

There are many details or important items in sport that are beyond all human understanding. And this doesn't only mean horses that run last in one race and then win the next time out. It doesn't mean a Billy Conn, who was a completely fearless in his first Louis meeting, who had been completely fearless through his entire ring career, who was known as dead game and yet appeared to be in terror in the recent heavyweight title fight.

Suppose we take up the case of the New York Yankees. I happened to be in the immediate vicinity of the Yankees, the Red Sox and the Tigers for several weeks in Florida this spring.

Everyone figured, and this included Joe McCarthy, Bill Dickey and Larry MacPhail, that the one possible weak spot in the Yankee lineup should be their pitching. Spud Chandler—and then who did they have? Their defensive fielding was an established fact. This part couldn't miss.

What about the Yankee offense? Now you must admit that Joe McCarthy, Bill Dickey and Larry MacPhail and Bill Dickey are three rather smart operators as far as baseball is concerned. Offense? With Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller, Tommy Henrich, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Joe Gordon, Nick Etten, Phil Rizzuto, Johnny Lindell, Bill Johnson, Aaron Robinson, Bill Dickey—here was the last and least worry. The Yankees had their full share of fielding defense. But above all they had something more important—their attack—their offense—their power at the plate.

McCarthy, MacPhail and Dickey all admitted this. Nothing to worry about in the way of a run-making attack. Stirnweiss had led the American league at bat a year ago—309. DiMaggio was a normal .340 hitter. Etten, Gordon and Henrich were at least .285 hitters. Keller was a .300 hitter. Rizzuto had been a .310 hitter. The team average should have been around .280 or .285.

Mystery of the Yankees

So what happens? Nearing the end of July the team batting average of the Yankees is under .238. They are far below the Athletics and the White Sox. Outside of Charlie Keller they stand with a flock of 233 hitters, taken as an average. Yet most of these players were once dangerous each time they moved to the plate. They were batters to be feared. Today almost any one with a right or a left arm still hanging on can stop them cold.

What has happened to the old-fashioned Yankee attack? Practically every member of the squad is a friend of mine. It isn't a matter of dissipation or lack of determination. They are giving the game all they have.

On a general average they are smart, intelligent, hustling ball players. They feel lower than MacPhail or Bill Dickey feel. Their reputations, which means their living, is at stake. But they can't hit.

You can understand one or two men moving into a batting slump. How can anyone explain practically an entire team taking the soapy chute at bat? There is no longer any question but that the tropical trip to Panama took a heavy toll. Those who went to Panama reported to St. Petersburg early in March in July condition. They were too far ahead of any training schedule. I don't believe this mistake will ever be repeated. Anyway it is only a part of the answer. It can't explain the entire story.

When 11 ball players, who should range somewhere between .280 and .340, drop below .240—experienced, veteran stars who have been through the fire before—you wade right up to your neck in what is technically known as a quandary—whatever a quandary is—trying to find the answer.

Look at the Red Sox!

You can't blame this on war years because in the same spring and summer interim, the Red Sox have placed five hitters among the first ten. The Yankees have had only one hitter—Charlie Keller—among the first 10.

The Yankees have been down slightly lower than the White Sox were in 1906, when they were known as the "Hitless Wonders." But the "Hitless Wonders" had Ed Walsh, Nick Altrock and Doc White who were pitching four and five-hit games.

If any three of the 11 Yankee hitters expected to bat from .280 to .340 had only moved up in the .280 class, many a ball game, now lost, could have been saved. This amazing reversal of form has the usually sane and able Bill Dickey baffled.

FROM FARM TO FILM

4-H Members from 26 States Share Movie Contest Awards

Thirty-one entrants from 26 states have been named national winners in the three divisions of a 4-H movie contest conducted among local club leaders and members throughout the U. S. Purpose of the contest was to obtain the best movie material, both in story ideas from club leaders and talent among 4-H boys and girls for leading roles. A total of 809 club leaders and 1,346 members entered the contest.

Eleven volunteer 4-H leaders were given top honors for their story ideas. They are: Clarence Snetinger, farmer, of Barrington, Ill., who will receive an all-expense trip to the 25th anniversary National 4-H club congress in Chicago next December. Mrs. Julia S. Ball of Sault Ste. Marie and Mrs. Evelyn Heim of Traverse City, Mich., both of whom are farm homemakers and school teachers.

Mrs. Mary E. Lukens, farm homemaker and school teacher, of Rochester, Ind. Mrs. Helen Kimble, farm homemaker, of Turner, Ore. The foregoing four winners each receives a $50 savings bond award. Mrs. Emil Wenzlaff, homemaker, of Reedsville, Wis. Miss Marilyn A. Palmer, senior student, University of Connecticut, Storrs, Conn. Mrs. Albert Buntin, farm homemaker and school teacher, of Jackson, Tenn.

Mrs. Mary E. Ross, farm homemaker, of Mount Vernon, Mo. Martin E. Neumann, farmer-stockman, of Bigfoot, Texas. Mrs. Roscoe I. Flores, housewife, of Torrington, Wyo. The foregoing six winners each receives a $25 savings bond award.

Win Boys' Awards. The 10 highest rating winners in the 4-H boys' division are: Gerald H. Cassidy, 18, of Blytheville, Ark., who will receive an all-expense trip to the Chicago 4-H club congress and a leading role in the movie. The following four boys each receives a $50 savings bond: Hance H. Russel, 19, of Westfield, Wis. Francis Pressly, 14, of Stony Point, N. C.

Girls' Division Winners. The 10 top ranking entrants in the 4-H girls' talent division are: Betty June Miller, 18, of Wellfleet, Neb., who will be given a leading role in the movie and an all-expense trip to the Chicago 4-H club congress. The $50 savings bond award winners in this division are: Nancy Lu Kingzett, 19, of Perley, Minn. Lilla Grace Madden, 13, of Heflin, La. Virginia Mueller, 18, of West Bend, Wis. Mary Heckman, 17, of Providence, Utah. The following five girls each receives a $25 savings bond award: Esther Carrigan, 17, of Wilson, N. Y. Grace E. Braun, 17, of Egg Harbor City, N. J. Carolyn Maxey, 17, of Winder, Ga. Peggy Hoffmeister, 16, of Topeka, Kan. Frances Blow, 14, of Grand Isle, Vt.

The movie, titled "Where the Road Turns Right," will portray the ideals and objectives of 4-H club work. It is designed to stimulate interest among rural youth, to help reach the goal of 3,000,000 club members by 1950. It will be produced in co-operation with the department of agriculture, state extension services and National 4-H Club News. The movie will have national distribution.

