A small world. Recently having lunch in a restaurant in Saigon, Jay Gipson had a very familiar face at a table, walked over to him and was none other than the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gipson and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fouts of Haskell.

You ever hear frogs croaking in a snow bank... Well, Brown did. Jay is working in his yard today of last week. Mr. Gipson thought he heard frogs croaking, and sure enough he heard the frogs croaking in a puddle of snow. The frogs jumped in, so to speak, as Spring snow officially arrives until the 20th.

Read an article in the Falls Times recently titled "Ready For The Future". It reads like fiction, not as "far-fetched", as might think.

Just about time to climb your new baby-blue egg-chute-ship. And take off the space-wheel in the living center.

Thousand A. D. is only 31 years away. And at the rate the old planet is spinning, that's no time at all. By then, your electric kitchen will freeze, bake and stew at a telephone's distance from you. All the while getting a supersonic lift that will make you look younger by dinner. (You'll see the week's food supplies on the touch of a television-control robot will be running the living room... changing the see-through plastic furniture... and setting floating glass cube for dining off to the office in his Motor-Ketch... a handy device that gets him there land, sea or air. (Buzzing just for fun, is no fair... you know how HE is.)

If all this sounds like the real thing... just remember that every one of these things is actually working... as just designer models at stages.

Recall if you're old (or remember) how those Rogers comic strips quiver spines. How many ago? And don't they seem quaint... now that an astronaut speaking into your room!

It's only one harsh reality can bring us crashing in our space flight of the future. Namely, nothing's more fantastic than the future than the prices we can expect to pay for food, clothes, services shelter.

Why sell for $40 please. Getting away with a $12 today.) Forty dollars for the super-market checkout? Hundred and twelve dollars for a semi-private room could put you in just thinking about them. $500 will zoom to an unenviable $700 a day in the year 2000.

These prices, who on earth could afford the 21st Century? All right. Somehow. That's what economists predict, because they will keep pace with spiraling costs. So we're left with the same problems as today's discretionary income (the margin between what we have and what must go out) will work stock-pile for the future. If you whittle it away on spending now, retirement years can feel the pinch.

Always sound to get some advice from an expert. The Travel Corporation will help map out your present intention to meet future needs.

Get set for all the thrills. (and bills) the Space Age. Remember. You live happily ever after in a high-priced world of tomorrow... without making some solid plans today.

Miss Katharyn Duff Says That "We Need To Put Tension To Proper Use"

Better than 500 parents visited the Haskell Elementary School Thursday night, March 20, during an open house sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association. The night time activities were especially designed to give fathers opportunity to visit their children's house of learning, observe and admire the accomplishments displayed in the various rooms, and to attend a regular P-T-A meeting.

Mrs. A. C. Richardson, Haskell Elementary P-T-A president, called the meeting to order at 8 p. m. in the school lunchroom, extending a welcome to an overflow crowd of more than 340 members and guests.

Rev. R. D. Williams led the group in the parent-teacher prayer, Cub Scout Den No. 8 made presentation of colors and led in the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. T. E. Barnett introduced the guest speaker, Miss Katharyn Duff, Page One Columnist and Assistant Editor of the Abilene Reporter News. Of course, Miss Duff really needs no introduction in Haskell, as one parent put it, "I got the paper first thing in the morning, read Page One, Dear Abby and Hello—there, I go back and look at the news."

Miss Duff addressed herself to the March P-T-A subject dealing with tensions in the family. While she would not tell parents how to raise their children, she did submit that if parents are presently vexed by some particular annoyance with a child to consider it is merely a phase they will grow out of—into something worse.

In a more serious vein, Miss Duff said we do not need relief from tension so much as we need to put tension to proper use. She said we have instant knowledge of changing events, particularly through TV, but not instant understanding. We have much learning, are affluent, and have a lot of noises, all of which makes for tensions. We and our children need opportunity for quiet privacy, learn to appreciate accomplishment for the joy of it, we need an understanding heart and wisdom to discern between good and bad, fact and fiction, and to these add faith and humility. As Miss Duff pointed out, all of these young King Solomon received for the asking.

Mrs. Frank Jenkins reported that Mrs. Gannaway's kindergarten room won the room count prize with 29 parents registered.

Fifth Grade Room Mothers served home-made cookies, punch and cookies during the fellowship hour.

The Magazine Club Continues Review Of Festivals of The United States

Mrs. Arlos Weaver, serving as the director for the meeting of March 21st of the Magazine Club, continued the review of outstanding festivals held across the United States.

Mrs. Weaver gave the highlights on the Azalea festivals. So many areas abound in this lovely spring flower. She mentioned the fact that true to all festivals the three P's are present, Parades, Pageants, and People.

Mrs. Burkett gave a discussion on several well known festivals. The Apple Blossom Festival of the Shenandoah Valley; The Apple Blossom Festival of Washington State; Flower Blossom Festival of Colorado; the Cherry Blossom Festival of Washington, D. C. and the Fall Foliage Festival of towns in Vermont.

