

C. OF C. OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY

Along The Waterfront

The nice calm warm weather has made the fishing really good in the waters surrounding the peninsula and there is a goodly number of fishermen here.

Near the wharf at Jolly Roger Camp, the smaller trout have been biting, while those going out to the point are getting catches of nice size trout. One fisherman caught a large golden croaker at the Jolly Roger wharf, and the floundering is good now, also.

Mills' Wharf reports lots of fish and fishermen. Herb Mills took out Graham McCullough and party from Victoria, Sunday. They landed 150 nice trout and gafftop. Merchanettes to Play Home Games Next Week

The Merchanettes will have two home games next week, when they meet Beeville on Tuesday night, and the Kingsville NAAS Waves on Wednesday night.

In a substitute game here Friday night, Rockport blanked Kennedy 9 to 0. The Merchanettes were to have played the Humble Oilierettes of Kingsville, but the Humble girls were unable to make the trip. The Merchanettes started the scoring in the Kennedy game by bringing in five runs in the bottom of the first inning. One run in the fifth and three runs in the sixth ended the scoring for the Merchanettes.

The Kennedy girls, who were short one player, were assisted by Jean Demory, a Junior Dickson player.

Pitcher Opal Warden of the Merchanettes, allowed no hits and no runs to the opposing team.

Tuesday night the local girls traveled out of town to meet the Kingsville NAAS Waves. The Merchanettes made the first score of the night, when the short stop crossed home plate in the top of the second, followed by Mary Wright to make the score 2-0.

The Waves first scored in the bottom of the second when Beidler came across to make the score 2-1. Beidler again came home in the bottom of the fourth to tie the score two-all. The score remained a tie until the top of the sixth when the Merchanettes slammed across nine runs.

The Waves didn't score in the sixth, and allowed the Rockport girls to bring in seven more runs in the seventh to make the score 18-2. The Kingsville girls rally started in the last inning when Catcher Watkins slammed out a two-run homer to make the score 18-5. The rally ended when the next three Waves up made outs.

The Merchanettes will play their home game here Friday at 8 p. m.

FRIDAY, 13 UNLUCKY? — ASK THEODORE

K. Theodore, local retired restaurateur man, has always scoffed at the idea of Friday the 13th being an unlucky day . . . and was more inclined to ridicule anyone expressing a belief in days of ill omen after last Friday, June 13, for on that day Theodore found a $5 bill on the streets of Rockport.

But . . . before the end of that day he was not too sure that his belief that Friday the 13th was the same as any other day — for you see, Theodore had another bill (a $20 bill) in another pocket of his trousers.

When Theodore arrived home and was telling the wife of his good fortune of finding the $5 bill, the $20 was missing — lost on the streets of Rockport!

Now K. Theodore is a firm believer that any Friday the 13th is an unlucky day, especially Friday, June 13th.

Thoughts of A Lion . . . SAD TALE OF A VAGRANT BREEZE

This (at times) lovable little tramp brought a sense of coolness to summertime Rockport as he came in from the Gulf. He played hide-and-seek among the salt cedars and bent the live oaks into fantastic shapes; played up and down Main Street to the exasperation of public spirited citizens, as he chased back and forth the empty cigarette packs, popsicle wrappers, discarded advertising dodgers and the myriad of other pieces of trash that thoughtless boys and girls (from 6-0-60) had dropped for his sport.

Here's the sad ending to this little Gulf Breeze's happy play — he met the Lions Club. They have taken away his playthings, for every big boy and little boy and girl in our town has resolved to throw every bit of scrap paper into the handy containers that are only a few steps away from where anyone is ready to discard unwanted and unsightly trash.

BAR GIVES TIPS ON JURY SERVICE

Thousands of Texans are called each year as prospective jurors in our many state and federal courts. When chosen to serve, very few of these violate their oath with intentional misconduct. But honest mistakes have all too frequently brought the sincerity and ethics of an individual juror into question. Usually such errors arise from his misunderstanding of his function as a juror—for the jury is judge of the facts in the case before it.

