As a high-class sportsman in every way and a real lover of baseball, winning a major league pennant became one of Yawkey's obsessions years ago. Money was never a barrier along the pennant road. It is estimated that the Red Sox spring that the Red Sox would be good, the Yankees and the Tigers were also in the pennant-race picture. The Yankees with Joe Di-Maggio, Charlie Keller, Tommy Henrich, Joe Gordon, Phil Ruzzuto, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Bill Dickey, Nick Etten, Johnny Lindell and Spud Chandler shaped up as a formidable looking outfit on both attack and defense. The Tigers, too, looked dangerous.

Many Uncertainties

The Red Sox at the time had several gambles to face; at first, at third, and their pitching staff. They had Tex Hughson and Boo Ferris, but the others were uncertainties, just as Yankee pitchers were outside of Chandler. You can un- They "dig a bit into the annals derstand, during those March days of history" for indication of what's at Sarasota, on the west coast of Florida, why Tom Yawkey should have been a trifle on the jittery side. Tom was-but Joe Cronin wasn't, although Joe knew this had to be his year. Cronin refused to make any predictions beyond saying this: "We've got a good ball club. We'll give anybody a battle."

I Now past the midsummer spot with a long lead and the best ball club, you would feel that Tom Yawkey at least should be able to take a deep, free breath and relax.

In baseball's greatest year, so far as attendance and public interest goes, with something close to an allstar team in one corral, every one connected with the Red Sox should be able to stand up and sing "Just around the corner there's a rainbow in the sky," or "Happy days are here again."

All of Boston, outside of the Yawkey office, are humming these cheerful tunes. After all Boston, one of the cradles of baseball, has gone 28 years without a pennant, Boston kept looking back these 28 years to the days of Long, Lowe and Tenney, Kid Nichols, Hugh Duffy, Big Bill Dineen, Smoky Joe Wood, Carrigan, Speaker, George ("Duffy") Lewis, Hooper, including George Stallings' miracle Braves of

If Tom Yawkey had been owner of the Red Sox around 1919 or 1920. Boston would have dominated the game through the next decade, not the Yankees. For Yawkey would have kept Ed Barrow, one of the smartest men baseball has ever known. He would have kept Babe Ruth, Red Ruffing and Pennock and many others-and to these he would have added the best ball players a few millions of dollars could buy. This shows you what an owner means to a major league club.

Harry Frazee, a theatrical, not a baseball man, wrecked the Red Sox for at least 10 years. It has taken Tom Yawkey another 10 years to sweep away the debris and replace the damage. Spectacular Development of AAF Recalled at Anniversary

Developed from a three-man division without an airplane in 1907 into a destructive force unparalleled in history, army air forces celebrated its 39th anniversary August 1 with a new watchword, "Air Power Is Peace Power."

At its wartime peak in March, 1944, army air forces had grown to 2,383,000 officers and men, 64,591 planes, including 41,848 combat planes which flew 108,015,909 hours during four years of war and dropped more than 2,000,000 tons of bombs in crushing the Axis war machine. But the big planes of World War II are on their way out of the air picture and the AAF rapidly is converting to jet-propelled aircraft to, defend the security of "Americas best insurance against a future war is an adequate alert air force," Commanding General Carl Spaatz said, in calling on the nearly 2,000,000 veterans of air actions all over the world and the 400,000 air force men to observe the anniversary occasion. Some interesting and little known facts about army air forces are

Every airplane used in Europe prior to V-E Day was designed in this country before Pearl Harbor. From 1903 to 1940 the U.S. built only 40,000 planes but from 1940 through V-J Day, 295,000 were constructed. For every soldier in the air force, there was a civilian working in an aircraft plant.

First Bomb in 1911. AAF planes consumed 10,000,000,-000 gallons of gasoline during the war. In all of 1944 not one aircraft was grounded for lack of fuel.

Total air power blitz of the AAF during the war included more than 2,000,000 tons of bombs and two atom bombs dropped and 459,750,000 bullets fired. First AAF bomb was heaved overboard by hand in 1911. It was an 18-pound "blockbuster."

