Lions View Two Films At Tues. Meeting

Hugh Ratliff was program chairman at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of Lions and showed two interesting films, "The F-111" and "The Dangerous Years."

The film of the F-111 airplane revealed that it is very strong and fast in the air and lands like a lady. It can take-off from a short space; land on less runway than the high-powered jet, and maintenance is more simplified.

The other film viewed by Lions was entitled "The Dangerous Years." It concerned juvenile delinquency and shed light on how to prevent today's offenders from leading into a life of crime.

Guests noted were Bill Fouts, Jeff Cadenhead, Jimmy Owens and Rev. H. O. Abbott.

"Prexy" E. W. Pruett presided over the meeting. Wallace Cox, Jr., led the singing, with Judy Therwanger at the piano. Dr. Frank Cadenhead gave the invocation.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Mrs. Wyche Attends Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Convention of TAHA

The Haskell County Hospital Auxiliary sent their president, Mrs. E. L. Wyche as a delegate to the 25th anniversary convention of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, Inc., in Dallas, May 29, 21, 22.

It was a memorable occasion when more than five hundred members and guests met in the grand ballroom of the Adolphus Hotel for the 25th luncheon honoring charter member groups, past presidents and councilwomen. It was in this very room 25 years ago that the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries had its beginning.

Dr. Bolton Boone, for 20 years a hospital executive and presently director of the Methodist Hospital, was the featured speaker at the Tuesday luncheon. He gave the association three salutes: as fund raisers, as community relations builders and as volunteers and sponsors of volunteers. He declared that what 40,000 volunteers a day have meant to the hospitals throughout the nation is difficult to put into dollars and cents. But he did say that the auxiliaries have given a total of $1,262,088 according to their 1967-1968 report and that money is always impressive.

The theater party Tuesday night (May 21) at the Dallas Theatre center was part of the planned entertainment. The theater was beautifully designed for its setting by Harold Loyd Wright, famous architect. At the closing session Wednesday, May 22nd, Mrs. George J. Ritter of Laredo, Texas, was installed as president of the TAHA and Mrs. J. H. Nail of Abilene, president-elect. Eight other officers were also installed.

Dr. Bernice Moore, assistant to the Hogg Mental Health Foundation, University of Texas, Austin, was speaker at the luncheon honoring incoming officers. She congratulated the hospital volunteers, saying that "your work with all kinds of people, all races, all ages, all creeds, has given you the capacity in touch and in tone that have enriched your humanness as well as your humaneness."

Stitching And Stewing

By Ruth Ann Fansler
 County H. D. Agent

Do venetian blinds cause headaches on cleaning day? I would like to suggest wearing light-weight canvas gloves to dust them. The tapes may be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner attachment but do not soak the blinds in water. Cotton tapes may shrink and the finish on the slats may loosen. Waxing the slats protects them and allows easier cleaning.

A treated dustless cloth gathers dust rather than scattering it. To make one, use a soft piece of cloth. Put it in a tin container or jar with a few drops of furniture polish or wax rubbed on the sides of the container. Cover tightly and leave overnight. The cloth will absorb just enough polish to remove dust and polish at the same time. Keep the cloth in a covered container.

Remove old wax occasionally from furniture's waxed surface by using a soft cloth wrung from turpentine and boiled linseed oil. Re-wax and polish. Varnished, lacquered and painted furniture may be cleaned with a cloth wrung from a solution of neutral soap and warm water. But be cautious—turpentine is inflammable. Or use a commercial product to remove white spots and rings, following the manufacturer's directions.

White spots on furniture can be caused by standing water, hot dishes or alcohol. One method is to use a mixture of salt or pumice powder and oil. Sometimes they may be removed by wiping the surface with a cloth wrung from water and a little ammonia. For a small stain, rub with camphorated oil or oil of peppermint.

Give all the rooms in your house the light touch. For example, replace heavy, winter-weight pillows with bright, summer-gay ones in floral patterns or nature's colors. Since daisies are making decorating news this season, put some daisy power in your decor—from pillows, bedspreads and towels to placemats and magnetic hooks for holding potholders.

