Ex-Stars Will Play Youthful Eleven Friday

The Ex-lettermen's Association was organized Monday night at the school gym and a football game was planned for Friday night, November 12 to be played at the local field with the graduating seniors.

The Ex's have a potent line-up and as game time draws near it is expected to strengthen considerably. At ends they have John Chupe and Norman McLead; at tackles are Roy Hinson, Bob Morrison and Bob Franklin; guards will be Roy Mullinax, Chicken Evans, and Pancho Sparks; Pete Sprinkle will be at center; backs are T. J. Johnson, Vicente Corpus, Lauriano Falcon, Leon Brundrett, Ollie Mundine and Dudley Prophet. Expected at game time are such other stalwarts of old as Blackie Rouquette, Monty Rouquette, Eldon Mullans and others.

The game will be played by regular high school rules and time. Some good football and amusing spectacles should be forthcoming from the stars and greats of old as they meet the youthful eleven now bearing the colors of Rockport high school.

F.H.A. Girls Attend Area Meet in Kingsville

Thirty-one girls from the Richardson F.H.A. chapter attended an area meeting in Kingsville Saturday which was held at the Jones auditorium at A & I College.

The main purpose of the meeting was to install area and district officers. The two girls from Rockport who were installed were Kathryn Atwood as District historian and Nancy Juergens as Area parliamentarian.

Following registration at 8:30 a. m. the program was held which consisted of a round table discussion on "Likes and Dislikes of characters of boys and girls," and "what should be done on dates."

Following the installation of officers the girls heard a talk on the King Ranch and were then dismissed for a tour of the stables of the King Ranch.

At 1:30 all had lunch in a group at East Campus. After lunch an officers meeting was held at the college. The Rockport chapter had charge of the closing ceremony.

Over 500,000 Waterfowl In Area As Season Opens

BIGGEST CONCENTRATIONS SEEN LOCALLY IN ST. CHARLES BAY AND COPANO BAY

When Texas hunters blast open the migratory waterfowl season at noon Friday they are expected to have many more ducks and geese at which to shoot than they had last year.

Biologists Bob Singleton and Gus Engeling, in charge of the Coastal Waterfowl Survey, counted approximately one-half million waterfowl in an aerial survey made Monday.

The area covered was from Rockport to Highland, Texas. The survey from Rockport to Brownsville, scheduled to be flown Tuesday, was not made due to bad weather conditions, but the number of waterfowl is believed to be in excess of last year at which time only 500,000 were reported to be on the entire coast.

The aerial survey conducted Monday was a quick flight to obtain an idea of the number of waterfowl prior to the opening of the hunting season. A regular survey of the entire coast will be made Monday, November 15.

The largest concentration of waterfowl reported was on the Powderhorn Ranch below Port Lavaca where in excess of 100,000 waterfowl were counted. The largest concentrations of geese were seen in the St. Charles Bay region, Powderhorn Ranch and Chocolate Bayou region. About 100,000 waterfowl were counted in the area from Rockport to Austwell with large concentrations in the St. Charles Bay and Hynes Bay region.

While the Mallards are not numerous now, the biggest concentrations of them are in Chambers County and the area west to Matagorda and the mouth of the Colorado River. Pintails are all up and down the coast. Venturing a guess as to where they will be in large numbers on opening day would be extremely risky. Pintails, unlike other ducks which winter on the Texas coast, can be found in one section and the next day that concentration may have moved a hundred miles. Now the largest number of pintails are in the Corpus Christi area and in the section from the Colorado River east to Jefferson County.

The biggest concentration of red heads is in the Aransas Pass-Port Aransas section, although they also are numerous between Rockport and Port Aransas. They are also in large rafts as far west as Baffin's Bay in the Riviera Beach section.

Few canvasback are on the coast, but when they do arrive in large numbers gunners will have

Along The Waterfront

So many nimrods will be waiting in their blinds when the duck season opens tomorrow at noon that once the birds have been shot at they will be kept on the move.

Among those who have already arrived in Rockport for the hunting season are Mr. and Mrs. Yates, owners of the Yates Laundry in San Antonio, Bill Blackburn, manager of the Central Power and Light Co. in Victoria, and J. B. Graham, retired broker of San Antonio.

Hunting is expected to be better than it has been in years on coastal waters and marshes from just east of Galveston west to Brownsville.

Jefferson County is suffering from the lack of rain. Many operators of hunting lodges and other areas leased to nimrods have served notice they will not allow hunting until after it has rained a considerable amount. Many of them fear destruction by fire of vegetation. Others know hunting will be only fair to poor until conditions are improved by rain.

Duck food plants are doing well, however, along the entire Gulf Coast. Many are putting on their second growth of seeds.

