permit boat to ventilate at least five minutes; 14. Before starting machinery or lighting fires, be sure that there is no odor of gasoline in the bilges or other enclosed spaces.

Question: How valuable is the America's Cup, and how long has the United States held it?

Answer: Donated in 1851 by the Royal Yacht Squadron of England and named for the first yacht to win it, The America's Cup originally cost about $500. The Cup has since been defended 20 times but has never been won back by British yachtsmen.

Question: Are any of the marine insurance companies still in business that insured the fast clipper ships over 100 years ago? Do they still write marine (and private yacht) insurance?

Answer: Yes, The Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, founded in 1842 and one of The Atlantic Companies, is today the U. S.'s oldest mutual marine insurance company. This proud marine tradition still holds true: when you insure your boat, your car, your home or your business with The Atlantic Companies, you can rely on quality protection and on prompt, fair and ungrudging claim payments for insured losses—in the true tradition of the marine insurer.

Question: When entering a port from seaward, which set of buoys do I follow for the best channel?

Answer: Here are two quick memory keys for the best channel:

1. B.P.O.E., for Black buoys to Port Odd numbers Entering.
2. Red Right Returning, or Red buoys to Starboard entering from seaward.

If you would like a handy 7 1/2" x 11" laminated, waterproofed guide to the Lateral System of Buoyage (on one side) and Safety Hints While Fueling (on the reverse side), ask your local Atlantic agent, or write Department "Y" The Atlantic Companies, 45 Wall Street, New York 10005.

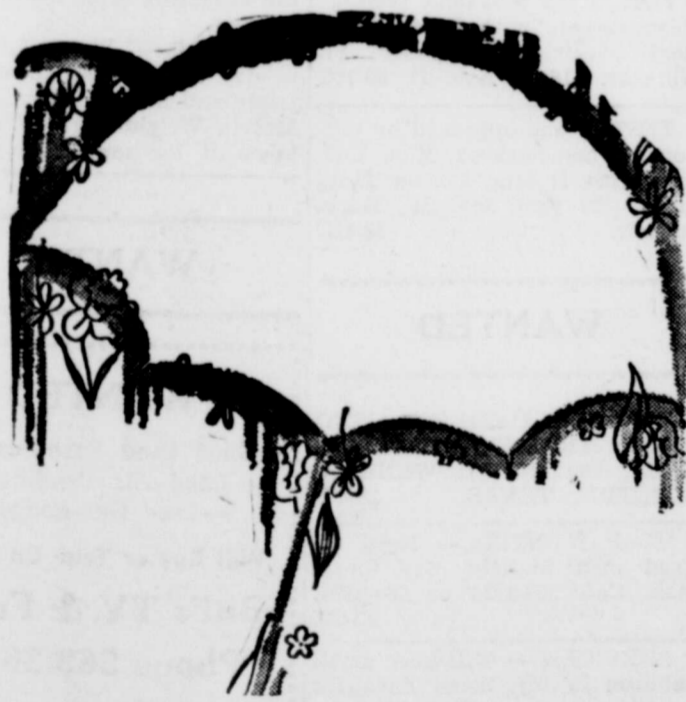

Hang it up in a prominent place in your yacht, and make safety your No. 1 passenger.
