Haskell Chamber of Commerce To Produce Colorful New Brochure

In a special called meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Saturday morning, a contract was signed with George A. Bergman of the Empro Enterprises, Inc., of Irving, Texas, to produce an attractive brochure.

The brochure will feature color pictures of the area and landmarks; a complete up-to-date area profile; a professional written history, and attractive guide to local business; a comprehensive area map; and outstanding recreational guide, and an up-to-date city map.

The brochure will be distributed on a local, state and national basis. In addition, Haskell will be listed in Certified Business Institute... Empro National Files as a progressive community welcoming new business and industry.

Chamber of Commerce officials have been of the opinion for some time that Haskell needed a brochure for advertising purposes. CBI and Empro work together promoting small towns all over the country.

The brochure will, of course, be made possible through the support of local merchants taking ad spots in the brochure.

According to the contract the brochure will be delivered within a 90-day period following receipt of final "proof" acceptance.

A representative of the Empro Enterprises is already in Haskell to begin compiling copy composition.

"The brochure will certainly be a boon to attract industry," Bob Greenroy, Chamber of Commerce president, said.

ROBERT V. REYNOLDS

R. V. Reynolds, of Washington, D. C., a native of Haskell, will be the speaker at a Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Fly-In" breakfast at the Haskell airstrip north of town, Saturday July 8 at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Reynolds, assistant administrator for General Aviation Affairs, serves the growing need of general aviation.

Area flying clubs, chamber of commerce executives plus local citizens will attend and from all indications between four and five hundred persons will be present for the early morning event, Johnny Isaacs, Chamber of Commerce manager, said.

Mayor H. V. Woodard will give the welcome address. No charge will be made for the breakfast and citizens of Haskell are invited.

Reynolds joined the former Civil Aeronautics Administration in 1947 as an airman standards inspector in Denver, followed by positions of increasing responsibility in flight operations and airworthiness. In December, 1957, he was named Chief of the General Safety Division in New York. In September, 1953, he transferred in the same capacity in Los Angeles.

During 1960-61, he served as special assistant to the former FAA Deputy Administrator, James T. Pyle, followed by two years' service as Deputy Director of the FAA's Southwest Region in Fort Worth. He returned to Washington in September, 1963, as Deputy Assistant Administrator of the Office of General Aviation Affairs. He has been Acting Assistant Administrator for General Aviation Affairs since July 1965.

Prior to World War II, Reynolds owned and operated a fixed base operation and provided basic pilot training under the government-sponsored Civilian Pilot Training Program.

During the war he served as a group commander for the Army Primary Flying School and subsequently as a civilian and military ferry pilot with overseas duty in the China-Burma-India theater, which included "flying the Hump."

Reynolds attended Baylor University from 1928 to 1930, majoring in business administration.

Married and the father of two grown sons, Reynolds lives with his wife at Munson Hill Towers, in Falls Church, Va.

Bill Fouts Completes Two Years In Peace Corps In South America

"The Peace Corps is doing a fine piece of work, and it is certainly worthwhile in my way of thinking," Bill Fouts, who has just completed two years as a volunteer in the Corps in Colombia, South America, said.

Bill, returned to Haskell last week. He was met in Mexico City by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fouts and sister, Betsy.

"The Peace Corps Volunteers come from every conceivable background, but are united in their efforts to improve the food, production, health, education and life of the millions whose governments have asked the Peace Corps to help," Fouts said.

Immediately after receiving his BA degree from Texas Tech, Bill entered the Peace Corps, and he plans to return to Tech to work on his Masters Degree. Bill spent some eight months in the rural area in South America, before moving into the city of Bogota. "Communications, roads, health, education, organizing and teaching the people to help themselves were our main objectives," Fouts said.

"High in the mountains where I was first stationed the farms consisted of 10 to 15 acres and the people raised pigs, corn and sugar cane, but it took the sugar cane around two years to mature in the high, cold climate," Fouts pointed out.

Upon moving into Bogota, Bill worked as a volunteer leader in helping to coordinate projects and programs of the volunteers. There were 110 Peace Corps volunteers working in the Department of Cundinamarca and in the Department of Meta," Mr. Fouts said.

"Yes, I enjoyed the two years in South America, and the experience with the Peace Corps but of course it is always good to come back home," Bill concluded.

Haskell Telephone Communications Knocked - Out For 15-Hour Period

A thunderstorm, accompanied by gusty winds, struck Haskell around 6:00 p. m. Sunday and dumped 62/100 of an inch of rain here. Another 52/100 of an inch was added to that amount Tuesday morning to bring the two-day total to 1.14, according to Sam Herren, "The Weatherman."