Fishermen were starting to pull trout out of the basin this week after the norther Tuesday. Many were trying their luck on the new pier and indications are that it will be a popular fishing spot this winter.

Mr. Nelson, in Rockport for a three months stay from Rock Springs, Texas, hooked 28 trout on a spoon at the basin Wednesday morning. Mr. Nelson has been coming to Rockport to fish in the winter for the last 20 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reed of Kansas City, Mo., are staying at the (Continued on last page)

Hunters Asked to Turn In Bands Found On Game

Sportsmen can contribute substantially to perpetuate duck and goose hunting merely by sending to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in Washington, D. C. every band they find on the game they bag.

While this is true of all birds, it is particularly true of migratory species such as ducks, geese and doves, whose movements must be known if equitable hunting seasons are to be established.

Mottled Mallards, often known as black ducks, summer ducks or mottled ducks were banded in the Rockport area during the past spring and summer. These birds were trapped, banded and released. Some of the information to be derived from band returns is the life span, nesting habits, whether or not they return to the same area to nest each year, and probably most important, to check their movement up and down the Texas Coast and to learn whether or not these ducks ever get down into Mexico.

Banding operations are carried on by the Fish and Wildlife Service, the Dominion Wildlife Service of Canada, The Wildlife Management Institute and licensed banders.

Anyone killing a duck, goose or coot which has a band on it will certainly be assisting the conservation efforts by returning the information to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service at Washington.

When a hunter turns this information in, the Fish and Wildlife Service then sends him a card stating when, where and by whom the duck was banded.

Parent-Teachers Will Meet Wed.

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold their November meeting at the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, November 17.

The address will be given by Rev. W. A. Neeler. His subject will be "The Home—a pattern for building sound character and moral values."

Presbytery Young People Hold Rally

One hundred and thirty-five young people attended the Fall Rally for young people of the Corpus Christi District of the Presbytery of Western Texas which was held at the Presbyterian church in Rockport Sunday.

Margaret Patrick and Betty Lou Garrett were in charge of the registration which began at 3 o'clock. Each was presented with an Indian head dress and a tomahawk name tag which carried out the Indian theme around which the program and the evening meal was centered.

During the afternoon young people from each town told about an (Continued on last page)

Pirates Lose to Refugio 20 to 14

The Rockport Pirates wrote finis to their 1948 football season last Friday night after a 20 to 14 thumping by Refugio.

The Pirates, underdogs last Friday as they were throughout most of the season, put on a brilliant display of fighting spirit in the second half. With a 20 to 0 deficit staring at them, the scrappy team rose up to score 14 points and start a drive for the seven points needed to do the practically impossible—win. Hayden completed a desperation pass to Delgado past mid-field as the gun sounded the end of the game.

It was a colorful and typical game for the Pirates to climax a season during which odds were stacked against them. As during previous games, the Pirates were heavily outweighed and out-manned. The Rockport team wasn't given much chance to win and usually Rockport was the underdog by from 12 to 40 points. Yet the boys would put the fight to the opponents and were never badly beaten. Not until after a terrific struggle would the Pirates take a defeat.

Hayden, in his final appearance for Rockport, turned in what was probably his best games of the season as he passed and ran the Pirates to their first touchdown drive against Refugio. The entire team, playing as a unit turned in a good performance against Refugio as has been the case all year.

Team play was the small measure of success that was Rockport's this year. Team play and a fighting spirit was the Pirates' token of appreciation to the generous and wholehearted support offered them by the Rockport people.

The Significance of Armistice Day

The significance of Armistice Day goes deep into the heart of this country. It marks our victory in the two most destructive wars the world has ever known. Of comparable importance, it should remind every American of the enormous human and economic wealth we have been forced to spend to maintain our liberties, and to defend those principles upon which the dignity of man depends.

Armistice Day should bring us another thought as well. This nation has never provoked a war. No people on earth is more peaceful in intention. None do more to achieve a just and lasting peace for all countries. If we are forced to engage in war, it will be because we can find no other means of maintaining those rights and freedoms which make up the American tradition.

The United States must build and conserve its strength. That means, on the surface, that we must have a strong military force capable of dealing with aggressors, and a mighty industrial structure to back it up. But these things, vital as they are, represent a reflection of our strength rather than the substance of it. For the core of this nation's strength and power lies in the spirit of its people.

That spirit is the spirit of freedom. It is based on the knowledge that every American has inalienable rights which cannot be abrogated. The right to speak our minds, the right to own property, the right to engage in a business of our choosing, the right to be free of dictation by government—these and other rights constitute our strength. And that too is the significance of Armistice Day.

Competing With War

If—even during the height of the war—an entire division of men had been killed, and more than a corps had been maimed, the nation would have been shocked with horror.