On August 28, 1939, three days before Germany set off World War II by invading Poland, the AAF was regularly using 69 bases. Fifty months later in January, 1944, it had 1,400 bases, of which 800 were overseas. Almost 20,000,000 tons of AAF supplies were sent out of the country during the war-enough to fill a warehouse 75 feet wide with the front door in Washington, D. C., and the back door in Philadelphia.

New AAF developments now permit test pilots to check jet planes safely. The plane is put through its paces while the pilot stays on the ground. The secret is remote control and television. The U. S. spent more money developing radar than was spent on the atom

More than 42,000 WACs served in the AAF, 7,000 of whom were overseas in 21 different countries; 1,600 chaplains were on duty in the AAF at all times. Of the 282 Congressional Medals of Honor awarded during the war, 34 were won by members of the AAF.

Compare Records.

The World War I air force had 35 pilots, 1,087 enlisted men, 55 training planes, 7 tactical squadrons -with a balloon school at Fort Omaha, Neb. Eight World War I aces are credited with downing 10 or more enemy planes or balloons; 29 World War II aces shot down 18 or more planes, no balloons.

First round-the-world trip by an army plane took 174 days in 1924. It took an air transport command plane 151 hours in 1945. It's a small world, with the men and planes of the army air forces a strong bulwark in making it a world of peace and guarding America's future.

Farms Homes Factories

By EDWARD EMERINE WNU Feature,

A balance has been struck In Wisconsin where the happiest combination of farm and factory has been found!

The state is rural in appearance, its industry so widespread that it is never far from a dairy barn to a factory door. The truck and garden plot, the orchard and the country home are but a step from the gears of industry. In Wisconsin, the neighborliness and friendliness of the small town is never lost. The milk of human kindness is never evaporated in the fiery ovens of a factory. A great industrial state, with more factories and mills than you can count, Wisconsin remains the land of milk cows, cheese, butter, apples -and more milk cows!

Everything grown in the north temperate zone is produced in Wisconsin in grains, vegetables and fruits. So varied is its agriculture that the state produces corn, wheat, rye, barley, hay, flaxseed, potatoes, sugar beets, tobacco (for cigar wrappers), hops, peas, sorghum and maple syrup. More peas are canned there than in any other state, and more hemp is raised. The state ranks high in cranberry production and also produces apples, cherries, plums and other fruits. Wisconsin remains a leader in the number of facilities. Steamboats ply the Misdairy cows, in cheese production sissippi and other rivers. Lake ships and in the output of condensed milk products.

To give Illinois an outlet on resembles? Certainly the second the Great Lakes, the boundary was Mrs. Bogart would have been a moved northward and Chicago was lost. MARK-UP OF FOREIGN MONIES COMPLICATES OUR PROBLEMS WASHINGTON. - The Swedes have made the krona more costly to us. It is worth 27 cents plus, now, instead of 23 cents plus. The Canadians did the same thing. Their dollar has been marked equal to ours, instead of 90 cents, as formerly. To whatever extent the rest of the world follows suit, its money will go up in value and ours will go down. Theoretically it can buy more goods here, but only theoretically, because actually our prices have gone up more than the 10 per cent increased value of the foreign

An item from South Africa tells the inside tale. It says American goods were being bought there in quantities hitherto unknown-until the OPA price ceilings went off, but since then purchases have been limited. Do we want them to fill their shops with goods (as they report) when we are short? Well, we want to increase our world trade. But can we do this with shortages? Of such considerations is the character of our confusion.

Really it is worse. Today we are proving we can have inflation with a balanced budget.

BIGGEST PEACETIME BUDGET The main business of this adjourning congress has been its least widely reported aspect. It was of Greece up through Berlin. We charged with appropriating money for Mr. Truman's unprecedented 000,000. The house trimmed sharply but the senate put most of the France, the Low Countries and money back in the bills, as is the custom. In the end Mr. Truman will get appropriations for this peacetime fiscal year (which began July 1) that are roughly four times and more, greater than what Mr. Roosevelt ever spent. The highest Roosevelt expenditures in prewar was $9,665,000,000 in 1940, when he took in nearly $6,000,000,000. In his whole administration he roughly took in half of what he spent, which was thought to be inflationary, although it never got prices up. The spending is largely for army and navy, along with increases in peacetime activities of government. However, Mr. Truman is approaching a balanced budget at this spending level. Wartime taxes have not been reduced materially, for fear of the big debt, so he will take in this year around or upwards of $35,000,000,000. (Retiring Budget Director Smith calculated the figure at $39,500,000,000, which is $8,000,-000,000 more than the January budget estimated.) Agitation thus has begun here for a real tax reduction. but some authorities want to retire the debt instead. In the war we roughly took in half what was spent, er about $46,400,000,000 in 1945,