Like Caesar's wife, the juror must not only avoid wrong, but must also avoid any appearance of wrong. Otherwise, his integrity and honor may be brought into question by actions which are actually innocent but appear censurable to those who view them. By observing the following simple suggestions, the juror may be sure he is maintaining the highest of ethics, in which no possible fault may be found by others:

Hold yourself aloof from all persons (except other jurors) in any way connected with the trial of the case. That means that you should not mingle with nor talk to the lawyers, witnesses, parties, nor the judge, even though the discussion is wholly unrelated to the trial.

Do not discuss the case nor permit others to mention it to you or in your presence during the trial. If anyone insists upon talking about the case after you have explained to him that you are a juror and must not listen, report the matter to the judge immediately.

Do not commence your deliberations until you have heard all the evidence from both sides, the argument of the lawyers, and the court's charge. You should not mention the case except in the jury room when all other jurors are present.

Do not become a private investigator. All properly admissible evi-

The Oilers will meet the Columbus Red Birds in the eight o'clock feature game. The losers of the Monday night contests will meet in the opener, and one will definitely be eliminated.

The Weimar Truckers, 1950 Texas semi-pro titlists, meet the Randolph Field Ramblers at six o'clock Wednesday evening. In the second game the winners of the Fort Sam-Corpus Christi Navy and Victoria-Brooke tilts will oppose each other.

From all indications the tournament promises to be one of the best ever staged here. Bill Rogers, a veteran baseball player and scout, will serve as tournament director. The Brooke Medics have been tabbed as the team to beat, however, the Plymouth Oilers, Weimar Truckers, Fort Sam Rangers and Columbus have their share of fans, as well as the Victoria Rosebuds, who are now beginning to round into form.

A total of twenty team and individual trophies will be distributed among the teams entered in the tourney. The tourney winner, runner-up and the third and fourth place teams will each be presented with appropriate trophies. Other club awards will include trophies for team sportsmanship, to the most popular team, the number one service team, best dressed club and to the team traveling the greatest distance to the tournament.

Individual awards will be given to the most valuable player, leading hitter based on twelve official trips to the plate, leading pitcher, outstanding catcher, outstanding infielder, outstanding outfielder, three individual sportsmanship trophies and for the most spectacular play.

Financially speaking, the teams entered in the local meet should fare well too. Cash awards will include a minimum of 40 percent of the net gate receipts to the winner, 22 percent to the runner-up, and 12 percent and 6 percent to the third and fourth place teams respectively. Twenty percent of the net receipts will also be apportioned according to the miles a team travels to reach Sinton based on one trip. All teams, therefore, will share in the gate receipts, regardless of how they finish.

Warm Weather Increases Danger of Food Poisoning

Austin, Tex. — Bacteria grow more readily in warm weather and this increases the danger of food poisoning, warns Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. Since modern refrigeration public health has improved. However, cases of food poisoning do occur, in spite of the more healthful measures of storing food.

Sickness from food poisoning usually strikes quickly and explosively, and those who do not eat the infected food escape. Usually in one to four hours after eating contaminated food, victims feel ill. If it is a mild case of poisoning, recovery usually begins in eight to 12 hours, but victims may feel the ill effects for several days.

Another important safeguard to prevent food contamination is that the hands of the person who prepares food be scrupulously clean, and free from cuts and sores of any kind.

Usual symptoms of food poisoning are diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps, and weakness. Whenever you feel these symptoms, be sure to call your physician. Do not wait, hoping it will wear off; sometimes food poisoning is fatal!

The staphylococcus organism grows best in foods which are slightly fatty, such as fat meats, salads with rich dressings, cream pies, cream puffs, or any food with custard fillings. So if anyone in your family takes his lunch to work during the coming hot months, be careful of the foods you put in the lunch, and don't include any of these foods.

WEDNESDAY CLUB MET WITH MRS. BOOTH

Mrs. Fred Booth entertained the Wednesday Bridge Club at her home Wednesday afternoon, with the following ladies playing: Mrs. L. M. Bracht, Miss Mabel Bracht, Mrs. A. L. Bruhl, Mrs. Fred Christilles, Miss Genevieve Bracht, Mrs. Arthur Bracht, Mrs. Arthur Curry, Mrs. C. C. Fowler, Mrs. J. P. Hanway, Mrs. Fred Hunt, Mrs. Travis Johnson, Mrs. J. H. Mills, Mrs. Carrie Picton, Mrs. J. T. Hord, Mrs. Louis Bailey and Mrs. George Francisco.

