

Thousands Shop In Jayton Christmas Eve

The people who came in Jayton Christmas Eve were the largest group here in the history of the town. Once again it was Christmas and the years of short low prices and depression were forgotten and all united in having a real old time Christmas. Early till late the stores were open and the lull of the busy season was slack up for the time that it took old Santa to find out who were the happy owners of the Plymouth's automobiles given away by Robinson Mayer Auto Service and Jones Auto Service to receive the $100 given away by Bryant-Link and the turkeys distributed by the Landers-Gardner Store. There was certainly a great big happy crowd and one that will be remembered many years in Jayton. There was no friction of any kind but seemed to be happy and about the day the Christmas had full sway. Town Goodfellows distributed Christmas packages to the poor and countries more unfortunate in the vicinity went to the store unless they failed to their own stores.

On the road to prosperity. Talk to your neighbor who has been farming with a Ford F12. He will be glad to tell you about this great farm equipment.

Save mules, horses, horse drawn implements, 2 row and single row which we will sell at bargain prices.

Used John Deere Tractor and one Washing Machine for trade. Interested see, write, or phone and we will do the rest.

Travel Bureau Says 100,000 To Visit In 1936

Prediction that 15,000,000 visitors will come to Texas in 1936 is the joint hope of the Texas Central Exposition here and the opening of the Pan American highway, made Sunday by Joe H. Thompson, national director of the Conoco Bureau.

Thompson, back from an inspection of the highway route from Mexico City, told Frank Brown, the exposition's director, that his head office over already has received 100,000 inquiries relative to the best route to the exposition and the Pan American highway. American tourists will spend $4,000,000 in 1935," Mr. Thompson said, "and more in 1936."

Unbelievable Stunt

It will take place in Jayton, Saturday afternoon at 4:00 O'clock of these hair raising, unbelievable stunts. The parachute man with the high air show will drive a hot automobile thru the crowd. Mrs. Jayton doubly blind. Some disinterested party put her a towel over his eyes, black cap will be pulled over and tied securely around her neck. Then he will take the wheel of the car and with as much speed as he can, he will drive the car around, and around and around out of traffic.

W. J. Garnett, who was in an automobile accident last week, is able to be up and going after spending a few days in bed.

Robt. Wade of Lamesa, Texas, ate Christmas dinner with his wife and children in Jayton.

and want to follow in the work to be stressed during the coming year.

Quite an interest was expressed in regard to one variety cotton communities. It was decided that a demonstration be started in the county on some single variety with the hopes of improving the quality of the cotton grown in the county and raising the price paid to the grower.

Control of the rodents in the county was discussed and is to be considered at a later date with the hopes of some definite action within the near future.

The organization voted to hold a county-wide meeting at the court house in Clairemont, Dec. 30, at 2 p.m. for the purpose of electing the community committeemen for the coming year to assist in carrying out the cotton program. All the cotton farmers of the county are urged to be present at this meeting.

Mrs. Ciegla Hays and children of Houston spent Christmas here with Mrs. Hays' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Fowler.

Quite a number of our friends remembered us with cash on subscription just before Christmas, among whom were Uncle Sam McCombs, Z. Z. Chasum, Jess Hall, Sol Wilson, W. S. Hancock, John Furr, W. O. McFall, G. W. Willis, Mrs. Bruce Lafoon, and we are looking for about 100 more before New Year's Day, as many subscriptions expire on that date.

YOUR RENEWAL IS ASKED FOR NOW!

If you appreciate in the least your old home town paper, if you believe it is any value to the town, county or community, if you think that is better to have a paper published here in the county to record the deaths, births, goings and comings, the church and school news, a paper that tries to be clean and honest and fair with its readers and advertisers. Won't you come in and give us your renewal before the 10th. of January 1936?

We have some pressing obligations that must be met and met now. We do not ask you to make any serious sacrifice in order to do this, just renew if you can without hurting yourself, and if you can't, we will continue to carry on until you can. But we will more appreciate your renewal NOW.