Weimert had a 2.20 total and Rule 1.20 for the two-day rainy spell.

The high winds, late Sunday, up to 70 miles per hour near Munday, blew the telephone company's microwave repeater's reflector "out of line," a spokesman for General Telephone Company said, which left Haskell and Rule without long distance communications from 7:00 p. m. Sunday to 10:15 a. m. Monday.

A special crew had to come all the way from Gainesville to get the 165 ft. microwave tower lined-up and back in working order.

Social Security Decisions To Be Carried To Courts

(Ed. Note: This is the 3rd of a series of six articles, telling of the safeguards against wrong decisions in the social security program, prepared for the Haskell Free Press by R. R. Tuley, Jr., Social Security district manager.)

In the first two of this series of articles readers were told of reconsideration actions and then the process of a hearing before a Hearing Examiner. This week the story goes further down the road of seeking an award action.

If the Hearing Examiner denies the claim, then the claimant generally has 60 days in which to ask that the decision be reviewed by the Appeals in Washington.

The Appeals Council has the power to ask that more specific and detailed evidence be secured before reaching a decision to reverse or to uphold the Hearing Examiner.

The Appeals Council also has the power to intervene on its own wish, if in regularly reviewing decisions it feels that the Hearing Examiner gave too little or too much weight to some parts of the evidence. Although this is not done frequently, such intervention is taken in enough to be of value in clearing the Hearing Examiners of careless mistakes.

But, if the Appeals Council is against the claimant, that will not be the absolutely final answer. Read next week's article for what comes next.

New Operator Now On Duty At The Beauty Bar

The Beauty Bar, 111 North Avenue E, is announcing a new operator, Bobbie Lindsey, who will be on duty Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. She has had a number of years experience in Florida and Texas and is thoroughly qualified to care for all your beauty needs.

The Beauty Bar is now open on Mondays, for your convenience.

Sheets Last Longer When Properly Cared

Those new sheets will last a lot longer if they are properly laundered and cared for, says Barbara M. Elliott, County Home Demonstration Agent. The Agent recommends that tucked-in sheets be loosened from all edges of the bed before they are removed. Pulling sheets without loosening them will weaken the fabric and may slit weak spots. Mitered corners should be loosened to avoid ripping. If the sheet should rip or tear, mend it before laundering. Small tears will become larger in washing.

Don't use a sheet as a laundry bag. This puts a strain on the sheet and increases snagging and soiling. Time can be saved by not folding sheets before they are put into the laundry bag.

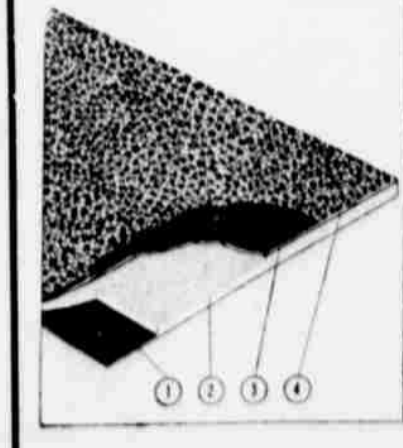

When line-drying, the sheets should be folded hem to hem and lap about four inches over the line. After securely pinning the sheet, straighten the selvages with your fingers. When sheets are dry, fold them as they are removed from the line. Ironing is not necessary if sheets are folded evenly. When drying sheets in the dryer, they should be removed before they are completely dry unless the dryer has a moisture-sensing control. Remove sheets as soon as the dryer stops. If sheets are folded immediately after removal from the dryer, you will save a lot of ironing time. You may, however, prefer to press at least the top 12 inches, which will show when the bed is made.

OIL NOTES

Richard R. Sourlock, et al, of Tyler, filed application to re-enter and deepen to 3200 feet with rotary an abandoned wildcat one mile north of Stamford in Haskell County. It is No. 1, S. A. Scott, et al, located on a 45-84 acre lease. Drillsite is 320 feet from the most northerly north line and 330 feet from the east line of John Harvey Survey, A-816. The venture was originally drilled as Sands Drilling Co. No. 1-A Scott.

Scientific research has developed modern roofing that effectively protects a house from weather abuse for many years. This heavyweight asphalt shingle, shown in cross-section, has four protective layers: 1. A back coating that prevents weathering from underneath. 2. A felt base saturated and waterproofed with asphalt. 3. An asphalt coating reinforced with mineral stabilizers. 4. A top coat of rock-hard mineral granules, imbedded in the asphalt coating, which increases fire-resistance and provides roof color and texture.

Fashion Flash!