while spending $100,400,000,000. INFLATION IS HERE

In the face of this promised stability for the first time in 16 years, we have inflation. It is a real inflation, due to a shortage of goods in the presence of widespread buying power. The administration has figured it would stop the inflation as soon as it obtained production. but we are not getting production, and business estimates it will be three to five years before it can take eare of accumulated demand, not calculating the increase in consumer demand which has developed from the presence of widespread buying power. To add to the deterrents of strikes, slowdowns, governmental mismanagement, famine relief, the absence of a foreign trade policy, cheapening money, sensationally high prices and no real. peace, along with pitifully insufficient production—the OPA was sharply modified ahead of time.

Can we get out of it? Yes, but only by shrewd management. By this I mean constructive management of overall policy, as well as detailed affairs.

Obviously we are entering a period in which there will be no "normal." It is a previously uncharted period. We are in inflation. Instead of "fearing inflation," as officialdom verbally does (and then shoots wages up, then prices, and next can reassemble without a special wages again), it must recognize we are in it. If we get production, and prices start to decline, we will recognize that the era in which we now are was a period of unprecedented inflation. In a word, the government has started the toboggan. The question now is: can it be stopped? Can it be stabilized? It has reached a new level. Can this be kept?

CLEAR-CUT PURPOSES Certainly no satisfactory foreign trade agreement can be made loosely on such development as congressional approval of the $4,000,000,000 British loan (which really cancels nearly $25,000,000,000 of lend lease although this figure was never mentioned in connection with that action). To make a foreign trade policy, you would have to create full management for it, management over goods and prices, as well as currencies.

Such controls would be intolerable and unworkable in peacetime.

Eternal 'No' Is Typical of Russians

Soviet Assistance Termed America's 'Great Mistake'

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., | lieve his somewhat verbose Boswell, Washington, D. C.

An army officer, back from a long tour of duty in Germany, called on me the other day. He was pretty grim about the situation in Europe and into every few minutes of his conversation crept the word "Russia." "I like to talk about America's great mistake," he said. "Germany is supposed to have lost the war by making mistakes; by attacking Russia, by not invading England after Dunkirk, by this and by that. I contend that America's great mistake was not staying out of Europe until Germany had licked Russia. I mean staying out | in every way. Because without American supplies Russia would have been beaten.' I reminded him of the fact that America wanted a short war, that we had opposed Churchill's plan for attacking Europe through the Balkans and thereby obtaining possession of the trouble-making strip of territory which the Russians now dominate from the northern border wanted to shorten the war by leaving the eastern front to Russia while peacetime budget of nearly $40,000,- the western allies smashed the German power entrenched in Italy. Thus, millions of American lives would be (and were) saved.

> Churchill Foresaw Balkan Influence

Churchill probably foresaw the difficulties which would arise with a Russia able to expand her influence up to the fringes of western Europe. Roosevelt believed that an old Kalmuck custom. Mother the war must be won quickly and he thought that by giving the Rus- the days of the invasion of Ghengis sians everything they asked for in Khan, that when a stranger beckthe way of military support their ons, the only answer is "no, no, a suspicions would be removed and thousand times nol" In fact, a that they would play ball with the Russian seldom says "no" once-it Allies in the peace and after. Mr. Butcher, in his 900-page diary. Butcher writes:

"Ike said he felt that . . . the more contact we have with the Russians the more they will understand us and the greater will be their cooperation. The Russians are blunt and forthright in their dealings and any evasiveness arouses their suspicions. It should be possible to work with Russia if we follow the same pattern of friendly co-operation that has resulted in the great accord of allied unity. . . ."

Roosevelt and the generals were proved right when they said Stalin needed peace. But they were wrong when they thought he would come around. The state department understands the situation now and, as the recently concluded meeting of the foreign ministers demonstrates, appeasement has been over for some time. We know Russia can't fight and doesn't want to. Russia knows we can't fight whether we want to or not. She is acting accordingly and according to historical precedent.