Retire as many mini-objects as you can. Too many what-nots and souvenirs all around don't allow for the cool, spacious feeling. Replace a few of your heavy ashtrays with light sunny ones and where you need those inevitable things-to-put-things-into, use baskets in various sizes. Be sure that the items you're storing for winter are put away clean. Wash them where possible in an all-purpose pine oil cleaner solution, then wrap in plastic bags for their coming out in the fall.

If you have prints and paintings on your walls, rearrange them, or move them from one room to the other. This will make you think you've done more redecorating than you have.

Bring the outdoors in or if you have a garden, arrange flowers or greens in pitchers, pots or baskets for every room in the house. Anything that can hold flowers or greens should be used. If you have a small garden or none at all, use long-lasting greens and intersperse them with the latest paper or papier mache' flowers.

All around the house, keep in step with the season and make your cleaning as well as your living easy. Use a pine oil product in every room to clean, disinfect and deodorize.

Take advantage of the paper revolution. Use paper flowers, tableware, furniture, clothes and whatever else is bursting out in paper—for an up-to-the-minute look and minimum upkeep.

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

About three weeks ago we took a trip to the Lake of the Pines. On our way there we visited the Tyler Rose Garden.

The long, red wood building that housed a green house and two very large recreation rooms, was perched on a bluff overlooking the garden.

Six Flags Over Texas Roses marched across the front of the building...they are a deep red rose with rather sparse foliage, the blossoms are semi-double.

I really was surprised that they chose to landscape with this rose as there were thousands of varieties in the garden much more beautiful than the Six Flags Over Texas ones are.

We first visited the green house and thrilled at the many exotic flowers and plants from other nations. Although we were rather early someone had gathered hundreds of roses of every color and kind, and placed them in window boxes at the entrance of the green house near the reception desk in the smaller recreation room. Large urns and vases of fresh cut roses were scattered throughout the larger recreation room.

After viewing the green house we walked out onto the observation patio, where the sight of 20 acres of roses in hundreds of varieties and color spread out before us in all their breathtaking beauty.

The observation patio built in a semi-circular fashion and railed in wrought iron, was built on the edge of the bluff 20 or 30 feet above the garden. Long flights of steps lead down into the garden from the patio. Native stones form a foundation for the patio. Boston Ivy climbs the rock wall and twines over the wrought iron rails at the top. A cupid fountain spills water into a concrete pool in the center of the structure.

A broad walk, about as wide as a street, runs down the center of the garden to a row of lighted fountains. The fountains (five in all) are beautiful in the day time but turn into a breathtaking scene at night.

To either side of the broad walk, smaller paths lead through hundreds of beds of roses. The beds are mulched in red gravel or a thick carpet of pine needles. There is absolutely no grass or weeds seen in the beds. Each long row of roses is framed in a dark green border of grass, adding enchantment to the scene. Behind the long row of fountains is a small pool framed in tall pine, Sweetgum and oak trees. A tiny stream meanders through the woods to spill into a larger creek that edges the garden. Benches and tables turn the wooded area into an area where one can rest and watch ducks swim on the pond. One side of the garden ends at a tree dotted lawn that climbs a sloping hill up to the residential section of town. Magnolia and huge oak trees screen the front of the garden.

It would be nice for Haskell Garden Club members to make a pilgrimage to the Tyler Rose Garden some day, in fact, any club wishing to enjoy real beauty would enjoy going.

The only charge is a wishing well in the green house, where one can make a contribution.

GRADUATE TO TOTAL ELECTRIC LIVING

Three lively people who love to entertain friends. "I am surprised it's so economical."—Bob

"Love that electric air conditioning, of course! WE REMODELED TO TOTAL ELECTRIC OPERATION FOR $1,300! That included insulation, electric baseboard units—the works!... and with WTU's incentive allowance we paid only about $1,000. If we ever build a larger home, it'll be total electric—with electric ceiling coils."—Bob Harrison, Stamford, Texas.

Bob Harrison retired from the San Francisco 49'ers and took up farming. Barbara Harrison took up teaching at Oliver Street Elementary School, and Scott (age 2) took to whooping it up on his rocking horse. All three live in a vine-covered home in Stamford, Texas—one they remodeled to Gold Medallion operation 2 years ago. "It's such wonderful living," Barbara says. "I just couldn't do without my electric home laundry and that wonderful summer air-conditioning. When we turn it on, we never want to go outside in the heat!" Everything is clean and comfy—thanks to total electric living!

