15 Navy Men Celebrate Mother's Day With Mrs. Joe Smith

In the absence of her own son, who is away on military duty, Mrs. Joe Smith played "Mother" to 15 other mothers' sons in service by having them to dinner in her home Sunday.

Spokesman for the group expresses appreciation:

"Mother's Day in 1942 will not be forgotten by Navy men who were guests of Mrs. Joe Smith. We began the day by attending church where we heard a splendid sermon. Then we all went to the home of Mother Smith, where games, music and talk of home and loved ones was enjoyed. Then a wonderful home cooked meal with 'hot biscuits' was served by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Leonard Roberts.

"There may not be a U. S. O. in Rockport, but the spirit of that organization is reflected in occasions like these. Thanks to Mrs. Joe Smith who made us forget for a short time that we are at war and away from home."

War Material Shortage Limits Telephone Service

You probably have heard about certain government restrictions on telephone service and equipment now in effect. We should like to tell you a little more about these restrictions—why they are necessary, and what they will mean to you.

The reason for them is simple and complete. They are to save materials which are needed to fight the war.

What will they mean to you, the telephone user?

If you have a telephone now, they mean no change except that in many Texas cities affected by war growth you may have to have other parties on your line. And, in all cases, you can't get an extension telephone in your home if you haven't one already.*

For people who have no telephones and want them, or for present users who move to new locations, we shall supply at least party-line service wherever there are now enough lines and switchboards. But in general, where new construction of this type would be necessary, we shall not be able to provide service.*

This will mean inconvenience and perhaps hardship to a few people now. As time goes on it will probably mean inconvenience and hardship to more people, but we need your help and sympathetic understanding in this important step to save the maximum of materials for the war.

Beside the great savings in materials already made by substitution and wartime engineering, the new restrictions will mean that more lead, iron, steel, zinc, copper, and rubber used in telephone equipment will now go into arms.

In spite of all this, and while telephone service may not be available to all who want it, we believe we can keep the service up to a high standard. At any rate, we shall do our level best. These difficulties are something that neither the government nor the telephone companies can help. They are part of the price of protecting liberty.

*Except for those cases where the need for telephone service has been recognized by the War Production Board as necessary for defense or public health, welfare or security.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

RUMMAGING through my desk the other day, I came across some snapshots of friends of mine made back in 1933.

If you don't think time flies . . . if you don't think this world ever changes . . . you ought to look at the women's hats and dresses in those pictures taken 9 years ago! Wow!

It gave me quite a start . . . and then it set me to thinking . . . and rememberin'! Lots of things sure happened in 1933. A new administration in Washington . . . the turning point of the depression . . . and the coming of Repeal.

I remember the re-legalization of beer. It came before Repeal, and then Congress amended the old Volstead Act to allow legal sale of "3.2" beer.

What talk and arguments they had in those days! One argument I remember well . . . was that beer would do a lot to help bring back prosperity. I wondered at the time whether that argument could be proved.

I thought about that again, the other day. I decided to check up and find out.

Well, I found out plenty. I found out that legal beer has paid more than 3 billion dollars in taxes since 1933. It has made more than a million new jobs.

According to one of the reports I've seen, beer has put more than 15 billion dollars into general business circulation. Goodness me, that's a lot of money.

Beer is sold today in every state in the Union. Every state benefits from beer's jobs and taxes. And I guess there's no denying that beer did do its share in bringing back better times.

I'm glad I did, too, because beer is such a pleasant, appetizing beverage. And it stands for moderation and moderate people . . . it's not likely to get you in trouble.

Dr. R. S. Knapp, former Rockport physician and surgeon, has opened a small but modernly equipped hospital in Aransas Pass. The hospital located on South Commercial Street near the seawall has four patient beds and is staffed by graduate nurses.

The new hospital is completely equipped throughout, including an operating room. Dr. Knapp said that the location included plenty of room for expansion.

Dr. Knapp holds the rank of Lieutenant, as an acting assistant surgeon of the United States Public Health Service. He has his office in the new hospital.
