The Citizen's Secret Ballot Right

Every citizen of the United States of America is entitled and due the right to secret ballot. He is protected by the constitution from his vote being used against him by the people who gain office by the wishes of the majority—he casts his vote in secret, and is obligated to tell no one which opponent he supported. This right cannot be alienated from him by any petty political faction without acting contrawise to the very foundation of our beloved government.

It is a very bad situation indeed, when an individual is coerced or threatened unless he "plays ball" with some political faction. Do the readers feel that this is the principal for which the many true patriots lay down their lives when America is at war with aggressor nations? Whenever everybody knows how everybody else votes, then such an election become a farce and the true will of the majority is never realized.

When a public office is to be filled the citizens should run candidates for the vacancy who are best fitted for the work to be done and who will obey the will of the people. When elected, a candidate is not acting for himself, but is representing the people as a whole. When John Doe, or Jane Doe, goes to the polls at election time, the vote should be cast for the candidate that will serve the community faithfully and well, not for one they fear because of his political strength, his large land holdings, or his money, nor for one they know will have his own selfish interests at heart with complete disregard for the private citizen.

The gnawings of ambition makes for real progress in a nation when it is well-directed in the right channel, but when it is misdirected it becomes an evil thing in the eyes of the true American. Hitler was ambitious in that he wished to rule the world, as had many before him and after. There are persons today who aspire to travel along the same road Hitler and others have trod, but all these will meet with defeat.

Real growth and progress can never be fully realized in a community, state or nation that is strong with the stench of political rotteness. Why? Because most political factions seek only to further their own selfish desires and are not concerned with keeping open opportunities for advancement of the private citizen.

Citizens today are ever-watchful and aware of the dangers that threaten from without, but seemingly disregard the undermining of Democratic principles from within our country. Americans as a whole are too trusting, and feel that all citizens share the same belief and faith in the Democratic principles—never realizing that in any large body of people there are those who thirst for power and gain, and who capitalize on the trusting nature of others.

Political holders of office with selfish aims concern themselves with easing out all public officers who would oppose the purposes to which they are dedicated, and place their own political associates in these positions that they are dedicated, and place their own political associates in these positions that they might have a freer hand in engaging in graft at the expense of taxpaying citizens who never know how their money is spent after it is collected from them.

When Americans journey to the polls to cast their votes on election days, they should bear in mind it costs them more to support power-desiring political candidates because they have not only to support HIM, but also his associates in the graft that ensues. —Jim Wells County Beacon

Impaired Eyesight Could Be Prevented

Austin, Texas. — Emphasizing the urgent need for parental supervision of all phases of child health, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer said today, "Much of the impaired eyesight of advanced years could be prevented if sufficient interest in early life were applied and a correction by means of temporary glasses made when required."

Parents, Dr. Cox asserted, should be watchful for danger signals in the child such as frowning, squinting, persistent headache, eyeache, and watery eyes. If the youngster reads too closely or too far away from the face, that situation may also be significant of trouble. "No child likes wearing glasses, nevertheless, it is the obligation of those responsible for the future of young folks to have their eyes examined by a reputable specialist of there is a suspicion that normal vision does not exist. It is much better for a child to wear glasses for a few years during early school life than to have permanently defective vision in later life," he declared.

Dr. Cox said that neglect of the eyes is by no means limited to children. Many older persons, some through vanity, indifference, or carelessness, fail to give proper attention to the care of their eyes. Penalties, he warned are bound to occur for such inexcusable negligence.

"The eyes of any person, whether young, middle-aged, or older represent one of the most priceless of bodily possessions," the State Health Officer asserted. "To take care of them promptly and properly is a responsibility which never should be sidestepped."

Judge Simmons Urges Voters To Make Thorough Study Of Amendments

County Judge D. R. Simmons made a statement to the voters of Aransas County this week in regard to the constitutional amendments which will be voted on November 8.

He said, "if the voters of Aransas County have not made a thorough study of the ten constitutional amendments, they had better do so or vote against every one of them."

"None of these amendments have much of anything to recommend them from the taxpayers standpoint and wellbeing, and by their adoption the taxpayers will be additionally burdened."

