Special Services Held By Churches

Churches of the community held a special Thanksgiving service at the Methodist Church, Wednesday starting at 7:30 p.m.

The program was opened with a song service. The scripture was read by Dean Walton. This was followed by special music. The prayer was led by Rev. H. L. Fort.

Rev. T. H. Pollard delivered the sermon for the services following the proclamation and a special number. The program was closed with a hymn and the benediction.

The churches participating in the program were the Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and the Baptist.

In the write-up of the services in last week's issue, St. Peter's Episcopal church was unintentionally omitted from the program. The Pilot regrets this erratum.

Large Bobcat Killed On Highway 35

Jimmy Hayden and Jack Haultman, college students at San Marcos and Joe Haultman, attending Baylor University, were riding Sunday afternoon and accidentally hit a large bobcat.

They were behind a car close to Sportman's Haven on Highway 35. When they started to pass the car ahead, they struck the bobcat, which was apparently waiting at the side of the road for the first car to pass.

The animal was not killed instantly and the boys proceeded to stop the car and kill it. The bobcat weighed around 35 pounds and was approximately 4 1/2 feet long. Joe Haultman said he planned to take the animal back to Baylor University with him for his biology class.

Rev. Fort Speaker For Rotary Meet

The Rotary Club met for the regular luncheon at the Methodist church annex Wednesday.

Urban Hemmi had charge of the program this week and introduced as guest speaker, Rev. H. L. Fort.

Rev. Fort gave an interesting discourse on the advancement of science and techniques in the coming generation. He said we could not expect to live in the world of tomorrow with no changes. The American must realize the promises of the future more fully, take advantage of them through unification, and live for the future and not the past, Rev. Fort said.

Congress Will Consider S. Texas Water Problems

South Texas' most serious problem—water—will occupy the attention of the next session of the United States Congress.

The next session of Congress will be asked to authorize construction of a dam and reservoir near Three Rivers on the Nueces River which would solve the water problems of eight South Texas counties for at least 50 years.

The counties affected are Aransas, Bee, Jim Wells, Kleberg, Live Oak, Nueces, Refugio and San Patricio.

Harry P. Burleigh, area planning engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation with headquarters in Austin, disclosed recently that the South Texas water problem and the Three Rivers dam project will go before Congress for action early next year.

After more than a year of intensive study of the entire Nueces River basin, the Bureau of Reclamation has recommended construction of the Three Rivers dam as the best possible answer to the critical water problem of the eight South Texas counties.

Built by the Federal Government at a cost of $38,000,000, the Three Rivers dam and reservoir would be paid for through the sale of water to towns and cities, farmers, and industries through out the eight counties, thus avoiding any drain on the Federal treasury, Burleigh pointed out.

The University of Texas bureau of business research, after an exhaustive study of the possibilities of the eight-county region, estimated that if adequate water is secured, the population of the eight counties will increase from 290,000 in 1950 to approximately 850,000 in the year 2000.

On the other hand, the University study pointed out, if a solution to the water problem is not found quickly, the eight counties cannot expect to attract much more industry and population will remain relatively stable.

Plastics, dyes, synthetic rubber, petroleum refining, chlorine, sulphuric acid, food processing and other chemical industries are those most likely to come to the Coastal Bend area if adequate water is available, the study showed.

It would take from three to five years to build the dam, and most of the City of Three Rivers would have to be moved to higher ground to avoid flooding.

The Bureau of Reclamation reports that the new Three Rivers lake would likely become a major fishing and recreation center, drawing heavy attendance from the San Antonio, Rio Grande Valley, and Gulf Coast areas. It would be the largest fresh-water fishing and recreation lake in the entire South Texas region, and would provide a profitable tourist business for nearby towns such as Three Rivers, Whittsett, Oakville and George West.

"Few people realize how critical the water problem is in these eight counties," Burleigh pointed out.

"This entire region has fantastic possibilities for industrial expansion if the water is provided. Industry is eager to come here, but under present water conditions, is forced to go elsewhere. The whole future of these eight counties depends on finding a solution to the water problem. We have studied the problem day and night for over a year, and on the basis of these studies, the Three Rivers dam and reservoir will be recommended to the next Congress as the logical answer to the region's water problem."

