Over Hundred Tons Scrap Metal Collected In County

PILOTING

A great deal was accomplished last Sunday to aid in the war effort when some 100,000 pounds of scrap metal was gathered from over the city and outlying sections. But, the collection last Sunday is not the end. The government needs every pound of scrap—and there are still many tons of it in Aransas County.

School children are due much commendation for their zeal and enthusiasm which resulted in more than 25 tons of scrap. The students really led the way, and no small amount of the scrap collected Sunday was due to the students work in spreading the word about.

Don't let us forget that this is our war—and not somebody else's. The boys on the fighting fronts are doing the big jobs, the dangerous ones that are fraught with hardship and death. On the other hand civilian work and fighting are inseparable. Your job as an individual, as a citizen, is important to the war effort. There are many things that we can and must do, and taking an active part in civilian defense work and salvage drives form a part of our civilian duty.

When you think you don't have time to carry your part of the civilian's war load, ask yourself this question: "What would I do if I were being bombed daily or hourly, if the enemy was only a few miles away?" If you do your part now it may keep the enemy from our shores.

Right now volunteers are needed to man aircraft warning observation posts. It is through these posts that army and navy officers are able to protect the lives of thousands from surprise attacks. If you can spare a couple of hours a week contact Ted Little or Mrs. Bonnie Townsend. Your help is needed.

Three Named For Gas Ration Panel Here

Judge B. S. Fox announces this week that nominations of three men to form a gas rationing panel have been made. The three nominated to handle the problems of gasoline rationing as a part of the local ration board are as follows:

Jeff Jeter, retired railroad man who has lived in Rockport for the past four years; R. R. Roberts of Fulton, co-owner of the Corpus Christi Electric Company; and Walter Rethmeyer, a world war veteran, retired, who has been a resident of Rockport for the past five years.

Application blanks for ration cards are to be made available at filing stations and other places about Oct. 27. Each car owner must secure one of these and fill in the blanks properly and turn it in when registering on Nov. 9 or 10. Ration cards will not be issued to car owners with more than five tires per automobile.

Aircraft Warning Service Operated 13 Hours Daily

More Observers Needed To Man Watch Tower

Chairman Ted Little Says 24-Hour Observations May Come Soon

Aircraft Warning Service was put on a 13-hour a day basis this week in Rockport, according to Ted Little, chief observer in charge of the service in Aransas County. Volunteers have been pressed into service on one and two hour watches and work is being done to complete the personnel for the court house watch tower this week.

Little said that an effort was being made to man the observation post, so that each person would have to stand only one two-hour watch each week. This would take about 50 observers; many of which will be women. In addition, there must be extra observers to substitute for regular watchers, whenever they cannot be on duty.

Little said that the aircraft warning service here may soon be asked to man the posts 24 hours a day, as this is already being done in some places.

"I want to thank the old observers who are doing double duty now in training new observers, and also thank the many volunteers," Little said. "Mrs. Bonnie Townsend is due special thanks for the work she is doing in helping to perfect the organization."

The observation hours are from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. and anyone who can help man the observation post in the tower of the court house is requested to contact either Mr. Little or Mrs. Townsend.

New Lighting Orders Issued For Coast Area

New lighting regulations have been issued by Maj. Gen. Richard Donovan of the U. S. Army, which affect the entire Gulf Coast from Brownsville through Louisiana.

Under the new regulations received here by Emory M. Spencer, chief Air Raid Warden, lighting is divided into three classes, "Prohibited", "Restricted", and "Controlled".

All exterior illuminated signs above the first floor of buildings or structures is prohibited, as well as building, floodlights, illuminated monuments, roadway signs, roof signs or other unwarranted decorative lighting.

Other types of lighting, including interior illumination visible from the outside, exterior illumination used for advertising, display or decorative purposes such as store front signs, show windows, marquees, and most other types of illumination must be extinguished for the duration of the war unless provisions are made for extinguishing within five minutes after an air raid alarm is sounded. Officials of local communities are authorized to make such further restrictions on the use of lights as may be necessary to comply fully with the regulations.

Spencer To Sell Eight Small Cottages

Eight small cottages have been moved onto a sub-division of outlet 24 D. & M. and will soon be offered for sale by Emory M. Spencer. Each of the cottages is located on a 50x150 foot lot. The cottages are being repaired and painted at present but will be ready for sale within the next ten days.

Mrs. Lewis Harrell spent the week-end in San Antonio visiting her husband who has been transferred to Wisconsin.

Geese Flying As Shooting Season Nears

On November 2—twenty days before gas rationing starts—the duck and goose shooting season will open, and indications are that there will be plenty of waterfowl to provide bag limits for the large number of hunters expected. Reports are that hunting will be better this season than last, and early, cool snaps may be reason to look for real hunting weather by November 2. Hunters will have to do more shifting for themselves this year because the Armed Forces and defense industries have taken heavy tolls in the ranks of guides. Many hunters from over the state plan to take a last outing before "rationing" and come down for the shooting.

Recruiter For Air Forces To Visit Rockport

Captain Frank T. Geyer, Gulf Coast Air Forces Training Center, and Staff Sgt. G. B. Thacker, Sgt. Stanley J. Zlocke and Corp. Van B. Stevens will interview applicants for enlistment under the Technician Procurement program now in effect at the Post Office Building in Rockport, Texas on October 29, 1942.

Men, 18 to 49, inclusive, may now enlist for direct assignment in the Army of the United States as Air Corps specialists. It is not necessary that all be skilled mechanics. Those who have an aptitude with tools and have had experience repairing automobiles, farm tractors, or most any type of machinery, are urged to discuss the enlistment possibilities by contacting members of Captain Geyer's party while they are here.

CITIZENS URGED TO GUARD AGAINST DENGUE FEVER

Evidence has been found that dengue fever carrying mosquitoes may be breeding in Rockport, according to Walter C. Baker of the State Health Department, who has been making periodic surveys here. The mosquito which carries this disease breeds only in man-made containers. These include tin cans, bottles, cisterns, wash tubs, old tire casings—anything that holds water. Baker stated that he has found the larvae of this mosquito in water which has been standing under some of the down-town business houses. In this case the cement walls and beams make an acceptable place for the adult to deposit its eggs.

"This type mosquito rarely ever travels more than 200 yards", Baker said, "unless it is carried in clothing, automobiles or such some conveyance." "Thus in taking care of your own yard and urging your neighbors to do the same you are safeguarding yourself and your family against this menace." In all cases where it is not possible or desirable to empty containers, a coating of oil will prevent the eggs from being laid in such a container. "In the few cases such as barrels of water for fires and other places where it is not a good idea to put oil on the water, one pound of lime and a few drops of carbolic acid will kill the eggs already in the container and prevent other eggs from being laid in it. "Surveys and control of this mosquito have been instituted in war areas throughout the state through the State Health Department and under the direction of Dr. Geo. W. Cox. "Dengue fever is rarely ever fatal except in the case of elderly people; however, it impairs the efficiency of a working man for as much as two months after his recovery. In addition to this one

Pirates Find Hunting Good On Wildcats

The Gregory Wildcats were tamed by the Rockport Pirates to the score of 40-6. It took very little time for the Wildcats to find out who was master. The first score of the game came only a few minutes after the opening kick off when Wendell blocked Cooper's punt and covered it inside the ten yard line. In the next few plays, Wendell plunged over for the first point of (Continued on last page) suffers excruciating pains in the joints after the fever begins to subside. Because of the weakness which follows this disease, it is especially dangerous to the war effort. "Tomorrow may be too late to start cleaning up your yard. Start today. Don't let a mosquito sabotage our war effort."