WINS ALL TOP AWARDS—To Lawrence McLachlan, 17, of Earlville, Ill., went the distinction of winning all top awards in the 8th annual Chicago junior market lamb show and sale. The show drew an entry list of 376 lambs, shown by 68 4-H club boys and girls from 19 Illinois counties to rank as largest in history of the contest. McLachlan's prize-winning lambs, shown above, are of the Southdown breed.

Whiskey Bath Listed as Old Cold Remedy

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—Fantastic remedies suggested for the common cold 60 years ago were described by Dr. Louis C. Jones of State College for Teachers, Albany, in an address here. "The Albany Times in 1886 suggested that, in the realm of preventive medicine, best thing to ward off a cold was to take a bath in hot whiskey and rock salt twice a year," Jones said.

Indiana Industrial City Maps Extensive Improvement Plan

By E. L. KIRKPATRICK

Three-quarters of a century after its settlement on the Blue river, New Castle, Ind., attracted the Maxwell automobile factory in 1907. From 3,000 population then, the town "grew like Topsy," to its present size of 20,000. Activity of an industrial city settled down over the frame of a small town.

According to Scott Chambers, president of New Castle's City Plan commission, "this tended to change the sense of values of the people, who became more interested in getting than in giving, more in what they had than what they were." There were fewer music and art teachers in the town's schools in 1940 than in 1904.

Scan Civic Needs. So, in 1942, there was held a civic clinic in the form of public meetings whereby more than 1,000 people helped to figure out what their town needed. Better housing, more adequate parks, auditorium, new hotel, airport, community center, physical and moral clean-up were on the list.

It all spelled a job for a planning commission. Speakers were engaged for civic group meetings. Reports of the talks were carried in local papers. The mayor named a commission. Members read good books and pamphlets for self-education and employed the services of qualified architects. All the forces went to work for a New Castle that "would give its people both the opportunity of an industrial city and the charm and ease of life in a small town."

Foresee Future Growth. The program is based on analysis of problems and outline of purpose. While some of it is being carried out, the rest still is in the planning stage. With more than a dozen substantial manufacturing firms to its credit, the city looks to brisk business and well-balanced growth in the years ahead.

A place where parking facilities are adequate is being substituted for a business district where traffic jams the streets. Quarters that will permit good health and induce good citizenship are replacing blighted areas and local public works projects are part of a general scheme for community developments. There is no leaf-raking in new goals for New Castle.

Two Elderly Fans Are Undeterred by Scooter Accident

MEMPHIS, TENN.—Although their first attempt at riding a motor scooter landed them in a hospital, two elderly Memphis women insist they will not desert the childhood sport.

When Mrs. Mattie Driver, 60 bought the scooter, she invited Mrs. Ida L. Frisby, 82, for a ride. The scooter got out of control and the women landed in a hospital, Mrs. Frisby with a shoulder injury and Mrs. Driver with a head cut.

Insisting that she had no regrets, Mrs. Frisby said, "I was doing something I'd always wanted to do." "This won't stop me," Mrs. Driver bragged, adding that she intends to ride her scooter to Chattanooga as soon as she is released from the hospital.

Former WAC Sees Name as Casualty

BILLINGS, MONT.—When the war department recently published its list of World War II casualties, Mrs. Charles W. Bruder, former second lieutenant in the WAC, scanned the list with amazement for her own name was included among those officially declared dead or missing.

Mrs. Bruder, whose service was confined to recruiting duty in this country, blamed a mixup of service records in Washington for the error. She was released last December. Her husband also was an army officer, serving in the European theater.

Long Way Proves Short in Solving Laundry Problem

LONDON.—Laundry problems, particularly delays in deliveries, irk many London residents. Faced with the prospect of waiting two weeks to get his clothes back from the laundry, one ingenious resident devised the novel expedient of airmailing his laundry to Melbourne, Australia, on the other side of the world. Return delivery is made within 10 days.

Vigilantes Ride but Not after Thiefs

SHERRARD, ILL.—Although they haven't set out on the trail of a steed snatcher since August 24, 1899, the Richland Grove Vigilantes, formed 87 years ago to catch horse thieves, remains an active organization. Formed principally of kin of the founders, the organization endeavors to perpetuate the association for sentimental and social reasons. The group, which has a present membership of 130, meets annually.

PLANT GRASS BY PLANE

In Illinois, grass seed has been sown successfully by a small plane on 1,200 acres of rough land. The plane sowed 40 to 50 feet in a swath and carried 150 pounds per load. The cost was $3.20 an acre compared to $6 per acre for hand seeding.

ELMER TWITCHELL ON RESTAURANTS

Either the wrong men are operating too many lunchrooms and restaurants in this country or else they're just too scared to speak to the help about things.

"I do my share of eating in middle class eating places," said Elmer Twitchell today, "and it is my conviction that most of the operators are glorified dog-wagon men. I am no chef myself but I could get up better dinners with an old broom and a bucket of switch-grass."

Elmer was quite sore. "What's become of the old-fashioned restaurant proprietor who wanted things right? Whatever happened to the chef who had pride in his work? Where is the old-fashioned bartender who knew how to mix a drink right?" he demanded.

"It's years since I have run across a proprietor who has a conscience, thinks it important to hold his trade and won't water the soup, cut down the portions more than necessary or feel upset if he discovers the potatoes have not been served cold."

"And I am not referring merely to the Grade B restaurant. Some of our best clubs are now employing cement mixers as chefs."

"I had a business man's lunch at a private club last week and I still can't figure if the manager and chef were former pig feeders or just a couple of boys who confuse human beings with seagulls."

Elmer wanted to be fair. "I admit it's hard to get foodstuffs," he concluded, "but it seems to me the boys should know what to do with it when they get it."

Ex-Pfc. Purkey in A Quonset Hut

Dear Ed: Well now I know how it feels to live inside of a egg, or even inside half a egg. The wife and me has just got one of them Quonset huts. We already got roundshoulders and we stoop over even when standing up.

After you have been in one a day you have no more doubts about the world being round. Already I am working on a book which I will call "The Half Egg and I" or maybe "Life With Low Ceilings." The first thing you got to learn is not to get off a chair too sudden. You can tell how long a couple has lived in one of them huts by the bumps on their noggin's.

A real love life is necessary on account of if a couple do any scrapping there is no neutral corners to go to after the knockdowns.