Bracht Promoted In Field Artillery, Texas National Guard

James C. Bracht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bracht of Rockport, has recently been promoted to field artillery, Texas National Guard. The announcement was made by Capt. Sidney Leventhall, Adjutant, XXI, Corps Artillery, Houston, Texas.

Cpl. Bracht is expecting orders to attend a communication course at the field artillery school at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, in January.

This course, which will extend into June, 1951, is intended to train Bracht to assume a responsible position in Corps Artillery Communication Service, according to Capt. Leventhall.

A. L. Bracht Attends Texas-La. Intracoastal Canal Convention

A. L. Bracht returned from Baton Rouge, La., Saturday, where he attended the annual convention of the Texas-Louisiana Intracoastal Canal Association convention held in that city Nov. 19 and 20.

Mr. Bracht and his brother, the late R. P. Bracht were two of the Rockport delegates who attended the first convention when organized in Victoria in 1905 by C. S. E. Holland and others of the Gulf Coast section who promoted this dream of inland water transportation, which last year handled twenty million tons of freight and this year has increased 300% and with unlimited possibilities.

There were over 300 from all over the United States attending this convention, including two Pickering brothers who also were instrumental in this enterprise. Mr. Holland was representing the Houston Chronicle at that time and his brother Frank Holland, represented the San Antonio Express at that time.

The U. S. Army Engineers promised a great future for this intracoastal waterway which may soon be extended down the coast of Mexico to Tampico by the Mexican government. Opening of the canal from Rockport to Aransas Pass and Ingleside will make a short cut and this work is soon to be completed and will reduce the distance some five miles.

Mr. Bracht stopped over in Beaumont four days where he visited his daughter, Mrs. M. J. Gray and family.

Lions Club Discusses Harbor At Meeting

The Fulton Lions Club met for their regular meeting Monday, Nov. 20.

They discussed the urgent need for a beacon light on the end of the wall at the harbor entrance, and it was decided to refer the situation back to the Coast Guard.

They are still trying to find a way to complete the harbor here, considering the fact that over $100,000 of the people's money invested in this issue.

Lion H. L. Teegerstrom gave a very interesting discourse on the carbon black industry, which started with the old time lamp black after the Civil War and which has advanced to the present carbon black.

They are advancing toward the elimination of black smoke which arises over the area. They have gotten it down to two white stacks and three black stacks, which they are converting.

The next regular meeting will be held Monday, December 4 at which time dinner will be served.

Roads Being Built For Wildcat Wells In Aransas County

Attempts to extend the prolific but temperamental deep production of the Mud Flats Field failed last week. However, the county had another deep wildcat in prospect in another part of the county, near a test now drilling below 10,200 feet, and a deep hole in the St. Charles gas-distillate field was preparing to complete.

The Mud Flats extension failure was at George W. Graham and Ryan, Hays and Burke No. 1 George Easley, 1 1/2 miles northeast of field production, which went to 9,260 feet and was abandoned.

Mud logger had been attached since 7,000 feet and the test had some shows, including one at 8,642 feet. However, none were considered commercial by the operators, who just a year ago next month had discovered the Mud Flat Field.

The No. 1 Easley was in Lot 1, block 47, 5th Addition, Taft Farm Lands, about 2 miles southwest of Bayside.

Union Producing Co., which is nearing contract depth on its third test in Virginia Field, northeast of Copano Bay, was building roads for a deep wildcat about 6 2/3 miles northwest of that field and near the Refugio County line.

Union Producing No. 3, Virginia Tattou was drilling at 10,283 feet Friday. This test, in John Durst Survey, A-51 has 7 inch protective casing set at 10,147 feet.

Union No. 4 Tattou, the Refugio County line wildcat, was building roads Friday for a 10,000 foot venture. It is in John M. Shreve Survey, A-186, 11 miles north of Lamar.

Incomplete details have been released for the public, but West-east Natural Gas Co. No. 12 St. Charles Ranch Co., St. Charles Field, Saturday was preparing to clean out hole and perforate for production tests around 10,890 feet. This zone previously had been drilled stem tested, but details were not released.

This test, total depth 11,420 feet, with 5 1/2 inch casing set on bottom, had run a dry test on perforations around 10,380 feet. It is in R. D. Blossman Survey 199, A-31.