Over 50 Tons Scrap Collected Past Week-end

School Students and Volunteer Trucks and Workers Haul In Over 109,000 Pounds

Aransas Countians—with school children taking the lead—have stacked up an estimated 259,676 pounds of scrap metal to feed into the hungry maws of roaring furnaces to produce steel for guns, tanks, planes and other munitions needed to whip the Axis.

An estimated 109,676 pounds of scrap metal was stacked up over the week-end by school students and volunteer workers. The students, with a half holiday Friday, rounded up and hauled in 38,700 pounds of scrap, weighed and stacked it up on the school grounds.

In addition to the Friday collection at the school the students kept right on working. They put out notices to remind people of the Sunday afternoon collection and tagged another estimated 17,749 pounds of scrap that was hauled in Sunday.

Ted Little, chairman of the Aransas County Salvage Committee, estimated that a total of 259,676 pounds had been collected to date. He said many more tons of scrap were still about the county, and additional amounts are to be added during the week.

Little reminds the people that the concerted drive and collection Sunday was not the end of the effort to get in the scrap. The collection of scrap is continuous. Every pound is needed to keep the steel mills running for war production.

Eight trucks were furnished voluntarily for hauling scrap Sunday and some thirty men manned the trucks. All worked hard and covered the city and some outlying sections, picking up scrap that had been stacked by streets and roads.

Those lending trucks for the collection Sunday were: Dudley Bracht, Central Power & Light Co., Chas. T. Picton Lumber Co., Johnson Fish Co., G. E. Mullinax, Weldon Britton, and Aransas Co., two trucks.

Little stated that he had planned a meeting of the Salvage Committee this week to make plans for disposal of the scrap.

Anyone having scrap metal to be carried by them to the junk pile north of the court house are requested to telephone Ted Little or Judge B. S. Fox and it will be called for.

'Chaser No. 12 Launched Here Saturday

Mrs. W. F. Cain Sponsor Of 110-Foot War Vessel

Mrs. W. F. Cain crashed a bottle of wine across the bow of a sleek 110-foot Naval war vessel here Saturday afternoon and sent the twelfth such boat down the launching ways of Rice Bros. and Company. The submarine chaser launched Saturday was the second during the week.

Rev. T. H. Pollard, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, asked Divine blessing on the craft and the crew that will take it to sea. J. L. Gully of shipyard auditing department made a short talk and Rob Roy Rice was master-of-ceremonies.

Mrs. Cain, sponsor of the boat, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jolly.

Pvt. E. D. Smallwood, son of W. C. Smallwood, Hq. Co. 2 Bn. 134, Inf., wrote Judge B. S. Fox this week that he had left the States and had arrived at his undisclosed destination.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schmidt were hosts to Mrs. T. D. Ward of Corpus Christi over the week-end.

GHOST PLANE

By ARTHUR STRINGER

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: To help save Norland Airways from bankruptcy Alan Slade agrees to fly a so-called scientist named Frayne and his assistant, Karnell, to the Anawotto river in search of the breeding ground of the trumpeter swan. Slade, suspicious of Frayne, who has nevertheless paid them enough to enable Cruger, Slade's partner, to buy a new gookheed. Just before leaving he goes with Lynn Morlock, daughter of the local doctor, to give first aid treatment to a flyer named Slim Tumstead. Slade is not pleased to learn that Tumstead, an outcast flyer who has lost his license for drinking, knows about the new plane and about Frayne's expedition. That night the Lockheed is stolen by a masked thief who heads north. On the way to the Anawotto with Frayne and Karnell, Slade runs out of gas, and they are forced to spend the night at the cabin of Slade's prospector friends, Zeke and Minty, where Slade keeps a gas cache. Frayne shows no interest in the fact that the surrounding country is rich in pitchblende, source of a new kind of power. But the next morning Frayne decides to stay near there and not go on to the Anawotto. While Slade is on the way back, Lynn Morlock's father decides to operate on the blind Eskimo, Umanak, in the hope of restoring his eyesight. Umanak is anxious to see again so he can hunt the "devil bird" he hears. Slade has returned, the operation is over, and he and Lynn are talking. She has received a letter from Barrett Walden who, for Lynn's sake, has offered her father a job in Ottawa. Lynn feels that his frontier work is too hard for him.

"But you might remember you don't own this country."

those lonely gray ridges below him the new frontier hadn't crawled that far north to find it. It still seemed to ache with emptiness. And for that reason, as he winged his way over the gray wastes, he knew a distinct quickening of the pulse when he caught sight of a faint plume of smoke beyond a darker stretch of spruce-land that circled a lake studded with many small islands. For smoke meant fire; and fire implied the presence of human life.

with an unexpected note of passion. "It means all my work has been for nothing." Slade's laugh was curt. "You're welcome to your wilderness," he said. "I'm looking for something bigger than swans." "Then kindly leave the swans to me."

"Sure," said the unruffled flyer, "but you might remember you don't own this country." "Perhaps not," was the sharp-noted response. "But the sooner you leave it the happier I'll be."

"Thanks," said Slade. His mouth hardened a little as he stood eyeing the other man. "And what would you do if I happened to hang around?"

Frayne became conscious of the challenge in that question. His thin lips compressed and for a moment he remained silent. Then he shrugged and stared out over the watted brow of his blind.

"You would not be so foolish," he quietly announced.

That announcement, Slade saw, was not without its own tacit challenge.

"Then since you regard this as your territory," he ventured, "I suppose your camp is here?"

"It is not," countered Frayne. "This is merely an observation post. My camp is farther south, toward the Kasakana, since that seems to be caribou country. And we must have meat, of course."

"If you're nearer the Kasakana," ventured Slade, "you must be neighbors to my two old sourdough friends. I mean Zeke and Minty, the men we bunked with on the way out."

"I have seen nothing of them," was the deliberate response. "My one object here is to be alone."

"Banks again," said Slade. He stood silent a moment before asking: "Where is that camp-mate of yours?"

"Karnell," said Frayne, "is cutting wood and smoking fish, in case we should winter here. I have learned, in unsettled country, to think of the future."

"If you winter here," observed Slade, "you will no longer have your swans."

"A man of science learns patience," retorted Frayne. "They will come back in the spring."

"But before next spring," persisted Slade, "you'll be needing some plane service."

"I have no need for a plane," asserted the other.

"And you've had none?"

"Of course not."

Slade found it necessary to give that some thought.

"Then why did you try to buy a plane, a couple of weeks ago? And why did you want to hire a flyer?"

The opaque eyes regarded him with disdain.

"That," asserted Frayne, "was before I found what I was looking for."

"And now you've spotted your swans you've no need for us?"

"None whatever," was the acidulated answer.

"And you haven't happened to see a plane in this neighborhood?"

"Not until I had the misfortune of seeing yours."

"Then you saw me as I came in?"

Frayne's nod was curt.

"As did my trumpeters, which you disturbed," he announced.

"Before I leave you to your trumpeters," said the flyer, "I'd like to ask just one question. Where do you come from?"

