Writer-Photographer Team Here On Garroway Assignment

Ivan P. Sanderson, author, zoologist, lecturer and explorer, and Roy Pinney — one of the nation's top photographers, concluded a four-day stay with nationally-known birdwoman, Mrs. Jack Hagar Monday, and will eventually carry back to New York films and continuity on Aransas and Welder Wildlife Refuges that will be used on the Dave Garroway show. The writer-photographer team is one of the first legs of a 25,000-mile journey, covering all the biotic provinces of North America, filming TV sequences and collecting material for articles in the Saturday Evening Post, Sports Afield, American Heritage and Horizons, as well as for two more books.

"By the time we return to New York," Sanderson said, "we will have been from Greenland to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, and from there to the westernmost Aleutians, with boat, horseback, and airplane trips wherever we need to go that can't be reached by car. We'll even go far up inside the Arctic Circle, as well as into the deserts and jungles of the continent. Sanderson started his career as a zoologist and author many years ago when he led an expedition to West Africa, collecting scientific material for the British Museum of Natural History and similar institutions.

The work he did there brought him zoological recognition and the book he wrote — "Animal Treasure" — famed in this country for its (continued on page 8)

A combined barbecue and membership drive of the Aransas County Athletic Boosters Club will be held on Saturday, April 11, at the Lions' Pit in front of the Woman's Club, Sheriff A. C. Shivers, president of the organization said Wednesday morning.

All members who have paid their renewal dues for this year, and all new members, can get in on their membership card, the sheriff said, but for people outside the club, it'll cost them a buck a plate, and is a bargain at that.

Pirates Ready For Refugio Meet

Ten Pirates from Aransas County High School will compete in the Refugio Relays Thursday, where they will meet athletes from all classes of schools, from AA down.

John Cabaniss, mainstay of the Pirate backfield in football, will enter the pole vault, as will Carl Snyder, who hung up an Odem Relay record last week of 11'2", disdaining shoes which he says interfere with his flight over the bar.

In the 880-yard relays from Rockport will be Cabaniss, Richard Happner, another star halfback, Hayes Warden, and Pedro Torres.

Gilbert Garcia and Joel Meador are entered for the mile run.

For the shot put, Pirate mainstay is Clyde Townsend, backed by Gene Gregory, and both these boys toss the discus also. Gregory also runs on the sprint relay medley.

Others on the medley relay are Cabaniss, Warden, and Brooks Robbins. Cabaniss is also entered in the broad jump.

Dash man is Happner, for the hundred and for the 180-yard low hurdles. Snyder will compete in the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump.

The meet will be a warmup for the triangular meet to be held in Pirate stadium here on Friday, April 3, in which Bloomington and Ingleside will compete with ACHS.

Dan Snyder is coaching the pole vault and high jump men; Pat Gilpin is handling the 660-, 880-, and mile runs. Coach for the 330, 440, mile relay and broad jump is Pat Smith; Dave Segler is coaching low and high hurdles and shot put; and head coach Melvin Borchert has charge of the sprinters, 440 relay, and discus.

Tourist Promotion Committee Meets

John Sutherland, chairman of the tourist promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined a suggested course of action for the coming year at the regular meeting of the committee.

First, he suggested that future Chamber of Commerce maps should include prominently portrayed highway distance readings, from a central Rockport point to places of tourist interest not located in Rockport, such as the Aransas Wildlife Refuge, the country club, and the Welder Refuge.

Sutherland also spoke of the work on Aransas County's fourth and fifth harbors, at Little Bay and the Cove as worth all the encouragement the chamber could give, and recommended that efforts be made to develop Frandolig Island.

The committee chairman also recommended that an attempt be made to improve the Rockport and Fulton waterfronts by widening the beach roads in front of both communities.

Moreover, he commended the Navigation District for its program aimed at better facilities for recreation-type small craft, and for water sports.

Another recommendation Sutherland made was for more street signs.

Mrs. Mary Juergens, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, suggested a hospitality clinic for residents coming in contact with visitors, to enable them to orient tourists and vacationers on points of interest and recreational facilities.

In other business, Mait Scott and Mrs. H. E. White reported on tourist game nights at the VFW Hall, and the committee voted to continue them in the 1959-60 season.

The committee also voted to ask the Aransas County Woman's Club to continue to manage the Monday afternoon tourist card parties during the same period.

Mrs. Juergens told committee members that the Coastal Bend Tourist Association had suggested that Rockport send a representative to the Dallas Sports Show, and had offered space in the CBTA booth.

It was voted to pay Mrs. Juergens' expenses for the trip.

Other discussion revolved around need for a public fishing pier in the area.

SHRIMP BOAT SOLD IN FEDERAL AUCTION

Federal officers Wednesday auctioned the shrimp boat Mary Ella for $1,000.

The buyer was of Rockport Boat Works. The boat was sold after suit was filed in admiralty court here for $729 allegedly owed for repairs.

MAKING DOLLY HAPPY—For the doll who has everything, a New York toy firm has come up with something which is certainly unusual and expensive. It's a solid mink baby carriage valued at about $3,000. The enraptured little girl is Barbara Algie, 7, of Levittown, N.Y.