Returned Veterans Aid Outlook For Elderly U.S. Farm Couples

Alabama Brothers Show Success in Postwar Venture

Return of veterans from the armed forces is aiding the financial outlook for many an elderly U. S. farm couple.

Take the Bowdens in Coffee county, Ala., for example. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bowden are 69 and 63 years old, respectively, and, because of their age, were not able to make the most out of the farm they were operating when their sons were in service.

Upon their return from the armed forces, Lynn and Oren Bowden shouldered the job of making a living for the family and increasing dividends from the farm. Their first objective was to buy the farm, thus raising themselves and their "old folks" out of the tenant farmer class.

Since many elderly farmers and their wives also are looking to their sons to take over the home farm, the story of the Bowdens is related to show what can be accomplished.

Actually the story has its beginning in 1936 when, as the elder Bowden frankly admits, "we were down and out and had to struggle to make ends meet." Unable to get credit from regular lenders for purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, equipment and other farm needs, the Bowdens resorted to a government agency, now the Farm Security administration, to secure the necessary funds. Along with the funds came instruction in sound farming practices, which enabled the Bowden family to improve the efficiency of their operations.

A period of progress followed, but the advent of war disrupted all the family's plans. Both Lynn and Oren were called into service, resulting in an acute lack of help on the farm. Lynn, 44, veteran of both world wars, entered the army in 1940 when the Alabama National Guard was called into service. Oren, 31, also was a member of the National Guard and entered service early the following year. A temporary respite was gained when Oren was placed on inactive duty to help run the farm, but he later was called back into service.

SEEK EXPERT GUIDANCE—The Bowden brothers and their parents have proved that they are good farmers, but they frankly admit they don't know it all. Here James S. Pridgen, Coffee county, Ala., FSA supervisor, shows Lynn and Oren Bowden how to treat seed peanuts to prevent damp rot after they are in the ground.

Upon their discharge early in 1943, both brothers returned to the family farm. Intent on purchasing the 360-acre farm, previously rented by the family, the brothers arranged the necessary financing with Farm Security administration, which permits 40 years at 3 per cent interest for repayment of farm purchase loans. A major factor in the family's success was the diversified farming plan which the agency helped the family to map out.

Faced with a $4,800 debt, contracted in purchasing the farm, the Bowdens embarked on an ambitious farm program designed to wipe out the debt in shortest possible time. Within a year they had paid off more than half the debt. Today, only three years later, the final payment has been made to the government agency and the Bowdens are full owners of their land.

With 160 acres of the farm under cultivation, the Bowdens produce peanuts as the main cash crop. Carrying out their plan of diversified farming, they also have cotton, hogs and 12 head of beef cattle, principally of the Black Angus type. To develop their herd, they recently purchased a purebred Angus bull.

In 1944, the Bowdens marketed 20 tons of peanuts, $600 worth of hogs, and $60 worth of cattle. They had 15 other hogs left over for marketing by the end of that year as well as 12 stock hogs and 2 milk cows. Sale of chickens and eggs also added to farm returns.

Marketings the following year included 20 tons of peanuts, 4 bales of cotton and about $588 worth of hogs. After these sales, they had 24 Duroc shoats, 4 brood sows and 30 pigs on hand as well as their beef cattle.

The "old folks" are helping the veterans progress in their farming venture. The elder Bowden raises garden produce, selling $112 worth of cabbage from a few rows in his garden last year. Intent on increasing the returns, he has planted six 90-foot rows of cabbage this year. Mrs. Bowden also is active in work around the house and garden.

Size of the family also has been increased. After the last farm payment was made, Oren was married and brought his wife to the family farm home.

Today the Bowdens are considered successful Alabama farmers. Each member of the family does his proper share of work and all reap the benefits of good living on a well-operated farm. Furthermore, the elder Mr. and Mrs. Bowden can take more time to enjoy the peace and security of farm life now that their boys, like so many others, are home again from the war.

FIGS BOOST INCOME—Oren Bowden is hown here with brood sows and some of the young porkers which will be ready for market in the fall. Returns from cattle and pigs increase earnings on the Bowden farm, which is operated on a well-rounded diversified farming plan.

Loans to Veterans for Farm Purchases And Operating Costs Reach High Peak

Setting a new high in Farm Security administration loans to veterans, 5,400 ex-servicemen were financed in purchase of farm operating equipment or family farms within a two-month period, according to figures released by department of agriculture.

The loans, made during March and April, constitute nearly a third of the total number the agency has approved for veterans during the last two years, FSA Administrator Dillar B. Lasseter announces.

Declaring that the agency expects the record lending to continue, Lasseter reports that more than 20,000 veteran applications now are being processed in county offices.

More than 16,000 veterans already have received FSA assistance. Approximately 1,000 of them obtained farm purchase loans under terms of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act from an earmarked fund set up by congress. The rest have loans to buy machinery and livestock or for other operating needs.

Soaring real estate prices and lack of productive farms for sale have handicapped veterans in their quest for farms, Lasseter says.

Guidance Plan Aids Farmers Getting Loans

Individual guidance in good farm and home management practices is provided by Farm Security administration with all loans, the department of agriculture emphasizes.

Each loan, the department reports, is based on a sound plan for farm and home management that is worked out by the borrower and his family. The plan shows items the farmer intends to raise, his estimated operating expenses and income he may expect to make.

A FSA supervisor, schooled in efficient farm methods, helps each family make and carry out the plan. He will supply information on how to select and care for livestock, plan crop rotations and put other good farm methods into practice. In most rural counties a home supervisor, trained in home economics, also is available to assist the family.

Main objects of the guidance plan, according to FSA, are to help the farmer "get the most income from his work, obtain a good living for his family and repay his loan."

New Jersey Farmer Termed Hardest Working Man in State

On the basis of the working day's length, the title of hardest working man in New Jersey can be conferred on the average farmer in the Garden state, declares the state department of agriculture.

Figures cited by the department show that as of June 1 New Jersey farm operators were working an average of 12 hours daily, which adds up to a 72-hour week, excluding time devoted to Sunday chores. During harvesting operations, particularly in July and August, longer working days are in store for farmers.

A farmer's week adds up to a 72-hour period contrasted to a factory employee's regular work week of 40 hours. Then, too, according to the department, whenever a day's work is lost on a farm the output of 12 hours is involved whereas only an eight-hour day is lost when a city plant shuts down.

