

Provide Christmas Cheer Goodfellows Need Help

As has been the custom in past years, Haskell Goodfellows have again launched plans to provide some holiday happiness for needy and less fortunate families in our community at Christmastime.

To carry out this program, Goodfellows will need help from every public spirited citizen of Haskell and the cooperation of all civic organizations as well.

Food, along with candy, fruit and a few toys where there are children in the families, will be the principal items which will go into the Christmas baskets the Goodfellows distribute at Christmastime each year.

The project, sponsored by the Haskell Lions Club, costs a lot of money... more than Goodfellows have in their treasury... and they are asking that you become a Goodfellow by sending in a contribution today.

Donations in any amount from dimes to dollars should be sent to "Goodfellows, in care of the Haskell Free Press." All contributions will be acknowledged.

Churches, clubs and civic groups are asked to turn-in the names of all needy and deserving families to the Chamber of Commerce, Royce Adkins, Goodfellow chairman, announced.

Information that is needed will be the name and address of the family, number in the family group, whether boys or girls, and their ages. Names of the less fortunate families may be turned-in to the Chamber of Commerce office, Adkins said.

Girls' Basketball Tourney Slated This Weekend

The gymnasium of Haskell High School will be the scene of plenty of action this weekend, as the annual Invitational Girls Basketball Tournament takes place. Three days of basketball at its best will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 30, December 1, 2. Teams participating in the tournament include O'Brien, Aspermont, Benjamin, Munday, Olney, Weinert, Haskell "A", and Haskell "B".

Thursday's opening action will pit Haskell "B" against O'Brien at 4:00 p. m., followed by Aspermont vs. Benjamin at 5:30, Munday vs. Olney at 7:00, and Haskell "A" vs. Weinert at 8:30.

Every participating team will play three games and trophies will be given for first, second, third and consolation. An All-Tournament team will be selected by the officials.

WINDOW UNVEILING, LIGHTING SWITCH-ON TRADITIONAL HERE

Traditional Christmas lighting of the courthouse square at 5:30 p. m. tomorrow, Friday, December 1, in conjunction with the unveiling of gaily decorated windows by local merchants, will officially "kick-off" the Christmas season, signalled by a Santa Claus parade at 3:00 p. m. Saturday.

With the mass unveiling of draped store windows containing sparkling displays for the Yuletide, a symmetrically arranged array of some 450 lights dangling from more than 2,000 feet of lighting cord, will be turned-on Friday evening. The two events in keeping with tradition, are a simultaneous "institution" on the eve of the opening of the Yuletide season.

Santa Claus, in his 30-foot long, pony-powered sleigh, arrives in Haskell at 10:00 a. m. Saturday, and will spend some eight hours giving sleigh rides to kiddies around the square.

The red-suited "Jolly Old Man" will precede the gala parade which will begin winding its way through downtown Haskell at 3:00 p. m. Saturday.

The big, annual Christmas Parade will feature beautiful floats, bands, plus a pet parade which will include children from all schools in Haskell County.

That man of the year, Santa Claus, will officially open the Yuletide season here, Saturday, December 2, in person.

Santa will come to Haskell in the World's Largest Sleigh. Every boy and girl in the area has a hearty invitation to visit the old gentleman from 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

Free rides on the sleigh with Santa will be given, through a special arrangement made by the local committee, Mrs. Opal Adkins, chairman, of the Retail Merchants, said.

Since it doesn't snow very much in Texas, six of Santa's favorite Shetland ponies will pull the sleigh, dressed in their chrome-plated harnesses, red plumes and sleigh bells, according to Mrs. Adkins.

The sleigh, which is 30 feet wide, is bright red, trimmed in silver. Santa's official North Pole flag will be prominently displayed atop the sleigh.

A personal interview with Santa is in store for each child. Through concealed speakers on the sleigh, the interviews will be broadcast along a designated route, which has been set up by the local committee. Beautiful Christmas music will also be heard.

Local merchants, who have contributed to arrange for the local visit, have free ride coupons which they will give to their customers. When a child wishes to ride, he trades the coupon for a numbered ride ticket, with Santa's ticket-man, who will be stationed at the loading platform throughout the day.

On each ride, 60 children can be seated on the sleigh. Santa's crew in colorful Christmas costumes will assist in the operation, with Merry Christmas acting as official hostess.