Join the Jayton Chronicle That's How You Can Earn

Last Saturday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. County Judge J. B. Earnest, a quiet wedding was quietly married, Rev. Van of the Methodist Church officiating. Only the members of the families and Mrs. Ivey Murdoch and Little Virginia Watson were present. After the ceremony the young couple left immediately for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home in Clairemont.

Mrs. Earnest is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Patton, and has been a teacher in the Jayton schools for the past two years. Judge Earnest is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Earnest and has lived in Jayton most of his life. He was elected to the office of County Judge and Ex-Officio County Superintendent at the last general election, and is the youngest county judge in Texas. These two young people have the best wishes for their future success and happiness of everyone in the county as none stand higher in the general respect of the people of this part of Texas.

Men Or Machines?

By CARL C. TAYLOR, Assistant Administrator, Resettlement Administration. (First Article of a Series of Four.)

A New Year Look Into The Future

If my topic were "What kind of rural life ought we to look forward to in the United States?" my task would be easy. Then I would need only to vision the good things of life and declare that such ought to be rural America. But I have not set myself the task of painting a rural Utopia but rather the task of predicting what actually will come to pass.

Will rural life in the United States two, three, or a half dozen generations hence be using mechanized production almost as completely as industry? Have settled the problems of physical and economic distribution. Captured a material standard of living equal to that of the upper middle class of the cities. Or will it follow more clearly the rural life patterns of older civilizations? Be satisfied with less mechanization than industry? Somewhat sidestep the difficult problem of distribution by live at home farming? Be satisfied with a lower material standard of living than in either business enterprises?

I hasten to repeat that these are not the only two alternatives. It is much more likely that some middle position will develop. Because they do mark the extremes of possibility I want to pursue the patterns of each with two questions in mind: First, which should we choose if we could? And, second, which are we most likely to develop, with or without conscious choice?

Civilizations have not chosen, but rather drifted, into their destinies. Whether they can ever do otherwise may be an open question. But that does not alter the fact that American rural life will probably be very different one hundred years hence from what it is now. The question is, will we attempt to understand and attempt to guide or will we continue to indulge in wishful thinking, imagine Utopias, and, as in the past, drift into destinies which we had not contemplated? I can easily conceive that we might dream one kind of rural life and our grandchildren be compelled to live another kind, chiefly because we failed to understand history or judge the trends of our own times.

One school of thought believes that our children can, should and will inherit the good rural life only by subjecting American agriculture to complete commercialization and other urban techniques. It is this road that American agriculture has steadily traveled for at least one hundred if not for three hundred years — from the ox cart and ox team to the automobile and tractor; from the cradle and flail to the combine; from the tallow candle to the electric light; from dire isolation to modern socialization.

It is as easy to tend seventy acres of corn today as it was half that acreage twenty-five years ago and we are supremely worried because cotton and tobacco farming seem rather stubbornly to resist mechanization. Once they have yielded, we will probably be able to produce the needs of our domestic markets with half the man power now engaged in agriculture.

Is American rural Utopia to come by this route?

I Am The Texas Centennial

(From Southern Pharmaceutical Journal)

I am a marker on the trail of flying years, a relay station on the sands of time. I am the birthday celebration of the domain of the Lone Star whose purchase price was not silver and gold, but blood and tears. My glistening towers and sturdy walls are monuments to Busham, Bowie, Travis, and Crockett, who accepted death but not defeat at the gates of a man-made hell. A million scintillating lights cleave the heavens in memory of the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto from whose bloody battle grounds valiant Texans went to unmarked graves. I am the holiday show window of a great commonwealth displaying in orderly array the accomplishments of a hundred years. The very mortar in my foundation is mixed with the ashes of martyrdom, the echoes of the battle cry of freedom forced from stolid lips by the galling yoke of tyranny and in my hallowed sanctuaries commune the spirits of the men who gave for Texas what the shepherd of Bethlehem gave for the world. A holiday is set apart, a feast is spread, and the world invited. Even to the cosmopolite from whatsoever country or clime he may come.