The St. Charles Field was discovered by Continental Oil Co. before World War II, but had no gas outlet and was dormant during the war. Western Natural has maintained a steady development since it acquired the Conoco lease, and since the gas market improved.

On the southerly side of Copano Bay, 2 Salt Lake Field wells were active.

Renwar Oil Corp. No. 2 State Tract 105, Copano Bay, was drilling Friday at 6,830 feet on an 3,000 foot contract. This test is being dug from a surface location in Joseph Hollis Survey, A-76.

Atlantic Refining Co. No. 1 Adams Unit, set surface casing at 1,537 feet and Friday was drilling in shale at 2,120 feet on an 8,000 foot contract. This test is in Salt Lake, about 130 feet from the south shore, and in Kirkpatrick Survey, A-93.

Further steady development of Copano Bay Field was indicated last week when Phillips Petroleum Co. applied for Army Engineer permission to build drilling platforms, plus necessary gathering lines, for 5 more tests in the field which this company discovered last year.

ATOMIC ALLERGY DEFENDED

Development of the first simple and inexpensive device, capable of mass production, to measure the extent of exposure of individuals to atomic radiation, to meet both military and possible civil defense needs—is announced by the Department of the Army. Designated by Army Signal Corps as a self-developing photographic dosimeter, the device is small and light, may be hung around the neck like a soldier's dog tag, yet will measure very slight to fatal doses of radio activity.

Health Talks

When you walk into your doctor's office, shake his hand and sit down in the chair, he has made a rather hurried survey of your extremities. The way you use your feet and legs, the grasp and feel of your handshake, the movement of your arms and shoulders, and the way you bend at the hips to put yourself in the chair may give him enough information right there to know where to look further for danger signs to your health.

Starting at the lower extremities and working up, he will note blemishes on your toes and feet, knots that may speak of gout or calluses, toes that are webbed or missing, toe nails that separate from the beds, arches that are not there—denoting flat feet. The movement of the ankle, the turning in of the foot or too much turning out of the foot, all these are noted when he checks those feet and toes.

The legs are checked for sores, arising from outside influences or from the inside out. Distended and discolored veins are always important as to how they may affect the circulation of the legs and the feet. Legs that bow in or out may be due to disease that would be located elsewhere in your body. Oversized knee-caps or knees that don't bend easily may be significant.

Pain around the hip joint may be caused by diseases of the spine, nerve inflammation or dislocations in that joint.

Your joints are the hinges of your body, some of them operating on a limited motion, some on a full circular motion. Where those bones come together to form the joint, the enlarged ends of the bones are covered with cartilage, between the cartilages where they rub together is located a small sac called a bursa, and oiling the joint is stuff that looks like the white of an egg. All these things work together to form easy-moving joints and when any of them get out of whack, such as too much oil in that joint or too little, then the joint is likely to hurt, get stiff, and maybe swell and redden.

Then the muscles that keep that joint flexible as it should may dwindle and as the muscle shrinks there is a pulling such as is sometimes seen in arthritis. Diseases of the joints frequently lead to deformities.

There are other causes of deformities of the extremities, of course. Those present at birth are called congenital deformities and those that occur later are called acquired deformities. Injury, disease and amputation lead to acquired deformities.

Changes in the color of the extremities may be a signal of disease. If the blood doesn't get to all the parts of the extremities in sufficient amount due to circulatory obstruction or congestion, then the area may turn red, white or blue. If too much blood or infection is present in the area, it may turn red. So you have color signals of red, white and blue which your doctor checks and adds to the list of other signals he has picked up determining whether the changes in color may be due to a local trouble or one which is spread through the body.

Changes in feeling of the extremities may also be important. Heat, cold, pain or no feeling at all in certain areas certainly belong in the report of a medical examination.

The upper extremities include the shoulder, arm, wrist and fingers. They may offer much health information. As mentioned before, the way you shake your doctor's hand may tell him something about your health. Certainly a hearty, firm handclasp is associated with well-being, whereas a limp cold hand may be significant of undue nervousness. A warm, moist hand is sometimes associated with thyroid trouble.