Industrial Inventory Prepared By C of C Ready For Selective Distribution Now

An industrial inventory of Rockport, prepared by Jack Baughman for the Chamber of Commerce, has just been released for selective distribution this week through James A. Jarboe, chairman of the chamber's industrial committee.

The 83-page, illustrated booklet is jammed with facts and figures on Rockport, from the population of whooping cranes on Aransas Wildlife Refuge to the number of pounds of carbon black produced yearly by the giant plant of the United Carbon Company four miles

Candlelight Communion To Be Held at First Presbyterian Friday

A special Holy Week Candlelight Communion Service will be held at the First Presbyterian Church on Good Friday night, March 27, at 7:30 o'clock. Special music for the occasion will be furnished by the organist, Mrs. J. Allen Frye and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. N. F. Jackson, and a men's chorus.

On Easter morning, at 11 o'clock, there will be another program of special Easter music, but there will be no evening services that day, because of the many that are scheduled for sunrise at the beach and in the various churches throughout the area, Pastor Arnett Ward said.

There will be no communion on Easter, he said, as the next regular communion date will be on April 5.

The ladies' intensive Bible study will also be omitted on Easter Sunday, he said, and be continued on the first Sunday in April.

EXTRADITION ASKED ON STANLEY STARLING

A hearing is set for April 15, in Sarasota, Florida, to determine whether or not Stanley Starling shall be returned to Rockport for trial on a charge of theft by bailee.

Starling was arrested in Florida a year ago, and returned here by Sheriff A. C. Shivers, having waived extradition at that time. Admitted to bond in the amount of $2,500, Starling was released and his trial set for Feb. 16, 1959.

He failed to show up, and a new arrest order was issued. Arrested recently, and held in jail at Sarasota, Starling refused to waive extradition again.

District Attorney John Flynn prepared the papers asking for Starling's return.

ABSENTEE VOTING STARTED

Absentee voting for the school board election will close April 1 and the election will be held April 4. Two candidates are running for re-election.

In the city race, where two candidates have filed for each place, absentee voting started March 18, and will close April 4, with the election to be held on April 7.

V. A. Duilye, Jr., is opposing the incumbent, Roy Rogero, in Precinct 2, and Frazier Cantrell is running against incumbent Jack Houston in Precinct 1.

Rockport, the brochure says, is the home of the Marine Laboratory of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, the 813th AC&W Squadron of the Air Defense Command, flourishing shrimping and tourist industries, a Tennessee Gas Transmission Company stripping plant, an Episcopal camp, a summer camp for Girl Scouts, Goose Island State Park, and the southern Mother House of the Schoenstatt Sisters of Mary.

It is within easy reach of several major metropolitan areas. Corpus Christi, one of the fastest growing cities in the southwest, is only 30 miles to the south. It is just 170 miles from Houston, 153 miles from San Antonio, and 381 miles from the Dallas-Fort Worth region to Rockport.

On the basis of 1950 census figures, there are 249,293 people within 50 miles of Aransas County, of which Rockport is the county seat. There are 462,973 persons within a hundred miles, 1,590,699 within 150 miles and 3,075,571 people within 200 miles, which helps Rockport's business as one of the most popular summer and winter resorts in Texas.

The population of the area has tripled within the last nine years, and is continuing to grow at an accelerated pace. An airport, five harbors handling anything from outboards to ocean liners, and close proximity to two of the greatest wildlife refuges in the country — Aransas Wildlife Refuge, home of the whooping cranes, and Welder Wildlife Refuge, the largest privately endowed organization of this type in the world — add to the area's interest.

In 14 well-illustrated chapters, the survey deals with a description of the region, business conditions, living conditions, recreation, agriculture, shrimping, retail sales, taxes, the Navigation District and its facilities, transportation, population, utilities, raw materials and markets.

According to Mrs. Mary Juergens, manager of the chamber, an effort has been made to collect for the first time all the information that a prospective industrialist might want and to present it in compact and readable form.

To keep the survey up to date, Mrs. Juergens said, supplements will be issued yearly, giving the latest developments in the area, along with statistical tables dealing with the various business indices, such as sewer and water connections, postal receipts and so on.

YACHT BASIN MOTEL SOLD THIS WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCoy, formerly of Seminole, Texas, have purchased the Yacht Basin Motel from Mrs. Naomi Johnson this week, and are in process of remodeling.

The McCoy's have been at Anaco and Barinas, Venezuela, for the past four years, returning to this country late last fall. While in Venezuela, McCoy was employed by Helmerick and Payne, drilling boats were exempted.

Sunrise Easter Services Planned

Combined Choirs and Congregations Have Programmed An Extensive Service, Led by Aransas County Ministerial Association

A brilliantly lighted cross at the Rockport beach will mark the site of the annual Community Easter Sunrise Service, sponsored by the Aransas County Ministers' Association and the Council of Church Women, March 29 at 6 a. m. Persons of all faiths are cordially invited to attend.

