Heavy Vote Urged In Airport Election

PILOTING

Voters of Aransas County will go to the polls Saturday to vote on one of the most important propositions to confront them in many years. Their decision will have great effect on the future of Rockport and Aransas County.

By all means go to the polls and vote. In doing so remember that you are exercising one of the greatest privileges of any people in the world, so weigh well your responsibility to yourself and your fellow man.

There is little doubt that the dawn of a new era will come at the end of the war. It will be an era when air transportation will play an important role. Picture now some of the little towns who in the past failed to recognize the change that progress was bringing. Those towns were the ones that were left off main line railroads and main line highways. They were left to die a natural death—and most of them did. Now in the offing is another important change in the march of progress. That is air travel and air transportation. The little town of today that is left off the main line airways will find itself in much the same state as the little towns of the past that were missed by the railroads and highways.

Go to the polls Saturday and vote. You are urged to vote for the issuance of the small amount of bonds to supply the money to buy the land for the airport. The land will belong to the county, and so will the improvements, but the field will be used by the Navy for the duration of the war. For the small amount of $40,000 or less you, as the people, will get more than a million dollars in return.

Remember: In voting the bond issue you will be putting Aransas county on the main line airways of tomorrow, and at the same time you will be doing a patriotic act in helping Uncle Sam to build an airfield that is needed now in the war effort.

Have you noticed the great improvement that has been made on the beach? It was recently graded and smoothed to make it ready for the summer season. Back of this lies a little story in "credit giving". Fred Boothe, who has always been for fixing up the beach and who also has expended considerable efforts along this line, reported that Judge Fox had done a splendid job. "Give the Judge all the credit. He's due it for a job well done." We contacted the judge—not telling him we had heard anything. "Yeah it looks nice, but give the credit to Fred Booth and Will Fisher (who operated the county machinery) they did the job." Anyway, it was a good piece of work.

Speaking of getting credit brings another item: Rev. A. D. Jameson was scheduled to make a talk at the WAAC rally last week. He found that he could not be present, so Fred Booth agreed very graciously at a late hour to take his place. The Pilot last week gave full credit to Rev. Jameson for making the speech that was made by Mr. Booth. Anyway, the speech was made.

From Dallas comes word from Fred Hunt, who sold out his barber and tailor shop and left many friends here a few weeks ago to join up in Uncle Sam's production fight. He had two boys in the Army, too. "I am building B-24 Bombers for Uncle Sam," he wrote. "They have just gotten started with the Bomber plant and flew the first bomber today." Fred is devoting a days work every day to helping build the bombers and then is going to school in off time to learn how to do a better job of it. "Keep things going," he said, "because after the war I may be back to pester you folks again. I still think old Rockport is a pretty good place to live." Fred has a lot of friends here who wish him well. Mrs. Hunt and their daughter are still in Rockport, but expect to join Mr. Hunt later.

Miss Elzona Wright has returned from a ten day visit to her brother in New Mexico. She was accompanied home by her brother, Clarence, Jr. and his wife.

Jap Zeros in Alameda Naval Base

The Alameda naval air base, California, had a visitation of Japanese boat-type Zeros, but no bombs were dropped. The planes, in various stages of disrepair, were shot down in the war zone and brought back for such purposes as the navy department may see fit to put them to. Photo shows a sample of what happens to these frail Japanese craft when they come under the guns of U. S. forces in the Pacific.

THE AIRPORT BOND ISSUE

(The following information is given by County Judge B. S. Fox regarding the proposed $40,000 Airport Bond Issue, on which Aransas County citizens will vote Saturday, March 20.)

The amount of the bond issue has been set at $40,000. It is not contemplated that all of this amount will be necessary. We have set the amount at $40,000 to care for contingencies, but so far as is known at this time between 700 and 800 acres will be amply sufficient for the proposed runways and other improvements.

We have been informed, however, by the Navy Department that due to increasing need for training facilities it may be possible that some additional acreage will be needed for office buildings, hangars and barracks. This additional acreage, if necessary, could still be obtained within the limits of the $40,000 bond issue, which would be much cheaper than having to call another bond election. If no additional acreage is needed, then the full amount of the $40,000 will not be disposed of.

The furnishing of this airport will be an important contribution on the part of Aransas County to the general war effort, and looking at the proposition from a post-war viewpoint the field will be a completion of our transportation system. At the present time we have highways, waterways, and railroads, and our only remaining shortage is the airway.

We are extremely fortunate at this time of being able to float this bond issue at the lowest rate of interest of any bond issue yet floated in Aransas County, namely three per cent. Furthermore the amount of bonds that will be sold from the issue will be handled locally, and only such amounts as are necessary will be cashed.

There was once some doubt as to the advisability of voting the bonds that gave us our modern small craft harbor and "fish bowl," and also the bonds floated for paving roads, but these have long since proven to be wonderfully good investments, not only to our local people, but also to tourists. The bond issue for the airport is now before you and I am sure that each and every voter will give the matter his most earnest consideration and help keep Aransas County to the forefront.

As has been previously expressed in these columns, there definitely will be no increase in the county's tax rate. Owing to the excellent condition of sinking funds of all previous bond issues it is convenient at this time to make such reductions in the levies as will adequately care for the new bond issue.

A. L. Bruhl, Who Had To 'Go to Law' To Become a Druggist, Rounds Out Fifty-Two Years As Pharmacist Here

A. L. Bruhl, soft-spoken and silver-haired druggist, this week rounded out 52 years service to the community here as a pharmacist, but he had to "go to law" to get started.

Bruhl, a native of Illinois, was educated in the public schools at Waco and then went to Baylor University where he studied to be a pharmacist. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bruhl came here in 1890 and their son, A. L., stayed on at school in Waco, before coming here in 1891 after his father had opened a drug store.

"They wouldn't let me take an examination as a pharmacist because I wasn't old enough," Bruhl explained. He said he wasn't 19 years old when he finished school and came to Rockport.

"I waited until I was 19," he recounted, "when my father went into district court here and had my disabilities removed so that I could take the examination."

He passed the state examination and was given a temporary permit by the state board to practice his profession until he was 21 years old, at which time he took another examination and received his permanent authority.

The business was then operated as H. L. Bruhl and Son, but in 1894 the elder Bruhl was appointed United States Consul to Italy and the business became the A. L. Bruhl drug store and has continued the same until the present time.

Having read medicine for some time while at Baylor, Mr. Bruhl later went to Galveston and studied medicine for a time, getting half a year's credit for his work, but then decided in favor of being a pharmacist. In later years he studied law by correspondence as a diversion.

"I'll bet I have taken more examinations than anybody in town," he said jokingly.

His background and studies have served him well during the more than half a century he has been in the drug business. He has worked out a number of formulas that are now widely used, included a

$1,800 Raised As Red Cross Drive Nears Completion

With the Red Cross War Fund Drive in Aransas county swinging into its final phase, Travis Johnson, drive chairman, issued a plea Wednesday for all citizens who have not yet made their contribution to the fund to do so at their earliest opportunity.

"Gasoline rationing makes it especially difficult for members of the drive committee to contact every resident of the county," Johnson pointed out. "Many individuals were absent from their homes when committee members called for contributions to the fund and the gas situation will not permit them to make return calls."

He urged all citizens who wanted to contribute to the Red Cross War Fund and had not yet had an opportunity to do so to get in touch with him or with any member of the committee before the end of this week if possible.

"While the quota for Aransas county is $2,200 up to the present time only about $1,800 has been subscribed," Johnson declared. "This amount includes the contribution for the workers of the Rice Bros. and Company shipyard but it does not include the contributions which have been received at Fulton and in the Sparks Colony district."

"The last few hundred dollars will be the hardest to raise and committee members are hoping that a number of patriotic citizens will increase their original subscriptions by a substantial amount."

Members of the committee who are: Mrs. Fred B. Hunt, Mrs. Mamie Hooper, Mrs. Pearl Davis, Mrs. Cess of this drive in its final phase are: Mrs. Fred B. Hunt, Mrs. Mamie Hooper, Mrs. Pearl Davis, Mrs. Bruce Winkle, Mrs. F. E. Booth, Miss Genevieve Bracht, Mrs. Somer Smith, Mrs. Leonard LeBlanc, Mrs. Mary Chupe, Mrs. Robert DeForest, Mrs. Golden Rowe, Mrs. J. H. Mills and Mrs. Lawrence McLeaster.

Aransas Co. to Be Honored Sunday By U.S. Army Program

Aransas County, Texas, is to be signally honored on the air next Sunday afternoon, March 21, when "The Army on the Air," radio program presented by the San Antonio District Army Recruiting Headquarters from 4:00 to 4:30 every Sunday, over Radio Station WOAL, extends a tribute and salute to the patriotic people of that county and to their active WAAC Recruiting Committee, chaired by Mrs. James Hooper of Rockport, for providing the largest percentage of new WAAC auxiliaries enrolled during the week just past, of all the counties in the entire 67-county San Antonio Recruiting District.

Aransas County, during the single week of March 7-14, exceeded its minimum assigned quota of newly-enrolled WAAC auxiliaries for the three-month period January through March. In so doing, it also was the first county in the District to fill its quota, thereby establishing another record for other counties to shoot at.

Funeral Services Held Thursday for Kathleen Johnson

Funeral services were held at the Catholic Church Thursday morning for Mrs. Kathleen Helena Johnson who died last Monday at her residence in this city after a brief illness.

Burial was in the Rockport cemetery and the Cage Funeral Home of Aransas Pass was in charge of arrangements.

Resident of Rockport for 12 years and a member of the Catholic church, Mrs. Johnson is survived by her husband, Claude Alvin Johnson; two sisters, Miss Betty Dolan of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. M. M. Harris of Long Island, New York; a daughter, Kathleen Elizabeth; and three brothers in the service.

Citizens Vote Saturday On $40,000 Bond Issue For New Airfield Site

Why They Are For The Airport And Bond Issue

(Following are given statements of a dozen or more citizens regarding the airport. No attempt was made to interview everybody, but only enough to give a fair idea of cross-section opinion on this important undertaking.)

A. C. GLASS—"The airport will revert to the county after the war and will help us care for our resort trade. There is no doubt about the fact that we will have many aviators and planes after the war and we will need an airport to take care of those who will want to fly here."

"I recently went over the sinking fund accounts of the county and find that the $40,000 bond issue for purchasing the airport site can be retired without raising the present tax rate. This is on account of the fact that sinking funds to retire other bond issues are in good shape and that levies for these funds can be lowered enough to take care of the new issue. The reason why these funds have a surplus of money in them is due largely to collection of delinquent taxes. A portion of the delinquent tax money collected was earmarked to go into the various bond sinking funds, but the county officials can readjust the present tax rate and take care of the new bond issue without raising taxes."

TRAVIS JOHNSON—"Laying aside patriotic reasons why we should cooperate with the government in providing an airfield needed in the war effort, I think the airport will mean a great deal to us after the war. Air traffic will be heavy after the war and with this new field we will be on the main line. It will mean much to us from both tourist and industry standpoints."

