Oil Cuts a New Pattern

Deeply impressed in the sand and mud of distant battle fields soon will be seen the pattern cut by oil's newest weapon — tracks of rugged, heavy-lugged military tires made from rubber synthetically produced from petroleum.

RUBBER made from oil is now a reality; and appropriately the Governor proclaimed June 28, 1943, as American-Made-Rubber Day in Texas.

When the source of native rubber was denied the Allies by the Japanese the petroleum industry was ready with plans already drawn for making synthetic rubber from oil. Tests prove it to be as good as, and in some instances better than, rubber made from native stock.

The same Humble refineries which for more than a year have been producing vast quantities of toluene for explosives, high octane aviation gasoline, and hundreds of other vital war products, will soon be ready to make Butyl rubber for many special military uses and Butadiene, basic material for military tires.

Production of this newest weapon from oil will be an added obligation. Humble will continue to meet established quotas of other petroleum war products as heretofore. Rubber simply will be added to an already long list of essentials—a list which reflects the vital part Humble men and women have in the battle of production.

HUMBLE PRODUCTS FOR THE MACHINES OF WAR: Asphalt, Aviation Gasolines and Aviation Engine Oils, Camouflage Paints, Diesel Fuels, Engine Oils, Univis Instrument Oils, Marine Paints, Navy Symbol Lubricants, Recoil Oils, Rust-Ban Protective Coatings, Stratosphere Greases, Toluene, Torpedo Greases, Waxes, Waterproof Lubricants. FOR THE MACHINES OF INDUSTRY: Automotive Lubricants, Cutting Fluids, Cleaners, Diesel Fuels, Gasolines, Industrial Lubricants, Launching Lubricants, Motor Oils, Paints, Petroleum Solvents, Quenching Oils, Rust Preventives, Waxes. FOR YOUR CAR: Products and service to help you care for your car for your country.

To Our Boys and Girls in the Service

To those now serving this country who call this community "home," this page is dedicated this July 4th, 1943 by the firms and individuals below.

You know how much we miss you — how empty our community seems without you, and what a vacancy exists in each of your homes. "We hope you know, too, how proud we are of you, for we know you are doing your job to the very best of your ability."

Perhaps if you could see how willingly the folks at home are backing you on the fighting front, you would be proud too.

We realize fully that you will win more quickly if all of us working in factories and on the farm give you every possible advantage in combat weapons and food.

We know, too, that the grimmest fighting and the hardest work lie ahead. Here are just a few of the ways in which our community is doing its part to speed victory.

We are buying all the war savings stamps and bonds we possibly can . . . we are trading at home to conserve tires and gasoline and to bolster our community . . . budgeting out ration points carefully, and neither wasting or hoarding food. We are contributing to the Red Cross, and all War Relief Funds. We are saving and turning in scrap metal, used cooking fats and other needed materials. We are contributing books to our fighting forces and writing to friends and relatives in the Service. We are sharing our cars with each other, and traveling only when absolutely necessary.

We are doing these things, and many others, too, to help see you through to certain Victory, and to speed that glad day when you'll be coming back home.

Governments' Philosophy Set Forth in New Fantasy

Antoine de Saint-Exupery's Delightful Fairy Story, "The Little Prince," Holds More Than Artistry for Adult and Child Alike.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

On a June day, when a gentle breeze brought the scent of new-mown grass in through the White House windows, President Roosevelt sat at his desk and read slowly to a group of correspondents from a typewritten sheet. It wasn't a formal document but it was an historic one—its purpose was to remind the Italian people that the military campaign against them which had just scored another Allied victory, Pantelleria, was the result of the misconduct of their rulers.

The message has been variously interpreted since, but to me, it contained one significant point—the reminder of the coming birth of a new nation; the new Italy which will emerge when the chains of arrogance and brute aggression which bind her are broken. There has been much talk about post-war policing of the re-made world; little thought of the philosophy which will underlie the forms which the reborn governments must follow. To me, such a philosophy is set forth in a work of pure fantasy. A hopeful note for nations and men is sounded in this delightful fairy tale by an author who found spiritual rebirth in the tragedy of the fall of his own nation.

I refer to Antoine de Saint-Exupery and his latest work, "The Little Prince."

Those who have read his "Night Flight," "Wind, Sand and Stars" and "Flight to Arras" are not surprised that he could create a fairy tale as delicate as this. Reviewers have disagreed as to whether it is for children or for adults. I believe it is for both, like "Alice in Wonderland." But the adult will find in "The Little Prince" something more than artistry and the children will sense that, too, I think.

Saint-Exupery is a brilliant aviator who built up night flying for the French airlines in South America. He fought against the Germans—"Flight to Arras" is the remarkable book which tells of that experience. He is now back with the French army in Africa, scene of the opening of "The Little Prince."