C. D. McClure will play "Easter Fantasy" as an organ prelude. Easter trumpets, played by Terry Wills, Ronnie Blisset and Charles Cosby, will call the congregation to worship.

Following the invocation by Rev.

CITY COUNCIL APPROVES PLANS FOR TWO STORES

Plans for two new business structures were approved by the city council at their regular meeting Monday night — an addition to Roe's Food Store and a replacement for the Bushart building, destroyed by fire nearly two months ago.

The plans for Roes, prepared by Seth H. Steele, call for an extension across the back of the present building 28x75 feet. This, when completed, will make the finished building stretch for 127 feet along St. Mary's Street, on which the main entrance of the store will face.

This addition will raise available floor space from 4,900 to 7,000 square feet. The new portion will be used as a warehouse, while existing inside walls in the older part will be demolished, giving nearly 5,000 square feet of sales space, which will be completely rearranged.

The new entrance will be of aluminum and glass, controlled by electric eyes. An extensive paved parking lot will also be constructed at the rear of the store. New fixtures will be installed where necessary. The building will be of stucco.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bushart were given permission to use the walls of the former building still standing as a starting point for their new structure, which will measure 90x45 feet, and will be of fireproof construction. An aluminum and glass front will extend across this building and the smaller one to the south which is also owned by the Busharts. Mexican face brick will be used on the front, also, which will be completely modernized.

In other action, the council appointed an equalization board, consisting of J. P. Hanway, Fred B. Hunt, and A. L. Holland. The first meeting of the board will be held on May 6, in the office of the city secretary.

Two lots recently purchased by the First Presbyterian Church were granted tax exemption, but a request from R. J. Beeman for closure of a portion of the street between Holiday Lodges and Patio Courts was denied.

House Votes New Shrimp Controls

The House Monday passed 134-3 a shrimp conservation bill which would close the season in the bays from Dec. 15 to Aug. 15 and would set a 45-day closed season in the Gulf generally from June 1 to July 15.

But some House members who worked on the bill (HB12) for five weeks in subcommittee said they expected it to run into enough trouble in the Senate to require a joint conference. There is now no closed season in the Gulf and shrimpers are permitted to work the bays from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31 and from March 1 to July 1. Bay bait shrimpers could take shrimp during the closed season for sale as bait only.

Representatives spent most of the day, however, working on a bill (HB11) to license boats in Texas waters and prohibit operation of boats without prescribed safety equipment.

The bill was engrossed 74-56 but no effort was made to get an immediate vote on final passage. All boats with a motor of 10 horsepower or less would be exempted under an amendment but the boats must carry life preservers and a white float. Commercial fishing boats were exempted.

A. Arnett Ward of the First Presbyterian Church, the congregation will sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Then the combined choirs, under the direction of Mrs. N. F. Jackson, will present an anthem "Christ Is Risen." Mr. Harry Carter, lay minister of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, will give a Scripture reading depicting "The Closing Scenes of Jesus' Life." "Tis Finished! So the Saviour Cried" will be sung by a male quintet composed of M. W. Cochran, J. Allen Frye, Stanley Heath, Bob Morrison and Dick Weekley.

Another Scripture, "The Dawn of a New Day" will be read by Rev. Buford Harris of the Northside Baptist Church, and the anthem, "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" will be rendered by the combined choirs. Rev. E. J. Mills of the Fulton Baptist Church will give the Scripture on "The Appearance to the Disciples" and Mrs. J. Allen Frye will sing a duet, "Was It For Me?"

Rev. Asa F. Avant, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will give the final Scripture, "Easter's Challenge." Following the hymn, "Lead On, O King Eternal" by the congregation. Rev. Ward will pronounce the benediction and Mr. McClure will play "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" as a postlude.

The Hammond organ used for the service is being provided by Bledsoe Music Co. of Corpus Christi. Many other organizations and individuals are contributing their efforts to this beautiful service. Jackson Marine Service and Central Power & Light Co. installed the lighted cross. The Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts under the direction of L. W. Tuer and Philip Baldwin will arrange benches for part of the congregation and distribute the bulletins. The public address system is being provided by the Rotary Club and the Sheriff's Department will supervise the traffic and parking. Mrs. Charles A. Roe is contributing the use of the concession stand as well as assisting personally. The bulletins are being prepared by Miss Marvina Davis, secretary of the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Holland will install and operate the public address system. Members of the Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist choirs wish to thank Miss Jean Venable for her assistance in their preliminary rehearsals.

In case of bad weather, the service will be held in the building of the Woman's Club of Aransas County.

Carl Snyder Wins Pole Vault Setting New Odem Record

Carl Snyder of Aransas County High School, who vaults barefooted, won the pole vault at the Odem relays last week, setting a new record of 11'2", and out-topping D. Nix, of Tuloso-Midway, who had beaten him the week before at the "Toast of the Coast" Relays, with a vault of the same height. John Cabaniss also of ACHS, was third in the event.

Snyder also tied for second in the high jump, hanging up a mark of 5'5".