Tragic History Inspires 'No-Ism'

But anyone who studies Russian history knows that the eternal "no" which seems about the only answer the Russian statesmen are allowed to make, comes from something far deeper than mere stubbornness. This "no-ism" is only one of the many typical characteristics which the Soviets have revealed. It has nothing to do with the fact that they believe in a theory of political economy which is opposed to our own. which is Russian rather than merely Soviet or Communist.

tions are a thousandfold more difficult to assess

As congress battled over the tattered remains of the price control law, many a congressman who thoroughly detested the whole set-up began to worry a little as to what might happen back home if he were held partially responsible for wrecking the agency.

It was all right for the representatives of farm communities. The farmer would reap the reward of higher prices first. By the time he felt the effect of higher prices on the things he had to buy, OPA probably would be forgotten. But congressmen from industrial centers were in quite a different position. These communities are heard from the moment the missus encounters a markup at the corner grocery. That is the reason that a number of Republicans supported the administration stand on OPA. If the Republican party is to capture the house of representatives next November, it will have to pick up votes in the cities.

Congress Scans

Types of Closing

It took some time for congress to make up its mind whether it would adjourn "sine die" (without date set for reconvening), as they usually do when a session comes to an end, or whether they would "recess." When congress merely recesses it proclamation by the President.

When the President calls congress into session he has to issue a proclamation. That's all the Constitution demands. He doesn't have to deliver it. Out of courtesy, however, the White House always telegraphs the president of the senate and the speaker of the house.

But the proclamation is not good unless the Great Seal of the United States is affixed thereunto. Nobody can do that but the secretary of state, for he is the keeper of the seal. So along with the proclamation, the President has to issue a warrant, ordering the secretary of state to do the affixing.

I might say that the secretary of state usually delegates this task, which reminds me of a story, which, I believe, never has been printed. When Secretary of State Hull had was accounted for by spending of tures were reported as 572 billion been in office 12 years, there was a individuals and corporations, the dollars.

Whatever one may think of the | President Roosevelt, as they were intricacy of the economic theory be- talking privately, remarked: "Corhind the OPA, its political implica- | dell, you are the sole guardian of the great seal, as you know." He paused, and Mr. Hull replied: "Yes, Mr. President." Then the President, looking him straight in the eye, asked: "Where is it?"

It was Hull's turn to pause. "I don't know," he admitted, "I've never seen it."

Barbers to Boost Vocabulary Too

It is probably fitting that along with the dollar haircut which has made its appearance in metropolitan barber-shops, we may find the barber presenting us four-dollar words. Barbers long have been known for the quality of their verbal output and in some cases for the quality as well. Now they may have a chance really to reach the heights, for the leader of a barber's union has offered to "enlist the aid of 10,000 barbers" in a campaign to get some of the facts of atomic life across to the customer.

. . . Officials of the airlines have instructed their stewardesses to translate, for curious passengers, the name "Grand Teton," tall peaks in Idaho, as "Sweater Girl Mountains." That's what Business Week people are not adopting babies in Greece as they did in prewar days. About 14 a week come to the foundlings' home in Athens, some left on the steps of the home, like the one the nurse is taking at left, while others are put into the foundling box at the gate, where Dr. Anastasios Goulios, right, is looking for new arrivals.

Even as Bikini reverberated with the explosion of the second atomic bomb test in the Pacific, Russia turned thumbs down on the U.S. proposal for international control of the atomic energy.

Gromyko also rapped the proposal for establishing an independent agency for the control of atomic energy, declaring that the U.N. seto deal with the problem.

Back in Business

No sooner had President Truman signed the compromise OPA bill extending the agency until June 30, 1947, than it swung into action to stabilize the national economy, which strained with the removal of controls.

Passed after the President had vetoed an earlier bill, the compromise measure contained many provisions designed to assure both producers and distributors of adequate working margins. However, it modified the original Taft amendment, which Mr. Truman charged would allow manufacturers unwarranted profits, by setting up ceilings based on 1940 prices plus increased costs.

