Cooking-For Men Only

New men's cookbook tells how in pictures.

Most men don't understand cookbooks, which are written in language they were never taught, either at their mother's knee or in school. And, at the same time, outdoor barbecues and such have aroused their interest in cooking.

But to the average man saute, parboil, coddle and braise sounds like the name of a law firm. However, there's a little book out now which has solved that problem. Instead of just telling men how to cook, it shows them how in pictures. The booklet is called "How to Keep That Gal in Your Life" and covers a variety of dishes men like, from barbecued spareribs to ham steak. As an added touch, it advises on the art of being a "beertender"—the techniques of stor-ing and pouring beer and ale so that they will be served at their very best with male-cooked meals.

Another feature of the booklet is a broiling chart which tells how long to cook steaks of varying thicknesses in order to have them rare, medium or well-done,

The booklet is free for the asking from the United States Brewers Foundation at 535 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Easy Does It—Again!

Ladies Aid Society had their rummage sale the other nightand as soon as the doors opened, "Easy" Roberts was inside.

Without a word, he headed straight for the coat counter, picked out a shabby old tweed jacket, and paid for it. "Easy" told me a little later that buying his jacket back was getting to be a regular habit.

"That's been my favorite smoking jacket for years," he said. "And my wife talks me into giving it away regularly. Then I get to thinking how much I like it and hurry down to buy that jacket back. This is the third time I've done it!"

From where I sit, everyone's entitled to his own likes-whether it's a sports jacket, a baseball team, or the beverage he likes for dinner. For example, the wife likes coffee along with Saturday night spaghetti while I like a glass of beer. We never try to "sell" each other on our personal preferences.

Safety Ass'n Prexy Urges Children Not To Play In Streets

"Have you ever seen a car jump Tuesday evening at the First the curb, run up into somebody's who was playing there?"

> "You probably haven't," he said, "and the chances are you never each Sunday thereafter at 9:00 see automobiles kill youngsters

Col Tilley used this illustration to stress the importance of keeping children out of the street, point that is being emphasized in Mrs. Alice Smith has returned the current Child Pedestrian and Texas Safety Association and the

> "When we allow our children to play in the street, we're throwing them right into danger's path,' he told parents. "Twenty-three thousand children under 15 years old were injured or killed while playing in the roadway in 1952.

> "Youngsters themselves don't realize the danger," he said. "They must be warned repeatedly until staying out of the street has become a habit. Even then", he reminded, "in the excitement of play they sometimes forget."

According to Col. Tilley, crossing the street in mid-block, darting out from behind parked cars, and crossing at intersections against signals are other practices that cost many youngsters their Pointing out that children are more likely to learn by example than by precept, Col. Tilley appeal ed to parents to teach traffic safety to their youngsters by their own safe behavior in traffic. He listed the following as rules that parents might well adopt.

1. Walking or driving, always set a good example for children by obeying all trffic signs and signals and observing safety rules. 2. Cooperate with schools and traffic officials in teaching children safe traffic attitudes and

3. See that children play only in approved play areas. 4. Teach children safe use of bicycles and outdoor toys.

Why the swing to

Only a six cylinder engine that has every modern engine development can offer so many advantages to all your driving. And that's why, every day, more and more Six buyers are joining the swing to America's most modern Six . . . the NEW 115-h.p. OVERHEAD-VALVE I-block SIX!

Deep-block design keeps it smooth and quiet. This deep, I-shaped block, like an "I" beam used in construction, gives you a more rigid engine. This means greater quiet and freedom from vibration which in turn adds to engine life. Another smooth-operation feature is a crankshaft with four bearings.

Go-power through the whole range of driving speeds. Ford's I-block Six gives you extra "get-going" power at high speeds—as well as at low and average speeds. This gets you past trucks in a hurry; gives you safety fast. One reason for this is the four-port intake manifold for efficient gas-feeding to all cylinders.

More "Go" per gallon with low-friction design . . . Automatic Power Pilot. Ford's low-friction design means an extra-short piston stroke—so piston travel is greatly reduced for less gas-wasting friction than in conventional engines. Automatic Power Pilot squeezes more high-compression "Go" from less gas.

AND YOU GET ALL THE FEATURES THAT MAKE A FINE CAR FINE!

For the first time ever in a low-priced car, Ford offers you new Ball-Joint Front Suspension for a smoother ride without gas-eating extra weight. Ford also brings you new styling. Interiors are of the most modern design with the last word in upholsteries and trim. Exteriors are more beautiful than ever . . . with many colors to choose from. And Ford also offers five fine-car driver aids as optional "extras": Fordomatic Drive, Master-Guide Power Steering, Swift Sure Power Brakes, 4-Way Power Front Seat, Power-Lift Windows.