Fire Drill Conducted Recently At The Rice Springs Care Home

With Fire Chief Tom Watson in charge a fire drill was conducted recently at the Rice Springs Care Home, Inc.

Chief Watson said that the first thing the employees of the Rest Home were to do was to call the Fire Department, then give as much information concerning the fire as possible, location, type of fire, etc. Chief Watson explained where a person should try to go to escape from a fire. He read and complimented Mrs. Johnston's fire drill procedure and in turn made comments while reading.

Twenty-four personnel (employees) from Rice Springs Care Home were present. There were fourteen members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department present. Three patients were also present.

Chief Watson explained that different colored smoke would indicate the type of fire. A black smoke indicates an oil or grease fire, a rusty brown or gray-green smoke indicates a fire without oxygen, which is most dangerous, which could break out windows or explode. A white smoke indicates a cotton or clothing fire.

Mrs. Johnston brought up the question of whether to move out ambulatory and semi-ambulatory patients before bed patients. It was agreed that it would be best to move out patients who could walk out, and in wheel chairs first.

E. J. Stewart explained the use of fire extinguishers, and demonstrated both the CO2 and water extinguishers. Several questions were asked by nurses and attendants about use of the extinguishers, which were answered by Chief Tom Watson and E. J. Stewart.

Mrs. Johnston showed the exits to the firemen who were present. A discussion was led by Chief Watson about tornadoes, explaining that all patients should be moved from windows and doors, into halls, running East and West. Chief Watson read instructions which had been written up by Mrs. Johnston. Watson explained the alarm system used by the Fire Department to warn for tornadoes. The Highway Patrol, Sheriff's Dept. and Game Warden, works outside the city limits, watching clouds, and calling in results. The Fire Department moves out to warn if a tornado is sighted.

Fireman B. J. Ray, set off the fire alarm, by holding a cigarette lighter under an alarm light-switch.

Coffee and cookies were served after the meeting.

Proper Residue Management

By Hilda A. McGowen Soil Conservationist

"I keep my fields from crust-ing over," says David Frierson of Haskell. "By mulching my small grain residues following combining."

This is not a problem to Frierson, but a challenge to see how much residue can be returned to the soil. Residue management is a part of the end product of good planning and sound management. It is one of the best ways the farmer has of protecting his land. Residues left on top of the soil prevents about eighty (80) percent of the soil loss that normally occurs during heavy rains on unprotected fields. About one-half of the amount of surface run-off is reduced.

The proper way of managing crop residues in the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation Districts is mulching. This method far outweighs the advantages of any other way of handling crop residues. Residues left on top of the soil add organic material to the land, increases the water holding capacity, and provides plant food after rotting. It also reduces crusting and sealing. Moisture intake rates of soils are increased. Small dams to catch and hold rainfall are formed. The soil is kept cooler in hot weather and the amount of soil moisture lost to evaporation is reduced. Field tests of soil temperatures have shown that soil shaded by small grain residues will average 25 degrees cooler than bare ground in the middle of summer. Bare ground temperatures have been recorded in Haskell County at 140 degrees while the soil under mulched residues will rarely exceed 110-115 degrees. All soil bacteria cease to function at temperatures around 120 degrees. These same bacteria are killed at 140 degrees.

As a comparison of moisture holding ability, 100 pounds of sand will hold 25 pounds of water, while 100 pounds of humus will absorb and hold 190 pounds of water. It is easy to see that a soil which has had residues properly managed will retain a large amount of the water it receives from rainfall. The lack of surface crusting will reduce the number of times a crop has to be replanted the following year.

The use of sweeps or chisel type plows has proven to be the best method of managing residues.

DRIVER ERROR

More than 4,200,000 persons sustained injuries in automobile accidents last year. Driver error, according to The Travelers Insurance Companies annual statistics, was responsible for more than 80 percent of the 1967 highway casualties.