FRED E. HUNT—"I'm just naturally for it, Beeville started right where we are are today and now they are going to spend three and a half million dollars there."

W. B. FRIEND—"The money will be safe in purchase of the land, I think it's good business, and besides if the government needs the airfield to help win the war let's help them get it."

FRED BOOTH—"I consider the project worthy of the support of every voter in Aransas County. The airfield will be of much value to the future development of the county."

CARROLL MOORE—"If the people don't vote the bond issue I think... Well,..." (He had his own words for it.)

RAY WENDELL—"I am very much in favor of the bond issue to buy the land for the airport. It is a proper step in keeping abreast the times. The fact that the bond issue will not increase taxes is all in its favor, too."

JOE JOHNSON—"I'm for it I don't see how anybody could be against it."

MISS VELMA PICTON—"I am in favor of it because it will be for the good of Rockport in the future."

A. L. BRUHL—"I think it will be a fine thing and will mean a lot to Rockport and Aransas County."

FRED BRACHT—"We'll be getting so much good for so little spent."

CHAS. T. PICTON—"I think we'll have something after this war is over. There is no doubt but that there will be an awful lot of flying after the war, and the city that doesn't have an airport won't have a place for them to stop."

ARTHUR BRACHT—"I don't see how anybody could be against a thing like this, because it will help everybody."

MRS. FANCHER ARCHER—"I think it will be a definite progressive step. It will mean more industry and more tourist trade after the war. Any town with an airport will have an advantage over any town that doesn't."

MISS VIOLET PERCIVAL—"I think the airport would be of great benefit to Rockport."

C. A. A. Will Improve New Field At Million Dollar Cost for Navy, Will Be County Field After War

Assurance Given That $40,000 Bond Issue Can Be Financed Without Raising Taxes; Unlikely that All of Issue Will Be Used

Aransas county citizens will go to the polls Saturday in one of the most important elections called in the history of Rockport. They will decide whether or not Rockport and Aransas county are to be included on the mainline airways system of post-war commerce and travel, when they vote for or against the issuance of $40,000 in bonds to purchase land needed for development of an airfield three miles north of Rockport.

The County is being called upon to furnish between 700 and 800 acres of land for an airfield, which will be developed by the Civil Aeronautics Administration at a cost of a million dollars. The field will be used by the Navy in its training program for the duration of the war. The county will retain title to the land and its use will revert back to the county following the war.

Citizens are being urged to go to the polls and vote the bonds, not only as a means of securing a million or more dollars in an airport improvements for only $40,000, or less, but they are also being urged to go out and vote for the bonds as an important contribution on the part of Aransas county to the war effort.

It is pointed out that if the bond election fails to carry and the proposed air field is not built with the assistance of government funds, that there is little likelihood of Aransas County ever being able to finance the building of such a modern airport.

Possibility of any great number of opposition votes is remote, but citizens are being urged to go to the polls and vote as a patriotic gesture and to show their enthusiasm for the project.

Rolls will open at 8 a. m. Saturday, March 20, and will close at 8 p. m.

Voting places will be at the City Hall and Court House in Rockport. The Goose Island State Park Concession building in Lamar, the Fulton school house in Fulton, and the Estes school house in Estes.

Those eligible to vote in the bond election are all persons over age, or who have paid their poll tax, who owned and rendered real or personal property, or both, for taxation during the year 1942.

No Tax Increase

Assurances have been given by County Judge B. S. Fox and other county officials that there will be no increase in the present tax rate if the bonds are voted. They point out that the $40,000 issue can be retired without increasing taxes by reducing the rates set up to care for existing bond issues. Sinking funds now set up to retire existing issues are in excellent condition and thus with a reduced rate and can be made to pay out the bonds for which they are set aside.

Land Belongs to County

Only such portion of the $40,000 as is necessary to purchase the land required will be used. County Judge B. S. Fox has stated. It is not believed that the entire $40,000 will be spent, but a sufficient amount is being asked to eliminate the possibility of having to float another bond issue if the Navy or CAA should ask for more land for further improvements.

The title to the land will remain in the county and at the close of the war the county will have a modernly equipped airfield to be used as a public airport for air travel and commerce.

May Become Bigger

At the present time the CAA has been allotted $777,000 with which to make the first improvements on the airfield. It is believed that with completion of the first phase of the work, which is to construct paved runways, that further development will come.

It is entirely possible that the field may be made a training center, which would call for the expenditure by the government of millions of dollars.

Less than a year ago the citizens of Beeville were called upon to vote bonds for a project similar to the one now proposed here. Before construction was completed on the original plans the Navy decided to build a training center there and will now spend three and a half million dollars. Work is now already underway on the big project.

Lt. Leslie Jarvis Killed In Crash Of Fighter Plane

The body of Lt. Leslie F. Jarvis of this city was found in the wreckage of a fighter plane near Page Field, Fort Meyers, Florida, Sunday morning, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Jarvis said. The plane had been missing from the field since last Wednesday night.

The message from the War Department revealed that Jarvis had been on a routine, three and one half hour flight.

He was officially reported missing late Friday night.

The 26 year old Rockport man received his commission in the Army Air Forces at Foster Field, Victoria, last month and was assigned to Fort Meyers. He received his flight training at Cimaroon Field, Oklahoma.

Military services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the Civic Club Auditorium in Woodsboro, with the Rev. A. M. Craig, Methodist pastor of Woodsboro; the Rev. A. D. Jameson of this city conducting the funeral.

A detail of men from Foster Field and a company of Woodsboro Texas Defense Guard also participated.

The Jarvis family moved to Rockport last year from Woodsboro where Jarvis attended high school. He was a former student of Schreiner Institute at Kerrville and A. and I. College in Kingsville. The Methodist Choir of this city also took part in the funeral services.

Burial was in the Oak Grove cemetery in Woodsboro.

Those attending the funeral from here included: Mrs. C. G. Rauler-sop, Mrs. John Haynes, Mrs. John Young, Mrs. T. W. Berry, Mrs. Alice May Haney, Mrs. John Baugh, Mrs. Fred Brundrett, Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on Last Page)

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Counter Drive in Kharkov Area Wins Back Part of Russ Winter Gains; Wallace Warns of Future War Menace; Allies Tighten Ring on Rommel Armies

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

NORTH AFRICA: Rommel Rages

Like a wild animal in a cage, Marshal Rommel had struck out at the forces hemming in his 250,000 army in Tunisia.

But the wary Englishman had anticipated the German move and his deadly artillery fire had repelled repeated Nazi attacks with "very heavy losses."

Rommel, a master of tank warfare, had attempted to break through the British lines with his heavy mechanized equipment, but when he was forced to withdraw wrecked German tanks were strewn over the battlefield.

In the north the British First army had regained the initiative and was pressing the enemy, while on the central front the American forces were moving steadily to hem the Axis in.

DRAFT: Plan to Save Farmers

Plans of the administration to take the pressure of the draft off the nation's shortaged pool of farm labor apparently contemplate the induction of unmarried men over 38 or those in that age group without dependents.

The Manpower commission's action followed the announcement of a four-point plan for the deferment of essential farm labor. It came at a moment, too, when the congressional farm bloc had launched a drive to clarify the farm labor confusion.

U. S.-RUSSIA: Need More 'Trust'

Although the storm over Ambassador-Admiral William H. Standley's complaint concerning Russia's failure to inform its people fully about the great extent of American aid had subsided and future lend-lease shipments on an ever-bigger scale were assured, the need for greater mutual confidence between the two Allies continued.

This need was stressed by Vice President Henry A. Wallace in a speech which coincidentally enough was delivered at the time Standley's statement was made public.

"We will be probable in case we doublecross Russia," Wallace said.

"Such a war would be inevitable if Russia should again embrace the Trotskyist idea of fomenting world revolution, or if British interests should again be sympathetic to anti-Russian activity in Germany and other countries."

VICE PRESIDENT WALLACE ... became World War III

CHICAGO: With an abundance of billing and cooing, 5,605 fast-flying doves were drafted in Chicago for the army, reducing the city's peace-time pigeon population by one-sixth.

WASHINGTON: How Lieut. Chester W. Nimitz Jr., son of the Pacific admiral, won the silver star medal was disclosed in a navy report. The citation made public here says young Nimitz served with "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity" as torpedo and gunnery officer and later as executive officer on two war patrols.

RUSSIA: Nazis Uncoil

Three reasons were cited by military observers for the initial success of the sudden German counter-offensive west of Rostov and south of Kharkov which in its early stages had swept forward 100 miles and resulted in the capture of eight key cities in the Donetz basin which had been taken earlier by the Soviets in their great winter drive.

One reason was the use by the Nazis of 25 fresh divisions. Twelve of these had been rushed from western Europe and the others replenished after previous action. A second reason was the draining of troops from this southern sector by the Russians to supply momentum to their drive on Orel and Vyazma to the north.

The serious extent of these early German successes was evident in the fact that Russian official communiques had admitted the loss of the cities the Germans had claimed. Russ reports disclosed that the German move had actually started late in February.

The setback in the south had not prevented the Russians from continuing their drive on Vyazma. Red communiques had reported the capture of Tiomkino.

FOOD SUPPLY: Nutrition Level Dips

That the food situation in the United States is rapidly bringing the American people down to the Canadian and British level of nutrition was the opinion voiced by Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard.

Mr. Wickard likewise disclosed that the amount of food available for civilians "is going to be something less than it is at the present time," in testimony before the senate appropriations committee.

Because of the increasing demand for proteins and fats—including meat, dairy products and some oil crops—from our military forces and our Allies, Mr. Wickard said the American people will probably have to live more on vegetable fats and proteins than they formerly did.

LABOR MANHUNT: French Fight Nazis

Adolf Hitler's desperate need for manpower had caused the Nazi to put more than usual pressure on the collaborative Laval regime for more French workers.

The German demand had been for 400,000 men. When Nazi soldiers abetted by the Vichy government set out to meet this goal, the trouble started.

Street fighting, guerrilla tactics and sabotage were the French Patriots' answer to this effort to bolster Germany's waning manpower resources. Reports received by the Fighting French in London indicated that in a single 72-hour uprising, more than 350 German soldiers had been killed.

Swift and cruel were the reprisals taken for this insubordination. But the repressive measures only served to fan the flames of French hatred against the German conquerors.

PACIFIC FRONT: Jap Power Wanes

In the Far Eastern war theater, reports from China disclosed that the main Japanese offensive in Western Yunnan province along the old Burma road had been halted on the west bank of the Salween river.

On the Solomon Islands battlefield, American planes roved to the northward raiding Kahili, Bulin and Ballale in the Shortland Islands area and Viru Harbor in New Georgia.