Mrs. Francisco won high; second high went to Mrs. Travis Johnson, and Miss Genevieve Bracht received third high.

The home was decorated with marigolds and zinnias and Mrs. Booth served a light refreshment plate to her guests.

Mrs. Ray Thomerson is in the Aransas Pass hospital where she had major surgery last Saturday afternoon. She is improving.

Dr. H. F. Elliot's mother, Mrs. Rose V. Elliot Elliot is flying today to Washington, D.C., to visit her other son, Joe Elliot.

Engineers Ignore Wildlife Resources In White River Plans

The Army Engineers, in spite of obligations under Federal law, seem bent upon pressing plans for flood control and power development in the White River Basin of Arkansas and Missouri without the least regard for important basinwide wildlife values, according to the Wildlife Institute. Some of the best deer, turkey, and squirrel habitat in these states; popular and economically important float fishing waters; commercial fisheries; and one of the most important winter waterfowl concentration areas in North America would be destroyed.

The White River National Wildlife Refuge, embracing 116,354 acres of natural flood plain, where the Government has spent $1,254,579 in acquisition and development would be seriously affected. The value of the refuge and some of the most productive hunting lands in North America, which adjoin it, lies in the fact that alternate natural flooding and dewatering of land in the lower White River Basin has led to a lush growth of important waterfowl food plants—oaks, chufa, smartweed, and millet. Material changes in the annual water cycle will prevent the production and utilization of this food and cause the invasion of worthless brush. What not is a wildlife paradise would be turned into a relative wildlife desere.

Congress authorized the construction of six general-purpose dams in the White River Basin in 1938; two additional reservoirs were authorized in 1941. By 1945, the Corps had tentatively selected a total of 14 reservoir sites, now has completed two dams and will shortly finish a third. Since 1945, it has modified its plans considerably. It proposes that three flood control projects be altered to include hydroelectric power, which would necessitate a greater storage capacity and corresponding changes in the downstream flows. Although the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has studied its plans for six years, the Corps does not propose to consider the over-all effect of its comprehensive plan on wildlife, preferring to give this consideration only after individual projects are authorized and as detailed plans for each are developed.

The most serious danger to wildlife life is not in any one dam, however, but in the cumulative effects of the entire plan; not only at the reservoir sites, but downstream on the flood plain.

The Service contends that wildlife values should be considered in the basin-wide plan of operation, as the losses of habitat in the lower valley can be prevented only through modification of proposed river flows to meet wildlife needs. It believes that this can be accomplished without loss of flood protection where needed. Specific protection and replacement measures would be required to prevent all losses that are threatened.

FAIRWAY TODDLER—Walking in from a brisk "round" of golf at a San Francisco course, little Linda keeps up with daddy as she did all day. Linda was just eight months old when she launched her golfing career. Note the spikes on her golf shoes.

Failure to follow these recommendations may well result in a catastrophe to the waterfowl resource which the Corps, as a branch of the Government, is obligated to preserve under the Migratory Bird Treaties with Canada and Mexico. White River is one of the most important waterfowl wintering areas in North America, and during the height of the season, as many as two million ducks may use the refuge at one time. The habitat is irreplaceable and its loss would be disastrous.

Under Public Law 732, (79th Congress) the Corps is obliged to consider the recommendations of the Fish and Wildlife Service in making its plans for river developments. In this case it appears that it is brusquely sidestepping the word and letter of the law and will continue on its way unless stopped by public opinion. It is high time someone in authority reminded the Army Engineers that they are the servants of the law rather than a law unto themselves.

Central Power & Light Co. Will Construct New Power Plant In C. C. Area

Construction of a new power plant by Central Power and Light Company will begin before the end of the year, it has just been announced by J. L. Bates, vice president and general manager. The new plant, to be located in the Corpus Christi area, will be named Lon C. Hill Power Station in honor of the company's president.

Action to name the plant for Mr. Hill was taken by the board of directors of Central Power and Light Company in the form of a special resolution. Lon C. Hill has been CPL president longer than any other chief executive and has guided the company through its greatest era of expansion.