My builders are sons who sprang from loins of fighting men who asked no quarter and gave none, yet today in the tradition of the aborigine I pass the pipe of peace to all the world. I am a well-earned holiday for the toilers of the commonwealth, the national celebration of an empire; I am inventory of the years. View within my portals the plunging steed that has removed the hill from the highway and have brought the ends of the earth together but do not forget that this endless domain was conquered by an ox wagon, whose plodding journey between the sun was ten miles. Let the winged Pegasus whose nostrils smelt smoke and fire and whose trails are cut through the clouds, remind you that the sturdy messenger of civilization chanted its dim trail with a pack horse and a bid roll. As you scan the life-shattering comforts and sedentary gimcracks of modern habitation within these walls, recall the chuck wagon which was the transitory home of the men who made the Texas of today a reality. In recounting the rare excellencies of a Truett, a Turner, a Neff or an Allred, realize that beneath their feet is a bridge whose unshakable piers were built by a Burleson, a Reagan, a Culbertson or a Holland. The golden sunrise that glints from my stately towers shines upon Texas cities set closer together than either water holes or human habitations in the days of yore. Gilded churches with spires that pierce the azure dome attest my faith in God, and stand upon foundations laid by patient circuit riders who saved the seeds of godliness in the hearts of pioneers. I am an indicator on the flow of time, a beacon light on the beaten path of civilization, and the fiscal ending of a century. I am a resume of five score years of Texas history written in concrete and steel. I am a harvest festival in a land of plenty.

I AM THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL.

—Walt Cousins.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE PER YEAR $1.50

Two things to do before February 1. Renew your subscription to the Jayton Chronicle and pay your poll tax. You will certainly want to keep up with the election news and you will also want to vote, so what ever you do. Do these two things and you will not regret it.

Lord deliver us from the joy killer. The fellow that only can see the dark side of life—the fellow that is continually looking down, hunting snakes, toads, lizards, etc., and never thinks to look up and see the sun, the stars, the blue sky and the glories of the eternal heavens.

Some few folks are pretending to be worried over the governments indebtedness. What about it. Who is the government? The people. Who is the government indebted to? The people. We owe nothing to any foreign foe or friend. What we owe we have borrowed from ourselves and so long as we can borrow from ourselves to take care of ourselves — why all the worry? If you as an individual owed no one but yourself would you be crying? Not Much.

Another bunch of soreheads are squaking about the "Constitution." Well what of it? Let us ask them this question. Which comes first? Was man made to fit the constitution, or was the constitution made by men to serve mankind? Is it possible that those who formulated the constitution were the only folks ever born with sufficient brains and honesty to frame a basic law to govern this nation? There was a time when many folks believed "Man was made for Sunday," but it finally dawned on them that in fact Sunday was made for man.

FROM SIX QUARTS TO 961 QUARTS OF CANNED PRODUCTS

"Some jump from six quarts to 961 quarts," Mrs. Van North, farm food supply demonstrator, told the home agent when she asked how much she had canned the year before.

Other than an increase of 955 quarts of canned products, the Norths have provided ideal storage for the home food supply by building a concrete cellar eight by eleven feet. Adequate storage of canned products is taken care of with 150 feet of shelving.

"A total of $253.75 worth of food produced at home certainly does cut the cash expenses each month and gives our family well balanced meals each day," she added.

HAS OUTSTANDING CLUB RECORD

Not missing or being late to a council meeting, completing her wardrobe demonstration credibly to her club, filling the farm food supply budget with the exception of leafy vegetables which will be supplemented by growing these in the winter hot-bed, is the club record of Mrs. H. D. May of the Jayton club. Mrs. May made fifteen foundation patterns for club and non-club members and added eight members to her club.

Shop In Christmas Eve

People who have been here for many years in the history of this town again it was Christmas and the years of short days and depression are not forgotten and all unite in a real old time Christmas Eve. The stores and the lull of business and the lull of the town are all packed up for the night. It took old Santa Claus out who were the happy ones of the Plymouth automobile away by Robinson and the turkey distributors. The Landers-Gardner Store. The Christmas Eve was a great big happy event and one that will be remembered many years in Jayton. There was no friction of any kind and everyone seemed to be happy and the day the Christmas Eve had full away.

