No Immediate Shortage on Water

Mrs. Dave Segler, city secretary, reports that there is no immediate shortage of water for Rockport. The citizens are urged not to take advantage of this because a shortage could occur if one of the city's pumps broke down. The number of gallons used last month was 12,888,200.

Rev. Pollard Back In Pulpit

THE ISLAND ITSELF

Frاندولig Island is an almost triangular body of land lying in Aransas Bay approximately half the distance down the Texas coast and directly northeast of the city of Rockport.

It consists of 226.65 acres when an elevation of 0.42 feet above mean low tide is used as a base. Another 67 acres lie below that point.

The island rests on a clay shelf and is separated from the Texas mainland by an inlet known as Little Bay.

The three sides of Frاندولig Island face the northeast, the south, and the west. The northeast side is the longest, measuring approximately 7200 feet. The west side has a frontage of about 6800 feet, and the south side is almost 5000 feet long.

The northeast and south sides of the island face Aransas Bay and are generally straight. The west side overlooks Little Bay and is irregular.

The distance between Frاندولig Island and the mainland varies from 15 to 2500 feet. The widest separation is along the center of the island. The mouth of Little Bay is toward the south and is approximately 1000 feet wide. The point where the northeast and the west sides of the island meet is separated from the mainland by only a narrow channel.

In all, Little Bay covers about 250 acres. It has a depth ranging from one to four feet.

The elevation of Frاندولig Island ranges from sea level to 10 feet. The highest points are along a shell-and-sand ridge which runs the full length of the island's northeast side. In the center, the ridge splits, forming a natural inlet about 4000 feet long. The inlet, in turn, has divided itself into three small salt-water lakes.

The rest of the island has a surface of pure, heavy sand, which—unlike the sand found at many other points along the Texas coast—does not tend to move with the breeze. The sandy sections of the island are flat, and, in general, about four to six feet above sea level.

Frاندولig, nonetheless, is one or several islands, depending on the tide. A number of shallow channels cut through the southwest part of the island from Aransas Bay to Little Bay. When the tide is low, they are empty. A rise of a few inches fills them with water and isolates small patches of land.

Aransas Bay is protected from the waters of the Gulf by St. Joseph Island, a long strip of land of varying width situated about three miles seaward from Rockport. For that reason, Frاندولig is subject only to small tidal variances. The mean tidal range is two feet.

The northeast side of Frاندولig Island has an excellent beach containing deposits of both shell and sand. Behind it is a bluff which rises abruptly to mark the start of the ridge which already has been mentioned.

Toward the south and west sides are equally fine beaches of an entirely different type. They are composed entirely of hard-packed white sand and rise gradually to the level of the island.

The beach along the south side actually is part of a sandbar which arcs southwest for a distance of almost two miles from Ninemile Point, where the northeast and south sides of the island meet, across the mouth of Little Bay to the Rockport waterfront. The sandbar is seldom more than six to twelve inches below water level even across the mouth of Little Bay and usually is clearly visible.

All three of the Frاندولig Island beaches are ideal for swimming. Beneath the water the bottom is sandy and slopes downward gradually. There are no abrupt drop-offs and no undertow.

Along the northeast side of the island, the bottom drops about one foot every 100 feet from shore. The drop is even more gradual along the south and west sides. The general depth of Aransas Bay beyond the clay shelf on which Frاندولig Island rests is from eight to twelve feet.

About 40 per cent of Frاندولig Island is covered with vegetation. This includes, in the main, the higher elevations along the northeast side and around the southwest corner. The island soil grows coastal bermuda and other South Texas grasses, along with several varieties of cacti, bushes and trees. In places, the vegetation is extremely thick.

The Intracoastal Canal runs across Aransas Bay in a north-south direction approximately 6000 feet east of Ninemile Point and offers easy access to the Gulf for all types of pleasure craft. Boat traffic to the Gulf follows the Canal through the Lydia Ann Channel to Port Aransas, then turns seaward in the Corpus Christi deep-water channel between St. Joseph and Mustang Islands.

The development of Frاندولig Island is part of a long-range improvement program initiated last year by the Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 to bring into public use a chain of harbors and beaches along the shore of Aransas Bay.

Already a harbor capable of accommodating 130 boats has been constructed at Fulton, three miles north of Rockport. An industrial harbor is planned in an area known as The Cove south of Rockport. And modernizing and deepening of the existing Rockport harbor has been done.

The soil removed from the Fulton and Rockport harbors has been deposited nearby along the shoreline to provide additional beach space.

The Navigation District has not formulated a detailed plan for the development of Frاندولig Island. That will be left to the private interests who undertake the task. However, it is the opinion of the District that the Frاندولig development should include major hotel or motel facilities, a pleasure craft harbor, a water sports arena, and a variety of beach and entertainment facilities.