ANTI-VICHY: Action in No. Africa

Increasing evidence that Gen. Henri Giraud's North Africa regime will move steadily further away from Vichy influences and ever closer to the democratic methods of the United Nations was seen in the high commissioner's summary action in repudiating all Petain decrees relating to African colonial affairs and liquidating the entire government bureau concerned with restrictions on Jews.

"A decree signed in Vichy has no effect in North Africa," was Giraud's terse explanation. "The German occupation interrupted the free exercise of national sovereignty."

General Giraud's action followed that of Governor General Nogues of French Morocco reinstating government workers dismissed under Vichy's orders and repealing the ban on listening to certain foreign broadcasts.

Street fighting, guerrilla tactics and sabotage were the French Patriots' answer to this effort to bolster Germany's waning manpower resources.

Kathleen Norris Says: Keep Your Husband by Losing Him

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"On two separate occasions Harry hasn't troubled to notify Mabelle that he isn't coming home to dinner, but has gone on from the restaurant to dance."

BE INDEPENDENT

Unfortunately, the surest way to lose a man is to try too hard to keep him. So Kathleen Norris advises "Mabelle Brown" to try living her own life for a change instead of waiting in fear and trembling for her husband to call and say he won't be home for dinner or, worse yet, to arrive home late at night without having called at all.

If I could, Mabelle, it would be by telling you what I have told thousands of women in the course of the last 15 years. It is that YOU are a person, yourself, not part of Harry.

No matter how deep the love between a man and his wife, or how heart-filling the intimacy of the marriage tie, the dear sharing of home and hearth and the love of children, no marriage can be happy unless the wife has within herself the elements that make her independent of her husband, and of every other human being.

Insist That He Telephone. But insist that he telephone you when he cannot get home for dinner, adding cheerfully "that is, if you're so tired, dear, it seems easier to stay downtown."

Has the Real Thing. After all, Harry has the real thing, the deep affection of his wife, the little hot meal cooked especially for him, the children to get into his lap and tell him their news, his own chair and lamp, and it will be an unusual thing if he is shallow and unfeeling enough to ignore them very long.

THE Secret OF THE MARSHBANKS

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE STORY SO FAR: Charlotte (Cherry) Rawlings, an orphan at Saint Dorothea's convent school since she was seven, knows almost nothing of her early history, but she has gradually realized that like other girls at the school she has no family. She questions whether she has the right to her father's name. Judge Judson Marshbanks and Emma Haskell, housekeeper for wealthy Mrs. Porteous Porter in San Francisco, are her guardians. When Cherry is twenty Emma gets her a secretarial job with Mrs. Porter, but she goes first to the Marshbanks mansion, meeting the judge's young wife and his rich niece, Amy, daughter of his brother, Fred, now dead. Life at Mrs. Porter's becomes monotonous and Cherry is thrilled when Kelly Coates, an artist, sends her a box of candy, and she is jealous when he brings Fran to a party at Mrs. Porter's. Emma tells Cherry that her sister Charlotte was Cherry's mother. Kelly takes Cherry along so Fran can visit his studio, and Cherry senses that he is very much in love with Fran, but soon he tells Cherry despondently that Fran has promised the judge she will not see him any more. Mrs. Porter dies, leaving Cherry $1,500, and she learns from Marshbanks that his brother Fred, who was Amy's father, was also her father. Cherry decides to go to Stanford University and the judge suggests that she live with Mrs. Pringle. As Fran is driving her there she asks Cherry to be Kelly's friend, saying he likes Cherry and that she has decided to do the honorable thing and avoid him. Kelly wires Cherry, drives her to his studio, and after a party there with friends starts with her to the Marshbanks mansion. Dora Marshbanks, the formidable woman who was the judge's mother and Amy's and her own grandmother, objects to Cherry's presence in the house. Cherry tells Kelly about it some weeks later.

"Of course I don't know what she said," the judge admitted with a faint frown. "But whatever she said it didn't last long, for Amelia fainted, and when she came to she was very ill—and the baby was born within the hour."

Just a week later Cherry sat opposite the judge in his comfortable chambers. His kindly eyes smiled at her. "It's the summer plan—the camp at Big Basin—you wanted to see me about?"

"No, not unless you object. Beck and I can't wait to pack. We go next Tuesday, and the girls begin to come in Saturday."

"Then what was the trouble, Cherry? Your letter said 'trouble.'"

"It's this. Amy came down to see me Wednesday. I didn't know she was going to. She wanted to tell me all about the trip and this Navy ensign she's so crazy about."

"Yes, but why look so distressed about that? You like Amy?"

"I do like Amy. Amy's my—of course we're pretty closely related, Amy and I. But one thing is—one thing is that your mother doesn't like me to see Amy too much. She asked me—she practically asked me—not to come to the house any more."

A shadow came over the genial face; the judge's forehead contracted a little.

"My mother did?"

"Yes. She said it wasn't—decent."

"H'm!" the judge said, gravely enough. "I'm sorry she did that. You know how much we all like you, and what reason I have for feeling that I've something to make up to you."

"Amy came in while your mother was talking to me. I'd reached the house before Amy did, and I was in my room, reading, and your mother came in and said how much she resented my being there."

"How much did Amy hear?"

"Well, your mother had just said that if I didn't break off all my relationships there, she'd have to tell everyone know, and Amy too, that we were half sisters. And she said that would hurt my father, and my mother, too. And I said that that meant injuring the reputation of her own son! Amy heard that."

"And guessed the rest?"

"Guessed that it was you, instead of your brother Fred. After your mother had gone Amy said that she always had suspected that I was—Cherry's throat thickened, she looked at him imploringly, "that I was your daughter."

"I see," he said thoughtfully.

"I didn't contradict her—I couldn't say anything. I kept trying to think which would be worse, telling her, or letting it go and talking some day to you."

"Fran and I were in Los Angeles then?"

"Yes. And then I went to Palo Alto and didn't see you, and I knew that your mother cared more about keeping it from Amy than anything else, and I hoped that Amy wouldn't talk. But now Amy's back, and she wants me to come in to spend the night with her next Saturday, and go to the Quatres Arts Ball, and I don't know what to do!"

"My mother's a proud woman, Cherry," the judge said, after a silence. "She's had a sad life."

"She had been living in an apartment hotel and hating it. Fred and his wife, Amelia, had had a little place in Burlingame. But after years, five or six years, I think, she was going to have a baby. Old Wellington, her father, was an immensely rich man; he was going to come on from New York for the event, and do everything for the baby. Fred, who'd been restless and unsatisfied, settled down all of a sudden. Mother had opened the city house by this time, and they were all together. The baby was coming in November."

"I know. I'm four days older than Amy," Cherry, listening absorbedly, put in as he paused.

"But you came two months too soon. That's all part of the story. Well! My wife and I and little Gregg got here just a week or two before Amy was born, and what we learned was rather confusing. It seems that Emma's sister, Charlotte Rawlings—much younger than she—was sometimes at the house, and that Fred had seen this girl, and had taken advantage of her. Emma knew nothing of it until almost the end when Lottie came to her and told her. Emma felt that nobody must know, that her sister's secret must be kept now, of all times, when Fred's wife, who wasn't any too strong, was expecting her own baby any day.

"But poor little Lottie couldn't bear it. One night she suddenly appeared in my brother's room, as he was reading to his wife, and accused him of having ruined her life!"

"If I was the baby," Cherry said, hardly breathing. "I must have been born just about that time, too."

"You were only a few days old. Your mother, poor Lottie, was perhaps weak and feverish, hardly knowing what she was doing."

"But she couldn't have come to the house. She'd have been too weak."

"She may have been in the house with Emma. I have always suspected that Emma was there and the baby was born there. However it was, she rushed into Amelia's room. Amelia had lost all control of herself; she was sobbing bitterly..."

"Did she say anything about the baby?"

"No. Amelia never knew about the baby."

"Of course I don't know what she said," the judge admitted with a faint frown. "But whatever she said, it didn't last long, for Amelia fainted, and when she came to she was very ill, and the baby was born within the hour."

Emma came hurrying down and took Lottie away, and a few days later Emma left my mother, and she and Lottie went to live somewhere in the country.

"Fred was killed in a motor smash a few years later, and Amelia didn't survive long. My mother took charge of Amy, and the money my brother left for you I administered as best I could. Emma had sent her sister to this school of Saint Dorothea's for a while, when she was little but Lottie hated it and came back. "A school of character," as the catalogue says, and she wanted you sent there."

Cherry was standing; she came over to his chair, bent over him swiftly, and he felt her warm lips against his forehead.

"I love you! There's never any trouble for anyone where you are!" she said, and was gone.

"Oh, the relief, Kelly!" she wrote him from camp. "The relief of doing something you simply don't want to do, and having it over, and your soul as clear as a bell!"

"When will you see me? When college opens. For three delicious weeks before that, as soon as we close camp, Rebecca and I and a darling girl named Lucie Fargo are going on a wild cruise. Up to Victoria—we'll actually be out of America, imagine!—and on the way home we're going to stay with Lucie's grandmother, who has a country hotel. That's up in Mendocino County, not far from Aunt Emma's place; it's only about thirty miles. So I've written Aunt Emma that I'm coming over to see her."

And she signed it "Your devoted and obedient Marchioness."

But despite high spirits she dreaded the visit to Emma, and was glad that it was to be put off until the end of the holiday.

In due time she and Rebecca and Lucie drove along the ocean coast, and into high mountains, and through valleys where great rivers raced. It was all glorious and restful and exciting.

When they were back in California with the great mountains and the days of laughter and change and adventure behind them, Cherry felt herself older and wiser. On a certain sober September afternoon she presented herself at the door of Emma's cabin with nothing more than a little shyness in her manner.

Emma lived in a lumber country. Cherry, for her drive of thirty miles, had borrowed the car, leaving the other girls with Lucie's grandmother.

Emma had been lying on the couch, evidently napping; she welcomed Cherry pleasantly enough, but without an embrace, and put the girl into a chair at the hearth while she started a fire and lighted one dim kerosene lamp.

"But you came two months too soon. That's all part of the story. Well! My wife and I and little Gregg got here just a week or two before Amy was born, and what we learned was rather confusing. It seems that Emma's sister, Charlotte Rawlings—much younger than she—was sometimes at the house, and that Fred had seen this girl, and had taken advantage of her. Hitler in Mental Decline? Close Observers Say Yes nominal mental power but some day it is going to explode."

Reliable Reports Indicate Fuehrer Subject to Uncontrolled Emotions; German Physician Believes He Will Have Mental 'Explosion.'

Suicide the End?

Without revealing the source, I have heard the opinion expressed by a man who has seen and met with Hitler many times and is exceedingly familiar with his life, that it is quite possible that a mental decline has started which, he believes, may end in suicide.

On my own score, I may say that when I heard Hitler deliver his famous speech at the start of the war in 1939 in which he said that he was going to the front and would lead Germany to victory, that he would not take off his uniform until this had been achieved, and in the next breath named his successors, I thought he was preparing for suicide.