"The one concerning the legislature and compensation for its members will cost the tax payers approximately three times as much as it now costs if passed."

"The amendment concerning the abolishing of the poll tax and providing for a general registration law, will if it passes, cause each and everyone over 21 years to register before February 1, each year and pay not less than 50 cents and even more if the commissioners court so desires. This registration even affects people over 60 since there are no more exemptions to any one. Out of the present poll tax the schools get $1.00 of the tax, so if the registration law passes there will possibly be some kind of tax to take care of that loss.

"Possibly all of us think we should not have to pay to vote, and I think so too, but I hardly think this registration law is what we want."

Church Women Observe World Community Day

World Community Day will be observed by the women of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Episcopal churches Friday afternoon at 3:30, November 4, at the Methodist Church. Women of the Presbyterian church will present the program for the joint meeting.

All members are requested to be present and to bring material and items for sewing. Articles made at this time will be sent to women overseas.

Mrs. Ethel Smith and Mrs. J. T. Malone of Houston are visiting their sisters, Mrs. G. C. Mullinax and Mrs. Lillian Gray this week.

Constitutional Amendments

Two of the amendments to the State Constitution which will be voted on November 8 are:

H.J.R. No. 22 provides that district courts shall conduct their proceedings at the county seat, unless otherwise provided by law.

The Constitution now provides that two regular terms of the District Court must be held each year at the county seat in each county in the district. The Legislature may authorize the holding of more regular terms or may authorize special terms.

H.J.R. No. 22, by amending Sec. 7 of Article V, would permit the Legislature to provide for proceedings of the Court at places other than the county seat of the county where the case is pending. The Legislature would have broad power to make such provisions in regard to the terms or sessions of each court as it may deem necessary. But it could not eliminate the two regular terms each year in each county.

The proposal would also require that a district judge be licensed to practice law, and would provide for four years combined experience as a judge or practicing attorney would be sufficient to qualify.

The Legislature has authority to establish new district courts or to abolish ones already established. The proposed amendment would not effect this power.

H.J.R. No. 32 would provide for trial in lunacy cases without a jury.

Article 1 of the Constitution of Texas is the Bill of Rights. Section 15 of Article 1, after stating that the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, permits the legislature to provide for the temporary commitment by the County Court without jury trial, for observation and treatment, of mentally ill persons not charged with a criminal offense. The period of commitment may not exceed 90 days.

H.J.R. 32 would add Sec. 15-a, giving the Legislature power to provide for the trial, adjudication of insanity and commitment of persons of unsound mind, and to provide for method of appeal from judgments rendered in such cases. Such laws may provide for waiver of trial by jury in cases where persons under inquiry have not been charged with commission of a criminal offense. Such laws must also provide for a method of service of notice of trial and of his right to demand a trial by jury.

Briefly stated, this amendment would permit the commitment of persons of unsound mind without a jury trial where no criminal offense is charged. It could improve the administration of laws relating to the insane, save the state the expense of jury trial and relieve the person under trial and his family from embarrassment or humiliation. It might at some time result in commitment of a person of sound mind.

A question raised is whether a person of unsound mind is capable of exercising properly his right to a trial by jury or to a waiver of that right.

Game Warden reminds Hunters of Trespass Law

Game Warden M. B. Mullinax reminded hunters this week that a new trespass law went into effect October 5. The revised law was amended to read: Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to enter upon the inclosed land of another without consent of the owner, to hunt, fish or camp or in any manner depredate the property. By 'closed lands' is meant such lands as are in use for agriculture or grazing purposes or for any other purpose and inclosed by any structure for fencing. Section 2. For the first conviction for a violation of Section 1, the punishment shall be a fine not more than $200 and by forfeiture of his hunting license and right to hunt in the State of Texas for a period of one year from the date of conviction. If it be shown on the trial of a case involving a violation of Section 1, that the defendant has been once before convicted of the same offence, he shall, on his second conviction be punished by a fine not less than $500 nor more than $1,000 and by forfeiture of his hunting license and right to hunt in the State for two years. Upon a third conviction, he shall be punished by confinement in the county jail for not less than 30 days nor more than a year and by fine not less than $500 nor more than $1,000 and by forfeiture of hunting license and right to hunt in the State for a period of three years. Any persons found upon the inclosed lands of another in violation of Section 1, shall be subject to arrest by any peace officer or any State Game Warden and such arrests may be made without warrant of arrest.