No report of the number of hours per day worked by farmers can estimate the time spent on Sundays and holidays when, as on any other day, chores such as feeding livestock, milking and other jobs must be done on a farm regardless of the day of the week.

A year ago, when the war still raged, New Jersey farmers spent 12.2 hours a day at work.

ANDRE BARUCH, telephoning to announce his son's arrival, was so exuberant that he could hardly talk. "Of course it's a boy!" said he, as if there couldn't have been any doubt about that. Young Wayne Edward will have to be famous, with two such parents. Andre was tops in radio before he joined the army and chalked up an outstanding record; now he's announcing on "Your Hit Parade," the Lombardo and Harry James nights for "Spotlight Bands," and several others. Mama Bea Wain has long been known for her perfect diction as well as her distinctive style in singing; she's been on "Your Hit Parade" and other big radio shows. Now that Wayne's arrived, she'll be on the air again.

Joan Edwards estimates that she spends about 20 hours a week working out technical problems, prior to her actual singing time of 12 minutes on "Your Hit Parade"; being a thorough musician, she works with arrangers on musical details of the orchestral backgrounds to her songs, rehearses in various keys to get the right one, spends hours on getting a good mike balance between her voice and the orchestra. Next time you hear Joan's effortless performance, remember that she put a lot of hard work into making it seem so casual.

A role in "The Short, Happy Life of Francis Macomber" lured Reginald Denny back to the screen; he's been too busy to act. He made model planes as a hobby, then during the war he made them for the army, for identification purposes. Finally he converted his plant to make jet propulsion models.

Lanny Ross scored a hit at a recent concert in Chicago when he sang Strauss' "Emperor Waltz." One critic said his performance was better than the lyrics deserved—not knowing that Ross wrote the lyrics himself, under the name of Robert Matthews!

It sounded fine, that plan to paint Betty Hutton and the girls of a chorus line with gold lacquer for the Casino de Paris finale in Paramount's "Perils of Pauline." But it had to be abandoned—Betty and 12 of the 18 dancers were allergic to the gold paint.

Fred MacMurray was to eat real caviar in a scene in "Suddenly It's Spring," but most of the "caviar" on the table was buckshot bathed in axle grease—looks just the same on the screen. A prop man stopped MacMurray just as he was about to take a mouthful of the imitation. "That's all right," said he. "Caviar tastes like buckshot and axle grease to me, anyway."

Sara Haden is playing her 42nd hard-boiled secretary to a star in "Mr. Ace," as handmaiden to Sylvia Sydney. Sara says her frigid mien has made her one of the busiest players in the film colony, and "At the end of a day's work as a frozen-face, I go home and sit in front of the mirror and just laugh my head off. It's the best way of relaxing, especially when I know that next morning I'll have to freeze up again."

Shortly after Warner Brothers brought sound to motion pictures, some 20 years ago, a stage dancer arrived in Hollywood to give Joan Crawford some special instruction. He was tested as a possibility for pictures, and given this rating—"Difficult to photograph. No dramatic quality. Thin hair. Poor speaking voice. Not a romantic type. Dances." His name was Fred Astaire!

ODDS AND ENDS—Marilyn Maxwell will wear a bathing suit the first time on the screen in "Carnation Charlie"; Red Skelton, who'll appear in the same sequence, doesn't expect to be noticed at all. . . John Lund, of "To Each His Own," is haunting rummage sales, looking for an old-fashioned leather library chair for his home. . . Signe Hasso plays her most important romantic scene with Bob Hope in "Where There's a Life," wearing an old-fashioned woolen night shirt. . . Allie, young son of Robert Alda, Warner star, is earning $2 a day by panning gold in the hills of his father's ranch in Sunland, Calif.

A GROUP OF GRADUATES OF MEMORIAL HOSPITAL'S "LILLIE JOLLY SCHOOL OF NURSING"

Can you think of any professional women who mean more to humanity than nurses do?

If you are a College Graduate or a High School Graduate with 15 units of credit, you can enter our School of Nursing.

During the course, you will not only study science and health subjects, but you will be of service to men, women and children, who are sick or injured. When you graduate, you will then become a Professional Nurse and can get employed in one or more of the numerous classifications of Nursing. You can become a Private Duty Nurse, or a Public Health Nurse, or a Nurse Supervisor or Institutional Nurse in the Maternity Department or Children's Department or any other department of a hospital or in some other classification.

There are more than fifty classifications in the Nursing Profession and you can choose the one you wish to devote your life to.

This Nation needs 250,000 more Registered Nurses than it now has. So you will have a great opportunity not only to serve humanity, but to prosper financially and, also, to be of great service to your own family.

Our next Class will be admitted in September, 1946

If you feel that God wants you to serve suffering humanity, and you desire information concerning admission to the September Class,

PRECAUTIONS URGED TO PREVENT GRASS FIRES

This is the season of grass, brush, and forest fires over practically all of Texas, and Rockport is certainly no exception.

July and August are normally dry, hot months. Consequently the grass is parched and burns as easily as paper. This is also the season of high winds, that quickly sweep flames beyond control. Under these conditions, once fire breaks out, either in the grass or in the brush, it is controlled with difficulty. At best, a considerable area will be burned over before the expert, well-equipped fire-fighting crew can check the flames. Even though we have an expert crew and good equipment, there is another hazard that makes it doubly serious. The shortage of a sufficient supply of water during certain hours of the day makes it very difficult for any fire of major proportions to be controlled, and once one of these brush or grass fires gets out of control it will burn a large area of the town and countryside.

The brush and grass fires take their toll not only from the land owner but from the community as well. Should every person take care not to throw away a live match or cigarette-stub, there would be few such fires.

Season after season, the Texas Forest Service has issued its warnings against carelessness in the disposal of matches, cigars, and cigarettes along roads, and against hazardous burning off of grass by farmers and others.

In the past few days there have been three grass and brush fires that required the attention of the fire department to control them. As a result, the fire department officials have requested that they be notified before any one burns grass, weeds, or trash in order that they may be prepared to fight the fire if it gets out of control with no undue delay. They also have asked that anyone who does burn anything please watch it closely so that there will be much less danger of it getting beyond control.

These fires are not only dangerous to property but endanger the lives of the citizens. For example, there was a recent death and a very critical injury sustained by passengers of an automobile on the highway north of Rockport due to the dense smoke screen from a grass fire. These fires can be kept at a minimum at least by the simple precautions outlined above. If people will be careful not to throw lighted cigarettes, cigars, or matches out on grass; or if they will take sensible precautions to watch any fires they may start, they will certainly reduce the hazards of such fires.