Town Goodfellow distributed presents and Christmas packages to the children and countries more unfortunate in the vicinity were provided for unless they failed to their wants known.

Seek Railroad Commission Place

Dec. 23—Friends of W. Hamilton, Wichita Falls oil man, quoted by the Times-Herald as saying he probably will run for E. O. Thompson next summer for railroad commissioner.

Hamilton, who formerly was president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was said to be giving consideration to the matter in all probability, will be a candidate for railroad commissioner.

The same time reports were that John Wood of Timpson, a member of the state highway commission at present, might become a candidate for railroad commissioner, the Times-Herald said.

Oil Bureau Says 100,000 To Visit In 1936

A prediction that 15,000,000 visitors will be drawn to Texas in 1936 by the joint lure of the Texas Central Exposition here and the opening of the Pan-American highway, made Sunday by Joe H. Thompson, general director of the Conoco Oil Bureau.

Thompson, back from an inspection of the highway route from here to Mexico City, told Frank Patton, the exposition's director, that his head office already has received 100,000 inquiries relative to the best time to the exposition and the Pan-American highway.

American tourists will spend $4,000,000 in 1935," Mr. Thompson said, "and more in 1936."

Unbelievable Stunt

A stunt will take place in Jayton, Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock of a man raising, unbelievable stunts, often read about but seldom seen. The parachute man with a mile high air show will drive a motor automobile thru the crowd, streets in Jayton doubly blind. Some disinterested party first lie a towel over his eyes, a black cap will be pulled over head and tied securely around neck. Then he will take the wheel of the Chevrolet car and with as little as a word to ride with him, he will drive the car around, and around squares, in and out of traffic.

That you say it can't be done? It is here and see the unbelievable happen. This free show is sponsored by the Mason Chevrolet Co. of the Jayton Chronicle. It will be a thrill. Don't miss it. The performance will be duplicated by the party at the Free Air Show in Jayton, when this same man will jump from a plane a mile high, slip open a sack of flour and after dropping hundreds of feet to the ground and float to the ground. It is all free. If you want to see in the plane that will cost you 50 cents.

Mrs. George Rice and daughter, Mrs. Ruth were in Jayton for the Christmas holidays.

Meeting of Community Officers Held

The officers of the community associations met at the Methodist Tabernacle Monday, Dec. 23, and organized a county association. Hugh Davis was elected chairman; B. J. Kellett vice chairman, and H. L. Underwood, secretary. To serve in conjunction with these men on the executive committee for the county, the following were elected: J. M. Johnson for Pct. No. 1; Taylor Havins for Pct. No. 2; R. E. Key for Pct. No. 3; and Mark Cave for Pct. No. 4.

The following dates were set for meetings to be held each month. County meetings held in Jayton first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m.; Jayton community meeting to be held in Jayton second Monday night each month; Antelope community meetings to be held at Antelope second Wednesday night each month; Girard community meeting to be held at Girard second Friday night each month; Polar community meeting to be held at Polar third Monday night each month; Clairemont community meeting to be held at Clairemont each third Wednesday night each month; Harmony community meeting to be held at Harmony each third Friday night each month; Red Mud community meeting to be held at Red Mud each fourth Monday night each month.

The organization decided to sponsor the boys' club for the county and the officers from each community set their goal for club membership in each community. The following are the numbers of club boys the different communities are to work toward for 1936: Jayton 15; Girard 14; Antelope 5; Clairemont 8; Red Mud 6; Polar 5; and Harmony 5. Each community has set one as a minimum for beef calves to be put on feed with a nurse cow to show in the Centennial next fall.

Those present voted unanimously that a survey be made of the farms of the county for the purpose of giving the community associations a guide to follow in the work to be stressed during the coming year.

Quite an interest was expressed in regard to one variety cotton communities. It was decided that a demonstration be started in the county on some single variety with the hopes of improving the quality of the cotton grown in the county and raising the price paid to the grower.

Control of the rodents in the county was discussed and is to be considered at a later date with the hopes of some definite action within the near future.