I doubt if he is now dead. He may not even be ill but the thing is, there has been no report of any public appearance for a long time.

That, of course, is hearsay evidence—or long-distance diagnosis but what Oechsner reports comes from first-hand authority.

So Hitler may already be in a padded cell—and nobody seems to care!

Fourth Term—Does FDR Want It?

Will the President run for a Fourth Term?

A number of cross currents are definitely in motion, some directly moving toward an attempt to draft Mr. Roosevelt as candidate in '44; some which at present seem to be carrying him in the opposite direction.

One thing that many people fail to realize is the fact that when the precedent against a man serving in the White House for more than two terms was broken, the first olive was out of the bottle and the chief obstacle to a fourth term was removed. As has been pointed out, the American people never before wanted a man for a third term candidate, although twice before candidates would have made the attempt—Grant and Theodore Roosevelt.

Recent Developments

What about these fits? They are no fiction but well-authenticated events. Before several witnesses he has frequently burst into tears, and in other ways given vent to utterly uncontrolled emotions. But these fits are of less importance than certain other likewise well-substantiated but not widely known developments which have taken place within the last year or two.

There are several stories which I heard from the lips of a man who has closely watched Hitler's career from its earliest beginning. The man is Fred Oechsner, a former colleague of mine. In fact, I was instrumental in having him sent to Berlin as correspondent for the Consolidated Press just about the time Hitler was beginning his political career.

Long before anybody else took Hitler seriously, Oechsner wrote to me: "This man is some day going to be the bull in Europe's china shop." Oechsner, who is now in Washington, told me the following story which he also repeats in his excellent book, "This Is the Enemy."

As you know, Hitler was always a teetotaler. He never drank anything but some very weak beer especially brewed for him and he only took sips of this pale beverage.

Recently his habits changed.

"Persons who visited him at his headquarters early in the winter told me," Oechsner says, "that he was becoming grave and irritable and that it was not uncommon for him on a cold night to drink three or four glasses of grog. He also took occasional drinks of a Bavarian liquor called Enzian which is not unlike gin."

Now Oechsner is an exceedingly reliable reporter and when he says the Fuehrer finished three grogs in an evening, I believe it—also I believe that a man unused to taking alcohol must have been higher than Berchtesgaden when he went to bed.

Oechsner also said: "There is a German physician of international repute who believes that some day Hitler will have a brain disturbance of a serious nature. This physician has treated Hitler since 1921 and knows his physical condition as well as his personal life. It is his opinion that Hitler is an outstanding example of a half-trained, half-educated person with a phenomenal talent for absorbing and co-ordinating information and detail gleaned from other sources. This attention to detail and pattern, he says, is obvious in Hitler's drawings, in his speeches, his military campaigns. It is a phenominal mental power but some day it is going to explode."

Fourth Term—Does FDR Want It?

Will the President run for a Fourth Term?

A number of cross currents are definitely in motion, some directly moving toward an attempt to draft Mr. Roosevelt as candidate in '44; some which at present seem to be carrying him in the opposite direction.

One thing that many people fail to realize is the fact that when the precedent against a man serving in the White House for more than two terms was broken, the first olive was out of the bottle and the chief obstacle to a fourth term was removed. As has been pointed out, the American people never before wanted a man for a third term candidate, although twice before candidates would have made the attempt—Grant and Theodore Roosevelt.

When the first whispers for a possible third term for Franklin Roosevelt were heard, I talked to a seasoned political observer. He said: "The President doesn't want to run again but he will be persuaded by his friends."

I make bold to state at this juncture that exactly the same statement can be made today with one modification: The President doesn't want to run for a fourth term but his friends are trying to persuade him to.

I feel sure that the President does not want to run again. I do believe he passionately desires to preside at the peace table. But some of his friends have a different view. As Joseph Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, once remarked about the White House: "It's a nice boarding house, you hate like the dickens to move out."

Friends' Demands

Two things are acting in favor of persuading the President: One, his earnest and insistent demand of his "friends" who don't want "to move out" and some of whom honestly believe that it would be for the general good if the President stayed on. Their arguments are many.

The second factor and the one which could elect Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term, if he does run again, can be expressed in the well-known slogan, "Don't swap horses while crossing a stream." It is the reasoning behind this homely expression which, of course, provides the most persuasive argument to any President.

On the other hand, if by 1944 Hitler has been defeated, the President might feel that he could serve even better at the peace table if he were not the head of a political party, if he were not bound by certain domestic policies which the head of an administration must administer with one eye on the votes in the next election.

I believe that if the President felt positively that he would be allowed to play the principal role in the peace-making, even though someone else were in the White House (perhaps a Republican), or if he felt that as President, he would be less effective as a peacemaker, he would not consider a fourth term.

Household Hints

Used brooms can be made stiff and clean by dipping them in a pail of boiling soda water, and drying them in the sun. If the broom is sprayed or sprinkled occasionally with a little kerosene, it gathers the dust much better.

Do not mix new milk with old, except when it is to be used immediately.

Rub over the inside of a cushion with hard soap before you fill it. Then the points of the feathers will not come through.

It will help keep your shoes if you put them on shoe trees or stuff the toes with paper when they are not being worn. Always wipe them dry of moisture and dirt after exposure.

Here's a hint for the workshop: In filing a saw, first smoke the teeth with a lighted candle. This will make it easy to see the fresh filing and to hold the file at the right angle for the job.

Children's Shoes should be plenty large when bought—but not large enough to slip around and rub the feet. When they get too small, they should be passed on to some one else, if they are not worn out, for wearing too-small shoes when a child may cause serious foot trouble all through later life.

An occasional application of oil will keep leather in chairs and suitcases from cracking.

Red Cross Knitting Group Makes Record

Members of the Rockport group engaged in knitting for the Red Cross made a splendid record last week, according to Mrs. Fred Brundrett, chairman of the Red Cross Volunteer Service group of Aransas County.

"A total of 23 sweaters, five helmets an eight mufflers were knitted by members of the knitting group," Mrs. Brundrett reported. She said they had already been shipped for use of men in the armed forces of the United States.

World Prayer Day Observed Here By Christian Groups

World Day of Prayer was observed in this city last Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock with union services held at the Methodist church and which were participated in by members of the local Presbyterian and Episcopal churches.

The theme of the program was "Father, I Pray They May All Be One". Mrs. A. D. Jameson was general chairman of the gathering. Mrs. Thomas Reese was program leader for the Episcopalians. Mrs. Hugh Morrison had charge of the program given by the Presbyterians and Mrs. R. A. Phelps was the leader for the Methodist group.

An outstanding feature of the services was a solo, "The Day Thou Gavest Lord" sung by Mrs. Jack Hagar.

The benediction at the conclusion of the services was pronounced by Rev. T. H. Pollard.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gulley and Mr. Brooks of San Antonio spent the week-end in the city.

Womens Champion Trapshooter Guest Here for 6 Weeks

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Grigsby of Oklahoma City have returned to their home in the Sooner State following a lengthy stay in Rockport during which time they were guests at Bean's Cottages.

Before leaving Rockport the Grigsbys loaded their car with a large quantity of fish, shrimp and oysters which they planned to distribute among their friends in Oklahoma City upon their arrival there.

The Grigsbys have visited in this city for at least a six weeks period for the past six years. Mr. Grigsby before leaving, stated he contemplated purchasing a home here.

Mrs. Grigsby enjoys the distinction of being the former women's champion trapshooter of America having won this coveted title at the 1932 meet at Vandalia, Ohio.

She has been the women's champion of her native state for the past three years and has won that title by breaking a total of 95 out of a hundred targets.

In the national meet at Vandalia last year she won fourth place by shattering a total of 190 out of a possible 200 targets. The winning score was 194 out of a possible 200.

During their visit here the Grigsbys spent much of their time fishing in Copano Bay as guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Rattisseau.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owens have returned to their home in Cotuit, Massachusetts, after having visited in the home of Mrs. Owens parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Casterline.

Mrs. H. S. Driesslein of Los Angeles, California is spending the month in the city, as guests of her son Homer Driesslein.

Mrs. Jewel Grubbs has returned to her home in Corpus Christi after spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roberts.

Ratings In Seabees Are Now Available To Skilled Workmen

Ratings in the Seabees, Construction Battalion of the United States Navy, are available to skilled workmen, according to an announcement by Lieut. Commander J. F. Beebe of Houston, officer in charge of Navy Recruiting in this area.

"Openings in almost every profession are listed and men between the ages of 38 and 50 are needed to fill the billets.

"Carpenters, pipe-fitters, plumbers, wharf builders, steel workers, electricians, cooks, bakers, photographers, divers, draftsmen, diesel mechanics, water tenders, metal-smiths, riggers, and blacksmiths are just a few of the many craftsmen who may obtain ratings up to and including that of chief petty officer," Lieut. Comdr. Beebe said.

"Lieutenant (jg) A. T. Gaffney, engineer officer, will be at the Navy Recruiting Station, third floor Post Office Building, Houston, daily between 2 and 6 p. m. to interview those interested in joining the Seabees," he added.

The Seabees are a foreign duty unit and have as their motto: "We work and fight will all our might."

Construction battalion training camps are conditioning spots for recruits and following the period introduction and training Seabees are assigned to duty at foreign bases.

Seabees are enlisted in the United States Navy Reserves for the duration and six months. They receive the same pay and allowances as regular Navy Personnel and have the same opportunity to earn advancement in ratings.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bruhl visited their daughter and grandsons Charles and David, Sunday. Charles Albert was home from the University where he is in his Senior year.

LET US CHECK ON MOTHER SHIPTON'S PROPHECY

Mother Shipton, author of the following prophetic poem, was born in Norfolk England, and died in Clifton, Yorkshire, 1449, A. D. forty-three years before Columbus discovered America.

A WOMAN'S PROPHECY (Made 500 Years Ago) A carriage without horses shall go, Disaster fill the world with woe;

And waters shall great wonders do How strange, and yet it shall come true.

Beneath the waters men shall walk; Shall ride, shall sleep, and even talk;

In water iron then shall float As easy as a wooden boat. Gold shall be found in stream or stone,

The Jew that once was held in scorn Shall of a Christian then be born. A house of glass shall come to pass

Three times shall sunny, lovely France Be led to play a bloody dance;

Then tax and blood and cruel war Shall come to every humble door. Three times shall sunny, lovely France

All England's sons shall plow the land, Shall oft be seen with book in hand

Great houses stand in far flung vale, All covered o'er with snow and hail.

And now a word in uncouth rhyme, Of what shall be in future time;

Navy Recruiters Seek Waves; Spars For Shore Duties

Training that will enable women to take over shore station jobs at Naval and Coast Guard bases for the duration, be invaluable to them when the war is over, is included in the program for Waves and Spars, reserve units of the United States Navy and Coast Guard.

Thorough training in many fields is being offered women between the ages of 20 and 36 enlisting in the Waves and Spars. Training stations are located at leading Colleges throughout the country and recruits receive from two to five months of training before being ordered to duty.