Hands that shake all by themselves not only may mean health trouble, but the different ways and different times they shake are by themselves important. Hands that tremble when at rest may signify one disease, whereas those that are steady at rest but start trembling when put to work may mean something entirely different.

Short, quick trembling or shaking of the hands would fit into one category and a rough, coarse shaking over a prolonged period would lead to another type of medical diagnosis if it fit in with other signs which the doctor had already picked up during the course of the physical examination. Oversized hands, clubbed fingers, nails that curve in from top to bottom as well as from side to side, nails that separate from the bed may all have a special bearing upon the fortune of your good health as your doctor checks your extremities, or limbs, in the medical examination.

Girls, you can't make your husband feel like a Pagan God by placing a burnt offering before him at mealtime.

Game Management Program Expanded

The Executive Secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission announced plans for intensified game management studies on four widely separated areas recently purchased by the Commission. Areas were selected in various parts of the state because game management practices suitable in one type of habitat are not always adaptable to another.

Seventy-five percent of the funds used to acquire these areas was made available to the state by the Federal Government from excise taxes on sporting arms and ammunition. The remaining twenty-five percent of the cost came from the Texas Commission's special game fund.

These areas have been urgently needed by the Commission as field laboratories or wildlife experiment stations, the Executive Secretary said. In the past all wildlife studies had to be conducted on privately operated land. Changes in the agricultural practices and frequent changes in ownership often destroyed the work of game

Infection of Nose and Throat Cause Of Sinus Trouble

Austin.—Among the most frequent causes of sinus trouble are infections of the nose and throat like the common cold, influenza, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Exposure and chilling of the skin, poor diet, fatigue, allergies, infected teeth or tonsils, enlarged adenoids or other nasal obstructions also may cause sinus infection.

Blowing the nose violently, diving or swimming with the nose under water may force infectious material into the sinuses. Frequent use of sprays, oils and antiseptics in the nose may injure the mucous membrane and bring on sinus infection. General resistance to sinus infection can be built up by observing the rules for good physical and mental health. Get plenty of rest, good food and exercise. Protect your body from sudden changes in temperature and from exposure to extreme cold or heat. Don't expose yourself to infections, since colds and other infections of nose, throat and chest are often forerunners of sinus trouble.

Rest in bed and medical care for respiratory ailments are wise precautions against complications.

A stuffy nose is not necessarily a symptom of sinus infection; he may give you medicines to relieve the situation. But you should use nose drops, inhalants and salves only of your doctor recommends them.

Mrs. T. D. Picton left this morning, by plane from Corpus Christi, for her parent's home in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where she was called due to the serious illness of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingle Turner of Ingleside were Sunday guests at the Lloyd Smith home.

technicians before the problems under study could be completed.

A major objective of these areas will be to determine how maximum numbers of game animals can be worked into present day land use without reducing the economic returns from the land. Practical methods of game habitat improvement which can be applied to similar ranges under private management will be developed. According to the Executive Secretary these areas will also provide refuges to insure the preservation of certain game species.

Restoration and maintenance of soil fertility for the best production of agricultural products as well as wildlife will be an important part of the program.

Trained game men will live on the areas and will maintain close cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service, the United States Department of Agriculture, the Forest Service and other land use agencies as well as schools and colleges.

This coordination will give the Commission the benefit of specialized knowledge. In return it will enable the cooperators to study at first hand the progress of the program.

Another important function of these management preserves will be to spread game into adjoining ranges. According to the Executive Secretary some game species will be trapped and moved to suitable ranges where in time they may provide better hunting for sportsmen. Some of these areas may also be developed to provide important resting sites for migratory waterfowl.

The Executive Secretary further stated that landowners and sportsmen would be invited to visit the areas and see at first hand what is being done through management to increase our game supplies. Thus, they may learn practical game management methods which may be applied on their own properties or on areas where they hunt.

Fishy Story Turns Out to be True

Fort Meade, Md. — Henderson Dorsey must have had a lulu when the sergeant asked "Are there any questions?"

The sergeant was giving some new recruits a lecture on Army life yesterday. Dorsey, a 17-year-old Baltimorean, got mixed up with the recruits at Fort Holabird. He had overslept at that nearby reception center while on an overnight tour with some other high school students, and asked the military police to help him.

They did — by putting him on a bus. Also on the bus was a batch of new draftees, headed for Fort Meade.