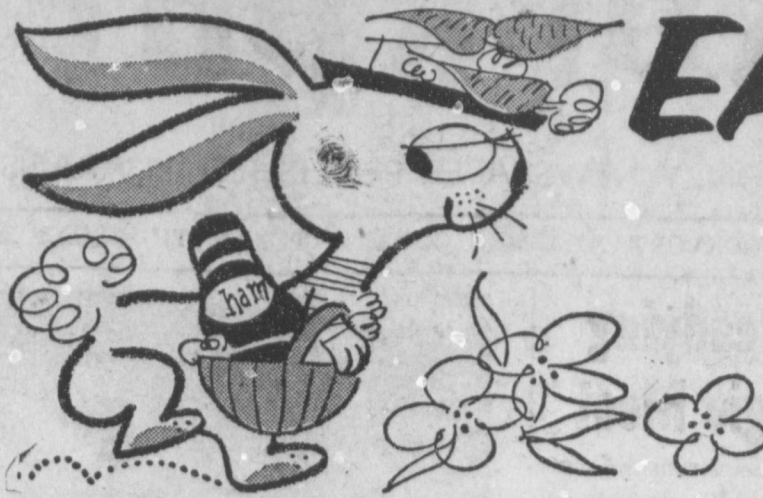

Rotary Elects Officers For Coming Year

The Rotary meeting Wednesday noon was devoted to election of directors for the coming year.

Dudley Bracht is the new president, replacing J. B. Jackson, who automatically becomes program chairman for the coming year. George Dickey is vice president; Bill Meigs succeeds himself as secretary. Billy Sanders is assistant secretary, and D. R. Simmons, sergeant-at-arms. Terry Learly was also elected a director of the club. Rev. A. Arnett Ward is the other director.

Visitors to the luncheon consisted of two high school seniors, Jenice Bateman and Nell Mundine, who were guests of the club, and visiting Rotarians Lloyd Dean, Ingleside; Merritt Light, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; J. W. Egger, Ellis, Kan.; and Jeff Simpson, Racine, Wis.

Reception at Elliot Home Sunday Honors Recent Rockport Arrivals

During the hours between two and six Sunday evening, a reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Homer F. Elliot, honoring Doctors Elmer and Harriet Beckstrom, and Dr. Charles Perry.

In the receiving line besides the hosts and honorees was Miss Lola Bonner, sister of Mrs. Elliot.

Arrangements of pink carnations and purple iris were placed at vantage points in the living room; the long, polished buffet was adorned with golden jonquils and yellow gladioli.

Alternating in serving were Doctor Gladys Auten of Ingleside; Mrs. Betty Kaye, Aransas Pass; and Mrs. Frances Clark, Mrs. H. H. Dick, and Mrs. Milton Harrell. They were assisted by the Misses Rosanne Elliot and Sue Harrell and Dennis Elliot.

The honorees, Drs. Elmer and Harriet Beckstrom, are associates of Dr. Elliot, and arrived recently from Dallas. Dr. Charles Perry, who was associated with the Beckstroms in Dallas, accompanied them and opened an office here. He is Dr. Harriet Beckstrom's brother.

Over 200 guests called during the afternoon.

Business Organization

The law allows a business a wide choice of ways to set itself up, to finance and manage itself.

You may have sole ownerships, partnerships, joint ventures, corporations; and within these classes you have many different forms.

To meet modern business conditions, to get full tax advantage, and to protect investors, for example, the law provides many ways for a company to protect investors, for example, the law provides many ways for a company to finance itself. And these, in turn, influence the kind of management it can have, and the way it conducts its affairs.

We sometimes speak of "stocks and bonds," for example, as if they were one and the same.

But when you buy a share of stock in a company, you "own" an "undivided" part of everything it owns, but no particular piece of its property.

But what do you have when you buy a corporation's bond or debenture? You own nothing of the company. Instead you are lending money which it promises to pay back with interest when your bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder as a rule has little to say directly about who manages and how he manages the company. Remotely a bond buyer by withholding or lending money may influence a company's ability to expand. The bondholder gets only his interest payments, which come before the stockholder's "dividends," since he takes less of a risk than the stockholders.

Thus if the corporation quits or goes bankrupt, it must pay the bondholders off before the stockholders get anything.

Where does the "preferred" stock come in? As a rule, preferred stockholders collect a fixed dividend—after the bondholders are paid out before the "common" stockholders get anything. There are many kinds of preferred stock arrangements. But in return for their first chance at the profits the preferred stockholders often give up any voting rights or ability to control the company directly.

Registration Opens For Children's Camp

The Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville will open June 7 and Lions Clubs are accepting applications for free two-week camping sessions.

The camp is celebrating the 19th anniversary of its charter, and Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed this week as Texas Lions Camp and Crippled Children Week.

The camp is free to all crippled children between 7 and 16, regardless of the economic status of their parents, Carl Osborn says.

Any crippled, blind, deaf or mute boy or girl in the state, except those with contagious diseases or who are mentally retarded, bedfast or require nursing care, is eligible.