Lon C. Hill Power Station will be built about one and one-half miles from Calallen, to the east of the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks. The 104-acre plant site is near CPL's Calallen substation, where five existing 69,000-volt transmission lines converge. Power from the new Lon C. Hill Power Station will flow into these lines for transmission throughout South Texas. By the time the new plant is ready for operation, another and still higher voltage line will be completed to the site. It will be a 138,000-volt transmission line extending northeast to Victoria and southwest to Falfurrias from Lon C. Hill Power Station.

Generating equipment for the new plant, which will have an initial net capability of 66,000 kilowatts, was ordered early in 1951 and preliminary engineering work has been under way since that time. Actual construction will begin during the last half of this year and the new plant is scheduled for service on January 1, 1954.

The first generating unit in Lon C. Hill Power Station will be capable of producing twice as much electric power as the largest unit in any other CPL power plant. Additional units will be installed as needed, and it is expected that Lon C. Hill Power Station eventually will be Central Power and Light Company's largest plant. It is designed to serve a large South Texas area, rather than a specific locality, and will supplement the power output of other plants already strategically located in the load centers.

Lon C. Hill, for whom the new plant is named, became CPL president in 1939. Under his leadership the company has achieved the greatest growth in its 36-year history and is still expanding rapidly. Since the beginning of 1939 the number of electric customers served by CPL has more than doubled and the amount of electricity sold per year is almost five times as great. Of the company's three largest power plants, two have been built since the beginning of 1939 and the third has tripled in size. During the same period the company's transmission and distribution systems and other service facilities have also been greatly expanded. As the engineering work on Lon C. Hill Power Station goes forward, a new 33,000-kilowatt addition to Victoria Power Station is nearing completion and will be in service during September. This year, increasing the CPL power supply to 300,100 kilowatts. Two more 33,000-kilowatt generating units are on order, one to be added at Victoria and the other at a location yet to be determined. By the end of 1955 the company will be able to supply its customers with 432,100 kilowatts of electricity, as compared with 267,100 at the present time. The highest customer demand to date is 243,400 kilowatts.

This latest development on the city's waterfront cost $2,277,000 and occupies eight acres. State Health Officer Predicts 30,000 Deaths From Heart Disease In '52

Austin, Tex. — State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox has forecast the death this year of some 30,000 Texans due to heart and blood vessel diseases. Twenty thousand will be men, and at least half the total figure—both men and women—will be less than 70 years old.

The problem of worn-out hearts, thickened blood vessels, and kidney disorders is an old one, he asserted, but said the longer length of average life isn't the whole reason for the great numbers of heart disease deaths.

"To prove that point he quoted these figures: Of the 30,000 Texans that cardiovascular (heart and blood vessel) diseases will kill in 1952, about 15,000 will be less than 70 years old, 700 will be in their 30's, 2,000 will be in their 40's, 4,500 will be in their 50's, and at least 7,000 in the 60's.

Since 1941, the male death rate has exceeded the female rate by something like 70 percent, the health officer said. For those 75 and over the risk of death from heart disease is a fourth again as great for men as it is for women.

These ever increasing deaths to heart, kidney, and blood vessel disorders have been observed for the last 30 or 40 years.

"If a statewide heart program is to develop," he declared, "it will be necessary that there be provided a professional coordinating committee that will council on program procedures and give necessary directions on essential medical services."

He credited the American Heart Association with "successfully influencing" fund appropriations, and for formulating a heart control program for the nation.

Brush Control Reconciles Economy and Wildlife Values

Properly used, chemical brush killing compounds can make public utility rights-of-way valuable to wildlife and simultaneously greatly reduce maintenance costs, the Wildlife Management Institute reports. This has been demonstrated and tested in Massachusetts. Under the supervision of Dr. Frank E. Egler, noted plant ecologist and research associate of the American Museum of Natural History, a 48-acre forest of sprout growth around a transmitter of Station WHDH has been converted to permanent low brush. Maintenance costs have been reduced to a minimum.