"What difference does that make?" demanded the other.

"Because your manners make me think you are German."

Smart Woolknit Fabrics Used For Wide Variety of Purposes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE vogue for woolknit fashions and handknits is reaching a new high this season. To see a collection of smart new woolknits is to know the reason why they are making such an enviable record in the fall mode.

It is almost unbelievable that such things can actually be in the knitted realm as the gorgeous plaids, checks, stripes, tweed-like effects and other fabric patternings achieved in current fashions. But added to its flattery and attractiveness, you will find in knitted apparel well-made garments that will be practical and comfortable in a winter of lowered temperature due to the new fuel-saving program.

Then, too, in the wool knitted fabrics, which include not only jersey but many worsted tweed and basket-weave types, one is able to find interesting surfaces that priorities are forcing out of some woven fabrics.

Attuned to the rich coloring of an autumn day is the window-pane plaid used for the woolknit suit shown to the right in the above picture. Later on you can wear this dramatically colorful suit under a winter coat and with your new giant fur muff and neckpiece—what a picture! The large profile beret is just about the smartest in fall headgear.

The jewelry ensemble (and how essential is important jewelry to the costume this season!) is gold plated silver set with large aqua colored stones and rhinestones. The good looking alligator purse qualifies as high in style prestige.

Every inch a thoroughbred is the beautifully styled wool tweed-knit suit shown to the left in the above picture. The color scheme inter-mingles blue with gray. The hat is a soft breton in gray with a scarf of sheer red woolknit. A gold plated sterling silver spiral clip fastens the scarf to the shoulder, and there are matching earrings.

In the artful uses of yarn crochet, knit and embroidery touches designers have tapped a new source which is yielding a flow of ideas revealing the vast possibilities offered in yarn technique. Fashions of today are being lavished with ingenious knitted and crocheted effects. The oval inset picture is of outstanding interest in that it illustrates a trend now so pronounced in the costume design program of combining knitted detail with wools and other materials. In this instance a brown wool dress is designed with an aqua knitted yoke. A family relationship is established with the hat in that the swirling beret is trimmed with matching knitted fabric.

Throughout the fall and winter collections costumes are noted that have yokes, pockets, belts and other intriguing crochet or knit details interworked with the wool of the dress. If you prefer to wear knitted accessories rather than have the knitted theme incorporated into the dress or coat itself, you will find a feast for eyes in the intriguing items on display.

The hat and bag sets, also hat and muff sets, done in multi-colored yarns are simply irresistible. The hat may be any type from a wee pillbox to a wide brimmed casual—with pointed skyscraper crown, and you will be seeing the smartest mittens that fit like a glove and have interesting detail to complement the stocking caps, pill boxes, tricorne and other knit headwear worn.

WEAR the jumper with your favorite blouses and sweaters and you have a dress for classroom, office or home. Add the jacket and you complete a suit which will be smartness itself and which will be warm enough to wear into late fall. The jumper is cut on slimming princess lines—the jacket is an adaptable cardigan style with which you can wear all types of accessories.

Those Relations
Judge—Now, tell me about your marital relations. Were they pleasant?

Witness—Pleasant enough, your honor, but they wanted to live on me all the time.

Stuck There
"Yes, my wife and I agreed one month ago that in married life frankness is the best policy. We resolved to point out one another's faults without reserve, so we could correct them."

"And have you stuck to it?"

"Not exactly; we haven't been speaking for 29 days."

It's Reversible
Sheer Lace Bodice
Tops Black Dresses

Something most alluring is happening in evening and "dressty" afternoon costume design. It is the use of sheer bodice tops, yokes and sleeves either color-matched to the dress or in lovely pastels or in sharp contrast.

It is the black dress that for the most part takes on these alluring transparent touches. The sheerest of sheer black lace is made to appear even more sheer when the yokes or sleeves are posed over a nude-colored sheer such as chiffon or tinted tulle, thus accenting pretty shoulders and throats and arms. Many of the pretty shoulder effects are elaborated with the sparkle of sequin and spangle, or with flashes of jet beads or jeweled embroidery.

The street length formal frock needed something to differentiate it from just the usual afternoon dressy frock, and the nude shoulder effects do just that. Even the less formal afternoon frocks are being sleeved and otherwise "beautified" with exquisite bodice tops.

Coat Types
Versatility in fur coat styling distinguishes a three-quarter length mink coat of Chinese coolie inspiration. This is enriched with a handsome lining of rich Chinese brocade. Fitted coats of Persian lamb employ a side fastening with subtle drape. Much emphasis is also placed on hooded fur fashions.

Velveteens
Bright velveteen date dresses, fur-look dresses and "off duty" dresses are made to flatter, and they do just that. The colors of the velveteen are fascinating, special stress being placed on fuchsia-purple.

Clever collegians are picking black cotton velvet evening coats with double-duty potentialities. This mandarin coat lined with multi-colored, specially woven cotton is a homespun-like texture is a case in point. Worn on the light side it makes a perfect foil for dark clothes or looks dainty with party frocks in pastels. Either surface is right for evening wear or with dress-up date dresses in which girls go to service men's tea dances all over the country.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh DON'T ever argue with Grandma Hoskins about American history unless you know what you're talking about. Because when Grandma states a fact, it really is a fact. The other day we got to talking about George Washington—who besides being a great general, was a public surveyor, a successful farmer, and a wise statesman. "And he made mighty good beer, too," says Grandma. That was news to most of us. "You can see his private recipe for beer right in the New York Public Library," Grandma Hoskins tells us. "In his own handwriting, at that." And then she opened up on how Washington and those others who founded America believed in beer and moderation. Told us about William Penn who had his own brewery down in Pennsylvania, and Israel Putnam... Samuel Adams of Massachusetts and James Oglethorpe of Georgia. "Beer," Grandma goes on, "has grown up with the country because it's a symbol of good fellowship and moderation." Way back in 1789, she told us, James Madison stood up in the House of Representatives and made the motion urging "the manufacture of beer in every State of the Union." And that same year Massachusetts passed an act stating that "the wholesome qualities of malt liquors greatly recommend them to general use." From there on—until early in 1918, the brewing industry kept growing and beer and ale kept getting better and better. Then came prohibition... thirteen dark years that bred vice and crime. Grandma says it taught us something though—something that George Washington and all those other early American statesmen knew all along... that no law ever takes the place of self-restraint and moderation. That's why they were friends of beer and made moderation a cornerstone of American freedom. They were right about a lot of things—Washington and Adams and Penn. And from where I sit, they certainly were right about moderation, too. Joe Marsh No. 51 of a Series Copyright, 1942, Brewing Industry Foundation

Col. Kinzie B. Edmunds Issues Call For Youthful Volunteers

Colonel Kinzie B. Edmunds, the District Recruiting Officer for the San Antonio District Army Recruiting Office yesterday commented on the enlistment of the 18 and 19 year-olds by stating that: "It was with obvious and understandable reluctance that our President addressed Congress with a view to calling our last reserve of manpower, the young men heretofore below the limits of the Selective Service Act, the men of eighteen and nineteen years of age. To a man of feeling who knows what war means, who himself has been a parent, that must indeed have been a difficult decision to make.