NEW YORK (CFN)—The big "B's" of fashion — black, navy blue, and beige — are still around but they're going to be hard to spot in this year's kaleidoscope of colorful styles.

Prints, prints and more prints are what's in—and the brighter and bolder the better.

Stripes waiver and slither in all directions, geometric shapes have been loosened up, swirls swirl every which way and flower-like designs bear little resemblance to anything created by Mother Nature.

And the colors! They're positively psychedelic — hot pinks, glowing greens, brilliant blues, and often in mixtures that would have once shocked even a color expert.

It may sound like a bit too much — but the fabric designers have so deftly blended the colors and prints that a woman looks bright and gay without giving the appearance of an animated Christmas tree.

One fabric house has developed a group of fireworks-bright prints in Enkalure, a new texture-set nylon knit that has the body, feel and luster of pure silk matte Jersey.

Dress and sportswear designers have fallen not only for the zingy prints available in this new fabric but for the fabric itself — because it's weightier and heavier than the real thing, more precise tailoring and a greater variety of details are possible. Buttonholes, for example, keep their shape better.

(TOP) Bright and right for summer — a kite dress by Don Sophisticates, fashioned in new Enkalure nylon.

(BOTTOM) The last word in fashion — a pant dress designed by Beverly Paige in brightly patterned Enkalure nylon.

Success of New Safety Programs Depends On Public Acceptance

The President of the nationally accredited state safety organization for Texas has endorsed the major objectives of the traffic safety legislation recently passed by the Texas Legislature.

E. E. Edmondson, Jr., of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, said his organization supports a statewide traffic safety program, a stronger driver licensing law, expanded motor vehicle inspection, research dealing with the medical aspects of traffic safety, protective headgear for motorcyclists, the regulation of commercial driver training schools and driver education for Texas youths — all elements included in the new legislation.

The Association President, who attended the recent ceremonial signing of the safety bills in Austin, also has commended Gov. John Connally for his "initiative and leadership in getting urgently-needed traffic safety legislation passed," and for his "sincere interest in the general welfare of the people of Texas."

He called on all Texans to support public officials in their efforts to implement the new safety measures.

"The success of the official new safety programs, designed to save lives, stop needless injuries and reduce the economic losses caused by traffic accidents, depends to a great extent on public acceptance," Edmondson said. "I urge every citizen of this state to cooperate in this meaningful effort."

is an independent, non-profit, and non-partisan organization which was chartered in 1939 "to promote the conservation of human life." Its fields of activity also include non-transport accident prevention programs.

The Association is fully accredited by the Chapter Conference of the National Safety Council as the public support safety organization for the state.

Scents-ible Tips for The Bride

There's a bit of work to choosing just the right bridal gown or the best hairdo to go with it, but none at all to creating the perfect atmosphere for your wedding day.

You do it with fragrance, the most subtle cosmetic of all, because it's unseen, but never unfelt. Get this drift? For the most fragrant finale, begin with a long, luxurious, scented bath. It will wrap you in an aura of fragrance, and also does wonders in relaxing you for the excitement ahead. While you loll in the tub, add perfumed bath oil and scented soap to the water. For post-bath pleasure, there's nothing more feminine than dusting powder, skin lotion and perfume. A light floral scent is best, to send a bride down the aisle in a cloud of fragrance.

But before you take that walk, be sure that your wedding attendants are in fragrance harmony with you. No bride wants to be upstaged by an overpowering perfume on someone else in the procession. One way to coordinate scents would be to present each bridesmaid with a gift flacon of delicate perfume as a thank-you memento for serving in the bridal party.

Femininity-unlimited: A complete fragrance trousseau, in unbreakable spray containers that pack and travel neatly with the bride on her honeymoon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PLEASE, DEAR SKIERS

Tain't so that fishermen and skiers can't be friends... Tain't so, that is, UNLESS skiers fail to respect our sport of fishing.

Please, rest assured that we who love quiet waters do love your skiing. (We watch it with painful regret that we're too old)... But we love it out in the middle of the big lake—it's just prettier from out there. You are indeed beautiful to watch, skiing in your figure-8's—that is, if each loop of the 8 isn't around one of our fishing corks.

You, too, Dear Hearts, may someday reach the age when you will have to be satisfied with something less action-packed—like sitting on a pier holding a cane pole (or, if your pension check permits, a rod and reel). And if you're lucky enough to escape arthritis, you may be able to quickly reel in your lines, rather than hook an innocent skater (often towed by an adult) headed straight into your waters—waters for which you pay $1.00 per foot, per year, for fishing privileges. The thing most provoking is that this sort of invasion almost ALWAYS comes just when every cork is bobbing.