Yet fire does that every year. It does it on a piecemeal basis, of course. But that does not make the total any less terrible. Close to 11,000 lives a year are now given to it through carelessness and ignorance. And the toll of the maimed and burned and crippled is about 50,000. Its depredations are especially great among small children, many of whom become lifelong invalids.

Early in October, the nation celebrated Fire Prevention Week, as it does each year. A vast amount of work was done during the week to awaken the country to the menace of fire, and to teach us how fire may be prevented. But if the public works on the "out of sight, out of mind" basis, the Week will not bear full fruit. Fire prevention, to be successful, must be carried on day in and day out. It must become a routine part of living in all homes and all places of work. It must be as automatic as eating and sleeping.

When that is accomplished, fire's toll of death and injury will be cut enormously—to say nothing of a property loss which has been costing us more than $700,000,000 a year.

Violators of Game and Fish Laws Face Forfeiture of Rights for Year

Texas hunters are subject to a considerable number of restrictions other than the season and bag and creel limits.

Not only are game-law violators subject to fines, but any person violating any game law automatically forfeits his hunting license and all hunting rights for one year.

Any person convicted of violating the trespass law also forfeits his hunting license and rights to hunt for one year regardless of whether he was convicted on hunting with firearms, or for trespassing on another's land without permission.

Special laws, applicable to one county or a group of counties, are considered in the same category with general laws as far as forfeiture of licenses is concerned.

It is unlawful to: Hunt out of the county of your residence without a license. Hunt under the license of another person.

Allow another person to use your license. Receive any hunter on board a boat for pay unless the owner has a license for his boat.

Hunt in state parks. Hunt for hire or hire anyone to hunt for you. Hunt from an automobile, motor boat, sailboat, boat under tow or

Protection Against Communicable Diseases

Austin.—In a statement on controlling communicable diseases issued by the Texas State Department of Health, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer states that if every case of suspected communicable disease were seen promptly by the family physician and definitely diagnosed, thousands of susceptible persons would be protected from these disabling diseases.

"The theory that it is a good thing for children to have these catching childhood diseases and get them over with, has long since been proven an error which may actually endanger a child's life," says Dr. Cox. "The longer he can avoid having these diseases, the better it is for him. Every child should be protected by immunization against all diseases where an immunity can be established."

Prompt diagnosis, isolation and good medical care give the patient the best chance for a satisfactory recovery without the serious complications that sometimes accompany even the milder forms of communicable diseases. Dr. Cox emphasized that obeying the public health laws regarding isolation and quarantine protects not only the patient, but helps to prevent the spread of the disease to other persons.

"The State Health Department," Dr. Cox said, "does everything within its power to protect the health of the people of Texas, but the cooperation of every individual in protecting his own health and that of his community will do more than anything else to successfully check the spread of communicable diseases among our people."

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wills and children, Billy and Johnnie, of Corpus Christi were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kelly.

C. V. Gray has resigned as county jailer and is spending the winter in New Mexico. Deputy Sheriff Mundine is now in charge of the jail.

JEAN FAYE JOHNSON CROWNED FOOTBALL QUEEN AT CEREMONY HELD AT FIELD FRIDAY

Jean Faye Johnson, high school senior, was crowned Football Queen at a ceremony held at the football field preceding the Refugio-Rockport football game last Friday night.

Queen Jean followed the procession from the home economics cottage to the platform which was located on the 50-yard line. She wore a white gown and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with green and white ribbon.

The queen's maids were Yvonne Wigginton, senior; Ruby Wilkinton, junior; Kathryn Atwood, sophomore and Norma Lou Roe, freshman. They wore pastel formal and had nosegays of small chrysanthemums tied with green and white ribbons.

When the Queen and her maids reached the fifty-yard line, the escorts stepped out from the lineup and accompanied them to the stage. Frederick Close, co-captain of the team, escorted Queen Jean. Mike Smith, page, carried the crown which was bestowed upon the Queen by Capt. Close. Valerie Wells, page, carried a tiny football which the Queen presented to Captain Close.

Other escorts included Glen Owens, co-captain, who accompanied Miss Wigginton; Jimmy Morrison accompanied Miss Wilkinton; Gene Sprinkle escorted Miss Atwood and Ozzie Williams was Miss Roe's escort.

The trumpeter for the procession was Bob Albin.

The Refugio Queen and maids marched in the procession with the Rockport girls. They also met their escorts at the fifty-yard line.

Mary Ann Miller, who had been crowned Queen at a ceremony held in Refugio, was escorted by co-captains Don Ferguson and Kenneth Emerson. Maids were Kathryn Finney, Patsy Lemly, Betty Lou Gentry and Janice Bryant.

The girls were presented with corsages tied with the school colors, black and orange by the school.