Conservationists have become alarmed over blanket spraying to eliminate brush from transmission lines. Power sprayers, under the usual system, are used along the lines during the spring, drenching all foliage with oil solutions of weed killer. Overgrown power lines are attractive to wildlife, and the usual spraying season corresponds with the height of the breeding season; many nesting birds and young mammals are killed, directly when toxic substances are used, or by exposure when brush is defoliated. Blanket spraying also risks law suits from the drift of chemicals to neighboring private croplands and woodlots. In addition, annual heavy spraying is needed because undesirable species tend to sprout in spite of repeated spraying.

All of the objections can be eliminated, Dr. Egler has shown, by selectively killing tall-growing plants and encouraging low-growing shrubs, herbs, and grasses. Under this system, the heavy sprouters are poisoned during the winter by spraying the lower stems of the plants. Practically no sprouting results and the remaining vegetation prevents invasion of undesirable species. The site treated under Dr. Egler's supervision was formerly a red maple swamp, and the dominant species is notoriously difficult to control. Five years after the initial spraying, this tree had been eliminated from the area. Blanket spraying costs about $15.00 a year per acre for the first six or seven years and drops to around $9.00 for annual maintenance. Costs for the initial spraying under the Egler system range from $6.00 to $23.00 an acre, depending upon the density of the brush, and drop sharply to $2.50 an acre for annual maintenance.

POSTED PRICES IN CAFES EXPLAINED

Restaurants are required by OPS to post their ceiling prices and in places where they may be plainly visible to the public, OPS reminded this week.

Posters for use in properly displaying their ceiling prices may be obtained at the San Antonio district OPS office, 229 West Nueva Street.

OPS also said each cafe menu must have the following statement clearly shown on or attached to it: "All prices are our OPS ceiling prices or lower. A list showing our ceiling price for each item is available for your inspection."

The OPS restaurant regulation fixes prices charged by cafes, taverns, caterers, hot dog stands, and others, at the highest level charged during the week of Feb. 3, 1952.

NEW METHOD FOR FIGURING SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS

"Social security insurance payments for many people filing claims now will generally be higher," says H. M. Cleveland, manager of the Corpus Christi social security office. "Payments to a retired worker will range between $20 and $80 a month with the average around $50 to $60. The amended Social Security Act provides a new method of figuring benefits when a worker has at least six quarters of coverage after 1950, Cleveland explained. Under the new formula the payments are figured on the average monthly wage or self-employment income beginning January 1, 1951, instead of averaging the wages all the way back to January 1, 1937. In most cases, average monthly earnings during 1951 and 1952 have been higher than during the past 15 years, and a higher social security benefit results. This is not an automatic increase for people already receiving the insurance payments. Their rate will stay the same unless they should return to work for about a year and a half to qualify under the new formula. During 1952 there may be a difference in the benefit amount depending on when the application is filed, Cleveland said. Everyone who is 65 or over and who plans to retire in 1952 should consult the social security office for exact information as the law applies to him. He can then decide when would be the best time for him to file his application. In the case of self-employed people retiring this year, benefits will generally be lower if they apply before January 1, 1953. Mrs. Anna Godines and daughter, Sandra, of San Diego, Calif., spent last week with her brother, R. D. Torres and family.

Health Talks

Your physical contact with the outside world is mainly through the air you breathe and the food you eat. Your mental contact with the outside world is through the five senses: smelling, tasting, seeing, hearing and feeling.

You can breathe and eat, maintaining life, without any mental perception at all. It requires physical coordination of an automatic nature to breathe and to eat, but nothing more.

To perceive the outside world through the five senses is a more delicate function of the body, one which combines the physical and mental functions, one which calls in the system of nerves of the brain, the cranial nerves. The cranial nerves are numbered from one to twelve, some of them having distinct functions, others working in combination. The first two cranial nerves pick up outside substances which they send from their ending through the brain and deposit on the outside of the brain, the whirls and convolutions that lie under the skull.

The olfactory nerves at the top of the nose pick up vapors that create odors, send them to the olfactory bulb at the front of the head where they are received in the olfactory tract and sprayed to the back topside of the brain. Since odors usually are created by oils in the air, the olfactory nerve can best be remembered as the "oil factory" of the body. This is the No. 1 cranial nerve.