Welfare Representative Makes County Report

Mrs. Maude Moon, State Dept. of Public Welfare representative, reported this week that 118 persons are receiving assistance in Aransas County. As a result $4,286 are brought into the county each month. The average grant is $35.28. Four persons are receiving assistance for blindness and six families are receiving assistance for the benefit of 21 children. Mrs. Moon pointed out that this is not the total for the county as she handles only cases for part of the area and that she does not have the figures for the remainder available. Mrs. Moon is in Rockport at the office of the County Judge each Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean left for San Antonio Wednesday where they will visit relatives during the coming week.

V. A. Makes GI Flight Training Easier To Obtain

M. G. Taylor, manager of the Aransas County Airport, reported this week that GI Flight Training has been made easier to obtain. New laws have been passed by Congress easing the restrictions on flight training to be required by the Veterans Administration, he said.

A reliable G. I. school will conduct courses here if enough veterans are interested. Persons desiring further details should contact Mr. Taylor.

Courses are offered for private, commercial multi-engine, instructor and sea plane training.

A Flight Training School was organized here last year but due to the many restrictions at that time, it was impossible to organize a class. If the men who were interested at that time will contact Mr. Taylor, they will find that they are eligible for the training now.

'Road House', Powerful Dramatic Love Story

A powerful dramatic story set against the exciting background of a roadhouse brings together four of the screen's top stars—Ida Lupino, Cornel Wilde, Coleste Holm and Richard Widmark in Twentieth Century-Fox's "Road House," the new screen hit which opens Thurs. and Fri. at the Surf Theatre.

Hailed by previewers as a story of a strange love with a completely new dramatic twist, "Road House," is packed with hard-hitting drama, dynamic action and suspense as it chronicles the tale of an entertainer who becomes the center of an unusual triangle involving two men of widely contrasting temperaments. Their antagonism results in a bitter clash of feelings which is to dissolve a friendship of years and bring violent death to one of them.

The role of Lily Stevens, the sultry-voiced road house singer, brings Ida Lupino back to the screen after a year's search for a part that would meet her strict requirements. Recognized as one of filmdom's top dramatic actresses, Miss Lupino found in Lily a role that was an exciting challenge to her talents.

Wilde emerges in a new type of part as Pete, the rugged road house manager, whose love for Lily involves him in a strange set of circumstances.

Academy Award winner Celeste Holm plays her third successive dramatic role as the self-sacrificing cashier, Susie.

Widmark, who has been seen only as an underworld character, becomes Jefty, the road house owner—affable and charming at times, but cold and vicious on other occasions.

In "Road House," Ida Lupino reveals a unique vocal talent, singing three tunes that are sure to be among the top songs of the season. They are: "One For My Baby," by Harold Arlen and Johnny Mercer; "The Right Kind" by Al Newman, Don George and Charles Henderson; and "Again" written by Lionel Newman and Dorcas Cochran.

The unusual setting of "Road House" against which portions of the tense action takes place is said to be one of the most dramatic backgrounds ever devised for a motion picture.

"Road House" was directed by Jean Negulesco and produced by Edward Chodorov, who also wrote the screen play. The original story was written by Margaret Gruen and Oscar Saul.

The masquerade is being sponsored by the Rotary Club.

The sight of a spider weaving its web after falling many times, aroused Robert Bruce to try once again to drive the English from Scotland.

Jimmy Hayden, freshman at S.W.S.T.C. at San Marcos, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hayden, over the week-end. He was accompanied to Rockport by a friend, Red Jurecka, also a student at San Marcos.

Rev. Wyatt to Preach At Baptist Church Sun.

Rev. Charlie Wyatt of Corpus Christi will bring the message at the preaching hour both morning and evening at the First Baptist Church, Sunday, October 30.

Included in the list of Rockport people who were in Austin Saturday to take in the Texas-Rice game were Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ankele, Mr. and Mrs. Steirly Rozzell and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Mills.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Now They're Sitting Pretty

Squint Miller, who's working as a telephone lineman, was telling me about some birds that got into a fight with his company.

