THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Once each year, we the people of America pause from our every day work and take time out to celebrate our National Independence Day. Many years ago, a group of brave men gave their lives that we might enjoy this land of ours without fear for the safety of our lives and personal liberties.

On the 4th of July of each year, our pleasures of the holidays take a heavy toll upon us and our loved ones. Hundreds of people die a violent death due to accidents of every imaginable type. On a day of pleasure and joy we compile a terrific record of death and destruction because of the lack of a little planning and care on the part of each one of us.

We people of Texas can expect at least 100 of the citizens of our state to meet a violent death over the holiday weekend, from Saturday through Tuesday. Out of that ill-fated group of 100 men, women and children, approximately 36 will die in traffic accidents on our streets and highways. Drownings, firearms, fireworks, homicides, and suicides will all take their toll upon the people of Texas.

The Texas Safety Association states that if each of us would stop and think and exercise a little care and a lot of good common sense, that many of these lives can be saved. Remember these few rules: When driving, drive defensively. Stop often and rest so that you may remain alert at the wheel. Check your vehicle carefully before starting on a trip. And remember that intoxicating drinks and driving do not mix. If you plan to go in swimming, know the place in which you will swim. Do not swim immediately after eating. Do not stay in the water after you become tired. If you cannot swim, stay out of deep water. If you must use firearms, handle them with care, know your target, and do not

HOME WAS BUILT IN A DAY—With the framework already up, only five minutes after starting construction, more than 40 workmen, carpenters, electricians and plumbers in Santa Rosa, Calif., swam over a new $8500 home, which was completed six and a half hours later, setting a new world record. It was estimated that 120 workers had a hand in the construction of the modern five-room house with attached garage by the time it was completed. The owners moved in the next day.

Working Staff at Cemetery Increased

The grounds chairman of the Cemetery Association reported that two men are employed full time at the cemetery now, when the association held their monthly meeting Monday afternoon. Plans were discussed for ways and means to raise funds to further necessary projects.

Mrs. Jas. G. Hooper and Mrs. A. C. Glass served as hostesses to the group at the Hooper home.

Texas Draft Boards List 65,000 Men For Military Service

Austin, Texas. — Texas draft boards have more than 65,000 men fit for duty and available for military service in case of emergency or war, Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, deputy state director of Selective Service, said today. State draft boards during May added almost 5,000 to this group by classification action of its 137 local boards. These figures represent men who have been classified in I-A by the boards under the federal draft law.

The draft boards during May made 12,338 new and original classifications. These represent men who were classified for the first time under the Selective Service Act of 1948. Of this number, 7,830 were classified in a deferred status.

Approximately two-thirds of the classification each month involves men who are classified for the first time. The other one-third involves registrants who are reclassified because of change in status, such as marriage, physical condition, and other factors under the law.

Local boards at the end of May reported the registration of 5,092 youths who reached their 18th birthdays during April. More than 60,000 18-year-olds are registering each year under this law.

These registrations brought totals on draft board registration lists to 551,228. Of this number, local boards had classified 413,415 by the end of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barrow, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hedrick and J. G. Hamblin of San Antonio were weekend guests at the B. W. Hamblin home. Mr. Hamblin remained for a three months visit.

shoot in unprotected places. Refrain from horse play while carrying firearms. If you must celebrate with the aid of fireworks, remember that each little firecracker or skyrocket is potentially dangerous. Remember that fireworks are a very great fire hazard, and when using them, always respect the rights of other people around you.

Each person expects to have a day of pleasure on the 4th of July. It has grown to have that meaning in the minds of each of us and we fail to remember that our holiday might be spoiled by an accident or tragedy involving either ourselves or one of our loved ones. The best insurance against accidents is to use care and caution in all daily activities, regardless of how simple they may seem.

The Texas Safety Association feels that if these few simple facts and rules are kept in mind, that each of us will be safely back on the job after another enjoyable holiday weekend.

Though still wearing the blue uniform shirt of the Communist Youth Organization, he has ripped off the insignia, and wears American tie and socks, gift of the U.S. Red Cross.

Marines to Launch Nation's Largest Peacetime Movements

Glenview, Ill. — This summer the Marine Air Reserve Training Command will launch the largest coast-to-coast mass movements of fighter planes to war-game maneuvers ever planned for American reserve air squadrons in peacetime.