Employees of Rockport Fish and Oyster Co. Given Barbecue

The Rockport Fish and Oyster Company gave its employees a barbecue at the plant Monday night and it also had employees present from other Wicker interests in Seadrift, Aransas Pass and Corpus Christi. These included the Lone Star Fish Company of Corpus Christi, Bay Fish Company of Seadrift, and Bay Fish Company of Aransas Pass.

Gerogio Huerta and Paul Salcido furnished music for the guests during the meal and later played for dancing with a guitar and accordion. Dave Wicker, of Dallas, was introduced by Albert Collier and gave a short talk to the assembly. He told them that he and his father hoped to be able to make this an annual affair to be held each July or August for all employees in this area.

Albert Collier made a brief talk during which he introduced the captains and mates of the fishing boats and other officials of all four companies.

Mr. Wicker was accompanied to Rockport by his wife and their two children, Martha and Dave III.

'Full Enforcement' of New OPA Bill Promised

Calling for the continued cooperation of the public, C. T. Giesen, director of the San Antonio district Office of Price Administration, today promised that the maximum effort of the district office will be toward "full enforcement" of the new OPA bill.

Giesen stated that he believes the new bill is "workable," and said, "More than ever, we shall need the cooperation of the people in the future, as they have so splendidly given it in the past," in order to achieve the fullest results of price and rent control during the year of existence voted these controls by Congress.

"I would like to express, publicly, my appreciation of the way in which employees of the district Office and of Price Control Boards, and unpaid board members and volunteers, remained at their posts during the period in which the bill was under discussion," Giesen said.

Resignations remained at normal during the interim, the OPA chief revealed, and business men and women who serve Price Control Boards without pay "stood by" for future service.

The district enforcement staff, under William P. Dobbins, will start at once on an all-out campaign of enforcement of newly adopted OPA legislation, Giesen added. Public cooperation will aid the efforts of Dobbins' attorneys and investigators, and will help make it possible for the nation to obtain the big objective of price and rent control—which is, to curb inflation.

Edmond Dillard Says Loan Cotton Will Be Pooled October 1

Edmond D. Dillard, secretary of Aransas and San Patricio County A.C.A., stated today that he was in receipt of the following wire in regard to 1945 cotton placed in the loan.

"All 1945 cotton crop still under loan October 1, 1946 will be pooled by the C.C.C. Such loans mature July 31, 1946, and borrower has right of repayment prior to October 1, 1946. At present price of cotton, borrower should be able to dispose of this cotton at a profit above loan and charges against the cotton."

Mr. Dillard stated further that any cotton placed in the pool will be sold by the C.C.C. and the net proceeds therefrom distributed to the producers whose cotton was placed in the pool. For any further information in regard to the above call at the A.C.A. office in Sinton.

The new store will be located in the building just north of the Tourist Grill. They will also have Spanish speaking clerks.

ROCKPORT . . . Five Years Ago

Work began this week on deepening Rockport's harbor and channel leading in as a part of the Intracoastal Waterway system. When completed, the basin should be about 12 feet in depth.

P. R. Olsen, in charge of operations here, said indications are that Rockport will have a new bathing beach when the work is completed. The sand from the basin is being pumped into the bay over the breakwater and Olsen said it is likely that a gently sloping sand beach will be the result.

Olsen and eight men and equipment arrived last weekend and began operations this week. Fifteen local men were given employment and are now working the dredging operations.

Several score 4-H Club boys spent several days here last week, camped out in an oak grove near the Rockport Cottages and spent a good deal of their time studying wildlife conservation.

Time was divided between swimming, fishing, other sports, educational features, and several highly interesting field trips.

"Growing Old"

By Robert C. Medaris
They say that I am growing old; I've heard them tell it times untold

In language plain and bold,
But I'm not growing old;
This frail shell in which I dwell
Is growing old, I know quite well,
But I am not the shell.

What if my hair is turning gray?
"Gray hairs are honorable," they say;

What if my eyesight is growing dim?

I still can see to follow Him
Who sacrificed His life for me
Upon the Cross of Calvary.

Why should I care if Time's old plow
Has left its furrows on my brow?

Then how can I be growing old
When safe within my Savior's fold?

Ere long this soul shall fly away
And leave this tenement of clay;
"This robe of flesh I'll drop and rise
To seize the everlasting prize";
I'll meet you on the streets of gold
And prove that I'm not growing old.

Oak Shore Apartments Constructing New Cottages

MY SINCERE THANKS

I shall ever remain grateful to my many friends throughout the 70th Representative District for their loyalty and interest in my candidacy during the late pre-election campaign. I regret that illness prevented my taking a more active part in the campaign, but rejoice to know that I have so many tried and true friends in the district.

I shall do my best to prove to them that their confidence in me was not misplaced, at the same time serving all alike, remembering all the while that my first obligation is to the taxpayers of the District and State.

The Jeep Station Wagon

Willys-Overland Motors "surprise of the year" is the new Jeep Station Wagon which is now in mass production. The vehicle is powered by an improved 63 HP jeep engine, has a 104 inch wheel-base, seats 7 adults, and has an all-steel body. Designed to fill the need for an all-around car which rides with passenger car comfort and can, with seats removed, be used as a light transport, the vehicle is meant for people who never seriously considered a station wagon before. With generous carrying space, it is a utility car for farm or business use. The aspen-grained masonite interior makes cleaning easy after utility use while the steel body eliminates varnish upkeep costs, essential with the traditional wooden station wagon.

Points of Interest About the Social Security Program

Upon the death of a worker who paid social security taxes, his next of kin should check with the nearest Social Security Board office. The widow and children may be eligible for payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

If you would like to have a new free booklet which explains Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance under the Social Security Act, write to the Social Security Board, 426 Nixon Building, Corpus Christi, Texas. Ask for booklet No. 35.

Some employees who have moved seem to think it is compulsory to secure a duplicate account number card from the office where they secured the original card. The facts are that any field office of the Social Security Board will be glad to accept an application for a duplicate and thereby save the applicant time and expense in wiring or writing back to the office where the original was issued. Post offices can furnish the address of the nearest office of the Social Security Board.

Every holder of a social security card who reaches age 65, and the closest relative of a card holder who dies at any age, should get in touch with the nearest office of the Social Security Board to avoid possible loss of Federal insurance payments which may be due.