You, too, may experience the urge to splatter a jar of "Phevy" all over the graceful, unthoughtful figure who is headed straight into your lines and about to swish within only inches of the pier you built for peaceful fishing—the pier spearing out from the lake home for which you mortgaged your town home. (?)

We aren't sure, but we think there is a law which requires you to ski out in the open lake; we're too feeble to go in and look it up—but we wish YOU would. Law or no law, let's respect one another's sport; if you will ski out in the big waters, we will fish in our quiet nooks. We own our homes out here... What's that you say?—So do you? Well now, that's great... We can ALL have fun—but even so, and even though there may be no law to prevent

OUTDOORS --IN-- TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

Size of the shot to use for duck shooting long has been the subject of arguments wherever hunters get together.

For many years the No. 4 shot was considered the ideal one for duck hunting. Most of the old timers used the No. 4.

Also, back in the early days, there was a distinction between "drop" shot and "chilled" shot.

Soft shot definitely was not considered best for duck hunting. It seemed to flatten out too quickly among the heavy feathers and failed to gain penetration.

With greater velocity, due to the advent of improved powder, the No. 6 shot became a favorite of duck hunters. Many found that the No. 6 had the best all-around cartridge. It could be used on either ducks or doves.

For geese, that was something else. Most hunters went to BIs or No. 2 shot, with the heaviest loads. Then, along came another breed of hunters and currently established that the No. 6 load was ideal for geese, too. Provided you lead them enough!

L. A. Wilke, a hunting and fishing buddy of mine, recalls his first geese, a half-century ago. He was a 20 gauge enthusiast even back in those days.

One foggy morning Wilke was jumping Mallards in some potholes among the wild cranberries along the flats on the Nueces River out of Corpus Christi.

He was moving along quietly, with his gun ready for any Mallard he might kick up, when he heard geese approaching. He dropped down into the high grass. Two honkers were coming directly toward him. He wished for his double 12 gauge, but that was out of the question.

Then suddenly Wilke remembered the comment of an old hunter who said a goose's head is almost as big as a quail's. That was the answer. He added a little more lead, and both geese came tumbling down.

Wilke has shot geese under every condition since then. He still likes the 20, with No. 6 shot. But he also agrees that since you can't always pick your situation when shooting these fine birds, it is best to get all the gun you can. In other words, a good 12 gauge with magnum loads, at whatever shot you decide to use.

Some of the experts of Winchester-Western have done considerable survey work in studying the crippling losses of water fowl. Part of this research is based on evaluation of the effectiveness of different shot sizes.

One survey reveals that at 35 yards there is no obvious difference in No. 4 and No. 6 shot. However, as the range increases it is apparent that the heavier shot is more effective.

Furthermore, with ducks centered in a pattern of No. 4 shot, crippling isn't an important factor until the range exceeds 50 yards. With No. 6 shot, it is a factor beyond 40 yards.

At four ranges tested (35, 40, 50 and 60 yards) the ducks were hit with a substantially larger number of 6s than 4s. However, penetration by the 4s into the body cavity of the ducks was greatly superior to the 6s.

For example, the 40 yard average for hits was 5.7 No. 4 pellets, as compared with 8.8 for No. 6. Of these, however, 68 per cent of the 4s penetrated into the body cavity of the ducks as compared with only 41 per cent of the 6s.

This, of course, is because the heavier No. 4 shot pellets have much greater striking force. Those 5.7 No. 4s hit the ducks with 25.6 pounds of energy at 40 yards. The average of 8.8 No. 6s delivered a total of 21.2 foot pounds.

Such tests as these by Winchester-Western are a part of the continuous programs of the manufacturers today to provide shooters with the very best possible guns, loads and information.

This improves shooting qualities, making kills more certain and crippling less prevalent.

State Draft Boards Get August Call

State draft boards are scheduled to forward 6,220 young men for pre-induction mental and physical examinations in August, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Thursday.

This compares with a scheduled 5,016 being forwarded in July.

The state's 155 draft boards will be called upon to furnish 1-

421 men for induction in August.

This compares with quotas of 974 for July, 975 for June, 885 for May, 675 for April, and 761 for March.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examination in August are scheduled to be mailed from state Selective Service headquarters on or about July 5. July calls for the local boards assigned.

The Texas quota for August is the state's national call of the Army.

Your Aging House

with Doc Garvey

A Woman's Prerogative

Nest watching a hen try to hatch a billiard ball, there's nothing funnier than watching a woman trying to rearrange furniture. They pick up a chair they've had for years, move it across the room, then stare at it in total bewilderment, as if they'd never seen it before.