Unveil Windows
Tomorrow, Friday, December 1st, at 5:30 p. m., the Christmas lights will be turned-on at the sound of the siren and merchants unveil their windows.

Parade
At 3:00 p. m. Saturday, the annual Christmas parade will begin winding its way through downtown Haskell. Bands, floats and children's pets will be only a part of the gala parade.

Pet Prizes
The Haskell Rotary Club, sponsors of the pet parade, will present three prizes to winners in that division as follows: first, $7.50; second, $5.00, and third, $2.50. All participants must have their pets with them in the parade.

Flouts
Clubs And Organizations
First, $25.00; second, $25.00; third, $15.00.

School Flouts
Kindergarten, first and second grades: $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00.
Third and Fourth grades: $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00.
Fifth and Sixth grades: 15.00, $10.00 and $5.00.

The Haskell Chamber of Commerce is presenting prizes in the float divisions.

Haskell's friendly merchants invite residents of this wide trade area to stop with them and take advantage of the Christmas program.

lot of pigs! It means about one out of every five pigs saved in the U. S. during that time was started on a Purina creep feed. This shows that hogmen who creep feed prefer Purina over any other brand among the pig starters on the market today.

As folks are finding out that Purina truly give pigs the fast, right start hogmen are looking for. Purina pig starters are rich with power to give baby pigs quick early growth, extra disease protection... and supply vital nutrients sow's milk may lack.

For Purina starters because they're extra-able. This is very important because the more a pig starter may be nutritious, all is lost if pigs won't eat it. On the other hand, Purina pig starters are so good that they become enthusiastic "early eaters" and become "good doers" that make gains and finish fast.

Former Texas FB President Passes Away

J. Walter Hammond, 79, former president of the Texas Farm Bureau, died at his home in Abilene Saturday following a long illness. Funeral services were held Monday in that city.

Mr. Hammond, known as the "Father of the Texas Farm Bureau," is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. D. Wofford, Abilene, and two grandsons. His wife died Nov. 22, 1964.

Mr. Hammond was elected president of the fledgling Texas Farm Bureau in 1939, when it was still known as the Texas Agricultural Association. The name was changed shortly after he became president when the organization affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation. The Taylor County farmer served as president of the TFB for 18 years, until 1957. Nationally known in agricultural circles, he was a member of the AFBF board of directors for 17 years during that time.

Sidney Dean, TFB president, paid tribute to the memory of Mr. Hammond: "Farm Bureau, as well as agriculture, has lost a true and valuable friend. His passing recalls the great leadership which contributed so much in securing this organization's rightful place in the agricultural history of Texas."

During Mr. Hammond's tenure, the TFB grew from less than 5,000 members in a few organized counties to more than 70,000 members in almost 200 counties.

COMPLETES COMBAT TRAINING COURSE

Marine Private Jack R. Muegge, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Muegge of 606 N. Ave. C, Haskell, completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrolling, employment of infantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics at Camp Pendleton, California Marine Corps base.

This individual combat training is given every Marine after his graduation from recruit training. Taught by combat experienced non-commissioned officers of the infantry training regiment, it prepares the young Leathernecks to become part of the Marine air-ground combat team.

While in the field he was taught how to use hand grenades, a compass and the principles of map reading and land navigation. He learned how to detect and disarm mines and booby traps and while being exposed to live machine gun fire, he learned to advance safely from one point to another.

From this course, he is scheduled to go on to more advanced training before being assigned to his permanent unit.

In the boys game, Stark paced the Haskell win with 23 points while Tom London led Throckmorton scorers with 18. Karen Carpenter led Throckmorton to win the girls contest and for Haskell Kathy Burson dropped in 18.

About 25% Of Food Dollar Spent On Meat

About 25% of the food dollar is spent on meat, one of the most important and popular foods you buy. It provides needed nutrients to the diet and is also one of the safest items on the dinner table, thanks to the U. S. Department of Agriculture inspection service.

Let the USDA inspection stamp guide you as you select meat. Ruth Ann Fansler, County Home Demonstration Agent, suggests:

All meat processing plants shipping meat across state lines must meet USDA inspection regulations and all meat they process must bear the stamp.

It is a round stamp: "U. S. Inspected and Passed." The stamp on the meat is purple, made from vegetable dye, and is harmless. The number in the stamp identifies the packing house.