The camp is located on a 504-acre site near Kerrville and has facilities for 120 children at each of its six two-week sessions. All buildings, including bunk houses, dining hall, infirmary, recreation hall and chapel, are designed with special features to afford safe and easy use by campers. It also has a swimming pool specially designed for handicapped children.

The camp sessions are divided into age groups—three for children 7 through 11 and three for those 12 through 16. The first session begins June 7.

The camp is financed through dues from all Texas Lions, individual contributions and special Lions Club projects.

All eligible children are invited to apply for a free two-week session by calling Carl Osborn.

Hank Schleider Tapped for Honor

Hank Schleider, attending the University of Texas, has been selected by the university for honoring because of his outstanding grades.

In a letter from Dean Arno Nowotny, Mr. and Mrs. Schleider were told: "The university rewards outstanding scholarship in the freshman year by offering membership in the Phi Eta Sigma. We hope your year will accept our invitation to join."

"Phi Eta Sigma is a national honorary organization maintained for the purpose of encouraging better scholarship among undergraduates. In your son's freshman year this was a goal toward which your son could work. Now that he has achieved this goal, we are asking him to promise to maintain his high scholastic standing and to set himself up as a model for future freshmen."

Hank's grades were 2.8, and to attain membership only a 2.5 average is needed.

Mrs. Travis Bailey Entertains Club

Mrs. N. E. Boughton poured, and Mrs. Eugene White served the cake.

Birthday club members who played "84" were Mrs. A. C. Glass, Mrs. F. H. Prescott, Mrs. Roy Hinton, Mrs. M. E. McDonald, Mrs. Asa F. South Texas Grass Coming Back Now

Three ranches for the price of one may sound like bureaucratic double talk, but over in Dimmit County Dolph Briscoe is raising three cows where only one grew before. So are a lot of other South Texas ranchers, so many that we'll have to let Briscoe stand as a prototype for all of them.

Old, sorry, worn-out land, too poor to support a goat, furrowed by erosion and hidden by brush, has been turned into waving fields of stirrup-high blue panic and buffalo grasses on which Briscoe cattle graze and grow fat.

There's no mystery about how ranges are made to yield three times their normal feed. Get rid of the moisture-sapping growths of the brasada — the mesquite, catclaw and head-high prickly pear — plant grasses adapted to the soil and climate, and it can be done. The cost of tripling productivity of the range in this manner is only a fraction of the price asked for non-available land.

But it has taken a lot of trial and error to find out the cheapest way to do this.

Many people contributed time, effort and money. The King Ranch, one of the pioneers, developed drought-resistant, nutritious grasses and brush-clearing techniques. These were refined and improved by manufacturers who made the heavy equipment necessary, and by individual ranchers and soil conservationists.

Then, in 1953, the Dimmit County Soil Conservation District tried root-plowing and seeding blue panic grass at the same time.

"We just put together a couple of old ideas," said W. Harlan Owen, then a SCS technician. "Rootplows had been around and depleted rangeland had been seeded before, usually on undisturbed or chained soil. But this was the first time these practices had been combined, and they worked."

Rainfall that year was only six inches compared to the normal 21 inches, but heavy showers in the late summer allowed the seed to sprout, and the grasses grew rapidly to a fine stand. It was the best pasture seen in those parts for many a year.

You don't have to hit soil conservationists and South Texas ranchers over the head with facts like that but once for them to get the idea. The process has been mechanically refined since then, and new methods are continually being developed, with the result that millions of acres of once-rich grass lands — described in the early days as the best wild pastures in the world — are coming back into production.

The giant tractors cut across the desolate wasteland, their heavy

MONSTERPIECE—A celebrated villain in Scandinavian folklore, this troll turns a snaggle-toothed grin toward its owner, Mrs. Hans Stackegard of Oconomowoc, Wis. The doll was sent by her mother, Mrs. Ingeborg Pihl of Hagfors, Sweden. Equipped with long white hair, black-tufted tail and furry feet, the doll is a representation of mythical figures from many stories, including Ibsen's play, "Peer Gynt."

dozers knocking down brush that may be fifteen or twenty feet high. Rear-mounted root plows cut through the crusted earth to a minimum depth of 14 inches — severing all brush roots; turning, crumbling and aerating the soil, and dumping the uprooted brush behind to die.

In the same operation a specially-attached seeder uses the draft from the tractor's fan to blow grass seed over the plowed earth, spreading a combination of blue panic and buffle grass seed at the rate of four pounds per acre. Neither grass is native to the area — blue panic came from Australia, buffle grass from South Africa — but planted in this manner they produce pastures which Briscoe says are capable of producing 50 pounds of beef per acre per year.

Briscoe, by all odds the best-known leader in this save-the-range campaign, operates three ranches totaling 187,000 acres — not as big as some in South Texas, but still a lot of land to clear from brush.

On his Catarina Ranch along the Rio Grande he has restored 70,000 acres and has another 30,000 to go. So far his brush fight has cost him nearly $500,000 but he says:

"This is turning out so well that I guess I've gone hog-wild on it. But you know, I used to be frightened when I thought about what our country here would be like in 1970. Now I'm planning for the day when we'll have this whole 100,000 acres covered with grass, supporting a herd of 5,000 registered Santa Gertrudis cattle."