Joe Campbell tells us that his misadventure drove him to strong spirits by all the time rearranging the furniture so that it wouldn't look so cluttered. Seems like they had accumulated so much stuff during their thirty years of marriage that there was nowhere to hide it in every nook and cranny of the house, not to mention the garage and basement and attic.

Joe's Bright Idea

Happy, Joe hit upon a solution. He called up Tom Perry, the remodeling contractor, and had a great big family room attached to the rear of the house. He mistook entered right into the front of things. He recovered an old couch in the basement and put it in the new room. That antique rocker she got 3 years ago, looked just right by the fireplace. Always and cluttered up the living room even if it was a family heirloom.

Seeing down the legs of a table by accident in the attic, Joe made a handsome coffee table. And some lamps that had been gathering dust in a closet came in mighty handy. There's even a desk in the new room, one that Joe used to keep paints, nails and tools in.

About the only thing they had to be relocated and so on.

Clutter or no clutter, a woman's nesting instinct can drive a man plumb daffy!

Senator David Ratliff Is Named To Special Interim Committee

Lieut. Governor Preston Smith today named Senator David Ratliff of Stamford to serve on the special interim committee to study Vocational-Technical Education, which was created by Senate Resolution 153 of the recent Regular Session of the 60th Legislature.

In announcing the appointment, Lieut. Governor Smith stressed Ratliff's continuing interest in vocational-technical education. Ratliff has been a member of the Senate since 1955, and prior to that time served two terms in the House of Representatives. Through the years, he has held many important committee posts, and is currently chairman of two major standing committees of the Senate—Labor and Management Relations and Oil and Gas. He is also a member of standing committees on Contingent Expense; Counties, Cities and Towns; Education; Finance;

Game and Fish; Legislative, Congressional and Judicial Districts; Privileges and Elections; Public Health; Rules; State Affairs; Transportation; and Water and Conservation. Senator Ratliff's District 21 is one of the larger districts, by counties, in the state and is comprised of Borden, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Fisher, Garza, Glasscock, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Kent, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Scurry, Shackelford, Sterling, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton and Young counties.

The Vocational-Technical Education Committee, by the resolution, is requested to study vocational-technical education in Texas, emphasizing (1) adequacy of the present administration program; (2) training recruitment and certification of vocational-technical teachers; and (3) financing and role of federal and state grants-in-aid. In addition to Ratliff, other

"Our Goal Is To Enhance Man's Total Environment," Yeary Says

On June 9th, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman presented to President Johnson revised and up-dated conservation policies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to information received by J. C. Yeary, Jr., Work Unit Conservationist for the USDA's Soil Conservation Service of Haskell.

In presenting "Resources in Action-Agriculture/2000" to the President, Secretary Freeman noted that "for many years, as directed by the Congress, the Department of Agriculture has carried out major responsibilities for the conservation and enhancement of soil, water, forests, grasslands and wildlife."

"The Department's work," Secretary Freeman said, "involves help, not only to the owners of the three-fourths of our land that is privately held, but also the multiple-use management of the 187 million acres of publicly held land in the National Forests and National Grasslands."

"In the light of your call for creative conservation," Secretary Freeman reported to the President, "the Department has thoroughly reviewed its conservation policies and goals."

"This document, Resources in Action-Agriculture/2000, seeks to set down in sharp outline new conservation policies and the path to their implementation to which each of the diverse agencies that make up the U. S. Department of Agriculture is dedicated."

"Our goal for Haskell County and the portions of the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation Districts within Haskell County," according to Yeary, "is to help enhance man's total environment—a unified field approach rather than one dealing piece-meal with one resource, or one use, or one purpose at a time."

"That is why," Yeary said, "we stress total conservation planning of the farm unit. This gives the land-owner and operator a guide for the sound application of all the needed conservation for his individual farm or ranch unit. It prevents haphazard, piece-meal dealing with one resource, or one problem at the time."

Secretary Freeman stated that we are looking to the future—to the year 2000 and beyond—while being practical about today's needs.

"The needs of farmers today for an adequate income in order to supply all our people now and in the future with abundant food and other farm products.

"The necessity of applying today's research knowledge as well as placing science in service of man in the future.

"The requirement that we build better communities in 1967 as well as build for the next century.

"The better application today of our knowledge for living and the better use of our food resources to feed those among us who hunger.

"The assurance that today's uses of natural resources meet today's needs, but at the same time are enhanced under productive uses to undergird our requirements for the future."

Yeary concluded that single copies of the booklet "Resources in Action" are available from Press Service, Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250. Please use your zip code.

Wasps Can Be Dangerous

Wasps, as a rule, are beneficial insects, but they can become "tough customers" when disturbed. This often happens, says Phil Hamman, assistant Extension entomologist at Texas A&M University, when the insects build nests in such close proximity to the house, or even in the house, to make the area too confining for both insects and man.