Any wage earner who would like to have a statement of the wage credits in his social security account may secure a self-addressed post card which was prepared for that purpose. There is no charge except for the one-cent postage stamp. The cards should be requested from the Social Security Board, Corpus Christi.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: A suit for divorce for-in-that-the cruel treatment of the plaintiff by the defendant herein has rendered their further living together insupportable.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said Court at office in Rockport, Texas, this the 20th day of July, A. D. 1946.

Attest: J. M. SPARKS, Clerk of the District Court, Aransas County, Texas. 11c17

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS

To: J. M. Doughty and Anna C. Hoxie, if living, and if any or all of the above named defendants be dead, the unknown heirs, administrators, executors, and, or legal representatives of each of all of the said above named persons who may be dead, and the unknown owner or owners of the land described in Plaintiff's Petition, and all persons owning or claiming any interest in and to the land described in Plaintiff's petition, Defendants, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court 36th Judicial District of Aransas County at the Court House thereof, in Rockport, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 2nd day of September, A. D. 1946, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1946, in this cause, numbered 2378 on the docket of said Court and styled Stanley Bryan Daggett Plaintiff vs. J. M. Doughty, et al Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: A suit to remove cloud from title, for title and possession as well as for damages on the following described property, to-wit: Lots 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, and 11, Block 28, Doughty and Mathis Division, City of Rockport, Aransas County, Texas, according to the Paul McComb's Map of said Block 28, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Rockport, Texas this the 16th day of July, A. D. 1946.

Attest: J. M. SPARKS, Clerk, District Court, 5c16 Aransas County, Texas.

The way some people boast of their ancestors you'd think they were first-class passengers on Noah's Ark, or HAD a boat of their own.

Early days in Texas are described by Mike Campbell of Stamford, well-known newspaperman: "My maternal grandparents settled at Dresden, Navarro County, in 1844, on land granted them by the Republic of Texas. Our family still has that old document with Anson Jones' signature. The settlers made annual trips to Houston, in wagons drawn by oxen, for supplies, usually taking two months to make the round trip. There was not a fence between Dresden and Houston, except rail and brush fences around small fields and corals.

"In those days, wild horses, cattle and wolves roved over the prairies. Prairie chickens were plentiful.

"My grandfather owned a slave who made all the shoes and boots. Cowhides were of the utmost use in the early days. They furnished shoes, harness, bull whips, chair bottoms and hinges for doors; and sometimes vessels for carrying water were made of leather.

"The Meltons were also early settlers in that section. Ethan Melton married my grandmother's sister. My great uncle, John Welch, told me of the Battle of San Jacinto, and the capture of Santa Anna. He related:

"Deaf Smith and I had been looking after some pack mules, and as we walked up to where General Houston lay, some of the boys led up a Mexican, dressed in the uniform of a private, facing the general. The Mexican made a sign with his hand and General Houston answered with his hand. About that time, some other Mexican prisoners exclaimed, 'El Presidente! El Presidente!' Then we knew we had a Santa Anna."

"Nestling in a little valley north of old Dresden lies the Melton cemetery, fringed with wild plum and persimmon thickets. There sleep pioneers, including my maternal grandparents. The song of the mockingbird may be heard in the stately elms but no more do the mournful howl of the timber wolf and the haunting notes of the horned owl boom out in the dark hours of the night. Yes, in North America, frontiers have vanished forever."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the many voters who supported me in my race for County Treasurer. I do regret that I didn't get around to see personally those of you who saw fit to support my opponent, but the first two weeks of July were taken up with making quarterly and annual reports and performing the duties of the office which I sought. This and the fact that my time has been occupied with plans for a new theatre prevented my making an extensive campaign.

The fine support I received in spite of this was very gratifying. ED BARNARD.

Veterans Advised to Complete Plans Now For Enrollment

Rockport veterans who plan to enter school or college this fall and do not have their Certificates of Eligibility are urged to apply for them now.

"A veteran must have his Certificate of Eligibility in hand when he enrolls for educational benefits provided by the Servicemen's Readjustment Act," according to Ray S. Carney, V. A. contact representative serving this locality, explained.

"My advice to veterans who want to enroll this fall," he continued, "is to get their certificates at any Veterans Administration Contact or Regional Office."

Each veteran who applies should have with him a full-sized photostatic copy of his discharge or certificate of service.

"The V. A. contact representative will help to get copies of marriage licenses and other papers free of charge for married veterans and veterans with dependents," Mr. Carney said.

"In any case, the veteran who wants to go to school should now go to his V. A. contact representative for assistance," Mr. Carney declared.

Paul Morrison and Family Visit With W. H. Morrison

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morrison and children, Paul Jr., Marjorie, and Richard, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Morrison and their families. They are from Midland, Texas, and were joined here by Paul Jr., who has just recently been released from the Navy. Marjorie will be a Sophomore at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth this fall. They went fishing several times, although they didn't have any large catches, they said they had a wonderful time. Paul Jr. will be a freshman at Texas A. & M. College this fall.

Fund; providing and insuring that each county shall never derive less revenue from motor registration fees than the maximum amounts and percentages of such fees allowed to be retained by each county under the laws in effect on January 1, 1945; negating any interpretation of this amendment as authorizing the pledging of the State's credit for any purpose; providing for the submission of this amendment to the voters of this State; prescribing the form of ballot; and providing for the proclamation of the election and the publication thereof.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as 7-a and to read as follows: "Section 7-a. Subject to legislative appropriation, allocation and direction, all net revenues remaining after payment of all refunds allowed by law and expenses of collection derived from motor vehicle registration fees, and all taxes, except gross production and ad valorem taxes, on motor fuels and lubricants used to propel motor vehicles over public roadways, shall be used for the sole purpose of acquiring rights-of-way, constructing, maintaining, and policing such public roadways, and for the administration of such laws as may be prescribed by the Legislature pertaining to the supervision of traffic and safety on such roads; and for the payment of the principal an interest on county and road district bonds or warrants voted or issued prior to January 2, 1939, and declared eligible prior to January 2, 1945, for payment out of the County and Road District Highway Fund under existing law; provided, however, that one-fourth (¼) of such net revenue from the motor fuel tax shall be allocated to the Available School Fund; and, provided, however, that the net revenue derived by counties from motor vehicle registration fees shall never be less than the maximum amounts allowed to be retained by each county and the percentage allowed to be retained by each county under the laws in effect on January 1, 1945. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as authorizing the pledging of the State's credit for any purpose." Section 2. TREASURE OF THE SEA

BY George E. Walsh W.N.U. Release

CHAPTER I

Such a small thing as a shrimp may save a man's life by putting new heart into him at a time when his digestive organs have ceased to function for lack of fuel.