Mexican Shrimp Imports to U. S. Have Record Year

Late figures from the Mexican Bureau of Fisheries and Allied Industries indicate that the 1958 shrimp catch in that country was a record one. The data shows that approximately 69,000,000 pounds of shrimp, mostly headless, but including some whole and dried, were landed in Mexican ports during the year.

Value of Mexican shrimp exports to the United States during the period was placed at $40 million, and the estimates point up the fact that the poundage for 1958 shipped to this country was much greater than the previous record of 53.7 million pounds in 1956.

The big increase in the Mexican catch came from the West Coast, according to the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, which says that the area produced about one-third more shrimp last year than it did in 1957. The Gulf of Mexico catch was about six percent less.

There was a good run of shrimp on the Mexican west coast in the late summer and fall, when warmer water temperatures than usual produced a good crop along the Pacific side of Baja, Calif., that extended far to the north, setting a record.

During the latter part of the year, to take care of this crop, the Bureau of Fisheries says, some 100 trawlers transferred from the Campeche area to Salina Cruz on the Pacific, where they made good catches.

GLASSCOCK-TIDELANDS REQUESTS PERMIT FOR COPANO BAY OPERATIONS

Glasscock-Tidelands Oil Co. have requested a Department of the Army permit to operate in Copano Bay on State Tracts 48, 64, 65, 75, 76 and 105, approximately 7 1/2 miles northwest of Rockport.

The company proposes to place a two-inch pipeline at the above location. The pipeline would extend from Well No. 8 in State Tract 48 southeasterly a distance of approximately 18,000 feet to the mean high tide shore line and would be placed 1 1/2 feet below the bed of the bay except through shell reefs or beds where it would be 1 foot below the bed of the bay.

REAL ESTATE MOVES BRISKLY

Real estate has been moving somewhat more briskly than for some time past, according to Mrs. Pepper Everett, of Miller Realty. Volney Cavitt purchased a Fulton Lumber Company house in Shadyside this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Black, formerly of Houston, will build a home on South Beach on property recently purchased from Cavitt.

In addition, Mrs. Everett said, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lundell of Austin, bought the Joe Caldwell property and will live here.

Besides housing, Mrs. Everett said, Miller Realty had sold a number of lots to people who intended to build in the near future.

PAN-AMERICAN ASKS COPANO BAY PERMIT

The Pan-American Petroleum Company has asked a Department of the Army permit to operate in Copano Bay on State Tracts 10, 11, 12 about 8 miles north of Fulton.

The company proposes to place a 2 1/4-inch pipe line at the above location. The pipe line would extend from Well No. 1 easterly a distance of approximately 5,600 feet to the mean high tide shore line and would be placed 2 feet below the bed of the bay except through shell reefs or beds where it would be 1 foot below the bed of the bay.

"As courier for the Information Office I guess I am one of the most widely traveled men in the Bayonet Division," says the graduate of A. C. Jones High School, Beeville, Texas.

"My duties," he continues, "consist of delivering the prepared copy to an airbase south of Seoul, capital city of the Republic of South Korea. The copy is then forwarded to Tokyo, Japan, to be printed at the Pacific Stars and Stripes office."

The army private first class points out that he is able to see many interesting sights that most American troops are unable to see.

NOTARY APPOINTMENTS NEED RENEWAL SOON

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley has announced that he will reappoint persons now holding notary public commissions but that such persons must re-qualify by the filing of a new oath and bond with the county clerk of his residence between June 1, 1959 and June 10, 1959.

Steakley emphasized that notaries public should not send requests for reappointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State. The law specifically requires the county clerks to approve notary bonds.

Any person not now a notary public who desires appointment should apply to his county clerk between April 1, 1959, and May 20, 1959. Application during this period will assure prompt attention before the rush procedure of reappointing present notaries.

Secretary of State Steakley further pointed out that each person applying for a commission as a notary public must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the county for which he is appointed. The exact name and permanent address of the applicant must be furnished the county clerk.

Tough-built Chevy truck bulls its way deep into the woods for mammoth loads

This big Series 60 Chevy bulls its way as far as 8 miles into the Louisiana woods, fights over ruts and jagged stumps... then grinds back out with towering loads of logs! The Sabine Lumber Company attests to the truck's ability to take it: "Chevrolet makes the best truck for our type of operation."

Out where a truck is known for the beating it can take, Chevy's making friends fast. Truckers like the way these toughies hold up; the way they wade right in, take their lumps, yet stay in shape.

Today, it's grit that Chevy's showing the trucking industry. Real toughness that pays off in job-after-job dependability... in ability to get work done at least expense. You can match Chevy muscle against any tough light-, medium- or heavy-duty job and know you've got it beat!

Your Chevrolet dealer's ready right now to meet your special work requirements. Stop by and see him soon.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck! CHEVROLET

Authentic History Of Fulton Mansion Told By Descendant

One of the most striking landmarks in this region is the old Fulton mansion, built on the beach, near the community of the same name. All sorts of tales have been told about the place, many of them without any foundation. In the following paragraphs, prepared by Mrs. Gladys Gibson — one of the seven Fulton descendants living in this area — is an authentic history, probably the first that has ever been published.