Forty-one Marine Air Reserve squadrons — 30 fighter squadrons and 11 Ground Control Intercept ("Radar") squadrons — based at 25 U. S. Naval stations throughout the nation — will criss-cross the United States in two mass flights to rendezvous at coastal maneuver points in strength of four provisional air fighter groups in combat readiness.

The twin transcontinental mass transfers of planes, personnel and field equipment, first movements of their kind to be attempted by reserve air units, are expected to provide a model pattern for rapid coast-to-coast mobilization of all the nation's air reserves, states Brigadier General William O. Brice, USMC, Commander, Marine Air Reserve Training, who is directing the operations.

In World War II, General Brice, a veteran Marine aviator, was commanding officer of all search and bombing and torpedo aircraft of the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Royal New Zealand Airforce during the crucial air battles at Guadalcanal.

Mobile Radar Networks

On this summer's maneuvers, electronics experts of the Flying Leatherneck reserve radar squadrons, using fast-moving mobile radar equipment used by Marines in advanced positions, will set up radar net-works in the field to direct interception of "attacking" planes on each coast.

This will be the first time simulated "defense in depth" by Marine reserve field radar units will be put into operation to cover wide areas on a network basis.

In an expanding number of these mobile reserve field radar squadrons, the Marine Air Reserve Training Command has developed the only activity of its type to be found in the nation's air reserves.

Record Reserve Airlifts

The two mass airlifts of Marine reservists will involve a reserve record total of 561 planes — 481 fighters and 80 transports — and approximately 6,000 highly trained officers and men — rated to be the most combat-ready of the nation's air reserves.

Twenty-one squadrons — 15 fighter squadrons and six radar squadrons — based at Naval Air Stations near Seattle, Oakland (California), Los Angeles, Denver, Dallas, Lincoln (Nebraska), Kansas City, St. Louis, New Orleans, Memphis, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Niagara Falls (N. Y.), will leave simultaneously, July 8, for maneuvers on the east coast lasting to July 22, at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, North Carolina.

Twenty squadrons — 15 fighter squadrons and 5 radar squadrons — based at Naval Air Stations near Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Norfolk (Virginia), Jacksonville, Miami, Atlanta, Birmingham (Alabama), Akron, Columbus (Ohio), Detroit and Chicago, will leave, simultaneously, August 5, for maneuvers on the west coast lasting to August 19, at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro (Santa Ana), California.

Pilots will fly the fighter planes — Corsairs, Hellcats and Bearcats — in squadron formations from coast to coast. Ground personnel and field equipment will be flown in the transports in simultaneous lifts, co-ordinated to arrive at the same time as the fighters and ready for simulated combat action.

Ground crews will be stationed across the country to handle refueling and servicing of the fighter planes on the transcontinental hops.

More Jet Fighter Training
More Marine Air Reserve fighter pilots will be checked out in jet planes at the maneuver sites this year — continuing a policy initiated during 1949 summer maneuvers. Plans call for all Marine Air Reserve pilots to be indoctrinated in jet operations and tactics. Facilities for jet fighter training at home stations now are available to Flying Leatherneck reservists at Los Angeles, Oakland (California), New York City, Philadelphia and Norfolk (Virginia).

Highlight of the maneuvers on the east coast will be combined exercises in close support of regular and reserve Marine ground units on a battle problem covering the seizure and defense of an advanced air base off the North Carolina coast on the 13th of July.

Biologist to Study Blue Crab Parasite

Dr. Edward G. Reinhardt, head of the Department of Biology at the Catholic University of Washington, D.C., arrived at the marine laboratory Monday where he will spend the summer working on a crab parasite.

Study will be concentrated on the parasite which infects the edible blue crab and on which there has been practically no work done heretofore.

Dr. Reinhardt was accompanied by his wife and three children.

Deck Swabbing Goes Modern

Sailors take note! There's more fun than work involved when you swab a ship's deck with the new type cellulose sponge mop which absorbs up to twenty times its own weight in water. And you'll keep the glamour-look when you wear a Sea Nymph swim suit, shown above, which is figure-flattering and as streamlined as the modern mop.