Dick Jordan had reached the point of semi-starvation and physical exhaustion when lethal forgetfulness seemed the greatest boon to man— to drift off painlessly into a world of dreams and fancies that ends in death.

grim-lipped men, and weak-kneed passengers of both sexes who needed help to get them in the small boats.

Dick himself had helped women and children into the first boats, winning smiles of trust from the latter and glances of frightened approval from the former.

One of them was Pettigrew—Hen Pettigrew—whose whole life and training made him immune to fear and excitement.

Early in the confusion they had separated—Hen Pettigrew and Dick Jordan—for the exigency of the moment severed all conventional bonds.

His frail support that toyed of the waves for a moment—he scarcely knew raised his head for around his narrow un- before releasing his down into the green to receive him. It a despairing look of a the faculties flare a full intelligence, collapse.

"No, not in the same boat," came the unexpected reply.

When all but two of the boats had been cast off, and the sea was full of them, bobbing around like cockle-shells, he and Hen had come face to face—the only two passengers left aboard. Hen had looked at him, and nodded pleasantly.

"You've done well, Jordan," were his words. "Which boat do you want to go in?"

Dick was surprised into stammering by the question. Until then there had been no choice. He still considered himself Pettigrew's man; he had not thought of making a break for liberty.

"Why, the one you choose for me," he answered. "It makes no difference. Is there room for both of us?"

"No, not in the same boat," came the unexpected reply. "That's why I'm giving you a choice. You describe it—after this."

He waved his hand around to indicate his meaning.

Jordan was more astonished than ever. Pettigrew was eying him as a man, and not as an officer of the law; he even placed a hand familiarly on one shoulder.

"We're just man to man now, Jordan," he added. "We're not going to leave this ship together—can't, you know—captain's orders. You go your way, and I go mine. If we meet again—on shore—I'll pinch you. It's my duty. But just now we're— Well," laughing quietly, "friends, I guess. I don't mind calling you that. I wish you good luck! If you reach shore and I don't I wish—wish—"

Dick never knew what he intended to wish, for at that moment the harsh, grating voice of the first mate interrupted, and Jordan tumbled into one boat and Hen Pettigrew into another.

Almost instantly they were separated in the blackness of the night. Dick was free, in truth, then—not on probation. He had the whole world to roam so long as he didn't run afoul of Hen Pettigrew.

As they drifted through the darkness of the night, he smiled broadly, while the others sat and moaned or spoke in awed, frightened voices. Would they ever reach land? How far were they from the nearest shore? That was the burden of their conversation.

At first an effort was made to keep the boats together, but this was soon abandoned by the seamen.

collision in a rough sea.

In a couple of hours each boatload was a separate unit, dependent upon the skill and exertion of its own crew for safety, with no knowledge of what was happening to the others. The black pall of night descended upon them, obliterating the rest of the world, and circumscribing for them an existence bounded by the gunwales of the boat.

Jordan was not greatly surprised when the accident he had been anticipating came; it seemed the inevitable climax to their adventure, and unavoidable. A giant wave lifted them clear out of the water and upset the frail craft, rolling it over and over before allowing it to descend into the trough to be trampled upon by the mountain of surging green brine.

After that it was every man for himself. There was no further opportunity for team work or mutual co-operation. Dick Jordan found himself clinging to a few boards that had been in the bottom of the boat. It made an excellent raft for one, but hardly of use for two. In his eagerness to take full possession of it, a fat man climbed upon it, overreaching himself by his greediness.

The slender raft sunk out of sight, and when it finally came to the surface again the fat man was gone. Jordan retrieved it; clung to it; clutched it with both hands, refusing to yield his hold even when the waves rolled it over and over and buried him fathoms deep in the sea.

He had been three days on the raft before the will to live had finally cracked, and then, fortified by the raw food washed up to him by the mass of drifting seaweed, revived, and once more struggled to reassert itself over exhausted, tortured flesh.

It was a real sail that his red-rimmed eyes saw this time, but he refused to believe it for a long time, laughing at his own inconsistency in hoping and praying that it was not an optical illusion, and declaring in the same breath it could not be anything else. It was not only a real sail that he saw, but it was coming in his direction, bearing down upon him at a speed that quickly dispelled all doubts.

As the boat drew nearer, Dick made out its nondescript character from its sails. A two-masted lugger, quite common in the Caribbean for fishing and coasting, with lumpy hull and mildewed canvas, spotted like the coat of a leopard, it sloped along in the rough seas as if unwillingly propelled by a power that it could not resist.

Two-Masted Lugger Hoves in Sight

Long before any one aboard sighted Dick Jordan, he had studied the craft from stem to keel with greedy, anxious eyes, taking in everything from the clumsily bent topmasts to the ill-fitting jib that was forever shifting in the wind.

"Fishermen," he concluded, speaking his thoughts aloud. "I can't be far from land."

A moment later, when the lugger acted as if about to change her course, he raised his free hand and shouted with all the strength he could muster. Even at that distance, it seemed almost miraculous that they heard or saw him; but keen eyes had been scanning the sea closely, looking for just such derelicts. It was their business to pick up flotsam and jetsam of the ocean on the chance of finding a prize.

His cry brought several black faces to the port rail, and Jordan's former conclusion that the lugger was a native fishing craft seemed confirmed by the appearance of the crew. They were swarthy Caribs, an ancient type weakened and diluted by the blood of pure Negroes. A burly half-breed, with the white part of him showing in his straight hair and mottled complexion, seemed to be in command, for the order came from him to heave the lugger up in the wind and lower a boat.

Twenty minutes later Dick sat on the dirty, ill-smelling deck of the vessel, greedily eating and drinking food and liquid that under ordinary circumstances would have repelled him; but nature's cravings had to be satisfied, and it was no time to be critical. The crew formed a half circle around him, with Captain Tucu, the half-breed skipper, and Black Burley, the lugger's mate, in the immediate foreground. They were inspecting him with something more than curiosity—with greed and avariciousness, Dick thought, but he could not exactly translate it in words.

Captain Tucu had an evil, sinister face that in repose was hard and sullen, as if the white blood in him was silently protesting the injustice of the trick played in mingling negro with it; in action it lighted up with a fierceness of either joy or anger that had an element of the fanatic's.

Can Fruits and Berries This Easy Way (See Recipes Below)

Fruits A-Plenty!