"But our country needs its Youth. They are needed to fill our great Field Armies, so that our trained workmen may stay at their machines and our farmers continue to raise food. They are needed to avoid calling the heads of families who should support their dependents by essential productive work. They are needed because they make the best soldiers, healthy, strong, enduring and easily taught. Finally, they are needed because we are engaged in total war, a struggle for survival. If we fail to use all our strength we are doomed to lose the things we value more than life itself.

"We are calling, then, on you young men to volunteer. Do not await the slow processes of the Selective Service Act. Time is a vital factor and it takes time to turn a civilian into a soldier. You are needed now.

"There are advantages to you in enlistment. It is the men who start young who rise to high rank. General Drum, now commanding the First Army and our Eastern Defenses, joined the service at 19. General De Witt, commanding the Fourth Army and our Western Defenses, joined at 18. The Commanding General of the Second Army, General Lear, enlisted at 18. General Krueger, commanding our Third Army, enlisted when he was only 17.

"Would you like to choose your arm, to serve where you wish, not where you must? Would you like to be a trained soldier when others of your age are struggling in the recruit squads? Are you ambitious, would you rather be a leader than one of those led?

"If your answer to those questions is "Yes", the time to enlist is now", Colonel Edmunds concluded.

There are 13 branches from which the youth of 18 and 19 may choose to serve their country. The five that have recently been added to those already prevailing are: Quartermaster Corps, the Ordnance Department, the Chemical Warfare Service, the Medical Department, and the Corps of Military Police, in addition to the previous range of choice between the Infantry, Cavalry, Army Air Forces, Coast and Field Artillery, Armored Force Engineers and Signal Corps.

In each of the thirteen services now open to these men, every opportunity will be afforded them for attendance at Officers' Candidate School.

No release from Selective Service Boards is needed in the case of volunteers 18 and 19 years old. The written consent of the parents however is required.

For those 18 and 19-year old men wishing to take advantage of a selection of one of the 13 branches in which to serve their country may obtain further information by applying at the Army Re-

Now It's The WARGOCS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—A measure setting up a women's auxiliary in the United States Coast Guard—counterpart of the Army's WAACS and the Navy's WAVES—was passed speedily yesterday by the House.

While no official title has been chosen for the feminine contingent the designation "Women's Auxiliary Reserve of the Coast Guard" has been suggested, out of which is inexactly but euphoniously derived "WARGOCS".

Chairman Bland, Democrat, Virginia, of the House Merchant Marine Committee, said the women would fill shore jobs, thus releasing men for sea service. He told the House that present plans called for a force of 10,000 women by the end of next year.

Typhus Fever On Increase Over State

AUSTIN, Texas, October 21—Reports coming in to the State Health Department indicate an increasing incidence of typhus fever throughout the State without any particular regard to urban or rural population.

Inasmuch as nearly 900 cases of typhus fever have already been reported in Texas this year, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is urging full cooperation from all communities whether large or small in a campaign to exterminate rats and thus control the increasing prevalence of typhus.

"It must be kept in mind that the rat acts as a reservoir of the typhus germ and the rat flea is the means by which the type of typhus found in Texas is transmitted to man. Rats are liable to travel many miles from one community to another and it is therefore obvious," Dr. Cox said, "that it will be necessary to make rat extermination program cover the entire state."

Dr. Cox has recommended a four-point extermination program in addition to the already widely used poisoning campaigns, which he believes will assure more than temporary typhus control. This program includes: first, making food inaccessible to rodents through proper garbage collection and disposal; second, rat-proofing of homes and other buildings; third, keeping at least two traps set and baited in every home which is not rat-proofed; fourth, proper educational measures.

Concerning the educational campaign, Dr. Cox pointed out that since the typhus fever rat is known to inhabit practically every section of the state, it will take state-wide cooperation to exterminate it. In order to do this, the public must become adequately acquainted with the habits of the rat and the various control measures that may be applied.

The State Department of Health has moving picture films on the subject and has issued a bulletin

Texans Make Rush For New Driver's Licenses

AUSTIN, Oct. 21—In a last minute rush, 20,000 Texans a day are applying for drivers licenses, State Police Director Homer Garrison said today.

No old style licenses—the ones with two detachable segments—will be good after Nov. 1. The law provides that, unless the holders of these old licenses get their applications for renewal into the mail before midnight of Nov. 1, they will have to take an examination.

So many people have waited until near the deadline to file their application that "we are just about snowed under", Drivers License Chief, J. B. Draper said. While the Drivers License Division is able to issue 10,000 renewals a day, it may be three or four weeks before late applicants get back their licenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buchanan, Jr., took their seven months old daughter, Caroline Irene, to the Turner Uninological Institute in Houston, where she was operated Thursday. Buchanan returned Tuesday, and Mrs. Buchanan will bring Caroline Irene home in about three weeks.

World's Fastest and Wildest Rodeo At Huntsville Prison Saturday

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 21—Announcement was made today by Major D. W. Stakes, General Manager of the Texas Prison System, that an additional performance of the Texas Prison Rodeo—the only show of its kind in the world—would be held on Saturday afternoon, October 24th at 4 o'clock at Prison Stadium here.

This Saturday afternoon show is being put on for the benefit of the many thousands of rodeo fans who are unable to attend the Thursday performances which will be held as scheduled. The Saturday afternoon performance will start at 4 o'clock so that workers living in a 100-mile area of Huntsville, who have Saturday afternoons off, can drive to Prison Stadium in time for the opening event.

And then too, the new scheduled time of 4 o'clock will not conflict with the Home-coming game at Pritchett Field here between the Sam Houston Bearkats and the North Texas Teachers eleven from Denton, which begins at two o'clock.

The same number of events, same riders and same wild stock from the river bottom pasture-lands of the Prison System will sparkle forth in the arena for two hours on Saturday afternoon as in previous shows.

Seen in the opening act of this rodeo will be ten wild and vicious Brahman bulls popping from ten chutes with an inmate rider perched on the back of each. This opening event is known as the Mad

Scramble and is the most dangerous and thrilling of all rodeo acts. Following the initial event will come twenty-one other spine tingling thrillers—all designed to make the Texas Prison Rodeo live up to its reputation of being the World's Wildest and Fastest Rodeo.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Haynes have visiting them Mrs. Haynes' grandmother, Mrs. Don Boatwright of Nixon. Mrs. J. W. Ivy and son Clarence of Nixon are coming Saturday and Mrs. Boatwright will return with them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stumberg, who have been staying in San Antonio intermittently during the summer are home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shults, and children, Lois May and Tommie, of Sinton spent Sunday with Mrs. Shults' mother Mrs. W. W. Atwood.

Mrs. Leonard Roberts and Mrs. Joe Smith were in Corpus Christi Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy York, and children, Patsy, Leon and Bobby Joe returned Sunday from Henrietta where they visited Mrs. Minnie York for a few days Mrs. York returned with them for a two-weeks stay.

Mrs. Georgia Pearsoll and Mrs. Elsie Easterwood returned Saturday in San Antonio, where they spent several days.

A WAR MESSAGE to Truck Owners and Drivers

America's truck transportation system is faced today with a critical situation; and the Office of Defense Transportation is asking the help of every truck owner and driver.

With less than a 3 months' supply of new trucks to serve our civilian needs for the duration, we must squeeze every possible mile out of the 5,000,000 trucks now on the road. That's why your government is asking YOU to join in a nation-wide movement to conserve all existing trucks and tires through the program of the U. S. Truck Conservation Corps.