When they arrived and the sergeant went into his spiel, Dorsey

New Penicillin Form

Los Angeles.—A new form in which penicillin can be taken in the normal breathing process has been developed at the University of California.

The penicillin is combined chemically with procaine. The procaine slows the absorption rate and allows a longer period of action for the penicillin, the researchers say. They also claim that the new product has fewer side reactions.

Miss Iris Sorenson spent last week-end visiting in Houston.

spoke up. It was all a mistake and he shouldn't be there.

This, the sergeant decided, was something for channels. It took a major's confirmation, but the sergeant became convinced and today Dorsey is still a civilian.

Kay King of Refugio is a guest this week in Rockport at the home of Miss Kathryn Torres.

Arley Shivers is in Austin today to witness the Texas-A and M football game.

MISS LOYCE MAE SHULTS AND ROBERT LANDRUM WED FRIDAY EVENING

Miss Loyce Mae Shults, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shults, and Robert Landrum were married Friday evening in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. C. P. Gulick of Houston and Charles W. Landrum of Beeville. The Rev. Walter Crabb officiated.

Wrought-iron standards holding lighted white tapers were at the altar. Tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli entwined with fern were on each side of the altar. An arrangement of white chrysanthemums was used on the piano.

Mrs. Norman McLead accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Bob Hebison, and played the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of ice blue slipper satin with blue chantilly lace bodice. Long sleeves came to a point over the hands, and self-covered buttons extended from the Peter Pan collar to the ballerina skirt. A shoulder-length veil of blue nylon illusion flowed from a Juliet cap of lace over satin. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink, surrounded by white carnations.

Miss Berta Gene Shults, maid of honor and cousin of the bride, wore pale pink taffeta. She wore a small cap trimmed with nylon net and wore matching mitts and a cascade bouquet of dark rose chrysanthemums.

Norman McLead was best man, and Tommy Shults and Stephen Atwood, brother and cousin of the bride, respectfully, served as ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Rouquette. The tea table, laid with a white crocheted cloth over pink, was centered with a reflector holding the bride's bouquet and flanked by pink tapers in silver candelabra. The three-tiered white cake was embossed with pink and blue rose buds and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The house party included Miss Helen Theodore, Miss Barbara Ann Fenner of Sinton, and Miss Kathryn Atwood, a cousin, who registered the guests.

Record Year Reported By Texas Cancer Group At Annual Meeting

Cancer Control in Texas received its greatest boost during 1950, reports of county units of the American Cancer Society in Texas showed Wednesday, as Cancer Society delegates met in San Antonio for their fifth annual state meeting.

If the amount of literature, exhibits, club programs and the like is any indication, more than one million Texans received the American Cancer Society's message of cancer control during the past year. Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, State Commander of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, reported that 1,252 club programs and movie showings on cancer were held by county volunteer workers. A total of 431,089 pieces of educational literature were distributed through club meetings, country fair exhibits, and a mailing arrangement whereby anyone can just address a request to "Cancer" care of Postmaster. This was in addition to more than one million pamphlets circulated during the annual Texas Cancer Crusade in April.

In discussing achievements at the formal business session Wednesday, Frank C. Smith of Houston, President of the Texas Division, reminded that when the Texas Division was established in 1946 there were only five clinics in Texas prepared to properly diagnose cancer. Today there are 28.

"Today there are 12 full-time cancer information centers in the state, established and maintained by county units of the American Cancer Society," he added.

(Editor's Note: A San Antonian, who is vacationing in Rockport, came into the Pilot office last Monday and volunteered that he wanted to tell a "fish story that is, nevertheless, a true story.")

"On Thanksgiving afternoon, Thursday, Nov. 23, while fishing from Perry Jones' Wharf at Rattlesnake Point, I witnessed the most recommendable circumstances. During the hour and a half I was there, five fishing boats returned to port carrying a catch of between five and six hundred fish, which, comprised mostly of nice sized trout, very few species of other fish.

Being an inland resident, I would like to give this as an example to the other inlanders who have not been informed or have not yet witnessed the great sport fishing that goes on in our great coastal area."—Lawton Shults, San Antonio.