Each recruit on completing training and assigned to duty releases a man to fight at sea. A nationwide drive is now underway to procure more than 50,000 women to take over posts located in the continental United States.

Navy Recruiting Stations are aiding in the procurement of Waves and Spars and women interested may obtain all information and application blanks from their nearest Naval Recruiting station, according to Lieutenant Commander J. F. Beebe, officer-in-charge of Naval Recruiting in Houston.

"The minimum pay for Waves and Spars, on being assigned to duty is $132.50 per month and they have the same opportunity to earn ratings as men of the Navy," Lt. Comdr. Beebe said.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Gabriel of Chicago, Illinois were visitors in the city last Saturday afternoon. Miss Betty Kennemer visited in Aransas Pass Sunday night.

They'll ride astride with brazen brow, As witches on a broomstick now, Then love shall die and marriage cease,

In nineteen hundred twenty-six Build houses light of straw and sticks, For then shall mighty wars be planned.

Flee to the mountains and the dens, To bog and forests and wild fens— For storms shall rage and oceans roar,

Old worlds shall die and new be born.

Edna Aline Taylor; Evelyn F. DeForest Enlist In WAAC's

Two patriotic-minded young women of Rockport have just become WAAC's. Mrs. Edna Aline Taylor and Mrs. Evelyn F. DeForest yesterday completed their enrollment together in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, at the San Antonio District Army Recruiting Headquarters, Calcasieu Building, 214 Broadway, San Antonio. To enroll they received government transportation and accommodations for their trip.

They are now in the WAAC Reserve, awaiting call to active duty in about two weeks, pending character investigations, for basic training at one of the nation's three WAAC training centers, which will equip them to aid directly in the war program, and to replace more able-bodied soldiers at necessary non-combat jobs releasing them for combat duty at the fighting fronts where urgently needed.

Her husband a disabled veteran Mrs. Edna Aline Taylor is the daughter of Mrs. Fannie P. Marr, an a graduate of Artesia, New Mexico, high school. Her husband is Cpl. Morris G. Taylor, who served in China and the Philippines during 1924-27 in the Coast Artillery. After this active service he received medical discharge; but though disabled, he maintains such a deep patriotic interest in the course of the present world war that with his encouragement, Mrs. Taylor has joined the women's army, because, as she stated on taking the stirring oath of allegiance, "I believe that through service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, I can best help my Country."

Mrs. Evelyn F. DeForest is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Day of Route 1, and a graduate of Crawford, Texas, high school. Her husband, John DeForest, is in radio work with the Air Corps, in Chicago, Illinois; and two brothers are also in the armed forces—Master Sergeant Vernon M. Day, with the Air Corps in Roswell, New Mexico and Alvin H. Day, with the Navy in foreign service.

"The Army has thousands of jobs in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, for patriotic, alert and ambitious women like these—jobs vital to war... jobs that will train women for interesting new careers in the post-war world," stated Colonel Kinzie B. Edmunds, San Antonio District Recruiting Officer yesterday. "New horizons... new places and people... interesting practical experience, with good Army pay... and above all, the real opportunity to serve our country, helping to win the war and to end it sooner, by freeing more men for combat duty... These are

Ed Barnard Warns Grass Fire Loses Heavier In Spring

Dead grass and weeds are at present a serious fire threat in Aransas county as well as other sections of the state, according to Ed Barnard, Rockport Fire Chief who issued a warning Wednesday to all residents to make particular effort this year to combat this threat.

He based his warning on reports filed by the state fire marshal which listed an excessive number of grass fires in the gulf coastal area within the past few weeks.

The heaviest grass fire loss reported since the first of the year was estimated at more than $45,000. It was started by a small boy and spread to baled cotton in storage.

At least two Texas deaths in January resulted from grass fires, while fire alarms as a result of burning grass and weeds numbered three times those of all other causes. Grass hazards, according to the reports, exist in practically every city and town in the state.

In addition, extensive grass fires have been reported in rural areas. These range from valuable pasture lands in central and western sections of the state laid barren by grass fires, to the heavily timbered sections of East Texas where vital timber has been destroyed. Timber fires have become increasingly serious.

"Our local fire departments are doing a splendid job," added Barnard, "in combating the threat of grass fires. However, they need our individual assistance in preventing unnecessary fires. Many departments are supervising the burning of grass a vacant property in order to eliminate as many hazards as possible.

"The spring winds will add to the seriousness of grass hazards. For the next few weeks we need to be extremely careful in preventing grass fires, and in keeping fires that are started from getting beyond control.

among many reasons why thousands of women today are responding to the Army's need," Colonel Edmunds continued.

Glenn Dunn Urges Social Security Cards Be Guarded

"Every time an American worker loses, destroys, or mutilates his social security account card, he is wasting as much money as it costs to provide 13 bullets to an American soldier," Glenn Dunn, manager of the Corpus Christi Social Security Board field office said today. He asked that holders of social security cards safeguard them as a wartime conservation measure.

Nearly 2,000,000 duplicate account cards were issued by the Social Security Board in the last 12 months, Dunn said. They were issued to persons who had lost or destroyed the ones originally given them.

"They money spent for printing, processing and mailing the 2,000,000 duplicate account cards could have purchased more than 550 jeeps for the Army, or 25,000,000 rounds of ammunition," Dunn said, to illustrate the wastefulness of failure to safeguard the original cards. "If taken care of properly," he added, "The social security cards will last a lifetime," and gave the following tips:

"Don't carry your card with you unless you must. Put it in a drawer safe, or other place where you keep valuable documents. Know where the card is. Before putting it away, place it in an envelope and mark it: 'My social security card.' They will be able to find it in a hurry, if necessary.

"If you change jobs frequently, and need to carry your card with you, don't just stuff it in a pocket. Try to protect it against loss, wear or mutilation. Never keep your card in your overall or shirt pockets. Many losses occur because the shirt or the overalls—together with the card are tossed into the laundry tub."

Mr. Dunn also warned against using the card for identification

D.ederich Writes Letter From Base In Solomon Island

Marvin Davis, foreman in charge of steel construction at the Rice Bros. and Co. shipyards here received the following letter last week from Lyle Diederich, who is serving with the Seabees in the Solomon Islands:

Hi Davis: This is for you and the boys at the shop, so let them read it too. I would like to write to each of you personally but paper is a problem. I guess all of you still have that good old beer sitting after work every evening. Boy, would I give a lot to be in on it right now? You have no idea how much I can see it all now. Just once more, a little green Studebaker driving up and blowing the horn, Herb peeping out to see if his car is coming too. You twisting that bottle around and around and telling everybody they better start working more or else, Ed worrying about his groceries then he drinks another one and forgets all about them. Old Pat watching the street and saying no, just one is all I want, well maybe two wont hurt. Then all of you start yelling for a round on the house, then Charlie gets Molly to figure up the profit off of you. If its O. K., he gives you one, then puts in on the ticket.

Well, I hope all of you are getting along swell and hope you can take your beer bill off your income tax. All of you write cause I got a worried mind. — So Long, "DAGO" purposes. He said the card is not only valueless for identifying persons, but such use results in wear and tear and shortens the life of the card.

Point Values Of Meats, Etc., to Be Given Next Week

OPA will announce next week the point values for meats, fats and oils, butter, cheese and canned fish, officials said Monday.

They emphasized that all these products will be rationed on the same coupons, beginning March 29. They will be obtainable with use of the red stamps from War Ration Book 2, already used for processed and canned fruits and vegetables.

In the first month, each holder of War Ration Book 2, regardless of age, will have a basic allotment of 16 points a week. These points can be used by the consumer in any way he chooses. For example, the consumer could use all of his points for meats, by making no purchases of fats and oils, cheese and canned fish. Likewise, the consumer could use all his points to purchase butter, but if he did this he could purchase none of the other products. While changes in point values will be made from time to time, to reflect changes in supplies and consumer demands, OPA said these changes probably will not be made more often than once a month.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given pepsin preparations in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative-Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel world a better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's.

GRANTLAND RICE

YOU would think, at the rather ripe age of 81, that a fellow would be looking backward through his memories of big days and great years.

But Colonel Matt Winn insists on looking forward. We tried to get him to tell us about that first Kentucky Derby in 1875, just 68 years ago, when the Colonel was a kid of 13.

"You must have gotten a big thrill from watching Aristides win that first Derby," I said. "Or can you remember about it?"

"I can remember everything about it," the Colonel said. "Sixty-eight years back isn't so long ago. That was a good Derby. But wait till you see our 1943 special. That will be the one."

"How is the walking between New York and Louisville?" I asked him. "Very good," Colonel Winn said. "I might add—excellent. You ought to leave about three weeks ahead, allowing for 30 miles a day. Maybe a little longer. But you will find good roads. You will see a beautiful countryside. You can look at flares of dogwood blooms and hear birds singing in the April maples. You can also take along a form sheet. You can read about Count Fleet, Occupation, Ocean Wave and possibly some 18 starters."

"Thirty miles a day," I whispered. "I can already hear my old dogs barking after two days. Did you ever read Masfeld 'On Growing Old'?" I asked.

"Who has to grow old?" the Colonel growled. "What did he say about it?" "Stay with me, beauty, while the fire is dying. My dogs and I are now too old for roving."

Getting There

"Did you know," Colonel Winn continued, "that racing lovers in England and Scotland have frequently started three weeks ahead to see the English Derby? And they walked all the way, hundreds of miles. Of course, this wouldn't apply to anyone in any form of war work. We intend to see that no oil or rubber will be used. But there will be many Kentuckians who will either walk to the track or come by wagons, buggies and street cars."

"I can tell you, honestly, that I am not thinking in terms of attendance or receipts. The thought of losing money doesn't bother me a bit. Anyone can get discouraged and quit. But we need all the color we can get today, some outside interests for thousands of people to think about in odd moments.

"The Kentucky Derby is something more than a two-minute race. It begins building up interest weeks ahead—interest among hundreds of thousands who have no chance to be at Churchill Downs in May. Count Fleet? Ocean Wave? Many others.

No Novice Speaks

"I have been looking at Kentucky Derbies for exactly 68 years. There have been a lot of yesterdays packed in since 1875, when both baseball and football were young games.

"Suppose everybody not directly connected with the winning war effort had quit and called everything off? Suppose we had no racing—no football—no baseball—no form of competitive sport left? Would that help the morale of 135,000,000 people, including 11,000,000 servicemen? That would mean we would stand as about the only nation in the world to be so badly flattened out. Fifty thousand at a football game in Moscow, with the Germans 30 miles away—from 20,000 to 30,000 watching British soccer football only a few days ago at many parks—Australia, Japan, Germany, keeping certain games going—but the greatest sporting nation of all time folding up in the way of sport?

"No sane person would ever advocate any sport that interfered in any way with the matter of winning this war. Even a half-wit knows this.