About a century ago a group of business men borrowed $200,000 and incorporated the Central Pacific railroad. Then they used the 200Gs to bribe congressmen to steal railroad franchises. TREASURE OF THE SEA

BY George E. Walsh

W.N.U. Release

Adrift on a raft for four days, Dick Jordan is almost unconscious from hunger and thirst when he scoops a few shrimps from the water and regains his interest in living. He had been on a steamer bound from a South American port to the United States, in custody of Hen Pettigrew, who was returning him to prison. They became separated when the steamer sank. Dick's lifeboat went down and only he survived. Dick sights a sail on the horizon. The ship comes up and takes him aboard. Captain of the dirty little ship is Tucu, an evil-looking halfbreed. The others of the crew are Caribs. Dick fears they are little better than pirates.

CHAPTER II

Dick concluded that he would be a hard customer to deal with, and it would be much better to court his friendship than to provoke his en-

Black Burley, the mate, was nearly as tall and powerful as the skipper, but his black shiny face and Carib Negro.

While he was eating and drinking, Captain Tucu grunted and broke the silence.

"Where'd y' drift from?" he asked gruffly, his words singularly free from the taint of his black ancestor's dialect.

"From the City of Bahia wrecked four days ago," Dick replied, wiping his mouth. "Struck something in the storm, reef or another ship, and went down in half an hour. Four hundred people aboard-men, women and little children. I was in the last boat that left her, and we capsized-Glory! it was awful!"

He closed his eyes an instant as if to shut out the memory of it. When he opened them again, Captain Tucu was asking eagerly:

plied Dick, "and they were filled with people.' The half-breed nodded his head in a dialect that Dick could not translate. "Where was this steamer?" demanded Tucu, turning suddenly to Dick. "What latitude?" Dick Jordan shook his head. "I don't know. I'm not a sailor." The skipper's face clouded with disappointment, and an ugly scar eross his left cheek showed red, nottled with white. Dick did not like the looks of it. "Carib renegades," he reasoned to himself. "Sea scavengers-half Carib brothers. fishermen, half pirates. They'd kill me without batting an eyelash if it suited their purpose." He glanced past the semi-circle of black faces and he saw the wide, heaving, limitless sea. The shock of being adrift upon it for another period awakened his mind from its dull lethargy. He had to stay aboard the lugger until they reached shore or met another ship. He smiled craftily, and spoke slowly.

"Wait a minute, captain! Come to think of it, I'm wrong. I heard the wireless operator calling for help and giving the steamer's position. I'm something of a wireless expert myself. It was-it was-"

He hesitated and cocked his head sideways in the attitude of one recalling something that eluded his memory. "I got it," he added a moment later. "It was North latitude 13-and 80 or 81-yes, that must have been the longitude-80 or 81."

To Dick's surprise, Captain Tucu broke in abruptly: "The Roncador Bank!"

Black Burley nodded his head, and rumbled: "We can make it in

From One Danger Into Another

Roncador Bank was a mystery to Dick. They seemed to know where that was. Perhaps, after all, that was the explanation of the queer accident. The City of Bahia had struck the reef in the night of the storm and foundered as a result of

"If I can make myself of service to them, they will keep me." Dick mused to himself. "Therefore, I must make myself indispensable. But how?"

"If I sail with them, I'll know too much-find out things they'll want to keep secret. Therefore, I'll be no better off in the end than now. They'll never put me ashore. On some dark night, I'll disappear, un-

His mind stopped abruptly. He was jolted out of his reverie by the shadow of the skipper in front of him. When he looked up, however, he was smiling in spite of the shock. "You rescued me in the nick of time, captain," he said pleasantly. "Another hour in the water, and I'd been done for. I'm mighty grateful."

Captain Tucu nodded, but made no comment. Dick felt that his fate was hanging by a slender thread. The indecision on the other's face was menacing; but the smile never faded from Dick's lips. He continued easily:

"When we get to the spot where the steamer went down, I may help you find something of value."

The captain's face grew sudden- it?"

greedy and eager. "What's ! that?" he demanded, stepping near-

"Smuggling, you know," Dick went on, feeling his way carefully, "isn't a lost art. It's still practiced."

He winked and grinned, with the intent of simulating special knowledge. Tucu stepped closer and scowled, but behind the scowl was an eager expectancy.

"Y'was smugglin'?" he demanded, thrusting his face close to Dick's.