Mrs. Gibson is the granddaughter of James Fulton and the great-granddaughter of George Ware Fulton, who built the house, and lives in Corpus Christi, as do five grandchildren of Colonel Fulton: Mrs. Reuben Beeman, Miss Nana Holden, Mrs. Eleanor Conger, Mrs. Fannie Brown, and Alex Fulton; another granddaughter, Mrs. Maizie Hoopes, lives in Ingleside, in the home that the late Miss Jewel Fulton built several years before her death.

"During 1867," Mrs. Gibson says, "many important events transpired; Andrew Johnson had become president of the United States following the death of Abraham Lincoln two years earlier, at the close of the Civil War; the Alaskan Territory was purchased from Russia for $7,200,000; the Atlantic cable had just been put into operation; the French Emperor of Mexico, Maximilian, was executed; while in Texas large cattle firms had been organized; and Morgan Line steamers were bringing in money in kegs, measuring it out in payment for labor and cattle."

"This was the year that George Ware Fulton of Baltimore chose to return with his family to Texas, after an absence of 21 years. He had first come to Texas in 1837 with a company of volunteers to aid in the defense against Santa Anna. He served in the Texas army until it was disbanded, having the rank of captain. He was later appointed as draughtsman in the General Land Office. Captain Fulton subsequently made on his own account an investigation of Live Oak Peninsula, and located claims in Refugio County. In 1838, he was appointed collector of customs of Aransas district by President Sam Houston. Together with Henry Smith, the former governor, he located all the bay fronts of the northern shores of the Nueces, Corpus Christi, Copano, and Aransas Bays.

"In 1840, Captain Fulton and Harriet Smith, eldest daughter of Henry Smith, were married. Six years later, they moved to Baltimore, Md., in order that their children might enjoy better educational advantages. During the next 20 years, Captain Fulton was a journalist, an assistant engineer under John A. Roebling on the Cincinnati Suspension Bridge, general superintendent of various railroads, and a manufacturer of coal oil.

"Upon his return to Texas, the title of Colonel was conferred upon Mr. Fulton. He became a member of the Coleman-Mathis cattle firm, which was later reorganized into the Coleman-Fulton Pasture Company of which he was president. Let us note that during this period, in 1870, Texas was readmitted to the Union.

"Such was the background of the architect and builder of the old home that still stands in the town of Fulton, still retaining a certain dignity despite the ravages of the years.

"The construction of the three-story Victorian dwelling was begun in 1872. Materials were brought down the Mississippi from the east, and from Florida. Excavation was made for the basement, and a solid concrete foundation was laid. Steel joists were used between floors.

"Hard pine planks ten inches wide and two inches thick were dipped in tar, laid flat and spiked together, both for outside walls and partitions. The outside boards of cypress were placed vertically, and corners were reinforced with thick cypress blocks, giving the impression of stone walls.

"The interior walls were lathed with specially sawed cypress, plastered and calcimined white.

"Outside steps and also an inside stairway led down to the basement where was built the large kitchen, a room with troughs for running water to cool the foods, the laundry with swinging racks for drying clothes near the furnace; there was a plant for manufacturing gas for lighting, and for operating the furnace which forced warm air through pipes leading to vents in each room in the house.

"A dumb waiter was constructed to carry food from the basement to the dining rooms above.

"Cement steps led to the front porch from which the beautiful paneled front door opened into a large hall, the floor of which was covered with mosaic tile. Black walnut was used for all woodwork, with a mantel of marble and ebony in each room, with large mirror above. In the center of the overhead arch in the hall was placed a Masonic Keystone emblem.

"Crystal chandeliers with glass tubing for gas were hung in each room. A walnut stairway led to the four bedrooms on the second floor, and to the three bedrooms on the third floor. A corner lavatory of marble was placed in each bedroom, complete with almost modern toilets, copper tubs, marble lavatories, and running water, hot and cold.

"On the third floor, overlooking the bay, was a tower room which the Colonel later called the "Growlery," where he sought refuge when in an ill humor.

"A copper Mansard roof covered the structure. On the roof was placed a large water tank to provide water for the bathrooms. Another tank at the rear of the house provided drinking water, and a third tank provided the water for laundry.

"Cement walks encompassed the house. An iron fence surrounded the yard, and a driveway winding from the front gate circled the house. The asphalt for the driveway was obtained from the gulf beach. The gate was provided with a device which caused it to open and close automatically when a carriage entered. The carriage house was located at the rear right of the house, with servant quarters above.

"A landscape artist laid off the grounds in formal beds with a lovely fountain in the front yard.

"The home was not occupied by the family until 1876. Soon it became known throughout the country for its hospitality. Here was every luxury and convenience far from modern civilization. The grounds were breath taking in their beauty, with a variety of shrubs and flowers, with roses of many varieties growing in profusion.