Frاندولig's inlets and channels offer natural harbor sites and a variety of water frontage. The sandbar spanning the mouth of Little Bay and the point of land stretching within a few feet of the mainland at the island's west-northeast corner ease the problem of establishing roadway connections. The deepening of Little Bay offers the two-sided possibility of creating a water arena and providing the necessary soil to raise the level of the island's low spots.

Here is a Texas opportunity of the finest type—one that is sure to stir the imagination and to open the way for even greater development of one of America's fastest-growing and most prosperous coastal areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Garrett and Sherri will leave on vacation the 18th to be gone two weeks. They plan to visit Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and attend the Garrett Reunion at Eastland the 25th and 26th, then back home.

Smith-Proll Rites Solemnized

In a candlelight ceremony at the Laurel Heights Methodist Church in San Antonio, Friday night, Miss Carol Ruth Proll became the bride of Pat Elgin Smith of Rockport.

Mrs. Ben Scholl played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Weldon Thomas, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Proll of San Antonio are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith of Rockport, the parents of the groom.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. Her dress of white silk bombazine over taffeta was a Benham original.

waistline. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara embroidered in a bugle bead and seed pearl motif and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Susan Proll was her sister's maid of honor, Mrs. Ralph V. Lemes, the matron of honor and Amanda Proll, cousin of the bride, the flower girl. Miss Dee Herring of Belton was a bridesmaid.

Jimmy Sparks of Rockport was best man and the groomsmen were Darrell Vandever of McAllen and Lt. Milton Gabriel of Taft.

An arrangement of pink and white gladioli centered the bride's table which was laid with a lace cloth. On one end was the white tiered rectangular wedding cake topped with silver bells and on the other, a silver bowl holding pink punch.

Hugo Traupmann poured punch. The groom's table, also laid in lace, had a floral arrangement like that of the bride and the wedding band cake was served by Mrs. Charles A. Roe Jr. of Rockport.

For her wedding trip, Mrs. Smith wore a melon linen suit with navy accessories. After August 20, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home in Belton, where they will be members of the faculty of the Belton schools.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School, San Antonio and South West Texas State Teacher's College.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Wolf Inn, Thursday night.

Additional guests at the wedding from Rockport were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Jackson, Mrs. I. E. Mc-Lester, Miss Sue Armstrong and Mikol Smith.

Blessing of the Fleet Scheduled for Sept. 2 In Aransas Pass

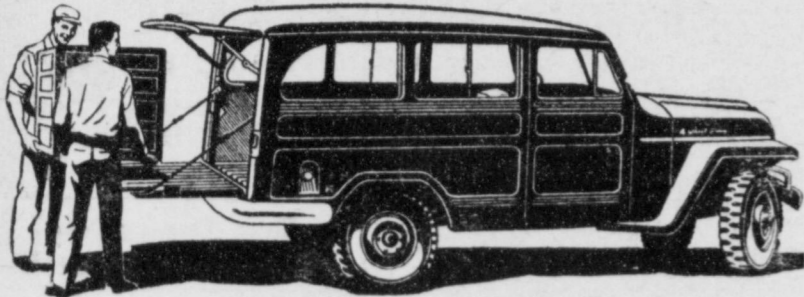

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Aransas Pass invites boat owners to share in the Blessing of the Fleet, given by the Catholic Church, on Sunday, Sept. 2, at 1 p. m. at Conn Brown Harbor, in Aransas Pass.

A trophy will be awarded to the best decorated boat. There will also be three prizes given to the three best decorated boats. These prizes will be valuable merchandise which the business firms of Aransas Pass have donated. The program is as follows: The general blessing will be given first; then each boat will file past the blessing stand to receive an individual blessing. It is asked that only crew members and their families be on the boats for the blessing.

The shrimp boil will start at 12 noon, and there will be a charge of 50c per plate. Concessions and games will continue throughout the afternoon and evening. The proceeds of these, with the exception of the soft drink concession which the Jaycees have, will go to St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Aransas Pass.

For past 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. July 24, 8,500.
For past 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. July 25, 13,100.
For past 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. July 26, 5,800.
For past 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. July 27, 11,600.

Total for 2 week period, 125,000 pounds.
For the month of June, 1956, 58,000 pounds of shrimp were reported, and for May, 1956, 101,000 pounds of shrimp. The total amount turned in for 1956, from January through June, is 357,000 pounds of shrimp with heads off for the Rockport-Fulton Area.

The Phillips Petroleum Company has applied for a permit from the U. S. Engineers, to operate in Copano Bay on State Tracts Nos. 42, 43, 44, 45, and 70, approximately seven and a half miles north of Rockport. The company proposes to place an eight-inch pipeline one and a half feet below the bed of the bay at the above location. The line would extend from a header in Tract 45 approximately 10,300 easterly, and then 700 feet to the southward to the mean high tide shore line.