"That isn't a fair question, is it, captain?" laughed Jordan. "If I confessed to it you could-couldoh, well," he added, shrugging his shoulders, "I guess you wouldn't arrest me-not if we divided the stuff!" he winked again, anxious at heart but on the surface smiling and complacent. Would the man fall for the bait?

his eyes. But he was slow and crafty-not child-like as his half

"What is it?" he grumbled, checking his impatience. "Why specify?" retorted Dick, half rising. "It's enough that it's valuable-a rich haul."

A gleam of anger shot from the other's eyes. To pacify him, Dick added:

"I picked them up in South America at a big bargain. If I get them in the United States, they'll be worth -worth-well, I can't get them through. The City of Bahia's gone to the bottom. So, of course, the jewels were lost, too."

Captain Tucu interrupted with an "Y'left" 'em aboard!" he growled. "Y' didn't have sense enough to save 'em?"

Dick's Proposition Interests Tucu

"Hold on, captain! If you're going to cuss me for a fool. I'll shut up, and you'll never get a sight of the jewels. I said they'd gone down with the steamer. Wouldn't that be the natural conclusion of their owners when they heard of the foundering of the City of Bahia? For all I | Changes Plans know every mother's son aboard, except me, was lost. You couldn't expect me to save smuggled goods under such circumstances, could you? That lets me out as an agent

He smiled craftily, watching the expression of the half-breed's face and eyes. He was following himnibbling at the bait. Dick drew an unconscious sigh of relief.

"They didn't go down then?" snapped Tucu. "Ye-ye-got 'em?" Dick chuckled at his eagerness. "If I had them," he said easily, "you could take them. There's all I brought away with me."

He pointed to the collection of the things from his pockets he had spread out in the sun to dry. The skipper scowled in perplexity. His face assumed crafty suspicion, as he turned upon Dick with an ugly

"If y'know where they are," he said slowly, "ye'd keep a whole skin by tellin' me. I ain't wastin' time talkin'. Y'know where they are?"

"Sure, captain-or pretty near it," smiled Dick impudently. "I put them overboard with a string attached to 'em-and a float to the end. Reckon I could pick up that float."

He grinned, allowing time for the information to sink in the other's brain, and then continued glibly: "It's an old trick, of courseold as smuggling-but it generally works. I had 'em ready to chuck through the porthole when we reached the Jersey coast-expected to get the signal some dark night from a motorboat. Easy, wasn't

Captain Tucu was glaring at him with greedy eyes, his flat nostrils dilated to their full expansion. The mottled complexion of his face changed like the shifting of a chameleon.

"When the steamer struck," added Dick lightly, glancing seaward, "my first thought was of those precious gems. If left in the stateroom they'd go down with the steamer. If chucked out in time there was a chance to salvage them. So," nodding, "I let 'em go."

"Where was this?" asked Tucu, struggling to appear calm. "Near the Roncador Bank?"

Dick laughed, a bit insolently, and shrugged his shoulders. "I won't tell you, captain," Dick continued quietly, "unless we can come to some sort of a bargain."

"What bargain y' want?" asked the other slowly, checking his an-

"Half interest-no, three quarters. You should be satisfied with that." "An' if not?"

"You don't get anything. If I'm killed or found missing suddenly the jewels will remain a plaything for the fishes.'

"We could find the float by cruisin' around," replied the Carib, smiling cratfily.

Dick laughed again. "Not in a year of Sundays," he replied. "You don't think I'd make that float so anybody'd spot it, and pick it up? I'm too old at the game. I'd give you ten chances, captain, if you were within fifty feet of it. Why, a float that looks like a fish or bird or even a jelly-fish could pass you a dozen times without exciting your suspicion.

Dick could see that his bait was swallowed now, hook, sinker and line. Captain Tucu became suddenly amiable. He grinned good-naturedly. "We'll go shares," he said. "Is it a bargain?"

"Sure, if you play straight-onequarter to you, and the rest to meno double-crossing."

"Never double-crossed a friend," was the purring reply. "Come in the cabin an' talk about it. Mebbe we get those jewels afore night."

Later that day one of the Caribs forward called attention to something on the horizon. Tucu seized a pair of old sea-glasses and inspected it in silence for a few moments. Then handing them to Black Burley, he grunted: "What d'ye make o' it?"