HUMBLE STATIONS ARE COOPERATING

Humble stations are official stations where you may join the U. S. Truck Conservation Corps and receive the Corps insignia for your truck; Humble dealers are pledged to cooperation in the program of regular inspections and systematic preventive care. State Police To Enforce 35 Mile Speed

James B. Dietrich Jr. and Raymond Cole joined the Navy in Corpus Christi, and will leave Monday for Houston to report for duty. Dietrich has been employed by Rice Brothers and Company and Cole has been working in Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Henry Ballou and Mrs. R. S. Johnson were in Corpus Christi last Friday visiting Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. L. B. Roberts.

Mrs. C. R. Gibson and son David, of Corpus Christi spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bruhl. Mr. and Mrs. Bruhl returned to Corpus Christi with Mrs. Gibson and came home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Janacek and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Janacek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bracht.

Better watch that speed. State police in this area have received instructions from Austin headquarters to start enforcing the new 35 mile-an-hour federal and state speed regulation.

Violators of the regulation may lose their eligibility for gasoline rationing cards and re-capped tires. State police reports in this section indicate considerable decrease in speeding law violations in view of the tire shortage, very few arrests will be necessary under the new regulation.

Portlight RICE
BY GRANTLAND RICE

CONNIE MACK was talking about the Cardinals. "They take me back a long way," he said.

"I'll tell you what I mean," Connie said. "During the series I noticed them all hanging around the front of their hotel, looking at the sights.

"In the same way they take me back to the days of defensive baseball. They only ask a run or two, as a rule and then they're hard to handle.

White and Pollet were afflicted with sore arms most of the season. If they had been in shape all year there is no telling how many games the Cardinals might have won.

There isn't any question but that the Cardinals finished the season with one of the best pitching staffs in baseball history.

This list includes Mort Cooper, Ernie White, Pollet, Beazley and Max Lanier.

Starting Pitchers I can't recall a team with so many good starting pitchers.

White and Pollet were afflicted with sore arms most of the season. If they had been in shape all year there is no telling how many games the Cardinals might have won.

To allow one clean hit in eight innings is a working job that deserved something better than defeat. One of the outstanding stars in this past series was Bill Dickey.

Bill Dickey didn't need this series to prove his place. He has caught more than 30 Yankee World Series games, and has never shown a flaw in all that time.

The Irrepressible

Old Irrepressible, better known as Ole Diz, is still one of the most colorful parties concerned with baseball.

In the years I've known him Dizzy Dean hasn't changed a leopard's spot. He never will.

I've never heard Dean complain about this tough luck. Nothing that can happen ever will wipe that quick grin off his face.

Looking Back

Ole Diz is still around broadcasting and advising the players. Here are some of his forgotten classics:

1. The day in St. Louis with the thermometer at 103 when Diz, sitting on the Cardinal bench, built a fire and wrapped a big blanket around his shoulders.

2. The day in Florida when I went fishing with him and he over-stayed his time six hours.

"What will Frank Frisch do about this?" I asked him. "Ole Frank can't do nothing," Dizzy said, "except ball me out and fine me $200. What's $200?"

3. The day he walked into the Tiger ball park in 1934 before the World Series—wearing, among other details, a gray felt hat and a blue overcoat, he grabbed the bat from Mickey Cochrane's hands and hit one on the line—much to Mickey's astonishment.

"That's the way we do it," Dizzy said as he walked away.

4. Warming up before the Tiger game that year someone told Dizzy the odds were 2 to 1 on the Cardinals when he was pitching.

"Them gamblers," he said, "are pretty smart people. They don't miss no sure thing."

5. The day he was warming up, as a Cub, to face the Yankees. "How do you feel, Diz?" I asked. "Well," he said, warming up a sore arm, "I ain't what I used to be. But who in hell is?"

Mort Cooper, as a pitcher, is the closest approach to Dean that the Cardinals ever have known. Mort hasn't Dean's color, but as Ole Diz almost said: "Who has?"

Cooper is a big, powerful fellow who only came along this season as one of the best in the game. He still has to prove he is another Dizzy Dean.

The Washington MERRY GO ROUND
DREW PEARSON

Washington, D. C. WICKARD FEARS FOOD CRISIS Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has made it very clear in private conferences that he takes vigorous exception to Donald Nelson's recent statement.

On the contrary, Wickard says that we are going to be more and more up against it for food—unless we give the farmer more machinery and more labor.

1. An army uses twice as much food as civilians, (a) because a lot is lost at sea, (b) a lot is lost in the field of battle, and (c) soldiers eat more than civilians.

2. We have to feed our allies more and more.

3. We will also have to feed the occupied regions when they are set free.

But meanwhile, farmers actually are killing good dairy cows for beef because they cannot get labor or machinery to keep up their dairy herds. In the Chicago milk shed alone, 1,700 dairy farmers have sold their herds and gone out of business.

In one specific case, a dairy farmer lost the use of his litter-carrier when the tub went bad. The carrier, complete with trolley and hoist, had cost him $250. A new tub to replace the rusted one would cost only $10. But he couldn't find additional hands to do the work of the machine.

Foreseeing this machinery shortage, Secretary Wickard asked WPB to permit manufacture of agricultural machinery up to 38 per cent of normal. The request was made July 22. He did not get a reply until this week.

Principal log-jammer is WPB's civilian supply committee, headed by Joseph L. Wiener, which has to act on a great variety of civilian problems and does not pretend to be expert in agriculture.

"If there is a labor shortage on the farms, why can't farmers work overtime, just as factory workers do?" "What is the difference between a wheel type tractor and a crawler type?"

So the United States may fall as the ladder of democracy if a farmer can't have a new plow point or some other item—and the necessary farm labor.

NO NIX ON NAVY'S PIX

On the important question of photographs, the navy has completely reversed itself, with the result that the stay-at-home public is seeing daily action shots of the war.

Until recently, there was a ban on taking pictures of "confidential" scenes. But on September 1, the navy issued General Order 179, which stated that "commanding officers are directed to obtain photographs at times of emergency, disaster, and combat action."

Picture taking in the navy used to be confined to "nuts and bolts photography"—routine shots of materials to observe their action under stress. But now the navy is taking pictures of some of the most dramatic and colorful incidents in the history of warfare, with some 1,400 photographers.

If you saw the picture of the Jap carrier sinking in the Coral sea, or the Jap heavy cruiser sinking at Midway, or the U. S. sailors leaping overboard from the carrier Lexington, you have seen the work of navy cameramen.

Some were appointed to do nothing else but take pictures of the battle, but some did their camera shooting only after laying aside a machine gun. The famous picture of the sinking Jap carrier in the Coral sea was taken by a machine gunner from the rear nest of a navy plane.

Primary purpose of the picture taking is not to inform the public, but to inform the navy. The pictures are used to check on operations, to instruct learners, and, most important, to study the enemy's position. Today, tomorrow and every day, navy planes are flying over New Guinea and the Solomons, taking pictures of whatever lies below. The developed shots may disclose that the Japs have moved into a new area, and that the little black spot, seen under a microscope, is an oil tank just installed.