Various permits have been applied for by the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, of Shreveport, La.

The first is along the Aransas River, approximately 3 1/2 miles upstream from the Texas Highway No. 136 bridge across Copano Bay, and 3 1/2 miles west of Bayside.

The company proposes to place 30-inch pipe lines across the river at the above location. The pipe lines would be placed a minimum of 3 feet below the bed of the river. According to the plan submitted the Aransas River at the site of the proposed crossing has a width of approximately 300 feet and a maximum depth of approximately 3 feet at the elevation of mean sea level.

On the Mission River, at a location approximately two miles upstream from Mission Bay, and seven miles north of Bayside, the company proposes to install the crossing for the two pipelines, the tops of the lines to be placed three feet below the bed of the river. According to plans submitted, the Mission, at the site, has a width of 160 feet and a maximum depth of 2 feet at mean sea level.

On Copano Creek, approximately 5 1/2 miles upstream from Copano Bay, the company proposes to install one 30-inch line. According to the plans submitted to the engineers, Copano Creek, at this site, has a width of 30 feet and a maximum depth of three feet.

Shrimp landings at Rockport and Fulton, for the 24 hours ending at August 9, amounted to 14,100 pounds of tails, according to the report from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service market news branch.

On the whole Texas coast, shrimp landings during May (the last month for which weights and prices have been compiled by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service) amounted to 1,637,084 pounds of tails, with a total value of $987,608. To produce this much business would normally require a capital investment $19,752,160, drawing 5% interest.

An interesting point about the reports is the breakdown between the various kinds of shrimp. For instance, during that month Texas produced 828,074 pounds of brown shrimp tails; 56,198 pounds of pink shrimp; and 785,812 pounds of white shrimp.

Texas Shrimpers Request Embargo on Mexican Shrimp

In an 11-page document to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Sydney Herndon, President of the Texas Shrimp Association, has related the history of seizures of United States shrimp trawlers in the Gulf of Mexico by Mexican gunboats since 1950. The Texas Shrimp Association, "... the President of the United States be requested to exercise his power to declare an immediate embargo on all shrimp caught by Mexican shrimpers and imported into the United States until a satisfactory solution of this matter can be reached. We most earnestly implore that this action be taken without delay." The letter further states that, "Unless something is done to stop these high-handed seizures and the indignities which are being heaped upon American seamen, the future of the U. S. shrimping industry might well be at stake." The letter cites the seizure of 5 shrimp trawlers by a Mexican gunboat on the high seas in 1950 and a number of seizures that have followed since that time. It specifically points out that 8 shrimp trawlers have been seized on the high seas more than 9 marine miles off the coast of Mexico since April 21, 1956, and requests that immediate steps be taken to protect the American shrimping industry.

Formal Antelope Permits Readied

AUSTIN — Formal applications for the fall antelope hunts are ready, announced the Chief Clerk of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Persons interested in the hunts should write him at Commission headquarters in Austin. Blanks and instructions for formally applying will be forwarded promptly. Deadline for mailing requests for the applications is midnight August 31, which means they must be postmarked before midnight of that date.

E. A. Walker, Director of Wildlife Restoration, estimated upwards of one thousand head of prong-horned antelope will be earmarked for harvest. Approximately seven hundred head will be available West of the Pecos, where both bucks and antlerless antelope will be taken. The remainder will be in the Panhandle.

Should more persons apply for the special permits than there are antelope available, the customary public drawing will be held in the Commission's Austin headquarters.

The hunt West of the Pecos will be in two sections. The first will be October 1 through October 3, and the second October 5 through October 7. The Panhandle shoot will be in three periods, comprising Oct. 11-13; October 14-16; and October 17-19.

The Chief Clerk admonished persons writing in for the application forms to indicate whether they prefer to hunt West of the Pecos or in the Panhandle. He said groups will be permitted to apply so that they may be permitted to hunt in the same party.

From where I sit by Joe Marsh

Turned Out To Be a Good Break

We had a water main break last Thursday. Happened early in the morning—about two a.m.—and the first thing most of us knew about it was when we tried to turn on the faucets and nothing came out but a hissing noise.

Nobody was inconvenienced much though. Repair crew went right to work—and things were fixed up in jig time.

Incidentally, the water company got a flood of payments on overdue bills that day. Lots of "forgetful" folks must have figured they were being warned!

From where I sit, sometimes our obligations slip our minds. Like the responsibility we all have to our communities . . . to see that our neighbors enjoy the right to decide for themselves how to work, how to vote, whether or not to enjoy a bottle of beer. Any time we "forget" we owe this right to others, we take a chance on stopping the flow of tolerance that makes this country such a grand place for us to live in.