Mrs. Burkett said the Apple Blossom Festival of Virginia is considered the world's most famous Springtime Extravaganza, which is scheduled from April 29th to May 1st. In 1968 more than 150,000 people flocked to Winchester, Va., "Queen City" of the apple country. The first celebration was held in 1924, and since that time this festival has become outstanding.

Well known personalities aid in making it appealing to tourists. Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, General Curtis Lemay, statesman Bernard Baruch, Arthur Godfrey, just to name a few, who have been a part of the festival. The Queens selected from well known families, include Anne Eisenhower; the daughter of Chief Justice, Earl Warren; Miss Thors, daughter of the Islandic Minister to the United States; and Miss Luci Johnson was the queen for 1968. Likely Miss Tricia Nixon will be selected for 1969.

Mrs. Kenneth Thornton told about the best known Dogwood Festivals. The most outstanding one being the Knoxville Dogwood Festival. This celebration had its origin 14 years ago. This year, 1969, will be the ninth year, beginning April 11th to the 20th. There will be about 250 events with more than 100 organizations and some 50,000 persons helping to stage the affair. Approximately 150,000 dogwood trees along 50 miles of winding streets, will be in full bloom. In recent years the residents of Knoxville have planted more than 75,000 extra trees. The famous trails are lighted at night to enhance the beauty of the trees and to make it possible for people to tour at night. Many attractions are prepared for the visitors. Lots of music and food available. Singers, guitar players, and square dancers will be found on the Mall. The Mall will be the scene of the appointments.

Miss Suzie Montgomery Is Chosen Duchess

Atlanta, Georgia, also has a Dogwood Festival, the first being held in 1961. Two Texas festivals are at Palestine and Woodville. These trails follow pretty much the same pattern as the others, with parades, pageants, and the like. Each started out on a very modest scale but have increased each year as the people have been so enthusiastic about them.

Mrs. Thornton concluded her talk with the telling of the Legend of the Dogwood Tree. Near the Easter season one is reminded of the cross of the Crucifixion and the legend is that a Dogwood tree was used for the timber.

Mrs. Robert Wheatley and Mrs. Joe Thigpen were hostesses for the meeting.

The Homemaking In A Changing World

Homemaking is a profession whose functions are to maintain dignity and the meaning of life in the midst of rapid technological change. If such a profession was ever needed, it is needed now. Mrs. Homemaking, you have the job of dealing with this changing world in the ordinary, commonplace operations of the home in a constantly changing community; weaving the new technological inventions, new discoveries, new knowledge and processes into the fabric of daily life.

In the Extension educational program, you will learn new ways of preserving food and putting in a zipper, using mixers, new developments in nutrition, labor-saving devices. You will use the new push button range, the new automatic washing machine, the new permanent press fabrics. You may blaze new paths to efficiency in budgeting and decision-making and the use of time and energy.

One of your major responsibilities, Mrs. Homemaking, is to make sure that you do not allow the new technology to run ahead of your concern for a meaningful life. Let's not forget to create a home for a zestful, boisterous, sometimes untidy existence; full of the opportunity and invitation to real talk and quarreling and anguish and absorbing spontaneous activities.

Mrs. Kenneth Sanders, a member of the Weinert Home Demonstration Club, submitted this week's recipe of the week.

Plans were made for a salad luncheon to be held in the old Ghalson building April 2.

PARTICIPATES IN OPERATION BELL JANGLE

Seaman Ronnie L. Lusk, USN, husband of Mrs. Nelda A. Lusk of O'Brien participated in Operation Bell Jangle while serving aboard the destroyer USS Wiltzie.

Highlights of the eight-day exercise which ended March 20th included an amphibious landing at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and flight operations from the aircraft carrier USS Oriskany. Carrier aircraft conducted air-to-air missile exercises using drone planes and flew bomb strike missions in both the Chocolate Mountain and Twenty-Nine Palms bombing ranges at Camp Pendleton.

Shore bombardment from Navy cruisers and destroyers marked the surface warfare phase of Bell Jangle.

Other facets of the operation included exercises in anti-submarine warfare, aerial reconnaissance, and communications.

Mrs. Burkett Speaks To The Naomi SS Class

The Naomi Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the Youth Center, Monday night, March 24th, for the regular business and social meeting.

Mrs. Clara Biard, vice-president, presided over the business session. Projects for the future were discussed. The class sang hymns, with Iola Henshaw leading, and Betty Jo Clanton at the piano. Prayer was offered by Ethel Lou Shelton.

Mrs. Biard introduced Mrs. Artie Mae Burkett, who brought the devotional. Mrs. Burkett spoke on the subject "Take Time To Be Silent." She quoted Psalms 46:10... "Be still and know that I am God." We do not find God in the hustle and rush of life, but in silence. We must speak to God, and then be silent and let God speak to us.

Mrs. Burkett stated that in this strife-torn world, we must take time out for God. We must let our lives be characterized by tranquility and serenity, if we are to know God. Jesus was a calm, restful person going about His work in a quiet, humble, peaceful way.

Mrs. Burkett read many of her favorite scriptures, placing special emphasis on the 23rd Psalm. She quoted Isaiah 26:3... "To be alone in silence is to be alone with God." We are never alone, she said, quoting Stanley Jones, "I live and move and have my being in God."