The mate gave a short squint, and exclaimed: "A schooner wrecked!"

"Yes, it's a derelict. We can pick her up before dark."

Dick, listening and drew a sigh of relief. If they had polyps de discovered a floating derelict, they eons of t would sail out of their course to sand bas overhaul her. That would give him | crashing a respite of a few hours, or perhaps atomic another night and day.

He heard with pleasure the or- land. ders to alter the course of the lugger to bring her in direct line with the derelict.

Captain Tuck and Black Burley were aroused to keen excitement. A derelict on the high sea might mean much to them. If abandond hastily by her crew, the pickings might be of great value. There was the cargo to consider, if not waterif in the excitement of leaving they had not taken them away, Finally, there was always the possibility of salvaging the hull, and towing it into some port to sell to the highest this no bidder, if the original owners didn't make a stiff offer for it.

Derelict Schooner

Altogether, it was not an unprofitable business. It paid sometimes ship better than out and out piracy. At mai such times the sea scavengers kept taxi strictly within the laws. They knew the laws of sea salvage by heart.

When the derelict finally assumed definite shape to the naked eye, Dick became absorbed in studying it. She was not waterlogged; neither was she battered and broken below decks. Most of the damage seemed to be in the sails and rigging.

This fact had not escaped the keen eyes of the skipper of the lugger, and the nearer they approached the more promising appeared the prize they had picked up.

Then came a sudden guttural cry from one of the crew, followed by wild gesticulations and a pointing hand. There, standing in the rigging, waving and nodding at them was an old man, hatless and nearly shirtless, with bushy whiskers flor ping up and down in the breeze. first they could hear no sounds con ing from his lips, but with a slig h change in the wind the voice ca ried to them.

For the most part it selemed the wild, incoherent gibberish of one demented, "Ahoy there, mates!" it called. "What, ship is that? I pon't recognize her! Never mind, come come aboard! This is the Betty of New London-sound of timber and fast | Capt. Shields Warren, radiological of heels-makin' twenty knots an hour. Come aboard if y'can catch us! Throw me line while I luft dition from burns. Four goats, all

Here's Meat for Your Table (See Recipes Below)

Choice Ways with Meat

The large amounts of cattle butchered recently mean more meat on your table and for many of us, it will mean rounding up those Biki lagoon delectable, mouth-watering recipes that make meat so good to eat. There's not meat to waste, but you'll be able to find a variety of cuts with which I'd suggest you do your very best. Cook it carefully so as not to shrink it or dry it out. Season it well and you'll give the family something to cheer about. First we'll start off with some very flavorful beef recipes. One uses sour cream which will make rich, delicious gravy along with the meat, and the other uses good seasonings which will do the most for the cut of meat. *Swiss Steak in Sour Cream.

(Serves 6 to 8) 3 pounds round steak (2 inches thick)

Flour, salt, pepper, fat 2 onions, sliced 1/2 cup water 1/2 cup sour cream

2 tablespoons grated cheese % teaspoon paprika Dredge steak with flour and season with salt and pepper. Brown on both sides in hot fat. Add remaining ingredients, cover pan closely and simmer slowly until meat is tender, about 21/2 hours. Beef a la Mode. (Serves 10) 5 pounds beef rump roast

1/4 pound fat salt pork Pepper I clove garlic, chopped

Salt, cayenne, flour 2 onions, sliced 4 tablespoons bacon drippings 1 bay leaf

1 sprig parsley 3 carrots sliced 1 turnip, sliced 14 cup boiling water

Cut deep gashes in beef. Slice salt pork very thin, rub with pepper and place in gashes of meat. Rub meat with garlic, salt and cayenne and dredge with flour. Brown onions in bacon drippings, remove onions and place meat in kettle. Place onions, bay leaf and parsley over the meat. Cover and cook slowly until well browned on one side. Turn and brown on other sides. Add vegetables and cook until well browned. Add boiling water, cover closely and simmer for 3 hours or longer, adding more water if necessary. Serve meat with vegetables and gravy.

You should be able to find plenty of pork on the market, and there's no more tempting way of preparing pork chops than with apple stuffing. Here's how it's done:

LYNN SAYS:

Pan-Broiling Meat: If you don't have a broiler and want to broil meats, use a heavy, pre-heated frying pan. Do not use any fat in the pan, except when broiling ground meat. Brown meat in the hot pan on both sides. Season only after it is browned, otherwise the salt will draw out the rich juices.