Among the most envied women the past few years were those with large stocks of their own canned fruit. Yes, commercially canned fruit has been a commodity during the war, and it's still scarce. If you plan now to do your canning, you'll be among the lucky home-makers when shortages really become acute during the fall and winter.

There are few pleasures greater for the cook than those jewel-like quarts and pints of luscious fruit on the pantry shelf. And besides, it's very easy to can fruit because they are acid and easy to preserve.

You have a choice of two preferred methods, and you are not limited to a pressure cooker in case that is causing you some worry. A hot water or boiling-water bath, as it's sometimes referred to (because the water must be kept bubbling merrily above the jars all during processing) is very adequate for canning fruits and tomatoes.

As you may know by trips to the store, you can buy one of those large kettles fitted with a rack and a cover to hold anywhere from four to six or even eight jars. If you don't want to buy a water-bath, you can rig one up yourself with a washboiler and a rack. Some women have even found lard pails satisfactory because they are deep enough to let the water come the required two inches above the jars, and still broad enough to take four pints or quarts easily, depending upon their height.

Selection Important. I can't stress too highly the importance of having the freshest possible produce for canning purposes. Perhaps it is best pointed out in this way. You know the rapidity with which fruit spoils as soon as it is picked. You also know how important it is to have unspoilable fruit placed in a can because it easily spoils when preserved if there are bacteria there that begin working. Blemish-free fruit will take less time to put in cans, and the chances of spoiling are cut down. Besides that, the appearance of the fruit is better.

LYNN SAYS:

Here are some canning pointers: To guide you in the approximate number of jars you should have, you'll want this guide. To make one quart of canned fruit you will need these amounts of fresh fruit:

2½ pounds of apricots; 1½ pounds of cherries; 2½ pounds of peaches; 2 to 2½ pounds of pears; 2 medium-sized pineapples; 1½ to 2 pounds of plums; 1½ pounds of rhubarb; and 3 to 3½ quarts of strawberries.

Always use the manufacturers' directions in fastening the cap as caps vary greatly in their use.

Here are fruits which may be cold-packed or hot-packed: apricots; berries; cherries; grapes; figs; peaches; pears; pineapple; plums; and rhubarb.

Freshly picked fruit and berries, young, tender and fully ripe, are the best ingredients for canning recipes. Under-ripe fruit does not have mellow flavor, and over-ripe fruit will be mushy. That's why the "prime condition" of fruit is so important.

Look out for bruised spots, signs of decay and other injuries. All these things have a great bearing on the quality of your final canned fruit.

Making the Syrup.

Fruit may be canned in just plain water, but if you have any sugar at all (those extra canning stamps for sugar!) make a syrup, even if a very thin one for canning fruit. The syrup mellows them and brings out true flavor.

Here are some proportions for the lighter syrups which are popular this year:

Light: 1 cup sugar, ¾ cups water.

Moderately light: 1 cup sugar, 2 cups water.

Medium: 1 cup sugar, 1½ cups water.

To make the syrup, combine the sugar and water and allow to boil for 5 minutes, without stirring. Remove from heat and use to fill jars. You may use ¾ to 1 cup syrup for each quart jar.

If desired, juice may be extracted from fruits and berries by crushing, heating and straining. No sugar is needed. Use it as you would syrup.

In making syrup, one-half cup syrup may be used with one-half sugar. Honey may also be used, but it does darken the fruit and emphasize the flavor.

Methods of Packing.

Fruits may be cold-packed for canning prior to processing. This means that raw fruit is packed cold into the jars, then processed in the boiling-water bath or pressure cooker. This is suitable for many fruits and berries, and is usually used by women who have a lot of canning to do.

The hot-pack method is sometimes used for fruits. This means pre-cooking the fruits in the syrup a short time before packing in the jars and processing.

The open kettle method gives beautiful fruit, but is not often used today because there is too much danger of contaminating the fruit after it is cooked and transferred to the jars. In this method the fruit is cooked thoroughly in an open kettle in the syrup and then placed in the jars and sealed.

How to Outbluff a VICIOUS DOG at night!

...as recommended by Lt. Comdr. Willy Necker, Wheeling, Ill.—noted dog trainer and judge at dog shows...and wartime head of U. S. Coast Guard War Dog Training.

1 The fact that 999 dogs out of a thousand are friendly, safe and lovable doesn't alter the fact that occasionally—through mistreatment, neglect or disease—a dog may turn vicious.

2 Such animals are dangerous. Especially at night! If cornered outdoors, at night, turn on your "Eveready" flashlight! Shine it directly at the dog's eyes, to blind and perhaps bewilder him. He may leap at the light, however; so don't hold it in front of you. Hold it at arm's length to the side. Most important...

3 Keep still. It's instinctive with most animals to attack anything that runs away or moves aggressively. If the dog refrains from attacking for a few seconds, you have probably won—but, if not, protect your throat. Use flashlight as club. Shout! If bitten, see a doctor as soon as possible.

4 For bright light, white light, effective light—insist on "Eveready" batteries. Your dealer now has them. Ask for them by name. For "Eveready" batteries have no equal—that's why they're the largest-selling flashlight batteries in the world. Yet their extra light, extra life, cost you nothing extra!

TREASURE OF THE SEA

By George E. Walsh

The "City of Bahia" struck a reef in the Caribbean during a storm and went down. This was Dick Jordan's chance! Dick was being brought back by Hen Pettigrew to pay his debt to society. Hen had followed him half way around the world.

Pettigrew, also, was among the few saved from the wrecked steamer, but they were on different boats and Jordan hoped he would never see Pettigrew again. But he did. Before running into Pettigrew he fell in—and out—with pirates, fought many a bitter battle, fell in love with Rose Bedford, captain of a derelict, and demeaned himself as honorably and bravely as any could have done under the circumstances.

Here is a saga of the sea in which no quarter is asked and none given. Thrilling from beginning to end.

Johnson Will Expand Drug Store Soon

Joe Johnson has announced that he is planning to enlarge his drug store to use the space vacated by Hunt's Barber Shop, just as soon as he can obtain the necessary materials and equipment.

He says that he plans to enlarge his fountain and table service so that the store will have a seating capacity of about fifty people.

Correction—

The Pilot erroneously stated last week that Lloyd Lassiter had located and carried the body of De la Santos out of the reservoir. It has been brought to the attention of The Pilot that one of De la Santos playmates located his body and that there were three or four of the firemen present and that they all aided in carrying the body out of the pool.