Many inspiring thoughts to live by each day were derived from Mrs. Burkett's devotional. Refreshments of cherry tarts, olives, candy and coffee, were served to the following members: Mrs. Clara Biard, Ruby Smith, Claudia Mae Bland, Helen Oates, Ethel Lou Shelton.

Haskell Play Is Judged Second

A heartbreaking second-place was the reward for thorough work performed by Haskell High School's One-Act Play cast in the University Interscholastic League contest held in Stamford Tuesday night. However, Jim Smith, Terry Kay Diggs and Jackie Beauchamp were included in the District 7-AA All-Star cast.

Mrs. Kathleen Diggs directed Haskell's players in G. B. Shaw's "Pygmalion", the cast was composed of Jim Smith, Jim Kemp, Sue Wilkinson, Terry Kay Diggs, Jackie Beauchamp, Kathy Harris, Paula Wooten, Anita Thigpen and alternates Mike Guess, Gary Felker and Laura Sampson.

Haskell performed first out of six plays. They were given a standing ovation. Stamford won first place and will represent District 7-AA at the regional contest in Lubbock in April.

Haskell High To Be Represented At UIL Events

Haskell High School will be represented by six literary contestants in the annual UIL literary events at Anson Saturday, March 29th.

Entered will be Jim Kemp, and Jackie Beauchamp, Poetry Interpretation; Jim Smith and Terry Kay Diggs, Prose Reading; and Sue Wilkinson, Informative Speaking.

Jim Smith, Miss Diggs and Miss Wilkinson, will be trying for their second trip to Lubbock, while Kemp and Miss Beauchamp will be "braving" their first attempts at poetry.

Band Members Participate In Wichita Contests

(From The War Whoop)

Recently a group of Haskell High band students traveled to Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, to attend the Solo and Ensemble Contest.

Participating were Darlene Abbott saxophone solo, 2; Gail Barnett, bass clarinet, solo, 2; Larry Jewell, cornet solo, 3.

MYTHS AND FACTS

In an article in The American Rifleman in last regulation, the principal claims of registration proponents are presented and summarized again.

The first claim is that registration would reduce crime by making it more difficult for unscrupulous to obtain weapons. In answer to that The Rifleman comments, "It is pretty obvious that criminals would not bring police stations to register their firearms."

A second claim is that registration would assist in solving crimes by making it possible to trace the firearms used. On this, The Rifleman says, "Since the firearms were stolen in the first place, tracing records of a gun used in a crime could only lead to the location of the theft, not to the user of the gun."

A third claim, the registration would aid in the apprehension of criminals by making it possible to access persons listed in possession of unregistered guns, raises a basic question of police power. Only under exceptional circumstances do police have the authority to stop persons on the street and "frisk" them, or to search homes without a warrant.

A fourth claim is that registration would keep guns out of the hands of certain mental abnormalities drug addicts and habitual drunkards. The fallacy of this claim is again that to let out to itself persons of irresponsible persons obtaining a gun through theft.

A fifth claim is that registration would reduce the number of firearms possessed by individuals. As The Rifleman points out, "The absurdity is only too clear. A national registration law would change firearms ownership... by the law-abiding citizens, not by the criminals." President Nixon has pointed to the great way of discouraging criminal use of firearms. In addition to the federal government, he believes the 48 states should consider action to impose a heavy mandatory prison sentence on anyone who uses a firearm in the commission of a crime.

Who's Who Is Announced At Haskell High

Who's Who has always been an important traditional event in Haskell High School and recently the honor of being a member was bestowed on eight students who, by comparison with their classmates have shown themselves to be better all-around citizens, more potentialities for future usefulness in society, and have shown a superior or above average proficiency in one of the following fields of endeavor: scholarship, athletics, publications, speech or dramatic arts, music, leadership, and service in school, church, or community activities. They were chosen by the faculty, each teacher receiving a ballot. The students were graded on the above characteristics and those who ranked the most outstanding became members of "Who's Who."

The members this year are: Ray Adams, for leadership and publications; J. F. Coffey, for leadership and scholarship; Terry Kay Dantz, for music, drama and art; Gary Felker, for athletics and citizenship; Janet Folstead, for publications and scholarship; Judy Jeter, for sports and scholarship; Jim Kemp, for leadership and music; and Deanna Robertson, for leadership and sports.

HASSEN'S

My Answer

I read my Bible, pray and regularly attend church. Yet I have temptations, what can I do?

First, just because you are tempted doesn't mean you are not a child of God. Jesus was tempted by Satan, but that didn't destroy the Son of God. Let us now say when we are tempted, I am tempted of God, for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man. — James 1:13

Second, Satan tempts, but when you try to grow spiritually, your soul will try to destroy your life. When you try to become Christ-like, Satan will assault you with temptations. Satan's temptations are to lead you away from God. When Satan comes to tempt you, he is to lead you away from God. Let us now say when we are tempted, I am tempted of God, for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man. — James 1:13

Third, Jesus taught all temptations with the Word of God. God has given you a weapon to ward off the devil's attacks of Satan. They would have I had in more than that I might not sin against thee. — Psalm 119:11