"But, I say, at the age of 81, who should know what sport means to the United States, that sport, correctly controlled and directed, can be a helpful factor without asking any favors.

"If I knew we were going to lose $100,000 on this next Derby I would still be in favor of holding the race. Please believe me." Colonel, we do.

Soldiers Trained as Weather Observers To Assist Army in Mapping Plans; Information Important to Bombers

The strategic and tactical importance of weather predictions, both short and long range, in waging the present war cannot be overestimated. This is particularly true in regions of the world where rapidly changing weather situations are characteristic throughout the year. Over the Atlantic ocean and in Europe changing weather is prevalent in latitudes from the foot of Italy northward. In eastern Asia, significant and frequent weather changes occur throughout the year in latitudes from Burma northward; while over the North Pacific ocean, this is true from a line running from Tokyo and Los Angeles northward. Both Berlin and Tokyo lie within the areas where the weather element is of importance the year around. Therefore, any successful strategy aiming a blow at the heart of our enemies must include the weather factor.

To this end, courses have been established to train personnel for weather work in all parts of the world. Among these courses are those designed to train enlisted men as weather observers; enlisted men as forecasters to assist the weather officers; a weather reconnaissance squadron training course; and an aviation meteorological cadet course.

In using the weather factor to determine the effectiveness of the air-ground team or the co-ordination of land, sea and air forces, the army air forces have evolved a few simple rules which have, in part, been verified from a study of the strategy and tactics employed by the enemy.

Clear Dry Weather Permits Attack by Air-Ground Team

1. In clear dry weather, the air-ground team can launch an attack most effectively. Under these conditions the attackers must have air superiority. These conditions permit the use of all types of air support, minimize the problems of observation and recognition of friendly and enemy aircraft and troops, and insure the maximum mobility of ground forces.

2. Dry weather with low clouds and good visibility permits limited air-ground operations. The types of attack by supporting aircraft are restricted. This kind of weather is fairly favorable to the operation of aircraft carriers even in areas controlled by land-based aircraft since the field of vision of the patrolling aircraft is greatly restricted.

3. Dry weather with extremely low clouds and conditions producing rather poor visibility can be used effectively for the consolidation of scattered ground units or the movement of ground forces into a position for attack. These conditions, even with rain, are favorable for the movement of an aircraft carrier into a position for attack when the weather improves. In both cases, the attacking forces are relatively free from observation or attack.

This war has shown that a detailed knowledge of existing weather conditions over the theater of operations, over enemy territory, and frequently over the friendly zone of the interior may be of great value to officers directing or planning campaigns or movements of personnel, motor vehicles, aircraft, or supplies. Usually the future weather is of more value than present weather, in planning, but for certain types of operations the current weather information may be valuable. Information, such as this, is needed to correct for weather effects on range and deflection of projectiles, drift of airplanes, and on the speed and direction of sound travel. It is of use in handling captive balloons and in landing and take-off of airplanes.

Reports Advise Army of Sudden Changes in Weather

The primary purpose of the army air forces weather service is to provide reasonable accurate forecasts of future weather. A knowledge of present weather conditions is, for most types of operations of little value if sudden marked changes are pending and forecasts of the changes are not available.

All branches of the army need weather forecasts. An army that conducts operations without keeping its staff advised of prospective

The two men are about to release a radio-meteorograph. This little instrument when carried aloft by the balloon will transmit radio readings of pressure, temperature, and humidity to a station below. There is also a parachute attached to bring the instrument back.

The weather forecaster must always keep in mind a chronological history of the weather passing his station. This soldier is looking over the weather maps to obtain a picture of what has taken place in the previous 24 hours.

Here the men are obtaining temperature and humidity readings. The man on the left is whirling a sling psychrometer in order to determine the relative humidity and dew point.

weather changes is imposing a serious handicap on itself. The personnel, equipment, and supplies of a field army are usually not well protected against inclement weather. A squall, a thunderstorm, a heavy rain, or a strong wind seldom passes over a temporary army camp or bivouac without doing damage. Freezing weather, coming on suddenly, generally causes damage to equipment and supplies and discomfort to personnel.

The influence of weather may frequently be present in military maneuvers seeking to gain surprise in their execution. In air operations, restricted visibility and adverse weather conditions serve to provide cover for attacking aircraft during the approach to the target and aid surprise assaults. An effective cloud layer at an altitude suited to the type of attack which is planned provides an ideal cover for approaching aircraft.

Weather affects the planning and execution of all aircraft missions. Lack of weather information may cause frequent failures of missions and many losses of planes and personnel. In general, every time a flight mission is conducted the flight commander should have an accurate knowledge of weather conditions to be expected during the flight, otherwise both personnel and equipment may be subjected to unnecessary hazard.

All army air forces weather forecasting stations furnish medium and short range forecasts. Short range forecasts are the most accurate type of forecasts made. Therefore, they should be given to every flight commander just prior to his take-off. These forecasts should give the weather conditions to be encountered, including state of the weather, that is, whether the sky is overcast or clear or with broken or scattered clouds; the type and intensity of precipitation; the height of the ceiling; the visibility; the wind speed and direction, both at the surface and aloft; any hazards to flight, such as fog, icing areas, fronts, etc.; and any special phenomena, such as tornadoes. Medium range forecasts are used for planning flight operations. Also short and medium range forecasts are necessary in the case of a very long flight requiring 8 to 10 hours or more for completion. For long flights, if the weather is at all uncertain or changeable, the flight commander should endeavor to obtain, if possible, one or more additional short range forecasts by radio, especially for the period of landing and for the terminal of the flight.

Pilots must know the ceiling, amount of cloudiness, and types of clouds to be encountered on a flight for the entire route in order to plan and execute the flight properly. If a cloud ceiling exists, the pilot must either fly underneath it, fly on instruments in the clouds, or climb through and fly on top of the clouds. Flying at low altitude is usually hazardous and particularly so at night or in hilly or mountainous country with low visibility. Low ceiling or instrument weather at the point of takeoff should ordinarily be no hindrance to individual planes, provided the weather at the final destination is suitable for safe descent. However, instrument weather offers a very definite handicap to a formation of planes. The types of clouds also should be considered if instrument flight is to be made, as they will indicate the smoothness or roughness of the air. Instrument flight in clouds where thunderstorms or icing may be encountered involves a hazard to the aircraft that must be balanced against the military importance of continuing the mission. Thus, the pilot is much concerned with the ceiling and clouds to be found on every flight.

Clear Weather Is Needed For Reconnaissance Aviation

The primary mission of observation and reconnaissance aviation being to observe and report, their operations are facilitated by high ceilings and excellent visibility over the area where they operate. Reconnaissance aviation must operate great distances over enemy territory where weather conditions may or may not be known. Whether or not this weather is known will depend in a large measure upon the reconnaissance aviation itself since one of its missions will be to make weather reports from points over enemy territory. Bombardment aviation also may make a certain number of weather reports, and if these are sufficient in number and cover enough territory, it may be possible to make fairly accurate forecasts of weather for the following day. The capabilities of reconnaissance aviation in the execution of its tasks, are definitely limited by weather, particularly in the matter of visibility and wind. Their effect must, therefore, always be considered in planning missions to determine radius of operation and number of aircraft required.

Bombardment aviation has probably the greatest need for weather information. Bombardment units may, and frequently will, be called upon to perform their own reconnaissance. Like reconnaissance units, they may operate over great distances and return to their home airbases with gas tanks nearly empty. A forecast before take-off of weather to be encountered upon return is essential. Bombardment aircraft may pass through much bad weather en route to and from their objective, but to avoid wasted effort it is very important that the weather be suitable at the objective for bombing, and that this be known before take-off. Objectives should be chosen, when possible, based on the weather forecast; that is, objectives should be chosen for which weather conditions will be most suitable.

Within the theater of operations, there will normally operate an air task force and a ground force. The air task force may have its units scattered throughout the theater. There are one or more air bases, one or more sub-air bases, and the various combat units. If weather reports are required from points within an area where no weather stations are located, special observer stations must be established at these points. Such weather observer stations will be established, where needed, within both the combat zone and the communications zone.

Private Papers Of a Cub Reporter:

"The British correspondents in the U. S.," wires H. Hutchinson, chairman of their committee, "regret that you should have given publicity to the draft-dodging slip implied by your comment in the column. I am sure you were not aware of the fact that nearly every British correspondent now here either came after the war began or has been home since and that all came here with authorization of appropriate military authorities. All gave pledges to return whenever called. I hope you will set the record straight for the benefit of readers and British newsmen here."

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes' definition of a Liberal: "The word is hard to define; it represents an attitude, a state of mind, rather than a specific philosophy. Liberalism is an ideal which goes under various labels. Sometimes liberals call themselves Progressives, sometimes Democrats, sometimes Republicans, sometimes Populists. It does not matter. The label is nothing—the point of view is everything. But however we describe a liberal we generally recognize him by his deeds or words. A man's fundamental, long-range attitude towards life and the world fixes him permanently in the esteem and opinion of his fellow-men."

Bob Hope's Little Linda and her school-chum, Carol Thomas, daughter of film producer Bill Thomas, were being driven to school by Mrs. Hope, who still is tittering over the little girls' repartee. "My father," said Miss Hope, "went to the studio." "My father went to the studio, too," said Carol. "Yes," said La Hope, "but my daddy makes pictures!" "No," corrected Miss Thomas, "my daddy makes the pictures. Your daddy only works in them."

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Akron, Ohio had its beginning as the WORLD'S RUBBER MANUFACTURING CAPITAL in 1870 when its first rubber plant was started by Dr. S. F. Goodrich. The switching of Dakar, French West Africa, to the side of the United Nations meant the establishment for the Allies of an important port for the shipment of crude rubber, among other important war essentials. Atabrine, the chemist's answer to the war time shortage of quinine, is serving to step up the collection of rubber in the malarious-infested jungles of Brazil. Here is a case of a synthetic product being used to stimulate the gathering of a natural product that is rapidly being replaced by synthetics in the United States. Ordinary tires are now cured in molds at factories in 40 to 50 minutes. Before organic accelerators were developed by E. F. Goodrich it took about five hours to vulcanize a tire.

He—How did you finish with the grocer in today's shopping?
 She—I had him by five points in that first period but then I got a terrible break. After I had made a 50-yard run for 12 cans of asparagus nine cans were ruled illegal on the ground my backfield was in motion.
 He—I know a woman who ran up 23 points over her grocer in the first ten minutes of play and had to give up everything but a jar of marmalade for unnecessary roughness. What are we having for lunch, dear?
 She—You're getting about 11 points.
 He—Eleven points of what?
 She—I don't know. I've got twenty minutes yet to hear from OPA.

He—That was a nice breakfast we had. The red coupon one, wasn't it?
 She—Yes, that was my red coupon special breakfast combination with buttered toast a la Prentiss Brown.
 He—In other words no butter. The Jenks are coming to dinner. I hope we will have something nice for them.
 She—Oh, yes. I've taken care of that. We're having some coffee I've been saving since November 8, 1942.
 He—Immediately after saying grace I'll read the penalty for that. I think it's ten years and $10,000.