Polistes, hornets, yellow jackets, mud daubers and the cicada killer are all wasps and as a group are beneficial insects. They destroy harmful insects found around homes and in gardens, but they can also attack people. Mud daubers and cicada killers usually will not sting unless touched or get caught in a person's clothing. But stay clear of the nests of hornets, yellow jackets and Polistes, warns Hamman.

A wasp stings by driving its needle-like ovipositor into the flesh and injecting a venomous fluid into the wound. This causes a painful swelling that may last for several days. In some people, a wasp sting results in severe illness or even death, says the entomologist. Because of the probability of serious trouble, Hamman suggests that a sharp lookout be maintained for the insects and especially for their nests.

Nests and insects can be destroyed by applying recommended insecticides. Do the control work at night, he says, when wasps are less active and most are in the nest. Since many nests are found in trees and shrubbery or on the house, Hamman suggests using a water-based spray containing DDT, chlordane or dieldrin. If the wasps are nesting in the ground, the same materials in a dust form are recommended. Numerous ready-to-use formulations and aerosol bombs are readily available and will give good results, says Hamman. But, he warns that regardless of the material used, label instructions should be followed. Local county adds, can supply on recommended including rates of and directions for using the material.

Questions and answers about Freedom Shares—the new way for Americans to help their country as they help themselves.

Q. What are Freedom Shares?

A. They are the new U.S. Savings Notes—a companion product to the Series E Savings Bond.

Q. Who may buy Freedom Shares?

A. Any individual who purchases Series E Bonds regularly through a formal plan—either Payroll Savings where he works or Bond-a-Month where he banks.

Q. What is the interest rate on Freedom Shares?

A. 4.74% compounded semiannually, when held to maturity of 4 1/2 years. The rate is less if redeemed prior to maturity; and they may not be redeemed for at least one year.

Q. Does this same rate now apply to E Bonds?

A. No. E Bonds continue to return an average of 4.15% when held to their seven-year maturity.

Q. What do Freedom Shares cost?

A. They are issued in face amounts of $25, $50, $75, and $100. Purchase prices are $20.25, $40.50, $60.75, and $81.00.

Q. Can Freedom Shares be bought by themselves?

A. No. They must be bought in conjunction with E Bonds of the same or larger face amounts.

Q. Can I buy as many Freedom Shares as I want, as long as I buy E Bonds of the same or larger amounts?

A. No. On Payroll Savings, Freedom Share deductions are limited to $100 per weekly pay period, $40.50 per bi-weekly or semi-monthly pay period, $81.00 per monthly pay period. On Bond-a-Month, the limit on Freedom Share deductions is $81.00 per month.

Q. How will the Freedom Shares be registered?

A. Registration must be identical to the E Bonds bought in combination.

Q. Are Freedom Shares subject to taxation?

A. The same as E Bonds. Interest subject to Federal income tax, which may be deferred until maturity or redemption (whichever comes first). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes. Current values are to estate, inheritance, gift, and of excise taxes, both Federal and state.

Q. Will Freedom Shares be extended beyond maturity, as E Bonds have?

A. No. Under existing law, there is provision for extension.

Peace Corps To Test On July 15

Haskell area residents interested in helping the people of developing nations to help themselves are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, July 15, at Room 2201, New Post Office Building, Abilene.

The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a foreign language, not education or achievement. It is given to determine where and how an applicant will be happiest and best utilized overseas. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail. The test takes about one hour and a half.

The application form, available from local post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C. 20525, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test.

Over 15,000 Peace Corps Volunteers are now at work in 53 developing nations. They come from every conceivable

The committee who is striving so hard to establish our Depot Museum met to evaluate their progress up to now ... I was surprised that so much had been accomplished in so short a time.

Dr. T. W. Williams has worked many hours, not wishing to bother the farmers, wives or business people, he has done lots of the work by himself.

Many people have donated things for both the museum, as well as for the one bedroom apartment the caretaker will occupy.

Mr. H. A. Sherman donated a top for the cabinet in the apartment as well as a tub for the background, but are united in their efforts to improve the food production, health, education and life of the millions whose governments have asked the Peace Corps to help.

bath room. The apartment is going to be quite nice. It is paneled inside with a dark paneling. The cabinet looks almost brand new but was bought second hand to save money. Dr. Williams has done real well on the money he had but the funds are getting low, donations would be appreciated.

This is Haskell's museum and all should have a part in making it something to attract tourists to our town.

Not only is money needed, old relics that are a part of Haskell's history, are needed to make the museum complete.