The Prince's Story

"Six years ago," the author says, "I made a forced landing in the Sahara alone, a thousand miles from help, and faced the necessity of repairing my motor by myself within the number of days my drinking water would last. The first morning, I was awakened by a determined but gentle voice which said: 'If you please, draw me a sheep.'"

So Exupery learned the story of how the Little Prince had found out what is really important in life.

The Little Prince is at once a delicate wisp of fancy, something so sheer that at moments he seems to float like a piece of thistle-down before your imagination—again, he has all the reality of truth itself, he is eternal childhood, all that is gentle, and confiding and lovable, with the faint shadow of sorrow on his winsome face, he is the tug at your heartstrings that comes when youth looks at you in wide-eyed confidence, reaches up to take your hand—the same reminiscent tug when you look back and see the surprised and longing sorrow in the eyes of your own lost youth.

The Little Prince lived far away, it seems, on a tiny planet with three volcanoes so small that he cooked his breakfast on one of them. A flower came to his planet and the Little Prince loved her and cared for her but he couldn't understand her and so he left to try to find out why. He finally reached the earth, and here the fox taught him.

The Little Prince had never seen a fox—"Come and play with me," he said, "I am so unhappy." "I cannot play with you," the fox said, "I am not tamed." The Little Prince did not understand. He told the fox that he was looking for friends and asked him what tame meant.

Philosophy of a Fox

"It is an act too often neglected," said the fox, "it means to establish ties . . . to me, you are still nothing but a little boy who is just like a hundred other little boys. And I have no need of you. To you, I am nothing more than a fox like a hundred thousand other little foxes. But if you tame me, then we shall need each other. To me, you will be unique in the whole world. To you, I shall be unique in the whole world."

"I am beginning to understand," said the Little Prince, "there is a flower . . . I think she has tamed me."

"If you tame me," the fox went on, "it will be as if the sun came to shine on my life. I shall know the sound of a step that will be different from all others. Other steps send me hurrying back underneath the ground. Yours will call me like music out of my burrow. And then look: you see the grain fields down yonder. I do not eat bread. Wheat is of no use to me. The grain fields say nothing to me and that is sad. But you have hair that is the color of gold. Think how wonderful that will be when you have tamed me. The grain which is also golden will bring me back the thought of you. And I shall love to listen to the wind in the wheat . . ."

The fox gazed at the Little Prince for a long time. "Please—tame me," he said. "I want to very much," said the Little Prince, "but I haven't much time, I have friends to discover and a great many things to understand."

"One only understands the things one tames," said the fox, "men have no more time to understand anything. They buy things already made at the shops but there is no shop anywhere where one can buy friendship, and so men have no friends any more. If you want a friend, tame me . . ."

And so the Little Prince did, and another day when he came back, the fox said: "It would have been better if you had come back at the same hour. If, for example, you come at four o'clock in the afternoon, then at three o'clock I shall begin to be happy. I shall feel happier and happier as the hour advances. At four o'clock, I shall already be worrying and jumping about. I shall show you how happy I am. But if you come just anytime, I shall never know at what hour my heart is to be ready to greet you."

But finally, the Little Prince had to go.

Source of Comfort

"It is your own fault," said the Little Prince, "I never wished you any sort of harm; but you wanted me to tame you." "Yes, that is so," said the fox. "Then it has done you no good at all." "It has done me good," said the fox, "because of the color of the wheat fields."

And there, I think, perhaps some of you may find comfort—in the memories that come from the wheat fields, for the common and the beautiful things that remind you of someone from whom, perhaps this war has parted you.

That is only a flash I have given you of the story of "The Little Prince" which is not written for children only but for those who have the faith of little children and the understanding to see how tragedy can bring forth something which can light the long shadows which it leaves—out of the tragedy of his nation and the searchings of his own soul came this charming fantasy from the pen of the soldier-writer with the secret he learned from the Little Prince who learned it from the fox—

"It is only with the heart that one can see rightly; what is essential is invisible to the eye."

Diary of a Broadcaster

A postcard signed by a fictitious name, dated the day Pantelleria fell, contained this statement:

"Italy so far has got the best territory of the world: most of France; the richest prize of the war: Jugoslavia; the greatest strategical area in the world: Greece and her islands. Italy will dictate the peace, save the U.S.A. and get two-thirds of Africa, meanwhile Mussolini is Supreme everywhere. Italy got all and lost least, can fight 1,000 years."

Some 7,000,000 pounds of bombs were dropped on Pantelleria island from June 1 to June 11 when it capitulated.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

Soldiers make an average of eight moves by railroad between induction and embarkation for service overseas.