The organization voted to hold a county-wide meeting at the court house in Clairemont, Dec. 30, at 2 p.m. for the purpose of electing the community committeemen for the coming year to assist in carrying out the cotton program. All the cotton farmers of the county are urged to be present at this meeting.

The following were present at the meeting: J. H. Fuicher, Ed Munsey, Jess Hall, B. J. Kellett, C. Wade Wright, S. P. Plumlee, R. E. Key, Dee Hall, Bill Wyatt, Horace Woods, Hugh Davis, Frann Stewart, Jim Durham, H. L. Underwood, Mark Cave, G. H. Griffin, Harve Smith, J. A. Parks, S. M. Johnston and T. S. Havins.

The county agent's office received 56 additional parity checks this week, drawn for a total amount of $1,613.56. This brings the total up to approximately $17,000.00 received in the past two weeks.

W. J. Garrett, who was in an automobile accident last week, is able to be up and going after spending a few days in bed.

Robt. Wade of Lamesa, Texas, at Christmas dinner with his wife and children in Jayton.

Mrs. Ciegie Hays and children of Houston spent Christmas here with Mrs. Hays' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Fowler.

Quite a number of our friends remembered us with cash on subscription just before Christmas, among whom were Unoka Sam McCombs, Z. Z. Chisum, Jess Hall, Sol Wilson, W. S. Hancock, John Furr, W. O. McFall, G. W. Willis, Mrs. Brace Lafoon, and we are looking for about 100 more before New Year's Day, as many subscriptions expire on that date.

YOUR RENEWAL IS ASKED FOR NOW!

If you appreciate in the least your old home town paper, if you believe it is any value to the town, county or community, if you think that is better to have a paper published here in the county to record the deaths, births, goings and comings, the church and school news, a paper that tries to be clean and honest and fair with its readers and advertisers. Won't you come in and give us your renewal before the 10th. of January 1936?

We have some pressing obligations that must be met and met now. We do not ask you to make any serious sacrifice in order to do this, just renew if you can without hurting yourself, and if you can't, we will continue to carry you until you can. But we will more than appreciate your renewal NOW.

The Jayton Chronicle

The New Year 1936

As we complete the year of 1935, we can say truthfully and thankfully, it has been a much better year than the year 1934. 1934 was one of the few years in this part of Texas when crops were almost a complete failure and the cry of hard times and want was abroad in the land. At this time one year ago, near one half of this county was on the relief rolls. There was very little cotton grown in fact the production of the entire county was only 1,259 bales. The feed crop was almost an absolute failure, the pastures were bare, livestock of all kinds was in starving conditions and more than that water was very scarce.

When we look back we are made to wonder how we got through just how we managed to get through but it is all over now. Indeed many of us have forgotten how blue and down hearted we were just one little year ago. Now our feed lots are full, there is an extra good season in the ground, we have harvested very close to 6,000 bales of cotton, as the total on the 13th of this month was 5,501 bales, which is more than four times the amount gathered in 1934 and the price has been reasonably good, and the price of seed has been better and all other things have and is so much better than one year ago, we feel wonderfully relieved. Very few are now in need of direct relief. The prospects are bright for plenty of work in the county of one kind and another. The general health of the people is good. The deposits in the bank are well over $100,000.00 and the loans are very limited. Most folks have been able to pay their yearly bills and many of them have reduced their old nicely. We find the majority feeling reasonably happy and very hopeful and to us it seems as if, we are on the road to happy, prosperous days. So we say to all—"Happy New Year." We are happy because our friends are happy, we are happy because we have been able to serve them in a way we believe you appreciate. We are happy that we have been able, with you, to labor and work our way out of the season of short crops and depressions and view the New Year with faith, hope and confidence in our great nation, in Texas, and Kent County and her honest, industrious law abiding citizenship. —The Chronicle.

Notice To Candidates

It sometimes happens that a candidate desires to get his name in the announcement column of the paper immediately after January the first. This will be the last issue this year and the next paper we publish will be Vol. XVI, No. 1, and dated January 3, 1936. Should any candidate desire to get his name in the first issue of the 1936 paper he should get his copy in the first of next week and by so doing he will get full benefits of the season run before election day.