There is a great need for glass show cases, so if you have an old one not in use, how about donating it to the museum.

West Texas Utilities donated a stove and refrigerator for the apartment. Gladys Oates donated a bed, dresser and bed clothing for the bed room. WTU men did all the wiring free of charge. Bill Skains and Dagan Starr made the rails to match.

Limpsum for the kitchen is needed badly, if any one would like to donate to this worthy cause, it would be greatly appreciated. Come on, Haskell.

and let's make this a project we will all be proud of for years to come.

The committee has also worked untiringly to clean and arrange things so they can be displayed in the most attractive way. Those on the committee are: Mrs. Ed Hester, Mrs. C. V. Payne, Tommy Davis, Clay Smith, Jim Medley, Carl Fischer, Mrs. Monke, Mrs. Gene Overton, Mrs. Tom Barfield and Mrs. J. G. Vaughter.

Many have donated plants for the yard and things for the Museum. I am sorry I do not have all their names, but each gift, no matter how small or how large, is appreciated.

When the plants that have been set out begin to grow real well, and we get some one to care for the lawn, the grounds will be a show place also, one of which Haskell can be proud.

SOURCE OF A FREE PRESS

No country has a press equal to that of the United States. The 10,000 smaller newspapers scattered over the length and breadth of the land represent a body of independent thought that is indispensable to the preservation of our economic and political liberty.

When the suggestion was made recently that the best interest of consumers might be served by more stringent regulation of advertising, no great imagination was needed to see the connection between restricted advertising and press censorship.

The close relationship between advertising and the free press was presented recently by C. B. Dyke, writing in the Fairmount, N. D., Star. In his words, "the home town newspaper wants his weekly to tell him about weddings, births, all sorts of local happenings and the neighborhood gossip... But he also wants to see what the local merchants have to offer in advertisements. It costs money to put out a newspaper. Just like it costs money to run a grocery store, service station, garage, dry goods store, cafe, etc. The major income is derived from advertisers... Everyone knows that so-and-so has a store in town, but they also like to see what he has to offer in his ad."

PAINT CREEK... COMMUNITY NEWS

Mrs. Gene Overton - The little cotton is barely up in the community, and some of it has had its head eaten off by bugs or worms as soon as it got out of the ground. Some farmers say it is entirely too late to plant again. Some do not have enough moisture to plant, and some are hoping it will rain enough to bring up that cotton that they have planted. It is going to be a very late crop - if there is a crop. Sunday evening there were heavy showers in some parts of the community, and none at all in other parts. Around the school, water was standing everywhere, and the middles were holding water. Maybe it will rain this week.

Danny Isbell "hosted" 12 boys and girls from the West Texas Rehabilitation Center at Abilene for the Stamford Cowboy Reunion parade Saturday. They set chairs up on the lawn at the Baptist Church and watched the parade from there. Several parents were with them. They ate supper at the Chuck Wagon after the parade and some attended the evening performance of the rodeo.

Katy Sue and Mary Lou Fischer, of Lubbock, and Peggy Grantham, of Lubbock, are spending the holidays with Janice and Jeanine Isbell. They came with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Williams and their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Miekler and Mr. and Mrs. Louie Kuenstler are spending three weeks touring the northeastern part of the United States. They plan to visit Oregon and Washington.

Mrs. Bill Wallace and children, Becky and Linda, of Hobbs, New Mexico, is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cub Russell, of Haskell. Cynthia graduated with the class of 1967 at Paint Creek.

Parents visiting their Scout sons and attending the Tap-Out ceremonies at Camp Tonkawa last Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Brazell and Connie, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Casselberry, Mr. and Mrs. James Ross Miekler and Marcie, Mr. Lee Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chaney, of Abilene, Mrs. James Powell and Tim, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton.

Mike Overton of Dallas spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton and Wallar.

Scouts of Troop 48, of Paint Creek, arrived home Saturday afternoon from Camp Tonkawa in time to see the Stamford Cowboy Reunion parade. They had a good week at camp, and said they had one of the best stiffs at camp this summer they had ever had. That is the report every summer because they have all had such fun. At the Court of Honor in the dining lodge Friday night, Ricky Brazell and Joe Miekler were advanced to Star Scout rank; Dale Casselberry earned First Aid, Swimming and Nature merit badges; Ricky Brazell earned First Aid, Life Saving and Nature; Glen Casselberry earned First Aid, Nature and a Rabbit Raising badge he had completed at home; Sam Braswell earned First Aid and swimming; Joe Miekler earned First Aid, Life Saving and Nature; Larry Cockrell earned First Aid and Swimming; Jim Bob Miekler earned Canoeing and Rowing; Mike Brazell earned Canoeing and Rowing; Philip Cockrell was working in Second Class, but he didn't get to be in camp but two scout manuals and several merit badge books, for which they are grateful. The merit badge library burned in the fire, and the boys have been trying to replace the badge books as they need them. The troop is proud of Air Cadet Gilmore as he enters the Air Force Academy near Denver.