Some establishments whose products do not enter into interstate commerce must meet state or city inspection regulation. (The inspection stamp guarantees that the meat was wholesome and suitable for consumption when it left the processing plant.)

At the beef counters you will find a few features in chuck cuts although prices are higher than a month ago, round beef, round and rib steaks are available at moderate price levels. The most plentiful offerings at the work counter include loin cuts, smoked hams and picnics and some heads of bacon.

Some markets are featuring chicken fryers. Select from the whole bird, cut-up or special packs of chicken parts. Frozen turkeys have attractive price tags.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I have been hearing a lot of talk about the high cost of living and the high taxes. I wonder if everyone has forgotten just how high the cost of living was in the days when the dollar was worth a dollar. I may be wrong, but I say that today the cost of living is less than it has been in my lifetime. I am 57 years old and I can remember very well when you could buy almost anything for about one-fourth of what you pay in dollars for it now.

As I understand it, a dollar is only a token that represents either goods or services rendered. Since I only have services to sell, I will try to explain my way of thinking. In the years from 1930 to 1945, when the dollar was at its peak in buying power, I worked on a farm, when I was able to find any work to do. I was paid from 75 cents to $1.00 per day. I was required mostly to work as much as 12 to 14 hours a day. That averages between 6 and 9 cents an hour.

For two and a half hours pay, I could buy either 10 pounds of pinto beans (which was our main food), one pound of butter (and it wasn't often that we could afford it), or two pounds of Peabody coffee. A dozen eggs could be bought for about the price that equaled one hour's work. I have worked a good many hours for the pay of one gallon of buttermilk an hour. (The farmer had no money to pay and I had the time and needed the milk.) I could buy two quarts of whole milk for a quarter, or about three hours work. For about 21 hours of work, I could buy me a pair of work shoes (called Scout shoes). They were the cheapest that you could get and weren't much good, but they were the best you could afford to buy. If I were to take an entire three years income, working every day and spending not one penny for anything, I could, maybe, save enough to buy me a Model A Ford. A man like me couldn't have bought one on terms at all. It would of taken all I made for two weeks steady work to have registered it. (Talk about high taxes now).

House rent was cheap. I could rent a pretty good old house for $7.00 or $8.00 a month. (No one would live in a shack like it now for less!) That would amount to about one and a half weeks of hard work or about 93 to 112 hours of work out of each month. Everything that a man used then was cheap in dollars, but what really counted was the amount of service that you must trade for that mighty dollar.

Compare the high cost of living now to those days, and just see if things aren't a lot cheaper now in services exchanged for cost of living. I don't work on a farm anymore, but I believe that farm labor is about $1.00 down to 75 cents per hour. For two and a half hours work, I can buy four to six dozen eggs, three pounds of butter, or three pounds of good steak. Count the hourly wage and figure it against a fourteen hour day and then you can see that everything that you buy is far cheaper in the services that you exchange for like goods in the days when a dollar would be worth a dollar, not fifty cents. I like our times now much better.

Just to make it easy to keep track of, let's compare the cost of living at the top pay for both times. In 1932, we will use a pay scale of 10 cents per hour as compared to $1.00 per hour now and see if things were as cheap then as now. If you paid modern history. Even with the high taxes and the many more things that we use today that would have been considered only for the very wealthy and the many things that were not even made then, we take as a matter of common now. I could go on and on, but the ones of you over 55 can remember and you younger people can do a little research and you will find I haven't misstated anything very much. People need to think back just a little and see how well we are blessed with what we have, even the poor. We are rich, compared to any era before us. Let us be thankful for that which we have. Every day should be a day of thanksgiving in America. W. R. Carter, Haskell, Texas

Thomas J. Skrabanek

Harry H. Merritt

A Lone Star Gas Company executive, Thomas J. Skrabanek, has been assigned to the staff position of vice president-Plant Modernization for the natural gas utility and its subsidiaries, Lone Star Producing Company and Lone Star Gathering Company.

Skrabanek's assignment was announced by L. T. Potter, Lone Star's chief executive officer. Skrabanek formerly served as vice president of Lone Star Gas Company's Transmission Division. Potter also announced that Harry H. Merritt, currently Lone Star's director of building management, has been placed in executive charge of the Transmission Division.