Our announcement charges will be as follows:
District and County Candidates—$15.00.
Precinct Candidates—$7.50.
Candidates for Justice of Peace and Constable $5.00.
Cotton Weighers—$10.00
As usual war terms will be cash up and our thanks for your business.

Milton Ramsey and family came in the first of the week from Clinton, N. M., where Milton holds a position in the Clinton schools. They are visitors in the home of Mrs. Ramsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Benton.

We are sorry we were unable to get all the Christmas comings and goings — we would like to report them all, but being unable to see all or hear all, and many fail to report to us, no doubt quite a few will be left out. This is certainly not intentional on our part; it's just because we failed to get the items.

Patton-Earnest

Last Saturday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. and County Judge J. B. Earnest were quietly married, Rev. Van Zant of the Methodist Church officiating. Only the members of the two families and Mrs. Ivey Murdoch and little Virginia Watson were present. After the ceremony the bride and groom went to their home in Clairemont.

Judge Earnest is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Earnest and has lived in Jayton most of his life. He was elected to the office of County Judge and Ex-Officio County Superintendent at the last general election, and is the youngest county judge in Texas. These two young people have the best wishes for their future success and happiness of everyone in the county as none stand higher in the general respect of the people of this part of Texas.

Men Or Machines?

By CARL C. TAYLOR,
Assistant Administrator, Resettlement Administration,
(First Article of a Series of Four.)

If my topic were "What kind of rural life ought we to look forward to in the United States?" my task would be easy. Then I would need only to vision the good things of life and declare that such ought to be rural America. But I have not set myself the task of painting a rural Utopia but rather the task of predicting what actually will come to pass.

Will rural life in the United States two, three, or a half dozen generations hence be using mechanized production almost as completely as industry? Have settled the problems of physical and economic distribution? Captured a material standard of living equal to that of the upper middle class of the cities? Or will it follow more clearly the rural life patterns of older civilizations? Be satisfied with less mechanization than industry? Somewhat sidestep the difficult problem of distribution by live at home farming? Be satisfied with a lower material standard of living than in other business enterprises?

I hasten to repeat that these are not the only two alternatives. It is much more likely that some middle position will develop. Because they do mark the extremes of possibility I want to pursue the patterns of each with two questions in mind: First, which should we choose if we could? And, second, which are we most likely to develop, with or without conscious choice?

I Am The Texas Centennial

(From Southern Pharmaceutical Journal)

A New Year Look Into Th Future

I am a marker on the trail of flying years, a relay station on the sands of time. I am the birthday celebration of the domain of the Lone Star whose purchase price was not silver and gold, but blood and tears. My glistening towers and sturdy walls are monuments to Bonham, Bowie, Travis, and Crockett, who accepted death but not defeat at the gates of a man-made hell. A million scintillating lights cleave the heavens in memory of the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto from whose bloody battle grounds valiant Texans went to unmarked graves. I am the holiday show window of a great commonwealth displaying in orderly array the accomplishments of a hundred years. The very mortar in my foundation is mixed with the ashes of martyrdom, the echoes of the battle cry of freedom forced from stolid lips by the galling yoke of tyranny and in my hallowed sanctuaries commune the spirits of the men who gave for Texas what the shepherd of Bethlehem gave for the world. A holiday is set apart, a feast is spread, and the world invited. Even to the cosmopolite from whatever country or clime he may come.

My builders are sons who sprang from loins of fighting men who asked no quarter and gave none, yet today in the tradition of the aborigine I pass the pipe of peace to all the world. I am a well-earned holiday for the toilers of the commonwealth, the national celebration of an empire; I am inventory of the years. View within my portals the plunging steed that has removed the hill from the highway and have brought the ends of the earth together but do not forget that this endless domain was conquered by an ox wagon, whose plodding journey between the sun was ten miles. Let the winged Pegasus whose nostrils smelt smoke and fire and whose trails are cut through the clouds, recall the days of the pioneer.

and attempt to guide or will we continue to indulge in wishful thinking, imagine Utopias, and, as in the past, drift into destinies which we had not contemplated? I can easily conceive that we might dream one kind of rural life and our grandchildren be compelled to live another kind, chiefly because we failed to understand history or judge the trends of our own times.