Seems a couple of woodpeckers set up housekeeping in a telephone pole. Nobody minded them living there, but they kept pecking at the wires—causing one short circuit after another.

Finally, the telephone people—who had nothing personal against the birds—just stopped up the hole where they lived. But they kept coming back. At last, the company donated that pole to the woodpeckers and set up a brand-new one for their own use!

From where I sit, we'd all be better off if we were as tolerant with our own kind as that telephone outfit was with the woodpeckers. Let's consider the other fellow's point of view—whether it's his right to live where he wants, or to enjoy a friendly glass of temperate beer or ale when and if he pleases.

'Walking Hills' Violent Story of Desert Passion and Greed

Take nine men and a beautiful woman—set them down in a desolate stretch of desert in a terror stalked search for a fabulous treasure—and you have all the elements of screen dynamite! That's just what Columbia's "The Walking Hills," which opens at the Surf Theatre Sunday and Monday, will prove to be; a power-packed film in which violent passions clash in a fierce desert adventure.

Alan LeMay's story and screenplay, with additional dialogue by Virginia Roddick, relates the graphic story of a band of strange companions who get out on the weirdest quest that ever braved the desert's fury! Set in motion by a young cowboy's story of sighting some old wagon wheels, the fool-hardy expedition of adventurers and outcast starts to run down the 100-year-old story of pioneers who perished in the sand hills north of the Mexican border, leaving $5,000,000 in gold in the sands!

The desperate little band, some of whom have been dragooned into joining, starts digging for the treasure. Bit by bit, as pieces of ancient wagon are unearthed, the tension mounts, but the Walking Hills (shifting sand dunes) continue to guard their treasure from man's greed. The days spent in the desert serve to strip bare the men's basic nature, and then love and hate and greed grapple for the upper hand. As the brooding desert hatches a storm, the man made conflicts mount to a furious pitch, erupting into violence; of the ten who go in, only seven come out. The threatening desert storm breaks, lashing the humans and animals with all its fury. Ironically, the cache of gold, that was to have made them all rich, turns out to be an insignificant amount, hardly worth the gruelling hardships they have all experienced.

Starring in this desert drama are Randolph Scott and Ella Raines. As a hard bitten Western rancher who assumes natural leadership of the search for gold, Scott is outstanding. Miss Raines garbed in jeans, manages to convey an outdoorish quality that is highly attractive. Her love scenes with William Bishop, impressive in his most important role to date, are thoroughly convincing. Worthy of mention are the performances by Edgar Buchanan, a grizzled old prospector; Arthur Kennedy, as a tough fugitive from justice; John Ireland, as a private detective who abandons the chase for the lure of gold; Jerome Courtland, as the young cowboy who starts the whole business and Josh White, folk singer, who gives a marvelous rendition of some blues songs.

TRIBUTE TO U. S. HEROES—Lt.-Gen. Clarence R. Huebner of the European Command attends the inauguration of the Bulange, Belgium, Memorial and the Henri Chapelle Memorial for the dead of the First American Army in World War II in the Belgian Ardennes. Two Accidents On Highway 35 Saturday

Cars driven by Ray Ives of Aransas Pass and Thomas Winslow of Fulton were involved in an accident about 11:45 Saturday morning near Skeet's Coffee Shop on Highway 35.

Winslow was driving south on the highway and attempted to turn off the highway at the intersection near the coffee shop, then pulled back into the road, it is alleged. Ives driving south, immediately behind Winslow, apparently ran into the rear right hand corner of the pickup with his left fender, throwing his car into the ditch. Neither party was injured.

Mrs. Anna Mae Williams was treated for bruises at the hospital here Saturday morning as a result of a car accident. Mrs. Williams was driving south on Highway 35 about 10:30 Saturday morning when she is alleged to have lost control of the car near the Schleider home. The 1949 Kaiser went into the ditch and was stopped at the drainage pipe. The car was badly damaged.

Sheriff A. R. Curry and Deputy Mundine investigated the accident. Charges were filed against Mrs. Williams for driving without an operator's license.