Skrabanek began his career with Lone Star in 1928 as an industrial engineer in Temple. In 1937 he was named assistant manager of the company's Industrial Department and was appointed assistant superintendent of Lone Star's Compressor Department in 1947. He was named superintendent of the Compressor Dept. in 1949, serving in that capacity until 1964 when he was named superintendent of operations for Lone Star's Transmission Division. He was elected vice president of the Transmission Division in 1965, a position he held until his assignment to his present position.

Serving as a sales engineer in the utility's East Texas Region, he was promoted to engineer-utilization in March 1959 and transferred to Dallas in 1962. He was appointed administrative assistant to the vice president of distribution in 1965 and named director of building management for Lone Star Gas Companies in January 1967.

OUTDOORS -IN- TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

If you are an outdoors-column reader, you've undoubtedly, from time-to-time, heard the term "trap-shooting" mentioned.

But, surprisingly, many people don't know a great deal about trapshooting. And many of those who actually have shot trap, or fired in competitive events, know little about the background of the sport. Being one of the uninformed, we decided to look into the subject.

It isn't a come-lately thing. In fact, the first mention of trapshooting as a sport was in 1793 in the English publication, "Sporting Magazine." In an article the magazine referred to trap as a "well-established recreation" of the generation.

Today trap is shot throughout Texas and the United States, as well as other countries. It is even an Olympic event.

Most large Texas cities have shooting ranges with trap facilities, and even a few small communities have their own trap ranges.

The world series of trapshooting is the annual national championship held at Vandalia, Ohio. Its official name is The Grand American Trapshooting Championships.

Basically, there are three different kinds of trapshooting events.

Most popular and most widespread is the standard 16-yard singles competition.

In this each competitor fires at five targets from each of five positions, all of which are 16 yards from the traphouse from which the clay bird is thrown. Each "bird" emerges from the house at a different angle and the shooter gets only one shot at each of the 25 targets. Idea, of course, is to break all 25.

When there is a tie, the champion is determined by a shoot-off of 25 more targets. Most single matches include four rounds, or 100 birds, but some championship shoots involve 200 targets.

Another type is handicap shooting. This event is different from 16-yard singles only in the distance the shooter stands from the trap. Minimum is 18 yards, maximum 27.

Annually each competitor is assigned a yardage handicap, based on past performance. More proficient the shooter, the farther he will be stationed from the trap. Naturally, the 27-yard shooter is rated the very best.

Doubles is one of the most challenging events, but not nearly as popular as the other two. All shooting is done from the 16-yard line, but a competitor must fire twice in succession at two targets thrown from the traphouse.

When any shooter wants a target released, he hollers "pull."

This term came from the early beginnings of the sport, when a bird was placed under a hat with a string attached. At the shooter's command, a puller yanked the string to release the bird.

Today's shooter still yells "PULL," even though the target is a clay bird released by mechanism inside the traphouse. Someone still has to trip the mechanism.

Records indicate that trapshooting first came to America in 1831, when it was introduced by the Sportsman Club of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Various birds like English sparrows, pigeons and even quail were used for targets until about 1880, when glass balls 2½ inches in diameter started to replace the live targets.

In 1880, George Ligowsky of Cincinnati came up with the idea of the "clay pigeon," an idea conceived by watching boys sail seashells over the water. Eventually, the clay target took the place of all other types of targets.

Today's clay bird is a concave disc slightly more than four inches across, 1 1/8 inches thick, and weighing roughly 3½ oz. Normally it is black with a circular area of white or yellow in the center. It is designed to shatter readily when hit by shotgun pellets.

The Interstate Trapshooting Association was begun in 1890. From it, in 1923, came the Amateur Trapshooting Association, which stages the annual national championships.

Begin With The Children

One of the most insidious and destructive influences on the price level of thousands of luxuries and necessities on retailers' shelves is something that few of us ever think about...shoplifting. Shoplifting is extremely costly to the retailing industry. Chambers of Commerce and retail associations sponsor clinics for merchants on shoplifting, and there are films which are distributed for use by service clubs and other groups.

Recently a spokesman for a large retailing concern offered the suggestion that it might be a good idea to encourage newspapers to comment on the subject so that parents can be made aware of the problem as it affects young people. His suggestion is eminently sound. Aside from the long term influence on prices, shoplifting has other far reaching effects. It can change the life of a young person who might think of it as more of a prank than an offense against law and society. There are cases where a young adult, with an otherwise spotless record loses an opportunity for employment for the simple reason that his misdeed has found its way into the detailed history of his life upon which he must eventually depend to open the doors of opportunity. Any blot on this history is a handicap.