She—What lovely penalties they're putting out with the groceries this year.
 He—Yes, indeed, much better than last season. By the way, dear, there's something I want to speak to you about. I don't want to be an old crab, but really...
 She—Don't fumble so. What is it?
 He—Well, er, it's all right to want food, of course, and, er, that is to say, I suppose every woman did a lot of last minute shopping but, er...

She—Oh, out with it! What's bothering you.
 He—Well, after all, I can't take a bath when the tub is full of canned tuna fish!
 She—I had to put it somewhere.
 He—And my clothes closet... when I opened the door to get a fresh suit a hundred cans of meat loaf fell on me. Pretty trying, you know.

She—Dear, it was careless of me.
 He—Oh, I can overlook all that. Food is food and we've got to live. But I draw the line on my medicine cabinet. Don't look innocent. You know all about it. I got up in the night in the dark for my cough medicine and drank half a can of canned vegetable juices. But that isn't the worst of it. Look at my head.
 She—Why, my dear, you're all blood!
 He—Not quite. I reached for my hair tonic and what do you think I found? CATSUP!

ALL DONE BY BANKS
 ("The German armies are engaged in a fierce struggle against a world peril inspired by the banking houses of London and New York."—Hitler)
 Backward my Nazi forces reel;
 Quite helpless are my super tanks
 Against the weather and, of course,
 Those London and those New York banks!

This winter has been bad again—
 The snow has been an awful curse—
 But, achi! I must admit the banks
 Of London and New York are worse.
 My men have done their very best.
 Hard pressed at every turn and fork
 By ice and snow and mud and muck—
 And banks in London and New York!

Big blizzards smote my weary men,
 And when they'd turn in bleak despair
 They'd find a bank attacking here—
 And find a bank attacking there.
 I never saw so many banks
 In any Russian winter yet;
 The way the banks cleared Stalin

 Was something I cannot forget.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.
 You may not be able to replace worn or broken household equipment. This is war. Government priorities come first. So take care of what you have... as well as you possibly can. This column by the homeowner's friend tells you how.

CLEANING AND PAINTING BRICKWORK

Question: I should like to give my fireplace a touchup. The bricks are rust and natural color and need cleaning. How should I do this? Also, the upper part is of cement blocks—natural color. What paint could I use to retain this natural color?

Answer: You can clean the bricks by scrubbing them with a paste made of scouring powder, moistened with water and a little household ammonia. Rinse thoroughly after removing the dirt. You can enrich and darken the color of these bricks by a brush coat of linseed oil. Try this first on some obscure brick to see how you like the effect. The cement blocks also can be scrubbed in the same way as the bricks and given a coat of cement paint, which can be had at a mason material yard.

Infested Firewood

Question: The last lot of firewood that I bought for our fireplace is infested with insects of some kind. They are crawling out of the wood and onto the cellar floor. Is there some chemical in which I could dip the logs that would kill the bugs?
 Answer: You should not accept delivery of insect infested firewood. Wood of this sort should not be kept in the house; but if it is brought in, it should be placed directly on the fire. Chemical solutions in which to dip the wood may prove far too expensive. Dipping the logs in boiling hot water for a few seconds should kill the worms and insects. But the best thing to do would be to have the dealer exchange the logs for clean wood.

'Burned' Frying Pan

Question: We have a large frying pan that at one time was left on the fire until it was red hot. Since then everything we try to fry in the pan sticks to the bottom. Is there anything we can do to make the pan serviceable?
 Answer: Try the following: Scrub the pan well with soap, water and steel wool. Rinse with clear water and dry thoroughly. Warm up the pan, then rub some suet on the bottom of it and place it in the oven, leaving the pan there for 15 to 30 minutes at a temperature of about 300 degrees F. Wash the pan again, rinse and then wipe dry.

Rusty Skillet Cover

Question: Rust collects with the steam on the cover of my iron skillet and spoils the food. I have boiled with soda and scoured it. What shall I try next?
 Answer: After scouring off the rust with steel wool, clean well and heat the metal. Then rub with suet or sweet oil. Place in a hot oven for 10 to 15 minutes, and wipe off excess grease. Do not use harsh caustics for washing iron utensils; dry them as soon as possible.

Leaky Tile Floor

Question: My white-tile bathroom floor leaks after a heavy splashing. What can I use to fill up the cracks? Or will it be necessary to retile the floor.
 Answer: If you find cracks around the edges of the floor at the tub or walls, fill the spaces with a calking compound. If necessary rake out all cracked cement between the tiles and fill with a white Portland cement, mixed with water to the consistency of thick cream.

Mahogany Bookcase

Question: The finish on my mahogany bookcase is dull. How can I give it a glossy finish?
 Answer: Wash off all wax or polish on the surface with the thick suds of a mild soap; then, remove the suds with a cloth damp with clear water and wipe dry. Allow several hours for complete drying, and then apply a coat of good quality quick-drying varnish.

Soundproof Door

Question: I should like to deaden the sound between two rooms in my apartment. Could I have a heavier door made to replace the present connecting door?
 Answer: If you get what is known as a soundproof door, you may be able to reduce a great deal of sound transmission between the rooms. Your lumber and millwork dealer should be able to supply you with such a door.

Storm Windows for Casements

Question: We should like to install storm windows on the inside of our casement windows. Our contractor says that we need no more than an inch and a half of air space. Is that enough to keep out the cold?
 Answer: Yes, it is.

Sticky Paint

Question: After three weeks, the paint on the woodwork of my apartment still is tacky and there is a paint odor. What is this caused by and can anything be done?
 Answer: A poor quality paint is the cause. Ordinarily, wiping with turpentine clears up such a condition. But if the paint is very tacky, this even may remove the paint. Try it first on a small, obscure spot. One of our readers claims good results by wiping with clear, cold water. It would be worth a trial, anyway.

Today's Cake Fixings Are Simple, Food Saving
(See Recipes Below)

Bake Your Own!

Those of you who have chosen homemaking as a career can set aside a half day for baking your own goodies right in your own oven. There are few things nicer than coming into a kitchen full of busy bustling, testing the cake, plumping fat loaves of bread on racks to cool, or packing cookies in fresh wax paper for pantry shelves—for those fine boys in the service!

When sugar rationing first came into the picture, most of us feared that it would not allow enough for home baking needs, but we have found ways to make sugar stretch. Or, perhaps we should say, corn syrups and honey to make baking possible.

With eggs up in price and fats becoming scarce, we have changed our recipes to fill these needs, too! Today's recipes may not call for the quantity of materials that yesterday's did, but they can make just as tempting a product.

Hot Water Sponge Cake.
(Makes 2 8-inch layers)
 1 cup sifted cake flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 eggs
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
 6 tablespoons hot water

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until thick and fluffy, about 10 minutes. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly until thick enough to hold a soft peak. Beat in lemon juice, add hot water, and beat until thick after each addition. Fold in flour in small amounts. Bake in ungreased tube pan or lightly greased layer-cake pans in a moderate (350-degree) oven. A tube cake takes 45 minutes to bake, layer cakes 25 to 30 minutes.

Ever tried a fragrant gingerbread baked in a ring? The slices can be fairly thin and the cake will really go far! Or, you can fill the center with apple sauce and serve as a dessert!

Gingerbread Ring.
 1 cup molasses
 1 cup sour milk
 2 1/4 cups sifted flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
 2 teaspoons ginger
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 egg, well beaten
 1/2 cup melted shortening

Mix milk and molasses. Sift dry ingredients. Add to milk and molasses, then mix in egg and shortening and beat until smooth and creamy.

Lynn Says:
 Tie a String Around Your Finger: The technique's different when you do your own vegetables—and you must keep these pointers on tap if you would get the most out of them:
 Peel potatoes thinly—their mineral treasures are hidden right under that skin.
 Use green vegetables as soon as possible after buying. They lose quantities of their vitamin C just sitting and being exposed to air.
 Add dressing immediately to vegetables and fruits after cutting them. The coating prevents some vitamin loss.
 Put away the soda box when cooking green vegetables. It's alkaline and destroys vitamins.
 Shell peas or lima beans only just before using. Wash leafy greens just before cooking. The percentage of vitamin loss will be lessened.
 Start cooking frozen foods before thawing. It is believed that less vitamin C is destroyed by that method.

 It might be said of this cookie that it's spice and all things nice—but you'll notice I didn't say sugar, because it uses corn syrup:

Raisin Cookies.
(Makes 50 to 60 cookies)
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 cup white corn syrup
 1 egg
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon extract
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 1/2 cups flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1 cup apple sauce
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 1/2 cup chopped raisins

Cream shortening with corn syrup and egg. Add flavorings. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture. Alternate dry ingredients with apple sauce. Fold in chopped raisins and nuts. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven 15 to 18 minutes.

Who ever heard of carrots in cookies? Well, the surprise is a nice one, and the cookies are popping full of vitamins when you make:
Honey-Carrot Cookies.
(Makes 5 dozen)
 2 cups sifted flour
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon soda
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 2 cups quick-cooking oatmeal
 1 cup raisins
 1 cup chopped nuts
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 cup strained honey
 2 eggs, well beaten
 1 cup grated raw carrot

Sift dry ingredients together. Sift again. Add oatmeal, raisins and nutmegs. Mix well. Cream shortening, add honey, creaming thoroughly. Add eggs, then carrots, beating well. Stir in dry ingredients and blend thoroughly. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Flatten with a floured fork. Bake for 15 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Store only when cold.

Whole grain, especially oatmeal, is rich in that important morale vitamin, B1, or thiamin, as it is sometimes called.
Oatmeal Refrigerator Rolls.
 1/2 cup shortening
 3 tablespoons sugar
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/2 cup boiling water
 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal
 1 cake yeast
 1/2 cup lukewarm water
 1 egg, beaten
 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour

Add boiling water to sugar, salt, shortening and oatmeal. Stir well. Cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water, then add with beaten egg to oatmeal mixture. Stir in half of flour, add rest of flour. Place in a greased bowl. Cover with waxed paper and store in refrigerator. When needed, remove from refrigerator and form into cloverleaves in greased muffin tins. Cover and let rise in a warm place until almost double. Bake 12 to 15 minutes in a 425-degree oven.

OUR LORD'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—John 17:1-8, 18-26.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou has given me, that they may be one, as we are."—John 17:11.

There are some times and places so sacred that one is instinctively hushed into reverent devotion. When Christ prayed in holy intercession (as recorded in John 17) on the night before His suffering His disciples must have been lifted into the very presence of the Eternal One. It was a holy experience.

He prayed for Himself, but even more did He pray for His believing followers. To know that someone is praying for us is indeed an anchor in a time of storm, a strong help in the hour of conflict or of service for Christ.