"In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary in 1890, Colonel and Mrs. Fulton had sent out 500 invitations to friends who were transported by special trains from distant places. The decorations were exquisite in their extravagance, and the couple were showered with costly gifts, among which was a 'pot of gold,' a loving cup filled with gold coins, from John A. Roebling.

"Three years later, Colonel Fulton died. His companion of 53 years was not able to reconcile herself to life in the home without him, and the house was closed, the family moving to San Antonio, and later to Cincinnati. The property was sold in 1907 to J. W. Davidson, who spent a considerable sum improving it. It was sold by his widow in 1943 to a son-in-law, P. E. Gregg, who in less than a year sold it to Mr. Herring of Alvin, Texas. It is now owned by his son, Clyde Herring.

"The dreams are fled, and you are but four empty walls, whose soul is dead.

The garden that was magic soil
Is common loam,
And there is nothing but a house
Which was a home."

—By Gladys Bruhl Gibson.

Since the above was written, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. May have purchased the property and now operate a tourist court there.

WARM WEATHER BRINGS RATTLES OUT AFTER WINTER Warm weather has started the rattlesnakes to stirring, according to Mrs. Emma Reese, who reports that at least three have been killed this week. One of these was killed on the waterfront near Mrs. Reese's home, and two others were decapitated by a boy cutting grass. His blade made no distinction between grass and rattlesnakes, and clipped the heads off a pair before he saw them, luckily for him.

WRITER-PHOTOGRAPHER—

delightful whimsicality and the charming sketches with which he illustrated the volume.

Between this first expedition in 1934 and the second in 1937, Sanderson married, and his wife accompanied him on a Caribbean safari to Trinidad, Haiti and Dutch Guiana, along with an antiquated Rolls Royce and Fred Allsop, an admirable Crichton of an assistant. This resulted in new collections, including a wild horse over which scientists are still arguing, and another equally charming book — Caribbean Treasure — for the reading public.

A third expedition — to British Honduras — was interrupted by World War II. Some of the collections made there were lost or damaged due to delays occasioned by the war, but Sanderson's third book — Living Treasure — was up to the standard of his other two, and met with as great acceptance.

Stranded in Belize by the exigencies of a war-torn world, Sanderson worked with the British Intelligence Service, combating submarine warfare in the Caribbean. After hostilities were over, he came to this country, and settled in New York, where he continued his career as an author and lecturer. With the rise of TV he became closely identified with that medium, presenting animals to the public, and was the author of a number of other books.

Pinney, who operates Photo Library Associates, Inc., when he is home in New York, is an outstanding photographer, and an equal partner in the expedition, which is backed by two publishing houses, Random House and Chanticleer Press. He has had as many as fourteen national magazines using his covers in one month.

With Sanderson, he produced one of the most beautiful books to come off the presses in recent years — Living Mammals of the World — where Pinney's sparkling pictures illustrate the text written by Sanderson. Another book on which they collaborated was "The Monkey Kingdom."

The team is traveling in a specially-built station wagon, with compartments for everything, and as Pinney takes the moves and stills that they will use later, Sanderson makes notes which he later translates into continuities, books, and magazine articles.

An odd thing about the whole trip was brought out by Sanderson. "Although this is the second best known continent," he said, "and is widely mapped, it is actually one of, if not the worst mapped, and it is in many respects very little known."

"While all kinds of expeditions were made in early days, and while many parts of the continent have been subjected to very detailed surveys, there never appears to have been any attempt to take a look at the whole thing at once."

"This is really very remarkable, and has come as a very great surprise to everybody. We are attempting this, on proper expeditionary lines, but using every possible modern convenience and facility available.

"Our trip is being organized just as an expedition to any unexplored area would be, and most of our time will be spent in uninhabited territory and some of it in completely unknown lands."

From Rockport, Sanderson and Pinney will go south through Brownsville to Victoria in Tamaulipas, then back north over the Pan-American highway to Laredo before turning west to the Big Bend. From there they will go to the west coast, then north over the Alaskan Highway to Anchorage.

They will explore from there far inside the Arctic Circle by boat and plane. Later they will visit James Bay, in northern Canada, Newfoundland, Labrador, Greenland, the northern arctic islands, and the Canadian Northwest Territories.

Jeraldyn Wright Chosen Lantana Duchess by ACHS

Miss Jeraldyn Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Wright, will represent Aransas County High School at A&I College on April 10-11.

On Friday, April 10, she will be presented to the public in Jones Auditorium at the college, and on Saturday, April 11, she will be presented to the student body and faculty of A&I.

A number of events are scheduled for Saturday in which she will take part, including a down-town parade, barbecue, tour of the King Ranch, and a tea.

COMMITTEE MEETS

At a meeting Wednesday afternoon of the legislative committee of the Chamber of Commerce, over which chairman Judge John D. Wendell presided, bills now before the legislature which directly affect Aransas County were reviewed, and Chamber of Commerce manager Mrs. Mary Juergens was instructed to write for copies of a number of them.

Judge Wendell and members of the committee, after discussion, decided to urge business men and others in Aransas County to write their representatives and senators, giving their views on a general sales tax and/or a state income tax.