Polio Care Prospects Prompt Texas Thanks

Austin.—Texans, noted for their traditional ability to make their own way, got a new challenge this week along with their Thanksgiving greetings.

A Texas woman brought home word from an Eastern meeting stating, in effect, that hope for finding means of avoiding polio and for curing victims hinges on public support of current research.

The woman, Mrs. R. O. Pearson, of Abilene, also relayed the cheering news from a March of Dimes organization meeting in New York City, that better diagnosis and treatment of polio has cut down distortions so that "terrific wrecks of children" rarely are seen today.

Mrs. Pearson, who is State Advisor on Women's Activities for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the most promising development in polio research is "the possibility of a preventive vaccine."

"Such a vaccine has been used successfully on experimental animals," said Mrs. Pearson, "but it remains to be discovered just how many types of polio virus there are and which persons are not already immune and need to be immunized."

The Texas woman predicted the answer would be found "in the

S. A. Symphony Singers' Society In Concert Saturday, Dec. 2

SAN ANTONIO—The 200-voice Singers' Society of the San Antonio Symphony will join the Orchestra and Musical Director Max Reiter for the fourth subscription concert at Municipal Auditorium Saturday night, Dec. 2.

The large choral group, under direction of Charles Stone, will be featured in a group of religious works and choral excerpts from grand opera.

The orchestra's program, according to Conductor Reiter, will range from a Haydn Symphony—No. 104 in D Major ("London")—to a modern orchestral study—"Symphonic Metamorphosis on Themes by Carl Maria von Weber", by the contemporary German-American composer, Paul Hindemith.

The chorus and orchestra will be heard first in three religious Chorales, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" (Bach), Ave Verum (Mozart) and Te Deum (Verdi). Choral and orchestral Wagnerian excerpts will climax the Saturday night program and include the Chorale and Finale, from "Die Meistersinger", and from "Tannhauser", the Introduction to Act III, the well-known "Pilgrim's Chorus" and "Hall of Song".

The Singers' Society will be participating in a Symphony concert for the third consecutive season—the first, in a memorable presentation of the Beethoven Ninth Symphony, and, last year, in the Orchestra's Christmas program.

Tickets for the Saturday night concert are available at the Symphony's Auditorium box office. Mail orders are filled in the order received.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

I Have A "Close Squeak"!

Spent last Saturday morning wandering all over the house. Wherever I went—upstairs or down—I kept hearing a "squeak." Couldn't find out where it was coming from until noon-time when the missus came home from her weekly shopping.

"Listen," I says to her, "hear that squeak?" I started walking real quiet-like across the kitchen and there it went again! "Joe Marsh," she laughs, "that is nothing but your suspender clips rubbing back and forth when you walk!" And darned if it wasn't! From where I sit, I'd been let-

Quail Season Near at Hand

Quail hunters in most of the state may look forward to improved quail hunting this fall, states the Executive Secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

The quail hunting season for the state is from December 1 through January 16, both days inclusive, with a bag limit of twelve per day or thirty-six per week. However, in the twenty-eight county area of the Panhandle, only ten birds per day may be taken with a possession limit of twenty. West of the Pecos the season is open only during December and the daily bag limit is twelve, with not more than twenty in possession. There is no open season on Mearns quail.

The Executive Secretary explains that many counties have special quail laws and urges hunters to check the local regulations before they go hunting.

Wildlife biologists of the Game Department are conducting studies of quail population through examination of quail wings again this year. The Executive Secretary requests hunters to cooperate in this work by sending one wing from each bird they kill to the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission in Austin. A study of quail wings will show the per cent of young birds and indicate the production and survival for the year.

To facilitate mailing of wing collections, the Game Commission will supply special business reply envelopes on request. These provide a space for recording pertinent data and require no postage from the hunter. The active help of hunting clubs and other groups is being solicited.

It is essential that wings from cocks and hens be placed in separate envelopes but any number of wings from birds of the same sex may be placed together. Only one wing from each bird should be saved. Date and county of collection are also necessary. In official envelopes are not at hand, any kind of paper sack will suffice if properly labeled.

One further bit of information is requested. In order to compare quail populations in different parts of the state, a place on the wing envelope will be shown for recording the number of coveys found per day of hunting. The Executive Secretary states that this will also add to the picture of the state quail situation.