C. A. THOMAS EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

I want to express my sincere appreciation to the many people who voted for and worked for me in my campaign for Commissioner, Precinct 1. I will always be mindful of the confidence you have placed in me and responsibility you have given me. I will do my best to please those whom I serve, give my attention with equal interest to every part of the precinct, serve in a manner that will be business-like and beneficial to the precinct and county.

Again I would like to say that I will welcome the discussion of anything at any time with any body if it concerns the precinct or county, because with your cooperation and assistance I can do a much better job.

I hold no ill will for any one and want those who voted for my opponent to feel as free to call upon me and work with me as you would the man you voted for had he been elected. Our privilege to vote for the candidate of our choice is a great privilege and certainly I defend and respect that right.

Again thank you.

Gilmore's Return From Visit With Their Son At Air Force Academy

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Gilmore returned from Colorado Springs, Colorado Sunday night after visiting with their son, Cadet Braxton T. Gilmore, who has just completed his Fourth Class year at the Air Force Academy. They were accompanied by Miss Jo Colorado Springs by Miss Jo Nell Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Anderson, who was a special guest of Cadet Gilmore during the June Week activities at the Academy. Miss Anderson remained in Colorado Springs where she will attend the remainder of the June Week activities which will be climaxed by the graduation ceremonies that will be held in Falcon stadium with Vice-President Hubert Humphrey delivering the commencement address on Wednesday, June 5th, at 8:45 a. m. following a parade of the entire Cadet wing. Precision flying by the Thunderbirds, famous Air Force flying team, will climax the graduation exercises. They will perform from 10:35 to 11:00 a. m. over the Academy grounds. The Thunderbirds will have thrilled audiences all over the world. Their precision flying techniques are actually standard fighting aircraft combat maneuvers used in Southeast Asia by Air Force pilots.

Forty-nine states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and several military bases around the world will be represented in the Academy's 614-member graduating class. Sixty-five percent of this 1968 graduating class will be assigned to pilot training following graduation. A total of 35 graduates will receive navigation training, and 113 will be assigned to duty and technical schools. Fifty-one men will begin working on their Master's degrees soon after leaving the Academy. Eleven will enter medical school, 19 will continue their studies on scholarships and fellowships, 5 will study at the Air

Peace Corps To Test Saturday, June 15th

Haskell area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, June 15, at Room 2301, New Post Office Building, Haskell.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test, which takes about an hour and a half, to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The Application form, not the Force technical school, 5 will enter law school, and one will be commissioned in the Marines. Eight Cadets will graduate, but will not receive Air Force Commissions due to physical reasons.

Placement Test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525. 12,000 Peace Corps Volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self-help projects in agriculture, health, education, and community action. Many more volunteers are needed for projects which will begin this summer and fall.

COTTON PICKIN'S

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The continuous efforts of Texas Cotton Producer organizations to get adequate research on utilization of "discount" cottons produced additional results last week when the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced a research grant of $160,795 to the Textile Research Center at Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

The study is to discover mechanical processes and blending techniques to increase utilization of cottons discounted in the market because of short staple and micronaire either below or above the most desirable 3.5 to 4.9 range.

"We are highly pleased to see this study get underway and to know that it is to be done at Texas Tech where such capable people and adequate facilities are available," said Charles Bragg, RPCG Executive Vice President.

"We are making tremendous strides toward varieties and cultural practices that will diminish the significance of our short staple, low micronaire problems," he stated, "but our growing season and climate are such that in any given year we can expect a considerable amount of 'discount' cotton.

The purpose of this study is to develop information on use of these cottons in blends with other cotton or in some other way that will improve their marketability and minimize the discounts they suffer in the marketplace.

FLAG DAY 1968

The calendar tells us that we will be observing Flag Day, Thursday, June 14.

Every U. S. citizen should be proud to look upon the American flag as the greatest national symbol ever unfurled from any standard. It represents a nation formed on the unprecedented principle that the powers of government are derived from the people.

Flag Day is a good time to get back to basics and recognize that a tingling up your spine when the stars and stripes go by is one of the surest signs that the vitality and genius of this nation and its capacity to achieve great things on the stage of history is still very much with us.

The greatness of the United States is based on the spirit of her people. Let us remember in these complicated days of our history, there is much need for simple patriotism, deeply felt and clearly shown.