Shoplifting is but another example of the lack of respect for persons and property that is so prevalent in the land today. Shoplifting is not a prank. It is a symptom of character weakness and a warning light to parents and authorities. A basic rule of behavior that should be taught every child at home and at school is to keep your hands off other people and other people's property. This would pay rich dividends in years to come.

Haskell County History

30 YEARS AGO
(December 3, 1887)
The net approved scholastics for Haskell County for the 1937-'38 term is 4,582 pupils, 286 less than the scholastic enrollment in 1936, according to figures just released in the Public School Directory issued by the State Department of Education.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herren, Jr., and daughters and Mrs. Jessie L. Collier visited friends and relatives in Wichita Falls Sunday.

Dr. Gordon Phillips, who formerly practiced here but has been in Seymour for the past several months, announces the opening of his offices in the Oates building and resumption of this work in Haskell. Dr. Phillips' general practice includes medicine and surgery.

When the talk turns to weather years hence, youngsters of today can remember the month of November, 1937, in Haskell as the "frosty" month. There were more days of frost during the month than in any November recorded by the local weather bureau statisticians. Frost visited here seven times.

W. E. Welsh was in Dallas on Saturday to see the Rice-S.M.U. football game and visit with his son, Dr. Hugh Welsh from Houston and his sister, Mrs. Ben Griffin, who lives in Dallas.

With Christmas still three weeks away, holiday buying swings into the busy season and a survey of Haskell stores shows that business is far ahead of that last year at this same time.

Miss Pearl Ann Dedmon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dedmon, of Sagerton, is one of the 49 juniors at Texas Technological College who this week was initiated into Alpha Chi, national honorary scholastic fraternity. Miss Dedmon is a student in the arts and sciences division.

Mr. and Mrs. Belton Duncan are announcing the birth of a daughter, Saturday, December 4th. She will answer to the name of Etra Jean.

Virgil Reynolds returned from Detroit, Michigan, Saturday, driving a new Chrysler and trailing another.

40 YEARS AGO
(December 1, 1927)
L. M. Couch and son, Pearl, and daughter, Miss Nellie, were Haskell shoppers from west of town, Saturday.

W. M. Mask and family spent Thanksgiving with his father, W. G. Mask of Perrin.

H. B. Weaver, a prosperous farmer of the Pleasant Valley community, has purchased a nice residence from Virgil A. Brown in the northwest part of the city and will move at once to his new home. Mr. Weaver is moving to town for the benefit of the high school for his children.

Miss Hassie Davis, a Haskell girl, who is now a senior at the West Texas State Teachers College, is one of the outstanding students in the music department of that college. Her singing has delighted many audiences since she has been a student there. Two other young women from Haskell, who are attending the Teachers College are Louise Mullino and Fern Case. Hortense Reeves of Rochester adds another to the number of students from Haskell County.

Sheriff Al Cousins was host to the peace officers of this city at a Thanksgiving dinner given at the jail last Thursday. A sumptuous banquet was served to the local peace officers and a few invited guests. Officers present were: City Marshal W. E. Welsh, Deputy Marshal R. A. Hays, and Deputies Martin Gregory, J. H. Lawson and R. E. DeBard.

W. Applegate of this city, a Buff Wyandotte breeder and fancier, was elected Southern Vice President of the Buff Wyandotte Breeders Club of America. The announcement was received Friday from John Ver Tree of Holland, Michigan, the chairman of the Election Committee. Mr. Applegate did not win this honor without competition, as he had a live opponent in another part of the south. But Mr. Applegate won by a nice majority, according to the report.

60 YEARS AGO
(November 30, 1907)
Constable T. L. Lemmon tells about finding a man who had become so mixed up with the numerous lumber yards in Haskell that he couldn't find his way home. He says that about 10:00 o'clock Saturday night he found a man leaning against the Haskell National Bank in a dejected attitude and in response to some inquiries the man informed him that he was all mixed up with lumber yards. Said every time he started to go to his boarding house he run into a lumber yard; they seemed to get in his way whatever direction he turned. Said he had been out of town a week or ten days and they had been putting in lumber yards everywhere and he hadn't been back long enough to learn how to dodge them. Mr. Lemmon succeeded in helping him out of his difficulty. "Lumber yards" is a new name for it, they generally call it "snakes" when a man gets in that condition.