Kathleen Norris Says: Our Enemies Will Pay the Piper
Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

We have not had to steal and hate and kill to secure our homes and give our children the greatest advantages the world can supply.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS IN SOME of these heart-shaking days it might be good to remember some facts about ourselves.

We are not a belligerent nation, nor one inclined naturally to wars. We have never had to be, in our splendid isolation, strength and prosperity. We have not had to steal and hate and kill to secure our homes and give our children the greatest advantages the world can supply.

Now we are forced into a role for which we were not prepared. We don't like it, and we mean to finish the job as rapidly as we can and then go back to our decencies.

But—if we MUST get into the world trouble, it is good to know that our slow-gathering military strength is going to be of a power beyond anything that human warfare has ever known before.

A Wealthy Nation.

We operate, in America, almost two-thirds of all the telephones and telegraph systems in the world. We own two-thirds of all the railroads. We have all but 20 per cent of all motor cars. We produce 70 per cent of the world's oil.

Two-thirds of all banking resources are ours. The purchasing power of our population is greater than that of 500,000,000 Europeans, greater than that of a billion Asiatics.

And yet our young fresh college boys and girls inform us firmly yet kindly, now and then, that the system that built this stupefying superiority is somehow all wrong!

Now put yourself in the place of a German housewife or a Japanese one, reading these facts on a Sunday morning. Would your heart fail you a little as you asked yourself, "Are these the people, protected by their oceans, strong and tall and educated and accustomed to a thousand advantages, luxuries, possessions of which MY people know nothing—ARE THESE the people of whom our mad warmakers have made enemies?"

Oh, to be sure, we weren't ready—they may gloat over that. They may gloat over that JUST A LITTLE WHILE LONGER. We never saw the need of conscripting all our young men into armies, as they did. We never saw the need of starving and denying ourselves so that the money that we have spent for schools and homes, camping and sports, trips and shows and frocks should be molded into bullets and guns. And if these enemy nations had had sane leaders we never would have had need of this military preparedness, nor would they.

But they have called the tune, and in the end they'll pay the piper.

Other Dark Days Recalled.

So don't be too much swayed by momentary discouragements. News can't be cheerful just now; it is running along lines of strategic retreats and stressing the enemies' heavy losses as they take point after point. It did just the same thing in 1917 and 1918. We grew sick of enemy victories; there was no sign of STARTING NOW This week Kathleen Norris tells about her conversation with a well-known columnist, who believes that it is about time for Germany to break under the strain of withstanding the ever increasing might of the Allied armies; for us to begin thinking about the peace that will follow our victory.

And then suddenly, like the crackling and splitting of a lighted fuse, came unbelievable rumors. Women and men were talking to each other in the streets in downtown Washington. "Did you hear—it couldn't be true—we heard that the Kaiser is abdication—the Germans are talking of a truce."

And then headlines five inches high. "Peace—peace—peace at last!"

That was after four years and three months of war, during which time the leader of the English armies had admitted that their "backs were to the wall." That was after the enemy had taken much territory and possessed himself of oil wells and iron mines. That was after Czarist Russia had capitulated and dropped out of the fight. That was after one of our most famous Washington commentators had informed us that with her fresh resources Germany could fight on for at least another five years.

Last week I was talking to one of our best-known columnists, a man whose daily comment upon world events is used in more than a hundred newspapers. He knows Germany well; for ten years he lived in all the European capitals by turns. In the course of a general conversation he said that he would be very much in favor of America's adopting the Swiss method of military training for boys, after the war. I am not quite sure what that is, but I believe that instead of drafting all boys for a three-year term they take them for six weeks a year only, keeping it up for all the years between 18 and 35.

Someone picked up his phrase and said hopefully. "After the war? Are we talking of after the war?"

Gradual Wearing Down.

He said seriously, "Yes, it is almost time for that. We are hammering now at a dozen war fronts. The results show very little. But the steady, strengthening blows are deadly. Even little gains by the Allies are sickening news for the people who have slaved and starved, and who are grieving and freezing now, wondering what the outcome must be, knowing that whatever the terms of peace are they will be kinder to them now than a year from now, and kinder a year from now than after five more agonizing years of this."

Of course it was what we wanted to hear, but I don't believe he said it for that. It seems to me that when you consider the facts indicated earlier in this article, and a thousand others like them, it might very possibly be the truth.

The Wireless: March of Time's dramatization of the four fliers who bombed a Jap airport with "borrowed bombs, a stolen transport and a bottle of scotch" was three times as exciting as it appeared here. Deft scripting, gentlemen, paced swiftly and loaded with zing...

One of the local drama critics referred to a certain ham as a "bum actor." The critic received a sharp note from the victim demanding an apology. The critic replied: "I am pleased to explain and apologize—for our proffreader. Believing I had omitted the word 'actor' he inserted it. A grievous error, which I assure you won't happen again!"

There have been some complaints about the number of de luxe burlesque shows playing around Broadway, but John Mason Brown doesn't think it is a matter for calling in the police.

The gin-rummy craze has reached all the way down to the Bowery, where two bums found a deck of cards in the gutter. They started playing gin for $1 a point—imaginary dough, of course. After an hour the bum who owed 38,000 imaginary dollars said he was quitting.

Quentin Reynolds says some American troops in England go to extremes to impress the girls. One lass urged Reynolds to give her a good report with one soldier's father. "Tell him I'm a nice girl, please?" she asked. "He owns the biggest orange groves in America!" "In what city?" asked Reynolds. "Utica," was the reply.

My Week

BREMERTON NAVY HOSPITAL
SEATTLE, WASH.—One day my daughter and son-in-law, with the two older children went with me to Bremerton, Wash. After a very pleasant luncheon with Mrs. Taffinder, wife of Admiral Sherwoode Ayerst Taffinder, commandant of the navy yard, we visited the hospital with Capt. Dan Hunt. This is not as big a hospital as those in San Francisco or San Diego, but it has been somewhat enlarged lately.

There were a number of patients from the northern area, not all of them, however, from the battlefield. A good many boys get hurt on board ship. In all these hospitals there are a number of nervous cases, some of whom, perhaps, will never be able to resume work in the armed forces, but may be able to take up their civilian occupations again.

They have some wards for the care of navy dependents, and I saw a number of wives whose husbands are off on foreign duty. Seven babies were in the nursery, and several children were recovering from more or less serious illnesses. This is not a separate hospital building, as it was at the naval air station in San Diego, but is a part of the regular hospital. The patients pay $3.50 a day, just as they do in San Diego. I had not been at this navy yard since the President was assistant secretary of the navy. We visited all the navy yards on this coast in the winter of 1914, and the change is simply breath taking. What used to be a golf course is now covered with shops and great activity is going on everywhere.

SEATTLE'S VICTORY SQUARE
Next day at noon, I spoke here in Victory square. Ever since last May, Seattle has carried on noon-day meetings in Victory square. Always they have a record of bond sales read. In addition, they make a point of bringing interesting people to talk at that hour on anything to do with the war effort.

This day an army band, belonging to a Washington, D. C. regiment, played very well. In compliance with Donald Nelson's request, the newspapers here, as well as in other parts of the country, are responsible for the scrap metal drive, and they had charge of this program.

AN AWAKENING FILM
I saw a picture the other day, which was taken in China by Mr. Mark L. Moody, an American business man who has spent some 25 years in the Far East. He had exceptional opportunities for taking pictures when the Japanese took Shanghai and various nearby cities. The film is called "Ravaged Earth," and he tells me his desire is to awaken the people in this country to a knowledge of the kind of adversity they have in the Japanese. They are certainly appalling pictures.