Elect
W. O. REED

YOUR LIEUT. GOVERNOR
W. O. REED has really done something about efficiency and economy in our state government besides talk about it.

W. O. REED wrote the pay-as-you-go law which put Texas on a cash basis in 1942, and prevents the Legislature spending money it does not have.

W. O. REED believes our state government, like a family, should live within its income.

State Health Officer Discusses Dysentery

Commenting on the unusually high incidence of dysentery in Texas at the present time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, described dysentery as being an infectious disease characterized by diarrhea, pain in the abdomen, and toxemia. It is caused by a specific bacteria or germ. These germs cause inflammation of the lining of the intestinal tract which produces pain throughout the abdomen and the discharge of many loose stools that frequently contain blood and mucus. Toxemia results from absorption of the poisonous substances produced by the germs.

"The germs gain entrance to the body through the mouth," Dr. Cox said, "and then make their way to the intestines in the same manner in which food does. When they reach the intestines they find conditions favorable to their growth, and there they establish themselves at the expense of the person infected and produce their harmful effects."

Dr. Cox warned that dysentery affects young children more often and more seriously than adults, frequently resulting fatally; however, he said, it may occur at any age. It is usually more prevalent during the summer season, and the great number of cases now being reported are unusual for spring.

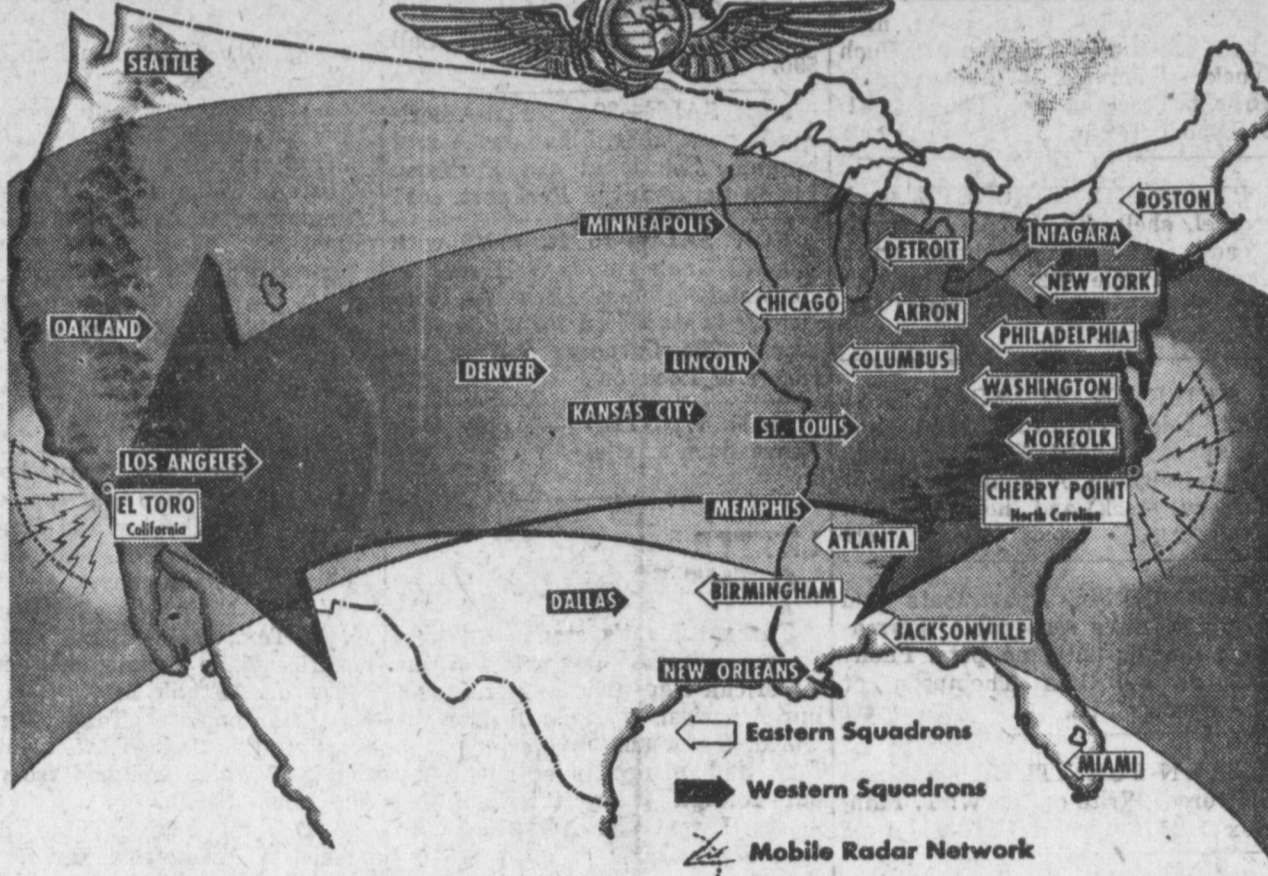

"The germ is always expelled with the excreta of persons sick with dysentery and may continue to be expelled for some time after the patient recovers from the disease. These persons who still discharge the germs after they recover are called carriers, and they occur more frequently in this disease than in the majority of other infectious diseases.

"Food protection and adequate sanitary measures are more urgently needed now than ever before if we are to prevent the possibilities of epidemic dysentery in this state."

FAIRWAY FASHION—American golfers might be a bit startled to see a caddy dressed like this, but Parisian designers have conspired to splash a bit of color on the golf course by attiring the ball-hawks in beige "plus fours" topped by a brown jacket, scarlet cap and brown calf shoes with flaps and squared toes. Pigskin gloves and a scarlet and blue umbrella complete the outfit.

SKY GARDENER

Cultivating flowers on the roof garden of Chicago's YMCA Hotel, some 20 stories above the city's famed lakefront, is the summer long pastime of Claude Connett. Turning the hotel's roof into a veritable flower paradise for the enjoyment of the many young men and women living in or visiting this YMCA during summer months, is a well worthwhile hobby according to Connett, a veteran railroad man of 38 years and longtime resident of the hotel.

Workshops Enhance Wildlife Education