Radio France, General Henri Giraud's station at Algiers, has reported that because "young German students are getting stirred up" a Gestapo agent has been stationed in "every" German university.

The Nazi "Gauleiter" for the Baltic States has ordered the removal of all church bells as a total mobilization measure.

Because many types of air raid shelters now in use are scant protection against Allied heavy bombs, the German people have been told to hurry the construction of new underground shelters.

Household Hints

One-fourth teaspoon lemon juice added to each cup of heavy cream will hasten whipping.

The setting of a jelly can be hastened by placing the mold in a pan of cold water.

Mayonnaise used on sandwiches should be thick enough to prevent its running out at the sides.

Wood siding from which moisture has not been sufficiently removed may be finished with semi-transparent shingle stain instead of a solid film of paint.

A piece of wax tied in a rag, and rubbed over the hot iron before ironing, will help it to run along smoothly, and prevent its sticking.

Cut two large apples and one lemon into slices without removing the peel. Add three ounces of sugar and one or two cloves. Pour over this a quart of boiling water, cover closely, and leave until cold.

Frozen meats should not be thawed before cooking. Soaking them to hasten defrosting impairs the flavor.

A cloth dipped in linseed oil and wiped over a polished surface will improve the appearance.

Admirals may be admirable, but that isn't where the word comes from. It comes from an old Arabic word "amir-al" meaning "commander of." That's what the Admiral is, the top-ranking officer in the Navy. Top-ranking cigarette with our Navy men is Camel—the favorite, too with men in the Army, Marines, and Coast Guard, according to actual sales records from their service stores. Camels are a top-ranking gift, too. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are. —Adv.

State Health Officer Advises Workers to Take Plenty of Salt

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30.—To help prevent heat cramps, salt should be added to the drinking water of those persons whose work is such as to cause excessive perspiration, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises in an attempt to forestall a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 90 degrees and above.
Laborers, mechanics, farmers, and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient, with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as forty to fifty grams of salt during hot days. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Bowen Changes Schedules To Speed Up Runs
In order to give Southwestern travelers better and faster service Bowen Motor Coaches today that, effective July 3, war-time schedules on all routes will be revised.
"Through the cutting down on time for various rest stops and terminal layovers," explained President R. C. Bowen, "we will take up enough slack to speed up most of the Texas routes from 30 to 50 minutes—and still, of course, observe to the letter the regulations of the Office of Defense Transportation."
According to J. W. Sorenson, local agent, the following schedule will be effective in Rockport:
Buses leave from Houston and points north at 7:04 a. m.; 1:34 p. m.; 5:34 p. m.; 11:19 p. m.
Buses leave for Corpus Christi at: 9:06 a. m.; 2:13 p. m.; 12:06 a. m.; 4:56 p. m.; and 7:15 p. m.
"Put every dollar above the necessities of life into War Bonds. Payroll Savings is the best means of doing your best in helping your sons and friends on the fighting fronts. Figure it out yourself."
Any excuse you can give for not putting your payroll savings will please Hitler, Hirohito and puppet Mussolini.
One of our every two families have at least two workers. Figure it out yourself how much beyond 10 percent of your family income you can put into War Bonds every payday.

Funeral Held Sunday For Mrs. Emily Wood

Mrs. Emily L. Wood, widow of a Major in the Confederate Army and for more than 40 years a resident of Rockport, died Saturday afternoon at her home in that city. She was in her 89th year.
Mrs. Wood was born in Victoria on April 7, 1855. She had lived in this country for 46 years before moving to Rockport following the death of her husband, Maj. John H. Wood.
Major Wood was a pioneer Texan from the St. Mary's region of Bay City. He had fought at Goliad with General Rusk and later with the ranks of Gen. Zachary Taylor in the war with Mexico. He became an officer of the infantry during the Civil War and was discharged a major after the peace treaty was signed.
On August 26, last year, Mrs. Wood suffered a fractured hip in a fall at her home. She had been confined to her bed ever since and her death was attributed to this old injury.
Surviving are two sisters and a brother. They are: Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham with whom she lived; Miss Lee Hunt and John Hunt both of Sherman.
Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the Cage Funeral Chapel at Rockport. The Rev. T. H. Poilard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church officiated. Burial was in Rockport Cemetery.
The pall bearers were: George M. Hooper, Sam Prophet, J. M. Sparks, Sheriff Arthur Curry, Jim Smith and Clark Herring.
Mrs. Olin Albrecht and daughter Janet Lee, of Victoria, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Key this week.
If Hitler wins, the issue for you will be living itself and not just the cost of living. Think that over and figure it out for yourself how much beyond 10 percent of your family income you should put into War Bonds every payday.