'NERVES' IN ARMED FORCES
In San Francisco, among other places, I visited the army hospital. There are new buildings there, too, but on the whole, it gives one less feeling of hurried change than most of the other hospitals. It is evident everywhere that an effort is being made to use all the new scientific knowledge which can contribute to the better care of the men in service.

I would surmise, however, that we are not giving our draftees a sufficiently careful psychiatric examination, before they are taken into service, for there seem to be a considerable number of maladjustments which may or may not become liabilities in the army. In the navy, too, I have seen some cases of what one might call "nerves." There seems to be more attention and understanding of these cases since they are in the services than in the pre-induction period. If once they are taken into the services, of course they become a charge on the medical services of our government.

PROMOTING GOOD WILL
Able in San Francisco, I went to a tea at Pacific House. Mrs. William Denman has been very active in promoting, through Pacific House, closer relations between the various consuls stationed in San Francisco and the students who come from so many South American and Far Eastern countries.

The students will all return to their own countries to be ambassadors of good will for us if their experiences here make them really understand this nation and its people. I met a very sweet young Chinese woman who is a student of medicine. She is planning to return as soon as she finishes to work in the rural areas of China.

PREVENTING RACE ANTAGONISM
That afternoon in San Diego, I went to a meeting in the parlor of the Methodist church for Bethune-Cookman college. It is interesting to me that three meetings in behalf of this college have been arranged in the state of California. This shows there is recognition of the need for better understanding of our minority groups, and of the value of trained leaders who can create good will and prevent antagonism between people of different races.

Let's Have a Party . . . While Witches Play
(See Recipes Below.)

Halloween Pranks

October's the month which flaunts her garb, burnished colors as a prelude to winter. It's the month of apples and cider, of pumpkins and squash against dry sheaves of corn stalk, of fragrant gingerbread or doughnuts fried crisply tender in hot sizzling deep fat.

October's the month of Halloween—when witches, spooks and black cats make merry. Big ones or wee ones will love a party that mingles what's best in October with the spookiest of what's Halloween.

Pretty up with a party and give your spirits a lift with traditional food that's easy on purse strings, a hit with the party-goers. Decorations can be nature's own, a pumpkin or two whole or cut into a jolly face lit with candle glow, squash and apples banked with deep yellow, brown or red leaves, bowls of apples, grapes, popcorn and spicy drinks.

Let the children paste black cats, owls and witches onto mugs and invitations inviting guests to come as their favorite spook be it an owl, witch astride a broomstick, or a slinking cat.

Have a good hot dish if you are having the Halloween party indoors—something fixed in advance that you can put in the oven to get warm, slip out in a hurry to get to the table like tuna fish souffle, cheese fondue, macaroni and cheese with broiled bacon slices, or a hamburger roast. Outdoor plans may include a wienie roast, with the children participating at the outdoor fireplace or grill. If you prefer hamburgers, fix the patties indoors with their seasonings, wrap in wax paper ready for broiling. Wienies require thorough washing.

Construct a simple grill outdoors for roasting wienies if you aren't lucky enough to have a brick grill. This will take a lot of the rough-house outdoors and save wear and tear on your house. Games will most likely be outdoors if it isn't too cold as the revelers will want to roam with spirits and ghosts.

Few foods equal the deliciousness of wienies roasted over the flames on forks or sticks fashioned from branches, depending on your degree of going in for naturalness.

Plenty of long buns, already split indoors before the party and heaped high in a basket, are indicated. They're best when toasted—with lots of butter, mustard, relish, catsup or homemade chili sauce as accompaniments for wienies roasted to doneness with a taste of smoke and ashes.

If you go in for toasting marshmallows along with wienies, try them rolled in coconut just for a taste of something different. They're really good!

You can't have enough hot foods as the weather is bound to be on the crisp and chilly side. There will be cheers from the boisterous and

LYNN SAYS:

The Score Card: Corner your share of these food bargains during the next few weeks: Cabbage, apples, plums, pears, green peppers, lima beans and cauliflower.

The well-dressed table will also wear eggs, chicken and cheddar cheese not only for variety but also economy.

Style your table with carrots, potatoes, turnip greens, beets and beet tops, mustard, spinach. Good for you, and perfect with most other foods in the meal.

Standardized bottles have been ordered for wines, jellies and preserves. Home-canning jars are not affected in this order of the War Production board.

Variety notes: if you don't have porthouse this often, you can have excellent dishes from lesser known cuts of meat such as liver, kidneys, heart, sweetbreads and tongue.

Halloween Party

- Roasted Wienies on Buns
- Mustard Relish
- *Gingerbread
- *Doughnuts
- *Mulled Pineapple Juice
- *Taffy Popcorn
- *Recipes Given

Asks from the more conservative if you serve this golden, pineapple drink with a suspicion of spice. The vitamins B1 and C in the pineapple won't permit any let-down in morale and pep:

- *Mulled Pineapple Juice. (Serves 4-6)
- 1 inch stick of cinnamon
- 3 whole cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg
- 1 quart canned, unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice
- Pinch of salt

Tie the spices in a small piece of cheesecloth, add them to the pineapple juice, and bring to the boiling point, but do not boil. Add salt. Serve immediately.

Gingerbread wears a party air if you decorate the tops with a frosting outline of a Halloween symbol after it is cut into slices. Here's a recipe for gingerbread that's light as down and exquisitely fragrant with spices in correct proportions:

- *Gingerbread.
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup light molasses
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1 beaten egg
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Pour water over shortening and add sugar, molasses and egg. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients, beat until smooth. Bake in a waxed-paper-lined square pan in a moderate (350-degree) oven. Cool in pan.

If it's doughnuts you've a liking for, I'd suggest the kind made with sour cream or milk. They have a lightness of a feather that is the criterion for a "sinker."

*Sour Milk Doughnuts. (Makes 2 dozen)

- 3 cups flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon melted shortening
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 cup sour milk

Sift flour, sugar, nutmeg and salt. Dissolve soda in sour milk. Beat eggs well and add milk to eggs. Add to dry ingredients, then mix in melted shortening. Roll out and cut with a doughnut cutter. Fry in deep hot fat (350-degrees F.) until golden brown. Drain on brown paper.

Fun's in store for the youngsters if you let them polish off the party with these old-fashioned, sugar-saving popcorn balls:

- *Taffy Popcorn.
- 4 cups popped corn
- 2 cups shelled peanuts
- 1/2 cup molasses
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon soda

Mix molasses, sugar, butter, water and vinegar. Cook slowly and without stirring until the crack stage is reached. Add soda and stir well. Add remaining ingredients and mix well before pouring into shallow, well-greased pans. When cold, cut into bars or squares.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

STEPS TOWARD SOLUTION OF THE ALCOHOL PROBLEM

LESSON TEXT—Ecclesiastes 10:17; Amos 5:21-24; Romans 14:19-21; II Corinthians 6:17; I Peter 4:1-5. GOLDEN TEXT—Let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.—Amos 5:24.