Riding in the Reunion parade were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Baumbach, Butch Kabout, Danny Ivy, Larry Walton, Dudley Cockrell, Gene Bounds, Debbie and Danny Weaver, Nancy Jones and Wayne Medford, of Paint Creek. Wayne rode on the Kindergarten float.

A little private ceremony that took place at Camp Tonkawa Friday evening following the Court of Honor will be of interest to former scouts of Troop 48. Troop Overton was made a First Class Scout, and given the Dog Care merit badge by the Camp Tonkawa staff. I wondered how they ever passed him on Morse Code, but Mr. Sims heard him barking at a squirrel in Morse Code and that did it. This was Tramp's 8th summer at Camp Tonkawa. He didn't get there for all of camp, but he made the O. A. Tap-Out float, and stayed the rest of the week.

Here with the troop he has earned the Hiking merit badge. He made the 20 mile hike and never rode in the pick-up once. He has had the First Aid Course several times. Once the scouts were using him for the accident victim, and they splinted his leg, wrapped a bandage around his head, and bandaged one foot. In closing the meeting they forgot to unbandage him. Gene found him hobbling home from the scout hut on the splinted leg with his foot dragging behind, and his head bandage had slipped over one eye. He would hobble awhile and then sit down and try to get the stuff off. Gene probably saved him from hanging himself.

Once on a weekend camp-out when a scout lost a pork chop, Tramp was tried as the thief. In Judge Wayne Cadenhead's court, Joe Greer served as prosecuting attorney and Bob Earles and Thornton Gilmore were defense lawyers. Before the trial was over the prosecution was referring to the prisoner as "Good Old Tramp," and almost defending him. The jury ruled that had Tramp eaten the chop he would have eaten bone and all. Since witnesses found the bone, it most certainly must have been a stray cat, and Good Old Tramp was exonerated. Tramp sat patiently in the prisoner's place throughout the whole trial (probably full of pork chop).

We are all proud of First Class Scout, Tramp Overton. Who knows, someday he may make Star. He is a good swimmer. He is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful and brave—even reverent at times. If he were just clean and thrifty he would have it made.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Cathey and Elizabeth of Grand Prairie are spending the holidays at their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Charles McBeath of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones of Rule were Sunday afternoon guests of their sister and daughter's family. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton, Wallar and Mike.

Mrs. Allen Isbell is managing the chuck-wagon meals at the Cowboy Reunion again this year. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bounds, Judy Freeman, is the Stamford hostess for the cowgirls this year. She will set the pattern for the barrel races each night.

Mr. and Mrs. Brax Gilmore were guests of the Gene Overton's Sunday night and the four drove to the Gilmore's cabin at the lake to check on the amount of rain that had fallen. Thornton Gilmore gave Scout Troop 48 his scout uniforms, two packs, two scout manuals and several merit badge books, for which they are grateful. The merit badge library burned in the fire, and the boys have been trying to replace the badge books as they need them. The troop is proud of Air Cadet Gilmore as he enters the Air Force Academy near Denver.

Farming Is Very Hazardous Occupation

Farming is one of the most hazardous occupations in the United States. According to County Agent R. W. Schumann, there are five main reasons which lend support to the above statement. Schumann says that because the farmer engages in a wide variety of operations, he does not develop the high degree of proficiency that is acquired by factory workers who perform a single task, year in and year out. In doing his job, the farmer uses many different kinds of equipment in the course of a single day.

A second reason, says the county agent, is that today's agricultural production depends on the use of vast and varying amounts of power, ranging from a fractional horsepower motor on a drill press to hundreds of horsepower on heavy equipment. The control of this wide range of power under widely varying conditions, depends upon the knowledge, training and skill of the farm operator.

Schumann cites the general lack of training in operation of high speed and high powered equipment as being a third reason for accidents. He says that many agricultural workers learn in a haphazard manner—either from others (picking up bad habits as well as good), or from experience which can be costly. The county agent says that a lack of supervision in most farm operations causes a wide deviation from accepted farm safety procedures. This factor keeps the accident figure high.

The final reason for the high rate of farm accidents, according to the county agent, stems from a lack of safety promotion and safety consciousness. The history of farm safety goes back 23 years, as compared to 40 years in industry.