Escorts were Newt England, Ted Gray, Wayne Wilpits and Mayo Baugh.

A. L. Bracht returned from an extended visit with his granddaughter and family in Dallas. He was accompanied by Kenneth Luther, V. G. Connors and Geo. Blackman, who came to spend the week-end as guests of the A. L. Bracht family. While the fishing was not at its best they were able to land a nice variety, including one 5-lb. redfish, several large trout, drum and flounders. They will return for the opening of the hunting season.

ARTIST DESIRES TO START CLASSES IN ROCKPORT

Simon Michael, artist, told members of the Women's Civic Club at their regular meeting held at the Rio Theatre Tuesday, that art is coming into its own in America today. Mr. Michael said that he hopes to see the day when pictures cease to be a luxury—when people buy them because they love them instead of the fact that they go up in value or because they make nice wedding presents.

He told the group that art in painting is universal and should be clear enough to be understood by all people with imagination, clear understanding and hard work. He pointed out that art is in every day living and thinking, everything that has to do with the finer things of life.

The center of interest in the picture is the key that opens the door to the painting just as the movie is centered around the hero and heroine, he said.

The American people are inclined to criticize without proper reason or knowledge and are inclined to take a makeshift attitude toward the finer things of life.

Mr. Michael announced that he desires to have a class of art students in Rockport as he has in Victoria and is organizing in Port Lavaca. He stressed the point that those desiring to study art do not need knowledge of the subject to enjoy the classes and to profit by them.

Following the address it was decided to dispense with all activities of the club till after Christmas. The only project under way at the present time which will be carried out is the selling of tickets for the Westinghouse radio-phonograph with FM which will be given away December 23.

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime... and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Creel Census, Designed to Help Fishermen, Needs Their Cooperation

By J. L. BAUGHMAN

The Creel Census instituted by the Marine Laboratory as an aid to the fishing and tourist industry of the coast has been making considerable progress, although not so much as it would have if it was possible to obtain the whole hearted cooperation of the very people it is designed to help, namely the fishermen.

Day after day people come into my office asking, "where have the fish gone? What can we do to bring them back?"

No fish or fishery can be aided until you know enough about it to tell what is wrong with it. The mere statement that there are not any fish any more won't bring them back. No farmer can raise cattle unless he knows what they eat, where to get such food for them, or what diseases kill them.

No farmer could raise cattle either, unless he knew how much of a calf crop to expect and how many cows he could safely sell and still keep up his herd.

Just as a farmer must know these things about cows, so too must a biologist know them about fish and other animals if he hopes to increase the crop.

It is to the interest of everyone along the coast for this to be found out and the only way we can discover these facts is by the examination of not one, but thousands of fish.

By such examination we can determine what they eat, what diseases and parasites kill them, how old they are, where and when they spawn, and all the other things we must know in order to intelligently conserve our fish.

No biologist that ever lived can look at one fish and tell you all of these things, yet when we ask

V.F.W. Stages Third Turkey Shoot at Sinton Saturday, November 13

SINTON—The third annual VFW Turkey Shoot, under the sponsorship of Post No. 8625, will be held at Dave Odem's Airport on the outskirts of Sinton on Saturday, November 13.

The Shoot, billed as the biggest and best in South Texas, will feature both live turkey shooting and target shooting, and is scheduled to begin promptly at 10:00 a.m. and to continue until 5:30 in the evening.

Contestants will be allowed to use any type rifle, with open sights only, and the local post has contracted for one hundred fat gobblers from the Nixon area which will be awarded as prizes to those who can shoot straight enough. The bag limit will be two birds per contestant. As an added feature, several attendance prizes will be given away at various times during the day.

From all indications, this year's shoot promises to break the attendance record set by the 1947 event which received country-wide publicity in Foreign Service, the national VFW monthly magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. Neely Parr and son visited in Kingsville last weekend. While there they were conducted on a tour of the King ranch.

Cooperation Needed

Everyone wants something done about it, but what? Biologists are no magicians. They are men who have special training which enables them through hard work and the patient accumulation of data, to work out the actual facts necessary to properly conserve shrimp, fish and oysters, and they can do it—more quickly if they have understanding help than if they have to go it alone.

To refuse to face the facts and to expect to pull miracles out of a hat so that the Texas Coast will once again have great masses of fish is merely wishful thinking and short sightedness.

We have a tremendous raw resource in our bays that will over a period of time bring millions into the state. Under our old, know-nothing, guess work policy, this resource has steadily been diminishing in value. If we are to preserve it and to take care of it so that we can get the greatest possible use out of it, it is time we found-out something about it and looking into a fishes' belly is one way to do it.

You can pass any law you want to, but unless that law is based on knowledge of the kind that we are trying to get, you won't have any more fish.