Let's do something about it! That is the right word regarding the liquor problem now. The time is past for theorizing or deploring—we need action. The liquor interests have redoubled their efforts of late because they fear the aroused public opinion of decent Americans. Why do not America's 65,000,000 church members say the word now, and curb this awful thing which is threatening to destroy us?

I. Right-Minded Rulers (Eccles. 10:17).

National leaders should set the example for the people—an example of sobriety, of clear-headed thought and full devotion to the cause of our country. Are they doing it? We quote: "Washington is the wettest spot in the nation. The per capita consumption of alcohol in the District of Columbia is almost twice that of the wettest state in the Union. In 1940, 4,266 gallons were consumed for every man, woman and child. Nevada, the wettest of all our states, consumed 2,656 gallons per person. There at Washington where they need the clearest heads, the steadiest nerves, and the highest morals, they are drinking the most booze" (Dr. I. M. Hargett). What about 1942? Those who have been able to observe, indicate that conditions are probably worse now!

The secretary of war and the secretary of the navy have insisted on the desirability of the sale of beer in service canteens. No wonder the Brewers' Digest of May, 1941, gloated: "One of the finest things that could have happened was the insistence by high ranking officers to make beer available in army camps. . . . Here is a chance for the brewers to cultivate a taste for beer in millions of young men." America had better wake up!

II. Right-Spirited People (Amos 5:21-24).

God has no pleasure in the religious observances and the pious words of a people who profess to worship, but who come with unrepentant hearts and unclean hands.

Can God bless the man (or his money) who profits either directly or indirectly from the sale of intoxicants? Amos has the answer. Let us heed his plea that righteousness should run through our national, as well as our personal lives, "as a mighty stream."

III. Right-Living Christians (Rom. 14:19-21; II Cor. 6:17; I Pet. 4:1-5).

We have already suggested that there are 65,000,000 church members in America. If they were all right-living Christians there can be little question that they would long since have eliminated the liquor business, for it is certainly most unchristian. Apparently they are either not real Christians, or they are asleep to their responsibility. Our Scriptures in this section tell us that in a true Christian life there is

1. No offense (Rom. 14:19-21). The question here is that of eating meat offered to idols, which does not concern us; but the great Christian principle here stated is of the highest importance and bears directly on our daily life.

None of us lives to himself (Rom. 14:7). Everything we do counts either for or against Christ. Such an ordinary (we regret) thing as staying away from church service speaks to the world and especially to our neighbors of our loss of interest and respect for the worship of God. Apply that principle to the use of any alcoholic beverage, and every Christian must be a total abstainer.

2. No Compromise (II Cor. 6:17). We have come to the unscriptural and deeply dangerous viewpoint that if a Christian wants to compromise a bit with the world, the flesh and the devil, that's his "business." God does not think so. He says: "Come out from among them, and be ye separate." The weakness of the church on this matter of liquor is that too many of the 65,000,000 are guilty of the sin (and that's what it is!) of compromise.

3. No Worldliness (I Pet. 4:1-5). Here again the assumption of many is that there are two groups in the church—worldly Christians and spiritually minded ones, and that each is as good as the other. Both classes are there, no doubt about that, but God never has and never will countenance worldliness on the part of His people.

Essentially, there are just two opposing principles in this world—self-will and God's will. We are either controlled by the flesh or by the Spirit of God. Peter makes it clear that the one who claims to belong to Christ should no longer be controlled by self-will, but by God's will. Are we ready, fellow Christians, to yield to Him?

IT IS not necessary to make our economies so dull and dreary that they depress every one. Let's make them so gay and attractive that they give us a lift and a bit of a challenge too. This old rocker is an example.

A saw and a wood chisel were used for removing projections and rockers. An old quilt was found for padding and the feathers from an old bolster were packed into a thick seat cushion to raise the seat which has been lowered by removing the rockers. This required a yard and a quarter of ticking. Four and one-half yards of inexpensive chintz in a bold, modern pattern did the rest. Total cost for an up-to-date chair less than two dollars, that will serve well for the duration.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Many women believe long washing makes clothes cleaner. Quite the reverse may be true, because textile fibers swell in water and if they swell sufficiently, under prolonged washing, dirt may actually be washed into the fibers.

To remove apple stains from hands wash in clear water, then rub a little tartaric acid (a powder) on them and every stain will vanish, leaving the hands white and clean.

When sponging a piece of dark woolen material use a sponging cloth made of dark wool.

Keep sweet potatoes spread out so they will not touch if you don't want them to become soft and rotted.

Because the bran particles in whole-wheat flour make complete sifting difficult, whole wheat flour should be thoroughly mixed by stirring it lightly with a fork before measuring.

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

• TODAY, results in home baking count more than ever before. . . That's why more and more women are turning to the baking powder that has been a baking day favorite in millions of homes for years and years.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Before rubber allocation programs, one large rubber manufacturing company made close to 35,000 separate rubber items. The weights of these items ran from fractions of an ounce to hundreds of pounds.

Supported by old inner tubes that have been blessed, natives of Benares, India, stay in the waters of the Holy Ganges River for weeks at a stretch.

Rubber shortage was no worry when the first roads were constructed in the Empire of Assyria and Babylon in 1900 B.C. or when the Romans built their military roads in 302-298 B.C.

In 1941 89% of the rubber consumed in the U. S. came from lands that are now in the hands of the enemy or cut off from U. S. ships.

Two-thirds of all the natural rubber in the U. S. is in the tires and tubes on American cars.

sneak. The try for point failed. Solis took command of the locals and then threw another pass to Wendell for another score. The Solis to Bowland combination was good for another point. Rockport was threatening again when the half ended. Wendell broke through the line and blocked another one of Cooper's punts and Bowland recovered on the seven yard line. A double lateral from Wendell to Solis to Wendell failed to put it over and the half ended with the ball on the two yard line and the score was 27 to 0.

Football Game - -

the game. Solis passed to Bowland for the extra point. Rockport reached pay dirt once more in the first quarter on a line buck by Wendell. The combination of Solis to Bowland was good for the extra point. In the second quarter Solis gained six points on a quarter back

Coach Mobley sent in his second team to start the second half. Gregory kicked off to Rockport and Danny Autry, a guard ran it back for about five yards before being stopped by three or four wildcats. Gregory made their only score against the second team, when No. 61, the outstanding player for Gregory went through the center for a touchdown. On the try for point, Gregory was penalized 15 yards and could not make it up. Rockport sent in their first string to take the kick off. They

"MORE POWER TO YOU, PARTNERS!"

WE'LL KEEP things humming down here while you're fighting up there. We'll see to it that there's plenty of electricity at every switch at the air field and the Army post—and plenty of power for vital industries in South and Southwest Texas that are turning out important materials for Victory.

All that takes lots of electric power—but Texas has got what it takes! CPL's trained employees, its power plants and its transmission system were ready when Uncle Sam asked for power in a hurry.

American business management made this possible. Because of it South and Southwest Texas has at least twenty times as much power as it had in the last war. And business management, which is now producing about seven-eighths of the whole nation's tremendous flow of power, has provided our country with five times as much power as we had in the last war—more than all the power in Japan, Germany and Italy. Further, practical business management under public regulation has increased electric service and decreased electric prices so much that... the average family enjoys about twice as much electricity for the same amount of money as it did 10 to 15 years ago.

More power to you, partners! When this war is won, we'll be ready again with plenty of power to help build a better world!