But to know that the Master prayed for you and me—that is enough to send us, like the disciples of old, out to face an unbelieving world in His conquering name. He prayed for Himself—and He prayed for me!

I. He Prayed for Himself (vv. 1-3).
 He looked up and said: "Father," and then He was ready to pray. So close was He to God that there was just this simple recognition of their communion. In Christ are we not as close as He?

What did Jesus ask for Himself? At first thought it seems a little unusual that He asked
 1. For Recognition of His Divine Glory (vv. 1-5).
 Why would He who had just given the disciples an example of and an admonition to humility desire to have His glory manifested? Be sure it was not a matter of selfish pride. He had finished His work (for He counted redemption as complete throughout His prayer), and now the glory which He laid down when He came to earth (Phil. 2:6-8) was to be resumed.

He wants man to see Him now not only as the compassionate Son of man, but the glorious Son of God, able to save. It is right that the glory of Christ should be magnified and recognized by the whole creation. He is worthy!

2. For the Manifestation of His Grace (vv. 6-8).
 The Father had given Christ the heart devotion of those who believed in Him. Note that their faith rested on the name of God (v. 6), and upon His Word which had come to them and to us through Christ.

He recognized their position and standing in Him and established it before God and man. He then prayed for them (read vv. 9-17) that they might be kept in an evil world as a testimony to the grace and power of God in the human heart.

This leads to His intercession for all believers.
II. He Prayed for All Believers (vv. 18-22).
 Christians are not simply the avowed adherents to a particular form of belief, they are "sent" ones. As the Father sent Him into the world, "even so send I them into the world," said Christ.

Christ has gone to be with the Father, but He has left those who believe in Him as His witnesses, His representatives. For this they need holiness. He prayed:
 1. For Their Consecration (vv. 18, 19).
 For their sakes He consecrated Himself. Surely if He needed it, we do far more. It is not only His will for us, but His prayer. How wonderfully that prayer was answered we see as we look back over the intervening 19 centuries, from His immediate disciples on through the martyrs, the missionary pioneers of all ages, the faithful preachers and teachers of the gospel, yes and "livers" of the gospel too. He knew, He prayed, God answered. Are you in that blessed host of consecrated believers?

2. For Their Unity and Glory (vv. 20-26).
 There is a refreshing simplicity about the Christian faith which is utterly different from all the complications which man has prepared and superimposed upon it. Essentially it is a matter of God having sent His Son into the world to be the Redeemer of men. He and the Father are one, and so we are all one. We who today believe are included (read vv. 20-23).

This is an inward unity of the Spirit, not an outward union of organizations. The answer to our difficulty is not the dissolution of denominations (although there do seem to be far too many subdivisions, too), but the uniting of all groups in a oneness of love and devotion to Christ, and a united emphasis on the gospel.

There is something more here. This unity puts Christ's followers into the place where His glory may be revealed in and upon them. It is His prayer that we should behold in our Saviour the glory which God had given Him because He loved Him before the foundation of the world.

It was the weekly meeting of the colored "Sons of I Will Arise Society." At the end of the usual business, a loud voice yelled from the back of the hall: "Mistah Chayman, Ah makes a motion dat Sam Jackson am a low-down, sneaking mis'rable chicken thief!"
 Down in the front a little fellow leaped to his feet.
 "Who makes dat motion dat Ah'm a low-down, sneaking mis'rable chicken thief?" he cried, glaring around the room.
 A huge scar faced Negro arose. "Ah makes da motion," he said, menacingly.
 "Mister Chayman," said Sam, quickly, "Ah seconds dat motion."

 of WAAC enrollments in saluted on this statewide program. Thus, when a county sends in a sufficient number of new WAAC's to bring it to the top in percentage of its total quota that week, the chairmen and residents of the county are saluted the following week. Also, each Sunday the names of ten chairmen in various cities of the San Antonio Recruiting District are announced on the air.
 During the week March 7-14, following Aransas County came Goliad County, with 20 percent of its quota; Kerr County, with 14 percent; Uvalde and Kleberg Counties, each with 12 1/2 percent.
 "The Army on the Air," next Sunday entering its twenty-first consecutive week of broadcasting from the studios of WOAI, 1200 on the dial, features the entertaining music of the 316th Army Air Force Band of Brooks Field, Texas—frequently called the best military organizational band in the nation—with Pvt. Bill Doar, a former member of Paul Whiteman's orchestra, as guest artist, and Tommy Reynolds as Army announcer. Various high-ranking officials and prominent civilians take part in the program each Sunday.
 The "Army on the Air," broadcast each Sunday afternoon from the studios of WOAI, at Navarro and St. Mary's Streets, is open to the public; visitors are welcome. All residents of the San Antonio Recruiting District, and particularly of the counties honored, are urged to tune in their dials to 1200 for an entertaining program.

McBride Explains Use of Stamps In War Ration Books

"Simplicity is the keynote of the new meats and fats rationing program just announced by the Office of Price Administration," said Donald McBride, chairman of the Aransas County Rationing Board. "Housewives will have no difficulty at all in shopping with their red ration stamps in War Ration Book Two when the new program goes into effect on March 29." Although the ration list includes a wide variety of foods, including all meats and many cheeses, as well as shortenings and salad oil, butter and margarine, canned fish, and many other items, from the point of view of the housewife who does the shopping, it will really be a simple matter.

 "All these foods will be rationed with a single set of stamps," McBride pointed out, "and the busy housewife will have to consult only one table of point values to find out how many ration points any of these foods will cost."

"This latest program requires no registration of any kind," added Mr. McBride. "War Ration Books Two are already distributed, and when the program goes into effect, housewives will already have had a full month's experience in the use of their point-ration books in buying processed foods. Neither will consumers be asked to report any stocks of foods they may have on hand."
 One of the few differences between the use of the blue and the red stamps in War Ration Book Two, is the order in which stamps will be declared valid.
 When rationing begins on March 29, the first set of stamps, marked A,—worth 16 points,—will be valid. Beginning April 4, and then on each succeeding Sunday through April, an additional set of stamps will be validated. All these stamps, from A through E inclusive, will remain in use all month,—making a total of 80 points per person for April.
 Another difference in the use of the red stamps is that it permits retailers to make "change" in ration stamps when a customer finds it impossible to give the exact amount of valid red stamps when making a purchase. Only one-point red stamps of any series currently valid may be used for this purpose.

During the week of April 4 to 10, for example, storekeepers may give their customers red 1-point stamps marked A or B in change. Customers are reminded, in this connection, that they must use stamps they receive in change by the end of the month in which they are issued and before they expire—just as they must use the stamps in their own books.

A farmer who slaughters a pig he raised for the use of his family, for example, is asked to set aside point stamps equal in point value to the number of points he would have to surrender if he bought the equivalent amount of pork and pork products at the store. Similarly, if he makes butter for the use of his family, he is requested to keep in his book, and not otherwise use, the number of red stamps he would need to buy the same amount of butter.

When a farmer sells any of these home produced foods, he must collect ration stamps from his customers,—even if they are neighbors, on the basis of official point prices, and turn these stamps in to the Office of Price Administration. "Farmers in Aransas County," said Mr. McBride, "will be instructed later on just when and how to turn in these stamps."

Dale Skoog Wears Army-Navy "E"

Dale Skoog, employee here of the Cleveland Diesel Division of General Motors, is wearing two "E" emblems issued to him through his company. The company was awarded the Navy "E" for production for the war effort six months ago, and on March 1 was awarded the Army-Navy "E".
 A note sent with the emblems said: "Part of the battle of production is being won through your efforts and this 'E' emblem is visible proof of the Army's and Navy's recognition of your accomplishments. Wear it with pride."

 among them being an antiseptic gargle and nasal spray, a "lip-cure" for sunburned lips, athlete's foot treatment, and several others.

"I mailed out some of these to people in six different states during the past week," he said.
 It was in 1891, when Mr. Bruhl came here that Rockport was in its hey-day and he had an active part in the civic work here expended in behalf of securing a deep water port for this section. It was these early efforts on the part of citizens of Aransas County and allied interests that eventually led to the development of the deep water port at Corpus Christi.

In the early 1890's Mr. Bruhl recalled the special trains brought great numbers of people here for week-end vacations. It was at that time that Rockport boasted the biggest hotel in Texas—the 100-room three-story Del Mar that covered a whole city block.

J. T. Mobley Attends Kingsville Meeting Of Educator's Group

Superintendent Jim T. Mobley attended an important meeting of the Gulf Coast Educators group held in Kingsville Monday night and reported a number of interesting and instructive talks were given by various members of the group.
 "One of the high spots of the evening," Mobley said, "was an address by Charles Tennyson, secretary of the State Teachers' Association who talked at length on matters pertaining to high school financing and also outlined a number of bills pending in the state legislature which would effect state high schools."
 Mobley stated that other meetings of a similar nature would probably be held on the gulf coast before the end of the present term of school.

NOTICE OF BOND ELECTION THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF ARANSAS

On this, the 27th day of February, 1943, the Commissioners Court of Aransas County, Texas, convened in regular session at a Special Term, at the regular meeting place thereof in the Courthouse at Rockport, Texas, with the following members of the Court, to wit:

B. S. Fox, County Judge; C. E. Townsend, Commissioner Precinct No. 1; L. V. McLester, Commissioner Precinct No. 2; J. H. Mills, Commissioner Precinct No. 3; T. E. DeForest, Commissioner Precinct No. 4; J. M. Sparks, County Clerk, being present, and passed the following order:

It was moved by Commissioner McLester, and seconded by Commissioner Mills that there be submitted to the qualified voters of the said County who are property taxpayers who own taxable property in said County and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, the proposition for the issuance of bonds of said County in the sum of $40,000.00, for the purpose of acquiring lands to be used as an airport within said County; the election to be held on the 20th day of March, 1943; the motion carried by the following vote:

AYES: Commissioners McLester, Mills, Townsend, DeForest.
 NOES: None.

THEREUPON, the following ELECTION ORDER was adopted:

WHEREAS, the Civil Aeronautics Administration of the United States Government has agreed to improve and maintain an airport within said County, provided the lands for same be furnished by the County; and

WHEREAS, the County Commissioners' Court of the County of Aransas, Texas, deems it advisable to issue bonds of the said County for the purpose of acquiring such lands;

THEREFORE, BE IT ORDERED BY THE COMMISSIONERS COURT OF ARANSAS COUNTY, TEXAS:

That an election be held on the 20th day of March, 1943, at which the following proposition shall be submitted:

Shall the Commissioners Court of the County of Aransas, Texas, be authorized to issue bonds of said County in the sum of $40,000.00, payable serially within twenty (20) years from their date, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed three (3) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and to levy a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem them at maturity, for the purpose of acquiring lands to be used as an airport within said County, as authorized by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas.

The said election shall be held at the following places; and the following named persons are hereby appointed presiding officers for said election:

At the City Hall Building, in Rockport, Texas, Election Precinct No. 1, with Fred Diederich as Presiding officer.