Never add water or cover the pan for pan broiling. The idea is to make it as close to oven broiling as possible.

When meat is browned, turn down the heat to finish cooking. Turn occasionally to cook evenly, and keep pouring off the fat as it accumulates so that the meat will broil rather than fry.

Lamb chops, small steaks, chops and meat patties are excellent when prepared by this meth-

Pork Chops With Apple Stuffing.

1 slice salt pork, diced 1/2 cup bread or cracker crumbs 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley

3 tart apples, diced 1/4 cup chopped celery 1/4 cup chopped onion

1/4 cup sugar Salt and pepper

Have pork chops cut one to two inches thick, with a pocket cut from the inside. Fry salt pork until crisp, then add celery, and onion and cook until tender. Add diced apples, sprinkle with sugar and cover. Cook slowly until they have a glazed appearance. Add bread crumbs and season. Stuff into pocket of pork chops. Season chops with sali and pepper and brown on both sides in hot skillet. Reduce heat, add a few tablespoons water, cover and cook slowly until done, for about 11/4 hours.

(Serves 6) 1 head of cabbage 1 pound lamb, minced 2 onions, chopped

1 cup uncooked rice Salt and pepper 3 or 4 tomatoes, sliced 1/3 cup water Meat stock

Cook cabbage until tender; drain and separate leaves carefully. Combine lamb, onions, rice, salt and pepper and mix well. On each cabbage leaf place a tablespoon of the mixture and roll, turning ends of the cabbage in to secure the roll. Place the rolls in a greased pan, add tomatoes, water and sufficient stock to half cover the rolls. Cook in a moderate (350 degree) oven or until rice is tender.

Lamb en Brochette.

(Serves 6) 2 pounds lamb steak 3 tablespoons cooking oil 6 tablespoons lemon juice

1 teaspoon salt 1/4 pound mushreems

1 onion, minced

Cut lamb into 1-inch squares. Combine oil, lemon juice, onion and salt and pour over lamb and let stand several hours. Drain lamb and place meat on skewers alternately with mushroom caps. Place 4 inches below moderate broiler heat and broil 12 to 15 minutes, turning several times.

Remember that uncooked meat will keep safely only a few hours unless you put it in a refrigator or very cold place. Ground meat needs colder storage and keeps a shorter time than unground meat. Leftover cooked meat also needs storing in a

the "new" OPA, obtained from a Dallas last week. Giesen announced that his staff heads are now "ready to go" on all phases of the new bill, and that enforcement will have high priority on the program in his district.

The meeting attended by Giesen was conducted by Geoffrey Baker, deputy administrator of price, and Max L. McCullough, formerly regional OPA administrator, now assistant to Administrator Paul A. Porter. Both of these officials came from Washington to advise their district chiefs of the workings of the new OPA Act. Also attending meetings in Dallas were Clifton George, Jr., district price executive, and William B. Weaver, district rent executive.

Operations and responsibilities under the OPA legislation recently enacted, Giesen said, were outlined by Baker and McCullough.

"It is clear that the rent control program remains intact, and value. See N. C. Et that remaining price controls will be enforced vigorously," Giesen port.

Giesen added that it is believed the new OPA program will afford protection to millions of families in the low-income and mediumincome brackets, including older people living on pensions and savings, and servicemen facing readjustment to civilian lif.e

The district chief stressed that OPA shares with the Department of Agriculture responsibility for food controls. He advised housewives to be on the lookout for a list, to be furnished monthly by the agricultural department on and after September 1, which will show the scarce foods on which OPA will place controls, or continue them. Forty per cent of our food remains under price control, Giesen pointed out, and control of OPA, in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture and the three-man Decontrol Board. The board will have authority to recontrol any scarce commodity whose prices rises unduly, and will determine, by August 21, whether such important foods as meat, dairy products, poultry and eggs shall be re-controlled.

Latest compilations show that during the interim when all price controls were off-a period of 25 days-the index rose 24.8 per cent, or 11.7 per cent more than it rose 1946. This rise, and the delay in OPA legislation, will make it difficult to roll all prices back to June 30 levels, Giesen explained.