Miss Annie Lyda Hughes spent the week with her grandmother, Mrs. W. M. Wood near Weinert.

Judge C. C. Higgins, in empanelling the grand jury Monday, gave them an exhaustive charge, using all titles of Penal Code, explaining and defining under the respective titles the various offenses denounced by the Code. In his general remarks he enjoined the grand jury to specify in bills of indictment second and third offenses, where such was the case, calling attention to the law which requires the minimum fine to be doubled for second offenses and that for the third offense of the same nature in cases of the grade of felonies the law requires imprisonment for life. Judge Higgins said that Haskell County has the worst reputation for violations of the local option law of any county he knew of, and that he hoped to see a change in this respect.

T. J. Miller was in Monday and received the premiums awarded to himself and his wife at the fair on the O.I.C. hogs, chickens and bronze turkeys, amounting to $11.50.

NEW FEATURE LAUNCHED FOR TOWNS SEEKING INDUSTRY

The Texas Industrial Commission has announced the launching this month of a new feature in their continuing program of assisting Texas communities along the highly competitive road to industrial development.

The new feature is a very serious game called "prospect simulation" or "PS" for short. In the "PS," a team of two or more Texas Industrial Commission staff men come before a community's industrial development committee just as though they were industrial site finders considering the community for a new plant location. They pose as specific industry representatives and put to the committee all the questions that the real industrial prospect would.

Actually this "game" is a dress rehearsal for a community's industrial development committee before they entertain their first real out-of-town prospects. The Texas Industrial Commission team critiques the performance of the committee on all points after the "PS" session is over. This will be extremely valuable, because normally a community never knows why an industrial project passed them by. The "PS" points out that it could be a gap in the information or a flaw in the town's presentation that turns industry away. It is designed to catch such errors and suggest ways to correct them in advance.

A session will be available to any community in Texas which has a working industrial development committee. However, it is anticipated that most of the communities requesting "PS" will have already participated in the first phases of the Industrial Commission's program.

The first of these is the Community Consultant Visit. The Industrial Commission employs a staff of three full-time traveling Community Consultants whose total responsibility is the encouragement of industrial development programs. The consultant continues his calls throughout the program, providing professional assistance.

The second step usually comes when a community shows the first elements of industrial development organization. Then a small group on the industrial development committee may arrange to come to Austin for an intensive one-day Texas Industrial Planning Seminar, or "TIPS." This is conducted by the staff of the Industrial Commission and members of other State agencies, such as the Tourist Development Agency, or the Texas Employment Commission, which would have an interest in the particular community.

The third step, with consultant's visits in between, is the Economic Development Clinic, which is conducted by the Industrial Commission in the community, with a broader audience of its residents present. In this clinic, a community's allies, the local electric power company, gas company, or railroad are brought in to explain what they can offer to the industrial development effort.

Now when the community is ready to begin prospecting for new industry in earnest, they may arrange the new "PS" session for a very realistic and informative dry run.

Information on this entire program may be obtained upon request from the Texas Industrial Commission, Capitol Station, Box JJ, Austin, Texas 78711.

Cotton Classing Report
 The Munday Cotton Classing Office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture classed about 11,350 samples for the week ending November 24, 1967, according to A. D. Peebles in charge of the office. This brings the season's classing total to over 41,000 bales.

Harvest
 Farmers have had two weeks of open weather for cotton and no dew to stop them in the mornings. Gins have run steady for 12 to 15 hours a day with cotton stacked on the yards by night. Quite a few have finished and there are some who haven't even started.

WEEK-END VISITORS
 Mr. and Mrs. Gary M. Allen, Scott and Robyn, of Hurst, and Larry Hinds of West Texas University, Canyon, visited here last weekend in the home of Mrs. Allen's and Larry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hinds.

No Shortage of Perch
 Ever wonder why there are so many perch? A female bream will produce some 60,000 eggs at a single spawning. So just a few bream in any body of water means a big population.

TIPS FROM H. D. AGENT
 Home Economic Tips from Miss Ruth Fansler, Home Demonstration Agent:
 Using washable wools instead of dry cleaning them can be an important money-saver for teenagers, college students and younger children. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has developed the "Wurlan" process for making machine washable wools shrink less than one percent and not require much paring. Most of these wools today are made by similar processes.