No. 2 among the cranial nerves is the optic nerve which controls the sense of sight. Different parts of the eye pick up different substances, such as pigments, which are all jumbled together in the optic nerve behind the eyeball in the tube that makes the optic nerve. This tube goes out through the back of the eye socket to the middle of the brain and on out to the back of the brain.

This No. 2 nerve and Nos. 3, 4 and 6 fit together like a television set. In the first place, the "juice" has to be on, the brain has to be functioning. Then the "tube", the eyeball, has to get warmed up. When the eyeball starts receiving the picture (and all those other smaller tubes in the set aid in the reception), then you have to adjust the picture. No. 2 is the eyeball receiving the picture. No. 3 and No. 4 are the horizontal and vertical controls of the picture, the nerves that bring the picture into proper focus. And Cranial Nerve No. 6 is like the "brightness" knob on the television set, making the picture lighter or darker as need be.

The No. 5 nerve, called the trigeminal nerve, might be inserted here as the "voice" of the television set. It is connected with the action of the nose in breathing (which is essential to talking), it works the jaws, it flaps the front part of the tongue, it gives to conversation since it has to do with taste, and it branches out all over the brain like those wires to all the small tubes in the television set.

When you get all those gadgets functioning properly, you want action on your television set and Cranial Nerve No. 7 is the action. That's the winks, the blinks, the smiles, the frowns of your face—the action in the picture when the set is adjusted to receive it. If all those gadgets in the set aren't working in harmony, then the action gets botched up. So it is with your facial nerve—it acts upon what it has received through all the other nerves. It is concerned with reaction, the look on your face when the other nerves tell you what's going on.

No. 8 is also a reaction nerve, the reception of the sound which has been sent out. In your television set the sound comes in through the air, gets collected into the set, and is thrown out to you so you can hear it. In your body you don't hear the sound come in; it gets collected in your ear, and then you hear it. That's what the eighth cranial nerve does for you, collects sound waves so you can perceive them, like the second nerve collects sight waves in a manner that you can perceive them.

From all this conglomeration of sight, sound, taste, hearing and feeling, Cranial Nerve No. 9 sends

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS To: F. W. BLACKBURN, ROY G. AUSTIN, and C. W. CONNERY, if living, and if any or all of the said persons be dead, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of each or all of the said above named person who may be dead, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court of Aransas County at the Court House thereof, in Rockport, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 21st day of July A. D. 1952, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 2nd day of June A. D. 1952, in this cause, numbered 2896 on the docket of said court and styled WILLIAM JOHNSON, Plaintiff, vs. F. W. BLACKBURN, et al, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

A suit in Trespass to try title to all of Block 64, and all of Block 84 of the Fulton Addition to the Town of Fulton, Aransas County, Texas; as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Rockport, Texas this 4th day of June A. D. 1952.

messages into the mouth and throat to warn them what's coming. The mouth gets the saliva ready, the throat starts gurgling to swallow, and other such activities take place from the messages of the other cranial nerves. Nerve No. 10 serves in the same manner for the organs of the body, the lower throat (both windpipe and gullet), the heart, and all the organs of the chest and abdomen. They are told what's on the way by No. 10, so they can be ready, on the mark, when it gets there.

The muscles of the body receive their message from No. 11, which carries the messages to the spinal cord. Then they know what to expect and can be ready for whatever good or bad those cranial nerves have detected en route. The last of the cranial nerves, No. 12, is perhaps fittingly, tied to the tongue. The tongue doesn't take all this reaction lying down. Whatever message the cranial nerves pick up and distribute to the rest of the body, there's the old tongue flapping by means of No. 12 cranial nerve impulse, having the last say on the subject.

CAFES ADVISED ON OPS REGULATIONS

Some public eating places that recently raised beer prices may be violating OPS pricing regulations, OPS said today.

Prices they were charging for beer during the "price freeze" period of Feb. 3-9, 1952, of the new OPS restaurant regulation, may be above ceiling prices, San Antonio district OPS said.

Sellers of beer who took more than a 2-cent increase are likely in violation and may be subject to enforcement action.

OPS explained that their margin of cost percentages can reveal that their beer prices are not in line with OPS, and urged those who are not sure they are in compliance with OPS regulations to contact, in person or by mail, the district office, 229 West Nueva Street, San Antonio.