One school of thought believes that our children can, should and will inherit the good rural life only by subjecting American agriculture to complete commercialization and other urban techniques. It is this road that American agriculture has steadily traveled for at least one hundred if not for three hundred years — from the ox cart and ox team to the automobile and tractor; from the cradle and flail to the combine; from the tallow candle to the electric light; from dire isolation to modern socialization.

It is as easy to tend seventy acres of corn today as it was half that acreage twenty-five years ago and we are supremely worried because cotton and tobacco farming seem rather stubbornly to resist mechanization. Once they have yielded, we will probably be able to produce the needs of our domestic markets with half the man power now engaged in agriculture.

Is American rural Utopia to come by this route?

Lord deliver us from this joy killer. The fellow that only can see the dark side of life—the fellow that is continually looking down, hunting snakes, lizards, etc., and never thinks to look up and see the sun, the stars, the blue sky and the glories of the eternal heavens.

Some few folks are pretending to be worried over the governments indebtedness. What about it. Who is the government? The people. Who is the government indebted to? The people. We owe nothing to any foreign foe or friend. What we owe we have borrowed from ourselves and so long as we can borrow from ourselves to take care of ourselves — why all the worry? If you as an individual owed no one but yourself would you be crying? Not Much.

Another bunch of soreheads are squaking about the "Constitution." Well what of it? Let us ask them this question. Which comes first? Was man made to fit the constitution, or was the constitution made by men to serve mankind? Is it possible that those who formulated the constitution were the only folks ever born with sufficient brains and honesty to frame a basic law to govern this nation? There was a time when many folks believed "Man was made for Sunday," but it finally dawned on them that in fact Sunday was made for man.

FROM SIX QUARTS TO 961 QUARTS OF CANNED PRODUCTS

"Some jump from six quarts to 961 quarts," Mrs. Van North, farm food supply demonstrator, told the home agent when she asked how much she had canned the year before. Other than an increase of 955 quarts of canned products, the Norths have provided ideal storage for the home food supply by building a concrete cellar eight by eleven feet. Adequate storage of canned products is taken care of with 150 feet of shelving. "A total of $253.75 worth of food produced at home certainly does cut the cash expenses each month and gives our family well balanced meals each day," she added.

HAS OUTSTANDING CLUB RECORD

Not missing or being late to a council meeting, completing her wardrobe demonstration credibly to her club, filling the farm food supply budget with the exception of leafy vegetables which will be supplemented by growing these in the winter hotbed, is the club record of Mrs. H. D. May of the Jayton club. Mrs. May made fifteen foundation patterns for club and non-club members and added eight members to her club.

Kent County Gins 5,501 Bales of Cotton

Reports from the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, show that there were 5,501 bales of cotton ginned in Kent County from the crop of 1935 prior to Dec. 13, as compared with 1,259 bales ginned to Dec. 13 of the crop of 1934.

John Kelley who is with the Harley Sadler Shows came home for Christmas and as he had a ten day vacation, joined up with Med Wade, who had been advised to seek a change of climate on account of suffering so badly with the asthma, and they left out late Christmas day for San Diego, California. John hopes to make it back to the shows winter headquarters in Sweetwater within ten days. Med will either remain in California or come back to Glendale Arizona and remain for some time, provided he finds the climate agrees with him. Med has been suffering with the asthma all fall and winter, and his doctor advises that it is necessary that he go some place where there is less dust—adverse weather condition that contributes to his trouble.

Happy New To You

The years bring new things. The ox-cart gives way to swiftly speeding motors—electric lights shed their brilliance where once candles dimly glowed—it is a world of change

Our methods have changed too—we have tried to give this community the very best—in other words we've tried to keep pace with the times.

But one thing has not changed—and that is the spirit behind this organization. There is still the same friendship, the same standards of ideals, and the same high quality of service that was in the beginning. And in the same unchanging spirit we offer our New Year Greetings and our wishes for happiness for everyone throughout 1936.