Austin, Texas. — The record number of 1950 summer school workshops on conservation education has produced a heavy response for teachers' literature, according to the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

Several score teachers attending the wildlife classes at various Texas higher education institutions have written to the Commission headquarters in Austin for literature. This is primarily because of the appearance at the summer schools of the Supervisor of Wildlife Conservation Education for the commission. He is spending most of his time now briefing the workshop classes in methods of teaching wildlife conservation in the various public school grades.

Extra momentum for the increased interest in conservation education recently was stimulated when Texas, through its Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, was cited nationally for its aggressive and thorough program.

Teachers writing to the commission headquarters in Austin for the standard material are provided with a packet of data. Typical items in this assortment is a pamphlet with suggested procedures for teaching conservation of natural resources in the public schools, a description of a wildlife conservation unit using the Cardinal as an approach to the primary level, a brief chronology of wildlife in Texas, a list of conservation education literature, a two-act play "Mr. Farmer Learns a Lesson," a digest of the state game and fish laws, a description of major Texas lakes, and individual pages describing animal and bird species and showing their range in color on maps of the state.

One direct result of the increased interest in wildlife conservation according to the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, will be a surge of classroom emphasis when Texas youngsters return to school looking for new scholastic fields to conquer.

TIE TIP—Watch your tie racks, men—the gals have their eyes on your favorite four-in-hand. The latest feminine invasion into the male wardrobe is aimed at the necktie, which makes a pretty choker, demonstrated above by television star Faye Emerson. The broad end of the tie is looped into a rosette, while the narrow end forms the neckband.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Maybe This'll Wake Us Up!
Because a couple of thoughtless drivers threw a newspaper out of their car yesterday, Miss Gilbert, our school principal, nearly had a bad accident.
She was following them on the highway and the paper flattened over her windshield, so she couldn't see. In a minute her little coupe was across the line—right in the path of an oncoming trailer-truck. It missed... but only just!
The parties were recognized and soon as I heard about it I ran over to Sheriff Harper—demanded they be brought up on charges. But Harper says: "Hold on, Joe. Let's talk this out, over supper and a glass of beer at Andy's."
He pointed out that those men aren't criminals. Just careless, like a lot of us seem to be getting these days, judging from the trash you see along roadsides. From where I sit, this near accident may be the lesson we need to make us stop littering our roads—and start showing a little tolerant consideration for our neighbors!
